KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 100

CAMPAIGN '92

Buchanan showing jolts White House

Tsongas top choice for New Hampshire Democrats; candidates gear up for South

ASSOCIATED PRESS

MANCHESTER, N.H. - President Bush gained grudging victory Tuesday night in the New Hampshire presidential primary.

Challenger Patrick Buchanan claimed more than 40 percent of the Republican vote to fuel his conservative rebellion.

Former Sen. Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts won the five-way Democratic race, gaining 33 percent in partial returns and ratifying the frontrunner status even he called im-

Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton ran second, pronounced himself "the comeback kid" and called it victory.

Sen. Bob Kerrey had a narrow lead over Tom Harkin of Iowa in the race for third place. Former California Gov. Jerry Brown was running fifth.

New Hampshire's blighted economy was the consuming issue in the campaigns of both parties, but even so Buchanan's strength was a surprise that jolted the White House.

Bush did not appear to accept his entire country."

victory, but said in a sober written statement, "This election was far closer than many had predicted.

"I think the opponents on both sides reaped the harvest of discontent with the pace of New Hampshire's Celebrating his Democratic victory, Tsongas said New Hampshire made Bush president, "and he forgot the people of New Hampshire. And tonight they remembered him.

'The message is we are hurting, America is hurting," he said.

Interrupted by a ringing telephone, Tsongas quipped: "Answer the phone and tell George Bush he cannot concede till November.

Bush said he would keep his case before the voters and win the nomina-

"Now, on to the South," he said. Buchanan, claiming his victory in defeat, said he'll be there, too.

"The battle of New Hampshire is over and won, now begins the battle of the South," he told cheering supporters at a Manchester restaurant.

"... We can take this battle to the

NEW HAMPSHIRE WINNERS

Pat Buchanan 41 percent Here are the unofficial returns in the New

GEORGE BUSH, R 570%

Bill Clinton 27 percent Bob Kerry 12 Hampshire presidential primaries Tom Harkin 11 Tuesday with 62 percent of the vote in. Jerry Brown president.

Smoke drifts from the barrel of an M1-A1 tank attached to the 2/34 armor after firing a blank round during maneuvers Tuesday.

M109A3

HOWITZERS fire

from different different times.

distances at

Polls of voters leaving their poll-

Early exit polls reported by ABC found that 52 percent of Buchanan voters said they voted for him to send a message, compared with 47 percent who said he would make the best ing places showed that the economy and jobs were the issues that mattered

most to both Republicans and Demo-

He repeated his campaign theme, declaring: "There is nothing wrong with putting America First,'

An ecstatic crowd chanted in return: "God Bless America. God Bless

Nearly a third of voters told pollsters they wished some other candidate had been on the ballot, but Democratic write-in efforts for Mario Cuomo and Ralph Nader both lagged. vote for Bush if he was the choice in November. Angela Bay Buchanan, manager

More than half said they would not of the challenger, said, "This is a victory. Protest votes don't run this

"We're going against a president in his own party in the state that put him in office.

Bush supporters said Buchanan had peaked in this small, conservative

"New Hampshire is Pat Buchanan's best shot," said Gov. Judd Gregg, a Bush partisan like the rest of the Republican establishment. Yet the results were especially startling, because they came in the state where primary victory spearheaded the president's 1988 nomination.

The Republican vote, with 69 percent of the precincts counted the fol-

Bush 53,707, or 57 percent. Buchanan 38,474, or 41 percent.

Minor candidates had the rest. Bush led for 14 nominating delegates, Buchanan for 9.

William Bennett, the former administration official, said in a CNN interview that the New Hampshire verdict was "serious trouble" for Bush.

He said the president would have to get tough with Buchanan now; "kinder and gentler is over."

In the Democratic primary, Tsongas and Clinton both were splitting New Hampshire's 18 convention delegates. The vote was as follows:

Tsongas 30,849, or 33 percent. Clinton 24,449, or 27 percent. Kerrey 10,860, or 12 percent. Harkin 9,870, or 11 percent.

Brown 8,246, or 9 percent. "Bronze ain't bad," said Kerrey, claiming third place with the vote still being counted.

Harkin acknowledged his showing was a setback.

"Tonight we slowed up a little bit just a little," he said.

But he said he'd campaign on and hit his stride in South Dakota's primary in a week. Democratic National Chairman Ronald Brown said the New Hampshire results put Bush "in incredible

"George Bush is a one-term president," he said.

Clinton told his supporters in Merrimack that he "just can't wait to take this campaign across the country . and I know ... in November we are See PRIMARY Page 10

FORT RILEY

Shake, rattle and roll with the Army

Target practice iostles Manhattan residents, windows

JOE VADER Collegian

Getting to know noisy neighbors can be difficult. One may ask, "Why do they have to make all that racket? Will they stop if I ask them politely, and will I have to get tough? Well, if your neighbor is the 1st Infantry Division of the U.S. Army, the answers are: "Training for war," "no" and "ask Iraq's Republican Guard."

Although K-State students outnumber Fort Riley troops about 19,000 to 16,000, the troops have a slight edge in hardware.

The use of that hardware recently has many students and Manhattan residents wondering what exactly their neighbors are doing.

According to David Jones, environmental program manager at Fort Riley, most of the noise we hear in Manhattan comes from three sources. The M1-A1 tank, with a 120-mm main gun, and a 155-mm howitzer are the two main culprits. An 8-inch howitzer, which is used by the Kansas National Guard, can also be heard on an infrequent basis.

"Any gun we shoot greater than the 40-mm generates heavy weapons blasts," Jones said.

"Blast noise is high-amplitude, impulsive noise that produces lowfrequency energy," he said. "The air blasts from these weapons is what rattles our homes."

Students' opinions differ on whether the noise from the neighbors is a problem.

"It rattles the windows," said Mike Munson, junior in finance and management.

Munson, who lives in the Acacia House at 2005 Hunting Ave., said the noise doesn't really bother him. "You don't hear that kind of noise at home," said Munson, an Arkansas Ann Giller, junior in marketing, lives at the Alpha Delta Pi house, 518 Sunset Ave. She said the noise can be heard more frequently because the house is old. "It seems like they are playing war a lot," she said. "But I know they are just training to defend our coun-Boris Lopez, sophomore in busilike the noise in the neighborhood. Lopez, who lives on the west side

"Sometimes they do it pretty bad, ness administration, said he doesn't and the house goes 'ba-boom,'" he Gulf.

they could do.

MULTI-

RANGE

PURPOSE

MAIN

AREA

IMPACT

talking to others who don't like the zers the first weekend of February. noise to see if there was anything These are the same weapons used Time on Target exercises.

SHAKING UP MANHATTAN

FORT RILEY

JUNCTION CITY

the weapons firing, not shells exploding.

When Fort Riley has shelling maneuvers, residents of nearby cities feel the effects. The booming sound is usually the result of by the 1st Infantry Feb. 24, 1991, against Iraqi troops in the Persian

MANHATTAN

Maj. Michael Bracket, chief of What was making windows in G3 training at Fort Riley, said the of town in Brittnay Ridge, said he town rattle and Lopez's house go first weekend of February was as bad and his roommates were thinking of "ba-boom" were the 155-mm howit- as it gets. That weekend, the Big Red One had its big guns out to conduct

Time on Target is an exercise that includes all 48 of 1st Infantry's 155mm howitzers.

CONTROL TOWER coordinates the gunners to fire at the right time to achieve simultaneous impact.

The object is to fire all the guns from different locations and distances at different times and have them all land on a target at the same time. If they don't succeed the first time, they try again.

Each round fired from the 155mm is a 98-pound projectile packed with explosives. The rounds from the howitzers explode on impact, and that impact can be heard in Manhattan as well, Jones said.

Source: Fort Riley

J. KYLE WYATT/Collegian

During the first week of February, Fort

Riley did Time on Target exercises,

time on the same target.

where several shells explode at the same

All the howitzer rounds land in a designated impact area. The impact

See HOWITZER Page 3

Memorial quilt display to visit Manhattan

ULRIKE DAUER

Preparations for the AIDS Memorial Quilt project are in full swing.

The quilt, a community-based project with panel contributions from 26 countries, will be displayed during the last weekend of February in Man-

For three days, the floor in Aheam Field House will be covered by numerous, multicolored panels that commemorate those who died of AIDS.

Several panels will be hanging under the balcony, said Reita Currie, health educator and co-coordinator for the host committee of the KSU Manhattan NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt.

The interior of Ahearn otherwise will intentionally be simple, Currie

"There will be no other decoration," she said. 'We don't want anything to take away from the quilt. The quilt shall speak for itself."

She said every panel is unique. People sewed in all kinds of materials and things that remind them of their friends or relatives who died of the disease. Barbie dolls, credit cards, cremation ashes, human hair, jeans, photographs, records and wedding rings are only some of the things found on the quilt.

She said visitors will probably recognize names of artists, other famous people or Kansas AIDS victims. Currie said one panel of the Wichita display in particular impressed her. She said baby T-shirts, covered with names of babies who were the victims of AIDS, were sewed on the block. She said she requested this block for the Manhattan display, but does not know whether the community will have a chance to see it.

Currie said the quilt displayed in Manhattan will be comparable to the panels recently displayed in Wichita, but she does not know what panels Manhattan will get.

See QUILT Page 10

AIDS MEMORIAL QUILT

The quilt will be on show at Ahearn Field House

Friday, Feb. 28 10 a.m. - 8 p.m.

Saturday, Feb. 29 10 a.m. - 8 p.m.

Sunday, March 1

noon - 4 p.m.

RECOGNITION

STUDENT WORKS TO SAVE STONE ARCH

DAN GRAFEL

When Todd Axelton saw the largest stone arch in Kansas, he said he knew he didn't want to see it torn

Today, the area around the arch is a privately owned park.

Axelton, senior in geology, said he noticed the arch when he and a friend were exploring the Bala area of Riley County.

He began asking local residents about the arch, and soon Frank and Evelyn Williams, owners of the surrounding land, also became interested in preserving the historical site.

Ownership of the arch site once belonged to the railroad, but when the rails were abandoned, the land fell into the hands of Frank and Evelyn Williams.

"We were afraid the arch might be tom down for the limestone, but it turned out that we got the land," Evelyn Williams said.

Seven years ago, with the ownership of the land no longer unclear, Frank Williams began to clear away brush and debris. With the help of the Riley County Historical Society, he also planted new grass.

The Historical Society helped out financially by putting together and selling books about the history of the Bala area and using part of the proceeds for renovation of the park.

"It really started out as a nice place to have picnics and grew from there," Evelyn Williams said.

The facilities in the park increased gradually, as the Williams added swing sets, picnic tables, camping facilities and a foot bridge over the junction of two creeks near the arch.

"One summer, we had a rope swing across the creek, and even our lady minister tried it." Evelyn Williams

A lot of people see the sign on the highway and just stop to look at the park, she said.

POLICE REPORTS

Marlatt Hall.

CAMPUS POLICE

TUESDAY, FEB. 18

At 10:53 a.m., a black Volkswagen, Kan-sas license No. BLR528 was towed from Lot A18, No. 458, to Mike's Wrecker.

At 12:10 p.m., a state permit, reserved stall No. 104, was reported lost.
At 12:50 p.m., a battery was reported at

At 11 p.m., a theft of a student parking rmit was reported. At unknown time, the theft of a fraternity symbol was reported.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

At 1:04 a.m., Darryl B. Wheeler Jr., 1204 W. 21st St., Junction City, was arrested for minor in possession of alcohol and released on $74 bond.

At 1:47 a.m., Richard B. Jackson, 1901 Sunflower St., Junction City, was arrested for misdemeanor checks and confined in lieu of $200 bond. At 2:36 a.m., Daniel James Sanders II, Route 1, Box 82L, Seminole, Okla., was arrested for probation violation and con-fined in lieu of $5,000 bond, awaiting extra-

At 9:21 a.m. a major-damage, non-injury accident was reported at College Avenue and Claffin Road involving vehicles driven by Kevin Reinbold, 3001 Dickens Ave., No. 2, and Dari Ashworth, 2400 Greenbrier, No. C.

At 9:45 a.m., a theft was reported at 1601 Riley Lane. Taken was a four-barrel carburetor, eight spark plug wires and coil wire, a 27 in Waters, Weber and the K-State Union lobbies.

■ HALO will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 207.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19

NAPA battery out of a truck and a NAPA battery out of a forklift. Total loss was $927.

At 2:45 p.m., a theft of an ID was re-

At 11:20 a.m., a major-damage, noninjury accident was reported between ve-hicles driven by Emanuel Roberts, 1526Fair Lane, and Nathan Nelson, 4350 Green Val-

At 12:42 p.m. a theft was reported at 1929 Crescent Drive. Taken was one wedding ring, one mother's ring and a tennis

At 1:47 p.m., a vehicle burglary was ported at 1858 Claffin Road. Taken was a black nylon cassette holder and 22 miscellaneous cassettes. Loss was $190.

At 1:51 p.m., a theft was reported at 2030 Tuttle Creek Boulevard. Taken was a VHS video tape of "The Wizard of Oz." Loss was

At 5:06 p.m., James E. Armstrong, Route 1, Box 88, Riley, was arrested for criminal trespass at Manhattan Town Center.

■ "Let's Rap," a black student support group, will meet from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in Union 208 as part of Black History Month.

■ Native American Student Body Heritage Month Planning Committee will meet at 3:30 p.m. in Union 203. Rainforest Coalition will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 206.

Golden Key will sponsor a scholarship information meeting at 4 p.m. in Union Big Eight Room. Any interested students are welcome.

■ Career Planning and Placement Center will have a resume critique session from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in Holtz 107B.

■ U-LearN will have a KU-K-State game button sale from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Union.

Northern Flint Hills Audobon Society will present "Eco-Feminist Promises and the Audobon Mission: What Do Sex and Environmental Acitivism Have in Common?" at 7:30 p.m. in Ackert 221.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

■ Sonny Kenner, a jazz/rhythm-and-blues musician, will play from 8 to 11 p.m. in Union Station as part of Black History Month.

■ Intramural Bench Press Meet Weigh-Ins: Women's will be from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the women's locker room of the Chester E. Peters Recreation

Complex. Men's will be from 1 to 3 p.m. in the men's locker room. ■ Intramural Bench Press Meet will be at 7 p.m. in the Rec Complex

■ Big Eight Black Student Union Conference starts today and runs through Feb. 22 at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, Okla. Lunchbag Theatre will present "The Ties that Bind" by Matthew Whitton at 11:30 a.m. in Purple Masque Theatre.

■ Manhattan National Organization for Women will meet at 7 p.m. in the UFM Fireplace Room. The group will talk about a pro-choice march in Washington, D.C. ■ Department of Geology will present "Microbiota from the 2 Billion-Year-Old Gunflint Chert Revisited: New Information from Old Stromatolites," by William Lanier from the Department of Geology at Emporia State University.

Society of Women Engineers will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 152. ■ Horseman's Association officers will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Weber 146.

There will be a general meeting following at 6 p.m. ■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 203.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2. Anyone is welcome.

■ Little American Royal Committee will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Weber 111. ■ KSU Parachute Club will have an informational meeting at 7:30 p.m. in Denison 124.

HAJDA TO WORK IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

ERIC BROWN

Collegian This summer, the sun won't set upon K-State soil. At least not in Czechoslovakia, where Joseph Hajda, professor of political science, will be during his vacation. Hajda has been invited to be a guest professor at Charles University, the country's top school of higher learning in Prague, Czechoslovakia. Hajda will help the school, which has been in existence since 1348, construct a new post-graduate program in international relations. This reorganization will alter the mer.

Charles journalism program into a social science field.

Haida, a native of Czechoslovakia who has taught at K-State since 1957, left his homeland in 1948.

He was chosen for the project by the school's director, who met Hajda at K-State during a tour of the United States in April 1990.

"This will be a very good way of introducing new ideas and values into the curriculum at the university." Hajda said.

Hajda also will tour many other institutions of higher learning during his stay in Czechoslovakia this sum-

KRSTIC WINS FACULTY TEACHING AWARD

MICHELLE ROGERS

A K-State professor is one of three professors of architecture nationwide who have been awarded the American Institute of Architecture Students and the Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture New Faculty Teaching Award.

Overall, from 60 to 70 applications are received from more than 100 schools across the nation.

Vladimir Krstic, professor of architecture, was the only K-State nomination. The award is given to as many to K-State.

as three professors every year. Professors need to be tenured and need to show great commitment in the area of architecture. William Miller, head of the Department of Architecture, said Krstic should be recognized for the type of studio he conducts and the commitment he displays.

Krstic will attend the national conference March 14-17 in Orlando, Fla.

Krstic has been teaching architecture for six years. Four of those have been at K-State. Krstic taught at the University of Illinois prior to coming on the third floor of the Union. They are due by 5 p.m. March 6.

WEATHER

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Little American Royal Sign-Up will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Feb. 24-

■ Union Program Council Applications are available in the UPC office

TODAY'S FORECAST

Sunny and warmer with a high of 50 to 55. Northwest wind 10 to 15 mph. Wednesday night fair. Low 30 to 35.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

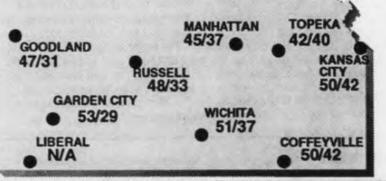

Warmer with the high 60 to 65.

EXTENDED FORECAST

A chance for showers Friday and Saturday, dry Sunday. Highs in 50s Friday, 40s Saturday and Sunday. Lows in 20s to 30s Friday through Sunday.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

B

ITY	TEMPS	SKY	Istanbul	41/36	rain
tlantic City	50/35	rain	Montreal	32/20	cloudy
larcelona	52/41	cloudy	Sao Paulo	90/68	clear
Irisbane	86/73	cloudy	Sao Paulo Tel Aviv	63/46	clear

It can't do laundry or find you a date, but it can help you find more time for both.

And indeed

there will be

The new Apple® Macintosh® Classic® II computer makes it easier for you to juggle classes, activities, projects, and term papers and still find time for what makes college life real life.

It's a complete and affordable Macintosh Classic system that's ready to help you get your work finished fast. It's a snap to set up and use. It has a powerful 68030 microprocessor, which means you can run even the most sophisticated applications with ease. And its internal Apple SuperDrive™ disk drive reads from and writes to Macintosh and MS-DOS formatted disks-allowing you to exchange information easily with almost any other kind of computer.

In addition to its built-in capabilities, the Macintosh Classic II can be equipped with up to 10 megabytes of RAM, so you'll be able to run several applications at once and work with large amounts of data.

If you already own a Macintosh Classic, and want the speed and flexibility of a Macintosh Classic II, ask us about an upgrade—it can be installed in just minutes and it's affordable.

To put more time on your side, consider putting a Macintosh Classic II on your desk. See us for a demonstration today, and while you're in, be sure to ask us for details > about the Apple Computer Loan. It'll be time well spent.

Introducing the Macintosh Classic II.

Available at the K-State Union Bookstore We appreciate your support. Your dollars continue to help the K-State Union State Union State Union State Union State Union State Union spansor student services programs and activities.

K-State Union Bookstore 532-6583

K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

1110 Laramie 1991 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks and SuperDrive is a trademark of Apple Computer, Inc. MS-DOS is a registered trademark of Microsoft Corporation Classic is a registered trademark used under license by Apple Computer. Inc. This ad was created using Macintosh computers.

LEGISLATURE

Salary increase proposal frozen

Despite early setback, team says Lobby Day otherwise successful

JOHN SHARTZER

Gov. Joan Finney's proposed salary increase for state employees was frozen by the Senate Way's and Means Committee Tuesday.

The proposal was for a 2.5-percent increase in salaries for classified, unclassified, student and faculty emposal," said Jim Persinger, K-State need for panic at this point. student body president's chief of staff. "The issue is not finished at this point."

Persinger was in Topeka Tuesday floor." as part of a lobby team for K-State Lobby Day, sponsored by Student ties director of the student body

SGA members and students partici-

Bill Lansdowne, member of the lobby team, said Sen. Bill Brady, D-Parsons, met with several lobbyists and confirmed the freeze.

Brady said it is about a $24-million cut statewide from Finney's pro-

"He was surprised this happened There was a 7-6 vote against this this early," Lansdowne said. "Howparticular part of the governor's pro- ever, he said he doesn't feel there is a "The decision could still change in the committee before it gets to the Tim Oswalt, state and communi-Governing Association. About 35 president's cabinet, said he heard the committee was freezing salaries, maintaining the status quo.

"I heard that it isn't going to fly. It might just be a scare tactic at this point," he said.

Student Body President Jackie McClaskey said SGA needs to stay abreast of legislative actions at all

"We are going to focus on the committees from now on, instead of waiting until it goes to the floor," she said. With this event being the only negative surprise of the of the day, lobby team members said the other areas of the governor's proposal went well. The governor's proposal included covering the base budget, enrollment adjustments, graduate teaching assistant fee waivers, expansion and renovation of Farrell Library, and faculty salary and fringe benefits increases.

Steve Patton, senator and legislative affairs committee chairman, said he thinks the base budget is safe from cuts, but the proposed 100-percent GTA fee waivers could be in trouble. GTA fee waivers currently are at 75 percent. Senate Chairwoman Heather Riley said it was a successful day.

"We had some really good com-munication with the legislators," she "We received some positive and negative responses from the different legislators, but we left knowing that their responses came after lengthy and informative discussion. Oswalt said the team went to Topeka with a positive attitude, but the team wasn't expecting a lot.

"After all, we know it is going to

Kimberly Reeves Black, junior in

She said much of the time was spent recruiting models and working with Crum's Beauty College. Eight students modeled 37 outfits ranging from dressy to casual and together and would like to pursue a career in fashion coordinating," Black better than expected, she said.

"I enjoyed putting the fashion show

The attendancd at the show was ordinator, said preparation for the fashion show took three to four weeks.

be a tight year for the budget," he said.

FACULTY SENATE

Review process necessity, price tag concerns professors

Faculty Senate passed a resolution endorsing continuing dialogue and consultation between the Kansas Board of Regents and K-State administration and faculty at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The resolution centered around discussion of the final draft of the K-State Role and Aspiration Statement.

This statement is K-State's response to a charge made by the regents requiring all regents institutions to develop and implement a comprehensive review process examining all university academic programs.

Jim Legg, professor of physics, said he was against voting at all.

"I don't think we should vote negative or positive," Legg said. "This process is going to happen whether we approve it or disapprove it."

Aruna Michie, associate professor of political science, said she agreed with her colleagues that the idea of a review process is not favorable. But she said she thought the Senate should vote for the program.

"I like this process, because I believe there has been a good faith effort to have input from all the various constituent groups," she said. about the estimated $800,000-$1 million that will be spent on the review

"I want to know if we are going to go through a $10-million exercise to save $5 million," said Kenneth Brooks, professor of landscape archi-

John Steffen, associate professor of education, said the University can not engage in a program review every six weeks.

"A hog doesn't put on weight if you weigh it every day," he said. Some senators said they are worried the review process places too much emphasis on numbers and not on documentation of quality. Jim Dubois, associate professor of interior architecture, said the attention the statement shows to quality is "In a 31 page document, there are only two instances when the word quality is used," he said.

Kenneth Shultis, professor of nuclear engineering, said there is no criteria in the statement to measure

"If we're going to play this numbers game, let's say, 'Quality be damned," he said.

We can't just take the word 'qual-Senators also expressed concern ity' and splash it around at the end of the process."

contact. No explosive tank rounds are the Riley County Police Department,

there are very few complaints. There were none during the weekend of

According to Lt. Buddy Mays of fired at Fort Riley.

Feb. 1, he said.

Howitzer

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 area, northeast of the main post, is about the size of Manhattan.

Bracket said that because of the cost involved - an average of $315 per round - they don't do the exercise very often.

"I don't expect to have another Time on Target exercise until next August," he said.

The noise that has been heard more recently has been from the M1-A1

The 120-mm training round fired from the M1-A1 does not explode on Mays said when people do complain, they are referred to Fort Riley. He also suggested calling local legis-

Rep. Kent Glasscock, R-Manhatan, said he is not aware of any problems with the noise.

"I have never had a call," Glasscock said. "I was on the city commission for four years. I never had a call then, summer to winter.

Apparel extravaganza at Union Station

another school.

8 student models showcase 32 apparel creations by student designers

TRACI WHITTEN

Student designs were presented at the "Seasons of the Year 1992" fash- junior in apparel design. ion show in Union Station Tuesday from a specific historical time period. cut out and sewn together, she said.

The outfits, constructed by apparel design students, were patterns from famous designers or originals created by the students.

Beginning with the fall 1992 fresh-

The new scheme will be a five-man class, accounting majors will year program that combines the undergraduate and graduate programs.

graduate work in four years and will then spend another year doing gradu-

The students will finish under-

One reason for the change in the follow a revised program.

ate work.

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

"As students go through their major, many of them find an era that is their nitch," said Christie Endsley,

Research is the first step in designing the outfit, she said.

Endsley said the student may look through different books to get inspiration and learn about an era, a rough sketch of the outfit is drawn, and a Some of the outfits were taken pattern is made. Finally, the outfit is

Some students are inspired by fa- as Bill Blass and Oscar de la Renta. mous designers.

Colleen Mendoza, senior in ap- apparel design and fashion show coparel design, spent one semester in New York at the Fashion Institute of Technology.

"I saw a lot of couture designs and resort wear, which inspired me," Mendoza said.

One outfit Mendoza constructed included a bustier, a pair of shorts and a wrap-around skirt. For a final effect, shoes were covered with fabric to match. This outfit could be worn casual or dressy, Mendoza said.

While in New York, Mendoza worked with fashion designers such Accounting curriculum modifications add up to five years programs or send their students to

> The revised program will help recruit students to K-State, Deines said.

He said if a student knows what to expect from the program and knows it offers the requirements necessary to take the CPA exam, he would be more likely to look at K-State than to go somewhere that may not be able to fulfill those requirements.

Ad It Up! in the COLLEGIAN

SINGLES DANCE Featuring:

The Cruisers

Saturday, Feb. 22 9 p.m.

VFW 212 S. Fourth Manhattan

ment of Accounting, is that an increasing number of states are requiring 150 hours of college credit as a requirement to sit for the CPA exam. Kansas will have adopted this requirement as of July 1, 1997.

"We have tried to orient the program toward the needs of the students," said Dan Deines, associate professor of accounting.

With the revised program, a stu-master's program.

(reg. $1.60 each)

Deines said under certain articulation agreements, the students will be able to take classes at the graduate level instead of playing catch-up in undergraduate accounting and business classes.

They will still be able to finish the program in five years, he said.

Once the Kansas requirement of dent coming from a small, four-year 150 hours goes into effect, smaller liberal arts college should have an schools with accounting programs will program, as approved by the Depart- easier time with the transition into the either have to add more hours to their

VALUE BID

55.00

10.00

10.00

Camp Vega

FOR BOYS 5 GLEN LANE MAMARONECK, N.Y. 10543 914-381-5983

FOR GIRLS P.O. BOX 1771 DUXBURY, MA. 02332 617-934-6536

STAFFING NOW FOR THE 1992 SUMMER SEASON

POSITIONS AVAILABLE FOR SUMMER COUNSELORS

WHO LOVE CHILDREN AND HAVE STRONG SKILLS AND ABILITY TO TEACH ONE OR MORE OF THE FOLLOWING ACTIVITIES:

Archery, Arts & Crafts, Baseball, Basketball, Bicycling, Computer Science, Dance, Dramatics, Field Hockey, General Counselors, Guitar, Gymnastics, Lacrosse, Photography, Piano, Pioneering, Riding, Rocketry, Ropes Course, Sailing, Soccer, Softball, Support Staff, Swimming, Tennis, Track, Volleyball, Waterskiing, Weight Training, Windsurfing, Woodworking, Yearbook.

FULL EIGHT WEEK SEASON DROP BY FOR AN INTERVIEW:

TOMORROW

THURSDAY, FEB. 20TH FROM 11:00 A.M.-5 P.M. STUDENT UNION-ROOMS 202 & 203

Sun.-Thurs. TACO dinner $1.88 (reg. $2.55 each) Good thru Feb. 22, 1992 11a.m.-10p.m. Fri.-Sat. TACO HUT 11a.m.-Midnight B. CHARLES CHESTIZED MICHESTER C. CHESTIZED MICH.

We can handle the rest.

Physician on duty 24 hours a day.

> MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

1105 Sunset / P. O. Box 1208 Manhattan, Kansas 66502 913-776-3300

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL **

SANCHO or BURRITO

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL

RADIO AUCTION

The items listed below will be auctioned to the highest bidder this week. Visit the sponsors...inspect the merchandise...determine your bid. Keep your radio on KMAN 1350 and your hand near the phone. Just call in and bid on the KMAN auction line: 776-1350.

AUCTION DATE: SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1992 AUCTION TIME: 9 A.M. TO NOON RETAIL MINIMUM

JOHN DEERE LAWN MOWER: BROOKS YAMAHA	$550.00	$220.00
36" COOK-TOP: KEN'S APPLIANCE	660.00	265.00
27" STEREO REMOTE CONTROL TV: MIDWEST APPLIANCE	799.99	320.00
COMPLETE CAR DETAILING: VP AUTO WASH	110.00	44.00
$50 GIFT CERTIFICATE: DRAPERY WORLD	50.00	20.00
2 - VCR CLEAN AND LUBES: CIRCUIT SHOP	32.00	13.00
1 - $25 GIFT CERTIFICATES: WASH PALACE	25.00	10.00
2 - $25 GIFT CERTIFICATES: CARLOS O'KELLY'S	25.00	10.00
1 - $25 GIFT CERTIFICATES: RUSTY'S LAST CHANCE	25.00	10.00
2 - $25 GIFT CERTIFICATES: LITTLE CAESAR'S PIZZA	25.00	10.00
2 - $25 GIFT CERTIFICATES: SHONEY'S	25.00	10.00
2 - TEN TANNING SESSIONS: HIS & HER SUPER STYLES	25.00	10.00
2 - LARGE PIZZAS: PIZZA HUT	29.00	12.00
2- HOG ROAST BAR-B-QUE: KICKERS SALOON	24.00	10.00
2- HORS d'OEUVRE TRAYS: BOCKERS II	35.00	14.00
$25 GIFT CERTIFICATE: CORKY'S SMOKEHOUSE	25.00	10.00
$50 GIFT CERTIFICATE: PERSPECTIVES OPTICAL	50.00	20.00
DELUXE CAR WASH: VP AUTO WASH	20.00	8.00
PORTRAIT PACKAGE: HEIRLOOM PORTRAITS	156.00	65.00
$25 GIFT CERTIFICATE: RAOUL'S ESCONDIDO	25.00	10.00
TWO MONTH MEMBERSHIP: NAUTILUS FITNESS	75.00	30.00
$25 GIFT CERTIFICATE: VISTA DRIVE IN	25.00	10.00
CORDLESS SCREWDRIVER: AMPRIDE	32.99	14.00
WINTER CAR PROTECTION PACKAGE: VP AUTO WASH	20.00	8.00
MOVIE PREVIEW PACKAGE: HOME CINEMA	39.00	16.00
LAMP SHADE CERTIFICATE: ENDACOTT LIGHTING	40.00	16.00
$25 GIFT CERTIFICATE: ARBY'S	25.00	10.00
KSU SWEATSHIRT: THE PALACE	26.00	11.00
BRIEFCASE: MID-AMERICA OFFICE SUPPLY	148.95	60.00

VISA AND MASTERCARD ACCEPTED!! Sales Tax Will Be Added To Taxable Items

WEEKDAY GETAWAY: THE BARN BED & BREAKFAST

$25 GIFT CERTIFICATE: ONE HOUR PHOTO

The Wildcat baseball team opens its season at home at 1 p.m. Sunday at Frank Myers Field.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

boys of summer

Take yourself out to the ballgame.

The K-State Wildcats' home opener is 1 p.m. this Sunday at Frank Myers Field against Fort Hays State.

Although the Cats won only one of their three games last weekend against Arkansas, that's no reason to despair.

K-State looks to be an offensive machine this year. Despite losing two of the games Sunday, we scored 27 runs against a nationally ranked team. Fielding looks to be in top form. Our pitching is a little young (we gave up 30 walks Sunday), but should be nonetheless effective.

The Cats will also play Wichita State, ranked numero uno in the nation, three different days this season. Although two of those will be on the tube, the K-State-WSU match-up last year broke attendance records at Myers Field. And we even beat them a couple times.

No matter whether we win or lose, we're playing the game. Baseball celebrates America at its finest moment, when all things bad in the world are dispelled, suspended and put off for some fun in the sun.

To top it all off, K-State has its own team, and for a mere pittance, students can go out and get away from their studies

College baseball is raw baseball, where players are playing for the sake of the game, and not laughing all the way to the bank.

So load up your pals and head to Myers Field this weekend. It'll make you a better American.

Education for all must be priority

A lot of things are going to have to change for education in this country to be as good as it should be.

American children lag far behind in the world community on achievement in everything from math to history.

Employers spend millions of dollars retraining employees who aren't learning what they should in college.

And people studying to be teachers rank very low compared to other professions on ACT and SAT scores.

Education needs to be a priority at every level, and it just

We have lots of problems: students aren't achieving, the best and brightest aren't becoming teachers, those who do aren't rewarded for being good teachers, schools are in financial straits, schools spend the money they have inefficiently, and education isn't outcome oriented.

And to top it off, students just don't seem to care anymore.

Now let's find some solutions.

Our federal and state governments need to mean it when they say they support education. When money is tight and budget cuts come around, schools are the first to get hit, whether it be K-12 or higher education.

Teachers need to be considered professionals, and they need to be rewarded financially in proportion to the amount and importance of the work they do.

Building a future for this country should be the most important profession - the best and brightest should want to be teachers.

Teacher education programs need to be realistic and innovative, instead of just a big waste of time. Universities should give future teachers a strong background in their content area and show them by practical instruction and experience how to pass on what they know.

Teachers need to be held accountable for the quality of their teaching. And this must include tenured teachers.

Competition should exist among teachers and schools. Teachers should be constantly observed and rewarded for teaching well, just as other professionals are rewarded for quality and achievement.

Every school should have to meet outcome-based standards. Students should have to take tests to pass from grade to grade, and if the school isn't fitting the bill, changes should be made.

Financially wasteful schools and school districts should be forced by the states to reevaluate the way money is spent before they get any more. The fat should be trimmed, so the money can go where it should - to educating kids.

And last, but definitely not least, families must make education important.

Parents must teach their children education is important. This means getting involved, both by encouraging their kids to go to school and do their best, as well as demanding only the best from their schools.

In an age where people make a habit of complaining about taxes and how our country can't compete in the global community, maybe they should realize education is the key.

None of this will happen overnight. But it's not beyond our reach. The time for change is now, not when it's too late.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103,

butions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom,

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Support K-State's The New Devil's Dictionary

ERIC BECKER

DICTIONARY, n. A malevolent literary device for cramping the growth of a language and making it hard and inelastic. This dictionary, however, is a most useful work.

- Ambrose Bierce, "The Devil's Dictionary"

What happens when you make a deal with the devil? Bierce probably didn't know, despite the coauthorship implied by the title of his satiric masterpiece, "The Devil's Dictionary.

Born in 1842, Bierce served in the 9th Indiana Infantry during the Civil War. He gave up a distinguished military career to become a successful journalist who lived and worked at different times in San Francisco, London and Washington. Having completed a compilation of his collected works in 1912, he vanished in 1914 into the Mexican wilderness while riding with Pancho Villa.

Although best known for his war stories (like "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge") and his supernatural tales, Bierce is perhaps among the greatest satirists in the history of American journalism.

Bierce's masterpiece of satiric wit is "The Devil's Dictionary." Begun in 1881, this bitter and comic collection of dictionary definitions was first published in a weekly San Francisco magazine called the Wasp. As editor of Wasp, Bierce ran 88 "Devil's Dictionary" installments of 15-20 words each between 1881 and 1886. Since its original appearance, "The Devil's Dictionary" has been published in numerous abridged and restored book versions.

Inspired by Bierce's originals, I've recently written a few of my own entries for a "New Devil's Dictionary." They follow. I dedicate them to the superior craftsman, Bierce himself, and encourage all who are interested to take a look at his original work. It's a gem.

BEAUTY, n. A socially-defined and completely involuntary condition often recognized in people, places and things which have little practical CANDIDATE, n. In an election, that person least qualified to do the job but most likely to achieve the office.

CONTRACEPTIVE, adj. & n. A device which, when used correctly, ensures safety in pre- and extra-marital sexual relations by preventing the appearance of incriminating pregnancies.

DEATH, n. A permanent state of physical and mental inactivity, most comparable to the space between the ears. DESIRE, v. The irrational longing for that which can never under any circumstances be truly attained. GOD, n. The personification of a man or woman as a supreme being that would know better than to personify itself as a man

> INTIMACY, n. The most essential fuel known to the human spirit, the absence of which in any human life is like a negative number in the equation of that person's self-esteem. LEADER, n. The individual automatically held responsible for the mistakes made by his or her followers. LOVE, n. The condition achieved when two persons, each for reasons of their own, mutually agree to forgive the formidable faults of the other for an indeterminate period of time. MICROSCOPE, n. A device that can magnify objects otherwise too small to be viewed by the human eye in detail too complex to be understood by the human mind. MORALITY, n. An uncommon and usually fatal mutation of human nature. True cases are rare. Often mistakenly diagnosed in politicians and religious leaders.

MYTHOLOGY, n. An unconvincing series of fictitious accounts designed by humankind to justify its shortcomings by attributing them to invented superhumans.

PREJUDICE, n. An individual's indefensible hatred of that quality in others that is most despised in the self.

SOUL, n. In women, the repository of conscience. In men, the repository of guilt.

WILDCAT, n. A dangerous inhabitant of the Animal Kingdom who's preferred diet of Jayhawks can be supplemented or replaced by a meal of any of a selection of other competing mascots.

Help, We Need Somebody

y faith in the human race was shaken this weekend. Do very many people stop to help other people in need? Or are there only four or five of us out there?

I came from a small farming community in Missouri, population 422. It takes a while to get to know your neighbors out there because the houses are so far apart. Six months after we moved to the farm, a grass fire started north of the house and was threatening two barns and a lot of machinery. Neighbors saw the smoke and flames and came, literally, from miles around to help put it out. They showed up with trash cans filled with water, gunny sacks and shovels to keep the fire under control until the fire department arrived. As the fire truck pulled up, we were putting out the last of the blaze.

That was our first meeting with our neighbors. It was 1977.

Since then, there have been many other opportunities for people to get together in that area and help each other. But the neighborly helping response has diminished considerably since 1977.

My parents still live on the farm, but have contact with only two or three neighboring families. More people have moved into the area; fewer people seem to care. People used to wave to strangers on the road. Few do

The people who moved in along the road are from larger communities and don't have that small-community mentality. They are unfriendly and seemingly uncaring. If I were in New York, I would expect this form of response, but not in Midwest Americana USA. This weekend was just another reminder of the dismal state of human compassion. veryone has a story of someone they helped or someone they know who helped someone else in need. But these are unusual stories, not everyday occurrences. It is rare when a person stops to help another person out of the kindness in his heart. My father taught my sisters and I how to change the tires on our cars because he didn't want us to depend on nice people stopping and helping us change a flat. Some people who stop to help expect to be paid for this impromptu service. There are also those crackpots you don't want to stop if you have car trouble.

TWENTY-SOME YEARS AGO.

The crackpots and the pay-for-service thing are considered taking advantage of another human being in need.

What happened to basic human compassion? A lack of concern is something I just don't understand. We're a bunch of college students from all over Kansas and the world thrown together in one town. We're in Manhattan for a relatively short period of time, but it's an intense time of total involvement. Our lives are encompassed by school. We should be caring about the people around us, not stealing from, fighting or raping each other.

What got me started on this subject was an accident that happened to someone close to me this weekend. A friend fell down some concrete steps, suffering a broken nose and concussion. She was at a party a few houses down the street from her own residence. She works with some of the people who were at the party. As she was sitting there bleeding and in obvious need of help, the person to come to her aid was not one of the people she knew well from work. Her rescuer was the "friend of a friend," someone she knew more by reputation than by personality.

CARLA JONES

hen I got back to work Sunday night, I found out another friend of mine had stopped to help someone in need. She was driving through Clay Center and stopped to help a disoriented elderly lady who had wandered out of her retirement home. She did not know where she was, but she had walked two and a half miles from her residence. When my friend stopped at a gas station to call and find out where the lady lived, the gas station attendant was very surprised that anyone had actually stopped to help a stranger.

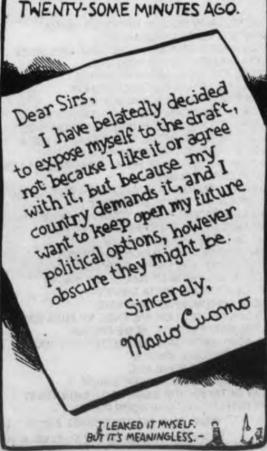

I'm glad my friend was in Clay Center that day. I'm also glad someone helped my other friend home before she passed out from blood loss on the

I wish I could do more about people's benevolence toward other people. I'm sorry things have deteriorated to such a level that we have to be scared of the people who stop to help us, or scared no one will stop and help us if we need it.

I can only write this column, hope that it makes some sort of positive difference and stop to try and help someone in need.

EDITORIAL CARTOON

LETTERS

NO CONDOMS WANTED IN CANDY MACHINES

Editor,

Isn't it a bit ridiculous to put condoms in food vending machines on campus. Is it possible we are supposed to eat them, blow them up or what? All college students are capable of going to a drugstore. We do not need them in our candy machines.

Lois Darrington Louise Rucker Seniors in psychology

WHERE ARE UNION'S CONDOMS TO BE USED

Editor,

If the Union won't sell me cigarettes because I can't smoke them there, where am I supposed to use the condoms they sell?

Karen Sheehan Junior in English

Victims stay in hopes violence will stop

Safehouses give refuge from abuse suffered by 6 million women every year

BETSY BERKLEY

It was against the law to abuse your pet. Then it was against the law to abuse your child, and then it was against the law to abuse your wife.

"Our laws and beliefs came from the English common laws," said Angela McClure, sexual assault services coordinator for the Crisis Center Inc.

"And a particular one that came from this is the 'rule of thumb' law, which stated that you could beat your wife with a stick, but it could not be larger than the thickness of your

Judy Davis, director of educational programming at the center, said 6 million women are battered every year, 4,000 of these women will be killed, and a woman is battered every Safehouses have been set up nationwide to help battered women.

The safehouses are confidential and have a secret address, but they can be reached through the Crisis Center. Lee Baldwin, freshman in social work and battered victim, came to a safehouse for help after not being able to receive help elsewhere.

"I was in an abusive relationship for nine years before I got out of it," she said.

"My relationship started out so nice and innocent, and I was flattered because he was jealous." Baldwin said the jealousy heightspeak to anyone, go anywhere or do anything without her husband's per-

Two years ago, Baldwin was stabbed and had gasoline poured on her for leaving in the middle of the

"I almost died. I was in a coma for four days and in the hospital for two months," she said.

Baldwin now has permanent neurological damage in her left hand.

Baldwin said she was treated this way frequently and walked on egg shells every night. She said she never knew what mood her husband would be in when he got home from work.

Women stay in relationships like this because they think things will change, McClure said.

"I kept thinking everything would change," Baldwin said. "If we moved into a bigger apartment, if I started having children, or if I got a job to help support the family.

"All of these things happened, but none of them changed the relationship, and I kept getting in deeper and Baldwin said she tried leaving her husband many times, but every time she did, her husband would say things to make her change her mind.

"He told me not to leave him because things would get better," Baldwin said. "He said he would give me freedom and he would be nicer.

"This made it harder for me to go, ened to the point that she could not and it took me many times to finally say goodbye."

McClure said many women think things will change, but they are also so scared and don't know what do do.

"I was scared," Baldwin said. "He told me many times that I was worth nothing and that I needed to learn how to act as a woman. And he tried to put me in my place.'

Baldwin said her husband physically, emotionally and sexually abused

He isolated her, put her down, made her feel guilty, threatened her and began to brainwash her, she said. 'I lost all of my self-esteem and self-worth," Baldwin said. "I stayed in the relationship because I didn't know any sources of how to get out. "I was in a foreign country with no family or friends, leaving me with no one to talk to."

The first time a woman is hit, it is shock to her, McClure said. "He becomes apologetic, and he says he'll never do it again," she said. "The woman says, 'I need to help him through this,' but the beatings begin to increase, and the relationship only becomes worse. McClure said it is difficult to understand the underlying reasons why men commit such violent acts.

Boys, when they are young, are taught to be competitive and in control of their lives and surroundings," she said. "They play contact sports and are aggressive.

You never hear a volleyball player say, 'Take her out.' Men are always in power over women."

fered from abuse or neglect as a child,

McClure said they have low selfesteem, present a dual personality and may use violence as a mechanism to relieve stress.

Women are not taught to be violent, McClure said, and they are believed to be peacemakers and passive. They want to fix the relationship and make it work, she said. Not only does Baldwin have permanent, physical scars, but more importantly, she has emotional scars.

"It has been hard learning how to live without him," she said. "It is hard because I miss him, and because everything I do, I associate it with him.

"I am trying to sever his rights and get him out of my mind. I just want to ive one day at a time.

Baldwin's ex-husband is serving 20 years in prison for second-degree attempted murder and second-degree attempted manslaughter.

Baldwin is only one of many who needed help.

There is hope for everyone, McClure said, and the Crisis Center is there to help 24 hours a day and every Victims do have to call personally if they think they want help, she said.

We will meet with the victims, discuss issues and see if they'd like to come in," McClure said. "We can't force anyone to come in or make someone leave. Everyone is responsible for themselves in this society.

"Nobody makes you hit. We are all Also, battering men may have suf- responsible for our own actions. And nobody has the right to hit."

BATTERING

CHARACTERISTICS As the battering relationship continues, physical abuse becomes more frequent and more severe.

RELATIONSHIP

- The woman lives in terror of her husband.
- Survival becomes her main objective, giving her strong coping mechanisms, such as believing his excuses for abusing her and disassociating her mind from the abuse her body sustains.
- The woman's identity centers on her role as wife and mother.
- The woman is made to believe nothing she does is
- She blames herself for the
- battering relationship. The woman fears her
- husband will hurt her if she
- The woman lies about her marks and abuse.
- The woman experiences physical isolation, usually brought on by her husband, who pressures her to drop her friends and outside activities.

COMPUTING

Police issue warning: disks may be infected

DOUGLAS GRUSH Collegian

The K-State Police Department has issued a warning to the campus community against using computer diskettes that are received in the mail. The campus police have found that some of the floppy diskettes contain viruses. Lt. Robert Mellgren of the campus police said this is merely a warning. "No law has been broken," he said. "We just want to warn people not to load disks into their computer with out checking them out first."

Chuck Gould, technical support programmer for computer and networking services, said the virus problem is misunder-

'The major part of the problem is more from misinformation than an actual virus problem," he said. Gould said there are many types of viruses, ranging from benevolent to malicious.

'Some will destroy everything you have on your hard drive," he said.

Union Gallery Exhibits

K-State Union February 10-February 28 UPC & Art Department Exhibit Art by Sam Gilliam

ARTS

February 17-March 16 Asian Club Exhibit

K-State Union UPC Arts

Second Floor Showcase

ECLECTIC ENTERTAINMENT PRESENTS

The Sonny Kenner Group

Blues and Jazz Band in conjunction with Black History Month and part of the Eclectic Revue Thursday, Feb. 20, 8 p.m.

Union Station, K-State Union, $2 Admission

UPC FILMS

'TWO THUMBS UP! A REALLY GOOD FILM!"

THE COOLEST, HIPPEST MOST STYLISH FRENC THRILLER IN AGES."

KALEIDOSCOPE FILMS: LA FEMME NIKITA Wednesday, Thursday & Friday, Feb. 19, 20 & 21 This stylish thriller from acclaimed French director Luc Besson depicts an incorrigible criminal who is reprogrammed by an underground government agency and transformed into a political killer. Unrated Wednesday and Thursday, 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall and Friday, 7 p.m., Little Theatre, Admission: $1.75. Kunk-State Union

"An audacious winner."

One of the best films of the year! Wonderful wise and funni. A homerun directing

One of the best movies I've seen in years. The performances are on the mark perfect.

FEATURE FILMS: LITTLE MAN TATE Friday, Saturday & Sunday, Feb. 21, 22 & 23 Jodie Foster and Dianne Wiest star in this drama about a gifted seven-year-old boy and his attempts to fit in Rated PG. Friday & Saturday, 7 & 9:30 p.m. and Sunday, 7 p.m., Forum Hall, K-State Union, Admission: $1.75

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1992

COLUMN

MARGO KELLER

Trotters work hard to earn their name

Much to my sister's encouragement and excitement of actually getting to see the Harlem Globetrotters "live in person," I accompanied her to Bramlage Coliseum last week.

We knew we were at the right location when we heard strains of "Sweet Georgia Brown" mixing with the typical sounds of basketball bouncing on the hardwood.

Scanning the stadium populated with families and myriads of children, I felt like I was definitely in the "older crowd." Nonetheless, I could still say I was able to see the worldrenowned basketball troupe show off its superb ball-handling techniques and atypical plays.

There were more reasons for attending than to accompany children wanting to emulate the Globetrotters' unique style. Parents and others attended to see a sporting event for the mere fun and entertainment, a venture often forgotten with the competitiveness and business aspects that encompass basketball and other sports today.

What makes the Globetrotters special to children of all ages isn't limited to geographic boundaries.

During an illustrious 66-year history, the troupe has lived up to its name, visiting 110 countries and logging more than 4 million

"Our image of having a good, wholesome show has spread worldwide with our trick shooting and has gained a lot of momentum," said General Manager Joseph Anzivino.

"We now have more games outside the United States than inside. Europe is going very, very big with new arenas."

The first overseas tour was in 1945 when the team journeyed to what was then the territory of Hawaii.

This season, the team will visit Australia, which credits the popularity of basketball in the country to the Globetrotters.

"They give us all the credit. ... It was a girl's sport, and men didn't play it," Anzivino said.

"Now in Syndney, Melbourne and Brisbane, brand-new arenas have been built, and other cities have arenas under construction."

Since 1970, the Trotters haven't lost a game, bringing their total wins since the team's beginning to 17,852.

The basketball team is part of the International Broadcasting Corporation, which includes the Ice Capades and other family entertainment shows and attractions

Exploring and endorsing basketball, rather than exploiting the countries they visit, the Trotters said they are not out on the court week-in and week-out to make money. Several players are the hosts of basketball camps in the off-season.

Female guard Sandra Hodge is the host of a youth basketball camp for children in New Orleans. According to the team's marketing/press package, Hodge teaches them not only fundamentals of the game, but tries to convince them to stay in school and stay off drugs.

Teammate Curley Johnson sponsors activities for Boys and Girls Clubs and youth programs for the Peoria Housing Authority in his hometown of Peoria, Ill.

Meanwhile, in Osborne Lockhart's native Nassau, the Bahamas, Johnson's basketball camp has attracted more than 400 children.

What makes it better is that they can entertain a crowd.

CATS BASKETBALL

Altman looks for consistency vs. ISU

NCAA tourney still an attainable goal for Cats PATRICK OBLEY

Though it may seem impossible, the 12-9 Cats still have a chance to reach the NCAA tournament.

The hope comes from a friendly schedule.

conference action, will play four of their final six regular season league games at home. With seven games remaining, including at least one game in the Big Eight tournament, the Cats have numerous opportunities to get four more wins, which would give them 16 on the year.

In the past, 16 wins have been enough to reach the Big Dance.

"We'd have to make an outstanding charge in order to do it," said Cat coach Dana Altman.

"The fellas would have to step up and play like they can play."

The bad news is the four remaining home dates all involve ranked teams - No. 23 Iowa State, No. 3 Kansas, No. 9 Missouri and No. 8 Oklahoma State.

Iowa State enters tonight's Bramlage Coliseum contest with an 18-6 overall record and a 4-4 league

Last Jan. 25, the Cyclones capitalized on a 10-minute K-State scoring drought in the second half to claim an 85-59 win in Ames,

Even though the score indicates a blowout, Altman said he was impressed with the Cats performance in that game.

"We played good ball for 30 minutes and let down for 10 minutes, and that was the difference," Altman said.

"When we were playing like we could play, we were staying right with them.

In fact, the Cats were staying ahead of the Clones. The Cats held leads as large as 9 points during the first half of that game. The Cats, who are 2-6 in

At home this year, the Cats own a 10-2 mark, including a current four-game-winning streak. Two of those four wins came against conference foes Nebraska and

Iowa State, meanwhile, is winless on the road in the Big Eight play, losing by an average of 15.5

Also boding well for the Cats is the all-time series standing between the two teams. The Cats hold a 112-58 edge with wins in seven of the last 11 meetings.

As far as for how the teams match up tonight. Altman said they are nearly identical.

"We match up very well with them," Altman said. "It's a situation where Iowa State is a good ballclub, but not a team that is much bigger than us or can overpower us in any

"We played fairly well against them before. If we could just play consistently instead of up and down, we'll do all right."

A change Iowa State will encounter is Altman's four-guard offensive scheme, which Altman said doesn't give up a whole lot with the lack of another big man to help center Wylie Howard.

The Cats still have a chance at reaching the NCAA Tournament. Recent home performances, such as the 72-50 win over Wichita State Jan. 15, are part of the reason for optimism.

'I don't think we'll be losing a whole lot, since Vincent Jackson has been able to step up," Altman said, referring to Jackson's small forward position.

Point guard Marcus Zeigler continues to lead the Big Eight with an assist to turnover ratio of nearly Reserve guard Brian Henson scored a career-high 21 points in the 104-75 loss to Oklahoma this last floor. weekend, and Jackson has averaged more than six rebounds a game since making the switch from guard to forward.

According to Altman, the one match-up he is concerned about the most is Howard on Cyclone center Julius Michalik.

In the previous meeting, Michalik burned the Cats for 15 points with shots from all over the

"Michalik is tough for us to match up with, since he can shoot from anywhere," Altman said.

"Wylie will probably handle him most of the night, but I'm not sure who else will match up with him right now."

After Iowa State, the Cats will continue the homestand with Kansas Saturday afternoon.

SPORTS DIGEST

NBA: 'Mutombo the African' shoes?

DENVER (AP) - Nuggets rookie Dikembe Mutombo is the latest winner in the shoe wars. He signed a contract with Adidas worth at least $1 million for his own signature shoe and a line of athletic clothing that will bear his logo.

The agreement, signed last week, is similar to a contract Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls has with Nike Inc. and one Larry Johnson of Charlotte has with Converse.

Vaccaro declined to specify how much the contract is worth, but said it could be worth at least

$1 million. The marketing promotion is in the hands of the same man who helped mastermind Jordan's Air Jordan campaign for Nike - Peter Moore, now with Sports Inc. in Portland, Ore.

The shoe campaign will be based on the theme, "Mutombo The African," Moore said. The shoe will be set off with Mutombo's symbol, a geometric pattern.

It is expected to be in the stores by next

"We are going to market 'The African' to the African American," Moore said. Mutombo is from Kinshasa, Zaire.

BASEBALL: Sparky says be patient

DENVER (AP) — Detroit Tigers manager Sparky Anderson has some advice for baseball fans in Colorado who will be rooting for the Rockies when they join the National League in 1993: Just enjoy watching the visiting teams play and ignore the losses that are inevitable for expansion teams.

"What a great thing it's going to be for the city of Denver," Anderson said at a sport dinner Monday night. "The city is ready for it, it's primed for it, and you deserve it."

But he cautioned fans not to be impatient with the on-field results.

"In fact," he said, "hope you finish last for the first five years, because then you'll get the No. 1 draft choices."

Nuxhall will return to booth in '92

CINCINNATI (AP) - Joe Nuxhall, who pitched for the Cincinnati Reds as a 15-year-old and for the past 25 years has been a Reds broadcaster, underwent prostate cancer surgery

"We accomplished everything we expected to and the outlook is good," Dr. Dale Bennett said. Nuxhall, 63, expects to resume broadcasting late in spring training.

Nuxhall made his big league debut in 1944 as the youngest player in major league history. After finishing high school, he played in the Reds' farm system until 1952, when he was promoted to the Reds.

A Big 8-SWC merger?

happened if

At one time, a full-scale merger of the Big Eight and Southwest conferences looked attractive, but recent occurrences in both leagues have made such a happening less likely.

When the College Football Association struck a lucrative deal with network television two years ago, many universities considered leaving their current conference or independent status to enter a conference that had a larger TV audience.

The first to move was Penn State, which joined the Big 10. Arkansas soon followed suit, leaving the Southwest conference for the Southeastern conference.

In addition, several of the lesser conferences, such as the Metro and Trans-American added teams, and the Big East football conference, containing traditional draws Miami and Boston College, was created.

K-State Athletic Director Milt Richards was an assistant athletic director in Temple University's athletic department when the new Big East conference was formed.

"Every conference started to scurry around to improve its market, Richards said.

A basic fundamental of network television is to televise football games in which the two teams are from large TV markets. Shortly after the Big East football conference was formed, it was estimated that conference controlled 20 percent of the TV market.

The Pacific 10, Big 10 and the of the upper four of the SWC and the the Big East, with the Big Eight and Southwest conferences next, holding about 8 percent of the nation's households each.

It was at that time officials from the Southwest and the Big Eight lot of cross-scheduling. conferences began to talk informally of an alliance.

Richards said. "Committees were put in place." Though the compatibility between the two conferences was good on the full-scale merger. For example, Richards said, there would be no objection to playing a football, but it would be detrimental to play the powerhouses Texas and Texas A&M. "There would have to be two powerhouses and one for the rest," said Richards, who has tentatively scheduled Rice for 1994 and 1996 and is pursuing Houston.

That isn't necessarily feasible, since the teams that are strong in football aren't necessarily strong in basketball."

director in charge of finances, said the merger looked good at first.

We were looking at getting close to 16, 18 or 20 percent of the national television audience," he said. "Many thought the two conferences would be better off combined.

The upper tier may have consisted Atlantic Coast conferences fell in after upper four of the Big Eight, with the other containing the rest of the teams. "But there was always the mention that there would still be a Southwest conference and a Big Eight conference, just that there would be a

From one standpoint, we all needed to fill our schedule anyway. "I think what was going on was Maybe it would be advantageous if people in both leagues decided they those teams were from the Southwest maybe ought to posture a bit," conference."

Another hindering factor in unification was the role of Olympic sports in the new conference.

What does it mean for Iowa surface, several details hindered a State's track team having to go to Texas to compete?" Richards said. "How was it good for any of the nonrevenue generating sports to have to Rice University or Houston in budget trips to Southwest conference

> A final nail in the coffin came with the new Bowl Alliance Agreements.

If there was to be a merger separate tiers, one for the between the SWC and the Big Eight, the Cotton Bowl or the Orange Bowl would have to be sacrificed. "The Orange Bowl deal is very advantageous and is a big money-maker for the Big Eight," Richards said, "as is the Cotton Bowl for the Southwest conference. "I don't think either league would Jack Key, associate athletic like to do without those bowls." Richards said the SWC was also involved in negotiations for participating in the new Alamo Bowl. The new Bowl Alliance limits the number of bowls a conference can be involved in, so such talks with the Alamo Bowl would have been

See BIG 8 page 10

LADY CATS

Comeback falls short; ISU wins

AMES, Iowa — After falling behind by as many as 20 points during the first half, the Lady Cats battled back and had a chance to win before falling late, 58-54 to Iowa State Wednesday.

A slow start yeilded just four buckets in the first 10 minutes of the game for K-State and Iowa State capitalized, going up 35-15 with two minutes showing in the first half.

The Lady Cats retaliated by scoring the last seven points of the half to close the gap to 13, 35-22.

In the second half, K-State's defense limited the Cyclones to just six points over the last 10 minutes of the game, allowing the comeback. Mary Jo Miller led K-State with 14 points.

Water purifier used both on hiking trail and in space shuttle

Process kills bacteria, viruses, professors say

ROB DE CORTIE

Two K-State professors have found the answer to purifying water where pure water is a problem.

Louis Fina, professor of microbiology, and Jack Lambert, professor of chemistry, have developed a water the resin beads. purification process that has resulted in a portable water purifier that can be used by hikers and travelers.

"The portable water purifier is the large-selling unit," Lambert said. "It might be used by pathfinders, travelers overseas and hikers.

"But we also make big units, for example, for the U.S. Embassy in Russia and for other places where water is a problem."

Fina and Lambert have been working on their invention since 1968.

Their efforts have resulted in six patents. Their water purification process has even been adopted by NASA.

"In 1971, the University thought it would be worthwhile to offer it to NASA, use free," Lambert said. "At that time, it was too late for Skylab. "But our invention has been used ever since 1976, when NASA started planning the shuttle.

Lambert said NASA uses the purifier as the main disinfectant for all the water that is going to be used for drinking purposes.

Fina and Lambert's invention is

The device consists of a cup and the actual purifier.

In order to get drinkable water, a persor sets the purifier on the cup and pours water into the cup. The purifier instantly destroys harmful bacteria and viruses and makes the water safe

The water purifier is not a filter. Bacteria or viruses are not filtered out by the water; they are devitalized or Fina and Lambert said bacteriologically polluted water becomes sterile when it passes through the resin disinfectant.

The resin disinfectant, a chemicalbiological preparation, is the core of the invention. It is visible in the form of beads in the water. Bacteria and viruses are killed after they contact

"The water runs through, but it contacts the killer," Lambert said. When the water is through, you can

"The resin beads have a number of desirable qualities. It is highly insoluble. That means that the purifier can process a considerable amount of Fina and Lambert said they estimate one portable purifier can process about 100 gallons of water.

"Other qualities of the resin beads are that they are stable, ... and that they should be easily adapted to a wide variety of uses," Lambert said.

The invention has been tested by many independent and government laboratories, and many advantages have been found.

The purification process does not change the taste of the water. There is no special equipment required, and everybody can use it.

The process doesn't require special treatment except casual washing.

COLLEGIAN

"RELATIONS BETWEEN AFRICAN AMERICAN and AFRICAN MUSIC"

(A Black History Month Lecture) presented by

Dr. Kwabena Nketia

1991-92 Langston Hughes Professor, University of Kansas

Thursday, Feb. 20, 1992 3:30 to 4:20 p.m., Denison Hall 222

Other presentations by Dr. NKetia:

Friday, February 21, 1992 African Music

8:30 to 9:20 a.m., All Faiths Chapel

Ethnomusicology in Africa

11:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m., KSU Union 206 Open Forum

2:30 p.m., KSU Union 207

Sponsors: I.C.C.- African Student Union- Dept. of Music Office of Multicultural Affairs - American Ethnic Studies

February 19-21 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. February 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Sponsor of two UPC Spring Break Package to Panama City Beach Florida for drawing during Springfest preciate your support. Your dollars confinure to help the UK-Stafe Union Sponsor student services, programs and activities.

VITA available to calculate returns,

MITCH HIXSON

Collegian Federal and state tax help will be available for people with special needs from IRS trained volunteers at many Manhattan sites.

answer questions

Volunteer Income Tax Assistance, part of the IRS volunteer assistance program, is intended to help older, handicapped and non-English speaking people prepare their tax

VITA is also available to anyone who needs assistance filling out a tax return and is unable to afford a professional tax preparer. Assistance began Feb. 10 and will continue until April 15. Saturday help sessions began Feb. 15. Scott Walker, junior in accounting and coordinator of the Manhattan VITA program, said there will be about 90 students helping with the program in Manhattan. 'Most of these student volunteers are members of the K-State Accounting Club," he said. "But volunteers are welcome, even if they aren't accounting majors.'

Walker said accounting majors are actively pursued because of the benefit of experience this program can give them.

Volunteers receive training from the IRS in the preparation of basic state and federal tax returns, as well as most of the common forms and schedules, such as earned income credit, child-care credit, itemized deductions, and interest and dividend income.

"VITA does tax returns, and we answer questions so people can finish their form by themselves," Walker said.

"VITA does not do tax planning,

Last year, VITA service served ,600 tax payers at its 10 Manhattan

"Just to show how successful our program is, the national average is 200 taxpayers helped," Walker said. This year, the Manhattan VITA program will add two more sites, for a total of 12. Walker said he is proud of the group being fully qualified to process the 1040 NR form. This is the form under which most international students are classified. "CPAs would charge a bunch to do it, but with us, it's free," he said.

Joan Parker, International Student Center office assistant, said VITA's assistance is very imporPart-time workers could be eligible for returns on income

BRYAN LARSON

Collegian

W-2, E-Z tax forms still taxing

It's tax-filing time once again, and that can either mean some extra spending money or a dent in the banking account - depending on each taxpayer's fortune.

W-2 forms were required by law to be in the mail to employees by Jan. 31, and students are probably thinking about filing. For some, that can be as easy as transferring numbers from a W-2 form to a simple E-

However, it can be complicated for others.

"Filing taxes is going to be a pain for me this year," said Shawn Roberts, sophomore in industrial engi-

"I had three different part-time jobs, and getting all of the forms together is going to be a pain. It won't be difficult, but I'm not looking forward to having to sit down and figure everything out." Tonya Wilkerson, an accountant at the firm of Varney, Mills, Rogers, Burnett and Associates, said almost everyone is required to file. "Some part-time workers might feel that since they didn't earn a lot of money that there is no reason to file," she said.

'Most of the time, these people are eligible for a refund, and they might pass it by if no return is filed." Wilkerson said students filing returns should first find out if their parents are claiming them as a de-

"A lot of problems can arise if the proper amount is not claimed," Wilkerson said.

From this point, all that is required is filling in the numbers.

"I'm glad that I don't have to bother with taxes," said Mike

Walton, junior in business. "My parents have somebody who prepares mine. I really have never had to deal with it."

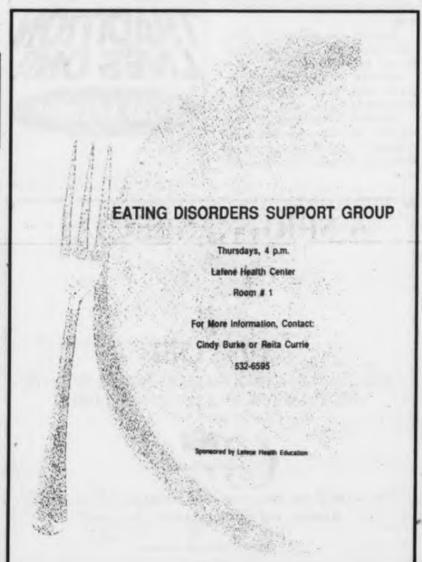

There are a numerous tax services, including those that prepare taxes professionally.

H & R Block offers services students might be interested in, according to H & R Block 's Jason

"Of course, we can prepare the taxes, but we also have different services," Kent said.

One such service is the rapid refund. A refund can be returned in five days for a $25 transaction fee and a $29 bank and loan fee.

Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea? Call the Collegian day or night 532-6556

SPRING BREAK AT THE LOFT

We can give you a summer job that will take you places. Places like Los Angeles, San Francisco, Dallas, New York, and Miami just to name a few. Affiliated Services, Inc., an agent for Mayflower Transit, is looking for hard working individuals with a sense of adventure to fill summer positions in our household goods fleet.

No experience Necessary

· Free Training

 Last Year's Participants Had An Average Taxable Income Of $6,200.00 For 12 Weeks · See The Country

· Meet Interesting People

· Scholarships For Top Earners

You Must Be: At Least 21 Years Old

> Have A Good Driving Record Be Ambitious

Affiliated

Services, Inc. Agent For

MAYFLOWER.

over, Mayflower Transit, and the ship symbol are trademarks and service marks of Mayfower Transit, Inc. Mayfower Transit, Inc. P.O. Box 107.

Indianapolis, Indiana, 46206-0107. ICC No. MC-2534. Printed in the U.S.A. © 1992 Mayflower Transit, Inc.

For More Information Attend A Free Seminar:

School: Kansas State University Date: Thursday, February 20, 1992 Place: K-State Union

Room #20/

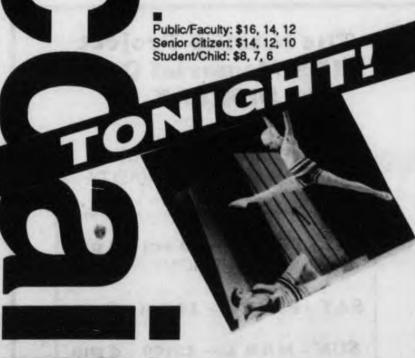

Time: 7 p.m.

Call 1-800-428-1204 to register. You do not need to register to attend, but it would be appreciated.

Best of the Ballets Russes Oakland Ballet Wednesday, February 19, 8 p.m.

You'll see muscle men, bathing beauties, flirting flappers and a bride-to-be in an evening of classics that captures the glamour and excitement of Serge Diaghilev's famed company. The Wedding, The House Party, and The Blue Train are masterful collaborations, displaying the talents of choreographer Bronislava Nijinska; composers Stavinsky, Milhaud, and Poulenc; and designer-artists Gontcharova, Chanel, and

*The Wedding is an unforgettable experience."--San Francisco Examiner

McCain Auditorium Kansas State University, Manhattan Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort

A Mid-America Arts Altiance Program made possible by the Dance on Tour Program of the National Endowment for the Arts. Additional support has been provided by the KSU Fine Arts fee and the Citizens Bank and Trust Company Performing

Aquifer being depleted

Professor studies counties. The entire region gets its riously, and the state is doing all that lower water supply in High Plains region

BARBARA HILGER

Research being done at K-State on water depletion in the Ogallala Aquifer has taken a different approach.

For the last two decades, the aquifer has been depleted and not recharged, said David Kromm, professor of geography.

saturated sand and gravel that extends 100-300 feet below the surface.

Research began in the late 1970s in response to the depletion. Then, in the 1980s, the research was extended to study the differences among the irrigators.

Some of the irrigators were using state-of-the-art equipment to conserve water, Kromm said, and some didn't believe there was a problem, so they weren't doing anything.

The region the aquifer extends from Texas to Nebraska and includes 182 water supply from the Ogallala Aqui-

Irrigation is a big business in this region because it is not an area of high rainfall. More than 90 percent of the water pumped out for all states is used for irrigation, Kromm said.

A third study is due to begin in April. The study, which will be funded by the Ford Foundation, will cover only Kansas and Colorado and will have two parts.

The first part, which Kromm is He said the aquifer is an area of working on, is the effectiveness of the ground water management districts.

The second part, which Stephen White, professor of geography, is working on, is the effect of irrigation on population change in the High

Each district locally manages water for its state, Kromm said.

In Kansas, there are three districts under their own authority, but the Colorado districts have less author-

Kromm said he believes this study shows Kansas takes management seis possible to conserve.

However, the districts in Colorado aren't taking the measures to conserve because it involves more work

White said the Ford Foundation is interested in taking the information gathered back to the legislators to help with passing bills and regulations concerning the ground water

There is a myth that the High Plains are being depopulated, that everyone is leaving," White said.

White said he believes irrigation is responsible for maintaining the population in western Kansas, because it increases economic activity.

The landscape is changing, he said, and there is a global interest in the Ogallala region.

Many of the water conservation technologies have come out of this region, White said.

COLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $5.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Exact change or checks only after 4:30 p.m.

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper. Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion, it is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Announcements

ALERTI ALERTI The K-State Union Book-store is returning fall semester over-stocked textbooks to publishers. Don't wait any longer to make your purchases.

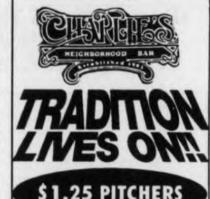

CELEBRATE BLACK History Month with 25% off selected titles at the K-State Union Bookstore.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

MULTIENGINE FLIGHT training. ATP, Com-mercial, Private, and CFI ratings in HSI-equipped Twin Comanche. Call Hugh Irvin at 539-3128, 532-6311.

NEEDED: CONTESTANTS for 1992-93 Miss Rodeo K-State. For more information call Shawna Stevens at 539-8633.

WEIGHT LOSS. Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guaranteed! For more information call Fihonda 539–3817.

776-1515

COMING ATTRACTIONS

SOUTHERN COMFORT GIRLS

Female Strippers Wed. & Thurs. 7-10 p.m. Fri. & Sat. 6:30-9:30 p.m.

BLUE RIVER PUB

North on Tuttle Creek Blvd. 537-9877

Automobiles for Sale

1984 ESCORT $425, sold as is. Call 539-3822.

1984 FORD Escort four-speed, $800 or best offer, 776-5526.

1985 CONTINENTAL, clean, excellent con-dition, 4-door, one-owner, 537-0365.

1987 HONDA Civic Si 60K, sunroof, rear de-frost. Many new componets. Must sell! 537-0405, ask for Jeff.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

Child Care

CHILD CARE Monday- Friday 3p.m.- 4p.m. Saturday four hours. Non-smoker, reli-able, own transportation, call 776-1270.

Computers

SEGATE ST-225, 20 meg hard drive with card $125, here. Monochrome monitor $80, citizen GSX-140, 24 pin printer $220, 539-6360.

Employment

$40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Are you looking for a way to defray the high cost of a college education? By serving one weekend a month and two weeks in the summer you could qualify for up to $28,000 in the Kansas Army National Guard! For more information about an exciting career and great benefits call 537-4108.

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539-3817.

COLORADO SUMMER Jobs: In the Rockies near Vail, Anderson Camps seeks caring, enthusiastic, dedicated, patient individuals who enjoy working with children in an outdoor setting. Counselors, Cooks, Wranglers, Riding Instructors and Nurses. Interviews on February 24th. Sign up, get application at Career Planning and Placement Office. Questions? Call us at (303) 524–7766.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

(continued on page 9)

Hearing to examine feasibility

Proposed water district to study pesticide effects

BARBARA HILGER

A public hearing is set for March 9 in Holton to discuss setting up the Delaware River water management district to study effects of pesticides on ground and surface water. If passed, Kansas would be the first state to adopt management for surface water concerns, said John Hickman, associate professor of crop land use. agronomy.

lems with leaching, the movement of water and pesticides through soil in northeast Kansas.

There are frequent detections and concentrations of Atrazine, a herbicide used in corn and grain sorghum production. Hickman said these amounts are greater than the proposed drinking water standards associated with major reservoirs, especially in northeast Kansas. More rainfall, sloping soil and run-lems in this part of the state, Hickman He said prevention is the key, beclean up the pesticides once they are azine in a narrow band and improving in the ground water.

The purpose behind the management district would be to study the effects of the pesticides in the water and to either restrict or eliminate the use of a particular product.

The proposals to be reviewed at the public hearing include the use of mandatory and voluntary practices with the use of pesticides, particularly Atrazine, Hickman said.

The proposed mandatory restrictions include restricted use of Atrazine around wells, lakes and in non-

Paul Schwab, associate professor Hickman is researching the prob- of soil chemistry, said that in the spring, there is a high concentration of Atrazine in the rivers, because the rainfall washes it off the soil.

These high levels in the rivers exceed the proposed drinking water standards, he said, and most of these rivers are sources for drinking water.

'Normal water treatment does nothing to remove Atrazine from drinking water," Schwab said. Setting up the water management district could be worthwhile to find practices, other than banning the use of Atrazine, that could be used to get off are some reasons for more probthe levels below drinking water stan-

Schwab said some of the proposed cause it is extremely expensive to practices would include applying Atr-tillage of the soil, all to reduce the amount that runs off.

Pesticides in surface water degrade quickly, he said, so if runoff can be controlled, the problem will control

But in ground water, the process of degradation is slower because of the absence of sunlight and oxygen, he Atrazine does degrade in ground water. In one year, the level decreases by half, Schwab said.

Alachlor, another herbicide, degrades much faster. In two months, it decreases by half, he said.

Schwab said the problem of switching from Atrazine to Alachlor is that Atrazine is very effective. It doesn't take much, he said, and it is inexpen-

FIRSTBANK CENTER

IS GOD CALLING YOU TO THE CARMELITES?

If you are oriented to

We want you!

Fr. Peter W. McGarry, O. Carm. 1313 Frontage Rd. . Darien, Illinois 60559 (708) 852 - 4536

A SPRING SPECIAL

10% OFF

WEDDING INVITATIONS OR ANNOUNCEMENTS ORDERED BY A 1992 REGISTERED BRIDE

We can help you choose wedding invitations, china, crystal, flatware, and gifts for your wedding party.

> 5th & Poyntz Downtown 776-9067

SKYDIVE!?

Learn how with the K-State Parachute Club

Denison 124 7:30 p.m. Feb. 20 Everyone is welcome. If interested, call 537-4195

315-B POYNTZ Use the 3rd & Houston St. parking lot.

Three doors up the alley from Burger King. Downtown.

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

776-1193

Men's Black Leather Driving Gloves.

Reg. $19.99 Now $10.00

With Coupon

Expires March 19, 1992

The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt DISPLAY

AHEARN FIELDHOUSE KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

FRI - FEB 28 -- 10 am - 8 pm OPENING CEREMONY - 10 am

SAT - FEB 29 -- 10 am - 8 pm

SUN - MAR 1 -- 12:00 - 4 pm CLOSING CEREMONY - 3:30 pm

FREE ADMISSION -- EVERYONE WELCOME

Sponsored by KSU and Manhattan Communities

CONFERENCE

The Office of Admissions cordially invites former students of these high schools to attend the 1992 Principal-Counselor-Student Conference. High school principals and counselors will be on campus to visit with you about your preparation for and experiences in KSU Academic programs. Your participation will help the University build a stronger relationship with your former high school faculty.

You are welcome to drop by between 10:15 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. on Wednesday, February 19. This is an excellent opportunity for you to renew old friendships with former classmates

School Location Code U--Union Rooms FHT--Field House Tables located on the track.

Wednesday, February 19, 1992 10:15 a.m.-12:15 p.m. in the K-State Union and Ahearn Field House

30 TravellCar Pool

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896.

SPRING BREAK in Cancun five star Hotel on the beach. For more information call Mike or Anthony, 776—4712.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information

SPRING BREAK!!!

South Padre from $99

per person 5 nights

Bahamas Cruise $299

per person 6 days/5 nights

Cancun from $439

per person 7 nights airfare included for information call:

Stop at

Stephanie 537-0891

on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

(continued from page 8)

EARN EXTRA MONEY in spare time and also help in the continuing effort to promote campus safety. We'll show you how to make big S selling Personal Safety Devices

Write to Personal Safety Devices, Inc. 1409 Altamont Avenue Schenectady, NY 12303

ACCOUNTANT

Manhattan real estate firm has imme diate opening for one full time account ant. Duties include bookkeeping, finan cial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary comnensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Friday. Micro computer training and experience mandatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian

New Opportunities

Earn $5,000 to $10,000 this summer painting houses in your home town. Final hiring for these positions is being held now!

- 1. Strictly management
- 2. Painting and management
- 3. Painting only ALL-Pro Student Painters, Inc. 1-800-2-MANAGE

Attention Students:

Financial Research Services has knowledge of over $4 billion dollars available to you regardless of your G.P.A., S Major, Social or Economic Background.

For information send S.A.S.E. to: Financial Research Services 1405 Daniel Ave.

Manhattan, XS 66502

Jim's Journal

Today I went to a craft & hobby

shop with Ruth.

Off the Mark

(she had to buy some felt.)

DB '92 is looking for radio personalities for it's dance/ rap show, "Jam The Box," contact station manager, Joe Montgomery at 532–3292 for more info.

FARM HELPI Part-time during schoool. Full-time summer. Farm and service work. 539–1901.

FAST FUNDRAISING Program. Fraternities, sororities, student clubs. Earn up to $1000 in one week. Plus receive a $1000 bonus yourself. And a free watch just for calling 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 65.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Patrol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.

LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national forest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombereo Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

MALE AND female Gymnastics Instructors needed. Previous gymnastics and/ or coaching experience is desired. Call Manhattan Gymnastics Center at 539-3613. If no answer, leave message.

NEED CASH? We need students to stuff our sales circulars! Excellent wages- $3 per envelope! Start immediately! Send long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157, Forked River, NJ 08731

THE KSU Alumni Association is now acrepring applications for three at large committee positions for the 1992 All University Homecoming Committee. Applications may be picked up at 2323 Anderson Avenue, Suite 400. Deadline February 24. Questions call Amy Button Renz, Associate Director, KSU Alumni Association, 532-6260.

THE UNIVERSITY of Kansas Medical Center has an opening for an Industrial Hygienist in our Center for Occupational and Environmental Health. Requires Masters Degree in Preventive Medicine or Industrial Hygiene. Board Certified or eligible in Industrial Hygiene, experience of the Advantage of the engible in industrial rygiene, experi-ence in educational programs and in the practice of industrial hygiene. Prefer Ph-D, Certified Industrial Hygienist, prior uni-versity or governmental experience and experience in research. Position will pro-vide full service industrial hygiene on and off campus as well as other related and off campus as well as other related duties. Please send resumes to: H. William Barkman, MD, MSPH, Director, 1034 Breidenthal Bldg, KUMC, Kansas City, KS 66160. An Equal Opportunity Affirmative Action Employer

WILDCATS NEEDED— Summer counseling and staff for Easter Seal Camp serving people with disabilities in the heart of the Colorado Rockies. For more information, call (303) 892-6063, or write Rocky Mountain Village, P.O. Box 115 Empire, CO 80438.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

She picked out

wanted and went up to the cashier.

the felt she

MALE ROOMMATE needed. Mature, nonsmoking, non-drinking, own room, close to campus, $112.50. Furnished, paid util-ities, contact Thomas, 539-8490.

NICE ONE and two-bedroom apartment with great prices. Available immediately. 537–2919, 537-1666

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

COME SEE Lee Crest Apartments 1122 Kearney Apt #8, Saturday Feb. 22, 11a.m. to 2p.m., Sunday Feb. 23, 1:30 to 4p.m.. Four buildings right by campus. Large furnished one-bedrooms.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

NICE ONE and two-bedroom apartment with great prices. Available immediately. 537-2919, 537-1666

SERIOUS STUDENT, large one-bedroom. Heat, water and trash paid,air condition. Available March 1 $255. Lease, no pets. 539-2546.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENTS southeast of campus for 1992-93 school year. Available August 1, 1992. Call 539–7277. After 5p.m./ weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

MAKE ANDERSON PLACE YOUR HOME AWAY FROM HOME!

> NOW LEASING for 1992-1993

KSU Students Both 1 & 2 Bedrooms 1/2 block from campus Furnished & Unfurnished

Showings Every Thursday 1852 Anderson #17

THE CURTIN COMPANIES 776-8641

By Jim Dikkers

I waited in line with her and looked at the ceramic lawn

gnomes.

HEY ARNOLD, meet me at Cottonwood, no lines, free weights and great hours. Fran-

SIGMA CHI B-Ball Player. You're the best, we know you'd come out above the rest. It was a challenge, it was a test, you rule the '92 Hoopfest. Love your coaches, Denise, Marlo and Christy.

TAN COLORED Chevy S-10 pickup with 71 county Nebraska plates coming out of Throckmorton parking lot Monday would like to meet red Ford pickup with 62 county Nebraska plates. If interested respond in personal column to Li

By David Swearingen

Shoe

By Jeff MacNelly

Calvin and Hobbes

THIS IS MY SNOW SCULPTURE WHY DO BOURGEOIS BUFFOON " CAN YOU BELIEVE MOM REJECTED MY GRANT APPLICATION TO CONTINUE MAKING THESE?

By Jerry Bittle

Geech

FOUND: CALCULATOR, a watch, and two pens. Come by room 237 Seaton Hall or 532-5813 to identify. PRESCRIPTION GLASSES found in Ag-gieville, Feb. 7 east of Burger King. Call David at 539-8897 to identify.

FOR SALE: 63cm Raleigh Prestige Road-bike, Suntour Cyclone 7000 compon-ents. Excellent condition. 532-3472, ask for Terry.

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale

ents-Apartments-Automobiles-Child Ca

COLLEGIAN

ClassADS Let them work for you.

ckets-Travel-Volunteers Needed-Wanted to Buy or Se

Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts * College Heights

Large 2 Bedroom Units

537-9064

Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

BUY FOR less than it costs to rent: two-be-

THREE LARGE bedroom for three or four students. Next to campus. Washer, dry-er, central air. Available Aug. 1, $720/ month 537-8543.

ART CRAFT drawing paper found in Durland study area on the second floor. Identify in Durland 261, 532-5600.

FOUND: BROWN jacket at Last Chance on Fri. Feb. 7 call 537–3684 to identify.

Only found ads can be placed free of charge.

room house with income producing base-ment apartment, one mile from campus. Call 537-0505 or 776-7199.

11 For Sale—Houses

16 Lost and Found

TREK 7000 Aluminum Ridden twice. Must sell $450. 539-1926 (day), Ask for Britt 537-1751 (night).

19 Music Musicians

ROLAND JAZZ Chorus 120 Guitar Amp. $375, Washburn Guitar $225, Gorilla Amp. $45 776-6524 Todd.

THRASHMASTER PEDAL Crate, B80XL, Bass Amp. Yamaha RB200 Bass with Yamaha case. All like new, low prices. Call Eric 776–2026.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL KINDS of typing done including medi-cal terminology and foreign language. Laser printer. 537–7027 after 5p.m.

ALL THINGS typed, papers, letters and resumes, $1.25 per double-spaced page. Same day availability. Call Janelle 537-7795.

ECS OFFERS laser quality typesetting for re-ports, these, resumes, etc. Math, scien-tific, foreign character support. Style, grammar checking available. 776–6687. FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality.

Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539-3229, 8a.m.- 8p.m. UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for pa-pers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommate Wanted

ACROSS

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed: Starting summer, completely furnished (all appliance), pets allowed, own bedroom, private with only one roommate. 537–4279.

38 Pack

winks

cream

2 God of

3 Brazilian

marmoset

4 Large

5 Actor

desert

Mineo

6 Ball or beam

7 Bridge

8 Cubic meter

9 Popular family

dish

10 English

11 RBI or composer

44 Beloved

47 Tolerable

49 Belgian account

information

53 Secret

2-19

lead-in position

1 Bark cloth

1 Makes	away	59 Word
lace	39 Color	cherr
5 Stitch	41 She gets	crear
8 Watering	what she	DOWN
places	wants	1 Bark
12 Genus of	43 Takes as	2 God
the bowfin	one's own	love
13 Voting	46 Ore	3 Braz
word	analysis	marn
14 Legal	50 Genn and	4 Large wrong	Carroll	dese
15 They	51 Haphaz-	5 Acto
make	ard	Mine
motorists -	attempts	6 Ball
cringe	54 "- the 'A'	bean
17 Sight in	Train*	lead-

18 Merrill 55 Biblical melodies? 56 Italian 19 Small projecting noble tower family 21 Weather Syllable before

while

car 25 Asiatic 28 "The of Bernadette' 30 Likely word

TABS 43 Der -TEAROGLING 45 Cross
SLOES PURE
PUPS RETIREES 47 Tolera UNA BELEM MAT 48 Aleutian island RITE LUMEN EGAD

Yesterday's answer

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, middle of May- July partially furnished apartment, two-bedroom $190 per month 539-8041

FEMALE ROOMMATE. Nice two-bedroom house. Own room, one-half block from campus. All utilities paid- washer/ dryer included. 776–5178.

FEMALES TO share one-bedroom apartment close to campus. One block from Ag-gieville. Low Utilities. Call 537-2919 or

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, near campus. Own room, no smoking, $240/ month. 539-6019.

MALE ROOMMATE. Own room washer/ dry-er, one-fifth utilities. $195, 776-6383 An-

MALE, PRIVATE bedroom, first floor, 1011 Laramie, washer & dryer, $190 a month plus utilities. Call Scott, 537-5061. ONE OR two female roommates needed soon. Must like pets. $182.50 plus half utilities. Own room. Near park. Call

ONE TO three non-smoking females, own bedroom, stall and pasture for horse, cat-tle, dog. Prefer veterinarian, animal sd-ence, Horticulture majors, P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.- 5p.m. Monday through

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

WANDERING HEARTS Video Dating Service

Want to meet NEW and interesting people?

call Janice or Kelli 539-3003

Chiropractic Family Health Center

Tired of medicines & all those side effects? Don't Suffer Call Today!

537-8305

3252 Kimball Avenue

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests

Old Town Mall 523 S. 17th 1-800-848-LOVE 5683

28 Sublease

CHEAP! NEED female roommate to sub lease May- July 31. $120/ month one-half block campus/ furnsihed. Call

SUBLEASE MALE roommate. Own room. $115/ month plus one-eighth utilities. Walk to campus. Call 532–6750 ask for William or 539-9324 at night.

SUBLEASE! ONE room in two-bedroom apartment. Large. Available end of finals. Bike to campus. $150/ month plus one-half utilities. Call Brian or Kevin 539-1598.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- May thru July 31. Fe-male roommate, own room. Woodway Apartments, $170/ month, carport included! Call evenings 4p.m.- 7p.m., 776-3447, ask for Karen.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

NEED ONE or two tickets for KU vs. KSU, call Heather 539-7741, leave message.

TWO TICKETS to KSU vs. KU Basketball game for sale. Best offer. Call (316) 221-1492 after 5p.m.

WISH TO buy one or two tickets for KU vs. KSU game. Call Paul, 776–2272. Please leave message.

ERA 59 Word with 16 Explorer Johnson cherry or 20 Strong impulse

22 Man or Wight 23 Swedish philanthropist 25 San Francisco's -Hill 26 Buy a pig - poke 27 S-shaped marks in writing 29 Pianist Peter 31 Golf instructor 32 Drag behind 34 Incite

CRYPTOQUIP

VCIRF-LQXA KQCUAOFAC, (Adenauer)

FNQVACNOL YNW

YAQCF TQW KIS, KQKS

"KIUUIXW SAGG, Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SAID ABLE ORNITHOLO-GIST OF HIS ISLAND-HOPPING TRIP TO HAWAII: "IT

Today's Cryptoquip clue: K equals B

International Tours for all your spring travel needs. 555 Poyntz Ave. Colony Square P.O. Box 68 Manhattan, KS 66502 13-776-4756

TO BE STUCK IN MANHATTAN! 5104 DAYTONA BEACH SOUTH PADRE ISLAND °128 ⁵122 STEAMBOAT

PANAMA CITY BEACH ⁵122 5136 FORT LAUDERDALE ⁵119 HILTON HEAD ISLAND MUSTANG ISLAND 5128 PORT ARANSAS

DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE OU JOSE 11th Annual Celebration!

SUCHE TOLL FREE INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS 1-800-321-5911

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Beautiful wedding dress. Never worn, size 8, white taffeta. 539-3876.

FOR SALE: Brand new car stereo/ tape deck. Loaded; anti-theft coding system, 18 presets, auto memory, tuner, APC, morel 776–4294 Randy.

FOR SALE: Colt King Cobra 357 Mag, four BBL stainless steel $375, 537-4370

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m. FOR SALE: VW Squareback brown seat cov-ers. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

WANTED TO buy a baby room monitor. Please call after 4:30p.m. Ask for Jackie 537-9480.

38 Cummerbunds 40 Overturn

GS

WAS FOR THE BIRDS." 52 Money of 37 Bock or lager

All done

MIKE MARLETT/Special to the Collegian

Red Cross Bloodmobile worker Bill Everage finishes taking a pint of blood from Mike Rooke, graduate student in chemistry, Tuesday in the K-State Union. The Red Cross will continue the drive until Friday.

Big Eight

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 impossible if the two leagues had joined," he said.

Though football has fallen out of by more than 2 million people. the picture, the Southwest conference is still pursuing a four-game men's Currie said. basketball series in hopes of garnering national TV exposure.

Since the departure of Arkansas, the visibility of the SWC in the basketball picture has diminished.

Meanwhile, improving programs at the Big Eight schools have made the Big Eight league one of television's hottest basketball commodities.

"Right now, the Southwest con-ference wants our basketball conference," Richards said. "A challenge series would allow them to cash in on our popularity, but it does nothing for us, really."

"It used to be the Big Eight and the Southwest were very comparable," Keys said. "I'm not so sure that's the case anymore with Arkansas bolting the Southwest."

Current television agreements will run out in 1994, which will initiate another round of league posturing and

Neither Richards nor Key denied the possibility of a merger in the fu-

"I would not be opposed to a fullscale merger, but that's a lot of years off from now," Richards said.

"A whole lot of things could happen between now and then.' Kays said if the conditions were right, a lot of things could be gained from such a merger.

Quilt

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The quilt is constantly growing. She said as of June 1991, it was seen

Anyone can contribute panels,

She said a table will be set up in Ahearn to accept panels, and during the last day of the display, people can present their panels to the public.

AIDS victims will be dignified with an ongoing reading of their names in the opening ceremony.

Currie said she is delighted about the support the project has received from the University and the community. Through fundraising and donations, the initial payment for the quilt could be covered.

She said, however, to pay the bills, the project still needs financial support, and any remaining money will be donated to help the community.

'Any funds raised above expenses will stay in the community and be donated to service organizations that provide direct care to patients with AIDS," she said.

Currie said organizations such as Homecare, Hospice and the Topeka AIDS Project's Riley/Geary County Chapter, will directly benefit from a McCarthy was on the Democratic positive balance.

Volunteer help, in a nations, is requested. "I still need a lot more volunteers," said Rosanne Proite, assistant director of housing and dining, who coordinates quilt volunteers.

"I need to have approximately 200 people,"she said.

She said she needs helpers, especially the night before, to set up the quilt display and to pack the panels after the show.

Proite said she also needs volunteers to monitor the quilt during display hours. People can sign up in two-hour blocks of time," she said.

Anyone interested may pick up volunteer forms in the Pittman Building, the housing office or call 532-

In A Hurry For Lunch?

Come in and have our luncheon buffet, it includes soup, salad bar and Hot foods for only 4.95 Monday thru Friday.

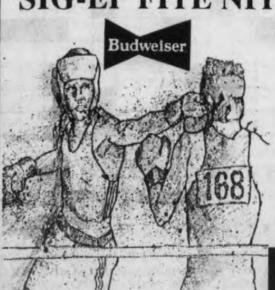

* Holiday Inno

530 Richards Dr.

539-5311

SIG-EP FITE NITE BOXER SIGN-IN

COME BY THE SIG-EP HOUSE

or CALL 539-2387

Deadline is MARCH 25

Boxers receive free workouts

at NAUTILUS

 $15 boxer fee; $75 for teams of 8 or more

 Boxers must live in a residence hall, Jardine or a fraternity

Sig Ep Fite Nite April 2-5 at AHEARN FIELD HOUSE For ticket information call 539-2387

Primary

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 going to win a great victory - against

Pat Buchanan. In a CNN interview, Clinton said his showing was a victory.

"I think I won," he said. "We were written off ... after all that garbage got dumped on me. This is a stunning

"New Hampshire, you did it again," Tsongas told cheering supporters. You gave them hell."

He said it was time to "tell the economic truth," repeating his oppo-sition to a middle-class tax cut.

"Washington, wake up!" he said. Partial returns showed Buchanan running at about the pace Sen. Eugene McCarthy polled in 1968, when he captured 42 percent of the Democratic primary vote against President Lyndon Johnson, who announced about three weeks later that he would not seek re-election

Two subsequent presidents who lost substantial shares of the New Hampshire primary vote lost the fol-lowing fall — Gerald Ford, who edged Ronald Reagan in the 1976 primary, 50 percent to 49 percent; and Jimmy Carter, who topped Sen. Edward Kennedy in 1980, 47 percent to 37

Brown said he reflected the doubts that Tsongas could replicate his showing outside his home region of New England.

"I don't think he's going to get the nomination," he told CNN

The Democratic field will narrow soon; there's neither enough money nor enough support to go around.

About 125,000 votes were forecast for the Democratic candidates, 140,000 for the Republicans. That would total about 47 percent of those eligible in the open primary, in which independent voters could opt to cast ballots for either party.

The state traditionally sends a strong sendoff signal.

In the 40 years since New Hampshire began voting its preference on candidates, no president has been elected without winning here first.

In a small state with its own ways, the New Hampshire campaign had its eccentricities.

There were 36 names on the Democratic presidential ballot; a $1,000 filing fee was all it took.

Twenty-five people entered the Republican primary. Two ran for vice president in each party.

Setbacks here have figured in the undoing of two presidents, Harry Truman who lost in 1952, and Lyndon Johnson, who was held to an unexpectedly narrow margin by challenging Sen. Eugene McCarthy in 1968.

ballot again this time, campaigning and reminiscing.

In Dixville Notch, a resort hamlet in the north, polls opened at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday and closed five minutes later when all the registered voters had cast their ballots. That's a made-for-media ritual. And the winner was Andre Marrou, Libertarian, a former Alaska state legislator. He was on hand and got 11

The Libertarian Party qualified for cut in 1992 its own presidential primary ballot off its showing in the last state election.

Bush got 9 votes, Buchanan 3, publican ballots. The Democratic vote was 4 for Clinton, 1 for Tsongas.

It was a late-starting campaign by New Hampshire standards, but an intense one at the end.

The Democrats didn't have a candidate until mid-April 1991, when Tsongas announced he was running, styling himself a pro-business liberal and drawing scant attention. At a windup rally in Nashua Monday night, he recalled his first meeting of New Hampshire supporters all four of them. By normal political reckoning, he said, "we should not be where we are, but the message is that the message counts. Tsongas gained headway as

Clinton slumped, set back by a woman's unproven accusation that they'd had an affair, and later by allegations that he'd dodged the draft to avoid Vietnam.

Clinton said the first was tabloid trash, the second untrue, declaring on election eve that he'd dealt with both and proven himself the kind of candi-

Read the

Collegian

and

EXPAND

THE MIND.

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT

A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE:

COLLEGIAN

ClassADS

date who could beat back negative attacks in the fall.

Buchanan campaigned intensively for nearly 10 weeks.

He told the voters that until he got in, the White House acted "as though it did not care" about the state's economic plight.

Buchanan also accused Bush of betraying his no-new-tax campaign pledge of 1988, and reneging on his promise to push a middle-income tax

Bush campaigned in the state for four days and wasn't above making some calls to local radio shows. Vice Nader 3, Tsongas 1 write-in on Re- President Dan Quayle, Barbara Bush and other stand-ins hunted votes for

On election eve, the president sought votes with telephoned radio interviews and satellite TV appear-

He urged Republicans not to worry about trying to send some message," but to stand by his proven leadership.

Harkin sounded liberal Democratic themes, calling for a new New Deal, and sniping at his rivals - Kerrey said the Iowa senator had become "the Hulk Hogan in this campaign." Kerrey's centerpiece was national health insurance, and at the end, he acknowledged the risk of being seen as a one-issue candidate. He said he meant to make it only "the beginning of fundamental change.

And Brown argued that he was the only Democrat who would change medical care or anything else, because all the others are beholden to the power structure.

"It's gridlock," he said. "Nothing's going on."

BUY-HIRE-SELL -RENT COLLEGIAN

LOVELY · FAITHFUL · LOYAL ASIAN GIRLS

They

Are you interested in corresponding with marriage-minded ladies from the Orient? For Free Brochure Contact

Foreign Affairs

P. O. Box 1699 • Walnut, CA 91788-1699

"Romance is Back"

CLUB SOHO The Nightclub

Wednesday night is ALTERNATIVE MUSIC NIGHT

Featuring the music of

Nirvana Nine Inch Nails Manufacturer

Erasure The Farm Consolidated

Siouxie and the Banshees and More!

NO SLAM DANCING OR PIT MOSHING ALLOWED Lowenbrau now on tap

Music...THE BEST Relaxed Atmosphere

Open at 5 p.m. Proper Attire, Jeans Allowed

776-80H0 (7646) 18 to Enter 710 N Manhattan, Aggieville

KANSAS STATE OLIFGIAN

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98. NUMBER 101

Colleges reach point of conflict in talks

Architecture and Design, Human Ecology stall in efforts to avoid duplication

STEVEN ROCK

Collegian

The process of reorganizing to avoid duplication between two K-State colleges has hit some sore spots.

In September 1991, the Office of the Provost issued a statement to the College of Architecture and Design and the College of Human Ecology's clothing, textiles and interior design department, recommending ways the two schools could form a collabora-

The two programs have been exploring ways to "collaborate to reduce duplication, clarify discrete-design options and still retain programmatic integrity and accreditation," as written in the memorandum.

The collaboration would develop a common first-year curriculum for students in architecture and design and students in interior design program of human ecology.

Recently, however, a course and curriculum change proposal issued by the College of Architecture and Design has hindered those negotia-

The proposed curriculum change involves an effort to change the current program in the college of architecture to a program that would require students to take one year of general courses followed by four years of courses within the student's major.

Currently, students are taking two years of general courses before officially entering their specified curricu-

"When those changes are approved, all the students in the college will take the freshman year in common," said Lane Marshall, dean of architecture and design.

they will go into either architecture, landscape architecture or interior architecture '

With the proposed collaboration, interior design students would be taking the same courses during their freshman year as architecture students.

By instigating this curriculum change, however, the talks of collaborating the two schools have

"We simply haven't had a chance to finish what we started," said Mary Don Peterson, head of the Department of Clothing, Textiles and Inte-

The suggested changes by the College of Architecture and Design prompted the College of Human Ecology to issue a memorandum of its own, requesting the curriculum changes not be approved until negotiations have been completed.

We would like the chance to go on and finish our collaboration before those few courses are finally ap-"At the end of the freshman year, proved," Peterson said.

That, according to Marshall, would be illogical.

"It would not allow the collaboration mandated by the regents to continue."

Mary Don Peterson

"The memorandum from human ecology tends to suggest that if these changes are approved, it messes up those negotiations," Marshall said. 'The fact is, it doesn't.

"If the changes are not approved, we don't have anything to negotiate, because they can't possibly mesh with our program for two years. They could for a year, but not for two."

Specifically, the College of Human Ecology objects to only a small fraction of architecture's 57-page curriculum change.

"There are six or eight courses that are really the ones we want additional opportunities to finish the work that we've begun," Peterson said.

The objection is that many of the courses are not designed for interior design students.

I looked at some of the required readings," said Ludwig Villasi, assistant professor of interior design. "Architecture, History of Architecture, the Penguin Dictionary of Architecture — not a word said about interiors," he said. "It's very much architecture oriented." The courses, Marshall said, are not undergoing drastic changes. "The reality is that the courses are not any different," Marshall said. They're just being taught with a different number and a different prefix. "Essentially, they're trying to block what has to be accomplished in order for these negotiations to be completed."

Peterson said she disagrees.

"It would not allow the collaboration mandated by the regents to continue," she said.

If the collaboration were to come about, students currently enrolled in either the architecture department or the interior design program would be unaffected.

In spite of it all, both departments are eager to see changes come about.

"We're eager to do the collaboration in a fairly flexible, free environment," Peterson said.

"I know we can achieve some positive things if we can go on in the direction we were heading. We're eager and ready to continue right on."

The College of Architecture and Design is looking for a solution as

"It's in everybody's best interest to get it resolved," Marshall said. And that includes the students.

"I think what needs to be emphasized is that the students will benefit." Villasi said. "That's the crux of the Guest instructor teaches K-State dance class

A group of Oakland Ballet dancers make their way through a human gate during a rehearsal of Ballets Russes Wednesday afternoon in McCain Auditorium. The group performed the Ballets Russes Wednesday and will perform the Crystal Slipper tonight at 8.

Visiting company will rehearse Cinderella ballet

The string music of Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite filled the studio as nine K-State students and friends of the K-State dance department molded their leotard-clad bodies in response to the slightest utterances of the teacher.

The dancers were guests to a rare event Wednesday morning in the K-State dance department - the master's class instruction of Ron Thiele, Oakland (Calif.) Ballet associate artistic director.

"Having a guest teacher gives the students a new perspective on the same technique," said Diane Woodward, K-State interim director

"In dance, you learn the technical positions and steps, and you can have any teacher carry on," she said.

Thiele offered to teach the class as a visiting instructor while the Oakland Ballet is in town to perform the Best of the Ballet Russes Wednesday night and the Crystal Slipper, a Cinderella ballet, tonight at McCain Auditorium, Woodward said.

"He taught a simple class for a wide range of students, but it was a good one," said Suzanne Koucheravy, freshman in dance. "Ron was really attuned to the fact that this was K-State, not Julliard.'

The Oakland Ballet has an international company, Thiele said during a question and answer session after rehearsal Wednesday. The dancrs are from Russia, Costa Rica, California and the East Coast.

"This is a very reputable, strong company from California with a longstanding tradition," Woodward said. "We're very fortunate to have them."

Ticket holders are allowed to attend the company's rehearsal this afternoon from 2:30 to 6:30 p.m., said Lisa Meuli, McCain head usher and senior in music education.

"Attending the rehearsal will be an education for anybody who doesn't know anything about dance," Woodward said.

Thiele will also be teaching a beginner's ballet class this morning at the dance department in Ahearn be in the cards for K-State faculty

VICTORIA CHERRIE

K-State faculty members and all state employees may not receive an increased salary for fiscal year 1993. The decision of the Senate Ways and Means Committee to freeze salary increases may change or be modified, but, as it stands, it has been voted

"This is bad news, and it will hurt," said Ken Klabunde, Faculty Senate president.

"We will do what we can through the Kansas Board of Regents and our legislators to try and change this."

Sen. Gus Bogina, R-Shawnec, is chairman of the committee. He said the Ways and Means Committee has recommended all budgets be reduced by any salary increases in fiscal 1993.

The taxpayers have not received any increases in the last several years, and here we are looking to increase other salaries," Bogina said.

After June 30, all state employees, including the governor, will be affected by this decision.

"The governor recommended a 2-percent increase in her salary, and that has also been discontinued by this decision," Bogina said.

People need to remember the money not used for salary increases is needed for education, Bogina said.

Klabunde said he thinks this is a short-sighted decision, and, as he understands it, salaries of K-State professors are low compared to other schools of the same size and stature.

"Seeing this from how it will affect professors, it hurts the University in many ways," he said.

"The tendency will be that some of our best professors will look for other Robert Grindell, professor of English, said the Department of English may lose one or two people this year. This is very discouraging," he

"I understand Bogina's view, but it is true our salaries are low compared to those in moneymaking orga-

Grindell, who has been at K-State for 20 years, said although his salary has increased, it has not kept pace with the cost of living.

Salary raise may not Buchanan's strong showing rouses Bush

Tsongas says he will gain funds to take election bid nationwide

ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Bush, stung by the strength of Patrick Buchanan's insurgent New Hampshire challenge, vowed Wednesday to "take this guy on in every single state."

Democrats fanned out from the first primary state searching for campaign breakthroughs elsewhere.

The results of New Hampshire resonated through both national parties Wednesday. The voters made it a contest on the GOP side, forcing Bush into a possibly damaging intra-party fight he had sought to avoid.

'I've been very kind and gentle. I'll still be kind, and I'm now debating how gentle to be," Bush said in his first public remarks about Tuesday's wonder. 58-40 win over Buchanan.

Buchanan said he would not be snuffed out by Bush's huge and wellfinanced campaign.

"Now the battle for New Hampshire is over, and the battle for America begins," he said.

The winner of the five-way Democratic race, former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas, headed South with a challenge similar to Buchanan's proving he was more than a one-state Tsongas was the top vote-getter with 35 percent, and Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton survived charges of marital infidelity and avoiding the draft to net 26 percent.

As a result of victory, Tsongas said he would be able to raise the money needed to campaign effectively na-

Up to $400,000 was expected to flow into his empty treasury on See PRIMARY Page 5

Blood donations below Red Cross expectations

Prizes offered to attract 1,100 more donors to vital drive

TAD MUSSELWHITE

An apparent blood donor apathy has led the American Red Cross to give away prizes in an effort to recruit about 1,100 more donors. The American Red Cross will give away donated prizes to donors at the close of the bloodmobile drive Friday

Kalen Larson, communications director for the Red Cross, said the names of the donors from Tuesday through Friday will be entered into a drawing for the prizes.

The prizes to be given away are two tickets to Saturday's K-State-KU basketball game at Bramlage Coliseum, a portable color television, a VCR and several restaurant dinner

The drawing was a decision made by the Red Cross after two days on campus, Larson said.

Well into Wednesday, the second day of a four-day drive at the K-State Union, there had been only 300 volunteer donors, far below the two-day collection goal of 700 units, Larson one patient needs massive amounts of blood, we'll be pushed into a critical situation," said a Red Cross Blood Services official in Wichita.

The lack of donations threatens patient blood supplies at more than 100 hospitals in 84 Kansas counties, she said.

"K-State's bloodmobile visit is the only one supplying the needs of hospital patients in Manhattan and towns throughout the western three-fourths of the state," said Bill Hamelau, chief operating officer for the Wichita region of American Red Cross blood

"In the past, we've been able to

"If anything big happens or even depend on K-Staters to donate not only for their classmates, but for their hometown neighbors and family members as well," he said.

Red Cross officials said patients are depending on a successful visit, because this is the only bloodmobile in the two-state Wichita region the rest of the week.

"There are nearly 19,000 students enrolled at K-State, so the 1,400 unit goal is realistic," said Jeff Sneed, Red Cross donor recruitment consultant

The bloodmobile is from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today and Friday in the Union K, S and U rooms.

FOLLOW UP

King Week a success; 'His dream is still alive,' professor says

King Jr. Observance Week left some students and faculty with positive feel-

"I was especially pleased with the variety of initiatives our campus embraced," said James Boyer, professor of curriculum and American ethnic Boyer was co-chairman of the 1992 Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week Committee.

The week included panels, discussions, lectures, luncheons and a lot of interaction, Boyer said.

"I think it's important to celebrate his birthday, because his dream is still alive," said Anita Shelton, an observance week committee member.

Shanta Bailey, president of Black adviser. Student Union, said she valued the

"I think Martin Luther King Jr. The conclusion of Martin Luther Day is important, because he did a lot of great things for a lot of people," Bailey said.

> The observance week gives students, faculty and staff the opportunity to celebrate, said Pat Bosco, associate vice president for institutional advancement and dean of student life.

> "I felt very positive about this particular celebration," he said.

The planning committee tried to touch base with several programs on campus, Boyer said, and the planning took a lot of work.

Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity helped with the planning.

"Martin Luther King Jr. is one of our former fraternity brothers," said Reggie McGowan, Alpha Phi Alpha

See KING WEEK Page 8

IMPORTANT EVENTS IN BLACK HISTORY

James Butler, chairman of the Commission of Civil Rights for the State of Kansas, said these events were the most important in black history.

- The arrival of blacks in the United States in 1619.
- The beginning of the African Methodist Episcopal Church
- The organization of the Free African Society in 1787.
- The Dred Scott court case, which stated that blacks had no rights in 1877.
- The Emancipation Proclamation in 1863.
- Separate but equal accomodations for all was proclaimed in 1896.
- The National Committee for the Advancement of the Negro Race was formed in 1909.
- Brown v. the Board of Education in 1955.
- Civil Rights Act for discrimination in 1964
- The death of Martin Luther King Jr. in 1968.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

TUESDAY, FEB. 18 At 3:30 p.m., a trunk key was reported stolen. Loss was $1.

At 6:48 p.m., an information report was filed on loud music at Goodnow Hall. At 9:34 p.m., a green 1980 Chevrolet truck, license plate FHZ745, was towed to Manhattan Wrecker from Lot A-29 for blocking a handicapped stall. Owner was

At 10:53 p.m., a domestic disturbance was reported at Jardine Terrace.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 19

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

At 4:45 p.m., Alexander Lewis, 108 Blue Valley Trailer Court, was arrested for battery. The victim was Pamela McMahan, 2321 Walnut Drive. Bond was set at $500.

At 5:47 p.m., Aaron P. Holt, 2179 Patricia Place, was issued a notice to appear for driving on a suspended license.

At 6:02 p.m., Alexander Lewis, 108 Blue Valley Trailer Court, was arrested on Riley County warrant for two counts of battery and confined in lieu of $100 bond.

At 6:28 p.m., Frank J. Anneberg, 2071 Priboth Road, was issued a notice to appear for driving on a suspended license.

At 6:30 p.m., a major-damage, non-injury accident was reported on K-18 just outside of Ogden between a vehicle driven by John R. Tibbets, 2740 Brittnay Terrace, and a whitetail deer.

At 7:03 p.m., a prowler was reported at Blue Valley Trailer Court. Extra patrol was requested for one week. A window-peeping report was filed.

At 7:16 p.m., a major-damage, minorinjury accident was reported at Tuttle Creek Boulevard and Kimball Avenue involving vehicles driven by Denis Smith, 728 Tuttle Circle, and Jennifer Scholle, 1945 Strong Ave. Scholle was injured but refused treatment at the scene.

At 8:10 p.m., Wayne White, 3505 Musgrave Court, reported four hubcaps stolen. Loss was $100.

At 5 a.m., a bicycle was found at the west entrance to the east wing of Waters Hall. At 8:50 a.m., clothes were reported stolen from a washhouse. A theft report was

ed. Loss was $300. At 9:40 a.m., a lost ID report was filed. At 2:10 p.m., a billfold was reported lost. ntents are worth $22.

At 2:45 p.m., a backpack and its contents were reported stolen at the Natatorium. Loss was $368.

At unknown time, the K-State Union Bookstore reported the theft of a VCR. Loss

At 8:46 p.m., Gregory L. Eastman, 948 Grant Ave., No. 37, Junction City, and Leonard L. Wolfe Jr., 417 N. Adams St., Junction City, were issued notices to appear for possession of alcoholic liquor in public. A juvenile detention report was filed in reference to transportation of an open container of alcoholic liquor and no valid driver's license. The juvenile was released to Geary County authorities. Bond was set at $25,000.

At 8:56 p.m., Shop Quik, 473 E. Poyntz Ave., reported $15 worth of gas stolen. A theft report was filed.

At 10:45 p.m., a phone harassment report was filed.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 19

At 9:09 a.m., Land and Sea Upholstery, 201 Service Circle, reported an attempted burglary. A wall was damaged. Loss was

At 10:45 a.m., Dillons, 1000 Westloop, reported the theft of two Nintendo games. Loss was $80.

At 11:08 a.m., a minor-damage, non injury accident was reported at 1000 Westloop between vehicles driven by Dona Elston, 1415 Anderson Ave., and Donald Oberhelman, 3039 James Ave.

At 11:20a.m., Food-4-Less, 401 E. Poyntz Ave., reported the theft of a shopping cart. Loss was $80.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Little American Royal Sign-Up will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Feb. 24-27 in Waters, Weber and the K-State Union lobbies.

■ Union Program Council Applications are available in the UPC office on the third floor of the Union. They are due by 5 p.m. March 6.

■ ICAT Advisory Board applications are available at the athletic department front desk in Bramlage Coliseum and are due Wednesday, Feb. 26. The position starts next fall.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 20

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

■ Sonny Kenner, a jazz/rhythm-and-blues musician, will play from 8 to 11 p.m. in Union Station as part of Black History Month.

■ Intramural Bench Press Meet Weigh-Ins: Women's will be from 1:30 to 3 p.m. in the women's locker room of the Chester E. Peters Recreation

Complex. Men's will be from 1 to 3 p.m. in the men's locker room. ■ Intramural Bench Press Meet will be at 7 p.m. in the Rec Complex

■ Big Eight Black Student Union Conference starts today and runs through Feb. 22 at Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, Okla. ■ Lunchbag Theatre will present "The Ties that Bind" by Matthew

Whitton at 11:30 a.m. in Purple Masque Theatre. ■ Manhattan National Organization for Women will meet at 7 p.m. in the UFM Fireplace Room. The group will talk about a pro-choice march in

Washington, D.C. ■ Department of Geology will present "Microbiota from the 2 Billion-Year-Old Gunflint Chert Revisited: New Information from Old Stromatolites," by William Lanier from the Department of Geology at Emporia State University Society of Women Engineers will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 152. ■ Horseman's Association officers will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Weber 146.

There will be a general meeting following at 6 p.m. ■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 203.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2. Anyone is welcome. ■ Little American Royal Committee will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Weber 111.

 KSU Parachute Club will have an informational meeting at 7:30 p.m. n Denison 124.

African Student Union will present "Relations Between African-American and African Music" at 3:30 p.m. in Denison 222.

■ Forest and Park Resource Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Call 205.

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

High near 65 under partly cloudy skies. Wind out of the southwest from 15 to 25 mph. Low tonight in the mid-30s.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

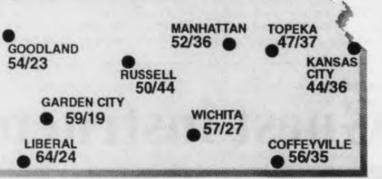

Cloudy with a 30-percent chance of light rain.

Highs in the mid-50s.

Rain Saturday and Sunday, changing to snow Monday. High near 50 Saturday and Sunday, cooling into the 30s Monday. Lows in the 30s over the weekend. Monday's low in the upper 20s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Indianapolis	61/40	cloudy
Barcelona	50/41	cloudy	Kiev	23/18	cloudy
Boston	43/39	cloudy		99/70	clear
Dublin	46/36		Sydney	81/68	rain

FOR BOYS

5 GLEN LANE

MAMARONECK, N.Y. 10543

914-381-5983

Camp Vega

FOR GIRLS P.O. BOX 1771 DUXBURY, MA. 02332 617-934-6536

STAFFING NOW FOR THE 1992 SUMMER SEASON

POSITIONS AVAILABLE FOR SUMMER COUNSELORS

WHO LOVE CHILDREN AND HAVE STRONG SKILLS AND ABILITY TO TEACH ONE OR MORE OF THE FOLLOWING ACTIVITIES:

Archery, Arts & Crafts, Baseball, Basketball, Bicycling, Computer Science, Dance, Dramatics, Field Hockey, General Counselors, Guitar, Gymnastics, Lacrosse, Photography, Piano, Pioneering, Riding, Rocketry, Ropes Course, Sailing, Soccer, Softball, Support Staff, Swimming, Tennis, Track, Volleyball, Waterskiing, Weight Training, Windsurfing, Woodworking, Yearbook.

> FULL EIGHT WEEK SEASON DROP BY FOR AN INTERVIEW:

TODAY THURSDAY, FEB. 20TH FROM 11 A.M.-5 P.M. STUDENT UNION-ROOMS 202 & 203

Help Wanted: Individual to care for my pet rhino, Bubbles Must have prior shoveling experience. Bathing of large mammals required. No smoker please. Serious inquiries only

Get

Free!

Buy two Collegian classifieds. Get the third free. Not good with any other offer. Must have coupon.

The first two times you get classifieds, you'll get your coupon stamped. The third is on us. Just pay us with your coupon.

· Expires 2/29/92 •

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

Kansas experiences record outbreak of rabies

LISA TINNIN

Rabies is running rampant in Riley County.

The Konza Veterinary Clinic saw a record turnout at its annual rabies vaccination clinic Feb. 1.

Since then, more animal owners June. So, we will most definitely see their animals vaccinated.

four rabid skunks have been found in February last year, Briggs said. Riley County

Deborah Briggs, assistant professor at the University veterinary diagnostic lab, said January and February are normally low months for rabies.

"The peak is usually in May and have tried to prevent rabies by getting a lot more cases to come," she said. Kansas had 41 confirmed rabies Northeast Kansas has had 35 con- cases as of Tuesday, compared to a more than 200 vaccination shots, she to vaccinate the animals," she said. firmed cases of rabies this year, and total of four cases in January and

Lisa Jenkins, Konza Veterinary Clinic employee, said rabies is becoming a real scare.

"We are going through a lot of vaccine," she said. "People with horses are even more scared than owners of dogs and cats."

Since the February clinic in Zeandale, the clinic has administered

"Last year, we vaccinated between 125 and 150 animals," Jenkins said.

"This year, there have been more than 225 animals, and at least 75 have been large animals like horses. Normally, we never vaccinate horses."

Briggs said people need to keep their animals vaccinated.

The lab does quite a few domestic animals. The most important thing is "We have had four dogs diagnosed with rabies since Jan. 1. That is a lot," Briggs said. "All four of the dogs were unvaccinated.

"An unvaccinated dog that has come in contact with a skunk and is showing signs of a drooping jaw with its tongue hanging out, is staggering or is unable to drink needs to be checked by a vet.' With so many squirrels in Manhattan and on campus, people have questioned if these animals could be infected with rabies.

"Since 1964, the first year we started recording data, there have been no rabid squirrels found in Kansas," Briggs said. "There have been no

Briggs also said just being sprayed by a rabid skunk does not constitute an exposure to rabies.

"Skunk spray is not contaminated with the rabies virus," she said.

Williams' 'Cat on a Hot Tin Roof' opens in Nichols tonight

TODD FEEBACK/Collegian

Maggie, played by Ayne Steinkuehler, grabs Brick's, played by Scooter Nelson, crutch during a dress rehearsal of Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" Tuesday evening in Nichols Hall. The play opens tonight and runs through Sunday.

1st campus performance for '50s Broadway hit

LISA EDMUNDS

Of all the characters created by the prolific Tennessee Williams, some of the most vivid and memorable can be found in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" features such players as Maggie "The Cat," Brick and the unforgettable Big Daddy.

A hit for Williams when it premiered in the 1950s, Big Daddy and company will come alive once again at Nichols Theatre this weekend.

The play opens tonight and runs through Sunday and again Feb. 27-

Director Lewis Shelton, professor of speech, said "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" was a popular choice, and it brought a large turnout for auditions

"Cat," Shelton said, has not been performed before on campus. "We haven't done a Williams play in a long time." At least once a year, he said, the department presents an American classic, and Williams seemed to be a good

Thematically, the play offers a real challenge, as the focus of the action changes from Maggie to Brick and then to Big Daddy, while always centering on the theme of alienation and existential angst.

These were themes that gained popularity in the 1960s, but they were not commonly found in the 1950s. This shows the scope of Williams's

Brick, a faded athlete, has given up on life and his marriage, and it is left for two other struggling characters his wife, Maggie, and his father, Big Daddy - to pull him back from the

The thread that holds the characters and the play together, Shelton said, is the idea of what happens to people when life does not live up to their expectations. Big Daddy and Big Mama, as well as the characters of Mae and Gooper, set up loud, happy facades to mask their disappointment and frustrations, and Brick takes to the bottle. Maggie finds herself in the title role - a cat on a hot tin roof - just trying to hold on. This production of the play offers a slightly different reading, Shelton

Williams rewrote the ending of the play before its Broadway premier to satisfy director Elia Kazan, who wanted a happier ending. Shelton has gone back to the original ending of the work, which does not resolve the rift between Maggie See CAT Page 7

Number of viewers age 2-11 for each minute of programming

General drama Mystery and suspense Situation comedy 1,250,000 990,000

Feature films

1,700,000

2,690,000

All prime-time network programs

1,800,000

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

Television should not be a babysitter

National suicide experts are in an uproar about a recent Simpson's TV episode.

The popular cartoon contains a scene in which a teenager holds a gun to his head.

Before passing judgment, consider the context of the scene.

Matt Groening, creator of the series, was criticizing (again) the educational system in America at the grade-school level. Main character Bart was watching a poor-quality, blackand-white film about the importance of zinc. The boy in the film had to live a day without the element, and as a consequence, met with disastrous results.

Because there was no zinc, the boy had no car, and as a result, lost his girlfriend.

He finally resorted to suicide, but even the gun didn't work because of a lack of zinc.

He wakes, thanking God for zinc.

True, the scene can be considered tasteless.

But Groening argues that the episode does everything but encourage suicide.

"If anything, it possibly cheers up suicidal teenagers by giving them something to laugh at," he said.

Perhaps a disturbed child might imitate the behavior, as Pamela Canter, executive director of the National Committee on Youth Suicide Prevention, said.

But it doesn't seem this is the issue.

Should a disturbed child be watching television alone? Too often, television is blamed for influencing children. Maybe it does and maybe it doesn't. There are two professors on campus who have researched and argued both sides.

However, many parents rely on television as a free

If a child is so influenced by television that he or she puts a gun to his or her head, the parent should turn the set off.

Censoring television is a case of medicating the symptoms rather than curing the disease.

Bush must debate campaign's issues

Voters sent a message to President Bush in Tuesday's New Hampshire primary.

Get with the program, George, or get out of the race. The message came in the form of a scare from Republican challenger Patrick Buchanan, who finished with 40 percent of the votes to Bush's 58 percent. That's not a narrow margin of victory, but it's a scary one for the incumbent.

Bush's promises and slogans are getting tiresome. For far too long, he has been trying to ride the coattails of his "victory" in Operation Desert Storm to keep his popularity with the American public.

Now Bush is discovering he has basically missed the bus when it comes to domestic issues, such as the economy and health-care programs.

Sure, Bush beat Buchanan in the nation's critical first primary. After all, no president has ever been elected without first capturing a victory in the Granite State.

But these are changing times, and the candidate who wants to be elected will have to address the issues and have a clear focus on where the nation is going.

The president is not yet giving any indication that he is ready to do this.

Instead, he is vowing to take on Buchanan in future primaries, which will lead only to future divisions within the Republican party.

Meanwhile, the Democrats will be content to sit and watch the fight develop as they choose who their nominee will be — a nominee who stands a good chance of being elected.

Bush needs to follow the lead of the other candidates and actually address some issues.

He needs to tell the voting public what they want to hear, not what they have heard again and again during the last several months. Bush must debate the issues and his position with Buchanan, just like the Democratic candidates have done.

Several months ago, analysts were predicting there was no way Bush could lose the presidential nomination after his war popularity. Time has proved this may not be the case.

But one thing is for sure: If George Bush hopes to continue being president, he will have to fight for it.

COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL BOARD

Heather Anderson David Frese Cindy Briggs Shawn Bruce

Jodell Lamer Patrick Obley Lajean Rau

Christine Vendel Mike Venso

The Editorial Board consists of members of the Collegian staff who meet three times each week to discuss topics of concern. These members also write the editorials that appear in the Collegian daily.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone (013).

tions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom

Kedzie Hall 116.
Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Taking care of Uncle Rudy

Informational

here's something about a phone ringing that panics me. It propels me with its urgency. It demands instant compliance, even when I'm dead asleep.

So, it is often I wake to find myself with phone in hand, talking with some unidentified soul who has called in the late hours of the night.

It amazes me that from even the soundest depths of slumber, I am compelled to answer that entity we call the telephone.

This morning was no exception. The phone rang at 7 a.m., and before the second shrill, I was out of bed and across the room to answer it.

Something was wrong - of course. My aunt just isn't the type to call in the interest of early morning prayer.

It was my aunt, calling long distance.

I was awake then, fully conscious of my cold feet on the hard wooden floor.

She was saying something about Grandpa, my mom, nursing homes and Uncle Rudy, Grandpa's brother.

I was now beyond cold and proceeding straight to extreme confusion.

We talked about how Grandpa had a stroke in December. He was getting better. He was walking and talking again. Grandma said he could write his name now. It looked very good.

But it was Uncle Rudy we didn't know about.

He's living with Grandpa on the farm. They're brothers, and Grandpa had always believed that was the way it should be when you get older, family taking care of

Only Grandpa can't take care of Rudy's needs as an epileptic, in addition to his own needs as the recovering victim of a stroke. My aunt, my mom - everyone but

Grandpa - saw the truth in those facts. So perhaps we should start thinking about a nursing home for Rudy, my aunt was

I couldn't feel my feet at all at this point, and my kitten, Manly, had started to lick the toes on my left foot.

I agreed with my aunt, but she wouldn't take charge. She didn't know where to go. She didn't want to make Grandpa mad. She didn't know this, and she didn't know that.

STEFFANY CARREL

They're brothers, and Grandpa had always believed that was the way it should be when you get older, family taking care of family.

But all I heard was that it wouldn't get done if left up to her.

I said I'd call back later. We said

I called my mom.

I called my grandma.

I called relatives I had never met, looking for a hand in what seemed an impossible task for me alone.

The animosity and anger that had been in my family for years and years reached a fierce peak, as everyone I turned to pointed a bitter finger at everyone else. With the exception of a second cousin, I realized I was on my own to find the help my Uncle Rudy needed.

L'Il tell you quite honestly that 12 hours ago, I couldn't have told you the difference between Medicare and Medicaid to save my life.

So I started at the beginning, in search of information - any and all I could get.

I called the Department of Human Resources, the Department of Social Rehabilitative Services, the Department of Public Aid, the area Agency on Aging every department, agency and administrator I got a phone number for, I called.

And I discovered a lot. There's so much out there and so much to know. It's overwhelming. It's intimidating. It's frightening as hell.

L've had several people tell me today this is not my responsibility - that someone else, someone older, should be taking charge. And I've had several people shake their heads in sympathetic recognition of the same hostility that exists within their families. Hostility so destructive, and it divides families — even in times of great emotional Hostility so deep rooted that even when they desperately need each other for strength, family members remain bitter and resentful. Hostility so irrational that in the midst of an already difficult issue, family members clamor to their weapons rather than to what's

I can't think of anything more heartbreaking.

merica Iby Wauken

from one of my classes recently, a late-model car flashing a homemade sign went by me. Some, disgruntled college student had decided to silently protest the poor workmanship of his automobile by placing a personal commentary in the rear window, which said, "If you want a car with paint that looks like this after only two years, buy a Chevy.

It quickly occurred to me that if everyone was to advertise his automotive inadequacies in similar fashion, we could turn the American automotive industry around in no time.

I am relatively certain this is not the kind of sales pitch General Motors would like to see broadcast to everyone who encounters this young man's Chevrolet, which could add up to quite a few people in a week's time.

This unique form of advertisement and the recently concluded United States-Japanese trade negotiations prompted me to contact one of the "old-timers" back home in western Kansas to get some expert advice about the American-Japanese decided to call an old friend by the name of George Ubediah "Uby" Wauken, proud owner of Uby's Lube-it Gas Station, Bar & Grill. Uby always believed in keeping both tanks full - the one in your truck and the one in your belly, and he is known far and wide for doing both.

Uby didn't mince words and didn't need much priming to tell me what he thought of the trade summit.

"Goddamn greedy bastards!" Who do you mean, the United States or the

"Why, that feller lacuckoo and them others." I think you mean "Iacocca," don't you? "That's one of 'em! Goddamn greedy bas

Whoa! Wait a minute, I got that part already. What exactly is it about Lee Iacocca and the other chief executives of Detroit's finest that

Them greedy sons of bitches are the ones to blame why American cars ain't worth a trainload of that gawd-awful soybean junk them Japs are always eatin'. I think they call it 'doo-doo.'

No, no, no ... "tofu." 'Same thing.'

You could probably find a large number of fellow Americans who would agree with that s I was driving back to work assessment. Nevertheless, continue

"I been workin' underneath cars 'n' trucks goin' on 47 years now. That's where you see the difference in how good things is put together. It ain't up top - it's underneath.'

BRAD SEABOURN

I been workin' underneath cars 'n' trucks goin' on 47 years now. That's where you see the difference in how good things is put together. It ain't up top it's underneath.

worked underneath American and Japanese cars all these years?

"Cheap."

Cheap what?

"Cheap everything!"

"Why them goddamn greedy bas" Oh, for crying out loud ... I mean, whose cars? Ours or theirs? "Ours, damn it. Been goin' down hill better 'n 20 years now."

I guess that makes my 1971 Chevrolet pickup one of the last "quality" American

"How many miles it got on it?"

Oh, about 110,000. "Been overhauled? Nope.

"Use oil?" Nope. "How's it run?"

Like a champ. Best junker I ever owned. ee what I mean? Ya can't find an American automobile now'days that'll even come close. Most crap out before So, how do you figure the Big Three auto execs to be at fault? "Why, for the last 20 years, they have sat on their fat arses and collected their fat do-nothin' salaries and their fat do-nothin' stock options and their even fatter do-nothin' pensions, while the Japs, jist like ants when ya take a stick an' jab it down in their living room, furiously made their cars better

'n' better. 'And now them lazy SOBs go over to the Japs and cry and whine about not being able to sell American cars over in Japan. Hell, the problem ain't sellin' 'em over there - it's sellin' 'em over here. The Japs don't want to buy junk any more than we do." That is pretty mean talk. Are our cars really that bad? "Tell you what. You seen them Baha races on the boobtube, right?"

"Well, I'll let you pick any American car you want, an' I'll take a Jap buggy jist like it, an' we'll go an' run the Baha. I'll betchya my Japmobile takes the punishment longer than yours, whatcha say to that?"

I'd say, "No way, Uby Wauken!" "Actually, son, you'd be walkin'."

SAVE uses organic farming

Community garden produces food without synthetic fertilizers, pesticides

JENNIFER NICHOLS

Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow? Organically, if she's a member of SAVE.

Students Acting to save a Vulnerable Environment is growing a garden using organic farming. It is part of a community garden located south of the railroad tracks in Man-

According to "Certified Organic," a pamphlet from Rainbow Natural Food Distributing in Denver, organic farming is food produced without the use of synthetic fertilizers, pesticides, fungicides, horsehides, preservatives or other synthetic chemicals.

SAVE members said they are concerned about the use of pesti-

Romana Vreeland, sophomore in nutrition and women's studies, said members are doing everything to keep the garden free of pesticide.

She said members are even using seeds that have not been chemically treated in the garden.

Chris Turner, senior in horticulture, said in a presentation to SAVE members that if chemicals can kill the pests, they need to think what they must be doing to humans.

The harm of pesticides to hu-mans is documented in "Greenpeace Action," a newsletter from Greenpeace.

Health Organization estimates that and tomatoes will be planted. Turner 3 million people are affected by said some flowers will also be pesticide poisoning annually; grown.

220,000 die as a result.

According to the newsletter, long-term health effects of pesticide exposure include cancers, birth defects, genetic damage, respiratory damage, neurological disorders, liver and kidney damage, and reproductive damage.

Members of SAVE started the garden last year as an experiment. Vreeland said the experiment was successful, and the garden will con-

"It gives a chance to work with the Earth, so we're not just sitting around talking about it," she said. The crops are for SAVE members, Vreeland said, but if the surplus is large enough, some will be donated to the Flint Hills Breadbas-

This year, crops such as lettuce, The newsletter said the World radishes, onions, cabbage, broccoli

"That has been reinforced by re-sults in New Hampshire," said Foley, who also said he would back Rep.

Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., if he en-talked before the primary of a draft movement favoring Sen. Lloyd

Bentsen, D-Texas, put that effort "on hold," said his spokesman, Mark Day.

out and compete with us, and we'll take 'em on," Tsongas said of such efforts. "We'll beat 'em."

made similar tough talk toward

"Let 'em come in, let 'em come on

Bush, campaigning in Tennessee,

Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., who mas Foley, D-Wash.

tered the race.

NASA studies ozone

'It's far worse than we thought,' scientists say

ASSOCIATED PRESS

BANGOR, Maine - A heightened sense of urgency is pressing scientists as they complete their in-spection of what looks like the start of an ozone hole over the Northern Hemisphere, a discovery so alarming it's already changed U.S. policy.

Scientists on the NASA project based in Bangor concluded that an ozone hole could develop this winter over the United States, Canada and

These two weeks are really the crucial time for detecting the appearance of the ozone hole in this region of the hemisphere," said James Anderson, lead scientist for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration project.

The ozone layer in the upper atmosphere, roughly 7 miles to 31 miles above Earth, provides a shield from the sun's ultraviolet rays. Without an ozone block, people face greater risks of skin cancer, cataracts and suppressed immunity from disease.

The five-month NASA study, conducted with a converted spy plane and an orbiting satellite, is measuring the presence of ozone-eating chemicals at high altitudes. The study concludes in late March, when NASA plans to issue final results. But when a flight Jan. 20 found ozone-depleting chlorine monoxide at a record concentration of 1.5 parts per billion, the space agency issued preliminary findings and a warning.

"Everybody should be alarmed

By

Nocl

about this," Michael Kurylo, man-sunlight triggers the chemical changes ager of upper-atmosphere research at NASA, said then. "It's far worse than we thought.'

A week later, President Bush ordered a halt to production of ozoneeating chemicals, chiefly chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs), by the end of 1995, with a few exceptions. That's five years sooner than an international treaty requires.

Household use of CFCs can be found in aerosol cans and the refrigerator, and in the driveway in auto air conditioners. Industrial CFCs are commonly used in refrigerants, foam manufacturing and solvents.

The research is performed by a 50member team based at an Air National Guard hangar in this city in eastern Maine.

For career scientists unaccustomed to the spotlight, the degree of public attention and pressure for quick conclusions can be discomfitting.

"People are not accustomed to doing science in a fishbowl," Kurylo said in an interview last week. "The normal science process requires longterm analysis and comparison and debate ... nobody wants to put out a result that we have to retract, that could cast doubt."

Whether a hole opens in the ozone layer over the Northern Hemisphere will depend largely on the breakup of the polar vortex, Anderson said. A mass of cold air that forms clouds of ice particles, the polar vortex is where

ON FILM DEVELOPING

WHILE YOU SHOP!

One-Hour Service • In The Mall

Each Picture Is The Best

It Can Be Or We

Reprint It Free...Now!

Offer applies to regular one-hour prices. No limit on number of rolls discounted with this coupon. 4x6 color prints (print length varies with film size). Offer applies to first set of prints only. C41 in lab process. Cannot be combined with other film developing offers.

Coupon good through April 25, 1992.

11010203

that deplete ozone.

The flights also study the rate at which chlorine monoxide and other chemicals break down in the upper atmosphere, a key to understanding their threat to the ozone.

The current series of flights will continue through Sunday and resume March 8 for a final two weeks. The one-seater ER-2 also will fly south to the Gulf of Mexico to measure chlorine monoxide in warmer latitudes where a satellite detected an 8 percent

"One of the more insidious things that's beginning to emerge doesn't involve the very high (carbon monoxide) inside the vortex," Anderson said. "Rather the more subtle but pervasive presence of (carbon monoxide) all the way down to latitudes in the middle Caribbean.

Lower levels of chlorine monoxide may also be a significant enemy of ozone, he said.

The critical period for ozone loss, scientists say, is in February and March, when sunlight returns to northem latitudes and before the polar vortex breaks up in the warmth.

After the ozone hole over Antarctica was discovered in 1985, Australian weather forecasts routinely began including ultraviolet dosages during late spring and summer. Anderson expects U.S. forecasters to make such information seasonal fixtures as

Primary

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Wednesday, said spokeswoman Peggy Connolly.

Little known outside his native New England, Tsongas declared he had "great potential to move" as he began a hectic road schedule to Maryland, New York, South Dakota, Maine and Georgia. Clinton, meanwhile, flew to the friendlier environment of his native South, where his future is staked on the March 10 "Super Tuesday" list of primaries that includes Florida, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Tennessee and

At a rally in Atlanta, Clinton acted like a frontrunner and kept his attack primary. aimed at Bush.

"We have been divided by the cheap politics of national leaders who have refused to tell us the truth," he said. "I offer the American people something different."

Nebraska Sen. Bob Kerrey, who finished a distant third with 12 percent in New Hampshire, stopped in Maine Wednesday and then headed back to his native Midwest.

Kerrey's viability could depend on a decent showing in the Maine caucuses during the weekend and in the South Dakota primary Tuesday.

"I don't think there's any damage from New Hampshire," Kerrey said.

Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, who received 10 percent of the New Hampshire vote, also hoped for a boost in South Dakota.

Former California Gov. Jerry Brown, who pulled in 9 percent, began four days of campaigning in

Tsongas suggested the primary results made it a two-way race between him and Clinton, which would next be tested in Maryland's March 3

They will "go head to head on economics," he said.

Clinton favors a middle-class tax cut Tsongas opposes.

Clinton's respectable showing in New Hampshire appeared to quiet the talk in Washington of another Democrat entering the race.

Manhattan Civic Theatre presents

Coward February 14, 15, 16 & 21, 22, 23 8 PM Friday & Saturday, 2 PM Sunday

For Reservations call 539-6000 $8 Adult, $7 Senior/Student, $4 Child Box Office Hours 11 to 3, Mon - Sat

Wareham Opera House, 410 Poyntz

Student Government Positions Available-

- Elections Committee Members
- Elections Committee Chair
- Athletic Ticket & ales Committee Members
- Athletic Ticket & ales Committee Chair
- E.O.F. Committee Members

Aplications available in the &C& office (ground floor in the Union) Due by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21, 1992

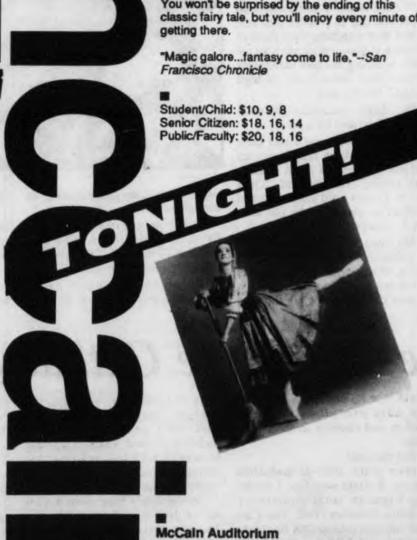

SPRING BREAK AT THE LOFT

Thur, evening til 8:00 PM Sunday 1-5 PM

The Crystal Slipper Oakland Ballet Thursday, February 20, 8 p.m. Carlos Carvajal's charming version of "Cinderella," set to a delightful score by Martinu.

You won't be surprised by the ending of this classic fairy tale, but you'll enjoy every minute of Kansas State University, Manhattan Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort

A Mid-America Arts Alliance Program made possible by the Dence on Tour Program of the National Endowment for the Arts. Additional support has been provided by the KSU Fine Arts fee and the Citizens Bank and Trust Company Performing

One Hour Services:

m developing • enlargements reprints • double prints

Also Available:

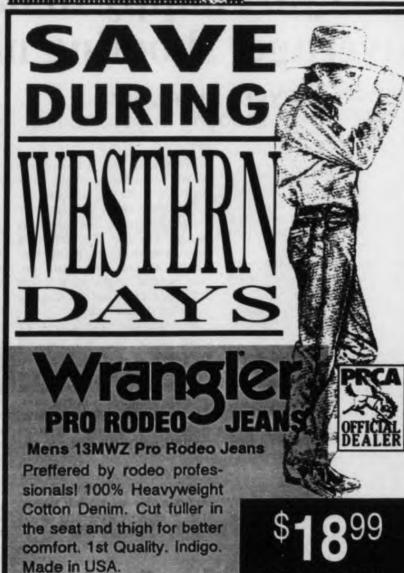

wallet photos • film nstant color passport photos video transfer copies from prints albums, frames and accessories

Manhattan Town Center

main entrance by food court

CPI photo finish

Mens and Ladies Ropers

For Western or Urban! Leather foot with 11" color matched shaft. Popular semi-round toe and low walking heel. Soft cushion insoles make Ropers as comfortable as athletic shoes! 1st Quality. Made in USA.

500 Lincoln HWY 99

9-8 Mon-Sat 12-5 Sunday

38" Inseam - $20.99

CATS BASKETBALL

Big second-half surge spurs 64-55 victory

Intense practices, improved defense play key roles in win

KRIS YOUNG

K-State wins. KU loses.

But the two teams didn't play each other Wednesday night. It was K-State over Iowa State 64-55.

K-State didn't need to play its state rival to get pumped up and neither did the crowd. With 7:17 left in the game, the Cats ran off the floor for a timeout, down by one point. The crowd cheered as the Cats ran back on the court and matched up man-to-man against Iowa State.

Before the referee blew the whistle for play to begin, the announcer said "Big Eight scores are in: Nebraska 81, University of

The crowd began to chant, "Bring on the hawks."

The players echoed the crowd's

And although it was easy to chant it after the game, there was a 40-minute competition Coach Dana Altman and the Cats were concerned with before they thought about the weekend's rivalry.

The Cats had prepared themselves to battle No. 23 Iowa State, who had defeated them 85-59 Jan. 25 in Ames.

"We were pretty intense these last couple of practice days," said Cats' guard Askia Jones.

Throughout those practice days, Altman said he had thought about replacing one of the starting guards coming off a career-high 21-point took things over late." performance against Oklahoma.

Jones said he wasn't as worried about starting as he was about playing equally hard in the game as he did in practice.

He must have practiced a lot of free throws. Jones hit 8 of 8 attempts from the line with less than a minute left in the game with the outcome in still in doubt.

Close scores weren't uncommon in this game, though. The lead changed hands six times, all of those coming in the second half.

The Cats never led during the first half, falling behind by as many as 10. At the half, the Cats trailed 34-26

The Cats trailed in every category for the first 20 minutes. They were outrebounded 20-14 and they were 0 for 5 from 3-point range in comparison to the Cyclones' 4 of 7 performance.

"I told them at halftime that we were sleepwalking on defense, and we needed to get more aggressive," Altman said. "They got after it better in the second half."

The Cats indeed woke up from their slumber and Iowa State head coach Johnny Orr noticed.

We came out flat in the second half and they were kind of fired up," Orr said. "We weren't nearly as sharp and we never got back in

Just about the only thing the Cyclones managed to do in the second half was to outscore Jones 21-17. Jones finished with a gamehigh 21 points and scored K-State's "Ski kind of comes and goes on Bramlage Coliseum.

with Brian Henson, who was us," Altman said. "but he really Zeigler, who didn't score, wasn't concerned with getting the ball in the hoop himself. He finished the game with no turnovers and played the full 40 minutes.

"I would say we have a lot of scorers on this team. All I have to do is feed it to them when they're open," Zeigler said.

Players were hungry and Zeigler dished it off to Jones, Howard and Henson. He could sense their confidence and hear them ask for the ball, he said.

"Ski was talking and he definitely wanted to be in the situation of control," Zeigler said.

Zeigler could tell Henson had a little more confidence than usual

"He hit some big three's. Brian's been stepping up there lately if he's got some confidence in his shot," he Altman cited Henson's trey with 5:50 showing in the second half that gave the Cats a 46-45 lead as a possible turning point in the game.

"Henson may have hit the key bucket for us. I thought he really added a lot to the game," Altman

Henson modestly said, "If nothing else, I got some

But there was something besides confidence at stake, a Big Eight win. The Cats are now 13-9 overall and 3-6 in the conference, while Iowa State fell to 18-7 and 4-5. Next up for K-State is the rematch against Kansas Saturday at

PHOTOS BY MIKE WELCHHANS AND SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Top: Wylie Howard goes up for a basket against lowa State's Julius Michalik during the Big Eight match-up in Bramlage

Coliseum Wednesday night. The Wildcats pulled out a 64-55 upset of the 23rd ranked Cyclones.

Left: Wildcats Gaylon Nickerson and Marcus Zeigler attempt to stop Iowa State guard Justus

Thigpen on a drive to the basket

during the first half of Wednesday night's game.

INSIDE STUFF

Cats just happy to have 'average' shooting night

Altman, players surprised by 50-percent shooting in second half

PATRICK OBLEY

The fact K-State had a tremendous second half shootingwise in their 64-55 win over Iowa State hadn't dawned on Cats' coach Dana Altman until someone told him after the game ended.

Glancing down at the stat sheet, the stat hit Altman in his funny

"Gosh darn," said a giggling Altman. "We did shoot 50 percent. That's pretty good for us."

Altman composed himself a little bit and then said, "For whatever reason, we got some flow going on offense.'

K-State hit 12 of 24 shots in the second half — average for some teams, but an omen harboring good fortune for a poor-shooting team like the Cats.

For the game, the Cats shot 45 percent (24 of 53). Amazingly, when the Cats manage to shoot just 45 percent during this year's games, they're 8-0.

When Iowa State's head coach Johnny Orr tried to single out a single Cat's shooting performance, he found he couldn't name just one.

"Wylie Howard was very good tonight," Orr said. "He and Askia Jones hit some big free throws late. Henson hit some big shots too. They just flat out shot the ball well in the second half, and that played a big part in the final outcome."

For Howard, who scored 17 points, his shooting was mandated

"Coach really emphasized to the team that they should be getting me the ball inside," Howard said. Howard scored the first six points of the second half. He also scored the first eight points in the second half of the 67-59 loss at Missouri.

"I feel I have to get my teammates going," Howard said, explaining his second-half surges. "I try to hit those shots early on and hope the team catches on."

Though he scored just 8 points for the game, Henson's two treys sandwiched around a Howard layin turned a 45-43 deficit into a 51-45 lead. Against Oklahoma last Saturday, Henson's career-high 21 points led the Cats.

The answer to his turnaround was found in practicing the fundamentals.

"Coach (Ken) Turner, came up to me one day in practice and said he had been watching some films of me back in high school and told me I was shooting the ball differently up here than when I was in high school," Henson said.

In high school, Henson explained, he shot off a pivot.

"All year this year I had been jumping with both feet to get set and not doing what I had done in high school," Henson said. "Once coach Turner told me, I started working on shooting the old way, and it's working."

Ski Jones, who led the Cats with 21 points, scored the Cats' final 13 points, mostly with key free throws in the last two minutes. Ironically, he said the reason for his shooting night came from concentrating on

"I tried not to think about my offense," said Jones, who also grabbed 10 rebounds for his second double-double of the year.

Known for his standstill 3-point buckets, Jones attempted just four treys Wednesday.

"I tried to turn it up on defense and keep away from the 3-point shot, and I did. I think that's why I did so well."

Good shooting breeds confidence. For the Cats, who could be seen cracking jokes to one another after the game, it's no different, just listen to Marcus Zeigler banter about Saturday's rematch with No. 3 Kansas.

"Bring 'em on. If we can play like we played in the second half for the whole game ... bring 'em

Hey everybody, where did all the Catbackers run off to?

STEVEN ROCK

COLUMN

What's wrong with the basketball fans at K-State?

It's been a tough season, no doubt about that. But seriously, fans, come on.

Only 6,548 witnessed the Cats' 64-55 win over Iowa State Wednesday. The average attendance at K-State men's basketball games is 8,102. Compare that to some figures around the Big Eight at this point of the season. Allen Field House in while the average attendance in the Bob Devaney Sports Arena in Lincoln, Neb. is 12,648. What was ours again?

Oh, yeah - 8,102.

It's such a diminutive number.

Mind you, there's no need to remind me that the Wildcats aren't having the same 3rd-ranked season that the Jayhawks are having. Nor are they sporting a 15-5 record like that which the Huskers own.

It really shouldn't matter. The Wildcats of K-State have perhaps the most-celebrated history of any team in the Big Eight conference. And the fans have always been right in the thick of things.

Not this year.

In the last 40 years, K-State's home record is 402-92 for an incredible 81 percent clip. Since Altman's Cats deserve better.

Lawrence is averaging 15,713, World War II, more than 5 million fans have strolled into Wildcat territory and cheered on the Purple Pride.

Not this year.

Prior to the 1991-92 basketball season, K-State was No. 1 in the Big Eight in total conference victories. Number ONE. The Cats have run up a total of 298 Big Eight victories, and, although the Hawks have since surpassed K-State in total conference wins during this season, the fact remains: Wildcat fans are slipping.

Also prior to this season, the Cats were tied with KU in total number of NCAA appearances, 20, to lead the Big Eight. And, once again, although the Hawks are likely to surpass the Wildcats in yet another category, the simple fact that can't be ignored is that Coach

In the past four seasons, the the Wildcats fall into a 10-point average attendance for men's basketball games was 11,692. Included in those totals is a losing season (13-15 last season) that averaged 10,518 and a 17-15 team (1989-90) that averaged 12,483.

This season's team owns a 12-9 record, 10-2 at Bramlage Coliseum. The team also owns the notoriety of averaging the smallest K-State crowds since the 1985-86 season.

I realize that the thought of heading out to the Coliseum to watch the Cats set records for 'Most Lopsided Loss' and shoot for a percentage that generally falls lower than the mercury in a thermometer isn't all that appealling.

But isn't that what school spirit is all about? Sticking around through thick and thin, right? And besides, it really isn't that bad.

Just ask the 11,000 fans that saw deficit to Nebraska, only to claw themselves out of the hole and post a thrilling conference win.

Sure, the Cats are struggling. But let's try not to fall into that damn attendance rut. As a rule, attendance follows the same pattern that a team's record follows.

But don't tell the folks in Lawrence.

In the 1988-89 season, the Jayhawks sold an average of 16,453 tickets for every home game. They finished the season with a 19-12 record. Imagine that.

The K-State basketball team is having a tough year, there's no question about that. With such a highly-touted crew of juco transfers stepping into the program, thoughts of the NCAA tournament danced in our heads.

We now have blurry visions of the Wildcats duking it out with other powerhouses in the NIT.

Understandably, fans are disappointed.

But let's not lose hope. Coach Dana Altman stepped into a faltering program and worked hard to sign the likes of Gaylon Nickerson and Trasel Rone. And, in fact, Altman's won-loss record for his first two seasons (25-24) isn't that much worse than that of Jack Hartman's, K-State's all-time winningest coach (30-24).

K-State's proud history includes ten Big Eight conference titles, more than any other conference

The Wildcats of K-State have earned a powerful reputation. And the fans of these Wildcats have been, undeniably, an integral part of K-State basketball.

5 years of college new national norm; K-State no different

Changing majors cited as reason for extended stay

KEITH LEFF

Collegian

Parents planning to pay for their children's college education should plan on paying for five years of school instead of four.

Bill Pallett, director of assessment for Planning and Evaluation Services, said this is because of students changing their majors.

He said the national norm for undergraduate college attendance is now five years, something often a result of a change in major.

Pallett said K-State students are not unlike the many students nationwide who, for one reason or another, decide to change majors.

"More than half of the college students today change majors before graduating," he said.

Pallett said most students start college not really sure of what they want to do, or are not solidly committed to the major they initially choose.

William Feyerharm, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said some students change majors two. three and four times between their freshman and senior years. However, he said this doesn't infer

Pallett said the main reason students change majors is because they are not happy with the fit between themselves and their major. Once students gain a better understanding of themselves, he said, they can find a major better suited for Another reason he said students change their majors is because they do not have the talent to compete effectively in a certain major.

There are more than 1,000 students in arts and sciences who are undecided, Feyerharm said. When they eventually declare a specific major, they will contribute to an increase in the number of students changing majors.

Some students are not yet into their majors, but are in related tracks.

Feyerharm said there are about 1,500 of these students in the Business Administration Pre-Professional

He said some colleges and universities require that students begin their college education in these tracks by belonging to a general college.

He said in these cases, students do not declare a major until the end of their freshman year or sometime during their sophomore year.

Feyerharm said when students get into their actual majors, they will automatically increase the number of students who are changing majors.

Another contributing factor is students not meeting grade requirements, forcing them into a different major.

'Next year, students in the College of Business Administration must have a minimum GPA of 2.5 to get into their professional courses," Feyerharm said.

Feyerharm said if a student is considering changing majors, they should get a good academic adviser.

He said BAPP and journalism and mass communications are among the most popular majors.

Feyerharm said there are three people in geophysics, the lowest number of students in any one major.

MULTICULTURAL

Center offered to minorities

University provides space for students to meet, enhance college experience

COLLEGIAN STAFF

The KSU Multicultural Student Center opened its doors Feb. 18, giving K-State students a new place to get together.

Diana Caldwell, coordinator of tion, said the center is primarily for cultural background. minority students at K-State.

"This is the first time the University has offered a space for students of color to have a place to assemble in such a way that it will enhance their experience at K-State," Caldwell said.

"This is a positive move to meet the needs of minority students."

Caldwell said the center provides an opportunity for students to feel a part of the community, and it gives them a place to socialize and attend the multicultural student organiza- events that have relevance to their

> However, Caldwell said the center is not just a place for minorities.

"We're not trying to create a separate place for students, but it's a supplemental option for students of for all students," Caldwell said.

'This is a new venture of a part of the University, a part of the students. What we are trying to do is to let everyone be aware of the availability of this area."

The center will also benefit students who want to communicate with people of similar or different interests to learn from each other.

"We're giving seminars at the center and conducting activities relating to the cultural celebration months, as well as the racial and

She said students are also able to use the center for dances, group discolor, a supplemental enhancement cussions, lunches and other social the need of a multicultural center in

The center includes a TV room, a ping-pong table, a kitchen, a reading room and meeting areas.

The center is located in the Ecumenical Christian Ministry building, 1021 Denison Ave., and is open to students from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. daily.

Student groups can rent a room for activities from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Funding for the center comes from ethnical harmony week," Caldwell the operating budget of the Office of Multicultural Affairs.

> The University became aware of spring 1991.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Education more beneficial than prison

Boyer discusses problems facing today's black males

Black men and their role in American society is making headlines na-

'American society is changing for whatever reason, and people are being viewed in a variety of ways," said Jim Boyer, professor of curriculum and American ethnic studies.

'We are at an age of multicultural understanding.

Providing positive black role models and better education is one way to positively influence the lives of young African-American males, Boyer said.

He said an information explosion is forcing people to ask questions and to seek the best options for solving

One option is the all-male, African-American academy, which focuses on three areas that traditional public schools don't.

The first area is African-American history. Boyer said a person's service is limited to the understanding of the people he is working with. He said it's crucial to understand different ways of life and points of view.

Another area is human sexuality. A higher percentage of black males are imprisoned for alleged sexual assault cases, Boyer said.

"We don't need to just build another prison, but we need to spend that money researching the fabric of society and finding a solution to the problem," he said.

Conflict resolution is the final area. Boyer said most teachers are white females. The only people many black males see like themselves, either on television or in their neighborhoods, gain power by selling drugs or pimping, he said, and this fails to teach them non-violent solutions.

Conflict resolution skills are important because they provide negotiation skills other than fighting, he said, and these skills help them function in a society where there is capitalism, competition and unemployment.

They must compete to survive, and these skills help them do it lawfully," Boyer said.

African-American men are the teachers at the all-male academies, which is a benefit in itself because it provides a "masculine role model, and the presence of meaningful male adult," Boyer said.

Luke Shokere, graduate research assistant at the Center for Science Education, spoke on Monday at a workshop in honor of Black History

Shokere said these teachers help lower disruptive behavior in the classroom and can provide the discipline many mothers won't or are unable to

The teachers also provide a role model for more than sports.

Andre Graham, sophomore in premed, said the emphasis for most black men in high school is sports, not aca-

"Ask any black man in high school if he knows any businessmen, and he will say, 'No," Graham said.

Opponents of the academies have said they feel its students won't be able to relate to society once they leave the academy. Boyer said he feels differently.

"We have academies all over for boys, girls and Catholics, and no one tells them, 'You're not going to work for a Catholic employer, so you need to learn how to relate," Boyer said.

539-3510

Cat

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 and Brick.

"It makes it a little more tragic," he said.

Shelton said he is also utilizing a rewrite that Williams produced in the 1970s, which updates some of the

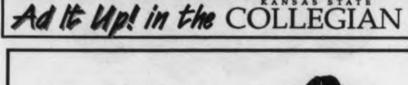

But for the most part, he said, the play is timeless, and the characters still offer countless comments on the heat, which dates it a little.

"Big Daddy would probably have air conditioning by now," he said with a chuckle.

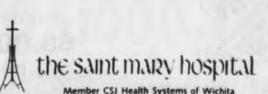

The cast includes Scooter Nelson as Brick, Ayne Steinkuehler as Maggie, Laura Camien as Mae, Bob McMasteras Gooper, David-Michael Allen as Big Daddy, Lisa Nanni as Big Mama, Jason Harris as Doctor Baugh, Corey Hayes as Reverend Tooker and Jennifer Johnson as the

Member CSJ Health Systems of Wichita 1823 College Avenue Manhattan, Kansas 66502

SKYDIVE!? YOU BET!!

Learn how with the K-State Parachute Club

Feb. 20 Everyone is welcome. If interested, call 539-9250

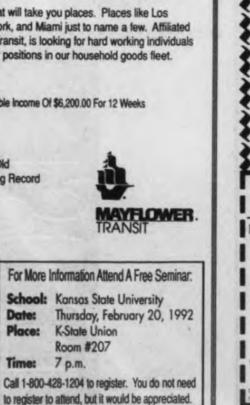

VS. Kansas Saturday, Feb. 22, Denison 124 7:30 p.m. 3:00 p.m.

Bookstore 532-6583

RANSIT

Bramlage ticket office - 532-7606

Sponsored by Southwestern Bell

Services provided for disabled

Class relocation, interpreters, notetakers help handicapped students

CHRISTINA CARBAJAL

Physically and learning disabled students have a place to turn when they need extra help with classes or using campus facilities.

Services for Disabled Students in Holton Hall provides accommoda-tions for disabled students so they can perform up to their abilities.

"If a physically disabled person can't get into a class, then relocating that class is the accommodation," said Gretchen Holden, director of services for disabled students.

"If a student is hearing impaired, a sign language interpreter is the accommodation."

Holden said there are about 60

"Currently, the fastest growing group of students are the learning disabled, because they are being identified more frequently in the public schools. They know their rights and get help," she said. Kim Belden, senior in biology, said she uses the services for the learning disabled because of an auditory perception disability.

"Things I hear may be interpreted incorrectly," Belden said. "A teacher will say something, and I might write it down wrong." Any person who has a learning disability must show verification of it in order to get support services, Holden

Belden said she now uses physically disabled students and more notetakers for accuracy. She also said than 100 learning disabled students she receives extended time when taking tests and has been to the tutoring

Developmental courses are also offered for the learning impaired. There are classes to improve vocabulary, test-taking skills, and reading comprehension and efficiency.

Belden said the services were helpful, and Holden was inspirational. "Gretchen is interested about the students, and she gets them the services they need," Belden said. Steve Compton, junior in agricultural economics, is a quadriplegic and has met with Holden to change the locations of his classes that are not accessible to him.

"I met with Gretchen, and she made my life simple," he said. "I gave her my class schedule, and, if it was needed, she moved my classes to more accessible buildings.

Arranging classes is just one of the accommodations the service can provide for physically disabled students.

Scribes help disabled students fill out tests, and changes can be made to remove architectural barriers on campus. Visually impaired students can obtain readers, mobility assistance and taped texts.

Compton said he has noticed many improvements in accessibility to buildings and the campus for physically disabled students.

"Moore Hall now has ramps, power doors and roll-in showers for wheelchairs," he said. "Also, buildings on campus have been made more accessible for the disabled in ways I would have never thought.

"They're trying pretty hard, and they've allocated so much money each year to fix things.

"When I talk to Gretchen and let her know what needs to be fixed, it's Organizations to explain current, future objectives

Student Senate will hear from organizations financed by the student activity fees tonight.

The FONE Crisis Center, Women's Resource Center, Consumer Relations, U-LearN, SGA/ ASK, College Republicans and Legal Services will be represented.

These organizations will each speak for 5 minutes to explain current and future objectives they hope to obtain with the help of funding from Student Governing Associa-

Jim Persinger, the student body president's chief of staff, said the SGA/ASK budget will be dis-

"This is essentially discussing our own budget," he said.

Also, the results of K-State Lobby Day on Tuesday will be announced by Student Body President Jackie McClaskey; Steve Patton, business senator and legislative affairs committee chairman; and Tim Oswalt, state and community director of McClaskey's

Other business includes a bill to change the Election Committee deadline because of the change in the election date and approval of student appointments to the Students' Attorney Advisory Board.

Marriage primary reason for transferring

Cost of education spouse of military personnel," she or nuclear engineering. also contributes to switch in schools

STACY WATERS

Personal situations such as marriage and relationships are the primary reasons K-State acquires transfer students between the fall and spring semesters, Director of Admissions Dick Elkins said. Jodi Turner, sophomore in elementary education, transferred to K-State this semester from a community college in Florida because her husband is in the military.

"They're paying because I'm the Finances are another reason many students transfer.

Bill McNally, sophomore in secondary education, said he transferred from Benedictine College in Atchison because the price was too high. He also said knowing people here contributed to his transfer.

"I've always kind of liked K-State," McNally said.

Students who go to out-of-state tion. schools often find themselves returning to their home state because their money has run out, Elkins said.

He said students also transfer because they want a curriculum only K-

Elkins said the majority of transfer students come from community col-

"Students attend a community college to cut down on costs," Elkins

Students who transfer between semesters do not have the advantage of early enrollment, Elkins said. They are worked with on an individual basis and receive little general orienta-

He said the transfer student's main concern is whether their previous coursework will transfer to K-State.

The University uses an equivalency book to tell potential students if State offers, such as milling science the classes they have taken are comparable to the courses offered at K-

"Transfer work is No. 1," Elkins said. "If you can tell them what they want to know, they'll transfer."

Students often want to know how their current school compares to K-

We try to stay away from comparisons. You don't tear people down," Elkins said.

"By being honest, you're going to come out ahead in the long run."

Students who are unhappy will tell 20 people, he said, and students who are happy will tell one person, but that is still the best way to go.

Men's Club Meeting Today 5 p.m. Student Union 207

Come See Us!

King Week

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 2

"We coordinated a candlelight vigil in his honor."

Shelton said more students participated in this year's vigil than ever before. She said she attributes this to an increase in awareness.

"The week was planned so everybody knew what was going on ahead of time," Shelton said.

Alpha Phi Alpha President Jayson Strickland said the group's membership has increased, and the members are now more experienced in planning the week.

said. "It was planned really well compared to past years." Boyer said he wishes more faculty would encourage students to attend events during the week.

'That's the one area where I wish we had more support," Boyer said. Manhattan public schools closed to observe the holiday for the first time, Boyer said. The Manhattan Mercury printed letters from children about "What Martin Luther King Jr. means to me."

Boyer said he was excited by the fact that more community members were involved this year.

Everyone in Manhattan had the

1015 N. 3rd Manhattan

0

going on for Martin Luther King Jr. said. Week, he said.

However, Boyer said there is still confusion among some people who question why school was closed for Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

This was not just a day off, Bailey

$5.00

Tue-Fri

Starting

Feb. 18

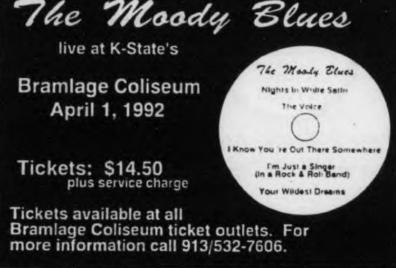

9 ps

Smoked Chicken

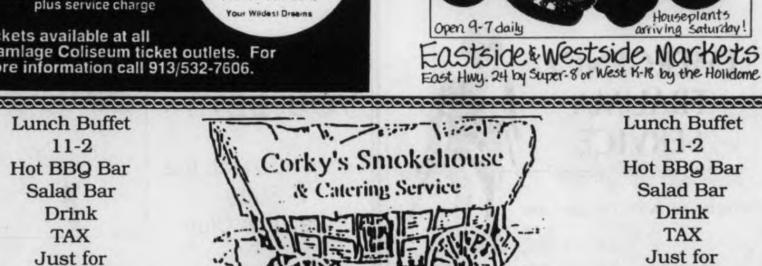

To go!

"Holidays in reverence of someone shouldn't be spent sitting at home," Bailey said.

Boyer said he was pleased with the increased understanding of a holiday that promotes peace and justice.

(913)-776-9367 Manhattan 3515 Hofman Lane East on H24 1/4 mile

Call and let us cater your next party

Past Bridge

Night Buffet $6.00

Hot BBQ Bar Salad Bar Drink TAX Just for $5.00 Tue-Fri

Lunch Buffet

11-2

Full/Half Slab of Rib To go!

FOR YOUR GOOD HEALTH

What services are available at Lafene?

- Outpatient Medical Clinic
- *Allergy/Immunization Clinic

*Health Education and Promotion

- *Laboratory Services
- *Nutritional/Dietary Services *Pharmacy Services
- *Physical Therapy Services
- *Radiology Services
- *Sports Medicine Clinic *University Counseling Service
- *Urgent Care After Hours *Women's Clinic
- *Evaluation and Referral

For Appointment Call 532-6544

Lafene Health Center Kansas State University

TRUST, the new breakthrough perm system from REDKEN is odor-free and allows you to wash your hair the next day.

$20 Worth of Free Redken Hair Care products with a new trust perm Offer Expires Feb. 29

Senate moves to prevent casinos in Kansas

Committee endorses resolution to submit lottery amendment to voters

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - The Kansas Senate moved on two fronts on Wednesday only passage of a constitutional to try to blunt the drive by Indian tribes to bring casino gambling to the bill that would outlaw all casino gambling in Kansas, advancing it to a final vote scheduled for Thursday.

The Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee endorsed a resolution that would submit to voters a constitutional amendment to permit only the games operated now by the Kansas Lottery, plus video lottery if the Legislature implemented it. The Senate will debate it later.

Senators debated the bill to ban casino-type games for an hour and a half, after more than 75 Indians demonstrated on the Statehouse steps in opposition to it. The bill is aimed at preventing Indians tribes from opening casinos under a federal law passed

Sen. Wint Winter, R-Lawrence, warned lawmakers that casino gambling would be a "breeding ground for organized crime" and would fuel street crime.

He distributed to senators four pages of a 49-page indictment recently handed down in Southern Californian detailing the attempts of Chicago mobsters to infiltrate an Indian gaming operation.

"This indictment isn't isolated," Winter said. "Believe me, we are playing with fire if we allow casino-styling gambling in this state."

Opponents said the bill would put the state into federal court, and that amendment can stop Indians from opening casinos under present laws.

We're buying ourselves into a The Senate tentatively approved a lawsuit if we pass this kind of bad faith legislation," said Sen. Jack Steineger, D-Kansas City.

"This bill is here today because of the threat of Indians having casino gambling," added Sen. Phil Martin, D-Pittsburg. "Passage of this measure will ensure that we will end up in federal court for selective discrimina-

Supporters of the bill said Kansans did not think they were approving casinos when they voted for constitutional amendments in 1986 legalizing the lottery and parimutuel wagering.

Attorney General Bob Stephan has issued an opinion saying the lottery opens the door for casino gambling on reservations under a 1988 federal

That law, the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act, requires states to negotiate "in good faith" with Indian tribes to allow casino gambling if the state already allows another form of gambling, such as lotteries or pari-mutuel

Steineger said U.S. Sen. Nancy Kassebaum of Kansas was chairwoman of the subcommittee on tribal affairs that developed the Indian gam-

The bill before the Senate would allow the Kansas Lottery to continue offering the games it presently offers, out there?" he asked.

as well as video lottery. A bill has. been introduced in the Senate allowing the video lotteries - electronic slot machines - in restaurants that serve alcohol to generate more rev-

All other forms of gambling would be outlawed.

Gov. Joan Finney, who supports Indian gambling and has signed a compact with the Kickapoo Nation to let it open a casino on its reservation north of Topeka, has threatened to veto the anti-casino bill. The compact still is being reviewed by U.S. Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan.

Lujan has declined to ratify the treaty because of the dispute between Finney and Stephan over whether the compact needs legislative approval.

The Prairie Band Potawatomi Tribe is also negotiating a contract with the governor's office, and the Sac and Fox presented her with a proposed compact to start a casino in Kansas

"We had absolutely no idea that affairs outside our control would in 1992 allow full scale Las Vegas-style gambling in the state," Winter said. "We are a government of laws, not government of intentions, or afterthoughts," Steineger countered. Sen. Gus Bogina, R-Shawnee, urged lawmakers not to act as judge or jury in interpreting the federal law, but to use common sense. Expanding opportunities for gambling would decrease the state's revenue from the lottery and pari-mutuel wagering, he warned. "How many gambling dollars are

Gambling means jobs, secure future, four tribes say

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — Before the Senate tentatively approved Wednesday a bill that would outlaw casino gambling, more than 75 Indians staged a rally on the Statehouse steps, vowing to take their cause to federal court.

"We want the Senate to get the message — it's wrong," said Steve you want it there or not, it's there."

Cadue, chairman of the Kickapoo Robert Pirtle of Seattle, an attor Tribe, which has signed a compact with Gov. Joan Finney to open a casino on its reservation in northeast Kansas.

"It's rooted in racism. It's an act of bigotry.

Members of the state's four tribes Kickapoo, Prairie Band Potawatomi, Sac and Fox and Iowa attended the rally.

Some carried hand-painted signs with such scrawled messages as "Casinos mean jobs" and "Give us the casino or the land back.'

Speakers at the rally said casino gambling means jobs and a more secure future for Indians.

We fought for this country, several times before, and we still fight," said Harvey Ross of Horton, a Kickapoo who served in Vietnam. He wore a feathered headdress.

"We had Indians in the air, on the land, on the sea. We had them under pact if it is passed. the water," he told the crowd. "Now we want jobs."

Some of the speakers during the one-hour rally cast doubt on the legality of the legislation under consider-

"The decision has already been made, and it's going to happen," said Don Bread, who teaches Indian law at Haskell Junior College, an Indian school in Lawrence.

"I think it's a race issue. Whether

Robert Pirtle of Seattle, an attorney who specializes in Indian law, said the Senate bill will have no im-

The state is required to negotiate with Indians on casino gambling if any type of gambling is allowed, he said, including lotteries and parimutuel racing.

"I'm confident I can strike it down," he told a reporter.

Frank Wahwassuck, chairman of the Kickapoo school board, said the reservation school could become selfsufficient if the tribe starts a casino.

"I don't see this as a casino issue," Wahwassuck said. "I see this as attitude and behaviors of non-Indian com-

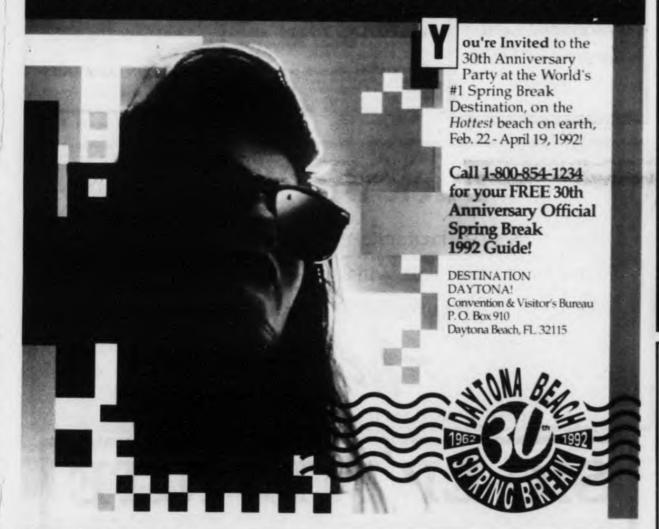

304 Westloop

MAKINE

Restaurant Buy One Entree and get a second of equal or less value for 1/2 Price

Not valid with buffet

FREE GUIDE TO SPRING BREAK '92

CLUB SOHO The Nightclub

Thursday Night is

LADIES NIGHT

NO COVER FOR THE LADIES

Giveaways Lowenbrau now on tap

Music...THE BEST

Open at 8 p.m.

776-80HO (7646)

18 to Enter

710 N Manhattan, Aggieville

IT'S INTERVIEW TIME SUIT SALE

Great Clothes

SAVE $61-$171 ON 2 SUITS!

Choose from our entire stock including: •Botany Gladiator® •Preferred Stock® •Raffinati® Johnny Carson® & Many Others!

Suits Orig. $195-$225

Sale 169.99 Ea.

Suits Orig. $250

Sale 179.99 Ea.

Suits Orig. $275

Sale 199.99 Ea.

Sale 129,99 Ea

Suits Orig. $125-$250

In the Dillard's Wing

Monday—Saturday 10-9

Sunday 12-5:30

MANHATTAN

TOWN CENTER

NICE ONE and two-bedroom apartment with great prices. Available immediately. 537–2919, 537-1666

COLLEGIAN ASSIFIEDS

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Announcements

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

INFORMATION FOR STUDENTS WHO NEED SCHOLARSHIP MONEY -800-238-0690

BUY-HIRE-SELL -RENT COLLEGIAN

Suffering from Abortion?

Write Hearts Restored Box 94 Grinnell, KS 67738 Confidential Response Will Follow.

TO THE EDITOR

Your views are important. The COLLEGIAN editorial page is an open forum for our readers' ideas. Please bring your letters to the editor to Kedzie Hall 116. Letters must be signed, and the author must show an ID.

St. Jude's Novena

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world, now & forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus have mercy on us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us, St. Jude, helper of the hopeless, pray for us.

Say this prayer 9 times a day. Your prayers will be answered by the 8th day. It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised. Thank you, St. Jude.

MULTIENGINE FLIGHT training. ATP, Com-mercial, Private, and CFI ratings in HSI-equipped Twin Comanche. Call Hugh Irvin at 539-3128, 532-6311.

NEEDED: CONTESTANTS for 1992-93 Miss Rodeo K-State. For more information call Shawna Stevens at 539-8633.

Tonight Draws

irstBank Center 776-1515

WEIGHT LOSS. Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guaranteed! For more information call Rhonda 539–3817.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

SOUTHERN COMFORT GIRLS

Female Strippers Wed. & Thurs. 7-10 p.m. Fri. & Sat. 6:30-9:30 p.m.

BLUE RIVER PUB

North on Tuttle Creek Blvd. 537-9877

Automobiles for Sale

1977 PONTIAC Bonneville good condition, runs greatl Come take a look $1500 539-2074.

1984 ESCORT $425, sold as is. Call 539-3822.

1987 HONDA Civic Si 60K, sunroof, rear de-frost. Many new componets. Must selli 537-0405, ask for Jeff.

1991 GEO Storm GSI, 9,000 miles. Like

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

Child Care

CHILD CARE Monday- Friday 3p.m.- 4p.m. Saturday four hours. Non-smoker, reli-able, own transportation. call 776-1270.

Computers

SEGATE ST-225, 20 meg hard drive with card $125, here. Monochrome monitor $80, citizen GSX-140, 24 pin printer $220, 539-6360.

Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to ap-proach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution.

AGTECH, INC.— a mail order supplier of Live-stock Production Supplies—requires an office assistant. Part-time the first four weeks then full-time M-F. Telephone weeks then full-time M-F. I elephone order taking, picking/ packing, invoicing, order placing. Light product assembly and packaging; managing accounts payable and receivable. Qualifications: Fluent in Spanish and English. Excellent communication skills and phone management and product or the state of th communication skins and phone man-ner; experienced with computer word-pro-cessing. Able to take instruction and work with minimal supervision. Knowl-edge of Cattle Embryo Transfer Proce-dure highly desirable. Submit resume by Feb. 26 to Mr. John Curtis, P.O. Box 1222, Manhattan, KS 66502.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Are you looking for a way to defray the high cost of a college education? By serving one weekend a month and two weeks in the summer you could qualify for up to $28,000 in the Kansas Army National Guardi For more information about an exciting career and great benefits call 537–4108.

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539–3817.

COLORADO SUMMER Jobs: In the Rockies near Vail, Anderson Camps seeks caring, enthusiastic, dedicated, patient individuals who enjoy working with children in an outdoor setting. Counselors, Cooks, Wranglers, Riding Instructors and Nurses. Interviews on February 24th. Sign up, get application at Career Planning and Placement Office. Questions? Call us at (303) 524–7766.

NEED CASH? We need students to stuff our sales circulars! Excellent wages- $3 per envelope! Start immediately! Send long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157, Forked River, NJ 08731

NOW HIRING over 40 people for Big Brother Big Sister Project. Need callers for morn-ing and evening hours. Good salary plus bonus. Apply February 25-26 9- 6 p.m. 1124 Waters "One block off Anderson

THE UNIVERSITY of Kansas Medical Center has an opening for an Industrial Hygienist in our Center for Occupational and Environmental Health. Requires Masters Degree in Preventive Medicine or Industrial Hygiene. Board Certified or eligible in Industrial Hygiene, experience in educational programs and in the eligible in Industrial Hygiene, experience in educational programs and in the practice of industrial hygiene. Prefer PhD, Certified Industrial Hygienist, prior university or governmental experience and experience in research. Position will provide full service industrial hygiene on and off campus as well as other related duties. Please send resumes to: H. William Barkman, MS, MSPH, Director, 1034 Breidenthal Bldg, KUMC, Kansas
City, KS 66160. An Equal Opportunity
Affirmative Action Employer $200- $300 For selling 50 funny college spring break t-shirts. Smaller/ larger quantities available. No financial obli-gation 1-800-659-6890.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

KAW VALLEY GIRL SCOUTS RESIDENT CAMP SUMMER 1992

Positions Available

Unit Staff Water Front Staff Horse Staff Health Officer

Interviews will be conducted February 27. Please sign up in the Career Planning and Placement Center located in Holtz

Hall.

$40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

Earn $5,000 to $10,000 this summer painting houses in your home town. Final hiring for these positions is being held now!

1. Strictly management

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.

DELIVERY DRIVER earn 45- 85 per day must have own transportation. Must know Manhattan area. Day and evening shifts available. Call for interview Fe-bruary 25- 26 539-5750.

FAST FUNDRAISING Program. Fraternities, sororities, student clubs. Earn up to $1000 in one week. Plus receive a $1000 bonus yourself. And a free watch just for calling 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 65.

diate opening for one full time accountant. Duties include bookkeeping, financial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary com nensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Friday. Micro computer training and experience mandatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, dose to campus. 1, 2, and 3 bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.

New Opportunities

2. Painting and management 3. Painting only

ALL-Pro Student Painters, Inc. 1-800-2-MANAGE

ACCOUNTANT

Manhattan real estate firm has imme

DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS: ·Built in late 1990; Avail June 5,

 New GE Kitchen Appliances including microwave and ceiling

·Economical Gas 'Heat Designed with the KSU student in

1 bert TED 80 2 RE um $484

 2 bedroom plus study, 11/2 bath $576

 3 bedroom plus study, 2 bath $728

OFFICE:

2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (across from Bramlage) Call Roy at 537-7007 for an appointment

MAKE ANDERSON PLACE YOUR HOME AWAY FROM HOME!

> NOW LEASING for 1992-1993

KSU Students Both 1 & 2 Bedrooms 1/2 block from campus Furnished & Unfurnished

Showings Every Thursday 3-4 1852 Anderson #17

THE CURTIN COMPANIES 776-8641

(continued on page 11)

Buck Big Beer

Every Thursday 8:30 p.m.-Late

Appetizer Specials with the Kitchen Open Late

[§]1 Big Beers All Day Long

SIG-EP FITE NITE BOXER SIGN-IN

COME BY THE SIG-EP HOUSE CALL 539-2387

Deadline is MARCH 25

- · Boxers receive free workouts at NAUTILUS
- $15 boxer fee; $75 for teams of 8 or more
- Boxers must live in a residence hall, Jardine or a fraternity

Sig Ep Fite Nite

April 2-5 at AHEARN FIELD HOUSE For ticket information call 539-2387

KSU Theatre Presents

Opens Tonight!

Cat on a 740t

by Tennesce Williams

"seduction and desperation" "produces laughter and shudders in almost equal amounts"

> February 20-22, 26-29 Nichols Theatre 8 pm Tickets at McCain Box Office 532-6428

(continued from page 10)

NEAR KSU for August, nice house 4-5 bed-room for five people, $170 each. For June two-bedroom basement apartment, same house, $140 each. Prefer seven good friends for entire house. Also, one-bedroom for June and August $285. $39-2482 after 4p.m.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

COME SEE Lee Crest Apartments 1122
Kearney Apt #8, Saturday Feb. 22, 11a.m. to 2p.m., Sunday Feb. 23, 1:30 to 4p.m.. Four buildings right by campus.
Large furnished one-bedrooms.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785–2777. Please leave a message.

NICE ONE and two-bedroom apartment with great prices. Available immediately. 537–2919, 537-1666

ONE- BEDROOM apartment one block from University 539-2857 or 539-0410.

SERIOUS STUDENT, large one-bedroom. Heat, water and trash paid,air condition. Available March 1 $255. Lease, no pets. 539-2546.

SLEEPING ROOM. One block from university. Call 539-2857 or 539-0410.

Double Barreled

Keep those doggies rolling.

Rolling, rolling, rolling!

Leasing Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENTS southeast of campus for 1992-93 school year. Available August 1, 1992. Call 539-7277. After 5p.m./ weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804

10 For Rent—Houses

THREE LARGE bedroom for three or four students. Next to campus. Washer, dryer, central air. Available Aug. 1, $720/month 537-8543.

11 For Sale Houses

BUY FOR less than it costs to rent: two-bed-room house with income producing base-ment apartment, one mile from campus. ment apartment, one mine Call 537-0505 or 776-7199.

By Daryl Blasi

BLASI

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale FOR SALE: 63cm Raleigh Prestige Road-bike, Suntour Cyclone 7000 compon-ents. Excellent condition. 532–3472, ask for Terry.

13 For Sale—Mobile Homes

16 Lost and Found

Only found ads can be placed free of

ART CRAFT drawing paper found in Durland study area on the second floor. Identify in Durland 261, 532-5600.

FOUND: BROWN jacket at Last Chance on Fri. Feb. 7 call 537-3684 to identify.

FOUND: CALCULATOR, a watch, and two pens. Come by room 237 Seaton Hall or 532-5813 to identify.

FOUND: CHECKBOOK found in Cardwell Hall, claim in Mathematics, Cardwell 137.

LOST, BROWN leather jacket. Thursday in Cardwell, Reward offered. Please con-tact Brad Staver. 539–9276.

TREK 7000 Aluminum Ridden twice. Must sell $450. 539-1926 (day). Ask for Britt 537-1751 (night).

19 Music Musicians

ROLAND JAZZ Chorus 120 Guitar Amp. $375, Washburn Guitar $225, Gorilla Amp. $45 776-6524 Todd.

THRASHMASTER PEDAL Crate, B80XL, Bass Amp. Yamaha RB200 Bass with Yamaha case. All like new, low prices. Call Eric 776-2026.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

AXO CARRIE, Kappa Jacqueline, Tri- Delt Melissa- These last seven days went by fast but we've made friendships that will last. We miss you all, everyone, Forget us not, though your stay is done Love the Sigmas AYNE, LC and cast and crew of Cat: Break a leg! and please stay out of the squad room. Stacle yells at Craig. Speech un-limited.

By Jeff MacNelly

Geech

Shoe

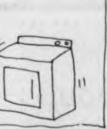

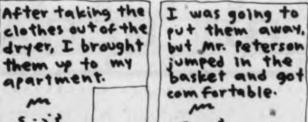

Jim's Journal

I washed a load of laundry today.

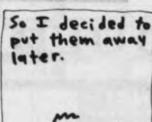

Calvin and Hobbes

By Jim Dikkers

By Bill Watterson

Off the Mark

THIS IS MY NEW ART MOVEMENT, "NEO-REGIONALISM." I'M APPEALING TO POPULAR NOSTALGIA FOR THE SIMPLE VALUES OF RURAL AMERICA 50 YEARS AGO.

By David Swearingen

DEAR SECRET Valentine, Meet me at TCBY at 10:30 on Friday the 21st, so we can get to know each other. Richard R.

KD ROTATING Roommates- Megan, Libby, Katy, Sheryl- We are so glad you stayed with us. You're always welcome. - The Women of Kappa Delta. 1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

SHARP 14 wide two- bedroom mobile home, new paint, low payments with cash down. 15- home selection #187 Redbud, Countryside Brockerage 539-2325. KD'S ASHLEY, Stef, and Becky- We missed youl Glad to have you back. Love, your KD Sisters.

TO THE G-Phis: Come tonight be ready to rage. With the Sig Eps you will engage-in a game of fun, murder, and mystery. To find out who done it we will try to see-At 7:30 we will meet. Because the G-Phis and Sig Eps can not be beat. Love, The Sig Eps

Happy "Golden" Birthday Mary Alice Schrick

Love, Mom & Dad

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

DACHSHUND, RED, male miniature, seven weeks old and ready for new home. Price negotiable. Call 776-1386.

 PEUSEN STUDIES Mon.- Fri. 9am-8pm

9am-5:30pm Sat. Noon-5pm 1105 Waters

> (across from Alco) 539-9494

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL KINDS of typing done including medi-cal terminology and foreign language. Laser printer. 537–7027 after 5p.m.

ALL THINGS typed, papers, letters and resumes, $1.25 per double-spaced page. Same day availability. Call Janelle 537-7795.

ECS OFFERS laser quality typesetting for re-ports, these, resumes, etc. Math, scien-tific, foreign character support. Style, grammar checking available. 776–6687. FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.-8p.m.

UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for pa-pers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice

24 Roommate Wanted

$100 CASH to first person to move into nice two-bedroom apartment. One more fe-male roommate. Available immediately For details 539–5366.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed: Starting summer, completely furnished (all appliance), pets allowed, own bedroom, private with only one roommate. 537–4279.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, middle of May- July partially furnished apartment, two-bedroom $190 per month 539-8041 FEMALE ROOMMATE. Nice two-bedroom house. Own room, one-half block from campus. All utilities paid- washer/ dryer included. 776-5178. FEMALES TO share one-bedroom apartment close to campus. One block from Ag-gieville. Low Utilities. Call 537-2919 or 537-4452.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, near campus. Own room, no smoking, $240/ month. 539-6019.

MALE, PRIVATE bedroom, first floor, 1011

Laramie, washer & dryer, $190 a month plus utilities. Call Scott, 537-5061.

ONE OR two female roommates needed soon. Must like pets. $182.50 plus half utilities. Own room. Near park. Call tent

38 Leading man?

Creed

word

man

42 "SOS"

40 Frontiers-

Carson

45 Coward's

49 California town

50 "Born in the -

opus

54 Scratch

55 Dick and

Jane's

53 Actor Rip

52 Verdi

39 Postal

ONE TO three non- smoking females, own bedroom, stall and pasture for horse, cattle, dog. Prefer veterinarian, animal science, Horticulture majors, P.O. Box 1211, Manhattan.

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.- 5p.m. Monday through

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing

·Call for appointment

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

WANDERING HEARTS Video Dating Service

Want to meet NEW and interesting people?

call Janice or Kelli 539-3003

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests Old Town Mall 523 S. 17th 537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE

5683

"WE DELIVER"

Personal Service Quality Printing Quick Delivery *Competitive Price Custom Designs 1218 MORO IN MESIEVILLE 538-2441

28 Sublease

CHEAP! NEED female roommate to sub-lease May- July 31. $120/ month one-half block campus/ furnsihed. Call

SUBLEASE MALE roommate. Own room. $115/ month plus one-eighth utilities. Walk to campus. Call 532-6750 ask for William or 539-9324 at night.

SUBLEASEI ONE room in two-bedroom apartment, Large, Available end of fin-als. Bike to campus. $150/ month plus one-half utilities. Call Brian or Kevin

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: two KSU vs. KU. $45 or best off-er, 539-3719.

WILL SELL round trip ticket to Orange Co., CA leaving Feb. 26, from KCI, returning Mar. 2, Call 539–8329, $100.

WISH TO buy one or two tickets for KU vs. KSU game. Call Paul, 776-2272. Please leave message.

30 Travel/Car Pool

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4898.

SPRING BREAK in Cancun five star Hotel on the beach. For more information call Mike or Anthony, 776–4712.

SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, townsville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

SPRING BREAK!!!

South Padre from $99 per person 5 nights

Bahamas Cruise $299 per person 6 days/5 nights Cancun from $439

for information call: Stephanie 537-0891

TO BE STUCK IN MANHATTAN! 5104 DAYTONA BEACH SOUTH PADRE ISLAND

⁵128 ⁵122 STEAMBOAT ⁵122 PANAMA CITY BEACH FORT LAUDERDALE ⁵136 ⁵119 HILTON HEAD ISLAND

MUSTANG ISLAND 5128 DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE 11th Annual

Surity TOLL FREE INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS 1-800-321-5911

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE, four gold Alby wheels with new 14 inch tires. 532-2940.

FOR SALE: Beautiful wedding dress. Never worn, size 8, white taffeta. 539-3876.

FOR SALE: Brand new car stereo/ tape deck. Loaded; anti-theft coding system, 18 presets, auto memory, tuner, APC, morel 776–4294 Randy.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

FOR SALE: VW Squareback brown seat cov-ers. Best offer. 539–4915, 5:30–10p.m. WANTED TO buy a baby room monitor. Please call after 4:30p.m. Ask for Jackie 537-9480.

Crossword

1 Robin Cook book 5 Emulate Niobe 8 Swear 12 Actress Nettleton 13 Yon maiden

ACROSS

14 Diamond side 15 Jillian and Reinking 16 George's brother 17 "- 18th

Century Drawing Room' 18 Clown's supply 20 Claylimestone

22 "Guys and Dolls" role 23 Springtime, in swans 27 Walk 32 Literary dog 10 - even 56 Jekyll's keel alter ego 11 Left 57 Supple-19 W. Eur. Solution time: 23 mins.

47 Smell 48 Unit of Yesterday's answer 2-20 51 Blue country 21 Aussie avian 24 Do one 1 Silent one 25 Insepa-2 Eugene's daughter rable 26 Farm 3 Luxurious enclosure 4 Evaluate 28 Six

ment

wrong

58 Legal

DOWN

5 Boat-locale

6 "- the land of the free...

7 Bric-a-

8 Muppet

drummer

9 Martha's

29 Barbecue builders' 30 Four p.m. affair 31 Stately tree element - pro nobis is famous 38 Finally 41 That is (abbr.)

> of the closet

come out 43 "...beauty J U D forever" 44 Arizona city 46 Chinese poet

power

CLXVIIs 36 Antiseptic 42 One CRYPTOQUIP

QLLNOPQZJ IUS WQONDR

HQOR QZYMONG, "O J UQMR

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: GAME BARTENDER, PROUDLY DIAPERING HIS BABY BOY, WAS HEARD TO YELL, "BOTTOMS UP!" electrical

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Z equals N

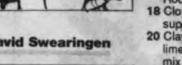

DROJOZY JDHJ

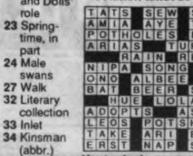

ENTERTAINMENT

'Bugsy,' 'JFK' head up Oscar nominations

'Beauty and the Beast' becomes first animated picture ever nominated

ASSOCIATED PRESS

nominations, and Disney's "Beauty and the Beast" became the first animated film ever considered for best picture in the 64th Academy Award nominations.

Beatty took a best-actor nomination for his portrayal of the Las Vegas visionary and criminal Bugsy Siegel. Ben Kingsley as crime boss Meyer Lansky and Harvey Keitel as mobster Mickey Cohen in "Bugsy" were nominated for best supporting actor.

The stylish period film was named in the best picture, screenplay, cinematography, costumes, art direction and original score categories, while Barry Levinson was nominated for best director.

"Bugsy" co-producer Mark John-BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. - War- son attended the predawn announceren Beatty's "Bugsy" led with 10 ments Wednesday at the headquarters of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. "I'm ecstatic," he said between calls to Beatty and Levinson, "What more could I possibly have asked for?"

"Bugsy" approaches the record set by "All About Eve" in 1950. The feature starring Bette Davis was nominated for 14 Oscars and won six.

Second to "Bugsy" was Oliver Stone's "JFK," which received eight nominations. The film that reopened national discussion about whether President Kennedy was the victim of an assassination conspiracy was nominated for best picture, best director and best supporting actor for Tommy Jones, among other awards.

"The Silence of the Lambs," the taut thriller about an FBI trainee's pursuit of a serial killer, won seven nominations. They include best picture, best actor for Anthony Hopkins; best actress for Jodie Foster; best director for Jonathan Demme; and best screenplay for Ted Tally.

Barbra Streisand's "The Prince of Tides," also was favored with seven nominations, including best picture, but none for her directing or acting.

It was the second time the Academy spoiled Streisand's attempt to become the first woman nominated for best director since Lina Wertmuller and her "Seven Beauties" in 1976. Streisand was overlooked for her directing of 1983's "Yentl."
"I can't deny that I'm disappointed, but I'm thrilled to get seven," Streisand said from London in a telephone interview. "I'm ecstatic about that. Even though I was disappointed about myself, I wasn't counting on anything."

were Robert Dc Niro, who played a vengeful stalker in "Cape Fear," Nick Nolte as a football coach with a troubled past in "The Prince of Tides" and Robin Williams as a homeless man in "The Fisher King."

Besides Foster, nominees for best actress were Geena Davis and Susan Sarandon for their parts in the female buddy movie "Thelma & Louise": Laura Dern as a wayward woman in 'Rambling Rose"; and Bette Midler as a World War II entertainer in "For the Boys.'

"Beauty and the Beast," Disney's animated story of love and virtue, not only rewrote Academy Award history with its best picture nomination. it also took three nominations for original songs, and two more for best score and sound.

Among other Oscar snubs this year, "Fried Green Tomatoes" drew only two nominations, and 1991 box of-

Also put up for best-actor Oscars fice champion "Terminator 2: Judgment Day," picked up six nominations, but in lesser categories.

'Boyz N the Hood" director John Singleton, 24, surpassed Orson Welles as the youngest director ever nominated for an Oscar. Welles directed "Citizen Kane" at age 26.

Singleton also is the first black director to receive an Academy nomination. "If somebody had told me three years ago this was going to happen, I'd have said they were crazy," said Singleton, whose screenplay was nominated for an Oscar. "But, wow!"

Another big winner in the nomination stakes was Japanese-owned Sony Pictures, which had six films receiving 36 nominations, one of the highest totals ever for a studio.

The Academy Awards ceremony will be broadcast live by ABC March 30. Comic Billy Crystal is the scheduled host.

Diane Ladd, mother of Laura Dern, was nominated for best supporting actress in "Rambling Rose," the first time a mother and daughter were nominated the same year.

Other supporting-actress nominees were Juliette Lewis for "Cape Fear," Kate Nelligan in "The Prince of Tides," Mercedes Ruehl for "The Fisher King" and Jessica Tandy in "Fried Green Tomatoes." Best-supporting actor nominees also include Michael Lerner in "Barton Fink" and Jack Palance for "City Slick-Palance, last nominated for 1953's 'Shane," set an Oscar-record of 39 years between nominations.

Other original screenplays to be considered for Oscars are for "The Fisher King," "Grand Canyon" and 'Thelma & Louise."

"Thelma & Louise" also received nominations for director, Ridley Scott, cinematography and film editing.

Activity involvement, good GPA keys to honorary selection

Leadership skills, interaction gained through programs

AMY CLARK

Academic honoraries at K-State help teach members how to interact with other people and how to gain leadership skills. Mortar Board Senior Honorary Society, Golden Key National Honor Society and Blue Key National Honor Society are three examples of the many honoraries on campus.

These honoraries select their members by looking at a student's grade point average and the activities they are involved in.

Members of Mortar Board and Blue Key are responsible for the selection of the members for the next year. Janice Wissman, associate dean of the College of Education and one of and want to join, they can. He said no shop last semester for student organithe two advisers for Mortar Board, said Mortar Board, which is for seniors, looks at three areas when choosing its members. Because the members are chosen in relation to leadership, scholarship and service, they really identify activities that fall into all of those areas," Wissman said. Golden Key, which is for juniors and seniors, chooses its members by looking at a student's GPA.

The requirements of Golden Key are purely objective," said Lance Lewis, program coordinator in the Division of Continuing Education.

He said if students are in the top 15 percent of their class and have completed at least 60 hours (25 of them at K-State) and have a cumulative GPA of 3.4, they will be accepted into

Lewis said if students are eligible one is turned away.

Blue Key, which is also for seniors, bases its selection on leader- ting, conflict resolution and membership skills.

According to the 1991 application for Blue Key, members must be individuals "of all-around ability who possess strong personal character, academic achievement, leadership qualities and the confidence of their fellow students.'

Pat Bosco, associate vice president for institutional advancement and one of three Blue Key advisers, said members should have a GPA of about

Blue Key is involved in the Institutional Leadership Development Program. During this program, Blue Key members teach a leadership course to freshmen under the direction of ad-

Blue Key also was host to a work-zations and living groups. The workshop focused on motivation, goal set-ship drives.

"It's an extraordinary experience to be able to actually teach leadership skills to freshmen and to offer yourself as a consultant to student organizations," Bosco said.

"It's a 'win-win' for both the student leader of Blue Key and the student organization requesting assis-Mortar Board is a good way to make friends during and after college. "Because it's a national organiza-

Wissman said being a member of tion, those kind of contacts continue,"

Lewis said being in an honor society is also a way of gaining prestige. He said being a member is a recognition of an individual's accomplish-

Being in an honorary can also provide members with a chance to receive a scholarship.

Most honoraries become involved in a number of activities each year. Golden Key will be the host of its Regional Conference at K-State this spring. The Golden Key national convention will be in August. Last semester, Blue Key launched Leadership Week.

"They (Blue Key members) really perform an extraordinary service to the campus. Leadership Week was one of the highlights of the fall semester," Bosco said.

Wissman said membership in Mortar Board was changed to co-ed in the 1970s, and Blue Key soon fol-

Some of the academic honoraries

Wissman said Blue Key used to be on campus have also gone through an honorary for men, and Mortar

Board was an honorary for women.

changes throughout the years.

Europe ClassADS Let them work for you. Winter! London Amsterdam Madrid

$365*

$315*

$315*

Council Travel 1-800-475-5070

Dole uses Tsongas' rhetoric against Congressional Democrats

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Senate Reto tweak congressional Democrats.

Dole, in a speech Wednesday on the Senate floor, said Democratic leaders in Congress should adopt the probusiness economic policies advocated by Tsongas in winning the New Hampshire presidential primary.

Dole displayed a chart on the Senate floor that was in the form of a gift certificate for a free trip for Tsongas.

The Republican Senate leadership, publican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas he said, will pay for Tsongas to travel is using the success of Democratic to Washington to meet with congrespresidential contender Paul Tsongas sional Democratic leaders and "convince them to abandon their class warfare, to give up their anti-growth, their anti-business, their anti-consumer agenda.'

Tsongas contends the nation must revive its manufacturing industrial base. He supports a capital gains tax cut for long-term investment to stimulate the creation of jobs.

Tsongas opposes tax cuts for the middle class and argues the nation cannot afford them because of the federal budget deficit.

Congressional Democrats have been pushing for a middle class tax cut as part of a package to stimulate the economy. Some conservative Republicans also have advocated taxcutting policies, but Dole has questioned the economic wisdom of a short-term tax break that would increase the deficit.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY, 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall SUNDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall Admission: $1.75

K-State Union UPC Feature Film

K-State Union Gallery Exibit Sam Gilliam Mixed Media Collages February 10 - February 28

K-State Union

AND EROTIC!

"TERRIFIC! ANNE PARILLAUD IS TALENTED, BEAUTIFUL AND SEXY!"

"THE COOLEST, HIPPEST, MOST STYLISH FRENCH THRILLER IN AGES."

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall and FRIDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall Admission: $1.75

K-State Union

* ECLECTIC REVUE PRESENTS:

The Sonny Kenner Group

Jazz, Rhythm and Blues Band Thursday, February 20

8:00 p.m. Union Station Admission: $2.00 Co-sponsored with Black History Month

K-State Union

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

K-State plays Bramlage Coliseum Saturday.

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 102

Governor argues for tax proposal

Gov. Joan Finney speaks to the public about property taxes at Manhattan Fire Station Thursday night.

Finney speaks in Manhattan, answers questions about tax relief, education

CHRISTINE VENDEL

Gov. Joan Finney said she will exhaust every possibility to achieve property tax relief.

Finney spoke to a crowd of about 150 people during a Landlords of Manhattan Inc. meeting at the Manhattan Fire Department building Thursday night.

Part of the governor's plan to lower taxes includes a statewide 45-mill levy, which she said would benefit Riley County.

"USD 383 would get $2.25 million more to spend, and taxes would not the students?" see a 29.7-mill decrease in rates," she

Finney also said property taxes on vehicles would be lowered from 144 mills to 117 mills in Riley County.

However, the governor's proposal correct it," she said. has been criticized by legislators as unworkable. Finney said she did not finance issue was going in the legisla-

"I wasn't happy with where it was going, but today, I called attention to their failure to act on it," she said.

"I came down on them pretty hard chancellor. today. I told them a lot of them weren't going to be back next year because people aren't happy.'

After the governor's formal remarks, questions from landlord association members and citizens were

One Manhattan citizen expressed concern about the increasing cost of education

"USD 383 cost $12.5 million in 1980 and $28.5 million in 1990. They are projecting $75 million for the year 2000," he said.

"How can we afford that when the administration is getting the money,

Finney said she agreed there was a problem with money not getting to the teachers and students, where it deserves to go.

"We have to do what we can to

"There's a superintendent in our state making $140,000, and the chanapprove of the direction the school cellor at KU is making $135,000. I didn't check President Wefald. I should have."

> Mike Conduff, city manager, responded to Finney's remark by saying Wefald makes less than KU's

K-State President Jon Wefald

Finney said teachers at all levels of education have asked her to address the problem of how much money is going to administration.

"For fear of their jobs, they can't say much," she said.

"I can use the podium, which I have with this title as governor, to call attention to it, and I'm doing it."

Finney also said she heard of financial problems during her meeting with faculty leadership from all six Kansas Board of Regents institutions earlier Thursday.

"The stories they're telling me are incredible. Sometimes they have to buy paper to use for tests out of their own pockets," she said. "I couldn't believe it."

Finney said a way to combat these problems is to have communication between the levels of government. "Teachers often say, 'They don't ask us.' The administration is not consulting those people," she said. "Those people are the hands-on people in education." The governor also expressed her disappointment in the recent decision by the Senate Ways and Means Committee to freeze salary increases for state employees, which includes fac-

"I'm concerned, because this is the time of the session when the dealing starts. I hate to see the salary increase used as a pawn," she said.

Various unrelated issues were discussed by Finney in a post-speech interview, one of which was Kansas' April 7 presidential preference pri-

"There will be a lot of interest in Kansas now, particularly on the Republican side," Finney said, referring to the strong showing of Republican candidate Patrick Buchanan in the recent New Hampshire primary.

That will bring some money and public attention to Kansas."

Finney would not commit to endorsing a Democratic candidate for president.

"I'm going to wait and see," she said, "Earlier, I had said I would support Mario Cuomo."

New York Gov. Mario Cuomo has not officially declared his candidacy for the Democratic nomination.

On another issue closer to home, Finney said she would be signing the Student Publications Act, Senate bill No. 62, at 1:30 p.m. today.

The bill will prevent censorship of high-school publications by school

Most university buildings not insured by state

Under existing regulations, only 178 of 600 covered

MITCH HIXSON

If a fire burned Anderson Hall or a tornado ripped through the heart of the campus, finding the money to rebuild would be difficult.

"The long and short of it is that the state is not carrying insurance on most state buildings," said Charles Hostetler, Kansas Board of Regents member.

"The only money the state would have to rebuild for fire, tornado, etc., is just the money the Legislature would appropriate." Warren Corman, director of facilities for the regents, said he building, it's just wait until the next legislative session and ask for money. And as soon as the state finds the money, she'll build," he Donis Vaughn, an accredited insurance adviser for Charlson and

Wilson Insurance Agency of Manhattan, said state regulation does not allow the state to purchase insurance except on things that are bonded, like the K-State Union and the residence halls. Vaughn said all the academic buildings, including Farrell Library and Anderson Hall, are not insured.

Corman said only 178 of the about 600 buildings on state university campuses are now insured.

The buildings that are insured must be insured because they have been financed through the use of revenue bonds, he said. The value of uninsured buildings totals about $1.7 billion.

Vaughn said he estimates the premium for insuring state university buildings valued at more than $100,000 would be somewhere between $750,000 and $1.5 mil-

She said she doubted the state would insure any buildings worth less than $100,000. The premium would vary, depending on the deductible and the rate structure, she

"The regents have recommended the state make a conscientious decision to buy insurance on regents buildings, and they will look at all state buildings in the process," Hostetler said.

Corman said the burning of Hoch Auditorium at the University of Kansas brought this issue to

"It took the Hoch accident at KU to make people realize this is a problem," Corman said.

"If Hoch hadn't happened, we probably wouldn't be thinking

June after being struck by lightning. It will cost an estimated $18 million to rebuild it.

Hoch was destroyed by fire last

"This issue is big because, for "If there is no insurance on a example, KU really needs Hoch Auditorium because it has a lot of classroom space," Hostetler said.

> "The point is that the state doesn't have the money to rebuild

Corman is working on a study about the ramifications of a 500to-600-foot-wide tornado sweeping through the Wichita State University campus.

"If it started out of the southwest, as all tornadoes do, it could cause $175 million in damage," he

"With the majority of the buildings damaged having no insurance, and with the state having no money to rebuild, the university, in this case, would have no other choice but to close."

Vaughn said the question is, if all these buildings are not insured, how do we replace them if something does happen?

At present, the answer is up to Nothing would be able to be replaced until the Legislature allocated the money, and that is dependent on the state having any money

Student injured in car-motorcycle collision

Motorcyclist suffers broken arms, nose, facial lacerations; passenger not injured

TAD MUSSELWHITE Collegian

A K-State student driving a motorcycle was injured after colliding with a car in the Kramer Food Center parking lot Thursday.

"I flew over the top of the car, but I wasn't injured."

> Matt Evans "I got on for the ride, but I don't

Mike Mauldin's arms and nose were broken, and his face was lacerated after hitting a car driven by an unknown female, said Matt Evans, sophomore in horticulture. Evans was a passenger on the motorcycle.

Mauldin, freshman in electrical engineering, was transported to Memorial Hospital after the accident. Neither the driver of the car nor campus police officers would comment on the accident.

She had to pull out (around a Ford Bronco) in order to see if anything was coming and pulled out in front of us. We hit the car," Evans said.

"Mike must have clenched his hands on the handle bars as we hit. Mike went over the handlebars and hit his head on the windshield.

"I flew over the top of the car, but I wasn't injured," he said.

Evans was offered a ride after his class by Mauldin.

think I'll ever do that again," he said. Tae Kim, junior in mechanical engineering, who was at the scene moments after the accident, said the setup of the parking lot in the area was

"They should just forget about the parallel parking (on the south side of the lot) to make it wider and easier to see oncoming traffic," Kim said.

PHOTOS BY MIKE WELCHHANS AND SHANE KEYSER/College Above: Mike Mauldin, freshman in electrical engineering, is prepared by emergency medical technicians after striking a car on his motorcycle in the Kramer Dining Center parking lot Thursday. Neither Mauldin nor his uninjured passenger, Matt Evans, sophomore in horticulture, who was thrown over the top of the car, were wearing helmets. Top: Maulden suffered two broken arms, a broken nose and lacerations on his face.

COMMENTS

"We've got a president who said we didn't have a recession at the time I was laid off."

> - Merrimack, N.H., Republican Bob Hamm, 43, computer training manager, during the final days before the New Hampshire primary.

"I was so angry at (Michael) Dukakis and the national party for letting the Republicans do what they did to Dukakis. What's wrong with being a liberal? There's nothing wrong with it. Stand up and say fine, and these are my progams."

Concord, N.H., Democrat Connie Lane, 36, attorney.

"Americans are starved for time."

- Researchers at the Washington-based Economic Policy Institute who reported that an increasing number of people are stressed out by the demands of job and family.

"No matter what he says, he will be a candidate."

- Former New York City Mayor Ed Koch, on Mario Cuomo.

"I was laughing at (Bush) complaining about Buchanan being negative. I don't think they learned the lessons of their own campaign (in 1988)," 1988 Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis.

"The waves are all brown. It's all mud and stuff and the beaches are just loaded with wood and debris."

> Lifeguard Roger Smith at Zuma Beach with more rain forecasted in California as work crews cleaned up after killer

"You've got monogamy, marijuana and military service. You're going to find from our generation very few people who score perfectly on that three-M test."

- Concord, N.H., Democrat Bruce Friedman, 44, law profes-

"I think it's a great idea. I think Geritol and Ben-Gay will be delighted to sponsor the fight."

-Larry Holmes, 42, about the possibility of fighting 43-yearold George Foreman.

"Everybody here in Maine can have a job tomorrow if George Bush would get off the dime."

Democratic presidential candidate Jerry Brown.

"I'm trying to change the Democratic Party. I don't take PAC money. They do. That's the ultimate insider game."

Democratic presidential candidate Paul Tsongas, on rivals Bob Kerrey and Tom Harkin.

"There's no doubt I think I can win. If I didn't, I'd be going home."

> - Herschel Walker, the professional football player, who finished seventh in the two-man bobsled with driver Brian Shimer in the Winter Olympics; Walker gets another crack at a medal this weekend in the four-man bobsled.

Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea? Call the Collegian day or night 532-6556

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

THURSDAY, FEB. 20 At 11:16 a.m., an injury accident oc-curred at Kramer Dining Center parking lot involving a motorcycle and a red Mustang.

At 5:20 p.m., students were camping out at a grassy spot between Archery Road and the east parking lot at Bramlage Coliseum.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 19

At 11:33 a.m., Claude Clifford Blausett Jr., 31 Blue Valley Trailer Court, was arrested for forgery and failure to appear. He was confined in lieu of $1,068.50.

At 12:48 p.m., the management of Stagg Hill Transmission, 2333 Skyview, reported the theft of a 1976 black, homemade trailer with Kansas tag AGG295. Loss was $1,000.

At 2:27 p.m., Dean Bark, 1741 Fairview Ave., reported a residential burglary. Taken was a $2 bill. Damage was $10. Loss was $12.

At 3:00 p.m., a major-damage, non-injury accident occurred between vehicles driven by Terri M. Veach, 809 Church, Apt. B, and Katheryn L. Reed, 301 Vine, Warnego. At 4:27 p.m., Jon D. Darnell, 1541 Hartford Road, was arrested and issued a notice to appear for discharging a firearm within the city limits. At 4:28 p.m., David McMillin, 13200

East Highway 24, reported a vehicle bur-glary. Taken was a gold puzzle ring. Loss

1t 4:50 p.m., Doris Beckenhauer, 112 North Dartmouth Drive, reported lost or stolen property. Taken was a Seiko watch. Loss was $200. At 5:10 p.m., a major-damage, non-inury accident occurred between vehicles driven by Kara K. Barrett, 1743 Laramie

At 5:23 p.m., Phillip Jones, 300 West 5th St., No. 4C, reported a theft and forgery. Taken was a money order. Loss was $300. At 5:49 p.m., Dennis R. Riek, Route 3, Clay Center, was arrested for failure to appear. He was confined in lieu of a $60

St., and Luis E. Arevalo, 3124 Lundin Drive,

At 6:20 p.m., James Schooler, 117 South Lake, Riley, reported a vehicle burglary. Taken was a Midland 40-channel CB. Loss At7:39p.m., Marian R. Thompson, 1313 West 6th St., Junction City, reported a vehicle burglary. Taken was a Pioneer stereo. Loss was $259.

At 8:54 p.m., Steven K. Rowe Jr., 8701 West 92nd St., Overland Park, was arrested on two warrants for failure to appear. He was confined in lieu of $300 and $750.

At 10:22 p.m., Michael L. Wheeler, Route Wamego, was arrested for DUI. He was confined in lieu of $1,000 bond.

At 11:15 p.m., an aggravated assault report was filed. Victim was Kenneth E. Jackson, No. 10 Pats Trailer Court, Ogden. At 11:59 p.m., a theft was reported. Vicm was Robert D. Brockish, 922 Osage St. Taken was a brown leather-suede coat, one set of keys and U.S. currency. Loss was $712.

THURSDAY, FEB. 20

At 12:26 a.m., James R. McKenzie, 719 Campbell, Beloit, was arrested for DUI. He was confined in lieu of a $500 bond. At 11:00 a.m., Wendy Mari Felsburg, 913 Ratone Lane, was arrested for misde

At 12:19 p.m., Brook Deaver, 516 North 14th St., No. 15, reported two shirts stolen. Loss was $105.

meanor checks. She was released on $299.92

At 2:05 p.m., a minor-damage, hit-andrun accident report was filed. Involved were an unknown hit-and-run vehicle and a parked and unattended vehicle owned by Regina Arment, 519 North Manhattan Ave.,

At 3:03 p.m., Thomas W. Belton, 1220 Ratone Lane, was arrested for battery. The victim was Jeanette K. Webb. 1220 Ratone Lane. He was confined in lieu of $300 bond.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Little American Royal Sign-Up will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Feb. 24-27 in Waters, Weber and the K-State Union lobbies.

■ Union Program Council Applications are available in the UPC office on the third floor of the Union. They are due by 5 p.m. March 6.

■ ICAT Advisory Board applications are available at the athletic department front desk in Bramlage Coliseum and are due Wednesday, Feb. 26. The position starts this spring.

Fall 1992 Student Teaching Assignment Request forms are due by Feb. 25 in Bluemont 013.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

■ Hispanic Awareness Month Planning Committee will meet at 12:30 p.m. in Union 209.

"The Color Purple" will be shown at 8 p.m. at the ECM Campus Center, 1201 Denison Ave., as part of Black History Month.

■ Intervarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212.

African Student Union will present "African Music" and 'Ethnomusicology in Africa" at 8:30 a.m. in All Faiths Chapel.

Christian Educators will meet at 7 a.m. in Union Stateroom 3. Architecture and Engineering Services will sponsor an open forum for University architect candidates at 1 p.m. in Union 208.

■ Practice MCAT test will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Durland 173.

Students must be pre-registered. ■ Alpha Zeta will meet at 9 p.m. at the Blue River Pub for a country dance.

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 23

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 22

■ Black History Celebration will begin at 3:30 p.m. at the Fellowship Temple, 201 Knoxberry Drive, as part of Black History Month.

Spike Lee's "She's Gotta Have It" will be shown at 3 p.m. in the Union Little Theatre as part of Black History Month.

New Currents will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 204.

KSU Rock Climbing Club will meet at 8:30 a.m. in the Old Stadium

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

Mostly cloudy. High 45 to 50. East wind 5 to 15 mph. Friday night, mostly cloudy. A 30-percent chance for showers. Low

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

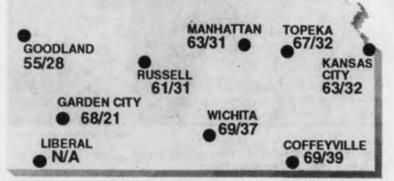

Mostly sunny with a high of 45 to 50.

EXTENDED FORECAST

A chance of rain late Sunday and Monday, lingering across the southeast on Tuesday. Highs in 40s to 50s on Sunday, 30s to 40s on Tuesday. Lows in 30s Sunday, cooling into the 20s and low 30s on Tuesday.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Helsinki	25/21	cloudy
Amsterdam	34/28	clear	Paris	37/28	clear
Beijing	46/23	clear	Reno	61/45	clear
Cairo	70/55	clear	Vienna	32/26	rain

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE:

Westview Community

Church

Worship Services 8 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.

Sunday School 9:30 a.m.

Sunday Evening Service

6 p.m.

(1, 3, 5 Sunday of month)

Care Cells

6 p.m.

(2, 4 Sunday of month)

College Program

Handicap Accessible

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

537-7173

COLLEGIAN ClassADS

Work

Church Directory

invites you . . .

Worship, Sunday 11 a.m.

Danforth Chapel

(campus, behind McCain)

LUTTHERAN

CAMPUS

Caring for the Fitting

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH

Morning Worship 8:30 & 10:45

Collegiate Bible Study Sun. 9:30 a.m.

International Bible Studies

Sunday Evening Fellowship

or Caring Cells 6 p.m.

Family Night Wed. 7 p.m.

Students Welcome!

2901 Dickens

1021 Denison

539-4451

CRESTVIEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH COLLEGE CLASS 9:30 a.m. WORSHIP 10:30 a.m. CHINESE WORSHIP 3 p.m. EVENING WORSHIP 6:30 p.m.

4761 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (3 miles N. of Kimball 776-3798

Christian Science Church 511 Westview Drive

10 a.m. Morning Service 10 a.m. Sunday School Wednesday 7:30 p.m. Testimony Meeting Reading Room-105 N. 4th

> ST. LUKE LUTHERAN CHURCH

(LCMS) Lutheran Student Fellowship (LSF)

Campus Pastor, Rev. Frederick V. Smith Bible Class Sunday.....9:30 a.m. Worship Service......10:45 a.m.

330 N. Sunset Ave.....539-2604 Worship 8:30 & 11 a.m.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

Sunday School 9:40 a.m. (for all ages)

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH 8:45 a.m. Communion

10th & Poyntz 537-8532

(first Sunday of the month) 9:45 a.m. Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services John D. Stoneking, Pastor

CHURCH

612 Poyntz

Worship 8:30 a.m. & 10:45 a.m. 2500 Kimball

On their new album Blind, Corrosion of Conformity has set a new metallic standard for this decade with new progressive hard rock ideology. With unbridled energy and idealism combined with the dynamics of thrash and garage grunge, Corrosion of Conformity is a distillation of loud music!

ROLATIVITY

1231 Moro • 776–7373 Be Streetsmart, Shop Streetside!

St. Isidore's FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH Catholic Student Center Worship 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30, 11 a.m. & 5 p.m. Disciples of Christ Confessions; Sat. 3:30 p.m. Handicap Accessible 115 Courthouse Plaza

776-0424

ain: Father Keith Weber

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship Service & Sunday School 10:45 a.m. An old church with a liberal tradition and open ess about religious belief. For in call 539-9369 or 537-2349. 481 Zeandale Rd. (Hwy. 18) and left off Hwy. 177 S. of viaduct

Fellowship Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m. Pastor: Harris Waltner 539-4079

Child Care Available

PEACE LUTHERAN

776-8821

Law officers say drugs to blame for rise in gang activity

Heavy demand. low supply mean large profits

CHRISTA CONGROVE

Gangs are packing pistols and moving to the Midwest, regional law enforcement officers said this Officer Kelly Roberts of the Topeka Police Department and Sgt. Stanley Conkwright of the Riley County Police Department both said gangs have moved to the Midwest because of drugs- specifically crack and cocaine.

"Drugs are the biggest thing that gangs are into right now," Roberts said.

He said the demand for drugs in Kansas is high, but the supply is low, so gangs are able to traffic them for high prices.

Officer Brad Carey of the Wichita Police Department said the reason gangs are so into drugs is because they see trafficking as their job.

cars by flipping hamburgers at McDonald's," he said.

Roberts said gang members have moved to Kansas and Nebraska with their families. Many left big cities because of the vio-

Conkwright said there is currently not a gang problem in Manhattan

"But that doesn't mean it can't happen," he said.

He said the biggest problem in Manhattan is cliques. "Whenever you have cliques, they're not into what you think of as gangs," he said. Conkwright also said because gangs are unpredictable, rumors about gang crimes often run wild. "Be careful when rumors are going on, and don't put yourself Roberts said gang-related crime got in the way," he said. is down in Topeka right now because of the weather. "We're averaging one to two drive-bys a week," he said.

Conkwright said gang members have a different way of thinking, and being involved in a gang is a unique way of life.

He said the history of gangs can catch," Carey said.

be traced back to Hell's Angels and different Oriental and Hispanic

He also said the Crips and Bloods, while they aren't the oldest, may be the most notorious because of the age group and nature of violence.

The Topeka Police said the Crips started in the late 1960s in Los Angeles. Their primary colors are blue and black, which are usually incorporated in their clothing and graffiti.

Crips refer to each other as "cuzz," and they use the letter "C" to replace the letter "B" in their conversation and writing. Crips wear clothes items tipped to the right and British Knight tennis shoes. B/K stands for Blood Killer, the Topeka Police said.

The Bloods, or Pirus, formed to protect themselves from the Crips. Their primary color is red, and they often wear red and black and St. Louis Cardinal hats. They use the letter "B" to replace the letter

Both gangs started by commit-You can't buy weapons and ting assaults and robberies. They are now into gang turf wars and

> Roberts said there are three priority gangs in Topeka that branch off into different parts of the com-

"We've got some Bloods, Disciples and Vice-Lords," he said.

The Topeka Police said gang members have a distinct mentality: They have the attitude that they're going to die someday, so they are going to get what they want now and do what they want.

Roberts said gang members there's going to be conflict. But rarely display emotion, a sense of right or wrong, remorse or empathy. Hard-core gang members may likely be sociopaths, he said.

"Whenever we arrest them, they always say it's somebody else's fault. They don't show any remorse, because they think they had into dangerous situations," he said. a good reason or that someone just > Carey said the Wichita Police are aware of 55 gangs in Wichita, but they target only four - the most violent.

"Most gang members are not rocket scientists. If they were, it would make them a lot harder to

Kenner mixes musical styles

New album includes rap, blues, classical, pop, other varieties

CRYSTAL SAWALICH

Never give up on love.

This is probably a good statement to someone who just broke up with his latest flame or to someone who didn't get anything for Valentine's Day.

But it's even a better statement to Kansas City musician Sonny Kenner, who has released a new album, "Never Give Up on Love."

Kenner's musical background dates back to his great-grandfather, who worked for Jesse James as a butler. When James was out on the road, he took over as the local bandmaster, Kenner said.

Kenner's parents were also musi-cally inclined. His mother played the piano, and his father played the trum-

Kenner himself began playing the piano at age 6, and he began learning the guitar at age 9. He said he likes both instruments, but he prefers to play the guitar.

They both go together, and the piano is important, but the guitar is where my heart is at," he said.

Kenner has been exposed to a variety of bands from jazz, rhythm and blues to classical, country-western, pop and even rap. In fact, on "Never Give Up On Love," Kenner features a few rap songs his 12-year-old son contributed, along with other varieties of music - blues, classical, pop and standards, he said.

"Different people have different tastes," he said.

Kenner said he got the idea to mix musical styles from Quincy Jones, who also produced an album in a similar way.

At about age 19, Kenner began his entourage of grand performances at the Apollo in New York, performing shows about twice a year.

"It was just unbelievable," he said. "Just being on the same stage as the people you keep hearing about, like Charlie Parker and the Ink Spots."

He then began traveling and performing one-night stands, four to five times per week as much as 500 miles apart, he said.

Jazz and blues guitarist Sonny Kenner performed Thursday night at Union Station. Kenner is a nationally known guitarist who has played at the Apollo Theater in New York City.

COLLEGIAN Let them work for you.

Please plan to attend the open forums for the candidates for the position of Assistant Provost for Planning and Evaluation Services. The sessions are scheduled for one hour. Each candidate will address the topic "Planning in a Comprehensive University."

--ATTENTION--

•Dr. Paul B. Duby, Director, Research & Management Information Services, Northern Michigan University, 3:30 p.m., Union 213, Monday, Feb. 24.

•Dr. Gerald W. McLaughlin, Jr., Director, Institutional Research, Virginia Polytechnic Institute & State University, 3:30 p.m., Union 207, Monday, March 2.

•Dr. Roseann R. Hogan, Director of Planning & Assessment, University of Kentucky, 3:30 p.m., Union 213, Thursday, March 5. "THIS IS THE WAY WE'RE DOIN' ER."

How does a nutritious sandwich made with fresh deli meats or a hand breaded and baked fish sound? Howdy's offers just that plus quick friendly service. Most meals run under $5 including drink. Give ol' Howdy's a try!

Located in the Wareham Hotel next to Harry's Uptown, 418 Poyntz

Howdy's at Harry's Buy One Get - One Free

Buy one sandwich of equal or greater value and get one free.

Expires March 30, 1992 418 Poyntz

The Barnburners

Tonight at 9:30 plus $1 Kamis (the real stuff)

Cover: $2 over 21, $3 under 21

Come watch K-State vs. KU on the big screen T.V.

by the slice. Volleyball Pit Open (weather permitting).

CLUB SOHO The Nightclub

DANCE PARTY FRIDAY & SATURDAY NIGHT

Dance & Romance Lowenbrau now on tap

Music...THE BEST Relaxed Atmosphere

Open at 8 p.m. Proper Attire, Jeans Allowed

18 to Enter 710 N Manhattan, Aggieville 776-30H0 (7646)

COLLEGIAN PINION

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1992

education funding

To voice your opinion about legislative funding for K-State contact:

Sen. Joseph Harder, R-Moundridge, (913) 296-7300 Rep. Rick Bowden, D-Goddard, (913) 296-7500 Both are chairmen of the Senate and House Education Committees, respectively.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

Lack of state funding A BLACK & Will leads to misallocation

It's just not fair.

Why is it that Student Government Services can rebuild and refurbish its office for $88,000, and Anderson Hall space can be redesigned for $56,000, yet 40 students are crowded into a 30-person laboratory?

It doesn't take a rocket scientist to see the discrepancy here.

Priorities are obviously screwed up when student senators and administrators sit comfortably in their roomy luxurious offices, and students can't even get into smelly classrooms with leaking roofs.

Why can't that collective $144,000 be used to repair leaky, smelly classrooms, to create another class section or to increase faculty salaries?

It seems simple enough, but "seems" is the operative word.

The administration says money earmarked for a certain aspect must be spent on the specific area.

Thus, the $144,000 only could be used for repair and rehabilitation of campus buildings.

It is not the area with the most need, yet it is the area with the money. We're spreading fancy frosting on a crumbling cake. The real sadness in all of this is that there is no solution.

We are going to continue, though, because the alternative is not much prettier. Taking money from an earmarked source would lead to cannibalism of the University.

It would be robbing Peter to pay Paul. What a dilemma. But, who's to blame? Administration says, 'Not me.' Students pay tuition, enough said.

The Kansas Board of Regents merely allocates what is given to them by the state.

And the state is broke, which brings us back to square one.

But not really. Ultimately, it is the state's fault that K-State is in such a bind.

We received $6 million less from the state last year than the year before, even though tuition increased.

Some of our tuition is going to Topeka, never to return. And as a result, some of the best qualities about K-State may start to leave as well.

If the Legislature would act as if education was important, the University would have enough money to actually teach its students.

Then maybe no one would care so much that $144,000 went to dress up Anderson and the SGS offices.

Economy may force city-county mergers

Change is painful. People fear it.

But that fear alone shouldn't keep it from happening. It should inspire another kind of change — betterment from within.

While faring better than most states during this recession, Kansas is in rough financial straits right now.

At K-State, for instance, we're compromising, reorganizing and sacrificing in hopes that it will get better, knowing it probably won't.

What we've learned, above all else, is that so much money only goes so far, no matter how hard you stretch it.

Functional consolidation of police, fire and ambulance services between cities and counties is an option Kansans will Reorganization, consolidation, compromise, merging they're all four-letter words. This is because they too often deal with having less, rather than making what you have more efficient, and because people fear losing their individual or community identity to the new whole.

People, whether they be architecture students or citizens of Nemaha County, get up in arms when they face consolidation of something that is theirs.

The real issue is that sometimes such merging or reorganization is necessary and good. Oftentimes, however, it is not.

So before you fear change, take a look at yourself and see there are things you can do to make your school or community better, so it will be less likely to be targeted for such change.

Slow, well-thought-out consolidation, when people can take their time and do it right, is a lot less painful than that forced by necessity.

Make your community and school efficient and solid enough to prevent such consolidation.

Without a solid base of community awareness and effort, consolidation may not be far off for many Kansas communities and schools.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newspaper.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

s cliche as it sounds, racism has become a black and white issue. was a conservative Republican. Calling Thomas white was a blatantly In the eyes of many, there is no middle ground. Everything is either black or white, good or bad, rich or poor. There is no Court. compromise of views. Our newscasts tell us about trouble in Ireland, and we accept that the conflict is between the Catholics and the Protestants. It's a little easier to themselves from the poorer neighborhoods. dismiss then, because religious people are portrayed as Race is often more than a skin color— it is also fanatics.

The real issue, however, is one of economic oppression. One group of people is holding another down to keep from getting on the wrong end of a losing situation, It's greed, pure and simple.

The division between rich and poor is becoming greater and greater. It's clear in our country, where the middle class is on its way to extinction, minimum wage can barely buy a meal at a fast-food restaurant, and automobile manufacturers exploit cheap Mexican labor.

And that's where racism comes in. In a country

TOM LISTER without socialized education or medicine, the struggle for survival can be bitter. People with lower socioeconomic positions realize the fierce competition for jobs. Racism is trash." built on the foundation that lower-class people form a tangible association with the color of someone's skin and the competition for jobs.

acism is ignorance. It is ignorant to think the only recipients of welfare are minorities. It is ignorant to think everyone can rise through the ranks to achieve the American dream. And it is blind faith in a system run by the upper class.

It is also ignorant, however, in assuming all whites are rich. My father came from a single-parent family. My grandmother worked to support eight children by herself. In my family, my generation was the first to go to college, yet I don't feel distinctly black because of it, and I don't feel white because of it. I just feel like someone of a certain class.

During Clarence Thomas's hearings, he was often called "white" or an "oreo" because he is a conservative Republican. He's not white, though. He is black. But more importantly, when considering his appointment, he racist remark. The argument of racism is what put Thomas on the Supreme

Thomas demonstrated the black community has as much unity as the white community. Many blacks, as whites, show no hesitation in distancing > a culture. Everyone should have the right to preserve his heritage. Universities are often social filters that strip away the characteristics of an individual culture. But the aspect of culture crosses racial lines.

> he predominant issue in rap music today is the economic oppression of people in the inner city and how black youths escape it through drug use. The same situation occurs for many whites. It's not a black and white issue.

Many poor whites have no chance of going to a university. They can't pass standard literacy tests because teachers pay less attention to them. They're not called "niggers," though. They're called "white

In our society, people step all over each other trying to climb the socioeconomic ladder. If we continue to form divisions within the lower classes by race, racial tensions will grow. Hate will stem from different groups fighting to climb out of the same pit.

Some people thrive on that hate. It's an energy that inspires racist groups. And, unfortunately, it's that kind of hate that raises support for people like David Duke.

In recent years, I've seen black and white children playing together, and it seems that they're not even conscious of race. I have to agree that it's about time we cast aside prejudices and see each other simply as

But as a "white" person, I'm tired of being included in a blanket term that says I'm just another Simon Legree.

THE BIG "LOSER" IS GEORGE BUSH. EVEN THOUGH HE "WON! The Losers Bush 58% Buchanan 40% Tsongas 357 Clinton 26% 12% Kerrey darkin Brown

PAT BUCHANAN "LOST"

BUT "WON" BECAUSE BUSH

PEOPLE WHO DON'T REALLY

WANT BUCHANAN TO "WIN"

THE WHITE HOUSE.

Buchanan 40%

"LOST" SO MANY VOTES FROM

TSONGAS "LOST" BY

GETTING A SMALLER "WIN"

IN SEARCH OF THE PERFECT LEADER

he Republicans are on the run, and Patty Buchanan has gone on a vision quest. Or, as the Brule Sioux would call it, a hanbleceya.

Yes, after so many years of inept rule by those psuedostatesmen who have the outright gall to call themselves leaders, the scourge of George Bush has sanctified himself with the incense of sweet grasses, rubbed his body with sage and fanned the whole thing with an eagle's wing.

With peace pipe and gourd rattle in hand, Buchanan now sits in his vision pit, waiting for a sign from the Great Spirit. Will Bush truly be a one-term president? Will Patty's strong showing in New Hampshire lead him to find his place in the circles of the South and Midwest? Will Mario Cuomo and Ralph Nader ever wake up to reality and just go away? Or will the boulder of fate come rolling down from the hills and crush the sweat lodge that encircles his vision pit?

So many questions, and time becomes a pressing issue.

And while the Spirit of the Incumbent dances on the left of Buchanan, the Teepee of the GOP casts a gray but noticeable shadow to his right. The tribes of Paul "Get Real" Tsongas and Bill the "Comeback Kid" Clinton (who, for some reason, truly believes that a 27-percent taking of the vote is a "victory") might be the rainstorm on any of Buchanan's celebrations.

And the Chorus of the People, you and are the spoilers. It is up to us to decide whether these seekers will succeed, or if Bush won't have to rent a moving van. In essence, we have become the Great Spirit, and with the pull of a lever, we can send the boulder down to lay waste to Buchanan's nd yet begins another Season of Giants-Not. With all these candidates running hither and yon pel-mel across the country on a quest for the Great Vote, we sit back and try to absorb this veritable flood of campaign rhetoric. And as we insulate ourselves from all the flying accusations and spittle that no one really cares about or wants, I am reminded of that other Sioux legend, simply called When the Dogs Had an Election.

You see, once upon a time, the dogs were trying to elect a president. During the Dog Convention, a dog stood up and said, "I nominate the bulldog. because he's strong and JARED GREGOIRE can fight."

But he can't run," said another dog. "What good is a dog that can't run? I think the greyhound should be president, because he can run.'

But the other dogs cried "Sure, he can run, but he can't fight. When he catches somebody, what happens? He get's the hell beaten out of him, that's what! So all he's good for is running away."

Then a little mangy mutt jumped up and said, "I nominate the dog who smells best underneath his tail." Immediately, another ugly runt jumped up and yelled, "I second that motion!" ll of the dogs murmured among themselves, finally Lagreeing, and began sniffing under each other's tails. Soon, a big chorus went up.

"Phew, he doesn't smell good under his tail."

"No, neither does this one." "He's no presidential timber!"

"This one sure isn't the people's choice.

"Ugh, this one isn't my candidate!"

So when you go out for a walk, just watch the dogs. They're still sniffing underneath each other's tails. They're looking for a good leader, and they still haven't

Bush opens door for assistance to South Africa

President declares country has made progress toward elimination of apartheid

WASHINGTON - President Bush on Thursday opened the way for increased exports to South Africa as well as International Monetary Fund assistance to the country, the State Department announced.

Bush declared South Africa had made "significant progress toward the elimination of apartheid," a declaration required before U.S. Export-Import Bank assistance can be given to U.S. exporters to South Africa.

"A healthy economic situation in South Africa is of critical importance as a new non-racial constitution is reluctant to do business with South being negotiated," said State Department spokeswoman Margaret

She said the United States wants to be as helpful as possible and is prepared to consider a proposal for an IMF loan for South Africa.

The United States lifted five years of economic sanctions against South Africa in July.

But many U.S. exporters have been Africa without Ex-Im Bank insurance or credits.

Earlier Thursday, Tutwiler declined to give any U.S. response to the dramatic announcement by South African President F. W. de Klerk of a whites-only referendum on ending apartheid. The vote is seen as a test of white support for de Klerk's moves toward a multiracial democracy.

"The specifics of the transition to a new constitution are for the people of age exports to non-government South South Africa to decide among themselves," Tutwiler said, and the calling of a referendum is an internal matter on which the U.S. government will not comment.

She made no mention of de Klerk's action in announcing Bush's decision to allow the Ex-Im Bank to insure and provide credits for exports to South

The U.S. government will encour-

African importers who practice fair labor standards, Tutwiler said.

The law requires certification from the U.S. secretary of state that a company meets the standards. Companies owned by a majority of non-whites are exempt from the requirement.

Tutwiler said both Bush and Secretary of State James Baker have talked in recent weeks with de Klerk and Nelson Mandela.

Legal expert offers advice about activity fee guidelines

Student Senate had a lengthy discussion about setting guidelines restricting the use of activity fees Thursday night.

Dianne Urban, K-State legal adviser, was present at the meeting to answer questions concerning the legality of setting specific guidelines and the consequences of not having

"From a legal perspective, I be-lieve it would be wise not to fund religious and partisan groups," she said.

The majority of student senates have adopted guidelines for protection against discrimination suits from groups being denied funding, Urban

"A gay and lesbian group recently won a discrimination suit," she said.

Urban defined the difference between viewpoint discrimination and subject-matter discrimination.

Viewpoint discrimination is illegally making a decision based on specific preferences. Subject-matter discrimination is legal on the basis of fee for provided services.

refusing funding of all groups. An example of subject-matter discrimination is religion.

The Senate questioned the difference of subject-matter vs. viewpoint discrimination and how difficult it would be to place activities into cer-

"This will depend upon the definition of the words religion and partisan used by the Senate," Urban said.

"The Senate has the option of selecting a particular definition."

Urban said the fees are for the promotion of the purposes of the Uni-

The Senate will discuss this issue again after more in-depth research.

Student Body President Jackie McClaskey made an announcement SHAWN BRUCE informing the Senate about consider- Collegian ations from the Council of Deans to stop the handing out of real diplomas during spring graduation.

The council is also considering charging graduating students a $15

EDUCATION

Regents postpone decision about mission statements

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - The Kansas Board of Regents delayed on Thursday consideration of mission statements of the state's universities.

The six state universities were told last year to revise their mission statements. The regents have said the mission statements are intended to describe the focus of each university and distinguish the roles of each within the system.

Thursday's meeting was intended to address how well the mission statements described the universities' roles and to determine whether changes are

The board at first agreed to post-

DELTS WANT YOU!

The KSU Blood Drive ends TODAY!

Drawings will be held for:

*KSU vs. KU B-ball tickets

Donate blood from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. in the KSU rooms on the 2nd floor of the Union. YOUR HELP SAVES LIVES Co-sponsored by Delta Tau Delta

Baseball

VS.

Fort Hays

Sun., Feb. 23, 1:00 p.m.

Frank Myers Field

*VCR *Gift certificates from local restaurants

one action on the mission statements until its April meeting, then reversed itself and decided to take up the issue

University presidents said delaying approval of the mission statements would cause a delay in implementing programs.

The board also received the annual report on basic skills and general education programs from Pittsburg State University and an update on the accreditation status of the universities.

The board announced the objectives and membership of recently created task forces on budget development, performance funding and a standard database for the system.

COMPUTERS

Students, faculty receive infected disks

Man blames Topeka Post Office, FBI for said. opening mail, planting virus

STEPHANIE FUQUA

A recent mailing of floppy disks to K-State students and faculty may have contained one flaw - a virus.

Dr. W.D. Fard of Junction City, who sent the disks out two weeks ago, said it is not his fault the disks he mailed had a virus.

Two weeks ago, I sent 25 disks to the Japanese Student Association and 76 disks to faculty department heads," Fard said.

"A few of the disks may have been infected. ... It was not my do- and we don't plant viruses," Geiman his mailing lists.

ing. Someone sabotaged them."

That someone, Fard said, is both the Topeka Office of the FBI and the Topeka Post Office.

"They don't like me using military logos on my mailings," he said. "They can't censor the mail, although they are trying to.

"They went into the post office and started going through the mail. They put the virus in.'

Max Geiman of the Kansas City Office of the FBI said the FBI doesn't work that way.

"We don't open people's mail, man. We don't open other people's mail. That's illegal."

Fard said he believes he is "Allah in person."

The disks he sends out proclaim the "judgment and destruction of Fard did most of his research at K-State and said he feels he owes his success to the University.

"I really like the people at K-State," he said. "I don't think I could have been successful if they weren't the kind of people they are." Fard said there may not be a virus at all. He said the government wants

"I've got levy's against compa-"Idon't know anything about this nies, and so the governments are like, 'This man is in the system, and we can't get him out," Fard said.

> "So they say that it is a virus, when it's not a virus.

"The virus killer is an apology. They want my mailing list so they can send an apology."

For those people who have found there is a virus on their computer, Fard said they should contact American Ansat, 1520 Northwest New Hampshire Ave., Attn: David Pales. Washington, D.C., 20036, or call (202) 483-0400 to obtain a disk to get rid of the virus.

MTV calls Truck Stop Love

Truck Stop Love won an MTV contest. And, no, it's not a date with Jon Bon Jovi.

Instead, the Manhattan-based band will be one of four competing in the Dodge Rocking Campus Bash Regionals" Sunday at the University of Texas-Arlington.

The contest is co-sponsored by MTV and offers the winning regional banda chance to go to Daytona Beach, Fla., and compete for a grand prize of $2,000 cash and a recording session, as well as an appearance on "MTV Spring Break 92." With that kind of reward at stake, naturally, Truck Stop Love waited until the last minute to send in its too, believed it. entry tape. ruary, and we Federal Expressed it on idea why they were chosen for the who is also a Collegian reviewer.

"It was $9.95," said guitarist/vocalist Rich Yargus, who said he is still amazed at the cost.

This cost is no small amount of money to a band struggling for recognition (money) like Truck Stop Love.

In fact, band members questioned whether they should have even wasted the $3 on the contest tape. They said they were surprised to find out they Melin found out first and called Yargus. Melin said the response wasn't quite what he expected. "He thought it was a joke and got mad," Melin said. That kind of scene was repeated with bassist Brad Huhman and guitarist/vocalist Matt Mozier until they, Though they appreciate the chance, the 12th," said drummer Eric Melin, contest. "I called the lady in charge and told her who I was, and she congratulated us," Melin said.

"I asked her if she had heard the Either way, Truck Stop Love is in the contest, and the band members said they plan on playing the under-

They have to. It's the only role

"Hey, we're the band that never ever gets respect," Yargus said. We're the sleeper.' Manhattan residents will have a chance to catch rock's new superstars in what could possibly be Truck Stop Love's last local show at the Hibachi Hut tonight.

The band members said they had high hopes as they head south toward the Rio Grande in search of fame and

"I want to get drunk," Mozier said. Could the cover of Rolling Stone BUY-HIRE-SELL -RENT COLLEGIAN

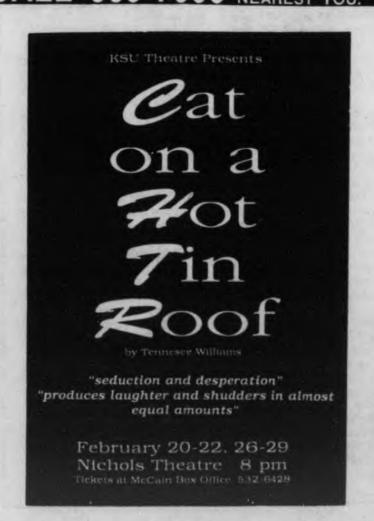

COLLEGIAN

ClassADS Kedzie Hall 103 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Ad It Up! in the COLLEGIAN

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR 776-1193

10% Discount

on any repair service with coupon expires 3/28/92

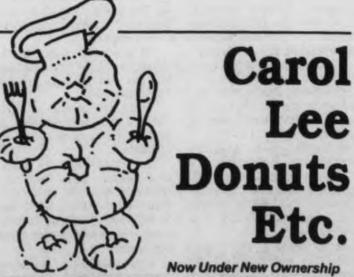

315-B POYNTZ

Use the 3rd & Houston St. parking lot. Three doors up the alley from Burger King. Downtown.

Wildcat Special Weekend

Sat. Feb. 22 & Sun. Feb. 23

 Wildcat Specials 2 Dozen Donuts for $4.25 (reg. 5.38)

1/2 Sandwich & Soup for $2.99 (reg. '3.35)

Sandwich Includes Choice of meat, cheese, lettuce, tomato, onion, pickles, mayonnaise, honey mustard on white or wheat roll, baked fresh daily. Bakery Products 1/2 Price After 4 p.m.

1800 Claflin in FirstBank Center

6 a.m.-7 p.m. 7 Days A Week

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1992

CATS BASKETBALL

Surging confidence key for K-State

With visions of post-season tournaments dancing in their heads sort of - the Cats will try to avenge a big loss to an intra-state rival Saturday - kind of. Though his Cats talk of tournaments, K-State coach Dana Altman denies thinking any such thoughts. Though Cat fans and media talk of the big rivalry, Altman downplays No. 3 Kansas so much, one could doubt whether Altman realizes Lawrence is in the Sunflower state.

"Tournaments," Altman said. "The NCAA tournament is something that would have to be off in the distance. We have five games to go, three against good teams at home.

""We'd have to win four of our last five to do it," Altman said. "That's not something to concern ourselves with. We're still back at square one, learning how to play the

"We haven't progressed enough to start thinking about it," Altman

The mitigating factor for the tourney talk is K-State's impressive second-half showing against Iowa State in the Cats' 64-55 win Wednesday. In that game, the Cats' defense allowed the Cyclones a mere 21 second-half points.

In that game, an inspired defense took enough pressure off the struggling offense that the Cats were playing looser.

"Reviewing the game films, toward the end of the game, we shot really well," Altman said. "It could be that they were playing looser because they were playing good

"When you play good defense, maybe it builds up some confidence so you don't think as much about missing a shot on a possession."

Senior point guard Marcus Zeigler also alluded to the unusual defensive contribution to offense.

"I think the good defense took a good deal of tension off us on offense," Zeigler said. "Having a couple good stands back-to-back on defense lifts our confidence."

But Zeigler remembered what happened the last time the Cats' confidence soared. After upsetting Nebraska 70-66 last week, K-State was soundly thrashed by Oklahoma three days later.

"That's what I wonder about this team," Zeigler said. "We have a tendency to let down after doing well. We can't do that against KU." Oh yeah, that game.

"Kansas is solid defensively, and we're going to have to work hard to shoot as well as we did against Iowa State," Altman said. Of course, "For me to say we have to shoot well, I'm talking about just 50 percent." The Hawks come in to the Saturday match up as losers, faltering at Nebraska 81-79 in overtime. In that game, the Hawks knocked down just 15 of 34 free

"I saw the stats after our game. I hope they'll shoot that poorly here,"

The Hawks will see the Cats' four-guard lineup, Altman said. Though he said the Cats aren't losing out on the size matchups, Altman said there are some segments in Kansas' game which "They really hurt us inside last time," Altman said. "And we're going with an even smaller lineup than we had that time.

"I'm not sure what changes I could make that would stop that without exposing the perimeter," Altman said.

Finally, Altman did acknowledge the added importance of the upcoming game.

"I guess it is a big game," Altman said. "One, because other people are excited about it and that gets the players up a little more.

"But I guess there's a natural excitement in playing Kansas too."

Zeigler said in games against Kansas, the crowd and the mental nature of the rivalry play vital roles.

"I think the crowd plays a big factor," Zeigler said. "The noise they make tends to get on the other

"Basically, the whole thing's just Solid defensive play has been the key to the Cats' offensive turnaround, according to coach Dana Altman and a number of Cats.

Cats circa 1951: players recall glory days, budding friendships 'Our top 10 was as good as any 10

Remember these names? Ernie Barrett, Ed Head, Lew Hitch and others talk fondly of a team that fell just a hair's breadth short of the 1950-51 national title

STEVEN ROCK

Long live the glory days!

In what could be called the greatest K-State team ever, the 1950-51 Wildcats clawed their way to the final game of the NCAA tournament, only to fall to Kentucky in the national championship game.

But in that same season, despite the disappointment of being denied the championship, the Cats developed more than a championship-caliber basketball team - they developed lifelong friendships. Without a doubt, it was an unforgettable

Just ask Lew Hitch. Or Ernie Barrett. Or Ed Head. Or any of the other gentlemen who played on the celebrated team that rolled to a 24-4 record and a trip to the Final Two.

They'll tell you.

"I enjoyed every minute of it," said Hitch, the 6-foot-7-inch center who lead the Cats in scoring in the final game of the season. "And I'd do it again in a minute."

No doubt about it, that team was something special. It wasn't a bunch of basketball players that wound up being friends. Instead, it was a bunch of friends that happened to play basketball.

"We were a very close group," said Jack Stone, a senior forward and starter for the 1951 club. "There was not one of us that didn't get along with another guy. "And that was true all the way through the basketball team, from the starting five straight down to the reserves."

That closeness, though, didn't end with the termination of the season.

We were a real close team," said Ed Head, a starting guard in the team's glory season. "And we continue to be."

The members of the greatest team in K-State history make it a point to meet every five years to continue their close bond. And although they don't strip off their neckties in favor of a little shirts-on-skins scrimmage, the good times haven't stopped.

"It's just like time has not elapsed when we get together," Hitch said, fondly remembering those glory days. "When we get together, it's really a grand time."

Sure enough, the friendships are rekindled each time the team reunites.

When we get together," Stone said, "we kid one another and just have a great time." The reunions are something the whole squad looks forward to.

"As a result of the reunions, we are still very close," said Ernie Barrett, the senior guard who led the Cats in scoring during probably better than most." the 1950-51 season.

"It's fun reminisce about old times."

And what old times they were.

that unprecedented season, the Wildcats were stocked with talent. In fact, seven members of that were eventually drafted into the National Basketball Association.

great aspects of our was that it had a great balance," Barrett recalled. "We had 12 excellent players." And Barrett was, perhaps, the greatest.

Barrett, whose career eventually landed with the Boston Celtics in the NBA, took a lot of pride in being more than just the team's leading scorer.

"It was an honor to be not only the high scorer but also the team captain," he said.

And the ship Barrett commandeered was one with very few holes.

The five leading scorers for the Wildcats in the 1950-51 season were separated by a margin of only 2.8 points.

time, we were as good as anybody and of the Cats wasn't "We were a very close group. limited to the starting five.

- Jack Stone, a senior starting forward

There was not one of us that didn't get along with another for the 1951 Cats State was not part of the conference at that time). In fact, the Nebraska Cornhuskers' coach had, at one point in the season, rated the top three teams in the Big Seven: K-State, KU, and the K-State second five.

players in the country," Hitch said. "In our

But the strength

The bench of the

K-State club was considered to be tougher than most teams in the Big

Seven (Oklahoma

"Practices were tougher than most games," Head said. "The competition was just so tough.

"In fact, we had a 2-year All-American on the bench," Head recalled, referring to in the cards for us to win." sophomore Dick Knostman who went on to achieve the status in his junior and senior

Indeed, the 1950-51 Wildcat basketball team was a talent-ridden group of guys that just went out and did what they enjoyed:

And although the team left a lasting impression on K-State athletics, those guys will be the first ones to tell you that the superior team left the 1951 championship game as the loser.

"We felt that we were the better team," Hitch said.

The Wildcats had beaten Oklahoma A&M in a rough-and-tumble game to reach the championship game, and K-State was a hurting unit. Both Jim Iverson and Ernie Barrett, two of the team's top three scorers. were nursing injuries suffered the game before. The two combined to shoot 21 percent, or 5-for-24, and totaled only 11

The injuries, predominantly Barrett's, changed the course of the game.

And the players, especially Stone, "He (Barrett) didn't do shit in that game," Stone said, laughing. "It was a tough blow."

A blow that Barrett had to deal with.

"That night," Barrett said, "it just wasn't

The team's loss, however, wasn't enough to take away the memories that had already been made. And those memories hold a special place in the hearts of the 1950-51 K-State

"It was an experience I will cherish forever," Hitch said.

The Days of Discussion

For a time, the Big Eight considered expansion

DAVID SVOBODA

In the search for increased national exposure for its football programs, the Big Eight considered many options ranging from regional television to creating an alliance with another conference.

The need to boost the conference's football visibility came on the heels of the College Football Association's announcement it had signed a lucrative deal with national network television in 1990.

Immediately, conferences were sized up by the number of TV households within their sphere of influence.

Soon, it was common knowledge the Big East was a tiger among kittens, drawing 20 percent of the nation's TV sets.

The Big Eight fell in line as one of the kittens, with a draw of only 8 percent.

But it wasn't the small numbers that worried Big Eight athletic directors. According to University of Kansas Athletic Director Bob Fredericks, politicking and posturing by the Southeastern conference, a CFA member, was shaking the association's foundation for the

"The SEC began making noises about the contract being unfair to it," Fredericks said. The SEC is one of the largest members of the CFA, barely behind the Big

"The CFA couldn't afford to lose such an important conference," Fredericks said. 'So the SEC was given a higher percentage of TV appearances." In such a scenario, the losers are the smaller conferences, like the Big Eight. Despite the blow, Fredericks said he understood the CFA's decision. "If this wasn't done, maybe a subsequent CFA contract might be put on shaky ground," Fredericks said. "If the SEC decides in 1993 or '94 that they will do their own deal, the CFA stands to lose a lot of money." Something had to be done. A contingency plan had to be created to deal with such a move. That's when the Big Eight began to talk about adding teams or creating an alliance with another conference. After appeasing Oklahoma's revenue needs with the new TV revenue sharing formula, negotiations for a football alliance began between the Big Eight and the Southwest conference.

Ironically, it may have been the Southwest conference's meddling with the Oklahoma Board of Regents that set Oklahoma's greedy binge in motion.

"I don't doubt at all that the pressure on Oklahoma's grumblings was coming from their Board of Regents after they heard from the SWC," said K-State President Jon Wefald, who serves as the chairman of the Association of Big Eight

Contrary to popular belief, negotiations with the SWC never drifted toward a total merger, Fredericks said. "Merger is not an accurate term in this instance," Fredericks "The talks centered entirely around creating an alliance for football purposes. Meanwhile, the SWC was experiencing what the Big Eight narrowly avoided - the desertion of a vital member.

When Arkansas abandoned the Southwest conference, it left as the conference's oldest, most successful and most visible "When Arkansas left, it really came out of the blue," said Forrest Gregg, Southern Methodist University's athletic director. "There was a lot of talk about the possibility for Arkansas to leave, but I don't think there was a really strong danger of it ever happening. It was just a possibility, that's all." Gregg said the progression of talks between the Big Eight and the SWC was predictable. "Lots of things were happening at the time," Gregg said. "The Big third of a series

10 added Penn State, the Big East added teams. "Television was a big reason for all of it. We began to work out our options, too, and the thing that made the most sense was something between the Big Eight and the SWC. K-State Athletic Director Milt Richards said the SWC's 8percent share of the TV market included the Dallas and Houston markets, which made it attractive to the Big Eight — to a point. "Of course, the Big Eight was looking for more television sets, were there considerations," Richards said. "Would we want some kind of alliance for the other sports also?

"I think the answer would have to be no. There really wasn't anything else to be gained from the Southwest conference other than a football alliance, since that would double our television market."

When the Southwest conference began talking of a Big Eight-SWC men's basketball series, talks stalled and haven't progressed much since then.

"Everyone in this conference is working on their basketball programs right now," said Gregg of the SWC.

When our schools play the Big Eight, we get some of our biggest non-conference crowds of the year.

See BIG 8 page 7

BIG EIGHT MIGHT-HAVE-

AIR FORCE

BEENS

PRO: Good Colorado complement. Strong athletic program.

CON: Devoted Western Athletic Conference member.

COLORADO STATE

PRO: Good Colorado complement. Rising football program that is making bowl appearances. CON: Lagging in other athletic programs.

HOUSTON

PRO: Would rake in a large TV market. High national visibility in football and basketball.

CON: Distance from other Big Eight members. Already a member of Southwest conference. Constant probation woes. Academic programs not as strong as other Big Eight members.

UMKC PRO: Set in middle of a large regional TV market. Budding basketball rivalries with current Big Eight CON: Smaller school with too few athletic programs. Just completing move from NAIA to NCAA Division 1.

Routine bowl game participant. Common Big Eight Small school with only 4,000 students. Would be the third Oklahoma school. Two's company; three's a PRO: Strong athletic programs in basketball and football.

DEPAUL PRO: An independent in search of a conference, DePaul has strong athletic traditions in many sports. Strong academic tradition compatible with Big Eight schools. Adds a large Chicago TV market.

CON: No football program. A private school, it would be the only one in the conference. Relatively distant from Colorado, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State.

LADY CATS BASKETBALL

Lady Cats ready to avenge loss to Hawks

While one emotionally charged and chaotic intrastate game tips off Saturday in Manhattan, K-State and the University of Kansas fans can have a double dose of intrastate excitement when the Lady Cats and the Lady Hawks meet in Allen Fieldhouse Sunday at 2 p.m.

"If the men are clicking, it tends to help you get focused," said Associate Head Coach Sue Doran. "It doesn't matter what the standings are. It's a heck of a war. The adrenaline flows no matter how many times you have played them before.

"I think it will be a good game. It's always a fun game."

Coaches and team players alike are ready for another matchup with KU and the hype for the men's game amplifies the rivalry - even for the women's game.

LADY CATS VOLLEYBALL

"I think it could really carry over. All the atmosphere gets you pumped up for the game," said senior center Jennifer Grebing.

In practices however, the focus hasn't been on the No. 18 Lady Hawks, who sport a 20-4 overall record and a conference-leading 9-2 "We are concentrating and focusing totally on us," Doran said. "We are going back to the basics. We are concentrating on the little things on the floor and not worrying about KU.

"It's a natural rivalry. It isn't a game you have to build up excitement for.

K-State still claims the series edge with a 37-21 lead and has a 15-11 advantage in games played in Lawrence.

"I think the team feels comfortable about playing at Allen. One of the first things you see when you walk into the fieldhouse is a sign that says 'Beware of the Phog,'(a sign referring to Phog Allen for whom the fieldhouse is named) but I don't think that walking in there affects us," Doran said. "If the team works hard and executes well, we as a coaching staff will walk off the court pleased."

The Lady Cats remember their 82-52 loss Feb. 2 to KU in Bramlage Coliseum, but they also hope that KU hasn't forgotten

"She (Coach Washington) will really be pumping them," Grebing "We can jump on that and turn that into our favor," Grebing

KU's freshman forward Angela Aycock garnered 22 points, 5 rebounds and 4 steals against K-State to earn Big Eight Player of the Week honors the following week. KU's 44-28 domination of the boards and three Lady Hawks scoring in double figure clinched the Lady Cat shellacking.

Senior guard Mary Jo Miller scored 11 points, while junior Leah Honeycutt had nine points and nine rebounds. While the season is approaching a close. Miller said she thinks the team still has an opportunity to play well.

"We have nothing to lose. We can still go out and prove to the Big Eight teams and others that we are competitive," Miller said. "Hopefully we will have the fans to support us (at Allen). I think that we can still put some good games

Big 8

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

"When Oklahoma State played us here in Dallas, it was our biggest crowd of the year."

When the talks stalled, the Big Eight turned its attention elsewhere. One possible move would have been to add another school to the league, Richards said.

Sure, there was the push to add some teams," Richards said. "Air Force, Colorado State, Houston, could any of them add to the conference? The answer is probably "The Air Force would probably never leave the Western Athletic conference, Colorado State isn't really all that compatible with the Big Eight..

bunch of television sets in the Houston area, but they still weren't all that viable.

"I'm not sure it would make any sense to add anyone, personally." Associate Athletic Director in charge of Finances Jack Keys agreed. "Going to an odd number would create so many additional minor problems, in the end, it might not even have made sense to make the move." For now, the Big Eight-SWC football alliance will continue to simmer on a back burner while the Big Eight schools work on beefing up their football programs and nonconference schedules.

"If anything positive could be taken from this experience, it could be that the schools are scheduling tougher, bigger-name nonconference opponents," Keys said.

The SWC is doing the same thing, Gregg said.

'We're all working out our non-"Houston could add a whole conference schedules for football and men's basketball," Gregg said.

> "But we're really trying to schedule a lot more Big Eight opponents."

Hagemeyer signs five to letter-of-intent

PATRICK OBLEY

Five volleyball players signed national letters-of-intent to play for Patty Hagemeyer's Lady Cats Monday morning.

Hagemeyer, who finished her first season as volleyball coach with a 10-19 overall record and a 1-11 Big Eight mark, said the five she recruited were the five best players her staff was recruiting.

"We took all the players we were actively recruiting and ranked them according to what we thought was most important," Hagemeyer said. "From that list, we offered scholarships to those top five and we were able to sign each of them."

The five are Chi Dau, a 5-foot-6 setter from Allef, Texas; Jill Dugan, a 6-0 middle-blocker/hitter from Grand Island, Neb.; Suzanne Hagge, a 5-10 middle-blocker/hitter from Clinton, Iowa; Amy Kleweg, a 5-11 middle-blocker/hitter from LaGrange, Ill.; and Heather Zoerner, a 5-10 middle/outside hitter from Houston, Texas.

players exclusively.

Hagemeyer said she had a total of six scholarships to offer. The one scholarship she didn't use this year

"We're very happy with the five players we signed," Hagemeyer said. "We went out looking for five kids who know what it takes to win, want to work hard and know what it will take to make an impact in the to stay at the top in that area also."

BASEBALL

Cats host Fort Hays in '92 home opener

Clark hopes team continues torrid offensive display

PATRICK OBLEY

After proving they could hit the ball, the K-State baseball players will hope to prove they can hurl the dangblasted thing as well.

The Cats will play Fort Hays State twinbill at 1 p.m. Sunday in their home opener at Frank Myers Field.

The Cats opened the season with a three-game stand at Arkansas last weekend, hitting at a .337 clip that led to 27 runs. Unfortunately, the Cats pitching staff gave up 30 walks, 40 hits and 45 runs.

K-State left Fayetteville with just one win in tow, winning the opener 18-13 before losing the final two games 13-0 and 19-9.

Heading into Thursday's practice, Cats coach Mike Clark said he was still undecided on who would be tabbed as the starting pitchers, but he did say progress was being made to correct the mound woes.

"I expect our pitchers to come back strong after Arkansas," Clark

As far as offense is concerned, wasn't a fluke.

"I'd like to see our offense stay solid," Clark said.

"Since this is a double-header,

Stars from the Arkansas stand

Fort Hays, which will be opening its season with the twinbill,

Senior Brad Haynes is the leading returner for the Tigers. The catcher-designated hitter had a .336 batting average last season with 20

Senior shortstop Randy Beck also returns for the Tigers after a

Hagemeyer said her staff wasn't consciously going after out-of-state

We did actively pursue Kansas players," Hagemeyer said. "This year there were several Kansas players we wanted, but when we began ranking recruits, we went with the five we ultimately signed."

will be used at a later date, she said.

Big Eight.

"All of the members of this class also have the capabilities to provide the leadership that we need at this level," Hagemeyer said. "Most importantly, these kids all achieve academically, which will allow us said. "We've challenged our kids all week to go after people and stressed getting ahead in the count."

Clark said he hopes the Cats can prove the strong Arkansas showing we hope to get a lot of players in the game."

include left fielder Brian Culp, who paced the Cats with a .700 batting average, 7 runs batted in, two doubles and two home runs, and senior shortstop Craig Wilson, who hit .538 with six RBI and three is coming off a 9-33 season under first-year coach Curtis Hammeke.

.310, 21-RBI campaign last season.

Above: Spectators and judges watch Nikki Mendoza perform her winning press during the third round of the weightlifting competition Thursday at the Rec Complex. Below: Brigitta Bruehl, lift judge, signals a clean press by showing a white card.

Destina wins bench press meet

STEVEN ROCK

The sweat poured from their bodies as they grunted in

The intramural bench press competition was Thursday night at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex, and Roland Destina, senior in electrical engineering, was crowned, or rather, shirted, Mr. All-University.

But the victory didn't come as much of a surprise to Destina. "I was expecting to do it," he said, wiping the sweat from his forehead. His championship lift of 400 pounds was accomplished, after an energetic grunt, in his second attempt. The crowd displayed its appreciation with a round of applause.

Destina, whose official weight was 184 pounds, overcame a rotator-cuff injury that, he says, prevented him from winning the competition a year ago. He placed second in that competition.

Not this year. He said the victory, witnessed by family members who traveled from Junction City, satisfied him. "I won overall," he said, "and that's what I was really shooting

Though he did finish with the best overall rating, Destina wasn't the only winner.

The lifters were divided into four weight categories, and the individual who scored the highest Schwartz rating in each division was declared the winner. The Schwartz rating is a method used to determine the strongest lifter per pound of body weight, said Steve Martini, associate director of recreational services.

Chuck Allen, senior in graphic design and advertising, won the men's 147-and-under division. Allen weighed in at 143 pounds. His final lift, which was followed immediately by applause from the viewers, was 320 pounds.

"I was pleased with the lift," Allen said, "because I did better than last year."

Allen, though, has bigger and better things in mind.

"Before I leave this place," he said, "I'm going to win All-University. Five men competed in the men's 158- to 177-pound division. Top honors, though, went to David Seigel, senior in wildlife biology. Seigel, whose best lift was 300 pounds, weighed in for the competition at 158 pounds. "I was pleased," Seigel said.

"After three years, I finally won

The final men's division was the 184-and-above weight class.

Destina, who weighed in for the division at 184 pounds, faced stiff competition.

One of his rivals, Craig Bunck, senior in mechanical engineering technology, weighed in at 230 pounds and contested Destina by lifting 440 pounds, the evening's top lift as well as his own personal best. Bunck's weight of 230 pounds, however, led to his lower Schwartz rating.

Oh my gosh, the Cats are using that dreaded T-word

DAVID SVOBODA

Funny word, this "tournament." Early on in this roller coaster season for the K-State men's basketball team, writers were using the word quite frequently in stories about a seemingly much-improved Wildcat squad.

"The Cats are NCAA bound," or so the refrain went.

Then the notes got sour, and the song all but stopped. Funny thing, but just as the notes sounded worst, and just as the a likely reality, but these players are needle was being ripped off the rotating disc, the one group that could keep the song from ending decided it liked the tune.

And, as the K-State players were coming to this rather profound realization, they began using the dreaded "T word" in interviews, not just among themselves.

Bolstered by the confidence gained in home wins over Colorado, Iowa State and Nebraska, and by a strong performance in a defeat at Missouri, this is now a group of young men using that T word without the tones of doubt in their collective voices that one might have the right to expect. And, yes, K-State would have to do the seemingly impossible - rip of wins in four of its last five games to make the NCAA tourney trip beginning to believe that's possible.

And that, my friends, is progress. A little more than three weeks ago, this team had its dobber down so low that even the fish on the ocean floor weren't taking a look. It hurts to be constantly looking by But buoyed aforementioned success — though it came on the team's home floor and has yet to be heightened in a hostile climate — the group began to expand its collective chest just a

This group of budding Charles Atlas types finally decided that sand didn't have too nice a taste to it.

Whether or not this team has dug itself too great a hole already remains to be seen. Yes, wins over

Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma State at home will be hard to come by. And road wins at Colorado and Nebraska — two of the toughest places in America for anyone to win may be even tougher to get.

But the fact remains that the players are finally believing they have a chance in these games.

Coach Dana Altman, admittedly puzzled by the way his team has played all year, has no clue whether the team he's seen show up at home in the three Big Eight wins will show up for any of the remaining five conference games.

He's just concerned, right now, with making sure his team makes continued progress. Just as it seems to be building momentum, a disappointing road loss like the one at Oklahoma rears its ugly head. So, while Altman tries to do his best to shake up his unit by hurriedly scribbling Xs and Os and giving impassioned halftime speeches, the guys that can take those strategies and motivational talks and make them into something tangible have to be the ones who pull up their jocks and get it done.

And if talk is any indication, they've adopted that mentality. It may be a bit too late, but they've adopted it.

At Thursday afternoon's meeting with the media, senior point guard Marcus Zeigler talked about not wanting his college career to end with the end of the regular season and a loss in a first-round Big Eight Tournament tilt.

He wants it to end, he said, in a postseason tournament: the NCAA's big dance, or the NIT. It makes no difference, just as long as the Wildcats are playing in mid- to late March. That's the only attitude this team can adopt right now: balls to the wall and no looking back. This season has already been so disappointing that the failure to get into the tournament could not be any worse than the several failures of this year have been collectively to this point.

And the outcome, should a tournament berth come to pass, will be the greatest high of the year.

It's an outcome only the players can attain for themselves, and it's about time they've finally realized that and liked what they've been

It's just been a morsel, but a morsel is better than nothing.

And the song continues.

Vet uses acupuncture methods

J. KYLE WYATT/Collegian

Jeff Van Petten, a veterinarian from Meriden, demonstrates the use of acupuncture points on a horse to members of the KSU Horseman's Association Thursday night in Weber Arena. Van Petten uses acupuncture to diagnose and treat animals.

Technique treats animal respiratory. muscular, skeletal, reproductive problems

Petten said.

HOLLY CAMPBELL

The age-old, therapeutic technique of acupuncture has moved to the world of animal medicine.

Jeffrey Van Petten, acupuncture veterinarian from Meriden, uses acupuncture to treat many types of animals. The procedure Van Petten uses is based on techniques from Chinese cultures.

"The Chinese believe that there is

K-State students traveled to the University of Oklahoma Thursday for the Big Eight Conference on Black

Reggie McGowan, Upward Bound

McGowan said the conference will

Student Government this weekend.

director, said about 30 students will include programming to help participants become successful black students on a predominately white camdents a network throughout the Midwest and a sense of togetherness, said

Veryl Switzer, Black Student Union

"It's a sharing, learning experi-ence. It has tremendous meaning," he Shanta Bailey, junior in life sci-

"It's a very valuable experience because there are a lot of opportuni-ties at the conference," Bailey said.

Some features of the conference include workshops, a career fair and guest speakers addressing national issues pertaining to the black community as a whole, McGowan said.

ences and BSU president, said she attended the conference for the first co-adviser.

time last year.

The conference gives black stuattend the three-day conference.

a constant flow of energy throughout the body that begins at birth," Van Diseases can block the energy flow. By using needles at certain points on the body, the pain can be bypassed, and the energy is allowed to flow.

"There are 365 major acupuncture points on the body," Van Petten said. You can view the body as a system of pipes with water rushing through Workshops will address topics such as male-female relationships, leadership styles, stress management,

black greek organizations and raising organization effectiveness, Switzer west will get to know one another at scheduled social functions, including a step show and a gospel extravaganza, McGowan said.

Students attending from the Mid-

The conference will also be the location of a meeting of the Big Eight

"The points are valves and switches that can control the water flow."

Van Petten uses acupuncture on animals to treat a variety of problems, including muscular, skeletal, respiratory and reproductive problems.

He also does acupuncture on animals that need attitude modifications to relieve nervousness. Some owners use acupuncture for cosmetic pur-

One advantage of using acupuncture is that it eliminates the use of mastitis, an infection of the udder. cord and back to the needle.

The council is made up of a representative from the BSU organizations of each of the Big Eight schools. It meets once in the fall and twice in the spring, said Bailey, K-State's repre-

She said council members develop programs for implementation on campus and discuss current campus and support system that deals with prob-

During the year, the council is a regional issues.

With antibiotic, it would take about 48 hours before the cow's milk could be used again. But with acupuncture, they recover fully within 24 hours.

"The majority of the animals don't mind the procedure," Van Petten said. They feel a prick at the skin's surface, he said, but the insertion is not pain-

After the needles are inserted into the animal, an electrical stimulator is hooked up to the needles to send a Van Petten treats dairy cattle for current into the animal, to the spinal lems on the different campuses, Baitermine the effectiveness of the conference and help plan the event for the following year, McGowan said.

Council representatives also de-

9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Fri. 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Sat. 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

ley said.

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $5.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Exact change or checks only after 4:30 p.m. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon

FRIDAY for Monday's paper Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not after the value of the ad.

Announcements

BARTENDING 101, class starts March 30, 8:30- 9:30p.m. For more information see in Union March 13 or call 532-2519.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

MULTIENGINE FLIGHT training. ATP, Com-mercial, Private, and CFI ratings in HSI-equipped Twin Comanche. Call Hugh Irvin at 539–3128, 532-6311. NEEDED: CONTESTANTS for 1992-93 Miss Rodeo K-State. For more information call Shawna Stevens at 539–8633.

WEIGHT LOSS. Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guar-anteed! For more information call Phon-

Free hotdogs & nachos $1.75 WELLS ALL WEEKEND DJ Fri. & Sat.

irstBank Center 776-1515

Automobiles for Sale

1977 PONTIAC Bonneville good condition, runs great! Come take a look $1500 539-2074.

1981 FORD Escort Wagon runs good, asking $750 537-0280.

1984 ESCORT $425, sold as is. Call 539-3822.

1987 HONDA Civic Si 60K, sunroof, rear defrost. Many new componets. Must sell! 537-0405, ask for Jeff.

HORUMINED STANIES OF AMOUNT

It Pays To Be A Hero!

This coupon is worth $15.00 for new donors on your first and second donation within six days or if you have not returned within two months. For more information call the friendliest staff in town.

Call 776-9177 today for more details!

(Present this coupon and earn extra cash.)

Open Mon.-Thurs. Manhattan Donor Center

1991 GEO Storm GSI, 9,000 miles. Like new, loaded. Weekdays call 776-1031.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

Child Care

CHILD CARE Monday- Friday 3p.m.- 4p.m. Saturday four hours, Non-smoker, reli-able, own transportation, call 776-1270.

SEGATE ST-225, 20 meg hard drive with card $125, here. Monochrome monitor $80, citizen GSX-140, 24 pin printer $220, 539-6360.

Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to ap-proach any such amployment opportunity with reasonable caution.

$200- $300 For selling 50 funny college spring break t-shirts. Smaller/ larger quantities available. No financial obli-

$40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

number KS23KEB.
ATTENTION STUDENTS: Are you looking for a way to defray the high cost of a college education? By serving one weekend a month and two weeks in the summer you could quality for up to $28,000 in the Kansas Army National Guard! For more information about an exciting career and great benefits call 537-4108.

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539-3817.

COLORADO SUMMER Jobs: In the Rockies near Vail, Anderson Camps seeks caring, enthusiastic, dedicated, patient individuals who enjoy working with children in an outdoor setting. Counselors, Cooks, Wranglers, Riding Instructors and Nurses. Interviews on February 24th. Sign up, get application at Career Planning and Placement Office. Questions? Call us at (303) 524-7766.

DELIVERY DRIVER earn 45- 85 per day must have own transportation. Must know Manhattan area. Day and evening shifts available. Call for interview Fe-bruary 25- 26 539-5750.

FAST FUNDRAISING Program. Fraternities, sororities, student clubs. Earn up to $1000 in one week. Plus receive a $1000 bonus yourself. And a free watch just for calling 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 65.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913)

NEED CASH? We need students to stuff our sales circulars! Excellent wages-$3 per envelope! Start immediately! Send long S.A.S. Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157, Forked River, NJ 08731

1130 Garden Way

(continued on page 9)

Sign-up

Students to attend Big Eight convention

Feb. 24 - 27 Weber Hall &

8 a.m. - 4 p.m. at all locations

Informational Meeting Feb. 27

Little American Royal

Waters Hall Feb. 26 - 27 KSU Union

6 p.m. Weber Arena

Gille Caesans Phyma

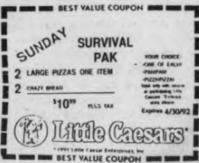

2 MEDIUM PIZZAS

LOCATED IN THE WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN

(OPEN DAILY AT 10:30 A.M.)

TERRIFIC TUESDAY

2 LARGE 1 ITEM PIZZAS LIMITED TIME OFFERVEXCLUDES EXTRA CHEESE

Alpha Zeta (AG Honorary)

Country Dance at Blue River Pub

Sat., Feb. 22 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Portion of proceeds go to fund Bone Marrow Drive.

TE NITE MISS KNOCKOUTS Congratulations and Good Luck!

Alpha Chi Omega Marlo Vaughan

Alpha Detta Pi Jeannie Calvert

Alpha Xi Delta Laurie Conyac

Chi Omega Theresa Gustin

Kappa Alpha Theta

Heather Lee

Delta Delta Delta Alissa Hopewell

Kappa Delta

Michelle Rogers

Malia Mense Карра Карра Данта

Kelli Cook

Gamma Phi Beta

Pi Beta Phi Melissa Berkley

Sigma Sigma Sigma Susan Huddleston

Come support your favorite knockout at SNOOKIES on March 18 and 25. Also at Sig-Ep Fite Nite April 2-5.

For Fite Nite tickets call 539-2387.

All proceeds benefit the American Heart Association

(continued from page 8)

AGTECH, INC.— a mail order supplier of Live-stock Production Supplies— requires an office assistant. Part-time the first four weeks then full-time M—F. Telephone order taking, picking/ packing, invoicing, order placing. Light product assembly and packaging; managing accounts payable and receivable. Qualifications: Fluent in Spanish and English. Excellent communication skills and phone manner; experienced with computer word-processing. Able to take instruction and work with minimal supervision. Knowledge of Cattle Embryo Transfer Procedure highly desirable. Submit resume by Feb. 26 to Mr. John Curtis, P.O. Box 1222, Manhattan, KS 66502.

ACCOUNTANT

Manhattan real estate firm has imme diate opening for one full time account ant. Duties include bookkeeping, finan cial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary com mensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Friday. Micri computer training and experience man datory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000 per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

TEMPORARY ACADEMIC counselor with university academic support/retention program. Responsibilities include student recruitment; conducting assessment of academic needs; academic, personal, social, financial, and career counseling social, financial, and career counseling and educational programming. Appointment effective immediately and lasts through May 17, 1992. Masters degree required preferably in Educational Counseling, Student Personnel, Social Work, or related area. Salary range: $23-25,000. Prior experience working with diverse populations at the college/ university level, minimum of three years. Ability to establish rapport with students, faculty and support staff essential. Candidates must demonstrate strong interdidates must demonstrate strong inter-personal and written communication skills. A high level of individual initiaskills. A high level of individual initia-tive and experience in an advocacy role is desired. Applications accepted until Friday February 28, 1992. Screening will start immediately. Send letter of appli-cation, resume, and names/ phone numbers of three references to: Dr. Anne Butler, Director, Educational Supportive Services, 201 Holton Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506. Kan-sas State University is an AA/ EEO em-ployer.

NOW HIRING over 40 people for Big Brother Big Sister Project. Need callers for morn-ing and evening hours. Good salary plus bonus. Apply February 25-26 9-6 p.m. 1124 Waters "One block off Anderson

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus. 1, 2, and 3 bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.

MAKE

ANDERSON PLACE

YOUR

HOME AWAY FROM HOME!

NOW LEASING

for 1992-1993

KSU Students

Both 1 & 2 Bedrooms

1/2 block from campus

Furnished & Unfurnished

Showings Every Thursday

3-4

1852 Anderson #17

THE CURTIN COMPANIES

776-8641

THE ONE WHERE

BARSTOOL AND MOVE

OVER BY A WOMAN!

I GET UP OFF MY

THE UNIVERSITY of Kansas Medical Cen-ter has an opening for an industrial Hy-gienist in our Center for Occupational and Environmental Health. Requires NICE ONE and two-bedroom apartment with great prices. Available immediately. 537-2919, 537-1666 and Environmental Health. Requires Masters Degree in Preventive Medicine or Industrial Hygiene. Board Certified or eligible in Industrial Hygiene, experience in educational programs and in the practice of industrial hygiene. Prefer PhD, Certified Industrial Hygienist, prior university or governmental experience and experience in research. Position will provide full service industrial hygiene on and off campus as well as other related duties. Please send resumes to: H. William Barkman, MS, MSPH, Director, 1034 Breidenthal Bldg, KUMC, Kansas City, KS 66160. An Equal Opportunity Affirmative Action Employer For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

NEAR KSU for August, nice house 4-5 bed-room for five people, $170 each. For June two-bedroom basement apartment, same house, $140 each. Prefer seven good friends for entire house. Also, one-bedroom for June and August $285. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

COME SEE Lee Crest Apartments 1122 Kearney Apt #8, Saturday Feb. 22, 11a.m. to 2p.m., Sunday Feb. 23, 1:30 to 4p.m.. Four buildings right by campus. Large furnished one-bedrooms.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1, Professional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

NICE ONE and two-bedroom apartment with great prices. Available immediately. 537-2919, 537-1666

ONE- BEDROOM apartment one block from University 539-2857 or 539-0410.

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS: ·Built in late 1990; Avail June5,

Aug.5 New GE Kitchen Appliances including microwave and ceiling

 Economical Gas 'Heat ·Designed with the KSU student in

1 bert TED 80 2 RE um $484

•2 bedroom plus study. 11/2 bath $576 •3 bedroom plus study,

2 bath $728 OFFICE:

2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (across from Bramlage) Call Roy at 537-7007 for an appointment

Jim's Journal

Geech

OK, I'M GONNA

MAKE MY MOVE.

Today Ruth showed It was a sign me the thing she made with the felt she bought.

that she made for her friend Janet.

MOVE?

It said, "A true friend is the greatest gift of all."

She explained how she gived the felt, some sparklers, and other things all together.

By Jim Dikkers

By David Swearingen

Off the Mark

Calvin and Hobbes

Shoe

RIGHT! BEING YOUNG AND IMPRESSIONABLE, I'M THE HELPLESS VICTIM OF COUNTLESS BAD INFLUENCES! AN UNWHOLE-SOME CULTURE PANDERS TO MY UNDEVELOPED VALUES AND PUSHES ME TO MALEFICENCE.

By Jeff MacNelly

SERIOUS STUDENT, large one-bedroom. Heat, water and trash paid,air condition. Available March 1 $255. Lease, no pets. SLEEPING ROOM. One block from university. Call 539-2857 or 539-0410.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENTS southeast of campus for 1992-93 school year. Available August 1, 1992. Call 539-7277. After 5p.m./ weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804

Leasing Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

10 For Rent-Houses

THREE LARGE bedroom for three or four students. Next to campus. Washer, dryer, central air. Available Aug. 1, $720/month 537-8543.

11 For Sale—Houses

BUY FOR less than it costs to rent: two-bed-room house with income producing base-ment apartment, one mile from campus. Call 537-0505 or 776-7199.

13 For Sale—Mobile Homes

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two

SHARP 14 wide two- bedroom mobile home, new paint, low payments with cash down. 15- home selection #187 Redbud, Countryside Brockerage 539-2325.

16 Lost and Found

Only found ads can be placed free of

FOUND: CHECKBOOK found in Cardwell Hall, claim in Mathematics, Cardwell

LOST, BROWN leather jacket. Tuesday in Cardwell. Reward offered. Please contact Brad Staver. 539–9276.

WOMAN'S JACKET found in Bluemont 101. Call Tom 532-6750 ext. 19.

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale

FOR SALE: 63cm Raleigh Prestige Road-bike, Suntour Cyclone 7000 compon-ents. Excellent condition. 532-3472, ask for Terry. TREK 7000 Aluminum Ridden twice. Must $450, 539-1926 (day). Ask for Britt 537-1751 (night).

19 Music Musicians

FIRST TENOR and Bass alternate wanted for vocal group. Good pay. 776-4999 and ROLAND JAZZ Chorus 120 Guitar Amp. $375, Washburn Guitar $225, Gorilla Amp. $45 776-6524 Todd.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a ADPTS: THIS past week was absolutely the best, we did alot of drinking and I didn't get much rest. But that's o.k. cause we had too much fun, don't forget the Phi Tau's and poopin' on the run. Making cookies, eating breadsticks, a ride home from Kite's, now didn't we prank call boys on one of those nights? I won't for-get our time together, you all made me feel at ease, just next time you see me will ya "flip me a piece of cheese!"? Thanks for everything- Izuki aka "G".

AHHH DELTA; Delta Delta Delta: See you Sunday at 8:30 in the p.m. -Love- your secret admirers.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY Dave. Have a whiskey on us. Collegian Staff.

MARISA- CONGRATULATIONS on your in-ternship with Jane Pauley! May all of your dreams bloom like daisies in the sun...Love, your roomie.

MELISSA R.- You only have one wish Missy, so which one will it be? A stroll by the stream as your board suggests, or the invitation from the stacks as the ad requests? Hmmm. Happy Birthday.- Sue.

SCREAMER: WAITING for your day as we wait patiently for May; with excitement you've nearly burst, now Happy 21stl So put away that fake ID, you can get in legally! AJ

TO: "THE men on homecoming" Delts and Fijis, the balloons were great, the video was too, so here's the message from us to you. You've convinced us, you are the best, so pick Alpha XI and forget the rest. Fuzzy love, "The women on homecoming."

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

DACHSHUND, RED, male miniature, seven weeks old and ready for new home. Price negotiable. Call 776-1386.

dealer

abbr.

1 Office

Crossword

1 Erstwhile Turkish 6 "Fat farm" 9 Sailor 12 It's for seeing a hearing 45 Meal 13 Pick a target 14 Eggs, to Caesar 15 Most of Iberia 16 Praise too much 18 Brick-layer's tool 20 Beeper 21 Suitable 23 Nevertheless

ACROSS

24 Bivouac

25 Actor Cobb 27 Bunches of bits 29 Show off structures

31 "Trick or treat" charity 35 Reef stuff

37 Queens diamond? 38 Comedy and tragedy,

41 Wire unit ment: 43 Wall St. abbr. wheeler-2 Cleo's slayer 3 Splash in 44 Johnson of "Laughdrops 4 '60s Broadway musical equip-

Camera*

17 Essay

47 Serving dish 49 Engine 6 Football 52 Author twopointer Deighton 7 Tablet 53 Business letterhead

54 Where the 9 Mounted 10 Out in action is 55 Finis the 56 Larry's pal open 57 Scatter 11 Farm buildings DOWN

Solution time: 26 mins.

Yesterday's answer 2-21

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away— Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537-7795.

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537–7294.

ECS OFFERS laser quality typesetting for re-ports, these, resumes, etc. Math, scien-tific, foreign character support. Style, grammar checking available. 776-6687.

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.- 8p.m.

UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for pa-pers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice

24 Roommate Wanted

$100 CASH to first person to move into nice two-bedroom apartment. One more fe-male roommate. Available immediately. For details 539–5366.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, middle of May- July partially furnished apartment, two-bedroom $190 per month 539-8041 leave message.

FEMALES TO share one-bedroom apartment close to campus. One block from Ag-gieville. Low Utilities. Call 537-2919 or 537-4452. MALE, PRIVATE bedroom, first floor, 1011

Laramie, washer & dryer, $190 a month plus utilities. Call Scott, 537-5061. UPPERCLASSMAN OR graduate preferred non-smoking female roommate to share two bedroom duplex, Call 776-0402.

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.- 5p.m. Monday through

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

WANDERING HEARTS Video Dating Service

Want to meet NEW and interesting people? call Janice or Kelli 539-3003

Chiropractic Family Health Center

Maybe it will go away!! Yeah..right.

Don't Suffer Call Today! 537-8305

PREGNANT?

NEED HELP? For confidential

help call irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests 523 S. 17th Old Town Mall

1-800-848-LOVE

28 Sublease

19 Unit of flux

CHEAPI NEED female roommate to sub-lease May- July 31. $120/ month one-half block campus/ furnsihed. Call 537-8861.

SUBLEASE! ONE room in two-bedroom apartment. Large. Available end of fin-als. Bike to campus. $150/ month plus one-half utilities. Call Brian or Kevin 539-1598.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

WILL SELL round trip ticket to Orange Co., CA leaving Feb. 26, from KCl, returning Mar. 2. Call 539-8329, $100.

SUBLEASE MALE roommate. Own room

$115/ month plus one-eighth utilities. Walk to campus. Call 532-6750 ask for William or 539-9324 at night.

WISH TO buy one or two tickets for KU vs. KSU game. Call Paul, 776-2272. Please leave message.

30 Travel\Car Pool

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-

SPRING BREAK in Cancun five star Hotel on the beach. For more information call Mike or Anthony, 776–4712.

SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, townsville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

TO BE STUCK IN MANHATTAN: $104 DAYTONA BEACH $128

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND 5122 STEAMBOAT PANAMA CITY BEACH 5122 FORT LAUDERDALE °136 5119 HILTON HEAD ISLAND

MUSTANG ISLAND PORT ARANSAS DON'T WAIT 'TIL IT'S TOO LATE

Celebration! TOLL FREE INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS 1-800-321-5911

11th Annual

Stop at International Tours for all your spring travel needs.

555 Poyntz Ave. Colony Square P.O. Box 68 Manhattan, KS 66502 913-776-4756

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE, four gold Alby wheels with ne 14 inch tires. 532-2940.

FOR SALE: Beautiful wedding dress. Never worn, size 8, white taffeta. 539-3876. FOR SALE: Brand new car stereo/ tape deck. Loaded; anti-theft coding system, 18 presets, auto memory, tuner, APC, morel 776-4294 Randy.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

FOR SALE: VW Squareback brown seat covers. Best offer. 539–4915, 5:30–10p.m. WANTED TO buy a baby room monitor. Please call after 4:30p.m. Ask for Jackie 537-9480.

By Eugene Sheffer

subject magnetic CRYPTOQUIP

TSKG WHC CIAH NWD

WHC SWNSKC DSKXL CXGGKLKHTKN

HARD COPY!"

Today's Cryptoquip clue: H equals N treat? don'ts away Beatles leaf or syrup

Harold 40 Kiosk WNNXNDWHD Lorenzo

mailroom Yesterday's Cryptoquip: APPLICANT WHO FAILED THE EDITING TEST SAID ANGRILY, "IT WAS work

30 - and 32 Gab 33 Always 34 Adjective 36 Fine 38 Type of 39 Composer

42 Actor 45 Nevada IZD city 46 Do

48 Comical Conway 50 Indivisible

51 Untrained

Zoning board thwarts plans

Water run-off from parking lot would flow across adjacent property, city planner says

Pi Kappa Phi fraternity members were denied permission to build a 61member house after neighbors voiced their adamant opposition to the project.

Environmental concern prompted the Manhattan Board of Zoning Appeals to deny Pi Kappa Phi permission to build the expanded house, said city planner Steven Zilkie.

The previous fraternity house, located at 1716 Fairchild Ave., was damaged by fire June 29, 1991. The house accommodated a maximum of 37 people.

The new proposal included a house that would have increased live-in members by 24 and added a larger parking lot, Zilkie said.

Conditional Use in the Feb. 12 hearing based on concern about the negative environmental effects of reconstruction, especially that of increased water run-off from the additional parking lot, Zilkie said.

"The intensity of a 37 to 61 increase would have had a negative effect on the general welfare of the neighborhood," he said.

The added parking lot would have doubled volume of water run-off, and the water leaving the parking lot would have to cross adjacent private property."

The applicants made a proposal to The board denied permission for control run-off by creating a basin that would have directed most of the water into a neighbor's backyard, thereby eroding the property, said

James Koelliker, an expert witness. 'We had a solution, but it wasn't to the neighbors' or board's liking," said Mike Kallas, junior in geography and Pi Kap president.

"You can't tell how much rain is oing to fall in a predicted day or year. This is Kansas

Kallas said the fraternity met with neighbors to get their opinions about landscaping and any concerns they might have about reconstruction.

The fraternity has Conditional Use approval until April 20 to reconstruct a 37-occupant house on the Fairchild site, Zilkie said.

The Pi Kaps, however, would rather increase occupancy, Kallas said.

COLLEGIAN Display Advertising

532-6560

OPEN 5-10 DAILY

All you can eat Spaghetti Dinner! with Meatballs Bread

Only $3.95

This Week's Special ★Steak & Pasta 8 oz. Sirloin Steak served with Italian Bread, Salad, and your choice of pasta.

> $7.95 Choice of Pasta: Pasta Al Pesto Pasta Ala Carbonman Fettucine Al Fredo

537-8443 2304 Stagg Hill Rd

CATCH THE CATS ON OUR 6'x9

BIG SCREEN TV K-STATE vs. KU at 3 p.m.

Old Town Mall 537-1484

CLAFLIN Books & Copies

- Dissertation Copying 50% Cotton Bond 8¢
- Desktop Publishing
- Childrens reading (Sat. 10:30 a.m.)
- Resumé

Open Every Day M-F 8 a.m.-9 p.m. Sat. 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Sun. Noon-9 p.m.

1814 Claflin

(corner Denison & Claflin) 776-3771

Wayne's World' provides comic relief

ERIC MELIN

Everybody understands the economy is in a recession. Times are tough, and the future sometimes looks damn bleak.

Wouldn't it be nice to forget it all and go see a good comedy at the Well, let's have a look around town. There's that laugh riot, "JFK," I've heard so much about. Then there's the uplifting funnyfest, "Juice."

And for some mile-a-minute jokes, there's Sean Connery's wacky "Medicine Man."

Jesus, that's depressing. Then along comes "Wayne's

This may be a movie with a predictable, stale plot and a lot of really bad acting, but I'll be darned if it ain't Saturday Night Live stars Mike Myers (not the killer guy from "Halloween") and Dana Carvey play those crazy, lovable metalheads Wayne and Garth in their first feature film. The "plot" revolves around an evil corporate takeover and Wayne's unconditional love for a metal chic in

Rob Lowe plays the two-faced Hendrix's "Fire." business executive who takes the boys' public access cable show to the big time. Of course, the big time means not only larger paychecks, but also selling out.

Lowe does the best he can with the worst part in the film. He's never given anything funny to say, so his only purpose is to advance the plot. But he is nowhere near as bad as Carrere can't act or sing. Her band in the movie plays horrendous covers of Sweet's "Ballroom Blitz" and Jimi

Tia Carrere, who plays Wayne's girl-

Although these scenes aren't played for a comic effect, they are funny. But enough nitpicking. "Wayne's World" may not be the

'Naked Gun" or "A Fish Called Wanda" of the 1990s, but it may very well be our generation's "The Sound

The bottom line here is "Wayne's World" is a successful comedy, which means that despite its flaws, it can make you laugh. Just like Julie Andrews.

Let's just thank Wayne and Garth for not trying to sing, too.

tight trousers.

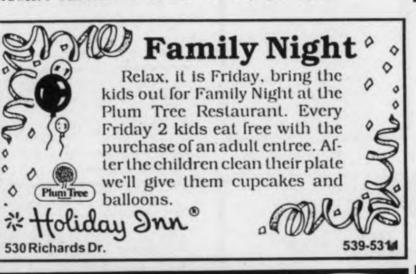

1122 Moro

- Elections Committee Members
- · Elections Committee Chair
- Athletic Ticket Sales Committee Members
- Athletic Ticket Sales Committee Chair
- E.O.F. Committee Members

Applications available in the &C& office (ground floor in the Union) Due by 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21, 1992

Come in and try Burgandy's new menu and on Sundays we will serve you a complimentary flaming dessert prepared tableside. * Holiday Inn

530 Richards Dr.

539-5311

Manhattan Civic Theatre presents

February 14, 15, 16 & 21, 22, 23 8 PM Friday & Saturday, 2 PM Sunday Wareham Opera House, 410 Poyntz

For Reservations call 539-6000 $8 Adult, $7 Senior/Student, $4 Child MC/VISA Box Office Hours 11 to 3, Mon - Sat

Friday

Free Macho Nachos 5-7

$1.75 Margaritas

Saturday

OPEN 11 a.m.

J-Hawk Shots $1.50

$2,000 Graduate scholarships and $1,000 Awards for undergraduates engaged in full-time study.

Any eligible senior member of Kansas State University's Phi Eta Sigma may apply for one of the graduate scholarships. For the undergraduate, the member must be nominated by Any eligible member of Phi Eta Sigma should promptly get in touch with the President at 539-1476 and leave a message for an application.

THE LOCAL DEADLINE IS FEBRUARY 25, 1992.

Friday, Feb. 21 @ 9:30 p.m.-1:30 a.m. Blue River Pub

Single Admission, $3.00, Couples, $5.00

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

WEATHER - PAGE 2

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 103

Engineering fee finances wind tunnel

Purchase increases understanding, provides better computer capability

PAM HANSON

The Department of Mechanical Engineering has purchased a $33,000 wind tunnel that will allow more accurate force measuring capabili-

The new self-contained wind tunnel was purchased with money generated from the engineering equipment fee.

The fee, which was instituted last year, is $100 a semester for each engineering student.

The total dollars from the fee are split and go to individual engineering departments, facilities and projects for the purchase of needed equipment and supplies.

"It's important for our department to stay competitive," said Tim Schumacher, senior in mechanical engineering.

Students in mechanical engineering work with the tunnel doing research and class assignments. Students in other engineering departments may use the wind tunnel for their experiments and research when needed, said Allen Cogley, professor and head of the mechanical engineering department.

"It's nice to see the benefits of the $100," said Andy Hawkins, senior in mechanical engineering.

The new wind tunnel will provide many more benefits than the old one.

"It's definitely 100-percent better than the old one and has much better control and instrumentation," said Mohammad Hosni, assistant professor of mechanical engineer-

"The tunnel helps the students not only understand aerodynamics, but also with helping them with the basics of fluid dynamics," Hosni

The old wind tunnel had wind capability of 50 mph. The new wind tunnel has a capability of 150 mph, and it a has a larger test section, Cogley said.

The tunnel has computer data acquisition capability, in which the data comes off in digital form to be entered directly into computers. This allows more reliable readings.

The tunnel will provide much more accurate control of air velocity, Cogley said, and the new wind tunnel allows the speed of wind to be changed during use.

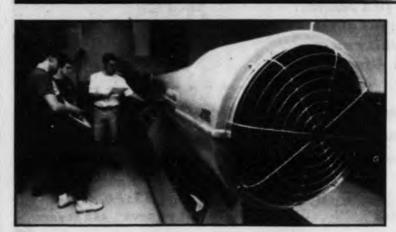

The old tunnel was purchased during the 1940s, Cogley said.

Some of the research that will be done with the tunnel includes aerodynamics and fuel efficiency of automobiles, trucks and aircraft; air conditioning and ventilation; and

See WIND Page 3

PHOTOS BY BRIAN W. KRATZER/Collegian

Mark DeVries, senior in mechanical engineering, tightens a screw that holds a model F-16 in the engineering department's new $35,000 wind tunnel. DeVries and his two classmates, Andy Hawkins, left, and Tim Schumacher, right, both seniors in mechanical engineering, were testing objects with windspeeds of 90 mph. Eight people are enrolled in Dynamics of Flight.

Pentagon study reveals internal damage to Iraq

Infrastructure hit harder than expected: technology ineffective

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DESERT STORM

NEW YORK - A Pentagon study revealed allied torces during the Gulf War bombed Iraq's civilian infrastructure far more heavily than intended, a newspaper reported.

According to a draft study, there was a breakdown in communicating targeting guidelines to some air units that ultimately relied on outdated guidance in selecting targets, the New York Times reported Sunday.

The study also showed allied forces used unsecured radio equipment, enabling the Iraqis to eavesdrop on and track down pilots and that intelligence and mine-sweeping operations were less effective than thought, the newspaper said.

The chief strategy behind the air campaign was to maim Iraq's command structure and military without doing long-term damage to the country's civilian infrastructure.

Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf said early on that the air attacks were designed to make sure that civilians did not suffer unduly.

The raids, however, did enormous damage to power plants, causing the shutdown of sewage treatment and water purification plants, and slowed medical services after the war, the

While the report justifies the attacks by naming their military benefits, it acknowledges that greater damage was done to Iraq's electrical network than planned, the Times said.

The report reached these conclusions, according to the newspaper.

- The number of aircraft capable of carrying precision-guided munitions was limited, and the Air Force said that only 10 percent of the bombs used in the Gulf War were so-called smart bombs. Many targets were hit by conventional bombs.

The Iraqis were better equipped to lay mines than the United States was able to clear them out. Two American ships, the Princeton and the mineclearing operation's flagship, the Tripoli, were seriously damaged by

- Intelligence wasn't shared in a timely fashion. For instance, aerial photos of Iraqi targets didn't reach the ground troops assigned to attack them. And the Saudis restricted access to Iraqi military defectors under their

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Program faced with instructor reduction

SARA JAAX

Collegian

staff reduced from three to two fac-

The proposed cuts would go in effect for the 1992-93 school year, said Harold Nichols, head of the speech department.

Two dance staff positions will be open next year. The College of Arts and Sciences is deliberating whether to eliminate one of the two positions because of budget cuts, he said.

An announcement concerning the possible reduction in staff was supposed to have been made Friday, but the College of Arts and Sciences postponed making a decision until early this week, Nichols said.

"With such a small staff, a reduc-K-State may soon find its dance tion really diminishes what you can do," he said. "With three faculty, and one person goes, it's hard to pick up the slack."

Dance students submitted a petition Wednesday requesting the College of Arts and Sciences to carefully consider the effect cuts would make on the dance program, said Michael Townsley, senior in dance.

"The loss of an instructor wouldn't cripple the program, but the quality would drop a whole bunch," Townsley

Peter Nicholls, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, could not be reached for comment at press time.

Prize drawing for blood donors increases interest at end of drive

Ward said contest helped bloodmobile to reach daily goals

The possibility of winning several prizes apparently sparked the interest of blood donors Thursday and Friday.

After not reaching their goals for the first two days of the KSU Bloodmobile, the American Red Cross decided to offer prizes to donors. The names of donors from Tuesday through Friday were entered into a drawing for the prizes.

The four-day bloodmobile received a total of 1,028 units, more than 300 units short of their 1,400-unit goal. Although the daily goals of 350 units were not reached Tuesday and Wednesday, they were reached Thursday and Friday.

Tim Ward, student chairman for the bloodmobile, said he is assuming the prizes were the biggest reason for the increase in donations in the last two days.

The winner of the VCR was Curtis Janke; the TV, Gary Stuchlik; the K-State-KU basketball game tickets, Amy Washburn; and the Carlos O'Kelly's gift certificates, Cambi Colley and Amy Davis. Janke, junior in criminal justice, said he donated blood because it is a big philanthropy for the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, of which he is a mem-

"I didn't even know I was going to win anything," he said.

Ward said if a representative of the American Red Cross would come to campus to give presentations to the residence halls and various other living groups participation would in-

"I think one of the things we're going to have to do is increase education," he said.

Ward also said he is looking into the possibility of having the fall bloodmobile in conjunction with homecoming activities to increase interest and participation.

FARRELL LIBRARY

Proposal discussed for 5 years

Regent introduced plan to increase levy 1.5 mills to finance addition

STEPHANIE FUQUA

A plan to increase the Educational Building Fund levy to 1.5 mills, which would finance the addition to Farrell Library, has been discussed by various individuals for nearly five years. However, it took a Kansas regent to finally propose it.

Regent Charles Hostetler, Manhattan, made a proposal to increase the levy from one to 1.5 mills at the Kansas Board of Regents' Feb. 21

"It's not that it hadn't been considered five years ago," said Brice

Hobrock, dean of libraries. "It's a matter of timing. It's just a matter of strategy."

Hobrock said he has been voicing his concerns about the Farrell for the last 10 years.

years ago? I started saying this 10 years ago," Hobrock said. "But if I say it is needed, it doesn't hold any water. There has not been a rational planning process for building. Buildings are built for political reasons. It took us that long to catch

"It's about putting together justifications. There were so many other priorities in the University that the necessary elements were not in place." University President Jon Wefald said he agrees the proposal has been discussed, but not acted upon until "This proposal has been talked about for years," Wefald said. "You'd have to ask the Legislature or the regents from five or 10 years ago why it wasn't proposed then. "What it goes back to is money.

There's only so much money to go around." Out of the fund, Wefald said, $145 million goes to maintain buildings, their repair and betterment. "That doesn't take into consider-

"Why was the addition not built 10 ation new buildings. One new building would drain the fund," he said. Wefald also said although there is now interest among the regents, it > the Legislature. "When they're debating property > might be hard to get the proposal past taxes, is it possible to get another half said. "Hopefully, they'll take the ball of a mill?" Wefald said. "People say and run with us, supporting us in OK for 1 mill. But then people get irritated when their property taxes go

"There will be controversy with it. People have been talking about it, but there is a lot of opposition.' Hobrock said this may not be the best time for it. 'We're in a climate of tax abatement. Maybe this is not the year to do it," Hobrock said. "The timing is based on, 'Let's go for it this year.' If we fail, we go back the next year and the next."

Hobrock said it takes planning, luck and outside interest to get new "It took us this much time to bring all our forces together. It also takes a strong student voice," Hobrock said. Hostetler said the proposal went over reasonably well at the meeting.

The next step is to put together a brochure diagraming all the building projects included in the package," he Hostetler will then take the brochures to the joint building committee in mid-March.

introducing the bill to the Legisla-

Along with the addition to Farrell, the proposal would finance the rebuilding of Hoch Auditorium at the University of Kansas and an addition to Murphy Hall, Hostetler said.

Wichita State University would build a new chemistry building and a central energy plant.

Emporia State University would use the finances to remodel its music hall and to build an electrical distribution system. Pittsburg State University would use the funds for a new technical center, and Fort Hays State University would build a new science

"It is a challenging endeavor, but I am optimistic," Hobrock said.

Hobrock said he is enthusiastic about the proposal, but warns students they also should be excited.

This proposal could move the whole project up three years," he said. "If it passes, we could get the go ahead as early as the 4th of July. That "Hopefully, they'll agree with us is a payoff that students in their best about the needs we have," Hostetler dreams couldn't have thought of.

Ostriches latest lucrative business

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBANY, Ga. - They are cheaper to raise than cattle. Their meat has the taste of beef, but not the cholesterol. And their hides can be stitched into $1,200 boots and $8,000 jackets.

Ostriches, the nation's latest alternative agricultural craze, are attracting droves of investors willing to stick their necks out on a bird that can't fly.

'We see a very lucrative business,' said Suzanne Shingler, who raises ostriches on an 800-acre farm near Albany in southwest Georgia.

"I think eventually, Europe and the world in general will be looking to the United States for skins, feathers and meat.'

Georgia breeders organized a state ostrich association last month, and the number of U.S. farms raising the long-necked, big-eyed birds is increas-

Ostriches are the biggest birds in the world. They are native to the deserts and plains of Africa. Males can reach a height of 8 feet and weigh up to 345 pounds.

What they lack in flying ability they make up for in footwork. Powerful legs and a 15-foot stride give them a top speed of 40 mph.

Scientists are studying the birds in Louisiana, Georgia, Oklahoma and Texas. Because of technological advances, breeders say they believe the United States has the potential to replace South Africa as the world's leading supplier.

Ostriches are valuable for their hides, feathers and meat.

But the ostrich population in the United States — estimated at 10,000-20,000 on about 2,000 farms — is still too small to support tanneries and slaughterhouses. Because of the bird more valuable than cow leather. shortage, ostriches are worth more alive than dead.

A pair of breeding birds cost from $45,000 to $60,000, and 3-month-old chicks sell for about $3,000. Ostrich hens lay an average of 50 eggs a year, each worth about $1,000.

Producers have said they think there should be enough ostriches in cally," she said. "We consider it an five to eight years to support a market alternative agricultural enterprise."

for meat, hides and feathers.

"We're still trying to get the population up there," Susan Adkins, director of the American Ostrich Association, said in a telephone interview from her Fort Worth, Texas, office. "There is an established market for our products.'

Texas is the largest producer, though there are ostrich farms in many other states, including Washington, California, Maine and Florida.

Ostrich hide is used to make $1,500 briefcases, $8,000 jackets and boots that sell for up to $1,200.

Each bird produces about $80 worth of feathers, which are useful in making feather dusters. Some Las Vegas showgirls wear ostrich feathers and little else.

The meat has the texture and taste of beef, with a little fowl taste mixed in. It is lower in cholesterol and fat, and higher in protein than beef.

The Cuyama Buckhorn restaurant in New Cuyama, Calif., a rural town about 150 miles northwest of Los Angeles, has been selling ostrich burgers since last summer. The burgers sell for $6.95 with french fries and salad.

The response was overwhelming," said Dave Rogers, manager and head cook.

Ostrich ranchers say the birds are more profitable than cattle.

A cow has a calf in nine months. The calf, slaughtered after about a year, yields up to 550 pounds of beef. plus a hide.

A pair of ostriches lay from 30 to 100 eggs a year. If only half survive, ranchers still get more than 20 birds. They yield about 100 pounds of meat each at 14 months, plus hides that are

In Louisiana, the number of producers has increased from about 50 last year to about 100, said Rosilyn Goodson Williams, a poultry specialist with the Louisiana Cooperative Extension Service in Baton Rouge.

"We've seen it multiply dramati-

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

FRIDAY, FEB. 21

At 1:35 p.m., a man's wedding ring was stolen from Vanier Football Complex. Loss was estimated at $700.

At 5:42 p.m., a domestic battery was reported in Edwards Hall. A subject was

At 4:11 p.m., a minor-damage, hit-and-run accident was reported in Lot B3W. transferred to Riley County Jail.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

At 4:30 p.m., Seth L. Shreefer, 408 Marlatt Hall, was arrested for battery and held in lieu of $500 bond.

At 4:50 p.m., Lisa Rupp, 418 Poyntz Ave., and Nicole Clark, 629 Moro St., No. 9, were involved in a major-damage injury accident at the intersection of Fourth and Moro streets. Clark was transported to Memorial Hospital for possible neck injuries.

At 11:05 p.m., a notice to appear was issued to Jason S. Mitchell, 522 Marlatt Hall, for minor in possession of alcoholic liquor in a city lot.

SATURDAY, FEB. 22

At 12:01 a.m., a notice to appear was issued to Jason S. Kenney, 1214 Vattier St., for possession of open container of cereal melt beverage on a city sidewalk.

At 12:30 a.m., a notice to appear was issued to Amy Michelle Hurst, 521 Ford Hall, for minor in possession of a cereal malt beverage at a drinking establishment.

At 1:20 a.m., a notice to appear was sued to Brian Lynn Virginia, 726 Moore Hall, for minor in possession of a cereal malt beverage in a private club. At 10:58 a.m., a terroristic threat and hone harassment report was filed. At 12:49 p.m., a rape report was filed. At 5:54 p.m., Marcus Miles, 608 Yuma St., No. 1, was arrested for possession of a controlled substance and drug paraphernaAt 8:35 p.m., a bicycle was reported stolen from Moore Hall.

SATURDAY, FEB. 22

lia. Bond was set at $500.

At 9:52 p.m., Blue Moon Waterbeds, 217 4th St., reported a burglary. Loss was

At 10:02 p.m., Supreme Elegance, 221 S. 4th St., reported a burglary. Loss was $150. At 10:02 p.m., Pro Copy, 223 S. 4th St., reported a burglary. Damage was $500. At 11 p.m., Morrison, Frost, and Olson, 323 Poyntz Ave., reported a burglary. Loss

At 11 p.m., Brown's Shoe Fit, 311 Poyntz Ave., reported a burglary. Damage to the business was $100. At 11 p.m., the Phone Connection, 311F ston St., reported a burglary. Loss was

At 11 p.m., Hospice and Home Care, 323 Poyntz Ave., reported a burglary. Damage to the front doors and other items in the iness was $300.

At 11:02 p.m., Sowell Tailors, 219 S. 4th, reported a burglary. Loss was $1,175. At 11:15 p.m., a phone harassment was

At 11:33 p.m., Manhattan Medical Supply, 323 Poyntz Ave., reported a burglary. ss was $350.

SUNDAY, FEB. 23

At 12:08 a.m., Vic's Phillips 66, 420 Houston St., reported a burglary. Damage to the

CAMPUS BULLETIN

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24

■ CHIMES Junior Honorary will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3. Business Student Council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 208.

Accounting Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union Big 8 Room.

French Table will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

Just Guys will meet at 7:05 p.m. in Union 203.

Career Planning and Placement Center will have a resume building workshop at 2:30 p.m. in Union 212.

Career Planning and Placement will have a resume building workshop 6:30 p.m. in Denison 220.

Human Ecology Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Justin 115. Student Gerontology Club will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Union Station.

Ad Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 207. Little American Royal sign-up will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Weber,

Waters and the Union lobbies.

Architecture and Engineering Services will sponsor an open forum for Iniversity architect candidates at 1 p.m. in Union 208.

Open Forum for assistant provost candidates will be at 3:30 in Union

PRIMO will meet at 9:30 p.m. in Union 202.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 25

SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207.

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory

on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Susan Taylor, editor of Essence magazine, will speak at 7 p.m. in Union Forum Hall as part of Black History Month.

CORRECTION

In the Feb. 17 Collegian, a headline mistakenly said "Israelis attack Iranian leader." The raid was on the motorcade of Sheik Abbas Musawi, the leader of the pro-Iranian group Hezbollah.

In a page 2 graphic of the Feb. 20 Collegian, it was mistakenly reported that the Dred Scott decision was made in 1877. The case was decided in

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

A 50-percent chance of light rain in the morning then mostly cloudy in the afternoon. High 45 to 50. North wind 15 to 25 mph. Monday night, decreasing cloudiness and colder. Low in the mid-20s

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

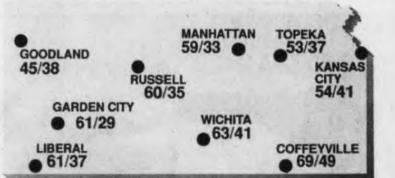

Partly cloudy . High in the mid-40s.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Wednesday through Friday: Dry with the highs in the 40s Wednesday. Highs in the 50s Thursday and Friday. Lows in the 20s Wednesday and Thursday. Lows in the 30s Friday.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Moscow	14/12	clear
Beirut	57/46	rain	New Delhi	72/46	clear
Daytona Beach	82/66	cloudy	Rome	57/34	clear
Hong Kong	63/54	clear	Vienna	45/36	rain

MOVIE POSTER SALE

The Largest Traveling Movie Poster Collection on the Planet

K-State Union 1st Floor Alcove 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. WK-State Union made with fresh deli meats or a hand breaded and baked fish sound? Howdy's offers just that plus quick friendly service. Most meals run under $5 including drink. Give ol' Howdy's a try!

"THIS IS THE WAY WE'RE DOIN' ER."

Located in the Wareham Hotel next to Harry's Uptown, 418 Poyntz

Serving Lunch Only Open 11 a.m. - 2 p.m.

Monday through Friday

Howdy's at Harry's Buy One Get - One Free

Buy one sandwich of equal or greater value and get one free. Expires March 30, 1992 418 Poyntz

FREE GUIDE TO SPRING BREAK '92

Professor's yard reflects love

BRIAN KRATZER/Collegian

Bob Clore, associate professor of art, constructs sculptures and places them in his yard. This is his largest piece, which stands at 10 feet and is painted with colors that complement the surrounding countryside.

Cowboy discovers art; chooses to teach sculpture over rodeo

BRIAN KRATZER

All the homes on Top of the World Drive share wide, rolling views of the Flints Hills.

From this high perch above northern Manhattan - where the driveways are long, the yards are spacious and privacy is found - there is one home with a yard that is an outdoor sculpture gallery.

This is the home of Bob Clore, associate professor of art.

"As you can see, I've got plenty of room to put sculptures around my home." Clore said while standing in his backyard. Tuttle Creek Reservoir can be seen across the valley from his yard.

"I took a leave from teaching for a year," Clore said. "It was part of my sabbatical, which I took in 1990, because I have always wanted to do large-scale work. There are certain limitations with space around school and my home."

"Not a lot of residences are covered with curious art."

Clore has been teaching art at K-State since 1970.

"I love art, I live art, I love to teach art," he said. "Many of the techniques I use, I also teach in my classes. That's important. Teaching the techniques I use can bring some of that knowledge back to younger students in so many ways.

'We don't live in one of the art centers of the world. It's important for us to bring the knowledge to

"I am pleased that K-State has put some emphasis on an art museum. That will make a big difference for the exposure of art to stu-

Clore's sculptural techniques vary greatly.

'All the outdoor sculptures are made of various kinds of steel," Clore said. "Some of the pieces are painted to develop colorations. The pieces out front have been allowed to rust naturally."

The painted sculptures play off the colors of the landscape.

The colors are complementary to the landscape colors," Clore said about his largest sculpture, which is placed prominently at the edge of a steep slope in the backyard.

"Since it was a large piece, I wanted it out there so people could see it, and I liked how it sets in the landscape," he said.

"I didn't build it for the location. It creates an illusion in space when the sun is reflected off the surface of stainless steel."

The piece is an example of the type of creative thought Clore puts into his work.

"The forms are various relationships of line, color and space," Clore said. "I'm not trying to show representational abstracts or specific symbolism."

There is one piece, however, that does have a particular theme.

Clore said this piece deals with elements of Kansas weather, specifically the tornado.

The base of the sculpture is a three-sided pyramid with a rusted chain looping into space from the tip. On one face of the pyramid, a portion of the steel has been peeled

"I intend to do other tornado series," Clore said. "They don't represent what would happen during a tornado; they show form of the force and tension.

"They try to go beyond the normal aspect of a tornado situation. There is a certain amount of illusion that happens in every single aspect of the piece."

Clore is more than an artist.

He attended Casper College in Casper, Wyo., on a rodeo scholarship. For 22 years, he rode bareback bronc and was a bull rider.

After Casper, he attended the University of Northern Colorado at Greeley. While there, he received a bachelor's in art education and a master's in sculpture and painting.

He then came to K-State, where he was an art instructor and the K-State rodeo team coach in the 1970s.

However, after numerous broken bones and other injuries, including a broken neck after one ride, Clore's contact with the sport of rodeo has turned to making handcrafted rodeo event awards.

He designs awards for highschool, college, and professional

Hearings, halfway houses conditions of parole procedure

Public comments Repeat offenders to be expressed about sex offenders

KRISTIN SCHMIDT

Collegian

Public opinions concerning the possible parole of two Riley County sex offenders will be taken by the Kansas Parole Board during its public comment sessions starting Feb. 24 in Kansas City, Kan.

Additional sessions will be Feb. 25 in Topeka and Feb. 27 in Wichita. There are three sessions in different parts of Kansas to make it more convenient for anyone to come speak about any of the potential parolees. Parole hearings for two men who committed crimes in Riley County, William F. Webb and Welton M. Harding, will occur in the first half of March, said Micah Ross, Kansas Parole Board Director. Webb pleaded guilty to aggravated incest in March 1990 and was sentenced to two eight-year terms of confinement on April 23 of the same year, said Tom Kilgore, coordinator of Riley County's Victim Assistance Program.

A charge was filed because of events that occurred between July and August of 1987. Webb was granted a two-year diversion with conditions including out-patient counseling and limitations on the people with whom he could associate, Kilgore said.

He said Webb violated his diversion when his daughter stayed with him at his home in the summers of 1988 and 1989.

"His ex-wife filed charges when she discovered the abuse had begun again," Kilgore said.

Webbhas no prior criminal record. Harding was sentenced to threeto-eight years imprisonment on charges of aggravated sexual battery in February of 1990, Kilgore said.

Charges arose from October 1989, when Harding allegedly forced his way into a casual acquaintance's apartment and attempted to rape her, Kilgore said.

Both he and the victim were injured when she tried to get away from him by diving through a closed win-

A police officer stopped Harding's car in the area of a reported violent jury and took him to a hospital for

"It was then discovered that he was a suspect in the attempted rape," Kilgore said.

Harding's arrest record began in See PAROLE Page 10 become issue as hearings approach

KRISTIN SCHMIDT

As Kansas Parole Board hearings approach, it brings to the forefront the issue of repeat criminal offenders.

"Many inmates continue criminal activity when they are paroled, but halfway houses and counseling may be helpful to their success in the outside world," said Earl Dreher, state parole officer.

Due to the high cost of maintaining a halfway house program, their use in Kansas is very limited, but success rates in such situations are promising, he said.

The program allows parolees much more freedom than was given in prison, but they are still closely super-

"Inmates don't need to go from behind the walls directly to the streets," he said. Inmates must undergo counseling for their crimes as a condition of parole, said John Cook, Pawnee Mental Health Center counselor. Cook leads a group-therapy session for offenders of crimes against children. He said some members have served time in jail for those acts. Cook said group therapy is his preferred method of treatment of sexual offenders. "People in a group tend, over time, to take their offense seriously and to work hard in treatment," he said. 'Most realize they must take steps to prevent recidivism." The offenders in his group are learning to understand the reasons why they committed the offenses, and to identify stimulative triggers and warning signs, Cook said.

He said if people need help in more than one area, they will receive specialized counseling in those areas.

Counseling for the duration of parole, or a therapist's note stating therapy has been completed, is a requirement in most parole situations.

"Parolees rarely continue therapy when their parole is complete, even if more treatment is needed," Cook said. In the state of Kansas, the tendency to relapse into crime or antisocial behavior may be high because of several factors many inmates have in common, Dreher said.

These factors include a lack of high-school education, the cutting of government loans and grants for the education and training of parolees, a history of substance abuse and not

See REPEAT Page 10

wina

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

air movement. "Any time fluids move, or air moves, in a controlled study, it will be used by students in the College of Engineering," Cogley said.

Students can do experiments with models of cars and airplanes, spheres, cubes or any shape they want, said Mark Devries, senior in mechanical engineering. Models are used to find out relationships for the different sizes, he said, and after finding those relationships, you scale the model up to size.

In these experiments, students are be beneficial to an automobile. able to plot the lift and the drag of the to an airplane wing, and drag would shape that's in the tunnel, Devries sizes of the models or pieces of modsaid. He said lift would be beneficial els to see what works the best, Devries said.

Ad It Up! in the COLLEGIAN

NOW SHOWING THROUGH FRIDAY FEBRUARY 28

UPC & ART DEPARTMENT EXHIBIT

Art by Sam Gilliam

KALEIDOSCOPE FILMS PRESENTS: COMMON THREADS: STORIES FROM THE QUILT

Wednesday, Feb. 26 and Thursday, Feb. 27 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall, Price:$1.75

Common Threads is a portrait of the first decade of the AIDS epidemic in America. The film tells the story of five individuals with AIDS - all of whom are now commemorated in the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt. Narrated by Dustin Hoffman, with original music by Bobby McFerrin, this HBO production won the 1989 Academy Award for Best Feature Documentary.

Country Dance Lessons

Join Special Events and learn a few country steps with dance lessons beginning after Spring Break. Four weeks of instruction in Union Station only cost $10 per couple. Beginning lessons start Monday, March 16, 8-9:30 p.m. and Advanced Lessons start Tuesday, March 17 from 8-9:30 p.m. in the Union Station, K-State Union. SIGN UP BEGINS Monday, Feb. 24. For more information stop by the UPC Office, 3rd Floor K-State Union, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. weekdays.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING FOR

BREAK? SPRING

Hit the beach at Panama City Beach, Florida from March 6-15. Trip highlights include 7 nights lodging at one of four Miracle Mile Resort Hotels, trip insurance, myriads of nightclub and restaurant discounts and organized daily activities including volleyball tournaments, barbecues, beach parties and contests. Pre-trip meeting: Tuesday, Feb. 25 in Union Big 8 Room, K-State Union, 7 p.m.

GRAND CANYON EXPERIENCE

K-State Union
'PC Special Even

Five scenic days of backpacking through one of the seven wonders of the world will offer an unforgettable adventure. March 6-12 in Grand Canyon, Arizona. Driver's Meeting: Thursday, Feb. 27, Union Room 204, 7 p.m. K-State Union

SHOWING THROUGH MONDAY. MARCH 16

Asian Club Exhibit

To see what you can do to help achieve a more diverse and equal University contact:

Mordean Taylor-Archer Assistant Dean for Multicultural Affairs 532-6276

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

Being a minority is a job qualification

A ruling by a federal appeals panel last week found that the federal government could not give preferential treatment to women when awarding broadcast licenses, even though a policy exists to do so for black people and other minorities.

The decision, written by Justice Clarence Thomas, said the Federal Communications Commission policy for preferential treatment of women was unconstitutional, because white men where denied equal protection under the law.

This case brings many people — white, black and brown, male and female — to the discussion table of affirmative action.

America is divided about which path to choose for a more diverse and equal nation. Many people crying out for affirmative action programs are trying to right the wrongs of decades of discrimination and prejudice, while a large number of affirmative action opponents feel such programs only create reverse discrimination.

It could be argued that if minorities are given preferential treatment as a means of creating diversity, women should also be granted the same opportunity in the name of sexual diversity.

But, the court and Thomas ruled that theory out by saying, "In this case, the government has failed to show that its sex-preference policy is substantially related to achieving diversity on the airwaves."

What the court and many Americans have failed to realize is that diversity is the act of not conforming.

By granting a broadcast license to a woman or hiring a minority, a diverse office is created by not conforming to the ways of the past.

Workplaces are changing environments, but they are not changing so they look like rainbows. They are changing because of the variety of persons and perspectives behind the skin and physical characteristics.

Being a minority or a woman is a job qualification just like being able to type 90 words a minute or balance a multi-million-dollar budget million-dollar budget.

The different perspective and experience each minority and woman brings to a job is just as valuable as any

This recent court decision may have injured the fragile affirmative action program, but as the next generation of managers and leaders, we can make a difference.

By educating ourselves about different cultures, sexes and races, we can create an attitude of diversity and equality and become more diverse in the process.

Working side-by-side or sitting next to someone different in class, we learn there is another way to view things and to do things.

Talk with people, ask questions. But, whatever you do, don't put on the blinders of prejudice and look down the narrow tunnel of discrimination.

Fans' garbage' throwing unjustified

It was a meeting between two good teams this weekend.

K-State and Kansas dueled to the very end of the type of game that has come to exemplify the greatest rivalry in collegiate basketball.

After games in which players from both teams have given their all and displayed sportsmanship to the highest degree, post-game talk should be of the contest's great feats.

The talk should be that of two great teams. Instead, something unfortunate occurred.

The post-game talk on both sides centered on the uncalled-for behavior of the crowd.

KU's David Johanning had to receive stitches for a cut after an object (likely ice) thrown by a disgruntled fan sliced his forehead. Several other Jayhawk players and KU coach Pow Williams complained of being pelted as well

Roy Williams complained of being pelted as well.

It is not the position of this editorial board to tell fans how to act at sporting events. However, the board would not be serving its duty to the readers if it didn't ask those select fans to look at themselves and think about their actions.

The only thing that can come from such antics is shame — shame for the University, shame for those who gave their all on the court, shame for the innocent fans and shame to the guilty parties once their consciences catch up with them.

Sure, K-State lost, but the game itself was one of the greatest of a longstanding tradition of great games. Instead of frustration, there should be pride — pride in the players, pride in the coaches and pride in the crowd's blood-curdling noise throughout the game.

The Jayhawks have left Manhattan, knowing the team they beat was a worthy opponent.

But they also left with a bad impression of K-State and its people. At the next game, let's throw our voices and spirit across the court and not our garbage.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegiah, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom,

Kedzie Hall 116.
Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

TRUE TALES OF A LATE-NIGHT ADVENTURE

ED SKOOG

"Sometimes what looks like the sunrise/ isn't anything at all."— the Flaming Lips.

More people die at night, but very few die during sleep. This isn't hard to imagine at 3 a.m. in the parking lot of McDougal's, with a north-bound gaggle of geese flying over, maybe Canadians.

Geese fly low on cloudy nights, but you can't see them. The only clues they give are yelps and honks. Old legend says the sounds are those of death's hunting dogs, roaming the sky for any living thing.

In the upper fjords of Norway, night lasts half the year. Long, dark nights that ancient Norwegian college students drank coffee through, centuries before central heating or Ephedrine. When they came to America, they became victims of 12-hour nights, and their productivity soon dwindled to nothing.

Been studying here for days, while the waitresses sang along with Roger Miller on the corner jukebox, while the bar closers stumbled in for biscuits and gravy, while no one came in for a stretch of 45 minutes.

This is the worst hour; 3 a.m. is the hump for any type of all-night binge, whether frenzy, study, thievery, sexual hi-jinks or Nintendo. All must sometimes be done all night.

The sun suppresses a lazy person's work ethic. During the day, everything's open and everyone's awake. The newspapers are fresh. You forget to take out the trash — to do your math homework. Soap operas and Andy Griffith re-runs are on television. If you go for a walk, you're bound to meet someone you know. You can go the zoo. There are endless opportunities.

But at night, only buildings with fluorescent lights will let you in. Few people smile, and they turn in early. So, for the person awake past midnight, there are few diversions. You can easily recreate the world, play God. Shadows of trees on the lawn look like the tentacles of a land octopus out to get you. The people you run into, you suspect, are reanimated tissue, looking for revenge.

"Trust no one after sunset," an old man told me once.

In this nocturnal atmosphere of fear and danger, studying becomes more than reading a book or examining notes. It becomes subversive.

Trust no one after sunset.

go for a walk, you're bound to t someone you know. You can the zoo. There are endless ortunities.

But at night, only buildings

They complain about how hard it is to cheat on tests. These are no vaterans.

My brother sailed through the University of Kansas with this maxim: "If you don't know it by 11 p.m. the night before the test, you won't ever know it."

People say he's the smartest in the family. But 11 o'clock should be a point of departure. I make it a rule to know nothing about the next day's test until at least midnight. Some call it cramming; I call it faith in Norwegians.

Commando studying requires more nerve than brain surgery. You vs. Them. "They" are the fiendish louts that assigned the reading, those degreed and pedigreed professors who think they know everything. Listen to this secret: "They" don't want you to study. "They" are afraid of you, and afraid you might learn more than "they"

FROM SUNDAY'S KANSAS CITY BIG STAR: "Gov. Joan Finney and her daughter have been taking aim at clay pigeons impaled on sticks, practicing for Butler County's one-shot turkey shoot in April."

Finney has not slept for years, judging from her high-level derangement. Perhaps there is a limit on how heavily one should rely on the power of an all-nighter, but the governor is proof that fatigue and darkness work.

'Blacks' must look within themselves

ANDRE GRAHAM

In this Black History Month, we must make people aware of our past and present accomplishments. In addition, we must, as a people, take time to reflect on how we feel about ourselves.

We have come a long way, in terms of actual gains from where our brothers and sisters were in the 1950s, 1960s and 1970s. Many of the issues they fought for are not the same as the issues that confront us today. Racism is more subtle than it once was.

Now, we can go to breakfast, lunch and dinner in any manner of place we want; we can use any washroom facility we desire; we no longer sit in the back of the bus — that is unless we want to; we attend any college or university we please — whether it is a historically black one or a traditionally majority one; we join any fraternity or sorority we future.

This is not to say, however, that we are 100-percent integrated into the American society. As I feel will fit our personality or aspirations for the said, racism is more subtle now, but it still exists.

Anyone who doubts this fact just has to look at this past governor's race in Louisiana where a "former" Ku Klux Klan member held the specter of a return to overt racism over our collective heads in the most depressing month of my 19 years on this earth.

The greatest problem we have to tackle now rests in our negative feelings about ourselves and how these negative feelings have made a profound impact on our lives on our lives.

Think about how our parents and grandparents sacrificed and endured so we could have the freedom to attend the schools of our choices, and then take into consideration the fact that of all those African-American students entering higher education in a given year, about 70 percent will not make it to graduation.

Take into consideration affirmative action, before it is taken away, and consider the fact that many of our brothers will not, by their own hand, be able to partake in it because there are more of us in prison than in the hallowed halls of higher education.

I understand that teen-age pregnancy is not only on the rise, it is an epidemic. The ages at which these girls are having their children are younger and younger. It is no longer an oddity to hear about a 12-year-old having her first child in many cities.

And, last but not least, I am a young Jamaican-American man who is from the city and loves the city life. Whether in Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., or New York, I stand a higher chance of being killed by a bullet, knife or force perpetrated by one of my own race than otherwise. I know this, because last year at this time, I was robbed at gunpoint in New York by a well-dressed, young black man about my age.

Now, one might say all these situations are brought about by the racism of whites against us and that we are forced into these acts out of frustration of not being able to achieve our dreams. This could be true, but not entirely.

Why is it we kill one another in such record amounts? Why is it that

Why is it we kill one another in such record amounts? Why is it that in Washington, D.C., there is a situation where almost every day, one black young man loses his life at the hands of another? If we are so frustrated, why do we lash out each other instead of our oppressor?

I will tell you why: it is because we as black people have more tolerance and understanding for every other people and race than we have for our own.

We get upset and downright angry when we perceive that another black "thinks that they are too much."

black "thinks that they are too much."

We don't frequent black lawyers and black doctors in our time of need, because "they ain't no doctors in our time of need, because "they ain't no good" or "white people know how to handle money" or "he's a quack."

What about the concept of "good" hair and

"bad" hair? It is based on how close we are to achieving that very straight Caucasian hair; is it not? Is it any wonder when we make these negative utterances about other blacks when we are in company of whites that we get an affirmation, which in a very sickening way, we become pleased

My sister subscribes to Essence magazine, and I was both ashamed and shocked to read an article not too long ago about whether it is better to be "light-skinned" or "dark-skinned."

One black man interviewed said he was partial to the very lightskinned toned women, because he "did not like them too dark."

A while back, an associate of mine said the reason he preferred the company of Caucasian women on campus to the black women was his perceived notion that "black girls here ain't nothing."

Now, I have nothing against a person dating whomever they please — regardless of race, color or creed — but to do so with this type of attitude is deplorable. Quite frankly, I feel that in terms of things that matter and some that don't, the black women on campus are quite something.

A black person can be good, bad, a genius or a dunce, and these attributes can be used to describe all races.

Whether we are light, dark, Jamaican, Haitian, African, African-American, half-black, half-white, Caribbean or any number of other titles we use to represent our blackness, a positive attitude toward ourselves will take us far.

Andre Graham is a freshman in pre-medicine.

LETTERS

PAGE READS LIKE CREATIVE WRITING

Editor, OK

OK, I have finally had enough. What gives you the right to criticize the journalistic quality and the apathy of others when you are hardly leading by shining example?

The only controversy the Collegian stirs up is whether so many trees need to be killed just to be made into worthless trash. Why don't you change your name to the Kansas State Reader's Digest? At least readers won't actually expect to find news anywhere in it.

I think you should just scrap the entire opinion page and have a creative writing section instead. This section would provide a forum for Collegian columnists to amaze and to astound us simple folk with their pointless (and seemingly endless) short stories. Oh, wait, that is what you are already doing — my mistake.

Eve Wilson and Carla Jones seem to be the only two on your staff with both the guts and the ability to actually write about real issues.

Call me crazy, but articles about the lack of sunflowers available for purchase in January and the going rate for Mexican prostitutes do not spur me on to deeper thoughts of world problems. (I suppose that I may have just missed the real meaning of these columns because the subtle use of symbolism and imagery are simply beyond my knowledge and understanding.)

Congratulations, by the way, on that riveting article about the hordes of squirrels on campus. That was certainly a real journalistic coup. Before you go to print next time, think: "Is this article really necessary, or am I just using it as a space filler?"

If you really want your readers to become less apathetic, challenge the establishment and demand change. You are going to have to offer something more than road-kill squirrels and dogs eating piles of puke.

QUEST

Senior in landscape architecture

DICTIONARY, VERSION TWO

Kim Cuddleback

Editor, In r

In response to Eric Becker's Feb. 19 column about the New Devil's Dictionary, I was inspired to add a few more entries that reflect the times on campus and the nation:

Cold War II: n. The trade war between Japan and the United States during the 1990s. Computer Virus: n. What will Computer Virus: n. What will happen when K-State's mainframe is placed at KU.

is placed at KU.

Doghouse: n. The place where President Jon Wefald has been living since the reorganization attempt.

Finals: n. The practice of keeping the students suppressed by the faculty.

KGB: adj. Stands for kaput, garbage and broken. The New Evil Empire: n. The KSU Housing and Dining bureaucracy in dealing with where the students live.

P.C.: n. (Politically Correct) A

P.C.: n. (Politically Correct) A new group that is going around telling you what you can and can not say or do.

The Reformed Communist Party: n. The group that has taken over SGA from the students and likes to buy new furniture. Term Paper: n. The one thing

The process of writing them and the process of grading them.

that kills both students and teachers.

Trevor Brown
Junior in history and geography

3. Kansas (20-3) lost to Nebraska 81-79, OT; beat Kansas State 54-52. North Carolina (18-5) lost to Virginia 86-73; lost to North Carolina State

5. Arizona (19-4) lost to Arizona State 77-74; vs. Temple at the Sun Coast Dome, St. Petersburg, Fla.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1992

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CATS BASKETBALL

Woodberry's late leaner sinks Cats, 54-52

Cat defense holds Hawks to season lows in points and shooting

P ATRICK OBLEY

Perhaps Vincent Jackson's disputed 3-pointer at the buzzer that ended the first half set the ominous tone for the end of the K-State-Kansas game Saturday afternoon at Bramlage Coliseum.

Jackson's last-second trey ended a 10-2 run that put the Cats ahead 28-22 at halftime.

Unfortunately for the Cats, Jackson's last-second heroics weren't the only heroics on the day. Jayhawk sophomore guard Steve Woodberry, under pressure from Brian Henson, sank a desperation 15-foot leaner with two ticks left to give KU a 54-52 victory.

Around those shots, one of the finest chapters in the longest plains rivalry was written.

Shots definitely weren't falling for the Hawks in the first half. The Hawks were shut out from the field for the last 8:57 of the half and saw their 17-14 lead disintegrate into the 28-22 halftime deficit.

Everything seemed to be in the Cats' favor after the first 20 minutes. They had outrebounded the Hawks 20-14, outshot the Hawks from 3-point land behind Henson's 3 of 3 shooting and had limited the Hawks to a meager 25.9 percent shooting from the field. Still, Hawks head coach Roy Williams said he felt the halftime deficit came from his own team's lack of aggressiveness, rather than the Cats' play. "We were very timid in the first half," Williams said. "That tentativeness bothers me more than anything."

Cats point guard Marcus Zeigler said he felt otherwise. "I'm going to credit us," Zeigler said. "We put the zone on them, and we limited their inside game." Despite all the pluses in the first half, there was a worrisome situation evolving at the free-throw line. The Hawks had connected on seven of 10 attempts, while the Cats were just one of three. That trend would continue in the second half and proved to be quite

Still, the Cats continued to extend the Hawks' woes from the field, holding them without a field goal until Walters's trey with 16:57

The only thing that kept the Hawks in the game during the entire 12-minute span of futility ranging back into the first half, was their free-throw shooting.

Amid the zero for 14 shooting from the field, the Hawks hit nine of 10 charities.

After the Walters trey trimmed the Cats' lead to 32-29, the Hawks outscored K-State 12-8 to take a 41-40 lead with 7:26 left.

After a timeout, Jackson missed two free throws, and Jordan canned a trey. Howard returned to the game and combined with Ski Jones to score K-State's next 12 points.

A trey from Jones with 1:49 showing knotted the game at 52-52. After a fruitless change of possessions, Jones hauled in a rebound and called a timeout with 57 ticks left. "I called for us to run a doublepic on the baseline for Ski," Cats coach Dana Altman said. "I told not, back out and set up the offense."

The play was executed well and Jones was left with a weakly contested 20-footer that clanged off the front of the rim.

Kansas controlled the rebound. and Jordan quickly launched a 3pointer. It bounced of the back of the rim and into Woodberry's hands for his 11th rebound of the game. Woodberry immediately called a timeout with 19 seconds left.

Williams quickly diagramed a

"We thought Jordan would try to penetrate and kick out," Altman

Jordan took the in-bounds and dished the ball to Walters. The two traded passes again, and Walters found himself heavily covered with seconds left and no one to pass the ball to.

"I tried to penetrate, and Steve (Woodberry) looked at me," Walters said. "Jackson was guarding me, and Henson came off Steve to help Jackson on me.

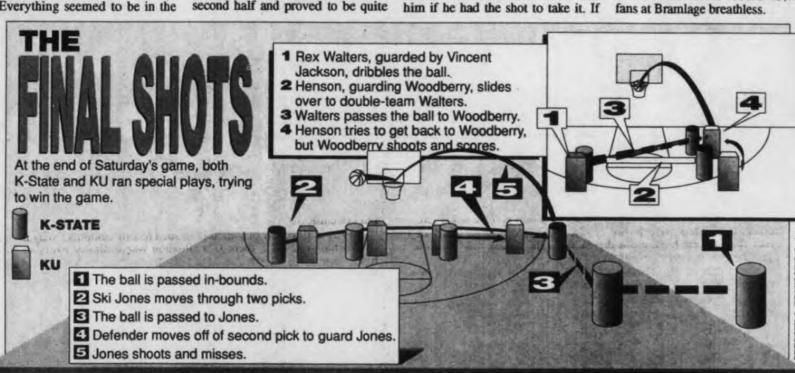

"I found Steve, and he shot it. It was a clutch-clutch-clutch shot."

The shot left a record 13,762 fans at Bramlage breathless.

MIKE VENSO/Collegian

Kansas guard Steve Woodberry gets a shot off despite Wylie Howard's defensive efforts in Saturday's K-State-KU game in Bramlage Coliseum.

MIKE VENSO/Collegian

Brian Henson nailed five 3-pointers before his shooting spree was ended in the second half by Kansas defenders like Steve Woodberry.

INSIDE STUFF

Henson disappointed despite solid game

DAVID SVOBODA

The familiar intensity - this time tinged with a bit of understandable sadness - was still in the eyes of Brian Henson a good 20 minutes after Saturday's 54-52 Wildcat loss to Kansas.

It's too bad Henson could only use one of those eyes effectively.

"It's been happening after games for the last couple of years,' Henson said of the temporary condition, during which he loses sight in his right eye, only to have it return sometime later.

"Once I eat something, I'm always fine."

Despite his disappointment in having watched his five-for-eight effort from outside the 3-point line go for naught in the loss, Henson still found something inside that allowed him to make a joke about his temporary loss of vision.

"That's it," he said, pausing for a moment to take a bite out of a sightremedying hamburger. "I didn't see him at the end, and that's why he scored."

"Him" was KU sophomore Steve Woodberry, who knocked down an off-balance, fall-away leaner under Henson's outstretched arms with no time remaining for the game winner.

Woodberry was the object of Henson's most serious statement of the time immediately following the game as well.

As the K-State freshman walked from the media room back toward the Bramlage Coliseum tunnel and the arena floor, someone mentioned the possibility of future Woodberry-Henson duels.

"I'll get him back," said Henson, hesitating not the least bit. "We're not done yet."

It's true — the battle between

"Throughout the whole game, I was confident we were going to win. I was confident on the last shot too."

the two could well be resumed one day, with Henson having three years left at K-State and Woodberry two at Kansas.

But Saturday afternoon's heredecided edge, until Woodberry's shot changed it all.

"I was feeling real good, especially early," Henson said. "And then he hit that shot, and that canceled out all of the excitement. "I feel terrible."

He felt anything but terrible early on, canning his first five 3point tries, including three in the

"Brian shot it well," K-State coach Dana Altman said. "In the first half, he really kept us in the ballgame." In the second 20 minutes, Henson picked up right where he left off, canning his first two attempts from outside the arc before the people here."

didn't share the they probably did it out of frustration,'

Zeigler said.

"This is a rivalry, though, and I can't take anything away

"I think same view.

"I started to get tired, and with my shot, I rely a lot on my ability to jump," he said. "That went away."

Also taking a momentary hike, and-now found Henson holding the Henson admitted, was Henson's patience with the ball.

"I was feeling it, and when you're feeling it - sometimes even when you're in the flow - you get a little lazy with your shot," he said. "Maybe lazy's not the right word, but I rushed a little.'

Henson said his efforts to get each and every shot he attempted down came about for a fairly obvious reason: the opponent.

"I know what it meant to my brother," Henson said of the rivalry's significance to Steve Henson, who played a big role in many of the series' most memorable games.

"And I know what it means to Emotional rollercoaster ride ends in disaster for Cats

Woodberry's shot still numbs Altman, players; Hawks angered by crowd's conduct

PATRICK OBLEY

The scene was all too familiar to senior K-State center Wylie Howard.

It was his freshman year at Washburn University, and he was sitting on the bench after a desperation shot by Fort Hays State stripped conference title hopes from the Ichabods.

It had just happened again that very afternoon. A last-second shot by KU's Steve Woodberry had downed the Cats 54-52. The time had expired just as K-State touched the ball.

There he was, once again, sitting alone on the bench.

"A first, I didn't believe it," Howard said of the shot. "At first, I stood up, but then I realized what had happened, and I had to sit down.

'All I could think about was when I was at Washburn, and we were playing Fort Hays for CSIC championship. They threw the ball in at the last second, and we lost.

"It's just frustrating. It's happened to me too many times."

Despite his team's admirable effort, Cats coach Dana Altman's thoughts after Woodberry's shot were of a hollow void.

'There's no satisfaction in losing a game like that," Altman said. "There's no satisfaction in playing close. In fact, there's not much satisfaction at all."

Freshman guard Brian Henson was covering Woodberry on the shot. Henson said he thought any shot Woodberry would take wouldn't be a good one.

"I still don't believe it," Henson said, head down. "We played pretty good defense. I thought I was all over him."

Frustration led some crowd members to pelt retreating Kansas players as they left the court.

KU coach Roy Williams and other Hawks were angered.

"It's shame some good kids have to put up with that garbage,'

Williams said. Someone threw a playing card at Williams, and he put it in his pocket.

"I'll take that deuce," Williams said.

KU's leading scorer, Rex Walters, said he was so angered by the crowd that he didn't talk about his own play.

"I don't think they're the classiest bunch," Walters said of the crowd.

Zeigler's thoughts drifted back to the last

The things they say aren't appropriate at all,

Senior point guard Marcus Zeigler

but I guess they'll keep on doing it."

- Marcus Zeigler

"I knew they would take a last-second shot," Zeigler said. "All we could do is play defense and pound the boards. "I can't explain it," he said.

"Throughout the whole game, I was

"I think they have a total lack of respect. confident we were going to win. I was confident on the last shot, too. Brian was all over him."

> Meanwhile, Howard said, he was wanting to do more in his last opportunity to play KU in Manhattan.

"I just wish I could have done more," Howard said. Howard fouled out before either team's last shot.

"I really wanted to step up and contribute and be a leader for the guys out there," he said. "I feel so sorry for the

Henson; head still down, said the fun of such a game disappears with such an

"It was a great game, but when he hit that shot, that canceled out all our excitement," Henson said. "I felt like my stomach dropped out.

"Everything around the game was pretty emotional. This is the worst feeling ever."

CATS BASEBALL

Pitching comes true to form in Fort Hays twinbill sweep

Offense keeps on rolling in 10-5 and 11-1 victories

DAVID SVOBODA

Fear and uncertainty turned to fight and desire Sunday afternoon for the K-State pitching staff.

The result was a doubleheader sweep of Fort Hays State in the Cats' home opener at Frank Myers

K-State won the run-shortened first game 11-1 and rallied from a three-run deficit to win the nightcap

Just one week ago, Wildcat pitchers allowed 45 runs and 30 walks as Arkansas took two of three games from K-State in Fayetteville, Ark.

And those same Cat pitchers, Coach Mike Clark said after Sunday's doubleheader sweep, were very shaken by their lack of success at Arkansas.

"I could see it in each kid's eye,"

At least a couple of Clark's pitchers gave him reason for optimism Sunday — and gave themselves some confidence.

In the opener against the Tigers, Dan Driskill went the five-inning distance in a game that was shortened by an agreed-to 10-run and allowed just one unearned run, striking out four and walking two. He retired the last seven Tigers he

The unearned tally came in the first inning, which was Driskill's bug-a-boo at Arkansas. The Razorbacks scored six runs in the opening inning last Saturday before K-State rallied to win the game and allow the sophomore to escape with no decision.

Driskill's mates got the run back in a hurry Sunday, scoring three times in the bottom half of the first. K-State scored two more runs in the second and four in the third, and added a single run in the fourth for good measure.

The offensive stars for K-State in the first game were first baseman Andy Williams, who went 2-for-3; centerfielder Jamey Stellino, who scored three runs; and Blair Hanneman and Scott McFall, who collected the team's only extra-base hits, a double and a triple, respectively.

"In the first game it was awfully tough, because they weren't throwing strikes," Clark said of his team's success at the plate against a pair of Tiger pitchers, including starter and loser Greg Rehkow, 0-1.

In the nightcap, Wildcat starter Kevin Sander — one of a very few Wildcat bright spots on the mound at Arkansas - had virtually Driskill, 1-0, scattered three hits nothing, and gave way in the d allowed just one unearned run, second inning to Pat Ralston.

Sander was knocked from the game by his own wildness, Clark

"We're not going to leave anyone out there who isn't throwing strikes," he said.

Down 2-1 after one, the Tigers erupted for four second-inning tallies to take a 5-2 lead. Three of the runs in the frame were charged to Sander, the other to Ralston.

But Ralston, a true freshman from Augusta, settled into a groove, and went five innings of two-hit ball and allowed his teammates to come back and get him his first collegiate win.

The righty struck out five and walked, and, like Driskill, retired the last seven Tigers he faced.

"He comes out and throws strikes," Clark said of Ralston.

"He's shown us the same things Sean Pedersen did as a freshman: 'If you're going to beat me, you're going to have to do it with the bat.' He just keeps throwing strikes."

His ability to do just that allowed K-State the time to put together its seven-run fifth-inning explosion. The key blows in the frame were Brian Culp's sacrifice fly that got the game tied at 5-5 and Stellino's two-run double that broke the game

In the nightcap, Culp was 2-for-3

MIKE WELCHHANS/Collegia

K-State second baseman Jay Kopriva swings at the ball during the first game of a double header with Fort Hays State Sunday afternoon. The Cats opened their season by beating Fort Hays 11-1 and 10-5. with three RBIs, and Craig Wilson to adjust to a change of opposing made adjustments at the plate in the was 2-for-4 with three runs scored and a RBI of his own. "In the second game, we came out flat," Clark said. "I was disappointed, but not surprised."

Though disappointed by the slow start in game two, Clark was encouraged by at least two things his team showed Sunday: an ability pitchers and an ability of his own pitchers to work successfully from ahead in the count.

"One of the things we had difficulty doing last year was adjusting at the plate," he said.

"But today for about the third time already this year (the Cats are 3-2 through just five games), we middle of an inning."

As for the pitching staff?

"We came in with the idea that we were going to throw strikes first and then go to other stuff," he said. "I think we did that."

K-State will be host to No. 1 Wichita State at 7 p.m. at Frank Myers Field Thursday.

SPORTS DIGEST

COLLEGE: Tarkanian rescinds resignation

LAS VEGAS (AP) - UNLV coach Jerry Tarkanian, claiming a cloud had been placed over his head by recent accusations against his troubled basketball program, said Sunday night he was rescinding the resignation he submitted last June.

The withdrawal, announced at the end of a 2 1/2-hour hand-clapping, hymn-singing rally, came 10 days before Tarkanian was scheduled to step down as head coach of the Runnin' Rebels.

The move was discounted by UNLV president Robert

Maxson late Sunday night. "Jerry Tarkanian submitted a legally binding resignation, the university accepted the resignation, and the matter is closed," Maxson said. "There is no need for any additional discussion.'

Tarkanian, 61, is completing his 19th season with the Rebels, who are ranked 12th nationally with a 24-2 record. The 1990-91 squad was unbeaten and ranked No. 1 season until losing to eventual national champion Duke

79-77 in the NCAA Tournament semifinals. He has taken the Rebels to the Final Four four times, winning the national title in 1990.

The current UNLV team has a 21-game winning streak, the longest current winning streak in the country.

COLLEGE: No. 1 Duke falls to Wake Forest

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Top-ranked Duke lost for the second time this season on Sunday as Anthony Tucker scored 24 points and hit the go-ahead basket with 1:25 left to lead Wake Forest to a 72-68 upset.

The Blue Devils (21-2, 11-2 in the Atlantic Coast Conference) led by as many as 10 points with nine minutes remaining, but were outscored 15-1 over the final 5:19 as Wake Forest shot 62 percent in the second half.

Duke took its final lead at 68-67 after Brian Davis made one of two free throws with 1:45 left. But Tucker, who scored a career-high 31 points in an upset victory over Duke last season, sank his 12-foot go-ahead jumper 20 seconds later to put the Deacons up for good.

OLYMPICS: Another Games in France?

LA LECHERE, France (AP) - The French pulled it off, but should anyone else try it again?

With a bit of luck, a lot of planning and plenty of help from the heavens, the most spread-out Games in Olympic history passed off relatively smoothly. Dispersed over 650 square miles and 13 venues, the Albertville Olympics defied the doomsayers' nightmare scenario of massive traffic jams, snow-blocked mountain roads and stranded tourists. For Jean-Claude Killy and Michel Barnier, copresidents of the organizing committee COJO, the outcome was a vindication of their 11-year project to bring the Games to the entire Savoy region. "Today, I can say that we succeeded in organizing happy and successful Games," Killy said. "It's an enormous satisfaction."

The Games even exceeded the expectations of the International Olympic Committee, which had sometimes wondered about the wisdom of its choice ever since selecting Albertville in 1986.

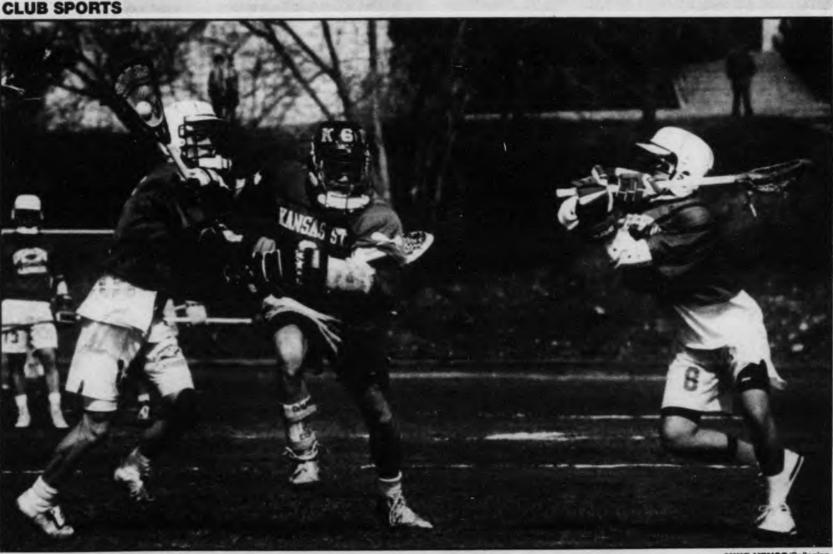

OLYMPICS: Swiss skier's funeral Sunday

BRIDES-LES-BAINS, France (AP) - A memorial service was held in the church at the athletes village Sunday for Nicolas Bochatay, a Swiss speed skier killed when he crashed into a ski trail-grooming machine.

Among those attending the service were Swiss athletes, coaches and officials, French figure skater Paul Duschesnay, Brides Les Bains Mayor Jean Francois Chedal and former French ski star Perrine Pelen-Mazzega, manager of the athletes' village.

National police are investigating Saturday's accident. Organizing committee officials said they had no details of the probe. Bochatay had skied over a mogul and into the snow cat while he and other competitors were on an easy trail.

Greg Kice, center, moves through the Creighton defense en route to scoring a goal at Saturday afternoon's lacrosse game in Memorial Stadium.

slin stars in 18-3 lacrosse win over Jays

Practice is sometimes even tougher than this game was.

The K-State lacrosse team started its season with a shoot-out against Creighton Saturday at the Memorial Stadium.

The Wildcats came to a dominant 18-3 win against a team that never looked to be able to compete with K-State.

As a result, Cats coach Curt Thurman said he was happy after

"We had a lot of fun out there," he said. "I felt sort of sorry for them, but I'm very satisfied how we have played. We can't be unhappy with that kind of win." K-State started the game off slowly, maybe from being a bit too pumped up.

"The new players were nervous, and some of us were still a little bit rusty," Thurman said.

After 5 minutes, the ice was score the first goal of the game opened a avalanche of K-State attacks.

Brent Long won the faceoff after the first goal and passed the ball down to Brandon Aslin. Only 6 seconds later, Aslin put the ball in Creighton's net for a second time.

With two more goals from Aslin and Sean Pendley, K-State went 4-0 in the second quarter. Within just 75 seconds, K-State increased its lead to 7-0, as Aslin scored two more goals.

It was almost 20 minutes into the game before Creighton got its first successful offensive attempt by Lee

However, that didn't affect K-State's offensive deeds.

During the remainder of the second quarter and throughout the third quarter, the Cats got 10 unanswered goals, including a fourpass combination finished up by Erik Hokanson for the 13th goal.

During this run, Aslin's success finally broken. Greg Kice's solo to continued. He picked up a pass by goalie Keith Grant at the middle line and ran a solo to score once more.

Just before the end of the third quarter, Trombetta stopped the string to score Creighton's second goal of the game. In the last quarter, Thurman gave the new players a chance to play. K-State managed just a 1-1 tie from that period, but Thurman said he was still satisfied with the rookies. "I was happy how the new players got up," Thurman said. "I think they did a good job. Playing against Creighton was a good experience for them." Aslin, with eight goals, was the scoring leader for K-State. Thurman said Aslin usually scores in every game, but he was on fire Saturday. For Aslin the eight goals is a career high.

"It's a personal best, and I think it's pretty good," he said. "But it was pretty much a team effort. "

Thurman said he also saw the

"Our attackers and goalies played pretty well," he said.

"Our movement was good. I was happy with that, because Creighton's defense broke down, and they couldn't get our men."

The only part of the team Thurman wasn't totally satisfied with was the defense. Two of Creighton's goals were avoidable, but the defense got tired to the end. However, Aslin said he thought K-State played a good defense.

"If you can hold a team down to three goals, it's a good effort," he said. "That shows the excitement of the team."

But K-State will not have time to get too comfortable with this win Kansas City is next on the

"They are much more experienced with older players on the team," Thurman said. "That game will be a lot more difficult."

STATE COLLEGES No. 4 Mid-American Nazarene rolls over Graceland

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mid-America Nazarene is No. 4 in the NAIA Division II poll, but first in the Heart of America

The Pioneers of Olathe got 21 points and 13 rebounds Saturday night from Peter Martin as they blasted Graceland 123-85 to clinch the Heart of America title.

Other weekend games involving Kansas teams included Fort Hays 86, Wayne State 62; Friends 66, Bethel 54; St. Mary of the Plains 83, Sterling 78; Lincoln 70, Emporia State 67; Washburn 64, Missouri-St. Louis 60, and Pittsburg State 89, Central Missouri State 74.

Randy Lambkins tallied 18 points, Rod Underwood notched 15 and Trent Cole got 12 to lead seven players in double figures for the Pioneers, who are 23-9 overall and 12-0 in the conference. Kirk Harrop scored 22 points, and Brad Otis added 13 for the Yellowjackets. The Pioneers held a 72-44 lead at the intermission.

At Hays, Damian Evans scored 20 points and Bryant Basemore had 14 points and nine assists to lead Fort Hays State over Wayne State. Darrell Hudson added 12 points, and Toby Kuhn had 11 for the Tigers. David Allen and Doug Kuszak notched 12 points apiece, and Billy Patterson added 10 for Wayne State.

Maurice Lamar scored 16 points and triggered a second-half scoring run that gave Washburn a victory over Missouri-St. Louis. After trailing 34-26 at the end of the first half, Washburn went on a 14-2 run to go up 40-36. Lamar led the rally with two 3-pointers within 26 seconds. Missouri-St. Louis trailed the rest of the game but came within two points in the final seconds. Kerry Dickerson hit two free throws with 11 seconds left to secure the victory for Washburn. Leon Kynard's 15 points was the high for St. Louis.

MARGARET CLARKIN/Collegian

Chris McKenzie sprints to the finish in the 1,000 meter run at the KSU Open Invitational Saturday morning in Ahearn Field House.

INDOOR TRACK

Thinclads fare well at KSU Open

Janicke wins women's pentathlon; Big Eight next week

MARGO KELLER

The K-State track and field team played host to 24 men's and 17 women's track teams at the KSU Open Friday and Saturday at Ahearn Field House.

The Wildcats had good performances, despite many athletes deciding not to participate and waiting for next weeks Big Eight Championships.

"I was really pleased with the performances. I was very satisfied with the performances, especially the women, " said K-State coach John Capriotti after Friday's standings.

K-Sate women Several dominated Friday's field events, including the shot put, long jump and high jump.

Christy Ward threw a personal best of 50 feet, 1-1/2 inches to garner first. Teammates Shannon Flanagan and Dione Singleton placed fourth and fifth, respectively.

'Christy was ready to throw over 50 feet, and she had a good performance," Capriotti said.

Gwen Wentland jumped 6 feet, 3/4 inch to win the high jump, despite suffering from a cold and a

"I'm glad I could go out and attempt some jumps. On my approach I had some problems," Wentland said. "There was about 30 girls jumping so we had a really long wait and so that was really Assistant coach Cliff Rovelto said Wentland's performance wasn't dynamic, but she was still able to jump high even though she wasn't jumping well.

"She had some misses at some heights she doesn't miss at. Of her 12 jumps, two of them were pretty good efforts," Rovelto said. "I think in the next few weeks she is capable of jumping real high and is capable of jumping higher than she

Dee Dee Tribue, who jumped a personal best in the triple jump last Saturday, placed fourth in the long jump Friday with a jump of 18 feet, 1/2 inch. The women had strong standings in track events Friday in the 3,200meter relay and mile.

Jeanene Rugan placed first in the mile with a time of 5:02.5

"I was very pleased with the way Rugan ran out in front most of the race," Capriotti said. "Rugan has been really coming on. Renee Russell also ran a good race.'

Russell tied for fourth with 5:08.7, and Amy Marx placed seventh with 5:12.4.

Paulette Staats, Lesley Wells, Jennifer Hillier and Janet Treiber placed first in the 3,200-meter relay with a time of 9:09.93.

Mike Becker finished first in the mile run with a time of 4:12.8, while Yared Berhane placed fifth in 4:19.2.

Saturday, the women chose not to compete. But K-State men showed several good results.

Thomas Randolph won the 55meter dash in 6.28 seconds.

The trio of Randy Helling, Jared Storm and Anthony Williams took second, third and fourth respectively in the 600-yard run. Clifton Etheridge, running unattached, ran the 55-meter dash and placed first in the long jump with a distance of 24 feet, 7 1/4

In a time of 2:29.17 minutes, Chris McKenzie won the 1,000-

The 1,600-meter relay team finished with 3:17.68, placing them third behind Oklahoma Baptist University and Kansas City (Kan.) Community College.

In the pentathlon Jason Meredith scored 3,536 points.

"He really had a good solid score. I was pleased with that. He has come a long ways," Rovelto

Troy Adkins also had several good events in the pentathlon but couldn't participate in the last event because of a twisted ankle he sustained in the high jump.

"Troy is really doing a good job," Rovelto said. "If he could have finished, he probably would have had a score around 3,400 points."

With 11 competitors, Kathryn Janicke placed first in the woman's pentathlon with 2,925 points.

Capriotti said he thinks this weekend's performances will help the athletes for the Championships Friday in Lawrence.

"All the kids that we ran had good performances," Capriotti said. The rest of the week we hope to have a light work out, have them stay healthy and get ready for the meet."

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian Dione Singleton prepares to throw her shot during

OUT OF THE BLOCKS

Shot putters net personal bests; ready for Big Eight

FRANK KLEEMANN

One week before the Big Eight Indoor Track and Field Championships in Lawrence, K-State's women shot putters sent a strong sign to the competition at the KSU Open in Ahearn Field House

Placing first, fourth and fifth with several personal records, Christy Ward, Shannon Flanagan and Dione Singleton proved they are ready for Lawrence.

Assistant coach Jesse Stuart said he was also impressed with the performances, although he said he hopes for further improvement.

"I'm pretty happy with today," Stuart said. "We are peaking for the conference (championships), and I think we're on the right path.

"I'm glad to see both Christy and Shannon with a personal record, but there is still a lot left for both."

Flanagan started the competition strong, taking the lead in the first attempt with a personal best of 47 feet, 6 inches. But Flanagan couldn't improve from that point and fell to fourth.

Flanagan said she wasn't satisfied, despite the new personal mark.

"I could have done a lot better," she said. "I'm much better in practice, but it's another step." Unlike Flanagan, Ward started off Throwing just 40'7" and leaving the shot put rink swearing, Ward improved helped her explode Friday. Secondwith each throw.

In the last three attempts, Ward set a new personal record with each toss, up to a final 50'1-1/2." She left the rink shouting a satisfied, "Yes."

"It's a big personal record for me," she said. "I'm happy for now, and hopefully, I can get to the nationals."

The automatic qualification for the NCAA championships is 52'6", but only four athletes have presently reached this mark, she said.

"I think I got my confidence back," she said. "I hope to get a lot farther. There is plenty left, looking at my strength, speed and spin,"

Ward said the close competition placed Cecila Gumm of Emporia State and third-placed Krista Madar of Nebraska were both ahead of Ward before the K-Stater stepped in the rink

"It was a good meet," Ward said. "Everybody pushed each other. Usually, I'm more relaxed in practice and get tight in the meet. But I hope I'm over that by now."

Flanagan said she hopes to end up in at least the top six. Ward's goal is to improve another step.

"I hope I have a good throw there to push my mark up a little bit more," she preliminary competition Friday evening.

KU rebounding advantage proves too much for Lady Cats Coach Washington impressed to playing K-State once again on their lot better," Hart said. "Stacy Truitt

MARGO KELLER

LAWRENCE - Exactly 23 and University of Kansas Jayhawks met in their first basketball confrontation. While K-State claimed the very first victory and every game played on that date since, Sunday's outcome produced a Jayhawk victory, 67-49, at Allen Fieldhouse in Lawrence.

The Lady Cats had to settle for an eighth loss in a row, but they proved they could keep up with the nationally-ranked Jayhawks. Improving their performance from the earlier 30-point loss to KU Feb. 2, the Lady Cats stayed in the game with tough defense. Sunday marked the fifth time the Lady Cats have faced the Jayhawks on that exact date. K-State defeated KU by one point in overtime last give us a cushion there. I thought in Feb. 23 at Bramlage Coliseum.

The score was even between the tired." years ago Feb. 23 the Lady Cats two teams halfway through the first KU's junior guard Stacy Truitt half until the Jayhawks hit their first spurt that gave them a 34-25 margin at the half.

> "I thought they came in and played real hard. As a matter of fact, I thought they outplayed us the first part of the game," KU coach Marian Washington said.

The Jayhawks went into a timeout with the score tied 19-19 with 10:18 showing in the first half. They came out and outscored the Lady Cats 15-6 for the remainder of

"I called a timeout to talk about just that," Washington said. "Our defense really was supporting us. I said we just had to step it up a notch. Our defense really helped to led the team with 11 points. Senior Terrilyn Johnson pulled down 12 rebounds, 7 defensive boards. While rebounding continues to be one of the Lady Cats' weakest areas, the team pulled down 32 for KU's 47 rebounds, 29 from K-State's goal.

Mary Jo Miller, senior pointguard, led the Lady Cats in scoring with 16 points.

"(I felt) excitement really," Miller said. "I think when it was that close, we wanted to come out and keep it that close throughout the game. Towards halftime and in the second half we got a little cold. They pulled out a lead, and we just couldn't bounce back from it."

match-up for them at home.

"Each game we play, were going to come each team. This is our last home game against K-State so that was the only difference for the seniors. We won't play K-State anymore," Johnson said.

Senior point guard Kay Kay Hart, scoring 14 points, two of three from beyond the 3-point line, was impressed with the Wildcat's performance.

"I was surprised at how they came out at us," Hart said. "I thought they played very well tonight. They have nothing to be ashamed of. They played hard and they made things difficult for us in the first half."

While KU looked forward to the second half they were a little her team, especially seniors, that home court, the Lady Cats were did a nice job on Mary Jo Miller this game would be the last K-State prepared to contend with the and kinda shut her down. We did Hawks."

"I think the players did a good job of preparing themselves," said K-State coach Susan Yow. "Sue Doran spent a lot of time with them since I have been on the road recruiting, and she did a magnificent getting our team ready."

Instead of battling with K-State's zone defense in the second half, KU opted for outside shooting to boost its score. The Jayhawks shot three of five from 3-point range for a 60percent average. The Lady Cats, plagued with missing second and third chance rebounds, only produced a 30 percent shooting

"Our defense controlled them a have some key moments. I think that was the difference. Our defense, we got going the second

Yow said the missed rebounds were crucial to the game's outcome. "With 10 minutes to go in the ball game it was a 10-point ball game," Yow said.

"They seemed to get the key rebounds at the time they least needed them and we needed them. We played the defensive game we needed to, but we did not have the offense to match that performance."

While the Jayhawks aim for the Big-Eight title, the Lady Cats will look for a win at Colorado or Oklahoma State to snap their eightgame losing streak.

OLYMPICS

16th Winter Olympic games draws to a festive close Sunday

Albertville bids a reluctant farewell with festival, crazy dances and weird music

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBERTVILLE, France - The French bid a reluctant goodbye to the Winter Games Sunday, with a down-to-earth festival of square dancing, accordion music and fireworks.

The Olympic stadium crackled with flash bulbs, as athletes whooped it up and three Canadians even did backflips. When it was time to extinguish the Olympic flame, the crowd booed and whistled and shouted, "NO!"

"The Olympic torch will thus be put out. However, there is no doubt that a little ray resembling it will shine within us for a long time," said Michael Barnier, one of the organizers of the Winter Games.

The closing ceremony, which lasted about 1 1/4 hours, was much different than the surreal opening 16 days ago that included eerie music and people dressed as winged creatures suspended from overhead

Sunday's party required less imagination. It was just full-speed-

The show was full of the impromptu, from athletes highkicking in unison as they marched, to Dutch speedskater Bart Veldkamp running into the stands to offer Barnier and co-president Jean-Claude Killy each a pair of wooden shoes.

There were some familiar scenes from the opening ceremony, though, like dancers dressed as trees, skiers and skaters in elf-like costumes, and human mobiles.

A silver skater kicked off the ceremony, entering the stadium under the banner, "Arrivee." The "bubble girls," whose costumes resembled snow-filled crystal balls, returned from the opening ceremony to lead each of the 64 nations into the stadium.

Then came the giddy athletes. The Mexicans in serapes, the Americans carrying a huge U.S. flag, the Japanese handing out small Japanese flags, the Canadians handing out Olympic pins. Three of the Canadians did backflips as they

Some the members of the French team climbed on each others' shoulders and clamored onto the

Albertville Mayor Henri Dujol passed on the Olympic flag to International Olympic Committee president Juan Antonio

A huge bear made of was escorted by Vikings on skis who formed the shape of a ship whose sail bore a symbol of the Samaranch.

next Winter Olympics in Lillehammer, Norway, in 1994. The rhyming narration that was everywhere in the opening ceremony only made a few appearances Sunday. "Before we close these Olympic

"Let's hear again those famous names ...," went the introduction of Killy and Barnier.

"I would like to offer my warmest thanks, most particularly to 22,000 people. These are the people who brought off the Games we had promised: dedicated stage where, a few minutes later, volunteers, the military and security forces, all smiling and efficient, Killy said.

Killy at one point quit as Olympic organizing committee president "Long live the polka! because of a Long live the Olympics!" squabble over which resorts would serve - a French announcer at as hosts for the different Sunday's closing ceremonies events. He rejoined as Folk dancers in lederhosen danced traditional Tyrolean folk dances. Then racers on Rollerblades sped around the stadium spouting fireworks from their backs.

co-president

about a year

That was the cue for a thunderous pyrotechnic show, just before athletes and spectators alike were called down to the grounds for a final dance.

"Long live the polka! Long live the Olympics," the announcer cried as he beckoned the audience to the towering maypole in the center of

Tubbs wins 400th; Mizzou drops OSU

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Will wonders ever cease?, A nationally-ranked Big Eight team actually won a conference game. Not only that, but two road teams also triumphed.

It's not the sort of thing that's been happening with any regularity lately in the Big Eight.

When Nebraska trimmed No. 23 Iowa State 80-70 early Saturday afternoon, it marked the fifth straight loss by the Big Eight's ranked clubs to unranked conference brethren. Then a couple of hours later, it almost happened again. Kansas State had No. 3 Kansas six points down at halftime and tied 52-52 in the

In the other Saturday game, Oklahoma, bidding to climb back into the national rankings, got 22 points and 16 rebounds from Bryan Sallier Saturday to trim Colorado 99-83 and give coach Billy Tubbs a milestone victory.

Then on Sunday, No. 8 Oklahoma State was at No. 9 Missouri with two of the leading candidates for Big Eight player of the year watching from the sidelines. Missouri guard Anthony Peeler had been suspended for one game for skipping class. Oklahoma State strongman Byron Houston was benched with an ankle injury.

But Jevon Crudup scored 19 points and Jamal Coleman added 18 as the Tigers dealt Oklahoma State a 66-52 loss. Oklahoma's (17-6, 5-5) conquest of Colorado gave Tubbs his 400th career victory. The Buffs (12-11, 3-7) lost in Norman for the 12th straight time. "That's nice, but I don't think 400 is that big a deal, when I see guys getting the 600s and 500s," Tubbs said. "I have to give a lot of credit to the players ... and also give them a lot of credit for the After a 20-0 start, Oklahoma State has fallen to 21-5. The Cowboys' 5-5 conference records ties them with Oklahoma and Missouri (19-4, 7-3) remained one game behind Kansas.

11 A B 1- 5 A 11 1 A - 1 1 A 5 A Student policies cheap

K-State package offers reasonable health insurance

CARMEN DAY

Collegian

It's not cheap to be sick.

However, K-State students have the opportunity for some peace of mind by enrolling in the student health insurance package.

Blue Cross Blue Shield currently administers K-State's student health insurance.

Blue Cross offers services ranging from 100-percent coverage at Lafene Health Center to shared payment for alcoholism and drug abuse treatment and maternity benefits.

The student body president delegates the health plan recommendation responsibilities to the Student Health Advisory Committee, which works closely with the student attor-

the current plan and calls in representatives from other companies. "The representatives are usually

The committee annually reviews brokers or independent agents that sell for several different health insurance programs," said Lannie Zweimiller, director of Lafene.

"They present the possibilities, changes and ideas they have about student health insurance and how to provide it to the student."

Zweimiller, a member of the advisory committee, said they have two philosophies in mind when selecting a health insurance plan — to keep premium costs low and to provide the best possible coverage.

"We want to be sure we're getting the students the best plan," Zweimiller said. "I usually ask the health insurance representatives to think of me as a K-State student who goes skiing in Nome, Alaska.

"If I fall down and break a leg and go into Nome General Hospital, what will happen to me?

"Blue Cross Blue Shield is so universal that you usually won't have any problems or hassles with them, because they're a fairly stable company," he said. "If you have an unknown company, then you worry a little bit more.'

Charles Backhaus, a representative of the Monarch Management Corp., recently presented some of his ideas, and in return received insurance specifications from the committee. Monarch will consider these specifications when placing its bid.

"I think that good service and communication between the insurer and student is one of our strong points," Backhaus said. "If there is a problem or concern, then it's best to get at it from the start. One day per week visitations to campus can often prevent the problems.

"We are looking to establish the long-term relationships, not shortterm ones."

Monarch deals strictly with group student health insurance programs. Mark Nordstrom, president of the corporation, said college risks are more defined than the general health or accident market. Therefore, the buyers at the college level are extremely sophisticated.

"We have expertise in the market, have the ability to work with the program and offer benefits to hold down the costs of administration and services," Nordstrom said.

Zweimiller said he thinks a major benefit of using Blue Cross Blue Shield is the 50/50 shared expense

The state's three other tribes, the Prairie Band Potawatomi, the Sac and

Fox, and the Iowa also are interested in starting casinos. The Sac and Fox have proposed starting a casino and tation and Utilities Committee will have hearings on a bill that would require all motorcyclists to wear helmets, a proposal that in the past has drawn howls of protests from motor-

Presently, only those people riding motorcycles who are 18 and under

CÔLLEGIAN

TO THE EDITOR

Your views are important.

The COLLEGIAN editorial

page is an open forum for our readers' ideas. Please bring your letters to the editor to Kedzie Hall 116. Letters must be signed, and the author must show an ID.

must wear helmets.

On Tuesday, the Senate Transpor-

hotel complex in Kansas City, Kan.

School finance to be discussed

Casinos, birth control implants among issues before legislators

ASSOCIATED PRESS

1992 session, the Kansas Legislature still has not resolved the major issue facing it - school finance and how to fund it.

Rep. Rick Bowden, D-Goddard, chairman of the House Education Committee, said he expects his committee to take up school finance proposals on Tuesday. He has left three days open for committee discussion and possible action on a proposal that would rewrite the school finance bill.

House Majority Leader Tom Sawyer, D-Wichita, said many House members will be watching to see what the committee does with school fi-

"That'll be the big one," he said. Floor debate on the finance bill probably won't begin until mid-March, he

Other matters that lawmakers will deal with include helmets for motorcyclists and casino gambling.

The House Judiciary Committee will have hearings on a controversial proposal to require women convicted of certain drug crimes to be implanted with a birth control device as a condition of probation.

The bill is sponsored by Rep. Kerry a compact with the Kickapoo Tribe. Patrick, R-Leawood.

Under the bill, courts would be able to require that the Norplant device be surgically implanted, usually in the woman's arm, as a condition of probation. The device would be removed after 12 months of random test sampling with negative results. On Tuesday, the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee will have a hearing on Gov. Joan Finney's proposal to divide the Kansas Department of Health and Environment.

Senate Majority Leader Fred Kerr, R-Pratt, said that proposal faces opposition in the Senate.

"We have a lot of opposition to

The NAMES Project

AIDS Memorial Quilt

DISPLAY

AHEARN FIELDHOUSE

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

FRI - FEB 28 -- 10 am - 8 pm

OPENING CEREMONY - 10 am

SAT - FEB 29 -- 10 am - 8 pm

SUN - MAR 1 -- 12:00 - 4 pm CLOSING CEREMONY - 3:30 pm

FREE ADMISSION -- EVERYONE WELCOME

Sponsored by KSU and Manhattan Communities

this," he said. Some lawmakers are TOPEKA - Midway through the concerned about expanding the bureaucracy.

Meanwhile, senators will continue to grapple with casino gambling. Last week the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill that would outlaw casino gambling in Kansas. Some lawmakers say the measure does not have the legal weight of the paper its written

So Sen. Ed Reilly, R-Leavenworth, will have hearings on two proposed constitutional amendments, one to repeal the state-operated Kansas Lottery and the other to ban pari-mutuel

Some lawmakers believe the only way to prevent the state's four Indian tribes from starting casinos on reservations or elsewhere in Kansas under a 1988 federal law is by repealing the constitutional amendments passed in 1986. Those amendments allowed the creation of the lottery and pari-mutuel gambling.

Under a federal law, those states that allow some form of gambling must negotiate compacts with Indian tribes that want to start casinos.

Gov. Joan Finney has signed such

Read the Collegian and EXPAND THE MIND.

LASSIFIEDS

Ad It Up! COLLEGIAN Display Advertising

will connect you with one of our sales representatives.

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $5.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Exact change or checks only after 4:30 p.m.

Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad. Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555. Display Classified Rates

One day: $6.00 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.80 per inch; Five consecutive days: $5.60 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $5.40 per inch. (Deadline is 4 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion national origin, age, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

BARTENDING 101, class starts March 30, 8:30- 9:30p.m. For more information see in Union March 3 or call 532-2519.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

MULTIENGINE FLIGHT training. ATP, Com-mercial, Private, and CFI ratings in HSI-equipped Twin Comanche. Call Hugh Irvin at 539–3128, 532-6311.

THE RIDE. Chicago Art And Architecture.
May 14, 15, & 18th. Visit Chicago with the help of the fine arts fee. Deadline for sign-up is April 15. For more information call the Department of Art at 532-6605.

WEIGHT LOSS. Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guaranteed! For more information call Rhonda 539–3817.

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

Free pregnancy testing

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

$50 $50

Have you had mononucleosis within the last month? If so your plasma could make a valuable contribution to research and earn you $50 at the same time.

For additional details call Kurt Mortenson

Manhattan Donor Center 776-9177

1130 Gardenway - across from Westloop

Hit the road, cat!

It's almost time, ya know. Time to head down South, out West or just away from everything here in the Little Apple. But if you're running short on dough for that special trip, Collegian Class Ads

1. Find some things you don't need. 2. Advertise them "For Sale" in the Collegian Class Ads.

can help you as easy as 1,2,3.

3. Sell your stuff in no time and watch the cool cash roll in.

Simple, huh? With the Collegian Class Ads working for you, there's no reason vou can't clean out your apartment while you have some fun in the sun.

532-6555 Kedzie 103

Mon.-Sat. 9:30 AM to 5:30 PM Thur, evening 'til 8:00 PM Sunday 1-5 PM

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests 523 S. 17th Old Town Mall

537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE 5683

Automobiles for Sale

1977 PONTIAC Bonneville good condition, runs greatl Come take a look $1500 539-2074.

1981 FORD Escort Wagon runs good, ask-ing $750 537-0280.

1985 JEEP Cherokee, 4WD, 4D, Sunroof, 71,000 miles. $4,900. 537-2413.

1987 HONDA Civic Si 60K, sunroof, rear de-frost. Many new componets. Must selll 537–0405, ask for Jeff.

1991 GEO Storm GSI, 9,000 miles. Like new, loaded. Weekdays call 776-1031.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

GREAT TRUCK. 1986 Ford Supercab, low mileage, excellent condition, no rust. Evenings-539-7798.

Child Care

CHILD CARE Monday- Friday 3p.m.- 4p.m. Saturday four hours. Non-smoker, reli-able, own transportation. call 776-1270.

Computers

FOR SALE: 1200 band internal modern with software and manuals; HP- 41 CX calcu-lator with manuals.

SEGATE ST-225, 20 meg hard drive with card $125, here. Monochrome monitor $80, citizen GSX-140, 24 pin printer $220, 539-6360.

Employment

$200- $300 For selling 50 funny college spring break t-shirts. Smaller/ larger quantities available. No financial obli-gation 1-800-659-6890.

$40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts.
Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form.
Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, vacations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn hundreds weekly stuffing envelopes at home. Local businesses will provide all mate-rials. Send SASE to Homemailing Pro-gram— B, P.O. Box 3182 Olthe, KS

AGTECH, INC.— a mail order supplier of Live-stock Production Supplies—requires an office assistant. Part-time the first four weeks then full-time M-F. Telephone weeks then full-time M-F. Telephone order taking, picking/ packing, invoicing, order placing. Light product assembly and packaging; managing accounts payable and receivable. Qualifications: Fluent in Spanish and English. Excellent communication skills and phone manner; experienced with computer word-processing. Able to take instruction and work with minimal supervision. Knowledge of Cattle Embryo Transfer Procedure highly desirable. Submit resume by Feb. 26 to Mr. John Curtis, P.O. Box 1222, Manhattan, KS 68502.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Are you looking for a way to defray the high cost of a college education? By serving one weekend a month and two weeks in the summer you could qualify for up to $28,000 in the Kansas Army National Guardi For more information about an exciting career and great benefits call 537-4108.

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call

DELIVERY DRIVER earn 45-85 per day must have own transportation. Must know Manhattan area. Day and evening shifts available. Call for interview February 25-26 539-5750.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Fxt. K-9701.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

(continued on page 9)

Mancinelli's Ristorante Italiano

OPEN 5-10 DAILY

This Week's Special ★Steak & Pasta

Bread

Salad

Only $3.95

8 oz. Sirloin Steak served with Italian Bread, Salad, and your choice of pasta. $7.95

> Choice of Pasta: Pasta Al Pesto Pasta Ala Carbonman Fettucine Al Fredo

537-8443 2304 Stagg Hill Rd

In A Hurry For Lunch?

Come in and have our luncheon buffet, it includes soup, salad bar and Hot foods for only 4.95 Mongay thru Friday.

530 Richards Dr.

* Holiday Inno

SPRING BREAK AT THE LOFT

THE LOFT The Ultimate Choice in Swimwear Elegant, flirtatious, sporty, feminine, glamorous and always alluring swimwear. The Loft captures all the many moods and looks. FREE T-SHIRT with purchase of swimsuit. EIEIEIEIE 1207 Moro in Aggieville Women's Casualwear

(continued from page 8)

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.

LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national forest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

NEED CASH? We need students to stuff our sales circulars! Excellent wages- $3 per envelope! Start immediately! Send long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157, Forked River, NJ 08731

P.O. Box 1157, Forked River, NJ 08731

NEW ENGLAND Brother/ Sister Camps—
Massachusetts. Mah-Kee-Nac for Boys/
Danbee for Girls. Counselor positions for Program Specialists: All Team Sports,
especially Baseball, Basketball, Field
Hockey, Softball, Soccer and Volleyball;
25 tennis openings; also Archery, Riflery, Weights/ Fitness and Biking; other openings include Performing Arts, Fine
Arts, Newspaper, Photography, Cooking,
Sewing, Rollerskating, Rocketry, Ropes,
and Camp Craft; All Waterfront Activities
(Swimming, Skiing, Sailing, Windsurfing, Canoel Kayaking). Inquire: Mah-KeeNac (Boys) 190 Linden avenue, glen Ridge, NJ 07028. Call 1-800-753-9118.
Danbee (Girls) 17 Westminster Drive,
Montville, NJ 07045. Call 1-800-729-Montville, NJ 07045. Call 1-800-729-

NOW HIRING over 40 people for Big Brother Big Sister Project. Need callers for morn-ing and evening hours. Good salary plus bonus. Apply February 25-26 9- 6 p.m. 1124 Waters "One block off Anderson

Double Barreled

REWARDING SUMMER for Sophomore and older college students counseling in the Colorado Rockies. Backpacking, western riding, waterfront, natural science and many outdoor programs. Write: Sanborn Western Camps, P.O. Box 167, Florissant, CO 80816.

ACCOUNTANT

danhattan real estate firm has imme liate opening for one full time account ant. Duties include bookkeeping, finan cial reports and management role in nancial planning. Starting salary com nensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Priday. Micro computer training and experience mandatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mtns. of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

STUDENT HELP needed. Start March 9 or March 15. Four hour block required, Mon-day thru Friday, 8a.m.- 12p.m. or 1p.m.-5p.m. Apply- Forestry Building, 2610 Cla-lin. Job- Shipping trees. $4.25/hr.

By Daryl Blasi

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

13 For Sale Mobile Homes

16 Lost and Found

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

SHARP 14 wide two- bedroom mobile home, new paint, low payments with cash down. 15- home selection #187 Redbud, Countryside Brockerage 539-2325.

FOUND- BROWN leather jacket in McCain. Call 539-5819 to identify and claim.

FOUND: CHECKBOOK found in Cardwell Hall, claim in Mathematics, Cardwell

LOST, BROWN leather jacket, Tuesday in Cardwell. Reward offered. Please con-tact Brad Staver. 539–9276.

LOST- LARGE blue topaz triangle shape pendant with gold rim, probably at Rec complex approximately one month ago. Reward, 293-5671.

WOMAN'S JACKET found in Bluemont 101. Call Tom 532-6750 ext. 19.

1981 YAMAHA 850 Special. Runs and looks good, $1,300 or best offer. Call Dan 537-4191.

TREK 7000 Aluminum Ridden twice. Must sell $450. 539-1926 (day). Ask for Britt 537-1751 (night).

FIRST TENOR and Bass alternate wanted for vocal group. Good pay. 776-4999 and leave message.

ALPHA DELTA Pi's- Living so close has al-ways been great, perhaps next fall we'll call it fate. Together, at last would be the best. The ball's in your court, you do the rest. - The Phi Delts.

FISH-FACE, BUG-FACE, duckie. Wishing

DACHSHUND, RED, male miniature, seven weeks old and ready for new home.

SAMOYEDE PUPS: three female, two male

PEUSON STUTTE

1105 Waters

(across from Alco) 539-9494

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25

ALL KINDS of typing done. One- day serv-ice. Laser printer. $1.25 per double-spaced page. 537-7027 after 5.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537-7795.

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537–7294.

ECS OFFERS laser quality typesetting for re-ports, these, resumes, etc. Math, scien-tific, foreign character support. Style, grammar checking available, 776-6687.

double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

23 Resume\Typing Service

9am-8pm 9am-5:30pm ★

Noon-5pm

Mon.- Fri.

Sat.

★ Sun.

AKC registered, all shots, ten weeks old. $50, call 539-7340. Leave message for Price negotiable. Call 776-1386.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

you a happy birthday even though you are anthropologically delective and morphologically incorrect. Love, Beaver.

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale

19 Music Musicians

21 Personals

Only found ade can be placed free of

TEMPORARY ACADEMIC counselor with university academic support/retention program. Responsibilities include student recruitment; conducting assessment of academic needs; academic, personal, social, financial, and career counseling social, financial, and career counseling and educational programming. Appointment effective immediately and lasts through May 17, 1992. Masters degree required preferably in Educational Counseling, Student Personnel, Social Wörk, or related area. Salary range: $23-25,000. Prior experience working with diverse populations at the college/university layer minimum of three years.

versity level, minimum of three years.
Ability to establish rapport with students, faculty and support staff essential. Candidates must demonstrate strong interpersonal and written communication skills. A high level of individual initiaskills. A high level of individual initia-tive and experience in an advocacy role is desired. Applications accepted until Friday February 28, 1992. Screening will start immediately. Send letter of appli-cation, resume, and names/ phone numbers of three references to: Dr. Anne Butler, Director, Educational Supportive Services, 201 Holton Hall, Kansas State University, Manhattan, KS 66506. Kan-sas State University is an AA/ EEO em-ployer.

THE TRAIL Ridge Store is now hiring KSU students for summer work in Rocky Mountain National Park, Coloradol Positions available in Gift Store and Snack Bar. Contact Box 2680, Estes Park, CO 80517; (303)586-9319 for information and applications. Call soon for best opportunities! EOE.

THE UNIVERSITY of Kansas Medical Center has an opening for an Industrial Hy-gienist in our Center for Occupational gienist in our Center for Occupational and Environmental Health. Requires Masters Degree in Preventive Medicine or Industrial Hygiene. Board Certified or eligible in Industrial Hygiene, experience in educational programs and in the practice of industrial Hygiene. Prefer PhD, Certified Industrial Hygienist, prior university or governmental experience and expenence in research. Position will provide full service industrial hygiene on and off campus as well as other related duties. Please send resumes to: H. William Barkman, MS, MSPH, Director, 1034 Breidenthal Bidg, KUMC, Kansas City, KS 66160. An Equal Opportunity Affirmative Action Employer

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus. 1, 2, and 3 bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas 2/3 paid, laun-dromat. Nice for couple, $285. 539-2482

NICE ONE and two-bedroom apartment with great prices. Available immediately. 537-2919, 537-1666

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for 2- 4 students. 1829 College Heights. 539-5451.

By Jerry Bittle

By Jim Dikkers

Then she walked up onto my back

By Jeff MacNelly

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785–2777. Please leave a message.

NICE ONE and two-bedroom apartment with great prices. Available immediately. 537–2919, 537-1666

ONE- BEDROOM apartment one block from University 539-2857 or 539-0410.

SERIOUS STUDENT, large one-bedroom Heat, water and trash paid,air condition Available March 1 $255. Lease, no pets 539-2546.

SLEEPING ROOM. One block from university. Call 539-2857 or 539-0410.

TWO BEDROOM apartment, big enough for three people. Balcony, dishwasher, gar-bage disposal, and laundry facilities: Near campus and Aggleville. Lease starting June 1, 537-0852.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENTS southeast of campus for 1992-93 school year. Available August 1, 1992. Call 539-7277. After 5p.m./ weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

ONE AND two-bedroom apartments in 1100 block of Bluemont. Available August 1. One year lease, no pets. 776–0683.

Leasing Now through August * Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts. * College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

MAKE ANDERSON PLACE YOUR HOME AWAY FROM HOME!

NOW LEASING for 1992-1993

KSU Students Both 1 & 2 Bedrooms 1/2 block from campus Furnished & Unfurnished

Showings Every Thursday 3-4

1852 Anderson #17

THE CURTIN COMPANIES 776-8641

APARTMENTS

DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS: ·Built in late 1990:Avail June5.

Aug.5 •New GE Kitchen Appliances including microwave and ceiling

·Economical Gas 'Heat *Designed with the KSU student in

1 ber TED 80 2 RENTED 8484

2 bedroom plus study,

11/2 bath $576 3 bedroom plus study, 2 bath $728

OFFICE: 2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (across from Bramlage) Call Roy at 537-7007

for an appointment

word

be radial canton

56 God of love

lobbying concern 60 Storm center

member

1 Eastern nanny

2 Prefix for normal or

61 Lodge

DOWN

10 For Rent-Houses

and just sat there. THREE LARGE bedroom for three or four $100 CASH to first person to move into nice two-bedroom apartment. One more fe-male roommate. Available immediately. For details 539–5366.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER needed to share three-bedroom, one and one-half bath apartment, own bedroom, very nice. Laundry and plenty of parking available. Very close to campus and Aggieville. $195/ mo. Must be responsible. Starts August 1. Call 539-4316.

FEMALES TO share two-bedroom apartment close to campus. One block from Ag-gieville. Low Utilities. Call 537-2919 or 537-4452.

UPPERCLASSMAN OR graduate preferred non-smoking female roommate to share two bedroom duplex. Call 776-0402.

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.- 5p.m. Monday through

28 Sublease

SUBLEASE MALE roommate. Own room. $115/ month plus one-eighth utilities. Walk to campus. Call 532-6750 ask for William or 539-9324 at night.

SUMMER SUBLEASE for $100/ month! Need female roommate from May—July 31. One-half block campus/ furnished. Call 537-8861.

SUMMER SUBLEASE. Mid- May thru July 31. Two female roommates. $395/ mo, three blocks from campus/ furnished. Call: 776-9712.

30 Travel\Car Pool

BAHAMAS VACATION- Five days plus cruise from Ft. Lauderdale. Act nowl Call Becky for details! 537–0423.

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896.

SPRING BREAK! South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia, Information

on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

SPRING BREAK!!!

South Padre from $99 per person 5 nights Bahamas Cruise $299 per person 6 days/5 nights Cancun from $439 per person 7 nights airlare included

for information call: Stephanie 537-0891

Stop at International Tours for all your spring travel needs.

555 Poyntz Ave. Colony Square P.O. Box 68 Manhattan, KS 66502 913-776-4756

Spring Break '92 SKI COLORADO

Discount Lift

	Here	Ski Area
Keystone	26	36
Breckenridge	26	36
Copper	28	37
Winter Park	25	34

Aggieville THIS IC 537-7546

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equations my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.-8p.m. UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for pa-pers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537–2203 33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback. Best offer, 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

FOR SALE, four gold Alloy wheels with new 14 inch tires. 532-2940.

OR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

FOR SALE: Spring/ Summer wedding dress; brand new, size 12, can be altered. 776-9902.

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS 43 Voting

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, middle of May- July partially furnished apartment, two-bedroom $190 per month 539-8041 leave message. students. Next to campus. Washer, dry-er, central air. Available Aug. 1, $720/ month 537-8543.

legal

3 Moslem

ruler

4 Cleo's

execu-

tioner

5 Chicago

district

6 Fencing

swords

7 He was

"The Godfather"

8 Turkish slowly

12 He was in the White

Suit"

19 Coffee

10 Youngster

"The Man

title

9 Drink

Crossword

1 Zoo 44 Drip's pal mammal 4 Beer's 46 Pry nosily cousin 50 It might 7 Tall spar 11 She's 53 Swiss remem-55 Urgent

bered 13 Soak in liquid 14 Exchange 57 D.C. premium

15 Seed coat org. 58 Eskers 16 He wrote 59 Reporter's of a raven 17 Engrossed 18 Sheik's

20 Remove the rind 22 Bovine mouthful 24 Tends the furnace retreat

21 Summer in Chartres 23 Dad's

24 Roommate Wanted

retreat 25 Green vegetable 26 Harrow's rival 27 Stitches

28 Rebuff 29 Debussy's "Clair de 30 - Bator 31 Morning moisture 35 "All the livelong 38 Understand 40 Legal matter 42 Cherry or apricot

45 Low, sturdy cart 47 River in France

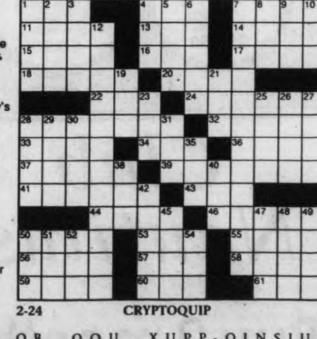

48 Kind of surgery 49 Become lively

50 "..a o'clock scholar 51 Wrath 52 "Kings

(movie) 2-22 54 Diamonds, to some

FERENCES.

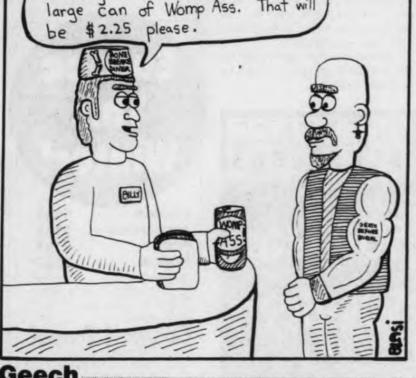

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Q equals T

QB QOU XUPP-QJNSIUA YSISLOUA LQMAUIQ XOB YSJLQ SI GNJGUJ LFOBBP, ONQL NJU Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE CHEF AND HIS AS-SISTANT SAT DOWN AND HASHED OUT THEIR DIF-

ADVICE

Then Mr. Peterson

jumped on the table. I could hear her purring.

A LETTER,

RABBIT.

WHO'S IT

Calvin and Hobbes

I READ THAT TEDDY ROOSEVELT

ONCE SAID, "DO WHAT YOU CAN

AVAH UOY TAHM HIIM

WHERE YOU ARE."

Today I was just sitting at my table, feeling kind of tired

Since it would be unethical of me as a working journalist

to accept any gift,

Shoe

the case of East

Virginia wine

you sent me

I rested my head

on my arms and started to doze.

. .

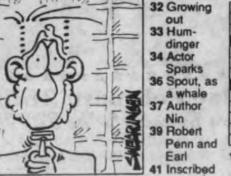

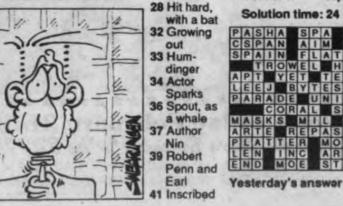

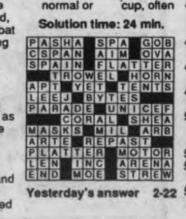

Repeat

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 having a support system of family and

Cook also said approximately half the members in his offenders against children group were themselves abused as children.

These factors also fuel the popular perception that repeat offenders' crimes increase in number and severity when they are released from prison. However, Karren Baird-Olson, instructor in sociology, anthropology and social work, disagreed.

"There is no conclusive evidence as to whether or not repeat sex offenses become more violent or occur with greater frequency," she said.

"Offenders who feel no remorse are the most dangerous and are likely to commit more crimes, but there are a good number of cases where sex offenders can make it if they feel remorse," she said.

'92 CAMPAIGN

Last place Brown challenges Tsongas; Democratic debate heats up in Maine

ASSOCIATED PRESS

PORTLAND, Maine - Paul Tsongas and upstart Jerry Brown battled to a virtual dead heat in Maine's caucuses on Sunday in an improbably close contest that reflected the wideopen race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

First one, then the other, held the lead during a long count — but never by much. With 645 of 665 precincts reporting and the tally halted, Tsongas had 29.5 percent support and Brown

An uncommitted slate of delegates had 16 percent, Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton had 15 percent, and the rest of the field followed.

Predictably, Brown and Tsongas each claimed success. The former California governor, who refuses contributions larger than $100, claimed his showing proved that "grassroots citizens can take back this country."

Tsongas was the favorite in advance by virtue of his victory in last week's New Hampshire primary. Sunday's results gave him less to boast

He brushed aside a suggestion that the Maine results were a sign of a fragile candidacy, saying, "My fight is with Bill Clinton at this point." Brown had finished last in New Hamp-

In all, Sunday was a second remarkable night for the nominating fight in less than a week.

Events teach 'Condom Sense'

PAM FRAHM

A little "condom sense" is what it will take to prevent the further spread of AIDS and other sexually-transmitted diseases This week has been designated Condom Sense Week. Lafene Health Center, the Kansas State University Association of Residence Halls and some campus organizations have planned events to promote condom

Peer AIDS educators will be sitting at tables in the K-State Union Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to answer questions about AIDS and Alex Delgadillo, coordinator for leadership development of the KSUARH, said jeopardy games will be played outside the dining centers.

Categories for the game will include condoms, sexually-transmitted diseases and AIDS. He said prizes will be awarded to the winners.

In conjunction with Condom Sense Week, the Names Project AIDS Memorial Ouilt will be displayed from 10a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday at Ahearn Field House.

The quilt is comprised of panels made by friends and families of those who have died of AIDS.

Common Threads, a film about the AIDS Quilt and biographies of the lives of five people who have died from AIDS, will be shown at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday in Forum Hall.

In 1985, Woodruff filed a work

Woodruff said he urges minorities

Those who have encountered the glass ceiling should press on," he said.

Come in and see us for the Best Prices in Town

on New and Used LPs, CDs

and cassettes.

We carry all styles from country to rap. We buy, sell and trade CDS, LPs and cassettes.

Vital Vinyl

In Aggieville 1118 Moro 539-3160

Mon.-Sat. 11-8 Sun. 12-5

discrimination suit against K-State not to sit on the sidelines.

ETHNIC HARMONY

Manhattan resident says racism 'alive and well'

KRISTEN TURNER

A Manhattan resident says racism and bigotry are alive and well in Man-

Thomas Woodruff Jr. spoke Saturday at the Manhattan Public Library as part of the Focus on Harmony Discussion Series sponsored by the Manhattan Community Harmony Committee. About 15 people attended.

Woodruff addressed the problems faced by all minorities in the workplace and described them as the "glass ceiling.'

The glass ceiling is an artificial barrier created by white males, Woodruff said, and it under-utilizes the capabilities and talents of minorities, including women.

"Minorities are allowed to enter the workplace, but they are only allowed to advance to a certain level and are barred by an intentional and deliberate process of the white male,"

The buddy system, affirmative action phobia, quota phobia and racism are some factors that contribute to the glass ceiling, Woodruff said.

Woodruff said he has experienced racism throughout Manhattan, and he cited specific problems with work discrimination at K-State and the Riley County Police Department.

MANIA 75¢ DRAWS 776-7714

1119 Moro

Club Nautilus

Buy 2 months Get 1 free!

1100 Moro

Aggieville

776-1654

Parole

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

1966 and includes such charges as criminal damage to property and battery of a law enforcement officer. He has three prior felony convictions. In April 1988, rape charges were filed against Harding but later dis-

Ross said both men have had previous parole hearings for their current sentences.

"Chances are, they won't be released, but I really don't know," said Earl Dreher, state parole officer.

The Kansas Parole Board considers many factors in the release of inmates. These include the severity and circumstances of the crime, prior criminal activity, participation in prison programs, prison disciplinary records and the inmate's parole plan, Kilgore said.

"Each inmate creates his own parole plan. It states the restrictions he will abide by, who his employer will be, where he will live and, possibly, a sponsor," he said

Dreher said in the case of sexual offenders like Webb and Harding, the plan would include sexual abuse coun-

Riley County Attorney Bill Kennedy said when considering a person's release, board members ask themselves, "Are things such that this person can be expected to act as a normal person on the outside?"

"Depending on the decision reached, the inmate might be left in jail until the next hearing time, sent to a halfway house or released into society," he said.

Before the hearing, the board sends notice to the judge who presided over the case, the county attorney and the victim if the crime was an A or B felony, Kennedy said.

"Our office tries to notify all victims of upcoming parole proceedings," he said. "These people are allowed to give input to the board."

The public comment sessions then occur a month before the parole hearing, Kilgore said.

If the board decides to parole any inmates, it takes another month before they are actually released.

Burnout of bar key to close

A "for lease" sign is on the marquee, and the doors are closed at Bushwackers bar in Aggieville.

"It's an end of an era," said John Gilman, owner of the property.

Gilman said the business was good, but there were problems with burnedout management. He said he did not want to go into detail.

A fellow bar owner, Terry Russell of Kite's Bar & Grille, said it was his understanding that the liquor license

Eric Wisdom, D.D.S.

WELCOMING SPECIAL

Cleaning, Exam & 2 X-rays

ONLY '39 reg. '59

was about to expire, and the owner was ready to get out.

"He decided it was a good time to try something new," Russell said. Gilman said he hopes to get the bar reopened as soon as possible.

We are negotiating now, and there are some offers in the works," Gilman said. "A lot of people talk a big talk, but getting the money to back themselves up is another story.

Gilman said the name of the bar will definitely be changed, and remodeling is likely.

into another country bar," said David Cashion, senior in business.

Gilman said one way or another, the bar will be reopened, but the deal is presently in limbo.

"I heard it was going to be turned

Europe

London Amsterdam Paris Madrid Geneva

$315* $365* roundtrip purchase. Taxes not included and restric-tions apply. Call for other destinations, both one

$315*

Council Travel

1-800-475-5070

18 to Enter 21 To Drink Private Club Memberships Available

Little American Royal Sign-up

Feb. 24 - 27 Weber Hall & Waters Hall Feb. 26 - 27 KSU Union 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. at all locations

Informational Meeting Feb. 27 6 p.m. Weber Arena

BLUE KEY SCHOLARSHIPS

13 $500 scholarships are available. GPA, leadership and service activities will be considered.

Pick up information sheets in Anderson 122 (VP for Institutional Advancement Office)

Applications due on March 6 by 4:00 p.m.

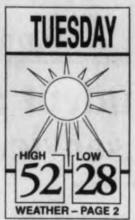

Questions: Contact Jada Kohlmeier 539-2301

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

BLACK

Essence magazine editor Susan Taylor will speak at 7 tonight in the K-State Union.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 104

Fire probably started by candle

MARGARET CLARKIN/Collegian

John Hill, freshman in electrical engineering, collects his belongings Monday afternoon after a fire gutted his room at the Sigma Chi house Saturday. Hill was treated for smoke inhalation and minor burns.

Two Sigma Chis injured attempting to put out flames

JULIE LONG

Sounds of disappointment and frustration could be heard from John Hill's room in the Sigma Chi fraternity house yesterday as he began to clean his room, which was damaged by fire Saturday morning.

Hill, freshman in electrical engineering and one of the room's residents, was injured in the fire. He received about 10 stitches in his right hand, four stitches in his left little finger and second-degree burns on his left hand and his leg. He was also treated for smoke inhalation.

Another resident, Tony Isler, sophomore in marketing, was also treated for smoke inhalation.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but it may have been caused by a scented candle that was left burning.

We think it was a candle that was blown over," Hill said.

The members were downstairs eating breakfast when a woman who was walking by stopped and told them there was smoke coming from an upstairs window, he said.

"She kept saying, 'Excuse me, excuse me, excuse me.' Then she said, 'Fire,'" Isler said.

They ran upstairs and began to put out the fire with a fire extinguisher. The fire extinguisher ran out. Most of the fire was out when Hill entered the "Crazy man Hill came in and threw a crate that was on fire out the window," Isler said. "I couldn't see him, so I yelled his name. Then I smashed into him at the door.'

Hill said he was told the room's temperature could have been anywhere from 700 to 800 degrees.

Among the damaged items were a 24-inch television, clothes, a stereo and speakers, textbooks, several cassette tapes and a few plants. A goldfish in the room died after the fire, and a fire alarm melted.

Most of the fire was out before the fire department arrived, Isler said.

"It was really more smoke than anything," Isler said. Hill said he doesn't remember much that happened. He just reacted,

General Motors closes plants to restore profits

Other cuts at 10 plants to affect 16,000 workers

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DETROIT — General Motors Corp. reported a record $4.5-billion 1991 loss Monday and identified some of the plants it must close to restore profits to the world's largest industrial corpora-

GM Chairman Robert Stempel announced the closings of two assembly plants - in Michigan and in New York - and cuts at 10 of GM's supplier factories, affecting 16,000 workers.

He also described a long-range plan to eliminate redundancies in nearly all areas of operations, including vehicle design and marketing, technical research and support operations.

"We must accelerate the fundamental changes," Stempel said.

The details answered some of the questions left when the automaker announced a broad restructuring last December. The overall plan calls for 21 plant closings and 74,000 job cuts by the middle of the decade.

Analysts have said slow vehicle development, generous labor contracts and the recession have combined to force GM to shrink.

"I think this announcement is a beginning of a long series of restructurings," said John Casesa of Wertheim Schroder & Co. in New York.

"Through the '90s, GM will be continuously restructuring to match its capabilities to the demands of the market."

GM stock lost 62-1/2 cents to $37.75 in New York Stock Exchange trading in the aftermath of Monday's announcements.

Stempel said GM's Willow Run large-car assembly plant outside Ypsilanti, and its minivan plant in ■ See GM Page 8

WINNERS AND LOSERS General Motors announced two plant closings as part of a company reorganization. Eventually, 21 plants will be closed, and 74,000 workers will lose their jobs. 1. WILLOW RUN - Ypsilanti, Mich. CLOSED — Production of large GM cars will be moved to the Arlington, Texas, plant by 1993.

2. NORTH TARRYTOWN, NY CLOSED — Production of minivans will cease by 1995. FAIRFAX — Kansas City, Kan. REMAINS OPEN - But GM wants to close at least one mid-size car plant in the next few years.

ARLINGTON, Texas

REMAINS OPEN — Will be only plant making GM's large cars.

FORT RILEY Soldier to be sentenced today

CHRISTINE VENDEL

One of two Fort Riley soldiers convicted in the slaying of K-State sophomore Catherine Heintze will be sentenced to-The 9 a.m. hearing will be in

Geary County Court for Jason L. Tumer. Turner, 21, pleaded no contest and was found guilty Jan. 17 of felony murder and kid-Turner and another soldier, Nathaniel W. Ellibee, 19, were convicted in connection to the Sept. 20 murder.

The soldiers allegedly staked out Pate's Convenience Store north of Junction City where Heintze was a clerk. Ellibee testified during his arraignment that the soldiers were attempting to rob the store, and Turner shot Heintze in the head with a high-powered rifle when he saw her hit some switches.

Ellibee was found guilty Feb. 7 of the reduced charge of aiding and abetting second degree

Pate Willingham, owner of the convenience store, said he would like to see anyone who knew Heintze at the sentenc-

"We want to get a full house. It might have an influence on See TURNER Page 8 INTERRACIAL RELATIONSHIPS

Affection knows no color boundaries

Personality accounts for attraction; problems not different from other couples'

ULRIKE DAUER

When Krista and Lawrence fell in love, it was because they found a response in one another's smile.

"Her athleticism, her eyes and her beautiful smile caught my attention first," said Lawrence Combs, a 1981 K-State graduate in life sciences and a firefighter with the Manhattan Fire Theta.

Department. Louie is a happy-go-lucky, fun-lov-ing person," said Krista Hill-Comb, a customer service representative for the Master Teacher and a 1980 K-State graduate in elementary educa-

ADMINISTRATION

They had a lot in common. Both were active athletes, and they joined the same social circles due to his black fratemity, Kappa Alpha Psi, and her black sorority, Delta Sigma Krista, who has been married to "It was his eyes and his smile. Lawrence for nine years, said she is attracted to her husband a lot more now. Not only for his free spirit, but also for his affection.

"He is romantic, and I still think he looks great," she said.

Skin color didn't matter at all when they first met, and it never did. Krista is a Caucasian. Lawrence is an African-American.

It also didn't matter when Krista joined a predominantly black sorority. She said she wanted to do community service, and some close friends who happened to be black talked her into considering joining their soror-

Krista said she liked the openness and affection with which people in her sorority dealt with each other.

"I've never seen segregation, but mom, dad — cross racial lines," she brotherhood," she said. She said right and wrong doesn't have to do with skin color. "There are things that are ethically wrong, and that's not white or black culturally right is right, and wrong is wrong," she said. Krista said their situation is not different from other couples. Raising a family takes away time from relation-building time with her husband. "It is really difficult to create the time together we both want," she said. "Man and woman, husband and wife has so little to do with racial differences. The roles you have - Both their families and friends have always supported their relationship, Lawrence and Krista said. "The family has always been very supportive of me and has always given me encouragement to find a good, integer person, someone who would not use me," Krista said.

There were no boundaries on whom I could date and socialize with. I didn't only date black men, but men from a variety of backgrounds."

Lawrence, who worked in the See COUPLE Page 8

Full-time dance faculty position to be left open

K-State dance majors will lack one full-time instructor next year.

The College of Arts and Sciences announced Monday that the modern dance instructor position will be left open for the 1992-93 school year, thereby reducing the full-time dance staff from three to two faculty. A part-time instructor will be hired next year to help cover the classes the modern instructor teaches, said Professor Harold Nichols, head of the speech department and chairman of the dance department.

Peter Nicholls, dean of arts and sci-

"This is a temporary freeze on positions," he said. "If we filled all positions, we would be substantially overspent on our budget."

Arts and sciences plans to fill the dance program position again before the 1993-94 school year, he said.

The modern dance position was vacant for next year when the current instructor, Dina McDermott, resigned before staff openings were announced.

McDermott, assistant professor in speech, said she is leaving K-State to pursue other career options in either

The opening will not affect dance course offerings, or the annual Winterdance and Springdance performances next school year, Nichols

Candidate reveals beliefs, ideas

Assistant provost finalist discusses comprehensive university planning

BECKY DARBY

Collegian

The first of three candidates for the position of assistant provost gave a short speech Monday afternoon about planning in a comprehensive univer-

Paul Duby, director of institutional research and management information services at Northern Michigan University, discussed his ideas and beliefs about planning for K-State.

The two other finalists are Gerald McLaughlin Jr., professor and director of institutional research at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, and Roseann Reinemuth Hogan, director of planning and assessment at the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

The selected candidate will replace Don Hoyt, who retired from the position earlier this year.

A 10-member committee made up of faculty members and administrators will select the new assistant pro-

Lynn Ewanow, selection committee chairwoman and assistant dean of the College of Architecture and Design, said all finalists appear to have the credentials to fill the position.

Some of the topics Duby discussed were planning for personnel, research grants and campus services.

He said he stresses the need to get all students and faculty involved in the planning process, and the need for communication on what is and what isn't being accomplished.

campus," Duby said. "The campus needs to continue to move forward." McLaughlin will speak at 3:30 p.m. March 2 in Union 207, and Hogan will present her speech at 3:30 p.m.

about planning in a comprehensive university, and they will answer questions afterward.

"Planning is a shared process across

March 5 in Union 213. The presentations are given in a forum that is open to the public. Each candidate will give a presentation

The vacancy in the dance department is one of about 10 positions left open in the college for fall 1992, said

PROFILE

Student gives time to service program

KRISTEN TURNER

A K-State student is an intern caseworker for the Big Brother/Big Sisters organization in Manhattan this

Laura Goff, senior in human development, family studies and community services, said she was drawn to Big Brothers/Big Sisters by her desire to work with children and her awareness of the field's need for help.

"Previously, I've only worked with children age 5 under. Working with Big Brothers/ Big Sisters was a great opportunity to work with kidsage 6-16," she said.

GOFF

Goff's responsibilities include interviewing prospective little brothers and sisters, assisting with the pairing of big brothers/sisters and little brothers/sisters, case follow-ups and waiting list activities.

Goff said one of the satisfactions she receives from the job is making the follow-up calls and hearing how well a match is working out.

Goff said the biggest need she sees in the children she interviews is the need for role models and positive

"It is very important the way children are treated and view themselves when they are young. They are very impressionable," she said.

Many of the children Goff interviews have had limited experiences outside their home and school.

"I interviewed a little boy who was 6 years old and had never roller-skated, bowled or gone to the mall," Goff

The Big Brothers/Big Sisters program helps raise the children's selfesteem, expose them to new experiences and give them positive role models, Goff said.

She said it also gives the parents extra support.

"I care about children, and I want them to develop to their fullest potential, and Big Brothers/Big Sisters is one way for me to help do that," Goff

Goff said she originally wanted to be a legal advocate for children, but found she enjoyed teaching more.

After graduation, Goff said she would like to pursue a career as a prekindergarten teacher and continue as a volunteer for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters organization.

Goff said other K-State students are also Big Brothers/Big Sisters volunteers, but more are welcome and needed for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Bowling Classic March 28-29.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

At 10: 15 a.m., custodial personnel were called regarding large quantities of water found in front of elevators on the first, second and third floors of Ackert Hall.

At 1:22 p.m., a plumber was called to the hallway across from Ackert 330 concerning a clogged drain, causing it to back up and flood the hallway.

At 6:58 p.m., a red Toyota was wheellocked in Lot A6, reserved stall No. 490. The wheellock was removed at 7:59 p.m.

At 10:23 a.m., a burglary theft was filed from Haymaker Hall. A 6-inch knife valued at $10 was reported missing. The property has since been returned to its rightful owner.

At 12:25 p.m., a car accident occurred at the McCain Auditorium loading docks. Damage is estimated at $500.

At 1:20 p.m., a lost wallet report was filed. Los

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SUNDAY, FEB. 23
At 12:44 p.m., an accident involving vehicles driven by Edward A. Cain, 2408 Buttonwood Lane, and Val G. Bussart, Route 1, Karnowsk Lane, St. George, was reported in Walmart parking lot 628.
At 8:47 p.m., a report regarding an employee theft was filed at Food-4-Less, 3911 Anderson Ave. $5.25 in U.S. currency and coin were taken. Rebecca D. Pendarvis, 1005 Bertrand St., Apt. B, was issued a notice to appear.

issued a notice to appear.
At 8:52p.m., aburglary report was filed at 511
N. Juliette Ave., No. 2. The front door of the apartment was damaged. Loss was estimated to be

At 11:15 p.m., a male prowler was reported outside Park Place Apartments, 1408 Cambridg Road. Officer was unable to locate the subject.

MONDAY, FEB. 24

At 6:31 a.m., a burglary was reported at Copy Co. Inc., 1227 Moro St. $3,000 in U.S. currency and checks were taken. Also, damages were reported to the front door, valued at $300, and to the safe,

At 6:45 a.m., Debra Clemons, 300 N. Walnut, Ogden, reported a vehicle burglary. A Whistler radar detector model/tri-band 1000, 10 cassette tapes, a $20 bill and one road hazard safety kit were taken from a Geo trailer. The total loss was reported to be $207.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 25

SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in K-State Union 207.

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Susan Taylor, editor of Essence magazine, will speak at 7 p.m. in Union Forum Hall as part of Black History Month.

Southwind will be selling environmental T-shirts and raffle tickets on the first floor of the Union. Little American Royal sign-up will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Weber, Waters and the Union lobbies. ■ ASME will meet in at 8 p.m. in Durland 164.

K-State Young Democrats will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 209.

Alpha Chi Sigma will meet at 6 p.m. in Willard 115. Pi Sigma Epsilon will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Calvin 211.

Career Planning and Placement Center will conduct a workshop on ob search strategies at 6:30 p.m. in Denison 220.

Black Student Union will meet at 7 p.m. in Union Forum Hall. Note the National Agri-Marketing Association will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

Circle K will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 205. Association for Women in Science will meet at 11:30 a.m. in Union 209.

■ Alpha Phi Omega will meet at 5:55 p.m. in Goodnow Hall first floor

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

Mostly sunny with a high in the lower 50s. Winds out of the north at 10 to 15 mph. Low tonight in the upper 20s.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

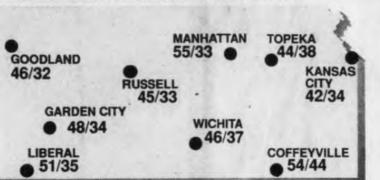

Remaining clear with the high warming to the upper 50s.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Continued clear and mild. High Thursday and Friday in the upper 50s, warming to the 60s on Saturday. Lows in the

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

rime Time

Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas

1 - Topping

Cokes

$10.50

776-5577

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Lima	82/72	clear
Auckland	81/61	clear	Madrid	54/36	cloudy
Cairo	52/41	cloudy	Nairobi	81/54	clear
Hong Kong	66/55	clear	Rio	104/73	clear

1800 Claflin Rd.

NO COUPON SPECIALS"

776-5577

Everyday Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas 2 - Toppings

2 - Cokes

$8.50

Ad It Up! in the COLLEGIAN

In a Hurry For Lunch?

Come in and have our luncheon buffet, it includes soup, salad bar and Hot foods for only $4.95 Monday thru Friday.

* Holiday Inno

530 Richards Dr.

539-5311

Amnesty International Needs Your HELP!

A KSU Alumnus is imprisoned in Ethiopia without formal charges. Sign a petition at the table in the Union MEETING- Union 204 at 7 p.m.

TONIGHT

Help free Tadesse Kidane-Mariam

99¢ VIDEO RENTALS

From now thru Feb. 29 you can rent your favorite video or Nintendo for only 99¢.

Take advantage of our everyday low prices on snacks and beverages when you stop by. C-Mart is convenience at prices you can afford.

720 N. 3rd

539-3510

BLUE KEY SCHOLARSHIPS

13 $500 scholarships are available. GPA. leadership and service activities will be considered.

Pick up information sheets in Anderson 122 (VP for Institutional Advancement Office)

Applications due on March 6 by 4:00 p.m.

Questions: Contact Jada Kohlmeier 539-2301

SPRING BREAK AT THE LOFT

Before apartment hunting Learn the facts!

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

For more information call: Consumer Relations Board 532-6541 or visit our table in the Union Tuesday and Wednesday 11:30-1:30

HAPPY 21st BIRTHDAY

Melissa Urban

Isaac Tichenor Goodnow, one of the foremost ploneer educators in Kansas, was born 1814 in Vermont and died in 1894 in Manhattan.

Museum preserves homesite of abolitionist, K-State founder

JENNIFER BEALS

A man with a dream.

Isaac Tichenor Goodnow envisioned a country without slavery an educated nation.

He brought this dream to Kansas and fathered K-State.

Goodnow was born in Kathleen Brown, caretaker of the museum, answers questions about the Goodnow House and Isaac Goodnow during a brief tour of the house Sunday afternoon. The Goodnow House Museum, located on Claffin Road, is listed with the Kansas State Historical Society as a state landmark.

his education at the Wesleyan Acad- for a Methodist church. emy in Wilbraham, Mass., and he became a professor of natural sciences at Providence Seminary in East Greenwich, R.I.

During this time, Goodnow attended a lecture on slavery. When he learned of what was happening, he start a town in Kansas.

At this time, Kansas, not yet a seum. state, had the option to be free or

In 1855, Goodnow and his group arrived in Kansas and settled the town of New Boston. As New Boston was getting on its feet, another group of ence decided not to back Bluemont. pioneers, who were to settle a town called Manhattan, also decided to stay.

ton was changed to Manhattan.

After Manhattan was settled. Goodnow, an orthodox northern Whitingham, Vt., in 1814. He received Methodist, was sent east to find money but Robinson wanted a deal. Robinson

Later, he went east again for money to start the church college, and in 1859, Bluemont College opened its doors.

Goodnow not only served as an instructor of mathematics and astronomy at Bluemont, but he also became so enraged that he resigned labored to keep the college going fifrom the seminary and decided to nancially, said Kathleen Brown, curator of the Goodnow House Mu-

Goodnow sought financial aid from the Legislature and the Methodist Conference. Due to the fact that Kansas already had a school in Baldwin Baker University - the confer-

In 1861, Kansas received its statehood, and Goodnow had an idea. He Later, the settlement of New Bos- traveled again to the Legislature to persuade Gov. Charles Robinson to take over the school.

The Legislature passed the bill, would sign the bill if Manhattan would brought with him was the belief of allow Lawrence to be the new state equal education," Brown said. "It was capital. But Manhattan had given its alliance to Topeka, and Robinson vetoed the bill.

Lawrence, in turn, received the money, which created the beginning

To put it mildly, Bluemont was in

In 1862, the Morrill Act passed, and Goodnow had another idea.

He again visited the Legislature, but this time he had success. He persuaded it to accept Bluemont as an agricultural college through the land-grant terms of the act.

Because of approval of the college under the Morrill Act, however, Goodnow became a land agent. He was in charge of selling pieces of land for profit to pay for the college.

In 1863, Kansas State Agricultural College opened its doors. "One radical idea that Goodnow pretty revolutionary and really important."

Even though this was progressive for the era, many women took advantage of accessible education.

"In the second graduating class, there were five students, with four female graduates. The third class had 13 people, with eight female graduates," Brown said.

Later in his years, Goodnow traveled rural Kansas to spread the word about education.

"He went to settlements to deliver lectures on organizing schools for children," Brown said. "At the time, Goodnow was a known abolitionist, and this caused him danger."

In 1894, Isaac Goodnow died at his home in Manhattan.

But his memory lives on.

A:

Q: WHO PUTS THE "TWO" IN TUESDAY?

Manhattan Town Center 537-3311 and Aggieville 620 N. Manhattan

537-8700 *Higher price prevails. Not good in combination with any other offer.

Yes it's back! Buy one foot long* & a medium drink, get a second sub free!

How would you like to be an important part of one of the top college newspapers in the U.S.?

The Kansas State Collgian is looking for a Copy Editor. Applicant must have excellent spelling and grammatical skills. Knowledge of Associated Press style helpful. Work approximately 20 to 25 hours per week. Salary $200 per month plus invaluable experience.

Submit applications to Erwin Seba in Kedzie Hall 116 by March 2, 1992. Applications may be obtained in Kedzie Hall 103.

More information may be obtained by calling 532-6555.

If you want to voice your opinion about the general admission seating policy contact:

Milt Richards athletic director 532-6910

Charlie Thomas Bramlage director 532-7600

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

Coliseum's seating should be reserved

It's become rather obvious that some sort of change needs to be made in seating at Bramlage Coliseum again.

Though camping out days before the KU-K-State game this weekend looked like a lot of fun, things became a little dangerous once the doors to the coliseum were opened and fans scrambled to get on the floor in Bramlage's general admission section.

General admission is bad, both professionally speaking and from a fan's point of view. It creates problems in crowd control and patron service. With general admission, Bramlage is opening itself up to tons of problems, and quite possibly a lawsuit if someone gets hurt.

Now, the problem with eliminating general admission is that once it's out of there, we have to find reserved seating for the 5,200 seats guaranteed to K-State students for footing part of the cost of Bramlage and paying our fine arts/athletic fee.

Theoretically, if general admission seating is abolished, the "student spirit" may dwindle. Then ticket sales may decrease. And then, if those 5,200 seats aren't filled, Department of Intercollegiate Athletics Director Milt Richards could propose to Student Senate that the amount of student seats be reduced and sold to alumni, fans or corporate sponsors who could help reduce our ailing athletic deficit.

The problem is two-fold. General admission is dangerous. Though a KU-K-State match-up in Bramlage is a once-a-year occurrence, the eternal optimist deep inside every K-Stater is saying that we someday will have a not-just-goodbut-excellent basketball team, so every game will be as exciting as Saturday's thriller.

If student support dwindles because general admission seating is changed to reserved, we may lose some of the 5,200 seats sold in bulk to students. This is really too bad, because students who go to the games are paying three times (the Bramlage referendum, the fine arts/athletic fee and the game ticket) to watch a game they must camp out for days to see.

In turn, the solution is two-fold. Get rid of general admission and continue to allocate 5,200 seats for students. We built the coliseum, we deserve to get a seat.

Another solution is for the athletic department and the basketball team to build a winning team. Student support then will not decline.

These two decisions are in the hands of Student Senate, the Student Seating Committee, the athletic department and Bramlage officials.

It would be in their best interests to look at general admission seating and fix it so no one can get hurt, everyone who wants can get a seat, and fulfill the promise the athletic department made to students when they asked us for cash to build the coliseum.

Ozone and recycling must be global priority

Last week, top NASA officials said the condition of the ozone layer is far worse than they originally thought.

And that's just half of it. The five-month investigation also revealed the beginnings of a large hole over the Northern Hemisphere - over us. The Bush administration, known for its lack of environmental concern, took only a week to order a halt of production of ozone-eating chemicals. Of course, violators have until 1995 to stop production, but any concern by the current administration is a clear sign of urgency.

In contrast, the attitude of the general public is one of apathy. Discussion of the topic is almost as worn as the ozone itself.

Our government needs to take the bull by the horns and dictate the importance of caring for the Earth to the people.

After all, the primary responsibility of any government is to care for its constituency.

The time to act is now, not when we have to start wearing 5-zillion concentrate sun block just to take out the garbage. It seems ridiculous to squabble with Middle Eastern countries or worry about a national health-care plan when our very existence as human beings is at risk.

Bush and his administration should outlaw Chlorofluorocarbons now, not when it's convenient for business. We should use what's left of our international influence to encourage other nations to do the same.

On a local level, preservation can begin with recycling. Individuals and businesses argue recycling isn't profitable. However, if we would show a commitment to recycling, perhaps the government would subsidize recycling to make it profitable.

The increase in this industry would not only create jobs, but preserve our current way of life.

Twenty-five years ago, the "Save the Earth" mentality was as amusing as the hippies themselves.

Today, it's a matter of life and death.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167. tributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Verbal abuse disrespectful and unnecessary name is Eve Allison Wilson. That is the name my parents chose to give me when I was born. There simply is no easier way for me to explain that to you. So now I ask, did you see the words asshole, bitch, cunt, nigga or anything else along those lines mentioned at the beginning of this paragraph? No, you didn't, and I bet none of your parents named you cracker, dick, hoogie or anything like that, either.

So why do we keep calling each other these things? It's not like they're names we hold with high regard. Most of the time, they are used derogatorily, but not always.

Sometimes we use them toward friends, in a lighthearted way, as a kind of tease. Other times, these monikers are used to express anger

I'm not going to lie; sometimes I catch myself calling others some of the very terms I have listed and worse. But I'm trying to quit, although it's not easy.

But let me tell you why I'm going to stop addressing people in this way.

First of all, I have no right to complain about the way some musicians refer to me as a woman in some songs if I'm walking around referring to others in the same way. That's not to say I'm against people having the right to listen to music that disrespects others, because they have a right to, protected under the First Amendment. I simply turn it off, gripe, or leave if I am offended, as my poor fiance will

A pertinent reason for most of you, as well as myself, to stop calling people profane terms is that it is not professional to walk around calling someone something other than his or her name. Truth is, you simply don't last long general. if you can't think well enough or straight enough to call someone by the correct name, especially in workplace situations.

Another reason I'm going to quit is because it just doesn't project my best verbal capacity. As a soon-to-be college graduate, command of the English language would seem to be an asset. Just about any child can call others names they have heard, and they probably know why they're using them just about as well as anyone older does.

I don't use these words in front of people I respect highly, and part of the reason I respect them is because they don't use them, either.

hese words are dumb to use, because many were originally meant to degrade, even though some had legitimate beginnings. That's why I don't much appreciate television's adoption of the word bitch. It's not very funny to me to see two middle-aged women, for example, scream that word at each other simultaneously just so the writer can get a cheap laugh. That's an insult to my intelligence and an insult to women in

I am not going to use names that apply to me stereotypically. I used to say, "Yeah, you can call me bitch," or simply respond when someone called me that as though I was proud. But then I realized, why should anyone respect me if I'm nothing but a bitch? I give a damn about the so-called new definition: arrogant, powerful and strong. A man can display all three of those characteristics, and he's not called bitch.

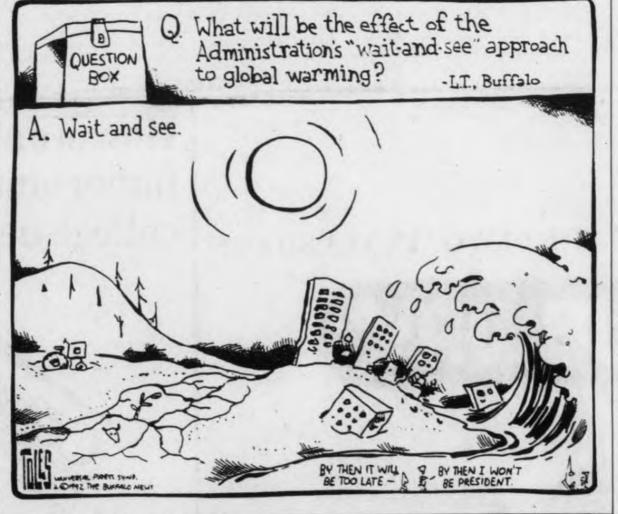

also used to respond to nigger/nigga when addressed by other black folks. I never would accept that from anyone who wasn't black; those were fighting words. Now I won't tolerate it at all. Sure, there may be people out there who fit the stereotypical characterization of the mythological nigger, but I sure as hell am not one of them, and I pride myself on trying not to associate with anyone who acts the part either.

People seem to respond better to me when I address them in a polite manner. They also tend not to act as derogatory. (Don't people tend to act even more anal retentive after being called an asshole? Well, the same goes for the other names.)

I guess my biggest motivation to call people by their correct names is that it seems so lower-class and uneducated when I don't. And as one of tomorrow's leaders, I want to display an image befitting my intellect and status. I can't do that with a speech impediment like this.

I hope everyone plagued by this bad habit will try to stop calling people unnecessary and disrespectful names. At the very least, we'll all sound better.

EDITORIAL CARTOON

LETTER

MERICAN CARS CERTAINLY ARE NOT CHEAP JUNK

Editor,

In response to your views oops, I mean the views of Uby Wauken on the quality of foreign vs. domestic cars, I have but one thing to say, and even in your own words; KISS MY ARSE.

I presently own two American-built cars — one a 1967 model and the other a 1986, both of which have well more than 50,000 miles on them, and they run and perform as well as the day they were new. Gee, when was the last time you saw a '67 Jap model on the road? Don't get me wrong, I'm not saying American-built cars are of better quality than those built elsewhere, but they're certainly not the "cheap junk" you say they are. I have yet to see any mechanical device last forever (foreign or domestic).

Brad, I hope to find you stranded in your Japmobile on the plains of western Kansas sometime, because I'll take great pleasure in not stopping to offer any assistance (sorry, Carla Jones).

Then, Brad ... Uby Wauken!

Kevin Dunn Senior in engineering technology

Not Ready To Commence Commencement

"I must disappear in order that the search for myself be successful." - Stanley Cavell's "The Claim of Reason."

"Enclosed is your copy of the application for graduation. You have been approved for graduation. Later in the semester, you will be receiving detailed information regarding the commencement ceremony, which is scheduled for Saturday, May 16, 1992."

That's what the letter I received this weekend said. It happened to be the only piece of mail in the box that day - alone, important, purple.

Well, this being my final semester, I thought I should write something about what this laserjet message meant to a student like myself - or rather, what it should

The problem is, I can't seem to think of anything that isn't unbearable, innocuous and cliche. In four years here, I've heard bushels of stuffy administrators haranguing sleepy crowds. So I am by no means going to try to recreate a pomp and circumstantial floorseat in Bramlage Coliseum for the opinion page. I'll try a different

What's this "finding yourself"

I can remember baking in undoubtedly the hardest and leastoiled wooden seat in my highschool auditorium, listening to one of several "distinguished alumni" tell how it was going to be. Undoubtedly, us losing ourselves would be slipped in nonchalantly.

"Your time spent in high school may have been a rewarding experience," he said keynotely, "but just take a moment to think" (during speeches in high school, we were always taking a moment to think about something) "of all the wonderful and exciting things to look forward to in a collegiate experience: the chance to think seriously about where you've been and where you're going, an opportunity to meet fascinating people from around the world, and a chance to take time to discover what it means to be an independent and positive contributor to an increasingly global society. You must now try to find a place for yourselves in this world. That's why graduating from high school is truly a commencement, a beginning."

High school was great? Sure, whatever. My graduation robe was itching like burlap that day, and so was I - to leave. I couldn't wait to peel off that rented polyester straightjacket and mortar board, and my hometown as well. At the time, our link with the "increasingly global society" basically boiled down to the addition of a Western Union window at the local grocery and a Chamber of Commerce drawing for a cruise to the Bahamas every now and then. Nobody ever did win, as far as I can remember.

I left home for K-State that August, looking for universal truth and my own apartment.

Now, a leap year later, as February seems dead still like a stagnant pond choked with weeds, and March holds only the promise of stirring this stale air, I am headed for another "commencement." The constant report of Gov. Joan Finney's 20-gauge, chased closely by her daughter's .410, punctuates my impatience. Supposedly, now that I am graduating, I have found myself and my place within this world. I can "commence" the accompanying job.

But, I'm in no mood to start the rest of my life at the moment. Besides, employment prospects don't look sparkling right now. I guess I could always toss clay pigeons for the governor.

Still, as I think about wearing this next robe and helmet, and it's surely not to be my last, I'm positive it will rest on my skin like burlap in its own right. I need to leave this state behind in order to appreciate it.

And after four years at this Mecca of learning, at times, I think I'm most qualified to ramble disjointedly with $10 words and to choose the best skipping rocks around Tuttle Creek Reservoir, especially since the water has receded as far as it has. I can find a fiver almost every time now. As for me, I'm not ready to find myself just yet. I don't think I've disappeared.

SCOLLEGIAN SPORTS

AP BASKETBALL POLL 7. UNLV (3) 14. Oklahoma State

2. Indiana (7)

4. UCLA

5. Arizona

6. Missouri

1. Duke (48) 3. Kansas (7)

8. Ohio State 9. Arkansas 10. North Carolina 11. Kentucky

12. Michigan State

13. Southern Cal

15. Tulane 16. Alabama

17. Michigan 18. Georgetown 19. Cincinnati

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

20. St. John's

Other Big Eight: No. 25 Nebraska, No. 27 Oklahoma, No. 36 Iowa St.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1992

BIG EIGHT FOOTBALL

Cats football will spend another year on TV sidelines

ESPN's Orasco says networks are making an effort to show more Big Eight games

PATRICK OBLEY

If the current plan holds, the K-State football team will probably not appear on national television at any time during the next few years.

Mike Orasco, collegiate football coordinator for ESPN, a national sports cable network, said the current agreement between ESPN, ABC and the College Football Association does call for more Big Eight games in the upcoming years.

But, barring a bowl bid, K-State may have to wait until the next contract, which will be negotiated in 1994, before it will be on national television.

"K-State doesn't have any appearances in the mix right now," Orasco said. "But they are far more advanced than they were a few years back, and they've got everyone's attention.'

Orasco said his primary task is to keep in constant dialogue with Chuck Ninus, who heads up the CFA.

Through dealings with Ninus and associates at ABC, Orasco said ESPN will decide the number of games it will show in a given year.

"We usually do about 27 to 28 games,"

The games ESPN chooses to televise are directly affected by what ABC decides to do during a particular week.

"ABC's regionalization the last few years has made a big impact," Orasco said. "On a given week, ABC will have first pick as to what they will televise, then we get to choose from whatever is left.

"Obviously, if ABC chooses to go regional and televise several games to several parts of the nation, we are affected."

But, Orasco said, there is an advantage in that format for the Big Eight and K-

"The more games shown each week, the better the Big Eight's chances to be televised."

The CFA consists of 64 schools, and includes the Big Eight, Southwest conference, Southeastern conference and the newly formed Big East conference.

When the agreement was signed in 1990, a couple of unexpected moves ensued. Notre Dame signed a deal to be televised exclusively by NBC, the Big East football conference was formed, and the Southeastern conference expanded.

Orasco said when the constituency is refigured next year, all of those variables will be considered, and that may be a negative for the conference.

Orasco said. "That expansion will have a dramatic effect when the CFA figures its constituency requirements.

"The Big East is probably not be K-State we'll made up of nine very choose." good teams, including Miami and Syracuse. It be that conferences like the Big Eight could be squeezed."

But that would be dealing with television ratings and the number of households in a particular region. Orasco said ESPN doesn't put a whole lot of stock in the ratings race.

"We, as a national carrier, do games that would appeal to football fans, no matter where they live," Orasco said. "Football is quite different from other sports.

"In basketball, there is more of an emphasis on getting into the big markets, but with football, you're dealing with football fans who, I feel, want to see good

"We have one open Thursday

K-State for that slot, but it will date left. We honestly did consider

Orasco said the best games are those between the best teams.

"All things considered, the rankings are a traditional indicator of the best teams," "Southeastern football is very popular," Orasco said. "Those are the games we want > doesn't matter where they are from or what conference they are in.' For the upcoming football season, - Mike Orasco, ESPN Orasco said ESPN will cut down on the triple-headers and place more of an emphasis on Thursday night games.

'We have one open Thursday date left," Orasco said. "We honestly did consider K-State for that slot, but it will probably not be K-State we'll choose."

However, Orasco said ESPN is making more of an effort to schedule Big Eight

"We did not run as many Big Eight games as we wanted to last year," Orasco said. "But that was because there aren't always a lot of good games outside the top three teams.

"The only game we were able to get from those top three last year was the Nebraska-Colorado game, and that game turned out to be one of our highest-rated games of the year. It was also one of the best games."

That was one of the mitigating factors to show. It for increased Big Eight interest, Orasco

> Big Eight games to be carried by ESPN this year include Thursday dates for the Oklahoma-Texas and California-Kansas contests. ABC will televise the Colorado-Nebraska and Oklahoma-Nebraska games.

> There are three other Big Eight games that ABC has not decided on yet, Orasco said. If they are not chosen by ABC, Orasco said chances are ESPN will pick them up. Those three are Oklahoma-Colorado, Colorado-Missouri and Southern Cal-

> "Some games we will pick in summer, and some we will pick on a 6-day notice," Orasco said. "ABC usually has the first pick and on weekends where they will have a double-header, they'll have the 1 and 2

Picking from the leftovers doesn't bother ESPN, Orasco said.

"We're supporters of the CFA agreement," Orasco said. "Certainly we want the association to continue and succeed. It has brought stability to an

COLUMN

The Cats were the real winners

JARED GREGOIRE

Don't let the final score fool

Despite K-State's shooting at the charity stripe being so bad Stevie Wonder and Ray Charles could have had better success (1 for 7), despite the University of Kansas putting on perhaps its worst effort since the season began (31.5percent shooting), and despite the fates conspiring against K-State by gliding Steve Woodberry's last-

"The Cats walked off the floor knowing game to the Hawks."

they'd taken the second jumper with a bucket full of four-leaf clovers, the Wildcats walked out of Bramlage Coliseum the real winners against the Jayhawks Saturday.

To find this real victory, one must look past what the scoreboard displayed to the record crowd that walked slack-jawed in disbelief out of Bramlage Coliseum. With Askia Jones' "like a man possessed" performance and what seemed like a long-range radar buried in Brian Henson's nose, the Cats never fell more than seven points behind KU in a game where such things like point spreads and national rankings didn't mean squat, and all bets were off. Hitting five 3-point bombs in a row and finishing with 15 points, freshman Henson discarded the albatross of his brother Steve's legacy and showed he was a player unto himself, capable of giving Kansas head coach Roy Williams more than a slight headache. And Jones, who opened a clinic on what aggressive playing really is and had it whistled as a technical foul (much to the chagrin of me and everyone else), still spent 35 minutes on the floor and poured in 19 points, If Coach Dana Altman's only wish was for K-State to take their 2-3 zone and shove it down the throats of Kansas, then he was rewarded by the type of play that revealed that someone forgot to tell the Cats the odds, as KU's poor offensive stats would attest to.

But for all of this, the Cats couldn't find that one niche, that one groove that could have carried them to the point where any lastditch desperado act by KU wouldn't have made any Perhaps it was there when

Vincent Jackson nailed a goal at the first-half buzzer that was counted as a 3-pointer, or when the Bramlage crowd renamed KU's Rex Walters "Airball." But the the gloves off and street fight the

The Hawks just managed to get in the last punch, that's all.

And with the lead changing five times in the second half, I seriously doubt if anyone, including KU, left with their fingernails intact, much less their voices. And for good The one thing no one sees in the stats column of any paper is how much heart and soul a team had or how well it was backed up by the sixth person on the court, the home crowd. If this were indeed a viable statistic, then K-State fans more than made up for their relatively poor recent attendance

Smarting each time a Cat hit the floor, floating each time a field goal was all net, screaming hysterically each time an official went off to la-la land and missed an obvious foul, the fans seemed to be the ones really playing the game, moving the players and making the shots hit by the sheer force of their combined wills.

Sound unreal? Well, anyone who was there would probably agree, and the energy coursing around the rafters, through the floor and into the players was enough to power a major metropolis for a month.

So forget that 54-52 glaring scar, that things in the end should have been a lot different than what they were, that the scream of victory was shrouded in the dull muffled groan of "almost" and "not quite" and "maybe next time."

The Cats walked off the court knowing they'd taken the game to the Hawks, and everyone walked out of Bramlage with the knowledge that the KU players would ride the bus home with a hard-earned, bittersweet "W" in their back pockets.

Yes indeed, K-State as a whole was the true victor Saturday, and I hope we don't soon forget it.

David Haak, freshman in pre-veterinary medicine, Jamie Grossenkemper, freshman in business and Matt Schiavo, freshman undecided, slept in tents in Bramlage Coliseum's parking lot since Wednesday afternoon to be the first fans to get front row seats for Saturday's K-State-KU game.

Discovering how the other half cheers

FRANK KLEEMANN

There's no doubt, I was looking forward to the K-State-KU game for the last couple months.

Not only because it was my last chance to attend a Cats-Hawks basketball game (Yes, even Collegian staffers graduate, sometimes), but this time I decided to switch from the press row over to the student's section.

And it was a perfect, sunny day for a nice rivalry in Bramlage. Since it tends to get real hot in the coliseum, I left my purple sweatshirt, gloves, scarf and hat in my closet. But at least I wore a purple shirt, because purple pride

Of course, I totally forgot that I wouldn't have a reserved seat this time and arrived with some of my paper dudes just 30 minutes before the game.

After getting quick a Coke and a piece of sandwich, I began my quest to get some good seats, for myself and a friend, near the court. Well, watching out for two empty seats in the student section in a game against KU was like hunting in the sea for wild boars - it's just impossible.

However, lucky as I am, we finally found some seats way up in the 30th row. Somewhat exhausted from the 60-some steps (You know, sports reporters don't have the best conditioning), the fun could now

From the the tip-off, fans started to clap and yell, and I was in the middle of it. Well, at least I clapped honestly.

With the Cats' first bucket, the crowd got loud and excited. And Lisa, my friend, told me she didn't know if she could make it (the game) because she said she got really hot. Wow!

For a moment I wasn't into the game anymore. But with Henson's first 3-pointer, my concentration turned back to the game.

When K-State rallied back in the first half to gain the lead, people got really crazy. Yelling as long as your breath could take you was the motto. Not being used to it, I thought my throat would get as tight as somebody strangling me.

But heck, that's the point of the people across from us got up during student section. And it's fun, much more fun than sitting quiet in the press row. Other than that, as a reporter you also miss< B> <D>the great halftime show by the Classy Cats and the big lottery (I wonder if any of the 13,762 people won anything) while waiting in the long line for the bathroom in the media area. With the teams back on court, crowd got fired up again.

When KU coach Williams tried to find some pieces of whatever on the floor, it echoed "T" from the student section. In particular, the fellow behind me got really excited about it. After the third "T," I felt something wet in my hair.

But he got really mouthy when Ski Jones got the technical foul. He started off slow with a fury of, "Oh, no way!"

The rest of what he expressed was triple-bleep to say the least.

Finally, with the next timeout onthe floor, he calmed down a little

It was also a welcomed chance to sit down. I was getting tired and had sore legs from all the standing. But again, that's what makes the student section unique.

The funny thing is that the

the time out to stretch their legs from the long sitting.

Nonetheless, in the last four minutes of the game, the section remained upright and shouting. Even a 747 wouldn't have had a chance to drown out the noise. It didn't matter what you were shouting since you couldn't hear it anyway.

And then there was silence Woodberry, you remember?). The fans were stunned. But just for a little bit. Then, people rushed out of Bramlage, and cups were flying on the court.

The fans were disappointed and fired up (also because of the KUplayers running like hell around the floor), but that doesn't fit the student section.

The student section doesn't need these kind of fans. What it needs is some more fans like David, Jamie, Matt and Todd (see picture).

They camped out for four days before the game around Bramlage Coliseum, getting ready to support the Cats. They came to enjoy a great game from the student section and continued to support the team, even when K-State lost to KU by only two points.

LASSIFIEDS

Essence editor to speak today

Taylor says people should take charge of own lives

ULRIKE DAUER

It is not often the editor in chief of a national magazine for black women visits K-State.

Susan Taylor, editor of Essence magazine, will speak at 7 p.m. today in K-State Union Forum Hall.

Taylor, who visited Southern Methodist University in Dallas Mon-portance of people taking charge of was fascinated by her inspirational Spirit," Taylor encourages Africantheir personal life.

She said that's the only way to hold America to a higher standard.

Because of personal confusion and lack of belief in oneself, she said, people have given up responsibilities for things in societies that ought to be improved.

'We as Americans can't allow the government to take responsibility for us. We have to do it ourselves," she

Mordean Taylor-Archer, assistant provost for multicultural affairs, said she had a chance to hear Taylor give day, said she will talk about the im- a talk a few years ago in Topeka and speech based on personal experience.

"She uses her own life as an example," she said.

Taylor has been with Essence for 22 years. For the last 11 years, she has been editor.

The licensed cosmetologist started as a freelance writer in the beauty section. Two years later, she was Essence's fashion and beauty editor.

Essence is a monthly magazine targeted for black Americans. It depicts successful African-Americans and what obstacles they overcome in order to achieve that success.

In a monthly column, "In the Americans to strive for the highest standards in their lives.

She said the column is part of Essence's mission to hold up the mirror to black women and men, so they can see themselves as powerful people who can move on.

Her message in the March issue of Essence is that the awakening of freedom movements all over the world should encourage African-Americans new beginnings of both a personal and political nature. A new world order outside should be continued by a new world order inside - inside oneself and within the nation.

WEIGHT LOSS, Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guar-anteed! For more information call Rhon-da 539–3617. Automobiles for Sale

1985 JEEP Cherokee, 4WD, 4D, Sunroof, 71,000 miles. $4,900. 537-2413.

1987 HONDA Civic Si 60K, sunroof, rear de-frost. Many new componets. Must selll 537–0405, ask for Jeff.

BARTENDING 101, class starts March 30, 8:30- 9:30p.m. For more information see in Union March 3 or call 532-2519.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

IS ANYONE going to FARM AID V? If you are, I'd like to put your picture in the Collegian. Call Kratzer at the Collegian.

JOIN THE K-State Union Bookstore in hon-oring Black History Month with 25% off selected titles.

THE RIDE. Chicago Art And Architecture.
May 14, 15, & 16th. Visit Chicago with the help of the fine arts fee. Deadline for sign-up is April 15. For more information
call the Department of Art at $32-6605.

1991 GEO Storm GSI, 9,000 miles. Like new, loaded. Weekdays call 776-1031.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

Computers

FOR SALE: 1200 band internal modern with software and manuals; HP- 41 CX calculator with manuals, 537-8474.

Employment

$200- $300 For selling 50 funny college spring break t-shirts. Smaller/ larger quantities available. No financial obli-gation 1-800-659-6890.

$40,000/ YEAR! Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easy! Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

AGTECH, INC.— a mail order supplier of Live-stock Production Supplies—requires an office assistant. Part-time the first four weeks then full-time M—F. Telephone order taking, picking/ packing, invoicing, order placing. Light product assembly and packaging; managing accounts payable and receivable. Qualifications: Fluent in Spanish and English. Excellent communication skills and phone manner; experienced with computer word-processing. Able to take instruction and work with minimal supervision, Knowledge of Cattle Embryo Transfer Procedure highly desirable. Submit resume by Feb. 28 to Mr. John Curtis, P.O. Box 1222, Manhattan, KS 66502.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn hundreds weekly stuffing envelopes at home. Local businesses will provide all materials. Send SASE to Homemailing Program—B, P.O. Box 3182 Olthe, KS 88662 Immediate researches.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Are you looking for a way to defray the high cost of a col-lege education? By serving one weekend a month and two weeks in the sum-mer you could qualify for up to $28,000 in the Kansas Army National Guard! For more information about an exciting ca-reer and great benefits call 537-4108.

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539–3817.

DELIVERY DRIVER earn 45- 85 per day must have own transportation. Must know Manhattan area. Day and evening shifts available. Call for interview Fe-bruary 25- 26 539-5750.

M AND Apple Showroom Sales Person.
Connecting Point Computer Center in Manhattan has immediate part-time
opening for experienced, well- dressed, enthusiastic retail sales associate to work afternoons Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday only. Temporary position, will last throught end of semester. Must be able to communicate effectively. Mail or deliver resume with references to 1115
Westloop Shopping Cneter, Manhattan,
KS 66502. Equal Opportunity Employer.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and recreational areas. Horticultural background helpful. Send resume to Collegian Box 2.

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.

LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national forest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

NEED CASH? We need students to stuff our sales circulars! Excellent wages-$3 per envelope! Start immediately! Send long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157, Forked River, NJ 08731

NOW HIRING over 40 people for Big Brother Big Sister Project. Need callers for morn-ing and evening hours. Good salary plus bonus. Apply February 25-26 9- 6 p.m. 1124 Waters "One block off Anderson

REWARDING SUMMER for Sophomore and older college students counseling in the Colorado Rockies. Backpacking, west-ern riding, waterfront, natural science and many outdoor programs. Write: San-born Western Camps, P.O. Box 167, Flor-issant, CO 80816.

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mtns. of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

STUDENT HELP needed. Start March 9 or March 16. Four hour block required, Mon-day thru Friday, 8a.m. - 12p.m. or 1p.m.-5p.m. Apply- Forestry Building, 2610 Cla-flin. Job- Shipping trees. $4.25/hr.

STRONG, ENERGETIC, people-oriented sales help needed for spring and summer employment at local fruit markets. Gardening knowledge and/or retail experience helpful. Pick up application at Eastside or Westside Market.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

ACCOUNTANT

Manhattan real estate firm has imme diate opening for one full time account ant. Duties include bookkeeping, financial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary commensurate with experience. 40 hour veek Monday through Friday. Micro computer training and experience mandatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

(continued on page 7)

Justice Stevens treated for cancer

Work continues despite radiation treatment; full recovery expected

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens has prostate cancer but will continue working and is expected to recover fully, a court spokeswoman said Monday.

Stevens, 71, one of the conservative court's most liberal members, was appointed by President Ford in "Justice Stevens is expected to continue to participate fully in all cases to come before the court during and after his radiation treatment and to make a full recovery without any residual effects," spokeswoman Toni House said in a prepared statement. She said he had begun treatment at Georgetown University Hospital.

Stevens participated in the three hours of oral arguments the court heard Monday and was expected also to participate in today's public session.

"At the time of his last annual physical examination, a routine screening blood test, the prostatic specific antigen (PSA) was found to be mildly elevated," House's statement

"A biopsy of the prostate demonlocalized adenocarcinoma, and a staging evaluation indicated that the tumor was limited to the prostate."

One other current and two retired Supreme Court justices have had prostate problems, not uncommon in eld-

'Ropin' the Wind' ignored by Grammys mance category was added that in-In a year that saw country music make a rebound on the pop charts, the 1992 Grammy nominations ignored super country star Garth Brooks and his "Ropin' the Wind."

The album was the first country album ever to debut at Billboard magazine's Top 200 pop album chart, and it held the position longer than any other country album.

However, Brooks received only two nominations - for country male and short video. Considering the Grammys' traditionally conservative approach, it's really no surprise.

The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences did make some strides of moving itself with the musical trends of the 1990s by nominating R.E.M., a band known for its alternative sound, in seven categories. With the nominations, R.E.M. solidifies its place in mainstream

The question facing the academy now is whether or not to actually award R.E.M. a Grammy.

ROGER STEINBROCK

In the past, the academy has claimed diversity by nominating acts like R.E.M. for awards. To retain the respect of the music industry, the fans and even members of the academy it must vote for some of the acts that deserve the recognition of a Grammy, regardless of politics.

In its defense, the academy has made strides through the years by adding new categories to accommodate the ever-changing face of music.

This year, a traditional pop perforcludes Harry Connick Jr., Tony Mathis, Diane Schuur, Natalie Cole with Nat King Cole, and Barbra Streisand vying for the award.

Natalie Cole could, and probably will, walk away with record and album of the year honors for "Unforgettable," a tribute to her father. The academy historically votes for nostalgia, and Cole shows this by creating a father-daughter duet adding her voice to her father's track of "Unforgettable."

The academy has also given women the recognition they have long deserved. A Grammy nomination record of three solo women are up for album and record of the year. Besides Cole, Amy Grant's "Heart in Motion" and Bonnie Raitt's "Luck of the Draw" are up for nominations respectively.

Grant, who has received five Grammys in gospel categories, is also up for female pop vocal performance, which she should win, for her single Bryan Adams, who has never won a Grammy, could finally receive adoration for his worldwide smash "(Everything IDo) IDo It for You." Adams could even challenge Cole for record of the year, providing the academy doesn't vote for a traditional song like it has in the past.

The ballad "More Than Words" from Extreme received only one nomination. The single should have contended for both record and song of the year, but the academy totally ignored

The academy still has a long way to go before it can convey the true excellence in music. Its historically conservative approach is outdated, and the academy must adapt to encompass the entire realm of music.

The awards will air at 7 tonight from New York's Radio City Music Hall on CBS.

Notarization required for car registration

KRISTEN TURNER

Registering a car in Kansas will soon require a notarized bill of sale. The new policy will take effect March 1 and will include all vehicles being registered in the state, even for vehicles purchased outside Kansas. The exceptions are vehicles purchased from any authorized dealer. Riley County Treasurer Eileen King said college students need to be aware of the new policy, especially when they are buying cars from other students

Many times, she said, if a sale takes place between two students and the paperwork is not properly filled out, problems can be compounded very difficult," King said. The Kansas Secretary of Revenue tax on vehicles sold through isolated and occasional sales, according to a memorandum sent to all Kansas county treasurers.

King said prior to the new policy, the amount claimed on vehicles sold person to person, or by unauthorized dealers, was based on an honor sys-

"People would try to register a 1988 model car and say they only paid $100 for it," King said.

King said the state realized it was losing a lot of money on understated claims, and the new policy helps ensure realistic claims.

hicles to initiate the new policy to easily in Manhattan. The Student ensure the uniform collection of sales Government Services Office has a tion will not eliminate fraud, but it notary, as do many banks, law offices, attorneys and other official busi-

King said that requiring notariza-will help cut back on false claims. "The dishonest few make it hard for the honest ones," King said.

PIZZA HUT DELIVERS THE GOODS Sun.-Thurs. 5 p.m.-Midnight Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m.-1 a.m. Call 539-7666 the location nearest you 3rd & Moro

In the notarization process, the seller must take the bill of sale, stating "Most students are transient, and the price of the vehicle, to an authoonce graduation rolls around, they are gone. Tracking them down can be Proof of identity is required before signing the bill of sale. ordered the Kansas Division of Ve-Authorized notaries can be found Ad It Up! in the COLLEGIAN KSU Theatre Presents

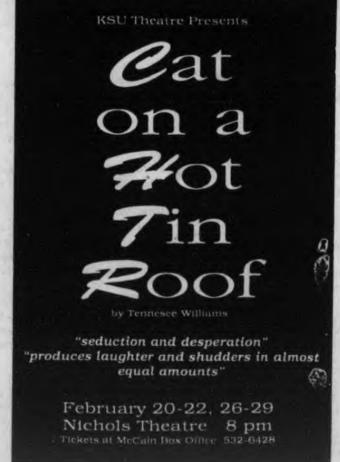

We'll keep your foot a tappin'!!

The K-State Singers Spring Show '92

A Contemporary look at music!

Thursday Feb. 27 and Saturday, Feb. 29 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m. Tickets available from McCain Box Office, 532-6428

Little American Royal Sign-up

Feb. 24 - 27 Weber Hall & Waters Hall Feb. 26 - 27 KSU Union

8 a.m. - 4 p.m. at all locations Informational Meeting Feb. 27 6 p.m. Weber Arena

(continued from page 6)

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1700 per month last summer and gained valuable experience for their re-sume's, Call 539-8370.

THE TRAIL Ridge Store is now hiring KSU students for summer work in Rocky Mountain National Park, Coloradol Positions available in Gift Store and Snack Bar. Contact Box 2680, Estes Park, CO 80517; (303)586-9319 for information and applications. Call soop for heat oppositions. applications. Call soon for best oppor funities! EOE.

THE UNIVERSITY of Kansas Medical Center has an opening for an Industrial Hygienist in our Center for Occupational and Environmental Health. Requires Masters Degree in Preventive Medicine or Industrial Hygiene. Board Certified or eligible in Industrial Hygiene, experience directional programs and in the engine in educational programs and in the practice of industrial hygiene. Prefer Ph-D, Certified Industrial Hygienist, prior university or governmental experience and experience in research. Position will provide full service industrial hygiene on and off campus as well as other related and off campus as well as other related duties. Please send resumes to: H. Wil-liam Barkman, MS, MSPH, Director, 1034 Breidenthal Bldg, KUMC, Kansas City, KS 66160. An Equal Opportunity Affirmative Action Employer

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus. 1, 2, and 3 bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas 2/3 paid, laun-dromat. Nice for couple, $285, 539-2482

SUBLEASE APARTMENT for summer. Fully furnished, located next to campus. Call 537-8834.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for 2- 4 students. 1829 Col-lege Heights. 539-5451.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

AUGUST 1 lease. Serious student, large one-bedroom. Heat, water and trash paid, air conditioning. $255. No pets. 539-2546.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

ONE- BEDROOM apartment one block from University 539-2857 or 539-0410.

Off the Mark

TONIGHT: THE JAPANESE CALL AMERICANS LAZY.

SHOVEL THE WALK! SHOVEL

Jim's Journal

I was looking today.

Geech

out my window

THE WALK! THAT'S ALL I'M

Calvin and Hobbes

GOOD FOR

AROUND HERE

TWO BEDROOM apartment, big enough for three people. Balcony, dishwasher, gar-bage disposal, and laundry facilities. Near campus and Aggieville. Lease starting June 1, 537–0852. MAKE ANDERSON PLACE YOUR

HOME AWAY FROM HOME!

NOW LEASING

for 1992-1993

KSU Students

Both 1 & 2 Bedrooms 1/2 block from campus

Furnished & Unfurnished

Showings Every Thursday

3-4

1852 Anderson #17

THE CURTIN COMPANIES

776-8641

THREE LARGE bedroom for three or four students. Next to campus. Washer, dryer, central air. Available Aug. 1, $720/

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two

SHARP 14 wide two- bedroom mobile home, new paint, low payments with cash down. 15- home selection #187 Redbud, Countryside Brockerage 539-2325.

PLAYSKOOL OCTAGON playpen. Great for infants and toddlers. Almost brand new. Call 539-2231.

bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

10 For Rent-Houses

13 For Sale Mobile Homes

14 Furniture to Buy or Sell

Only found ads can be placed free of

FOUND- BROWN leather jacket in McCain. Call 539-5819 to identify and claim.

LOST, BROWN leather jacket. Tuesday in Cardwell. Reward offered. Please con-tact Brad Staver. 539–9276.

LOST- LARGE blue topaz triangle shape

WOMAN'S JACKET found in Bluemont 101.

By David Swearingen

ISN'T SO

By Bill Watterson

By Jim Dikkers

Then Mr. Peterson

jumped right in front of my face and I couldn't see anything.

By Jerry Bittle

GEEZ, DON'T TELL

ME LUNCH ISN'T

READY!

pendant with gold rim, probably at Rec complex approximately one month ago. Reward, 293-5671.

16 Lost and Found

month 537-8543.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENTS southeast of campus for 1992-93 school year. Available August 1, 1992. Call 539-7277. After 5p.m./ weekends.

SLEEPING ROOM. One block from university. Call 539-2857 or 539-0410.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

ONE AND two-bedroom apartments in 1100 block of Bluemont, Available August 1, One year lease, no pets. 776–0683.

APARTMENTS

DO NOT RENT AN APARTMENT UNTIL YOU CONSIDER THIS: Built in late 1990; Avail June5. Aug.5

 New GE Kitchen Appliances including microwave and ceiling

·Economical Gas 'Heat Designed with the KSU student in

RENTED 380 PRENTED 34 1 RENTED 3 Study, ·3 bedroom plus study,

2 bath $728 OFFICE:

2400 Kimball Ave. at College Ave. (across from Bramlage) Call Roy at 537-7007 for an appointment

Leasing Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts. * College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064

Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

NEWS ... NEXT CHEK

WHAT ABOUT MY POWERFUL

INTELLECT ? MY BUDDING

I ASPIRE TO MORE THAN

I saw a whole bunch of cars

3.8

90 64.

GENIUS IS BEING SQUANDERED

BRUTE SLAVE LABOR!

CHANNEL.

17 Meetings Events

RECEPTION FOR women students and faculty interested in science, engineering, or math. Thursday, February 27, Fiint Hills Room of K-State Union. Join us for food and conversation and meet others who share your interest!

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale

1981 YAMAHA 850 Special. Runs and looks good, $1,300 or best offer. Call Dan 537-4191.

TREK 7000 Aluminum Ridden twice. Must sell $450, 539-1926 (day). Ask for Britt 537-1751 (night).

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT

COLLEGIAN ClassADS

19 Music Musicians

FIRST TENOR and Bass alternate wanted for vocal group. Good pay, 776-4999 and leave message.

21 Personals

BACARDY 151, Even though strawberry milk was your first drink of the day, It was shots and beer all the rest of the day, And ohh how the next day you did pay! Happy 21st, Action.

KJK HAPPY Birthday! This is the beginning of your birthweek celebration. I Love You! Jen

LAMBDA CHI Alpha, I always heard you guys were cool. Now I know it's true. Thanks, Doug K. (Alpha Tau Omega Ex-

TO THE big BOO guy! Gotcha gotcha gotcha! Booga booga! Happy Birthday! Smile smile! From SG, KA, CD, JA.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

DACHSHUND, RED, male miniature, seven weeks old and ready for new home. Price negotiable. Call 776-1386.

SAMOYEDE PUPS: three female, two male. AKC registered, all shots, ten weeks old. $50, call 539-7340. Leave message for

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL KINDS of typing done. One- day serv-ice. Laser printer. $1.25 per double-spaced page. 537–7027 after 5.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537-7795.

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537-7294. ECS OFFERS laser quality typesetting for re-ports, these, resumes, etc. Math, scien-tific, foreign character support. Style, grammar checking available. 776-6687 FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.- 8p.m.

UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for papers and editing, my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, .25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommate Wanted

$100 CASH to first person to move into nice two-bedroom apartment. One more fe-male roommate. Available immediately, For details 539–5366.

FEMALE NEEDED immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One-half block from campus and aggieville. Own bed-room – Nicel Desperate 776-3514. FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, middle of

May- July partially furnished apartment, two-bedroom $190 per month 539-8041 eave message FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. One-half block from campus, washer/ dryer, rent negotiable, share utilities, call Angela, 776-3760, leave message.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER needed to share three-bedroom, one and one-half bath apartment, own bedroom, very nice. Laundry and plenty of parking available. Very close to campus and Appleville. $195/ mo. Must be responsible. Starts August 1. Call 539–4316.

FEMALES TO share two-bedroom apartment close to campus. One block from Ag-gieville. Low Utilities. Call 537-2919 or 537-4452.

necklace person

Johnson

49 American humorist province document

Odin

statesman/orator

1 She loved

Narcissus

53 U.S.

DOWN

2 Bank

3 Flatfish

comedy

5 Use block series

letters

6 French

7 "Sure!"

vehicle

Norway

mal drop and loudly

16 Cry long

20 Umpire's

call

com-

out

pletely thought

21 Not

9 King of

10 Tender

11 Lachry

8 Army

novelist

4 TV

UPPERCLASSMAN OR graduate preferred, non-smoking female roommate to share two bedroom duplex. Call 776-0402.

Crossword

ACROSS 41 Luau 1 Actress 42 Methane 45 Golfer's

Lanchester 5 Wield goof 46 Small diligently 8 Party 48 Comedian giver 12 Composed 13 Caviar 14 Lotion ingredient 50 Can. 15 Dolts 17 Zhivago's 51 Legal - for the 52 Son of money

20 Propose 21 Broadway success 22 Stick out 23 Dull or stale

19 Cuckoo

26 Regular customers 30 City on the Oka

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.- 5p.m. Monday through

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing ·Same day results

·Call for appointment

ocated across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM Fraternities, sororities, student clubs. Earn up to $1000 in one week. Plus receive a $1000 bonus yourself. And a FREE WATCH just for calling 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 65

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

FREE Pregnancy Tests 523 S. 17th Old Town Mall 537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE

Chiropractic Family Health Center

Feel Better

NOW!!!

Don't Suffer Call Today!

537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl 3252 Kimball Avenue

WANDERING HEARTS Video Dating Service

Want to meet NEW and interesting people? call lanice or Kelli 539-3003

COMMECTION with the purchase of 10 tans or more Expires 2/29/92 1126 LARAMIE

776-2426

container

23 Silent

Clara

macaw

RILEY COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT 2030 TECUMSEH 776-4779

FREE PREGNANCY TESTS

FREE PREGNANCY COUNSELING DISCUSSION OF ALL OPTIONS Early Detection of Pregnancy is Important CONFIDENTIAL (Ad Placed by Friends of Women)

27 Sporting/Rec. Equipment

SCUBAGEAR: BC, Wetsuit, Regulators, pressure and depth guages, compass, knife, weights. $350. With mask and fins $375. Call 226-7587 after 5 p.m.

28 Sublease

HELPI FEMALE needed immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One-half block from campus and Aggieville. Own room - Nicel Rent negotiable! Desperate

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE May through August, $130/month plus utilities. Five blocks from campus, four blocks from Aggieville. Call 539-4168 after 6 p.m.

SUMMER SUBLEASE for $100/ month! Need female roommate from May-July 31. One-half block campus/ furnished.

SUMMER SUBLEASE. Mid- May thru July 31. Two female roommates. $395/ mo, three blocks from campus/ furnished. Call: 776-9712.

30 Travel\Car Pool

Spring Break '92 SKI COLORADO Discount Lift

Ski Area Here Keystone 26 36 Breckenridge 26 36 Copper 28 37 Winter Park 25 34

1212 Moro Classic Aggieville 537-7546

SPRING BREAK!!!

South Padre from $99 per person 5 nights Bahamas Cruise $299 per person 6 days/5 nights Cancun from $439

for information call: Stephanie 537-0891

BAHAMAS VACATION- Five days plus

SOUTH PADRE- Condo on the beach! We need 2- 3 more girls to share it with, Call 539-7051, ask for Natalie. SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-

SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback. Best offer, 539-4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE, four gold Alloy wheels with new 14 inch tires. 532-2940. FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

FOR SALE: Spring/ Summer wedding dress; brand new, size 12, can be altered. 776-9902.

By Eugene Sheffer

24 Brazilian 2-25 CRYPTOQUIP

VEQ VNN

RMRDQXE UV GVO EGVE G A

GVYO Yesterday's Cryptoquip: TO THE WELL-TRAINED STUDENT WHO FINISHED FIRST IN BARBER SCHOOL,

Today's Cryptoquip clue: G equals H

WHEN WE TAKE A MOMENT TO REMIND YOU TO RECYCLE

America:

YOUR GARBAGE

FORGET TO REELECT YOUR

11

1 000

THESE HANDS! THESE AMAZING

HANDS ARE DESTINED TO CREATE UNDREAMT-OF WONDERS

YET HERE THEY'RE WORN TO

THE BONE IN UNFULFILLING DRUDGERY! WHAT A

MONSTROUS INJUSTICE!

And some people.

0

11

O.

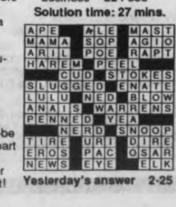

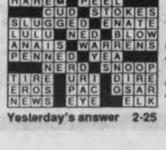

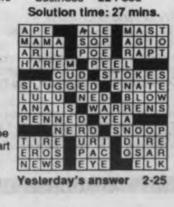

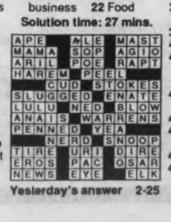

25 Saul's relative 26 Boston cream, for one 27 Gold, to Juan 28 And not Antonio 31 Museum commod-34 Ultimate goal 35 Arabic letter 37 Lamprey fisherman 38 Source of 13 Across 39 Pith UGA 40 Routine 41 Finger or fish DADXABY? lead-in

EGQ 42 Lobster's "lung" 43 Pilaster 44 Corset support 46 Chaneau 47 -- Man OUR HATS ARE OFF. (video game)

INTERRACIAL RELATIONSHIPS

Society shapes pattern of race relations

fends a white person, it's called racism," he said. "When a white person offends a white person or a black person offends a black person, it's bution of economics and power, he said, and the competition for limited resources is likely to increase tension among people, regardless of their race.

ways find a scapegoat — the easiest one being someone who looks different. In general, it is those people who are not in power and are defenseless.

However, the need to have a scapegoat says that what is supposed to be the inferior power is in fact strong, scary and feared by the supposedly

The question of why the white race

He said it could also be considered superior power, Nderagakura said.

has felt a need to subordinate others has not yet been answered, he said, but psychological, physical and physi-self-protection, a way to keep shortcomings from being seen from the outside by putting up fences. The underlying tactic is to anticipate the supposedly inferior race's action by labeling it with what could be re-rance and fear of not knowing what to expect in terms of retaliation from mistreated people and the inability to

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

North Tarrytown, N.Y., would be

"Racism per se stems from igno-garded one's own weakness.

ological reasons are imaginable.

He said in bad times one can al-

Racism has more to do with distri-called human condition.

Education should start earlier; racial categories not logical, sociologist says

ULRIKE DAUER

Attraction crosses color lines. People generally don't date on the basis of color or non-color, said Gaspard Nderagakura, graduate student in sociology.

The attraction for another person is usually based on intangibles, intrinsic values like personality, intelligence, compassion," Nderagakura said. "Those qualities cross the color or ethnic boundaries."

He said attraction is not color, but personality.

"You cannot really pinpoint something that attracts you to someone. It could be minor to someone else but major to you," he said.

"It could be the way they talk, walk, express themselves, how they get along, who is open-minded."

Nderagakura said that in general, friends and families in an early stage are probably astonished to see their friend, child, brother or sister with an individual of another race. But, he said, they get used to it and finally tend to integrate the other person.

"The level of surprise is proportionate to the general pattern of race relations," he said. "In societies where races live close to each other, the level of surprise is low, whereas in societies where races are not close or even hostile, it can be almost a shock."

We are all victims of history." He said hostile relationships between whites and non-whites from a position or thought of superiority have always existed.

The kind of contacts that should have taken place did not. It's a regrettable fact that people really have not talked," he said.

Another problem, he said, is to define what actually a race is.

"Race is a social category — only people can define what it is," he said. "If, for example, society decided to separate blond and blue-eyed, it could decide this is a race."

He said criteria for defining a race can be artificial, but once internalized by society, they become reality, and people start to act accordingly.

The current criteria to distinguish between races are not logical at all, he said, they cross the lines from skin pigments to geography (Asians) to language (Hispanics).

Tome, it's really a chicken soup," he said. "Self-identification counts more than anything else." He said segregation exists also within races, but then it is not labeled

"When a white person offends a black person or a black person of- open oneself to genuine harmonious interaction," Nderagakura said.

In terms of University politics, he said, the administration is doing the best to make campus as diverse as possible. He said in regard to interracial policy, however, K-State has a long way to go toward becoming a multicultural campus.

Nderagakura, who is from Burundi, a country in east Africa, said students are not prepared to be taught by black foreigners.

'Students at K-State generally have bias against foreign professors because of their socialization about foreigners. Even black Americans have that preconceived idea," he said.

Approximately 5 percent of K-State students are black.

He said although there were less black students on campus when he came in 1986, campus is not favorable to attract and retain minority

Education should start in high school, or K-State should have an awareness program addressing those issues, Nderagakura said. He also said he feels attracting minority students is not the same as retaining them.

"If they are not attracted to stay, it makes a statement about the campus," he said.

Stempel is importing to GM's struggling North American operations

some of the structural changes it instituted in Europe. Overseas operations earned $2.1 billion last year, much of Prime among the European

"If you look at what we've been doing in Europe, one of the things changes is workers opting for more flexible work rules that have boosted

it in Europe, the company said.

in automotive history.

productivity.

Turner

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 the decision," he said.

Geary County Attorney Chris Biggs said since Turner pleaded guilty to murder, a class A felony, there is a mandatory life sentence, but he will be eligible for parole in 15 years.

up for parole." However, the guilty plea on the kidnapping charge, a class B felony, leaves the judge a choice.

"It could be five to 15, or 15 to life," he said.

Biggs said Judge Larry Bengston will preside over today's sentencing. "It's all in the judge's hands," Willingham said. "He can make them consecutive or concurrent sentences.

That can make a difference when he is

Weekday Special Dump and Dash 35 cents per pound

Fremont Laundry

'Front Door Parking *Sun-Fri Hours-7 a.m.-8:30 p.m. 'Sat Hours-7 a.m.-6 p.m.

*Attendant on Duty where quality is our tradition 539-3261 304 Fremont

THUNAM This week's entree:

TODAY

order 7 days a

Yu Shiang Chicken Free Delivery from plus eggroll and fried rice our delivery menu. 11 a.m. - 1 a.m. with a minimum $9 not valid on delivery with any other special promotion 537-0886

(offer exp. March 3)

Weekly Special:

1116 Moro

only $3.75

with coupon

Couple

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex when it first opened in fall 1976, said he always had good support from the people he worked with.

Krista said she had her worst experience with subtle racism when interviewing for a teaching job in a small

"The interviewer saw whom I came with, and the interview was very short and abrupt," she said. "I don't know if I even had a chance.' She said at times being children of an interracial couple might pose a problem for their children, but they don't allow it to happen. "We teach them that it is important to respect their Norwegian heritage.

their African and their Native American heritages," Krista said. "We talk about Indian chiefs, great black people and the Vikings."

Krista said there's a lot more tolerance today, although it is not at all close to the best situation.

"There will always be white and white, black and black, but I hope it's a preference rather than the limit."

Mary Clark and Bennie Gibson, who have been dating for a year, have family support only from his side. Mary is white; Bennie is black.

"I didn't tell my mom for a long time," said Mary, junior in special education and American Ethnic Studies. "When she found out, she freaked out."

"I didn't have a chance. At that point, she really didn't want to know me," said Bennie, who is a graduate of the American Institute of Baking.

Mary said her mother's refusal to accept her boyfriend brought a lot of doubt into the relationship. Her sisters also haven't completely accepted Bennie, she said, but they haven't interfered in the relationship.

She said her mother probably has a hard time accepting Bennie because she is two generations older, and Mary didn't come in contact with many black people in the small Kansas town where she grew up.

> PAT M. DREILING D.D.S. M.S.

Once in college, I realized it was stupid how many people in my home town thought. Now ideas are different," she said.

portive and compensates for a lot of the difficulties.

about going out with Mary," Bennie said. "She said she can come to Thanksgiving to our home, which never happened before."

tionship don't have to do with their color the problem.

"Mom didn't have any objection

Bennie said problems in their reladifferent skin colors.

Bennie said people are making skin

GM's fourth-quarter loss included a $1.8-billion one-time charge to cover the costs of plant closings. It brought combined losses last year among GM, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. to know what's happening to our costs $7.6 billion, the worst financial year over there."

we've done over there is used fixed facilities literally 24 hours a day," Stempel said.

"We know where we are, and we or to the to Auto

Tosca

New York City Opera National Company Sunday, March1, 7 p.m.

Puccini's stirring account of a beautiful but jealous singer, the painter she loves butdoes not trust, and the corrupt police chief who lusts after the singer. The National Company's version is fully staged with orchestra and is sung in Italian with English supertitles.

Student/Child: $14.50, 13, 10.50 Senior Citizen: $26, 23, 19 Public/Faculty: $29, 26, 21

McCain Auditorium

Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Fine Arts fee. Corporate support provided by Kansas Farm Bureau and

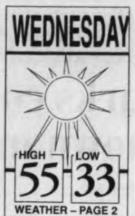

The Largest Traveling Movie Poster Collection on the Planet K-State Union 1st Floor Alcove 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

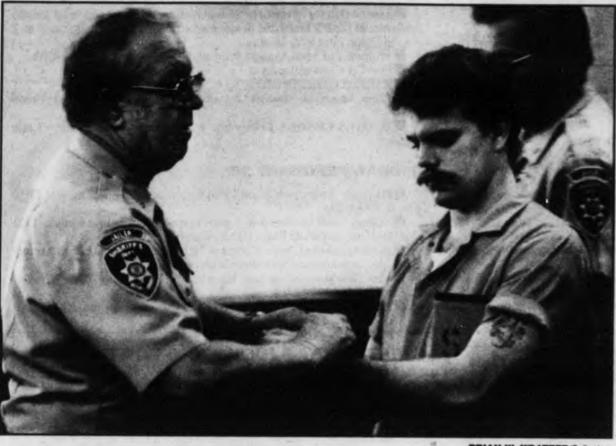

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 105

Soldier sentenced for murdering student

Jason L. Turner watches the handcuffs as they are placed on his hands Tuesday in the Geary County Courthouse. Turner received life and 10-years-to-life sentences for the murder of Catherine Heintze.

Children, abortions.

fathers. All waited, pretending to watch television, while their friends or daughters were inside the clinic, having at this Overland Park clinic are for women around the age of 19 or 20. But there are women who come in as young as 14 or 15. Some are in their scheduled in the early morning," said Sheila Kostas, health educator and counselor.

the patient fills out a medical history. Then they go through a barrage of lab work, urine specimens, Rh factor tests and patients pay the clinic for the abortion. A first-trimester abortion typically costs about

A sonogram to check

"Following all the lab

"This is to make sure that it work, a woman is talked to individually by a counselor,"

After the lab work, the a pregnancy test.

$300 at this clinic.

Kostas said.

gestation size is next.

As soon as they check in,

"Typically around eight."

"Abortion procedures are

Most abortions performed

Turner receives consecutive terms for felony killing of Catherine Heintze

CHRISTINE VENDEL

Fort Riley soldier Jason Turner was sentenced to two consecutive terms Tuesday for the murder of K-State sophomore Catherine Heintze.

Turner, 21, was convicted on Jan. 17 of felony murder and kidnapping after pleading no contest.

The murder charge has a mandatory sentence of life in prison, which was imposed by Geary County Judge Larry Bengston. On the second charge, Bengston sentenced Turner to 10 years to life, to be served consecutively.

Since the first charge has a mandatory sentence, the only debatable point during the sentencing was the second

Geary County Attorney Chris Biggs said he wanted a 10-year-tolife consecutive sentence.

However, David Dean of the Public Defenders Office requested a fiveto-20-year concurrent sentence.

A concurrent sentence would have allowed Turner to serve both sentences at the same time, making for a shorter overall sentence. Consecutive sentences, however, would require Turner to serve the two terms one after another.

"Due to the horrible nature of this crime, I see no justification for concurrent sentences," Bengston said.

"Because of this crime, the community was scared, more than ever. The defendant knew exactly what he

Biggs said the earliest Turner could be up for parole would be in about 21

bers attended the sentencing. All were checked with a hand-held metal detector upon entering the courtroom.

"It's so no one will shoot your client," one courthouse employee said him off," Ellibee said.

Although Bengston had studied a 40-page pre-sentencing report prior to the hearing, both Biggs and Dean made some final pleas to the judge.

Biggs said Turner was a senseless killer who did not realize the severity of his crime, and Dean claimed Turner had a troubled childhood and suffered post-gulf war trauma.

the other soldier charged in connection with Heintze's murder at Pate's Convenience Store, where she was a Nathaniel W. Ellibee, 19, pointed to Tumer during his testimony when Biggs asked him if anyone else participated in the Sept. 20 crime.

'That's him in the orange suit." Ellibee said referring to Turner's fluorescent jail uniform. Ellibee was also wearing a jail uniform and said he was staying in the Geary County Detention Center. Biggs asked Ellibee where he was when Heintze was shot.

"I was leaving the store. I was out About 50 friends and family mem- of the store and looked back through the window," he said. "It had gone too far. The silent alarm had been pushed.

"I asked him what happened. He said he shot her because she pissed Ellibee stated in the pre-sentencing report that the day after the slaying, Turner had given him the shellcase from the fatal rifle shot to Heintze's

Biggs used the testimony to prove Turner thought of the shellcase as some sort of trophy.

"I find the most horrifying aspect in the shellcase. It shows there was Biggs called a witness to the stand, not the sorrow you know you feel See TURNER Page 5

A QUESTION OF PROCEDURE

revolt in May

HUMAN RIGHTS

KSU alumnus imprisoned in Ethiopia after

DEREK BOHLKEN

One of K-State's most successful graduates has been held captive in Ethiopia since the overthrow of its government last May.

Tadesse Kidane-Marian, the former minister of housing in Ethiopia, who has yet to be charged with a crime, has kept in contact with his major professor, David Kromm, since he graduated from K-State with a master's in geography in 1974.

Because of Kromm's efforts, the Department of State and the U.S. Embassy have been pressing for the release of Kidane-Marian, Tim Trinkle, an aid to Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., said.

He said the U.S. Embassy in Addis Ababa sent a representative on Monday to visit Kidane-Marian in prison about 40 miles outside of Ethiopia's capital and was allowed to visit with him.

"The circumstances of the prison are good. His family can visit, it's pretty relaxed, plenty to eat, but that doesn't excuse it," Trinkle said. "The reason it's taking so long is because of the large number of government officials who were arrested, but that doesn't excuse it, either." Kromm said he was surprised to receive a letter from Kidane-Marian last July, because he usually only writes once a year at Christmas. Kidane-Marian wrote he was being detained. Kromm said he didn't believe it was anything too serious, because Kidane-Marian wrote: "I am optimistic that I will be released, since that was bestowed on me. However, when Kromm received another letter, dated Jan. 7, which said he had been detained for the last seven months, Kromm said he felt he had to try to do something.

I have never abused the public trust

The letter read, "I am writing this letter while I am spending my Christmas in a prison 40 km outside of Addis Ababa. ... I hope the new government will either bring charges against me or acquit me. Seven months after detention, I have not had even the benefit of an interview. Well, this is the price you have to pay for serving your country in an underdeveloped country.'

The first thing Kromm did after consulting the adviser of K-State's Amnesty International chapter, David Schmidt, was to contact Kassebaum's office, who in turn contacted the state department.

Kromm said he was told by the state department on Monday that the Ethiopian Embassy in Washington,

See AMNESTY Page 14 | people in this country.

STEPHANIE FUQUA is her decision, that she is not being forced to have the procedure by a partner, parent or Editors note: Due to the sensitive nature of this story, some names have been "It is time to allow the patients to talk changed. about the circumstances in which they got The woman stood on the corner, bundled pregnant, and it's easier for them to talk one up in a long blue coat and holding an armful on one," Kostas said. of pamphlets.

STEPHANIE FUQUA

Unplanned pregnancy.

up her baby for adoption?

Testing Center.

on Anderson Avenue.

Many single women shudder at the thought. What kind of options are available to them? What is involved in an abortion? How does one give answered at the crisis pregnancy centers in Manhattan, one of which is the Life Choice Ministries Pregnancy

the LCM Pregnancy Testing Center month," volunteer Frances Plummer conducts free pregnancy tests, of which money-tight college women take advantage. A home-pregnancy

Usually, 80-90 percent of these

The Pregnancy Testing Center

women do not remain in contact with the center. They obtain their results began in 1987. The staff mostly consists of volunteers who have an extensive network of resources in the

The pregnancy test is a laboratory test can cost from $10 to $15.

and never come back.

community.

About 60 women per month visit

"It fluctuates from month to

The Pregnancy Testing Center

These kind of questions can be

"The counselor asks how long have they "PLEASE come talk to me," she known they were pregnant, when they implored as the car turned around the corner realized, if abortion was the immediate into the parking lot. "Don't go in there until decision, and if they considered other you've talked to me. He murders girls in alternatives. We want to make sure that this is not an impulse decision." The waiting room was packed with anxious faces. Local center offers advice, choices for women husbands. boyfriends, mothers and doctors.

A local doctor donates these tests to the Pregnancy Testing Center. The rest of the center's operating costs are subsidized by Life Choice

As the test is being done, the

"This is a very informative film,"

"It shows five women in different woman will watch a videotape, said Joy Bullock, director of the situations, so that the girl feels like there is someone like her who understands. It explains to her how an abortion is done, what adoption is or keeping the baby. It presents the pregnancy testing centers as a place

She has all the information. A young woman with all the options can make or negative, the volunteer will tell the center will provide free legal services" and help screen potential couples.

"A woman is given all the options.

After the test comes out, positive

These include adoption. The

If the woman chooses to keep the contact with the Social baby, the center will put the mother

"Your Crisis Pregnancy."

to get support.

a decision," she said.

woman about her options.

Julie, 32, told the counselor her decision throw your ovulation off cycle," the to have an abortion was not an impulse. She said it was the best option for her, at the

"I have two boys, 14 and nine, and I just didn't want to start all over again," she said.

Julie said because she smoked, her doctor took her off of birth control pills. So she and her husband used the rhythm method, which worked just fine until about a month ago, she said.

"One reason that rhythm doesn't work is because when your under stress, that can option is abortion.

condemning abortion.

following," Davis said.

$1,110 a month."

need be, housing.

decision.

The center stresses adoption or

The Social Rehabilitation Services

"The client can apply for a keeping the baby, as much of their literature makes statements can help a new mother obtain a medical card to pay for expenses, medical card for during the pregnancy and up to two months coverage for labor and delivery. The maximum monthly income that she can have to obtain a medical card is

If a woman decides to keep her baby, the Pregnancy Testing Center will help with maternity clothes, baby clothes, baby furniture and, if all women, no matter what their makes no difference what decision she makes. We've had girls who have had abortions and then come in the next day to talk about it," she

Bullock said the center is there for

"We are a ministry to women. It

"This will pay for medical said Kim Davis, SRS director.

urine test, the same type used by Rehabilitation Services. The other counselor said gently. "I get the impression that there are other things going on.'

Julie looked up.

"Well, I lost my job, and my husband and I have had problems. So yeah, there has been a lot of stress," Julie said.

"Have you considered Norplant?" the counselor asked. "Is that where they put it in your arm?" Julie asked. The counselor went on to explain the benefits and disadvantages of this kind of birth control, as well as minipills and tubal ligation.

"Tubal ligation is just too big a step to consider," Julie job?" the counselor asked.

"Well, did you get another

"I did, and I've been working part-time, but I've been so sick the past couple weeks," Julie said.

"The person you got pregnant with, is he supportive?"

Yes, he's real supportive with this decision. My sister is, too," Julie said. "Do you have any questions right now? Any questions you have about the procedure I can answer during the group session," the counselor said. Julie said no and went out into the hallway to wait. Laura, 23, walked into the room, clenching a coat tightly to her chest. She sat down in the chair and fidgeted. "Who is with you today?"

the counselor asked brightly. "Um, the guy that I'm seeing whose child this is," Laura said quietly.

"That's great. How do feel about your decision today?" the counselor asked.

"At first, I wasn't real

■ See PROCEDURE page 11

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

This is our America; we can change things,' speaker says

Susan Taylor, editor of Essence magazine, displayed spirit, desire, strength and power in her speech to about 200 people Tuesday night in K-State Union Forum Hall.

Taylor spoke about America's lack of critical thinking. 'There's nothing wrong with America," Taylor said. "There's ration. something wrong with the thinking of thinkers."

If people were thinking critically, we would not have 3 million people homeless or 30 million people hungry, she said.

"It doesn't have to be this way," Taylor said. "This is our America, and we can change things." "It's not too late. That's my inspi-

"People take the attitude, 'It's happening out there. It's not happening to

"We're a nation of non-critical me, thank God," Taylor said. Taylor said fear keeps people from

We must get over what other people think of us, she said. What matters is what you think of yourself. "Your only competition is with yourself," she said. "Every day, you want to be a little bit better. The continuing pain in this nation is dependent on us standing still, she "Never look down on a person unless you're reaching down to help and that's what they have to hold on them up," she said.

"I want to be able to depend on you. I want you to be able to depend

Taylor said she believes that knowing your history is important.

"If you don't know your history, you think your life is hard," she said.

may be a minority on campus, people of color are a majority in this world,

'We take so much for granted." . Taylor said that while black people

Taylor also spoke about the importance of what she calls "quiet time."

Quiet time is the time you must take to ask yourself critical questions about who you are and where you want to be, Taylor said.

People also must ask themselves what their purpose is, Taylor said, and you must ask yourself during your quiet time. It's also a time to get back

See TAYLOR Page 5

RECOGNITION

Parks collection shown in New York

K-State has its name in the limelight.

A part of the K-State's Gordon Parks Collection, a collection of blackand-white photographs taken during Parks's tenure as a Life magazine photographer, is on display in White Plains, N.Y., through March 31.

Parks was born in Fort Scott in 1912, but he went to live in Minnesota after his mother, Sarah Parks, died in

In a success story that spans filmmaking, writing novels and photography, the best recognition of Parks's works came in 1988, when he was awarded the National Medal of Arts from President Reagan.

Parks was honored as the Kansan of the Year in 1986 by Native Sons and Daughters of Kansas, and he received an honorary doctorate from K-State in 1970.

Fifty-one of the 124 Parks photographs, which form one of K-State's three traveling exhibits of art, are on display in the public library in White

"It is a wonderful way for K-State to expose its collection to another audience," said Jessica Reichman, curator of the University art collection. "We own a very good collection, which is very popular, and can share it with other institutions."

K-State acquired the Parks collection in 1973. Charles Stroh, professor of art, said that in the 1970s, K-State President Duane Acker was actively involved in obtaining a collection of works from Parks.

"Gordon Parks did not actually donate the photographs," Stroh said. "He gave K-State the rights to use the negatives which were in the Time's archives in New York.

"These negatives were printed with permission from Time magazine."

The collection includes scenes from rural and urban United States, Europe and Brazil, fashion and celebrity portraits, black-and-white and color, still lifes and evocative color

"Gordon Parks started his career at a time when the U.S. government was in the process of recording passing aspects of American culture during the depression," Stroh said.

"His works were done under the umbrella of a government agency that was intended to be socially conscious and to record images that reflected on a kind of awareness of the U.S. at that

"Parks's work continued in that

Stroh said Parks's early works tended to look at people in poverty and people who were the underdog and triumphed or whose social conditions were deprived.

But through his work with Time magazine, he also photographed roy-Parks's works reflect images that are not photojournalistic in nature, but more emotionalistic, Stroh said. He said Parks has a wider range of photographs than most photographers are involved in.

"He seems to have an inner eye, which allows him to see other aspects of life than most people would," he Reichman said Parks was one of the first black photographers to break the color barrier and photograph famous white people.

"He is very sensitive to people's emotions, poverty and disparities, and he captures all those emotions in his photographs," she said.

Parks was the first black photographer on the staff of Life magazine and the first black director of a feature film for a major movie studio.

K-State's Parks collection has been on traveling exhibit for quite a few years now, Reichman said.

"The collection was originally in the form of loose objects lying in the art department," she said. "In the early 1980s, the art department decided that it should be on a traveling exhibit, as it was not on display here at the K-

Reichman said Parks has attended most of the receptions at the exhibitions of his collections and has said he is pleased at K-State's efforts in promoting them.

"Gordon Parks is one of the few photographers whose works are not intermingled with any of the others in the exhibits," she said.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

MONDAY, FEB. 24 At 6 p.m., a minor-damage acci ween two vehicles in Lot D1W.

At 12:40 p.m., service permit No. 66 was re-ported lost off-campus.

At 1:55 p.m., the theft of a red Huffy Scout intain bike was reported at Marlatt Hall. Loss was $102.

At 4:20 p.m., a wheellock was placed on a blue Chevy S-10 pickup, license No. RUGBY4, for excessive violations. At 4:17 p.m., an ID was reported lost at Cardwell Hall, the K-State Union or Bluemont

At 4:40 p.m., three VHS video tapes, "Cadence," "Town That Dreaded Sundown" and "When a Stranger Calls," were reported stolen from John's Ice Cream and Video, 1123 Westloop Place. Loss was $235.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

At 6:25 p.m., Charles Goodwin, 300 Fordham St., was the victim of a vehicle burglary. Taken by a juvenile was a cellular phone valued at $1,100. The item was recovered, and the juvenile was

At 6:27 a.m., two male prowlers were reported looking into the back balcony windows at the Delta Delta Delta sorority, 1834 Laramie St. Joseph E. Crowder, 901 Bluemont Ave., and Corey J. Worthington, 704 S. Juliette Ave., were given notices to appear for window peeping, criminal trespass, criminal damage to property and minor in possession of aicoholic liquor. Damaged was a

At 10 a.m., a major-damage, non-injury seci-dent was reported at 704 N. Manhattan Ave. Noel D. Nelson, 1100 Fremont St., and Stephen R. Ballard, 909 Thurston Drive, were involved.

At 11 a.m., an aggravated burglary was reported by April D. Anderson, 1614 Cedar Crest, basement apartment. Taken was a black vinyl purse containing bi-fold wallet with a change compartment, miscellaneous ID, papers, change and a starter checkbook. A window was damaged. Total

At 11:28 a.m., a major-damage, hit-and-run accident was reported at the Kansas State Bank. Involved were an unknown hit-and-run vehicle and an ATM machine belonging to Kansas State Bank.

At 12:34 p.m., two VHS tapes were reported stolen from Mini Mart, 1102 Laramie St. Loss was

CAMPUS BULLETIN

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26

Phi Kappa Phi will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 213.

"Booze, Bongs and Bummer Trips at KSU" will be the topic of an informal discussion sponsored by University Counseling Services from noon 1 p.m. in Union 203. Bring a lunch. Everyone is invited.

"Let's Rap," a black student support group, will meet from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in Union 208 as part of Black History Month.

Native American Student Body Heritage Month committees will meet 3:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

Little American Royal sign-up will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Weber, Waters and the Union lobbies.

Architecture and Engineering Services will sponsor an open forum for University architect candidates at 1 p.m. in Union 205.

The Student Council for Exceptional Children will meet at 7 p.m. in Bluemont 111.

Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 209. The group is beginning its first Enroll to Grow Campus Group Bible Studies.

Bisexual and Gay Lesbian Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. at UFM.

Career Planning and Placement Center will have a workshop on Winning Interviews" at 1:30 p.m. in Union 212.

Rainforest Coalition will meet at 8 p.m. in Ackert 133.

Society of Automotive Engineers will meet 7 p.m. in Durland 163.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27

"Isis and Other Goddesses: A Black Woman's Story" will be presented at 8 p.m. in Union Station as part of Black History Month.

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport. Little American Royal sign-up will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Weber.

Waters and the Union lobbies.

Architecture and Engineering Services will sponsor an open forum for Iniversity architect candidates at 1 p.m. in Union 208.

Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 204. "The Geologists' Role in Kansas Department of Transportation" will be presented by the Department of Geology at 4 p.m. in Thompson 213.

KSU American Horticultural Therapy Club will have a business meeting at 5:30 p.m. and a chapter meeting at 6 p.m. in Waters 018. Association for Women in Science will sponsor a reception for female students and faculty interested in science, engineering and math from 4 to 7 p.m. in Union Flint Hills Room.

Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 203. Pre-Vet Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Trotter 201.

Rotaract Club will meet at 6p.m. in Union 206.

Latin American Student Organization will meet at 8:15 p.m. Union

■ ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Little

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28

■ Hispanic Awareness Month Planning Committee will meet at 12:30 p.m. in Union 205.

"Glory" will be shown at 8 p.m. at the ECM Campus Center, 1201 Denison Ave., as part of Black History Month.

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Flat Tire Mountain Bike Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208. Saturday, Feb. 29

■ AIDS Quilt will be at Ahearn Field House all day today through March 1.

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

Fair and warmer with a high in the mid-50s. Northwest wind 10 to 15 mph. Wednesday night continued fair with a low 30

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

Continued fair and warmer with a high in the upper 50s. Low Thursday night 30 to 35.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Friday through Sunday: Unseasonably warm and dry. Highs 55 to 60 Friday and in the 60s on Saturday and Sunday. Lows in the mid-30s to lower 40s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

MANHATTAN TOPEKA GOODLAND KANSAS 50/29 RUSSELL 51/23 GARDEN CITY WICHITA 56/21 49/30 COFFEYVILLE LIBERAL 56/26

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Havana	86/70	clear
Amsterdam	48/36	cloudy	Jerusalem	34/28	snow
Berlin	50/36	cloudy	Moscow	23/21	cloudy
Calgary	56/36	clear	San Diego	79/51	clear

WHY YOU SHOULD START PLANNING FOR RETIREMENT WITH YOUR EYES CLOSED.

For retirement to be the time of your life, you have to dream a little—about the things you've always wanted to do: travel, explore, start a business. Just imagine...

With a dream and a plan, you can make it happen. Your pension and Social Security should provide a good basic retirement income, but what about all those extras that make your dreams possible? You'll probably need some additional savings.

THE DREAM IS YOUR OWN. CAN HELP YOU WITH THE PLAN.

TIAA-CREF Supplemental Retirement Annuities (SRAs), tax-deferred annuities for people like you in education and research, are a good way to save for retirement and save on taxes now. SRAs are easy-you make contributions through your institution before your taxes are calculated, so you pay less tax now.

You pay no tax on your SRA contributions and earnings until you receive them as income. And saving regularly means your contributions and their earnings

Ensuring the future for those who shape it."

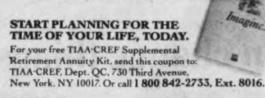

can add up quickly. What else makes SRAs so special? A broad range of allocation choices, from the safety of TIAA to the investment accounts of CREF's variable annuity;

no sales charges; a variety of ways to receive income, including annuities, payments over a fixed period, or cash. You may also be able to borrow against your SRA accumulation before you retire.*

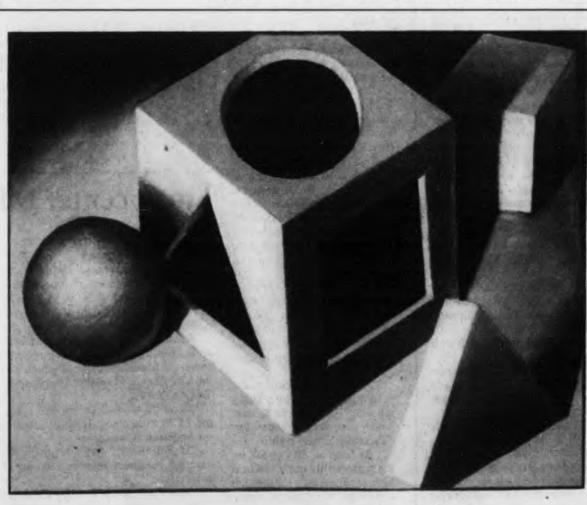

All this, plus the top investment management that has helped make TIAA-CREF the largest retirement system in the country.

So start dreaming and planning for the time of your life. Because the sooner you start your SRA, the greater your savings and your retire-

Zip Code Institution (Full name) TIAA-CREF Participas

es are distributed by TIAA-CREF Individual & Inc

EVERYONE SAW THIS AS A PROBLEM ONCE.

Occasionally the pieces all fit, but you didn't know why. Eventually, it became obvious.

Today, you have a new set of problems and again you may find yourself getting the solutions, but not knowing exactly why.

Working with Schaum's Outlines takes the guesswork out of problem solving. The Outlines provide you with the questions and the solutions in order to show you how to solve problems. The more you work with Schaums, the more obvious the solutions become.

Available in engineering, math, science, economics and computer science. Look for them in your college bookstore.

Schaum's

MIKE WELCHHANS/Collegian

Hill uses an airbrush to stencil lines on a flat cake to use as guidelines for putting rows of frosting on the top of the cake.

Cakes

MARIANN BAKER

If Janice Hill knows you're coming, she'll do more than just bake a

She and her husband, John, have been the owners of Vern's Donuts & Cakes, 408 S. Sixth St., since Febru-

Vern's Donuts first opened in 1937 at 414 N. Ninth St. Janice Hill's father, Lavern Brannagan, is the bakery's original owner and name-

Janice Hill, an award-winning wedding cake decorator, puts the finishing touches on the top layer of a wedding cake at Vern's Cakes and Donuts. Hill and her husband acquired the business from her parents in 1969 and continue to make custom cakes and donuts.

today, Janice Hill is known for creating hundreds of specialty cakes for cascading from each of the ladders. A people and businesses all over the

A large percentage of Hill's cake business comes from making wedding cakes. She said she creates each cake with a particular bride and groom in mind, making it highly personal-

One particular cake Hill recalls is the one she made for the wedding of former K-State basketball player, Steve Henson.

"It took a week and three workers to finish this one," Hill said.

The cake sat on a 54-inch table and was fully illuminated. It had six At that time, the shop's only spe-satellite cakes, each with ladders leadcialty was Vern's famous donuts. But ing to a three-tier main cake. It was block area for this event in Tulsa, decorated with lace, bows and pearls garden of greenery and a fountain were placed beneath the three tiers, making this one of Hill's most memorable creations.

"When I show people the wedding cake scrapbooks, they always stop and ask about this cake," she said.

Hill also specializes in international

She has made cakes from England, Australia and South Africa. She was featured in the International Cake Explorations Societe Magazine for her Filipino-style cake in the 13th annual International Cake Explorations Societes competition in 1988. Thousands of cakes filled a seven

"The competition is run much like the Olympics, except it's all cakes," Hill said.

been chosen among many experts in Hill said. the cake decorating field, including Frances Kuyper, and her personal favorite, Roland Winbeckler.

Winbeckler is best known for his lifelike cake sculptures of celebrities like Princess Diana and Elvis Presley.

Hill said research and development is important in the profession and these contests.

She said she does extensive tests to find the best baking and decorating techniques for different climates. She also has compiled a large reference library of all of her findings.

Hill said she is already making plans for next year's competition in Life is nothing but studying, and Hill said she was honored to have I'm learning new things every day,"

Hill said cakes have become more sophisticated.

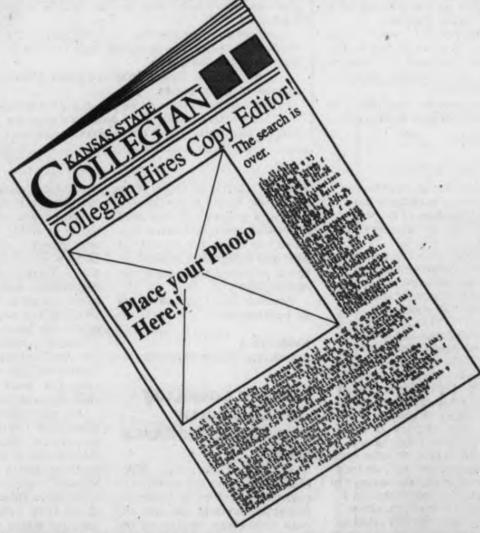

"Cakes with a few flowers on the side and 'Happy Birthday' written across the front are cakes of the past,"

People are always coming to Hill asking for cakes that suit certain personalities and interests.

"They want something special, but they're not sure what that is," she

> Hill uses her artistic talents to make See HILL Page 14

How would you like to be an important part of one of the top college newspapers in the U.S.?

The Kansas State Collegian is looking for a Copy Editor. Applicant must have excellent spelling and grammatical skills. Knowledge of Associated Press style helpful. Work approximately 20 to 25 hours per week. Salary $200 per month plus invaluable experience.

Submit applications to Erwin Seba in Kedzie Hall 116 by March 2, 1992. Applications may be obtained in Kedzie Hall 103.

More information may be obtained by calling 532-6555.

Faculty should fight for higher salaries

K-State faculty will get the short end of the stick once again.

Not only do faculty members have to put up with lack of space to teach students, lack of support from state officials and the administration, but once again this year, the faculty may not receive the increase in salaries they need.

The decision came from the Senate Ways and Means Committee, which has frozen salaries for all state employees.

The chairman of the committee and a true friend to higher education, Sen. Gus Bogina, R-Shawnee, said the money that will not go into salary increases will go into education.

Right.

It is conceivable that many of the fine professors at K-State will jump ship and go to a state where higher educators are treated with more respect.

But then again, what may happen is that the University will once again fight for higher wages, but settle for a smaller increase in wages.

What will then most likely happen is the faculty will end up kneeling and kissing the feet of the administration, saying, "Oh, thank you, Great Ones. You are so gracious."

They'll end up looking like heroes, but in reality, the faculty will be ripped off and satisfied when they should be raising Cain at the Statehouse.

We hope they do so. This is baloney. The K-State faculty should be darn angry and let their legislators know about it. The salaries for K-State faculty have not increased, but the standard of living has.

K-State, not just the students, has been getting rooked out of too much lately.

Election reflects days of the Great Depression

Historical comparisons abound during an election year;

The year most often mentioned is 1968, especially because Pat Buchanan's strong showing against President Bush in the New Hampshire primary echoed that of Eugene McCarthy against President Johnson.

Perhaps this election year should be compared not to an election year 24 years ago, but to the one 60 years ago.

In 1932, economic upheaval had swept the world. It had changed governments throughout Europe, and the American people were being asked to decide who would lead the country in the midst of the Great Depression.

Then, as now, a very experienced incumbent president Herbert Hoover — was seeking through platitudes to wish away hard times. Appeals were made on Hoover's behalf that sounded much like the one Vice President Dan Quayle made on behalf of Bush a few days ago.

Quayle said the American people should elect the candidate with the most experience, who happens to be Bush.

As the Depression deepened, revelations about the irresponsible ways of stockbrokers piled on to the impressions left from the governmental scandals to undermine confidence

Yet, Hoover sought to restore that confidence by making statements seemingly more and more out of touch with the everyday experience of Americans looking for work, standing in breadlines, selling apples, living in shantytowns made out of boxes, or simply watching while trying to survive on less

It all begins to sound too familiar. Maybe it's time for today's Americans to follow the example of those who went to the polls two generations ago. Maybe it's time for Americans to seek answers from someone other than the current administration.

OLLEGIAN

NEWS STAFF (532-6556)

Editor Erwin Seba Managing Editor Daria Goodman News Editor
Lajean Rau
Design & Graphics Editor
Greg Branson Photography Editor J. Kyle Wyatt Opinion Page Editor Mike Venso

Heather Anderson

Cindy Briggs

Assistant Opinion Page Editor
Jodell Lamer
Campus Editor
Cindy Briggs
Assistant Campus Editor
Denise Upholf
Sports Editor
Patrick Obley
Assistant Sports Editor
David Svoboda
Government/City Editor

Lajean Rau

Erwin Seba

Government/City Editor Christine Vendel

Christine Vendel

Mike Venso

COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL BOARD

David Frese Jodell Lamer

Shawn Bruce Patrick Obley The Editorial Board consists of members of the Collegian staff who meet three times each week to discuss topics of concern. These members also write the editorials that appear in the

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is blished by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103,

ttan, Kan., 66506-7167. butions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

NATIONAL DEBT

Acquired national debt rate per year by president:

Lyndon Johnson — $11.3 billion Richard Nixon - $19 billion Gerald Ford - $72 billion

Jimmy Carter - $70 billion Ronald Reagan - $212 billion George Bush - $354 billion

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Defacing of Farrell I Want To Be Alone

Everyone has a horror story about Farrell Library. I'd like to tell

During high school, I had the opportunity to come to K-State for some summer writing workshops. I was impressed with the

ERIC BECKER

me. I'm not claustrophobic,

but then and there, surrounded by indecipherable academic researches, I had the distinct impression that the walls were coming together around me.

University's campus and facilities at the time, as only a high-school student who's seen few college campuses could be. But the lasting impression of that contact with

K-State helped make my eventual pursuits here inevitable and for the most part, pleasant.

Farrell made a particular impression on me during those high- school visits to K-State. It seemed much bigger at the time than it does now, and maze-like - like the labyrinthine library in "The Name of the Rose. But the thing I most remembered about the library was the eighth stack level. God knows how I found my way up there when I was here for those high-school workshops, but I did. I didn't read the books that were stored there. but I did read; I read the graffiti that was etched into and layered upon the desktops lined up along the windows that overlook Denison

It was fascinating. couldn't have understood, certainly don't remember, much of it. But at the time, I felt that excitement of discovery that might accompany excavation of an archaeological dig. The scrawling of spanned ages and generations. It was the timeless of bored students. Fascinating.

Some time after the highschool workshops (but some time ago) as a student at K-State, I remembered the graffiti on the eighth stack level. And I resolved to copy and preserve it for myself. I went to the K-State Union Bookstore and bought a sketchbook, thinking I would myself labor over those desktops. copying each knife-sketch, each etching, each obscene rhyme in my sketchbook. I went to the library and tried to find my way upstairs. It wasn't easy. But following the yellow lines on floor, which led me by no direct route to a staircase hidden on the seventh stack level, I finally found my way to the eighth floor.

I noticed a lot more than I had when I'd been there during high school. I noticed the close ceiling and the narrow rows of books with titles like "Hyper-Genetic Research in Sterile White Mice" and "Missile Envy in Twentieth Century World Diplomacy.' It shook me. I'm not claustrophobic, but then and there. surrounded indecipherable academic researches, I had the distinct impression that the walls were coming together around me. Afraid that they might enclose me entirely, I tightened my hold on my sketchbook and ran through the aisles for the desks along the

When I got to them, I wished I hadn't come.

I was too late. The desks were clean. The graffiti was gone. The desktops had been sanded clean in a place where their graffiti had been the best reading available.

I suppose I must have panicked. But devastated by the defaced desktops no longer defaced, but nevertheless defaced, I ran for the stairs.

I returned the sketchbook to the Union Bookstore the next day.

A friend and I made an important determination at a party this weekend. We decided that the strongest statement of independence a person can make is to go to dinner or a movie alone.

I left the party soon after that. There were too many people there. I haven't been alone much in the past three years. College life really doesn't lend itself to privacy. And society doesn't accept people on an individual basis.

We as humans go out in groups or have parties. We mate and marry. We share our time and our lives. It is the way of our society. We are almost always with someone. Public bathrooms aren't even a

Because of this, one of the hardest things for a human to do is to choose to be alone. I'm not talking about being lonely. You can be lonely in a room full of people. I'm also not talking about being alone because a boyfriend or girlfriend breaks up with you, or because your place of employment transfers you to a new city where you don't know

I'm thinking of the specific situation when you choose to end a relationship because it isn't the right one, or you decide it is time to relocate and take a new job in a city where you are acquainted with no one. It is just a good career move.

This is the hardest decision for a person to make and stick with to be alone by choice and actually enjoy it.

My biggest problem is getting people to leave me alone. Not many people believe that I want to be by myself. I have been trying for the past year to get rid of some people - more specifically, men - in my life who consume a lot of my time and energy and really don't give anything in return. They eat my food, watch my television and show up on my doorstep at 1:30 a.m. expecting me to let them in.

In return for my hospitality, they propose marriage or a commitment. I really don't understand the attraction. There isn't an everlasting love present. Maybe they want me because I'm a good cook or I can retain employment for long periods of time. I don't know.

Some people in this world just don't understand the phrases: "Leave me alone," "No thank you" or "Not if you were the last person on earth." These are not invitations to sit and stare at me while I work or play. I really want to be alone.

When I have homework, I don't want someone in the same room watching television. I also don't want to have to spend time with someone who wants to be entertained because they have nothing else to do. I want to be in a room or outside by myself, unless I ask for company. I concentrate much better and have no excuses for not getting my work done.

Summers seem to be the best time for me to be alone. Manhattan is a great town during the summer. Fewer people are here. The ones that are here are neighborly and pleasant. Life is slower, and there is more to do. The weather is good. If you want, it is just a good time to be

I take those three months out of the year to live alone, if I can, and regroup my life back to where I want it. School really messes y balance. I'm usually too busy juggling full-time employment and fulltime school to even figure out when I can sleep. I don't have much time to recreate, much less figure out when I am going to shave my

There's a lot of power in the decision to be alone. You control your own time. You go your own way, and you do what you need and Simple things become fun. A bubble bath by classical music and candlelight or playing on the equipment at 2 a.m. in the Manhattan City Park can be fantastically fun.

Spring break is coming up in two weeks. I think I'll take a train somewhere, just go and be.

Everyone needs someone sometime, just not all the time.

"Somewhere" sounds like a nice place to be for a week. Just as long as "somewhere" doesn't have too many someones.

RED CROSS BLOOD DRIVE REFUSES WILLING DONORS

Editor,

LETTERS

On Feb. 20, both the Collegian and the Manhattan Mercury ran feature stories imploring potential donors to participate in the American Red Cross blood drive at the K-State

My 22-year-old son, who is one pint short of receiving his one-gallon donor pin, decided to respond to the need. Sounds like a touching story so far, doesn't it? As Paul Harvey says: "Stay tuned for the rest of the story."

Because my son was injured in April 1989, he is now confined to a wheelchair, has certain physical limitations due to high muscle tone and suffers some speech difficulties.

In fact, he left a brain injury rehabilitation program and returned home for the first time Feb. 1. After maneuvering through a maze of chairs, tables and other obstacles in his wheelchair, he finally managed to reach the table where donors begin the process of filling out the required paperwork.

Due to his lingering difficulties maintaining eye focus on the printed material, it was faster for my wife to read the questions to him and mark his answers. He was then escorted to a privacy booth where information pertaining to the potential donor's exposure to the HIV virus was to be gathered.

Apparently, there is a rule that states if a person has difficulty reading or writing, they must be interviewed to ascertain that they understand how AIDS is acquired. I can understand this is necessary if there is question of the person's mental competence; however, my son's difficulties are physical, not mental. In fact, he probably has a higher IQ than most of the people doing the interviews and drawing the blood. The next problem arose because of another meaningless rule: No one can be present during the interview except the interviewer and the potential donor. The interviewer, as expected, had difficulty understanding my son's verbal explanation of how one acquires AIDS. My wife offered to assist, but, no, that is not allowed.

Finally, after an extended time period that was frustrating for both my son and the person conducting the interview, he was given approval to donate blood.

The final straw came when it was found that he could not fully extend his arm. Regulations say that blood has to be taken within the 2 inches above or below the elbow, and they did not feel they could do it with the amount of arm extension he is capable of. The bottom line was that after maneuvering around physical barriers to his access, suffering the humiliation of verbal interviews concerning AIDS and the frustrations of making himself understood because no one was allowed to help interpret, he was refused as a donor because of an arm he couldn't fully straighten. This happens to a person who donated blood seven times prior to his injury at age 19! A person who spent six months in a coma, underwent eight surgeries, had blood drawn 110 times (a conservative estimate) during the last 33 months and is still willing to give to someone else in need!

Am I angry? You bet your sweet bippie I am! I hope the witless Washington weenie that dreamed up these idiotic rules is asked to explain to the family of the person who needed blood that, yes, we had a willing and qualified donor that could have saved your loved one's life, but because of these neat regulations I dreamed up. he was prevented from donating the needed blood.

CARLA JONES

American Red Cross, don't call us, we'll call you!

Keith Lynch Associate professor of forestry

▶ WRECK COVERAGE BY COLLEGIAN VIEWED AS DISGRACE

Editor,

Thursday morning, Mike Mauldin, a friend and neighbor of ours, was involved in a horrible motorcycle accident. His nose and both wrists were broken by the impact of a moving car, and his face was cut in more than 20 places by the automobile's windshield. As the medics cared for him in the Kramer Food Center parking lot, he cried out, "Get the film away from that guy with the camera." He hoped to avoid the embarrassment and pain of having all of his friends see him as he was at the time.

However, Friday morning the blood and gore of the scene was sprayed all over the front page of the Collegian. Everyone who read the Collegian was accosted by a particularly grotesque image of Mike's mangled face and a wideangle shot showing his helpless, broken body strapped to an ambulance stretcher. You could see on the faces of the onlookers that this was a sight too horrible to see once. Why would anyone want to repeat it tens of thousands of times and distribute it all over the world?

Once again, the Collegian has shown its ability to sensationalize other people's misery and confuse the facts at the same time. Mike is not a freshman in electrical engineering, but a sophomore in political science. He did not break his arms, but both wrists, and is now in very poor shape to continue on with his college education this semester. Exploiting the misfortune of Mike Mauldin to fill some white space in your newspaper is atrocious and reprehensible.

The photographs taken at the scene of Mike Mauldin's motorcycle accident Thursday morning were in very poor taste and also constitute a violation of Michael's privacy. If you know someone well enough, and we should know Mike by living with him, you would not want people taking pictures of your friend when he is in no condition to defend

Some of us visited him at the hospital Thursday night, and he was sincerely hoping that no pictures would appear in the school newspaper. We are shocked that you would print something so grotesque, so inhuman, when simple text would have sufficed. If it is important for you to keep your stature as a newspaper, do so at your own expense, and not at the expense and anguish of others.

Residents of Marlatt Hall Fourth floor, C-wing

Editors note: the Collegian's circulation is 14,000.

Grammy night 'Unforgettable' for Natalie Cole

Women's talents touted in annual music awards show

ROGER STEINBROCK

It was truly an unforgettable evening for Natalie Cole at the 34th annual Grammy Awards Tuesday

Cole, who performed "Unforgettable" in a duet with her father via tape recording, received a standing ovation as she accepted the award for Record of the Year. Cole also was awarded Album of the Year.

The National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences did more than just honor Natalie Cole — it honored Nat King Cole, who died of lung cancer in 1965. The Academy had ignored Nat King Cole during his lifetime, and what a tribute it gave his family to show the music industry's appreciation for him.

Women ruled the Grammys. Whoopi Goldberg, the first woman to be the host of the show, presided and entertained during the marathon fourhour show.

Goldberg's lighthearted wit kept the slow-moving show on the right track. Some of her comments were directed toward the Jackson family and Supreme Court Justice Clarence

After making a comment about plastic surgery and breast implants, Goldberg commented, "Do you think they will ask me to do this again? I don't think so."

Much like her comeback at the 1990 Grammy Awards, Bonnie Raitt was honored with three Grammys.

Raitt also performed her ballad "I Can't Make You Love Me" with Bruce Hornsby on piano. Her silky vocals intertwined within the tapestry provided by Hornsby's sweet tickling of the ivory keys.

The awards were very predictable, but there were some surprises.

For instance, the highly touted C+ C Music Factory, who has been criticized for lipsyncing, was shunned for best new artist. Most likely, the Academy didn't want to risk another scandal like ithad after giving Milli Vanilli the award in 1990

In the award for best female rhythm and blues performance, a tie between Patti LaBelle and Lisa Fischer put both in a bewildered state.

In accepting one of three awards, R.E.M.'s Michael Stipe-asked for people to register to vote.

The biggest shock of the evening was "Unforgettable" being named song of the year, which is a songwriter's award. When Irving Gordon accepted his award for the 40-year-old song old, he seemed out of place.

"It's nice to have a song come out that doesn't scream, yell (or) have a nervous breakdown while it talks about tenderness," Gordon said. "Also, it's nice to have a song accepted that you won't get a hernia when you sing it.'

Many of the early performances were shaky. Legend Paul Simon opened the show with his song "Cool, Cool River." His singing was like a river, opening up on rocky ground, then flowing into a gentle ebb.

Luther Vandross, who won several awards, performed "Love Power/ The Power of Love" with the Grammy-winning gospel group Sounds of Blackness. It was a highlight that ended with the Queen of Soul Aretha Franklin and Vandross in a scat duet.

Other notable performances were by Amy Grant, Dave Grusin and Chick Corea, and Metallica.

The often aloof Barbra Streisand was also present and received a Grammy Legend Award.

Turner

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 today," Bengston said to Turner.

The defense did not question Ellibee.

Biggs continued by addressing several considerations the court may make when deciding a sentence.

"One factor to consider is prior criminal history," Biggs said. "This is the only one arguably in favor of the defendant. He does not have one."

However, Biggs said there were some "red flags" about Turner's life and lifestyle, including dependencies on marijuana and alcohol and a temperamental personality.

Next, Biggs addressed extent of harm and said this case induced the greatest harm possible.

"She cannot be paroled from the grave. The killing was completely senseless," he said. "Besides the loss of her life, her parents, sister, friends, family and Pate, everyone's lives have been affected."

Dean said Turner had experienced harm as well, through his wife and unborn child. The child is due in April.

Biggs said intent to kill was present in this case, because the robbery was planned for several days, and the two soldiers were both armed.

"He has said it was an accident, but the facts do not support that," Biggs

"The defendant's own inconsistent statements bring up questions about what he's trying to accomplish with them. Two other considerations are provocation and whether the victim facilitated the crime. Biggs discounted Whether there are grounds to excuse or justify the defendant's actions is another consideration. Biggs said there were no mitigating circum-ished, Turner spoke to the judge to sentencing. Dean said Turner suffered sexual defend himself.

and physical abuse as a child, and he suggested there were stress problems related to his time in Saudi Arabia. Biggs said Turner stated in the presentencing report that before he shot

Heintze, he had flashbacks of being in a foxhole in Saudi Arabia. "There is nothing to substantiate, nothing to indicate he had contact stances in this case.

with Iraqi troops in Saudi Arabia," Biggs said. "A store clerk is not an Iraqi troon.

After the two attorneys had fin-

"I'm sorry. It was an accident. I know nobody here wants to believe that," he said. "I think about this every day. I suffer about this every day. I made the biggest mistake a human can make.

A Geary County officer runs a metal detector over the clothing of people entering the courtroom to watch the sentencing of Fort Riley soldier Jason L. Turner Tuesday morning in the Geary County Courthouse.

"I'm gonna sit in prison and think about it every day. On parole, I'll carry this with me the rest of my life. It's not a good feeling."

Pate Willingham, owner of the convenience store, said he could not be pleased with any outcome of the

"I can't say it's a good feeling, but at least we're happy about what's happened," he said, referring to the lengthy sentence imposed on Turner.

Biggs said he agreed.

This is not a case where you can be pleased with the outcome under any circumstance, but we did get what we recommended, the consecutive sentences," he said

Bengston said Turner has the right to appeal the sentences.

Taylor

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 in touch with your divinity, she said, and it is the time we choose the things we are going to internalize.

"It's the most important time we must take," she said.

"Quiet time brings you back to your good ol' common sense," Tay-

Taylor said she believes it is also important to love yourself. The key is finding a balance and accepting yourself, she said.

You have to work at feeling good," she said. "When you love yourself, everybody wants to be around

The task is to challenge yourself, Taylor said. Students should look at school as a lab where they begin creating the person they want to become.

Graduates should learn how to communicate effectively and master the English language, she said.

"Challenge yourself when you feel vulnerable," she said.

Taylor spoke of how she challenged herself by going to college 23 years after she graduated from high school. She said she was uninformed and was afraid of becoming an, "old, poor, black woman with no power." Taylor also discussed the importance of being fit, focused, harnessed, organized, passionate and disciplined.

You must now be able to forgive, Taylor said. She said living life without being able to forgive is like, "trying to move forward with your brakes

"There is no dream too big to dream," Taylor said. "I'm living proof that you can make of yourself whatever you want."

GRAMMY WINNERS

Here is a partial list of winners from Tuesday night's Grammy Awards.

BEST SONG Unforgettable - Irving Gordon, songwriter

NEW ARTIST

Mark Conn

PRODUCER OF THE YEAR David Foster — Unforgettable

POP VOCAL PERFORMANCE, FEMALE

Something to Talk About - Bonnie Raitt POP VOCAL

PERFORMANCE, MALE When A Man Loves A Woman — Michael Bolton POP PERFORMANCE, GROUP

Losing My Religion, R.E.M. ROCK SONG Soul Cages - Sting

ROCK VOCAL PERFORMANCE, SOLO Luck of the Draw - Bonnie Raitt

ALTERNATIVE MUSIC ALBUM Losing My Religon — R.E.M.

RAP PERFORMANCE Mama Said Knock You Out - L.L. Cool J METAL PERFORMANCE

Metallica - Metallica R&B SONG Power of Love — Luther

Vandross COUNTRY SONG Love Can Build a Bridge The Judds

COUNTRY VOCAL, MALE Ropin' the Wind - Garth Brooks

GREGORY A. BRANSON/Collegian

Read the Collegian and EXPAND THE MIND.

You can handle this kind of emergency.

We can handle the rest.

Physician on duty 24 hours a day.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

105 Sunset / P. O. Box 1208

The Largest Traveling Movie Poster Collection on the Planet

K-State Union 1st Floor Alcove 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

You've Heard of Rotary Manhattan/K.S.U. RotarAct for Young Professionals Invites You to our meeting

February 27th

6 p.m. Union 206

Frank Sall will discuss Sexual Harassment Issues

36 17 .679 7 1/2

Portland

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

38 16 .704

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1992

COLUMN

MARGO KELLER

Missing Olympics already

I turned on the television expecting to see more glitzy Olympic coverage situated within the snow-capped scenery of Albertville, France, Tuesday. Then I remembered Sunday was the final day of televised coverage.

After being inundated with Olympic updates, commercials and medal counts, it's hard to believe it's actually over.

The 16th Winter Olympics is now just a part of sports history. Athletes accomplished their childhood dreams or competed against the world's best. While they competed, world-wide spectators wished they were in the athletes' shoes (or in their skis or skates) and cheered for them in their quest for the gold.

the biggest Perhaps disappointment came when the athletes' country and media, not themselves, had thrust the burden and pressure of "bringing home the gold" upon them.

Naturally, the gold would be the premiere reward, but why should his countrymen be disappointed when the athlete does his best? If an athlete represents his country and competes to his best ability without winning a medallion, does that make him any less of an athlete or champion?

Dan Jansen's case-in-point proves that being a second from success can stink. Being hounded by the media every hour after that disappointment can be worse. Jansen came close, but to interview him and his wife after the fact does not bring the United States any closer to the "expected" medal.

Most are more fortunate, if you can call it that, to live up to their country's expectations. With their coveted Olympic medal, they receive a ticket to endorse any product they want.

The newest ice queen, Kristi Yamaguchi, can follow the blades of East German Katarina Witt, who endorses Diet Coke, Danskin, Du Pont and other American merchandise.

Now and in years to come Yamaguchi, like Witt and her predecessors, can have idolizing future skaters and nonskaters clamoring to be just like them.

I could never keep my hair any longer than my earlobes, because when I saw a perky, energetic figure skater on television , I wanted to have that same look. My hairstylist provided the "Dorothy Hamill" look and the "Rosalyn Sumners" haircuts to my tresses even in the dead of winter.

I adored reading anything in magazines or newspapers about the U.S. figure skating hopefuls. And somehow I think that we never outgrow those ideas of somehow if we could have started earlier, eaten our Wheaties everyday and dedicated our lives to intense training, we could be just like our favorite Olympic hopefuls. Although the rotation of Winter and Summer games alternating every two years beginning in 1994 will keep the world in tune to Olympic endeavors, will it commercialize the sports?

I just hope after watching the particular seasonal games and all the hype during the off years with the Pan Am Games, that the Olympics won't become a mere athletic event to gain only more spectators and more money.

Alas, they shouldn't forget the essence of the Olympic games and spirit, the athletes themselves and why they compete. They want to win the gold for themselves, not just their country.

CATS BASKETBALL

Cats take battle to the Buffs in Boulder

Henson may start; Cats hold out hope for post-season play

PATRICK OBLEY

Cats coach Dana Altman said he isn't sure whether Gaylon Nickerson or Brian Henson will start at No. 2 guard in tonight's contest at Colorado.

During the past three games, Henson, who comes off the bench, has outscored Nickerson 44-12.

"Brian has definitely given us a scoring punch that Gaylon has not been able to give us," Altman said. "We play much better and look much better because Brian's in there shooting the ball."

Nickerson's problems are have been hard to pinpoint, according to Altman. When the Cats go to a four-guard offense with Marcus Zeigler, Henson, Nickerson and Askia Jones, Altman said Nickerson moves to the forward position.

"But that's primarily out on the perimeter, so we're not doing anything specific in order to help his shooting," Altman said.

"He's struggling," Altman said of Nickerson. "He had a couple shots against KU that he passed up and on a couple of them he

"For whatever reason, he's struggling. He's not been able to find his stride. Defensively, he has done some good things, though."

As for Henson, Altman said one of the primary reasons for keeping him on the bench is the lack of depth at the point guard position.

'What we've been saying all along is that if we started Marcus (Zeigler) and Brian and one of them get a couple of quick fouls, especially Marcus, we're shallow at the guard position," Altman said. "It would cause a lot of trouble for and took place on ergometers.

SPORTS DIGEST

State University.

making a comeback.

needed the money.

training camp.

those rumors."

aren't "counting on it." -

an infusion of money.

K-STATE: Crew members fare well in Wichita the Shocker's Sprint Indoor railing race Saturday at Wichita while Traci Cole placed second in the women's open division.

NBA: Kareem nixes comeback bid

Angeles Lakers star, but he added an "if."

he had the virus that causes AIDS.

focus of what I'm doing with my life right now."

wanted to help the Lakers," Abdul-Jabbar said.

Two members of the K-State crew team participated in

The races at the Heskett Center were 2,500 meters long,

J.J. Schuster finished first in the men's novice class

NEW YORK (AP) — Forget about Kareem Adbul-Jabbar

"I'm dismissing that as a possibility," said the retired Los

"If somebody's banging on my door and makes me an

Abdul-Jabbar had suggested he might resume his career

"I just wanted to help my friend Ervin Johnson and I

He soured on the idea, though, when some people

"That opened my eyes to exactly what I was getting into,"

Abdul-Jabbar made his comments Monday on a visit to

Part of the proceeds from their Clash of Legends, which

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former West Virginia quarterback

"We kept hearing rumors about other teams getting

Harris and his Washington Marauders teammates soon

"We were supposed to get our first check on a Monday

Team officials said players were owed two checks for League operations are suspended while officials look for

Harris said he plans to stay in shape by playing

Major Harris and his Professional Spring Football League teammates knew something wasn't right when they arrived in kicked out of hotels," Harris said Tuesday. "Everybody kind of knew something was going wrong because we kept hearing found themselves booted from their lodgings in DeLand, Fla.

planned it perfectly," Harris said with a laugh.

basketball in Pittsburgh, his hometown.

and they evicted us from the hotel on a Sunday, so they two weeks of practice, but Harris said many of the Marauders offer I can't refuse, I'd entertain it," he said. "But that's not the at 44 and donate most of his salary to AIDS research. That was soon after Magic Johnson retired with the announcement questioned his motive, saying he was coming back because he promote his one-and-one duel with Julius Erving in Atlantic City will be on pay-per-view TV, will go to AIDS research. *

FOOTBALL: SFL suspends operations

In spite of whatever decision he makes, Altman said Henson will see more action.

"We may start him. I'm not sure," Altman said. "The minutes have been and will be there for Brian."

Henson hit his first five 3-point attempts en route to a 15-point performance last weekend in the 54-52 loss to Kansas. In that game, Henson, Vincent Jackson and Jones combined for 44 of the Cats' points.

But it was the shots they missed which bothered Altman.

"Definitely, when Brian and Ski are feeling it and shooting well, you let them take shots they probably shouldn't," Altman said. "But right around the six-minute mark in the second half, they took some shots that I think hurt us.'

But, Altman admitted, losing a close game tends to gnaw at him.

"It was a different kind of loss from the blowouts," Altman said. "I was embarassed, but in a different sort of way. I felt bad for the players.

"You sit there and watch the game films and think about a few shots here or a free throw there that would have changed the outcome," Altman said. "That tends to be bothersome.

"Our defensive awareness was much better than it has been in past games," Altman said. "I'm a little disappointed in our execution, we missed a lot of pic opportunities, took some quick shots.

"I also think we should have hit more free throws, and we should have rebounded the ball better," Altman said. "All of those areas must be improved if we're going to beat Colorado."

Winning in Boulder has been a tall order for Big Eight teams. Ranked teams Nebraska and Oklahoma State have lost, and Kansas escaped with a two-point Leading the Buffaloes are Donnie Boyce and James Hunter.

Boyce scored 27 points in the loss to KU Jan. 18.

"According to all the scores, they're a much different team out in Boulder," Altman said. "Boyce scored 27 points against KU. KU doesn't give players 27-point

Jackson and Nickerson doubled up on Boyce and eliminated him from being a factor in K-State's 62-56 win Feb. 1. Those two will draw the assignment again, according to Hunter is an unknown factor to Altman since he didn't play the first time against the Cats.

"He scores a little bit for them," Altman said. "Colorado definitely benefits from having him in the game."

As for the Cats' morale following the tough loss to the Hawks, Altman said he believes his team will be fine.

"It's been a concern, That was one of those games that, if you would have won, would have really picked us up," Altman said. "But it works the opposite if you don't win. "Still, I think the players will bounce back," Altman said. "We've got four important games coming up, and I think they know they have to play well in those games in order to win or play in the post season."

At 13-10 overall and 3-7 in conference play, Altman said to make it to a postseason tournament, be it NCAA or NIT, will require at least three wins in the Cats' last four games.

"We'll have to win out in order to make the NCAA," Altman said. "I don't know what the NIT people are thinking, but I do know we have to have at least a .500 record and that they look at crowd attendance at home games.

Altman says Vincent Jackson's defense will be key against CU

"Although it's just three weeks away, I don't want the players thinking about it so much that it takes away from their play in these next four games."

Whether or not the Cats and Buffs are playing for last place is a moot point, Altman said. The two teams are currently tied for last, five games out of first.

"We just want to win the ball game," Altman said. "We're going to go in there swinging and fighting. We don't want to finish seventh or eighth. No one does."

LADY CATS BASKETBALL

Miller, Grebing make final home appearance

Yow calls CU upset is possible; hopes skid is ended

PATRICK OBLEY

Seniors Mary Jo Miller and Jennifer Grebing will play their final home game when the Lady Cats host Colorado tonight at 7.

The Lady Cats, 5-20 overall and 2-10 in Big Eight play, are currently in the throes of an eightgame losing streak. Colorado comes to Manhattan as one of the hottest teams in the Big Eight, riding a nine-game winning streak that has boosted their records to 17-8 and 9-3.

"We have a good chance to pull a major upset in the conference race," said Lady Cat head coach Susan Yow. "I've really felt since the second half of the Iowa State game and our performance at Kansas that our work ethic is back intact, and that is right when you want that to come - toward the end of the Big Eight season and into the Big Eight Tournament."

In the 58-54 loss at Ames, the Lady Cats came back from deficits as large as 20 points, 35-15 in the first half and had a chance to win late. And despite losing by 21 at Kansas, K-State had played tight with the Lady Hawks throughout much of the first half.

Miller will end her career with at least three Lady Cat records and one Big Eight record. Currently, Miller holds the all-time school assists mark at 556, the school season assist record at 175 and her 13 assists last season against Oklahoma State is a Big Eight single-game mark.

'Mary Jo will be remembered

JENNIFER GREBING

for her hard-nosed play and for going beyond the boundaries when necessary," Yow said.

> Grebing has started her last 47 games for the Lady Cats at the center position. She is a two-time all-Big Eight academic honor roll member.

> "Jen always gave it her very best, not only in the games but on the practice floor, and that is one legacy that she will leave this basketball team," Yow said.

SPRING TRAINING

Brett reports to spring training

ASSOCIATED PRESS

HAINES CITY, Fla. - George Brett began work Tuesday for his 20th major league season with the Kansas City Royals.

Brett, who missed a month early last season with a partial tear of the medial collateral ligament of his right knee, joined the 30 pitchers and catchers and position players Wally Joyner, Jeff Conine and Kevin Seitzer, who also had injuries

In spite of an all-day rain, the Royals did not waste their second day of spring training.

"The pitchers threw under cover and got all of their work in," manager Hal McRae said. Brett reported in excellent shape, McRae

"George came to camp with fire in his eyes," he said. "He's a very determined guy, and that's good. We had a talk, and he's going to be our designated hitter, bat fifth and play every day. That's the way it is and he accepted it. No qualms about it, he's hitting fifth, and Wally Joyner will be in the third

Brett, who has hit in the No. 3 slot most of his career, dropped to .255 in 131 games last season. But he has a lifetime .308 mark and ranks 32nd on the major league hit list with 2,836.

After a conditioning program during the off-season, Brett reported at 200 pounds, 12 less than he weighed at the end of last

New ozone hole may develop, studies show

Chlorine monoxide levels too high to be safe in Northern Hemisphere

DEREK THOMAN

Depletion of the ozone layer has been observed over Antarctica since the early 1980s.

Antarctica may be developing over the Northern Hemisphere, which includes Canada, Europe and the United chlorine monoxide is many times the controlling stratospheric ozone disnormal level throughout the Northern tribution in sufficient detail to fore-Hemisphere, and the origin of these cast events in the next decade.

The second Airborne Arctic Stratospheric Expedition has sent a sequence of aircraft flights using the NASA ER-2 and DC-8, from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Bangor, Maine.

ACADEMICS

MATTHEW CUNNINGHAM

day morning.

Course and curriculum changes in

The course changes affect the Department of Counseling and Educa-

the College of Education were approved by its faculty assembly Tues-tional Psychology and deal with the sequencing of the classes, description of course content and the addition of five classes, all within the master's up to professional training standards," said Michael Dannells, associate professor and head of the counseling and educational psychology department.

chlorine layers is a concern to the AASE-II researchers.

The AASE-II mission is not yet complete, but in a press briefing re-leased by the AASE-II, there is evi-Now there is growing concern that dence that the potential for ozone an ozone hole similar to the one over depletion is greater than had been expected.

The aim of the mission is to investigate the processes that occur in the atmosphere that could lead to an ozone hole over the Northern Hemisphere," said Darin Toohey, a Harvard University scientist and an AASE-II project scientist.

The objective, according to the Currently, the concentration of release, is to investigate reactions

> "Three of the five classes have previously been taught in seminars in the past," Dannells said. "We are

Steve Benton, associate professor

"First, the sequencing will better prepare students as to what order to

"And second, the new content was Dannells said keeping up with the

See CURRICULUM Page 14

ing them better prepared as a result of trying to make them available for students on a regular basis."

of educational psychology, said the changes will help the students in two see if significant ozone loss will occur within the arctic polar vortex in the 1990s and what mechanisms are responsible for ozone erosion at middle the northern latitudes revealed that chlorine monoxide is the prevalent agent responsible for ozone depletion in the stratosphere.

According to the release, high concentrations of chlorine monoxide and bromine monoxide suggest humaninduced Arctic ozone destruction rates of 1-2 percent per day at ER-2 altitudes in late January.

Depletion of the polar ozone is attributed to high levels of chlorine monoxide, which largely consists of industrial chlorofluorocarbons, and to bromine monoxide from both natural and industrial sources.

Volcanic debris, like from the

The AASE-II is investigating to Mount Pinatubo eruption, contributes to the depletion of the ozone.

A complete explanation for the high amounts of chlorine outside the vortex is still unknown.

However, the movement of vortex Key findings of the expedition in air to lower latitudes may be the cause of the heightened levels of chlorine present near the Caribbean.

According to the release, February and March are the most critical times for ozone loss. This is when sunlight returns to northern latitudes and before the polar vortex dismantles in the warmth.

"Mt. Pinatubo aerosols react with the chlorine to destroy ozone, and this has been evident over the tropics," said Thomas Manney, professor of physics.

In a press release via Space Link received through Telenet, Joe Waters of NASA said sustained levels of chlorine could lead to significant ozone destruction over the Northern Hemi-racts."

The Upper Atmosphere Research Satellite, which is orbiting the Earth, has shown high levels of chlorine monoxide at high northern latitudes, which may cause ozone loss over the Northern Hemisphere similar to the loss occurring over Antarctica.

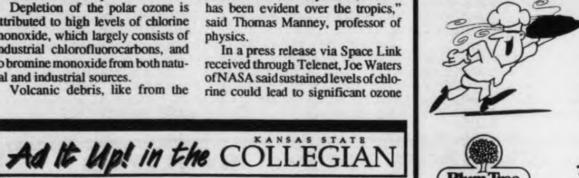

High levels of chlorine monoxide were observed over such cities as London, Amsterdam and Moscow.

Ozone depletion is equal to more UVB radiation," he said. "This is the greatest risk of skin cancer and cata-

Manney said people in the future will have to protect themselves from these damaging UV rays by wearing more clothing and using sunscreens.

Depletion depends upon the meteorologic conditions, specifically the size and duration of the polar vortex, the release said.

"Ozone loss is a 10- to 20-year process. The CFCs there now have been there for many years. Even if CFC use stopped today, the effects will persist for a long time."

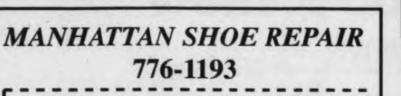

In a Hurry For Lunch?

Come in and have our luncheon buffet, it includes soup, salad bar and Hot foods for only $4.95 Monday thru Friday.

* Holiday Innº

530 Richards Dr.

Men's Black Leather Driving Gloves.

Reg. $19.99 Now $10.00

With Coupon Expires March 19, 1992

315-B POYNTZ

Use the 3rd & Houston St. parking lot. Three doors up the alley from Burger King. Downtown.

Feb. 26-28

Perms 2 for 1

(Bring a friend. Take higher price - 2 = your cost)

All Haircuts 1/2 Price

(Not valid with other coupons)

1106 Laramie

Call 539-1177

CCNGRATULATION! DARIUS LETCHENBERGER

"The new courses are to bring us created to meet new standards, mak-

the changes.'

College of Education approves selective curriculum changes for receiving the Zollinger Award, awarded to Sigma Phi Epsilon's outstanding senior in the region.

From all your brothers at Sigma Phi Epsilon.

UNCOVERED PERFORMANCE

Get Ready for Spring Break With Teva Sport Sandals

> We've Moved! Stop by our new store at 304 Poyntz

304 Poyntz Downtown

539-5639 Hrs: M-F 9-6 Th 9-8, Sat 9-5

AGGIEVILLE'S FAVORITE BROTHER IS BACK!

Nightly Specials Beginning Wed. With:

$1 Domestic Bottles

Visit Your Brother Thurs, and Fri. Featuring Live Entertainment With: "As We Speak"

19 to Enter

1120 Moro

Friday and Saturday, February 29 & March PETE'S DRAGON (FF)

2ND FLOOR SHOWCASE SHOWING NOW THROUGH MONDAY, MARCH 15 ASIAN CLUB EXHIBIT

Showing Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, February 28, 29, and Writer James Deardein's new harrowing tale of murder, passion, greed, and deceit. Based on the best-selling novel by Ira Levin and starring Matt Dillon and Sean Young, this smash hit is the story of a woman who marries a charismatic charmer, unaware of his ruthless-and-deadly scheme for success. Rated R. Friday and Saturday, 7 & 9:30p.m., and Sunday, 7 p.m. Forum Hall.  COMMON THREADS: STORIES OF THE QUILT

Common Threads is a portrait of the first decade of the AIDS epidemic in America. The film tells the story of five people with AIDS-all of whom are now commemorated in the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt. Narrated by Dustin Hoffman, with original music by Bebby McFerrin, this HBO production won the 1999

Academy Award for Best Feature Documentary, Unrated. Feb. 26 & 27. Wed. & Thurs. - 7 & 9:30 p.m.

Forum

Hai.

"Darling, let's learn to swing."

KANSAS STATE UNION ART GALLERY

PRESENTS: SAM GILLIAM

K-State Union

ROUND YER PARDNER UP FOR

Country Dance Lessons

Join Special Events and learn a few country steps with dance lessons beginning after Spring Break. Four weeks of instruction in the Union Station only costs $10 per couple. Beginning lessons start Monday, March 16, 8-9:30p, m. and Advanced Lessons start Tuesday, March 17 from 8-9:30p.m. in the Union Station, K-State Union. Sign-up begins Monday, Feb. 24. For more information or to sign-up. stop by the UPC Office, 3rd floor K-State Union, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

CONSERVATION HEALTH

Bulbs preserve environment, save money

MATTHEW CUNNINGHAM

Collegian

Saving money and the environment can be as easy as changing a Traditional incandescent lighting is not as efficient as new fluorescent lighting, said Gene Meyer, engineering Extension specialist.

The new light bulbs are four to five times more efficient and reduce the emissions of carbon dioxide and other pollutants into the atmosphere.

"A 4-by-4 incandescent light fixture of 20 years ago uses 400 watts of power, while fluorescent lamps of today use 120 watts," Meyer said. "An 11-watt fluorescent bulb supplies the same amount of energy as a 40-watt incandescent bulb."

Meyer said although the newer fluorescent bulbs are a bit more expensive initially, it is worth the investment.

"A $12 fluorescent bulb lasts 10,000 hours, while the traditional 50-cent incandescent bulb lasts 800 hours. The savings acquired over the life of the fluorescent bulb are about $15-$20," Meyer said.

"What we'll see in the next 10 years is a real shift from traditional incandescent lamps we're so accustomed to (toward) the newer technology," he said.

When this shift eventually occurs, Meyer said, the cost of the fluorescent bulbs will decrease.

Many industries may consider switching to the newer bulbs, as lighting can account for 20-40 percent of an industry's overhead.

Meyer said the Environmental Protection Agency is conducting a project to assist with the implementation of high-efficiency lighting.

"One of its missions is to assist in industry and commercial building owners and operators to take advantage of recent advances in lighting technologies," he said.

Carl Walter, deputy division director of the Air and Toxic Division of the EPA, said the EPA in 1986 looked at 31 environmental problems and came out with an assessment of the risks these problems had on the environment.

This assessment eventually lead to the Department of Energy looking into high efficiency lighting, and the result was the Green Lights Project.

"About 20-25 percent of electricity used is used for lighting," Walter

He said the project will save about $20 billion annually that can be invested in worthy causes.

COLLEGIAN

Even Tuttle Creek fish safe to eat if prepared right

Danger of illness lies in contaminants from pollutants or seafood's own bacteria known areas and surroundings.

SUSAN DONOVAN

Harold Klaassen, associate procases of illness and exaggerated sea- people to get sick," Klaassen said. food horror stories from the mass

Most illnesses are related to contami- safe.

form of parasites.

50¢ a day admission, 75¢ for both days

We'll keep your foot

a tappin'!!

The K-State Singers

Spring Show '92

A Contemporary look at music!

Thursday Feb. 27 and Saturday, Feb. 29 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m. Tickets available from McCain Box Office, 532-6428

1130 Garden Way

Other illness-causing agents are contaminants from pollutants, such Fish caught in the Tuttle Creek as chemicals, pesticides, mercury de-Reservoir are safe to eat, but consum- posits and toxins, which are poisoners should be smart and cautious when ous. Some of these toxins are profishing and buying seafood from un-duced from the bacteria already in the seafood.

"They can contain disease-causfessor of biology, said consumers ing organisms, which release toxic should not be alarmed by reported material by the bacteria that cause He also said specific limits in the amount of toxins and contaminants in As with any other food, Klaassen fish and shellfish are set, and if the said, some seafoods do cause illness. toxins exceed this level, they are un-Emil Corwin, Food and Drug Ad-

Klaassen said seafood contami- ministration spokesman in Washingnants of seafoods include bacterial ton, D.C., said more than half of the contaminants from spoilage and pol-seafood in the United States is imluted waters. These are usually in the ported. He said the majority of seafood is safe to eat.

SWING INTO SPRING

CRAFT SHOW

SAVINGS... are springing up

Saturday, Feb. 29, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; Sunday, March 1, Noon-5 p.m.

Pottorf Hall - Manhattan

Refreshments Available.

Proceeds provide scholarships.

red by ABWA Manhattan Charter Chapter

Both Klaassen and Corwin said eating raw or undercooked fish and shellfish may result in illness.

"Clams, mussels and oysters should not be eaten raw," Klaassen said. "Bacteria and parasites are killed when cooked."

These levels of contaminants are relatively safe for healthy people, he said, because they would have to consume large amounts of seafood for a long period of time to be affected.

People in high-risk health situations, however, such as liver disease and pregnancy, should avoid eating seafood because of potential risks.

Chris Szczucinski, of Missouri Fish Co. and distributor to Malo's Seafood Galley in Manhattan, said its fish processing plant is inspected once amonth by the Municipal Health Department of Kansas City, Mo.

"This is a sanitation inspection," Szczucinski said. "All fish that we receive is inspected and must meet specific criteria."

Children under 12 free

Europe

Winter!

*Fares are each way from Kansas City based on a roundtrip purchase. Taxes not included and restric-tions apply. Call for other destinations, both one way and roundtrip.

$249*

$315*

$315*

$365*

$399*

London

Paris

Madrid

Amsterdam

Szczucinski said the Missouri Fish's criteria for inspecting seafood includes passing odor restrictions.

"Most seafood should have a clean, seaweedy smell," Szczucinski said.

Szczucinski also said fish should have clear eyes, must have a clean belly cavity, fresh gills and should pass a color test. These are characteristics consumers should be aware of when purchasing seafood.

"We must approve all products before we send them out for distribution," Szczucinski said.

He also said if handled properly, most seafood has a shelf life of five to "Never stop your senses from telling you what is bad and what is good," Szczucinski said. "Don't be afraid to look at, smell and touch seafood while in the grocery store."

Corwin said the present inspection regulations involve monitoring samples of fish and shellfish, inspections of fish processing plants and improvements in handling and labeling seafoods.

According to the FDA and the National Academy of Science, the government plans to strengthen regulations and inspections by encouraging processing plants to use a program called Hazard Analysis Critical HACCP is a plan of inspection that pinpoints the critical levels of seafood inspection where problems are likely to occur.

OMICRON DELTA EPSILON

The Economics Honorary proudly announces its new members:

Matt Narramore Brad Steinledge

David Scrogin Angie Stinchcomb

All Economics majors are invited to an informal reception from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. today, in 329 Waters Hall, for the new Omicron Delta Epsilon members. Refreshments will be served.

SPRINGFEST BOOK SALE

READ A BOOK FOR THE FUN OF IT FEBRUARY 17 - MARCH 7, 1992 K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE UPPER LEVEL

K-State Union

Council Travel 1634 Orington Ave Evanston, II 60201 1-800-475-5070

Environmental Gardening

- Visit with local experts about environmentally sound gardening.
- View our exhibits and demonstrations.
- Exhibits displayed through March 8.

Riley County Master Gardeners 9-5 Saturday, February 29.

K-Hill Engine Service Mulching Mowers, Wood Chippers Through March 8.

We have a good thing growing for you!

776-5764

2 ml. east of Manhattan on U.S. 24 Monday-Salurday 9-6 Sunday 12-6

CLUB SOHO The Nightclub

Open Mon.-Thurs. Manhattan Donor Center

9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Fri. 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Wednesday night is ALTERNATIVE MUSIC NIGHT

It Pays To Be A Hero! This coupon is worth $15.00 for new donors on your first and second donation within six days or if you have not returned within two months. For more information call the friendliest staff in town.

Call 776-9177 today for more details!

(Present this coupon and earn extra cash.)

Featuring the music of

The Smiths The Replacements Primal Scream

Live Jam Session

YAZ Pistachio

Red Hot Chili Peppers

Morrissey New Order Fishbone

and More! NO SLAM DANCING OR PIT MOSHING ALLOWED

Lowenbrau now on tap Music...THE BEST Relaxed Atmosphere

Open at 5 p.m. Proper Attire, Jeans Allowed

776-30HO (7646) 18 to Enter 710 N Manhattan, Aggieville

THIS IS THE WAY WE'RE DOIN' ER." How does a nutritious sandwich made with fresh deli meats or a hand breaded and baked fish sound? Howdy's offers fust that plus quick friendly service. Most meals run under $5 including drink. Give ol' Howdy's a try!

Located in the Wareham Hotel next to Harry's Uptown, 418 Poyntz

Serving Lunch Only Open 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. Monday through Friday

Howdy's at Harry's Buy One Get - One Free

Buy one sandwich of equal or greater value and get one free.

Expires March 30, 1992 418 Poyntz

One year later, controversial fee begins to produce results

Lab of 26 personal computers to open this week; students footed bill

TODD KNAPPENBERGER

Results of a $100 engineering fee established two semesters ago are beginning to show.

Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering, said a new personal computer lab will open this week in Seaton Hall.

The lab will contain 26 personal computers, all with 486 processors.

This is one of the first projects that came about due to the new student engineering fee, Rathbone said. Another project is a wind tunnel.

Rathbone said the fee was implemented because the engineering departments realized technology was growing faster than the college could financially keep up.

Rathbone said with the lack of support from the state legislature and the increased pace of technology over the last five years, the college didn't have any alternatives.

There was no choice," Rathbone said. "Are we going to be a modern college of engineering or not? It came

"There was no choice. Are we going to be a modern college of engineering or not? It came down to that."

> Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering down to that."

Rathbone said before any fees were collected, he went around and talked with all the student organizations to promote the $100 fee.

The students voted and passed the fee with about 70-80 percent of the students voting in favor, Rathbone

"They wanted a quality program, and the state would not help support it, so they wanted to pay for it," Rathbone said.

Rathbone said he believes the students used great intelligence last year when they passed the fee increase.

Some students may not see direct benefits, but the indirect benefits will affect them greatly, Rathbone said.

Some students said they think they are not seeing any benefits from the fee because they are graduating soon. Rathbone said graduating students should remember that without the fee to maintain excellence in the classroom, the value of an engineering degree from K-State would go down, and this would affect them indirectly.

Amy Ewert, senior in architectural engineering and engineering council president, said the fee is going to pgrade the quality of education at K-State, and enhance the opportunity to compete with other institutions.

"Benefits don't come the minute you pay fees," Ewert said, "It takes time working with the people."

She said more direct benefits will be seen in the future.

For Rent-Apis, Furnished

For Rent-Apts, Unturnished

Some say $100 payment hasn't shown benefits yet

TRACI WHITTEN

Before apartment hunting

Learn the facts!

For more information call:

Consumer Relations Board

532-6541

visit our table in the Union

Tuesday and Wednesday

11:30-1:30

FOR LADIES ONLY!

The engineering student fee remains a constant controversy on the west side of campus.

Some students have said they think the $100 per semester fee voted in by engineering students in spring 1991 is a waste of money. These students say they are not seeing any results for their extra money.

Other students have said they think the fee will be beneficial, and the engineering administration says students will see results in the near fu-

Donald Rathbone, dean of engineering, said engineering students think the money they are paying is not given directly to an engineering fund. "It is false information," Rathbone

Engineering students should see tremendous results, Rathbone said.

Some professors say they have not heard any students complain.

Paul McCright, assistant professor of industrial engineering, said he hasn't heard any complaints about the engineering fee.

McCright said he believes the funds are being held until enough money accrues, and then some of the money will be spent. By the end of the semester, engineering students will start to see results, he said.

Some engineering students said they think the money is a waste, because they have not seen any immedi-

"I haven't seen any changes in the departmental equipment. It looks the same as when I was paying $100 less," said Eric Voogt, senior in industrial engineering.

Not being informed is another reason engineering students are comhave to pay a $100 fee, but they also have an extra $25 fee if they decide to take an intersession class, said Eric Scott, senior in construction science.

David Ayres, senior in industrial engineering, said the engineering administration wants to secure the department's accreditation, but when prospective engineering students look at K-State and see they have to pay an extra $800-$1,000, they may look at other schools.

Other students have said the fee will be beneficial to future students.

"In the long run, the engineering fee will be better, because it will keep the College of Engineering Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology accredited, and that will keep engineering employees interviewing on campus," said Kurt Nuss, Not only did engineering students senior in chemical engineering.

*Birth Control Information / Prescriptions

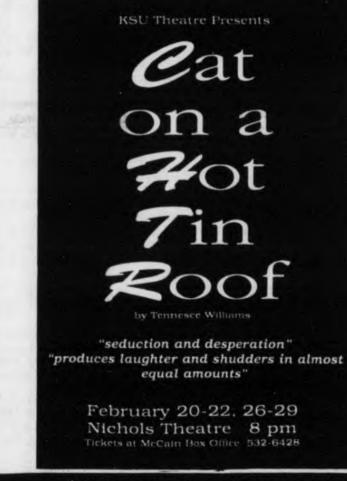

*Pregnancy Testing / Counseling / Referrals

*Routine Gynecological Exams

*Sexually Transmitted Disease Testing / Information

532-6554

Lafene Health Center Kansas State University

SPRING BREAK AT THE LOFT

KSU GOSPEL SERVICE

featuring

Rev. Mervyn Hammond Jr.

ALL FAITHS CHAPEL KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY MANHATTAN, KS

March 1, 1992 11a.m.

1118 Laramie • 539-5303

LARGE BIG VALUE PIZZA

TWO TOPPER 2 Toppings of your choice RIPLE MEAT FEAST

ALL YOU CAN EAT

Pasta • Dessert

or CLASSIC

BIG VALUE PIZZAS

2 LARGE

SUPER PEPPERONI

The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt DISPLAY

AHEARN FIELDHOUSE KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

FRI - FEB 28 -- 10 am - 8 pm OPENING CEREMONY - 10 am

SAT - FEB 29 -- 10 am - 8 pm

SUN - MAR 1 -- 12:00 - 4 pm CLOSING CEREMONY - 3:30 pm

FREE ADMISSION -- EVERYONE WELCOME

Sponsored by KSU and Manhattan Communities

TONIGHT TONIGHT TONIGHT Aggieville Macho Bartenders In The BU77!

Everyone Welcome After 11 p.m. LADIES ONLY BEFORE 11 P.M. 18 to Enter 21 To Drink Private Club Memberships Available

Offering An Incredible View.

A majestic waterfall. A star-filled sky. An amazing sunset. A puppy being born. Winter's first snow. These are just a few of the visions that shape your daily life. All made possible by the human eye. Without your eyes offering these incredible views, life just vouldn't be the same

That's why Price, Young, Odle, Horsch & associates care about the human eye and the visions it provides you with. Visions so crisp and so clear that they sometimes take your breath away.

But if these visions are no longer crisp and clear, then it's time to see us.

776-7726

We have an excellent staff, dedicated to giving your eyes the best possible treatment. And with over 3,000 different frames to choose from, we're sure to have that special look you're looking for. And don't forget that we offer free contact trials and free consultations.

At Price, Young, Odle, Horsch & associates, we're working with some very important equipment. Your eyes. But don't worry. We can see the importance of our customer very clearly.

Drs. Price, Young, Odle & Horsch PA and associates . Optometrists . We Focus On You. 1012 Anderson • Manhattan, KS 66502 • (913) 537-1118

COLLEGIAN NO FOCUS

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1992

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OPERATION DESERT

ONE

AMY COX

Operation Desert Storm ripped through Americans' lives like a tornado through Kansas. It took us by surprise, caught us up in its whirlwind, and just as quickly set us down, leaving us to pick up the pieces - pieces of our lives.

A year later, with most of the pieces back in place, soldiers and their families remember what it was like to be photographed soon after hearing their loved ones were going to war. Their emotions and fears were painfully evident in their faces.

Once again, their emotions are evident. This time, they're smiling.

Today is part one of two in a follow-up.

Staff Sgt. Louis Campagnone sits at the bar and jingles the change in his pocket nervously. His civilian slacks are pressed to high Army standard, and his hair is combed precisely.

> His wife, Oksu, is obviously the talker. She shows off her Desert Storm memorabilia that Louis' sisters made and smiles as she talks a-mile-a-minute about Louis always writing her back, even though he hates to write letters.

'While he was in Saudi, I bought a truck for him. Some of the wives spent all of their husbands' money while they were gone, but I bought something he could have when he came home," she said.

Home.

Louis was closer to home than most soldiers the night the ground offensive was announced on CNN last February. He was sitting in a bar in Dover, Del., as Oksu listened to the same news in her Junction City bar, the Rustic Pub.

He called to tell her he was waiting to board a plane to go back to the desert, where he had already been for a month.

He was on leave to Rhode Island for his father's funeral, but due to Army holdups, he was 12 hours late for the funeral.

My company commander drove me around for hours to different units trying to find one with an extra vehicle to get me to a plane," he said.

On the phone, he had time to tell her two things: "I'm on my way back to Saudi, and I love you.

and cried.

"Everybody was talking, and nobody was knowing. At the time, we figured they would be over there for much longer, and who knew who would make it home," she said.

For some, returning to Fort Riley was as sad as leaving, Oksu said.

"Some soldiers didn't have anyone there to meet them. So we (soldiers' wives) decorated the barracks for them."

But for Oksu, the two-hour wait was worth it to see Louis deplane.

"The first soldier was waving this big flag, and I almost missed him. He was the second one. I had to chase him down to get a kiss."

She laughs, and so does Louis.

As a combat engineer, his company was among the first vehicles to move forward.

Company B did so well, the general decided to attach them to the next vehicles that would move forward.

"As soon as we got back, we had six hours to hook up with them and go forward. Nobody in the Army moves without the engineers."

Louis said a lesson was learned.

"We found out the way you do things over here is not the way you do them over there in the middle of a war," he said. "We got some valuable experience and a better way to train soldiers. You do what you have to do."

The Campagnones count themselves lucky. "Not everybody makes it, back in the states," Oksu said, "It split a lot of people up, but not us."

'Yeah, we had a happy ending," Louis

"I spent a lot of sleepless nights on the couch watching CNN, waiting and worrying about that phone call or that officer to come to the door," said Michele Goldsmith about her husband, Spc. Brian Goldsmith, during the war.

Brian spent Christmas 1990 with Michele and 2-year-old daughter Sheree, but he had to leave two days before his child's birthday on New Year's

When the air war started, Michele was at her parents' home and thankful her family was around her.

"I was getting mail that was two and three weeks old, so I didn't know if he was OK," she said. "I think it was harder for me, not knowing where he was or how he was, not being able to call. I knew he was at the front, but I didn't know how close. When we heard one soldier in his unit was killed, that was the longest day of my life. The phone made me jump."

Waiting for a husband to make it home alive from a war was not something Michele expected to be doing

"When he joined, it was the farthest thing from my mind - that there would be a war," she said. "And when it did happen, we thought he would be gone a year."

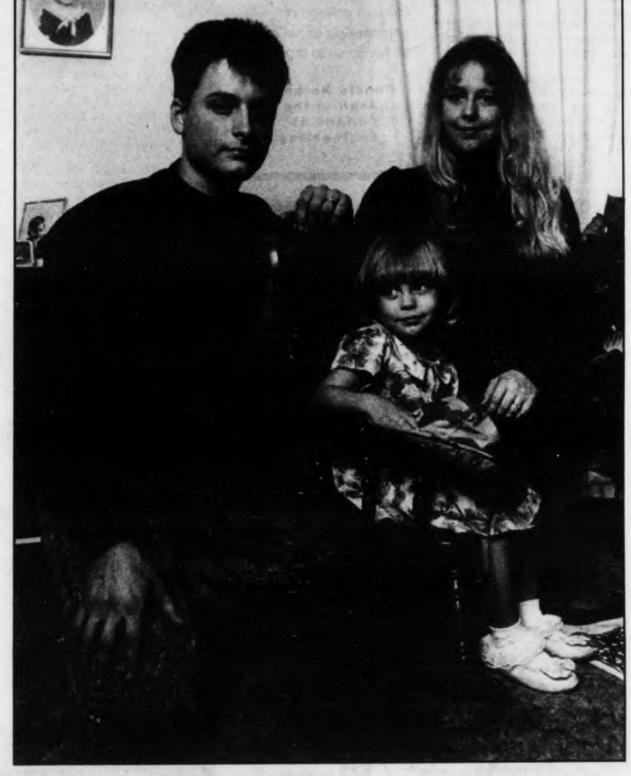

Though Sheree was too young to under-It was after that call that Oksu sat at the bar stand the CNN reports, she knew her daddy was

> "I was just getting re-acquainted with her after I'd been gone six months for basic training and advanced training. I had been home about four months, and then I had to leave again," Brian said.

> Brian said when he came back he had missed much in Sheree's life."When I left, she was barely talking, and when I came back she was saying just everything, like 'Daddy's in Saudi Arabia," he

> "They definitely both had to get used to each other again," Michele said.

Michele and Brian had to get used to each other again, as well.

NOT HOME ALONE ANYMORE

ABOVE: Brian Goldsmith, a Bradley fighting vehicle mechanic, was sent to the Persian Gulf late in December. He was one of the 11,500 Fort Riley soliders to be deployed to the desert of Saudi Arabia.

LEFT: Michele and then 2-year-old daughter, Sheree, wait for his return.

PHOTOS BY MIKE WELCHHANS

BACK AT THE BAR

ABOVE: Last year, the television in the corner of the Rustic Pub in Junction City was Oksu Campagnone's only connection with Desert Storm when the ground war broke out - her only connection until the phone in a back room rang. It was her husband, Staff Sgt. Louis Campagnone, in Dover, Del. She choked back the tears after he told her he was waiting for a plane to Saudi Arabia and not to worry about him.

"He wanted to say, 'I love you," she said. "I love you, I love you'- that's all he said."

LEFT: Now, Louis and Oksu are back into the daily life of owning and operating the Rustic Pub and working at Fort Riley. The biggest difference may be the one-ton Ford crew-cab Oksu bought for Louis when he came back. PHOTOS BY BRIAN KRATZER

Procedure

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 sure that this is what I wanted to do. But the more I thought about it, I realized that this was the best out of any choice," Laura said.

"I'm just not ready to give up my freedoms of being single, and not having anything to tie me down," Laura said.

"If you want to go camping some weekend, that's fine. You don't have to worry about anyone else. He feels that a child is something neither of us is ready to deal with. And we're not ready to get married yet.

"I feel pretty comfortable about it. I feel more comfortable than I felt this weekend when I was still thinking about it," Laura said.

The counselor asked, "Have you had an ample time to think about it? How long have you known you were

Panel:

"I've had ample time to decide. I've known I was pregnant since Jan 23. I've had some time to think it over," she said.

The counselor opened the door, table. and Julie came back in.

"Now, after you leave here, you'll o down the hall, and the first thing I'll have you do is watch a video on how to take birth control pills. Then take you to use the restroom. Anytime you feel you need to go, just tell someone," she said.

"Then I'll take you to get medication. If there are a lot of people ahead of us, we won't get you medicated

"You'll get 5 milligrams of Valium and a 400-milligram tablet of Ibuprofen. Now, the Valium is to help you relax. It's a mild tranquilizer and a muscle relaxer.

'You'll feel kind of wobbly when you move around. The Ibuprofen is to help relax the cramps you have during and after the procedure."

Living With Aids

Sharing Their Story

A Panel Discussion

12:30 p.m., Friday, Feb. 28, 1992

Union Big 8 Room

"After you get changed, the nurse will take your vital signs. The nurse will call you in, and the first thing she'll do is set you up on the exam

"The doctor will listen to your heart and lungs. The counselor will be there to provide moral support, to talk to you, talk about other things besides the procedure.

Then the nurse will have you scoot to the end of the table, lay back, and she'll put your legs into the stirrups. Let your legs fall into the stirrups. Let your inner thigh muscles relax. Take some deep breaths. "Concentrate on what the counselor is telling you. Think about things like what will happen afterward. The doctor will give you a pelvic exam to determine how the uterus lies.

"If it is tilted, you will need to walk for 20 minutes to an hour rather than 15 minutes. Then the doctor will insert the speculum. It has to be cold for it to be sterile. The whole procedure will take from three to five minutes."

'He will get a gonorrhea culture, then spray an antiseptic on the cervix. He will give you a local anesthesia to numb the areas on the cervix. He will dilate the cervix using a series of rods, first the smaller end, then the larger end to open the cervix up," she said.

Then he will insert the cannula, which is like a hollow straw attached to a suction machine. He will use that for a minute and a half to remove the pregnancy tissue and lining. The uterus will start firming up. You will feel cramps as the uterus constricts.

The doctor will then insert the curette, which is a spoon-like object that scrapes the uterus to make sure that all the tissue is removed, then he does one more suction and removes the speculum," she said.

'He will then check the uterus again to make sure that it is firming up. You can walk to recovery; it will help take some of the pressure off.

"The nurses will put a heating pad on you, and you'll have Sprite and crackers. They'll check your bleeding periodically, as well as your vitals," the counselor said.

"You have to walk for 15 minutes out of every hour for the rest of the day. That will help you pass the uterine lining and blood. This will also cut down on the amount of cramping you have," she said. The counselor explained to them tampons, douche or have tub baths for the next two weeks.

776-5577

This is so nothing gets into the uterus that will cause an infection," rime Time

Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas

1 - Topping 4 - Cokes

$10.50

that they could not engage in sex, use

1800 Claffin Rd.

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

Julie and Laura were then shown a consent form. Each point was explained to them in detail, and they initialed each point and signed the

"Do you have any questions?" the counselor asked for the final time.

Julie and Laura looked at each other and shook their heads. The women then went to the changing area to prepare for their procedures.

After the procedures, the atmosphere in the waiting room was subtly different. Worried faces of friends and family were replaced by a few smiles, a few tears and a few people actually watching the television.

776-5577

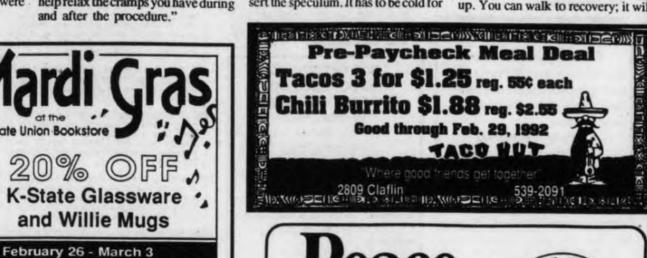

Everyday Two-Fers

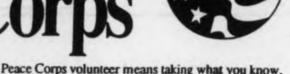

2-10 in, Pizzas

2 - Toppings

2-Cokes

$8.50

Being a Peace Corps volunteer means taking what you know, sharing it with others, and learning about life in another country, another culture.

Host country nations want to learn English. . . grow more food to feed their people. . . provide adequate shelter and clean drinking water. . .insure good health care and basic nutrition. . . build roads and transportation systems.

The person who becomes a Peace Corps volunteer must have a strong commitment to helping other people. He or she must be willing to learn their language, appreciate their culture, and live modestly among them.

If this sounds like you, we'd like to show you the many opportunities beginning soon in 90 countries. You should apply now for openings beginning in the next 12 months.

The toughest job you'll ever love.

SIGN UP NOW FOR INFO INTERVIEWS Tues, and Weds. March 3-4, 1992 9 am-5 pm Career Planning Holtz Hall For more information

'call 1-800-255-4121

New York City Opera National Company Sunday, March1, 7 p.m.

Puccini's stirring account of a beautiful but jealous singer, the painter she loves butdoes not trust, and the corrupt police chief who lusts after the singer. The National Company's version is fully staged with orchestra and is sung in Italian with English supertitles.

Student/Child: $14.50, 13, 10.50 Senior Citizen: $26, 23, 19 Public/Faculty: $29, 26, 21

McCain Auditorium

Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Custome Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Fine Arts fee. Corporate support provided by Kansas Farm Bureau and

Hardees 537-2526

Offer good thru Dec. 31, 1991. Up to two offers allowed per

Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visit, please. Not good in combination with any other offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Offer good at participating Hardee's restaurants. 4479 © 1991 Hardee's Food Systems, Inc.

Deluxe or 00 Roast Beef Sub w/ purchase of Fries & Drink

Offer good thru Dec. 31, 1991. Up to two offers allowed per order. Phase present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visit, place. Not good in combination with any other ofter. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tar due. Other good during regular lunch/dimer hours at participating Hardee's restaurants. 4479 © 1991 Hardee's Food Systems, lisc.

Hardees Turkey or Ham 'N' Cheese Off Sub w/ purchase of Fries & Drink

Offer good thru Dec. 31, 1991. Up to two offers allowed per order. Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visit, please. Not good in combination with any other offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Offer good during regular lunch/dinner hours at participating Hander's restaurants. 4479 (C) 1991 Hander's Food Systems, loc.

Hardees 9 Chicken Fillet Sandwich

Offer good thru Dec. 31, 1991. Up to two offers allowed per order. Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visit, please. Not good in combination with any other offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cmt. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Offer good during regular lunch/dinner hours at participating Hardee's restaurants. 4479 © 1991 Hardee's Food Systems, Inc.

Cheeseburger

Offer good thru Dec. 31, 1991. Up to two offers allowed per order. Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer per visit, please. Noi good in combination with any other offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Offer good during regular kunch/dinner hours at participating Hardee's restaurants. 44/9 © 1991 Hardee's Food Systems. Inc.

Sausage & Egg or Bacon & Egg

Offer good thru Dec. 31, 1991. Up to two offers allowed per order. Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visit, please. Not good in combination with any other offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Offer good during regular breakfast hours at participating Harder's restaurants. 44/9 © 1991 Harder's Food Systems, Inc.

Jack Markham, President, Nat'l Assoc. of People with AIDS

Rev. Jonathan Loppnow, Pastor, Manhattan Outreach of the

Joan Smith, Health Educator, Riley County Health Dept.

KSU-Manhattan

The NAMES Project

AIDS Memorial Quilt

Opening Ceremony-10 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 29--10 a.m.-8 p.m. Sunday, March 1--Noon-4 p.m. Closing Ceremony-3:30 p.m.

Friday, Feb. 28--10 a.m.-8 p.m.

Beverly Barbo, Mother whose son Tim died of AIDS

Metropolitan Community Church

Claudia, RN, Living with AIDS

A Kansas Legislator

MINIMUM BID VALUE Lowrey Organ: Mid-America Piano $1200.00 $480.00 Heritage Desk Phone: Phone Connection 189.95 76.00 $100 Gift Certificate: Burnett Automotive 100.00 40.00 Complete Car Detailing: VP Auto Wash 110.00 44.00 Eureka Upright Vacuum: B&L Vacuum 319.99 128,00 $50 Gift Certificate: Drapery World 50.00 20.00 2 - VCR Clean & Lube: Circuit Shop 32.00 13.00 $50 Tinting Certificate: Rose Muffler 50.00 20.00 $25 Gift Certificate: Wash Palace 25.00 10.00 2 - $25 Gift Certificate: Carlos O'Kelly's 25.00 10.00 Certificate for 4 Buffets: Corky's Smokehouse 25.00 $50 Gift Certificate: Perspectives Optical 50.00 20.00 $25 Gift Certificate: Raoul's Escondido 10.00 2 - Three Foot Party Subs: Subway 24.00 10.00 $25 Gift Certificate: Ben Franklin 25.00 10.00 Bench Vise: Ampride 24.66 10.00 Movie Preview Package: Home Cinema 39.00 16.00 $25 Gift Certificate: Rusty's Last Chance 25.00 10.00 Beef Bundle: Roepke's 59.43 24.00 $25 Gift Certificate: Steve's Floral 25.00 10.00 $25 Gift Certificate: Little Caesars 25.00 10.00 $25 Gift Certificate: Arby's 25,00 10.00 Balloon Creation: The Palace 26.00 11.00 Ten Tanning Sessions: His & Her Super Styles 25.00 10.00 Weekday Getaway: The Barn Bed and Breakfast 55.00 22.00 3 - $25 Gift Certificates: Shoney's 25.00 10.00 Hand Wax: VP Auto Wash 28.50 12.00 2 - Cocktail Party Trays: Bockers II 35.00 14.00 2 - Hog Roast Dinners for 4: Kickers Saloon 24.00 10.00 Deluxe Car Wash: VP Auto Wash 20.00 $25 Gift Certificate: VP Auto Wash 10.00 Winter Protection Package: VP Auto Wash

> VISA AND MASTERCARD ACCEPTED!! Sales Tax Will Be Added To Taxable Items

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $5.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Exact change or checks only after 4:30 p.m. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Announcements

BARTENDING 101, class starts March 30, 8:30- 9:30p.m. For more information see in Union March 3 or call 532-2519.

CASH FOR Collegel Don't miss your opportunity for the scholarships' financial aid you are qualified for Call or write for information on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, Lawrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

CONGRATULATIONS TO the K-State Union Bookstore's lucky backpack winners: Paul Castantinoff, Yenita Roza, Lowell Coon, Mike Meronez, Jennifer Blanton, William Harris, Davila-Rivera Willard, Lynette DeBell, Patty Blayer, Paul Donovan, Pana Potins, Justin Blach and Mike Kemnitz.

FRESHMAN, SOPHMORES. Do you need college money? Free information. College Funding Resources, 1405 W. North Front, Grand Island, NE 68801.

IS ANYONE going to FARM AID V? If you are, I'd like to put your picture in the Collegian. Call Kratzer at the Collegian.

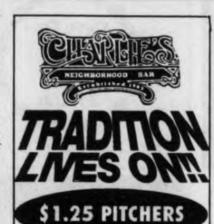

JOIN THE K-State Union Bookstore in honoring Black History Month with 25% off selected titles. 198

THE RIDE. Chicago Art And Architecture. May 14, 15, & 16th. Visit Chicago with the help of the fine arts fee. Deadline for sign-up is April 15. For more information call the Department of Art at 532–6605.

WEIGHT LOSS. Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guaranteed! For more information call Rhon-

FENIX Scholarship
Applications for non-traditional, full time, undergraduate students are available in the FENIX Office, Holton 201. The deadline for applying is March, 13.

776-1515 FIRSTBANK CENTER 2 Automobiles for Sale

1968 CUTLASS 91K miles $1000, 776-5196, 537-0510 Brent.

1983 HONDA Accord three-door, hatchback air condition, AM/FM, 118K, 537-7686.

1984 ESCORT $425, sold as is. Call 539-3822.

1985 JEEP Cherokee, 4WD, 4D, Sunroof, 71,000 miles. $4,900. 537–2413.

1987 HONDA Civic Si 60K, sunroof, rear defrost. Many new componets. Must selli 537–0405, ask for Jeff.

1987 IROC Carnaro, excellent condition, tops, new wheels and tires, new paint, loaded. $6950... 539–1639.
 CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

4 Computers

FOR SALE: 1200 band internal modern with software and manuals; HP- 41 CX calculator with manuals. 537-8474.

5 Employment

New Opportunities

Earn $5,000 to $10,000 this summer painting houses in your home town. Final hiring for these positions is being held now!

Strictly management
 Painting and management

3. Painting only

ALL-Pro Student Painters, Inc. 1-800-2-MANAGE

$200- $300 For selling 50 funny college spring break t-shirts. Smaller/ targer quantities available. No financial obligation 1-800-659-6890.

$40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, vacations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

AGTECH, INC.— a mail order supplier of Livestock Production Supplies— requires an office assistant. Part-time the first four weeks then full-time M—F. Telephone order taking, picking/ packing, invoicing, order placing. Light product assembly and packaging; managing accounts payable and receivable. Qualifications: Fluent in Spanish and English. Excellent communication skills and phone manner; experienced with computer word-processing. Able to take instruction and work with minimal supervision. Knowledge of Cattle Embryo Transfer Procedure highly desirable. Submit resume by Feb. 26 to Mr. John Curtis, P.O. Box 1222, Manhattan, KS 66502.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn hundreds weekly stuffing envelopes at home. Local businesses will provide all materials. Send SASE to Homemailing Program—B, P.O. Box 3182 Olthe, KS 86062 Immediate response.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Are you looking for a way to defray the high cost of a college education? By serving one weekend a month and two weeks in the summer you could qualify for up to $28,000 in the Kansas Army National Guard! For more information about an exciting career and great benefits call 537–4108.

BE YOUR own Boss, Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or parttime. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539–3817.

DELIVERY DRIVER earn 45-85 per day must have own transportation. Must know Manhattan area. Day and evening shifts available. Call for interview February 25-26 539-5750.

NOT RETURNING TO SCHOOL FOR

THE FALL SEMESTER?
BRUBACHER
CUSTOM
HARVESTING

needs combine, truck, and other equipment operators for the summer and fall harvests. Great wages, free room and board, and excellent experience. If interested, call Trip at 776-8186 or Ron at 776-1526 for an application.

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM
Fraternicies, sororities, student clubs.
Earn up to $1000 in one week. Plus receive a $1000 bonus yourself. And a FREE WATCH just for calling 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 65

ACCOUNTANT

Marihattan real estate firm has immediate opening for one full time accountant. Duties include bookkeeping, financial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary commensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Priday. Micro computer training and experience mandatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

IBM AND Apple Showroom Sales Person.
Connecting Point Computer Center in Manhattan has immediate part-time
opening for experienced, well- dressed,
enthusiastic retail sales associate to work effernoons Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday only. Temporary position, will last throught end of semester. Must be able to communicate effectively. Mail or deliver resume with references to 1115
Westloop Shopping Cneter, Manhattan,
KS 66502. Equal Opportunity Employer.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Patrol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.

LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national lorest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

NEED CASH? We need students to stuff our sales circulars! Excellent wages—$3 per envelope! Start immediately! Send long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157, Forked River, NJ 08731

NOW HIRING over 40 people for Big Brother Big Sister Project. Need callers for morning and evening hours. Good salary plus bonus. Apply February 25-26 9- 6 p.m. 1124 Waters "One block off Anderson Avenue"

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mtns. of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

STRONG, ENERGETIC, people-oriented sales help needed for spring and summer employment at local fruit markets. Gardening knowledge and/or retail experience helpful. Pick up application at Eastside or Westside Market.

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1,700 per month last summer and gained valuable exprience for their resumes. Call 539-8370.

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1700 per month last summer and gained valuable experience for their resume's. Call 539-8370.

THE TRAIL Ridge Store is now hiring KSU students for summer work in Rocky Mountain National Park, Coloradol Positions available in Gift Store and Snack Bar. Contact Box 2680, Estes Park, CO 80517; (303)586-9319 for information and applications. Call soon for best opportunities! EOE.

TWO STUDENTS to clear yard of branches and wood 10a.m. to 1p.m. Sat., Feb. 29. $6,00/ hour. Send name and phone to P.O. Box 2011, Manhattan, KS 66502.

WILDCATS NEEDED— Summer counseling and staff for Easter Seal Camp serving people with disabilities in the heart of the Colorado Rockies. For more information, call (303) 892-6063, or write Rocky Mountain Village, P.O. Box 115 Empire, CO 80438.

For Rent—Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

(Continued on page 13)

Get to K.C.I. in Style this Spring Break by Taking Advantage of this Great Deal

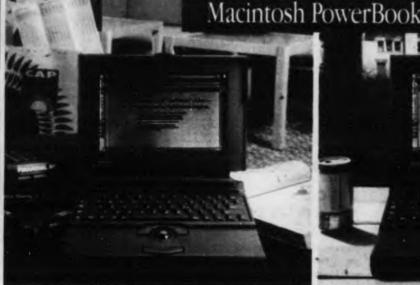

ΔΤΔ ΑΞΔ FIJI

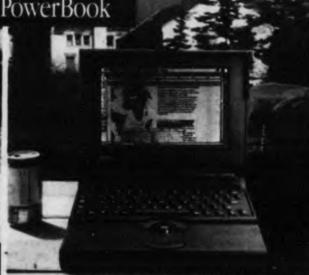

Homecoming 1992

LOOKS GOOD DOESN'T IT?

Sometimes to do your best work, all you need is a change of scenery.

The new Apple® Macintosh® PowerBook™ computers give you the freedom to work anywhere you want, any time you want.

They're small enough to fit in a book bag. Powerful enough for your toughest class assignments. And they're affordable, too.

They run virtually all Macintosh software. And can run for up to three hours on a single battery charge.

They can be expanded to up to 8MB of memory and come standard with plenty of hard disk storage.

The Apple SuperDrive™ disk drive reads from and writes to Macintosh and MS-DOS formatted disks—allowing you to exchange information easily with almost any other kind of computer. Add SoftPC and you can run MS-DOS programs, too.

With built-in AppleTalk® Remote Access software and a modem, you can use a PowerBook to retrieve files from your project partner's Macintosh without leaving the library. Or log on to the library computer without leaving your room.

There are three models from which to choose: the PowerBook 100 is the lightest, most affordable PowerBook, the PowerBook 140 offers higher performance and a built-in Apple SuperDrive disk drive, and the PowerBook 170 is the highest-performance PowerBook. All three offer bright, adjustable backlit screens and the simplicity of Apple's latest system software innovation—System 7. And their ergonomic, all-in-one design makes them comfortable to use—no matter where you do your best work.

See the PowerBook computers at our place today, and while you're in, be sure to ask us for details about the Apple Computer Loan.

There's no telling where a PowerBook could take you.

It's the next thing

Available at the K-State Union Bookstore

K-State Union Bookstore 532-6583 MACSOURCE

We appreciate your support. Your dollars continue to help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

The Best Support for the Apple Macintosh. Anywhere.

1110 Laramie Manhattan 537-0188

Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, AppleTalk and Macintoth are registered trademarks and PowerBook and SuperDrive are trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc. MS-DOS is a registered trademark of Microsoft Corporation. SolitC is a registered trademark of Instance Solitions. Inc. This ad was created union.

(Continued from page 12)

- AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. One-bedroom furnished apartment, one-half block from campus. $365 per month, 776–1340.
- FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.
- FOR NEXT school year, close to campus. 1, 2, and 3 bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.
- JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas 2/3 paid, laun-dromat. Nice for couple, $285, 539-2482 after 4p.m.
- SUBLEASE APARTMENT for summer. Fully furnished, located next to campus. Cali 537-8834.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for 2- 4 students. 1829 Col-lege Heights. 539–5451.
- For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

DO NOT RENT

AN APARTMENT UNTIL

YOU CONSIDER THIS:

Built in late 1990; Avail June5,

New GE Kitchen Appliances

Economical Gas 'Heat

including microwave and ceiling

·Designed with the KSU student in

RENTED 380 2 PRENTED 34 11 RENTED 34 11 S576

•3 bedroom plus study,

2 bath $728

2400 Kimball Ave. at College

Ave. (across from Bramlage)

Call Roy at 537-7007

for an appointment

Off the Mark

YOU CAN'T BE TAKING

THIS GRAND LIZARD

THING SERIOUSLY.

CAN'T I?

Calvin and Hobbes

DING

Jim's Journal

Today Steve rented

a movie and he invited me over to watch it.

DONG

Aug.5

OFFICE:

ONE AND two-bedroom apartments in 1100 block of Bluemont. Available August 1. One year lease, no pets. 776–0683. AUGUST 1 lease. Serious student, large one-bedroom. Heat, water and trash paid, air conditioning. $255. No pets. 539-2546.

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes June & August Leases Available Now

4 bedrms, 2 1/2 bath & study

TWO BEDROOM apartment, big enough for three people. Balcony, dishwasher, gar-bage disposal, and laundry facilities. Near campus and Aggieville. Lease starting June 1, 537-0852. *All appliances furnished, including washer, dryer

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

ONE- BEDROOM apartment one block from University 539-2857 or 539-0410.

SLEEPING ROOM. One block from university. Call 539-2857 or 539-0410.

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

Leasing Now through August

537-9064

Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

MAKE

ANDERSON PLACE

YOUR

HOME AWAY FROM HOME!

NOW LEASING

for 1992-1993

KSU Students

Both 1 & 2 Bedrooms

1/2 block from campus

Furnished & Unfurnished

Showings Every Thursday

1852 Anderson #17

THE CURTIN COMPANIES

776-8641

BECAUSE THEY'RE

A HATE GROUP!

WEFALD'S

WELL, I'D

HATE TO DO

IT FOR FREE.

Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts.

College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units

- TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804 & microwave. *Pre-wired for your computer, phone & cable TV.
 - *Large recreation area with hot tubs & sand volleyball
 - *Bus service to campus *Monthly rent as low as $195 For info call 776-8763

Property Resources Management

10 For Rent-Houses

- AVAILABLE JUNE several houses. Yard, washer and dryer, close to campus. Four-bedroom $640, three-bedroom $540, two-bedroom $360. Lease and deposit. 539-3672.
- THREE LARGE bedroom for three or four students. Next to campus. Washer, dryer, central air. Available Aug. 1, $720/ month 537-8543.

13 For Sale—Mobile Homes

- 12X65 MOBILE Home, Recently remodeled. Located in Countryside Estates. For more information. Call 539-8205 after
- 1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427
- SHARP 14 wide two- bedroom mobile home, new paint, low payments with cash down, 15- home selection #187 Redbud, Countryside Brockerage 539-2325.

14 Furniture to Buy or Sell

PLAYSKOOL OCTAGON playpen. Great for infants and toddlers. Almost brand new. Call 539-2231.

16 Lost and Found

BUT YOU'D DO

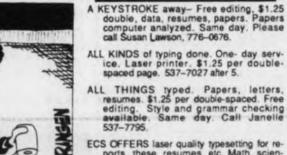

IT FOR MONEY.

Only found ads can be placed free of charge.

FOUND SET of keys in Cardwell Hall, out-side of 101. Call Mike to identify. 539-1586.

FOUND- BROWN leather jacket in McCain. Call 539-5819 to identify and claim.

By David Swearingen

IT'S A DIRTY JOB

BUT SOMEBODY

HAS TO CASH THE CHECK.

WHAT MAKES

YOU THINK

I DID IT?

LIL

M

ECS OFFERS laser quality typesetting for re-ports, these, resumes, etc. Math, scien-tific, foreign character support. Style, grammar checking available, 776–6687. FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality

Resumes, papers, graphics and equations my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539-3229, 8a.m. 8p.m. UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for papers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

$100 CASH to first person to move late nice two-bedroom apartment. One more fe-male roommate. Available immediately. For details 539–5366.

24 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE NEEDED immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One-half block from campus and aggieville. Own bedroom – Nicel Desperate 776-3514. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. One-half block from campus, washer/ dryer, rent negotiable, share utilities, call Angela, 776-3760, leave message. FEMALE, NON-SMOKER needed to share three-bedroom, one and one-half bath apartment, own bedroom, very nice. Laundry and plenty of parking available. Very close to campus and Aggieville. $195/ mo. Must be responsible. Starts August 1. Call 539-4316.

ONE OR two female roommates needed $160 plus half utilities. Must like pets. Own room. Nice walk to campus.

FOUR KEYS found on a large keyring at Kansas State Bank in Aggieville, call Tracy 537-4435. ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse six miles from town on blacktop road. Place for horse. $125/ month 539-2029. LOST AT Last Chance Cache jacket. Please return. Call 537-4579.

UPPERCLASSMAN OR graduate preferred, non-smoking female roommate to share two bedroom duplex. Call 776-0402.

25 Services

LOST- LARGE blue topaz triangle shape pendant with gold rim, probably at Rec complex approximately one month ago. Reward, 293–5671.

RECEPTION FOR women students and faculty interested in science, engineering, or math. Thursday, February 27, Flint Hills Room of K-State Union. Join us for food and conversation and meet others

1981 YAMAHA 850 Special. Runs and looks good, $1,300 or best offer. Call Dan 537-4191.

WANT TO trade my Fuji road bike for mountain bike. 532-3649. Ask for Paul.

FIRST TENOR and Bass alternate wanted for vocal group. Good pay. 776-4999 and leave message.

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

AMOROUS HUNTRESS: Why waste your time with Smithles? I was in Engineering

HEY BURT, I reserved a racquetball court at Cottonwood Friday 3:30 - 5:30 p.m. Be there I Ernie TERI- HAPPY Birthdayl Hope you have a great dayl Drink a beer for me tonight! Trish.

SAMOYEDE PUPS: three female, two male

AKC registered, all shots, ten weeks old. $50, call 539-7340. Leave message for

TETISEN STICIPLE

1105 Waters

(across from Alco)

539-9494

23 Resume\Typing Service

9am-8pm

9am-5:30pm

Noon-5pm

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

Mon.- Fri.

Sat.

Physics class also. Let's get together

17 Meetings\Events

who share your interest!

19 Music Musicians

21 Personals

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale

- NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.- 5p.m. Monday through
- SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

Suffering from Abortion?

Write Hearts Restored Box 94

Grinnell, KS 67738 Confidential Response Will Follow

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

 Totally confidential service Call for appointment

_ocated across from campus in Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m

Tattoo

Fineline Tattoo Quality work, reasonably priced, hospital sterilization 1028 W 6th 233-8288 238-8238

PREGNANT?

NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests 523 S. 17th Old Town Mall

1-800-848-LOVE 537-9180

WANDERING HEARTS Video Dating Service

Want to meet NEW and interesting people? call Janice or Kelli 539-3003

26 Stereo Equipment

KENWOOD RACK system, fully remote, with receiver, CD, cassette, and turntable, plus 200 watt 4-way speakers. 539-0876.

776-2426

27 Sporting/Rec. Equipment

SCUBAGEAR: BC, Wetsuit, Regulators, pressure and depth guages, compass, knife, weights. $350. With mask and fins $375. Call 226-7587 after 5 p.m.

28 Sublease

- HELP! FEMALE needed immediately to share three bedroom spartment. One-half block from campus and Aggieville. Own room – Nicel Rent negotiable! Desperate
- SUBLEASE AVAILABLE May through August, $130/month plus utilities. Five blocks from campus, four blocks from Aggieville. Call 539-4168 after 6 p.m.
- SUBLEASE ONE or two rooms in new four-bedroom apartment from end of May to August 1. Leave message 537-1690.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE for $100/ month! Need female roommate from May-July 31. One-half block campus/ furnished. Call 537-8861.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE. Mid- May thru July 31. Two female roommates. $395/ mo, three blocks from campus/ furnished. Call: 776-9712.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

AIRPLANE TICKET for spring break. March 6- March 15, Kansas City to Washington D.C. round trip $338 down to $300. Call 539-2185.

30 Travel\Car Pool

- BAHAMAS VACATION- Five days plus Becky for details | 537-0423. $250 per
- SOUTH PADRE- Condo on the beach! We need 2- 3 more girls to share it with. Call 539-7051, ask for Natalie.
- SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

SPRING BREAK!!!

South Padre from $99 per person 5 nights Bahamas Cruise $299 per person 6 days/5 nights Cancun from $439

Stephanie 537-0891

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896.

SPRING BREAK! South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information

on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

31 Tutor

MATH, SPANISH tutor for eighth grade stud-ent, three times per week, 776-0181keep trying.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

- BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback. Best offer, 539–4915, 5:30- 10p.m.
- FOR SALE, four gold Alloy wheels with new 14 inch tires. 532-2940.
- FOR SALE: Computer, printer, and various software. For more information, call 539-6205 after 6 p.m. FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.
- FOR SALE: Spring/ Summer wedding dress; brand new, size 12, can be altered.
- 776-9902. WANTED TO buy: Big 8 tournament tickets. Call Jackie after 5p.m. 537-7490.
- FOR SALE: Zenith console color TV. Great condition. $150 or best offer. Call 539-6205 after 6p.m.

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS - the

Crossword

- 1 Mink and sable
- 5 Fictional sleeper 8 Shirley Temple'
- 12 Arrow poison
- 13 Airport abbr. 14 Adventure story
- 15 Attack as a group 17 Warm and 55 Swiss cozy
- stitching 19 Likenesses 21 Spanish

18 Surgical

- pected obstacle 36 Ninth day
- before the enemy..." 2 Ubiqui 40 Job for a jazz musician 3 Monthly 41 Forest opening 4 Immedifruits

5 Revokes

6 TV actor

Robert

soning physically fear lanky riches

10 Chills

11 - to

- 43 Chinese pagoda 45 Take out 47 Green 51 Verve 52 Farming
- 7 Unrea-Sartorial flaw 8 Attacks canton 9 Lean and 56 Lily plant

57 Young

- boys 58 Vast quantity 59 Lairs

- 20 Flightless bird tous sloth 23 Proscribe 24 Japanese of puzzlevegetable 25 Thug's
- obligation bailiwick 27 Sweet potato 29 Liberian transition native
 - 30 Cake ingredient 32 Softens in tempe 34 Porky
 - Pig's love 37 Defeat
- at bridge 39 Sharp and fever taste 42 Hot wine
 - drink 44 National hero of Hungary 45 Farmer's
 - bailiwick? 46 Charles Lamb 48 He, in Latin
 - 49 Wood used in cabinetwork
 - 50 Female 53 "Stay as Sweet as You -"
- 2-26 CRYPTOQUIP

PEIBSNVTAQ QAEKBGU INPI KA SVVTAL,

VRE URAQIQ,

"NPKA P NAPEI. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: WHO ATE ALL THE POP-CORN? I SUSPECT THAT HOWARD HAD A HAND IN

Today's Cryptoquip clue: K equals V

It was "Ben Hur."

whole thing.

By Bill Watterson

YOU REALLY

NEED

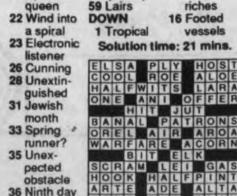

PROFESSIONAL

HELP.

By Jeff MacNelly

Yesterday's answer 38 "We have

Amnesty

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

D.C., reported some former government officials had been released.

However, it was discovered Tuesday that Kidane-Marian was not among them.

"What happens when a government breaks up," Kromm said, "is that some people get caught up in the sweep and get lost in the system until someone reminds the government of their existence."

That's what he said he hopes to do through Amnesty International's London branch, which he also contacted last month. He said he hopes Amnesty will decide to "adopt" Kidane-Marian.

"I think Amnesty could help a lot," Trinkle said. "In the past, it has helped free prisoners. It embarrasses governments. It could have a big impact."

Donna Schenck-Hamlin of K-State's Amnesty chapter staffed a table in the K-State Union Tuesday with a petition for students to sign. Amnesty's members will circulate the petition for the remainder of the week.

"Since we know he's out of danger," Schenck-Hamlin said, "we might as well use the rest of the week to get more signatures and make a bigger impression."

She said they will most likely send the petition to the U.S. embassy in Addis Ababa to hand-deliver to the Ethiopian government.

She said although Kidane-Marian is not yet listed as a prisoner of conscience by Amnesty International, she is encouraged by the fact that he is now officially listed as a political prisoner by the U.S. government.

"You feel very helpless when you have someone in prison in another country," Kromm said. "Everything we do, we hope will help gain his freedom.

The news was good that he was being treated well. However, he is still being imprisoned. He's still not a free man.

Hill

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

cake stencils. She takes pictures, logos and drawings and transfers them onto various sizes of cakes.

Cake stencils can be found in stores, but Hill's are unique.

"I go a step further and make my own. That way, I can make them personal," she said.

Hill has made stencils with Fort Riley logos, business logos, baby pictures and various other logos. She even made a special code of arms cake for her nephew, Mitch Holthus.

Just looking at the modest-sized building, a small garage converted into a bakery, it might seem hard to believe that Hill is able to produce so many creations. But she said it is not unusual for her to make as many as 20 cakes in one day. She uses one large oven, a dozen baking pans and custom cake patterns that prevent wasting any cake.

But she does not do it alone.

Three part-time assistants help run the bakery, and her full-time assistant, Laurie Paul, helps with cake

Although cakes dominate Hill's business now, it was not always like

When she and her husband took over in 1969, the bulk of their business came from late-night donut sales. Hill said Vern's Donuts was one of the original "back-door" bakeries, and people would line up for two blocks or more just to get a sample. Hill said her first inclination toward cake decorating was when a student asked to have "Happy Birthday" written on a large donut. This became a common request, and before long, she was decorating donuts for many different occasions.

The back-door business eventually ended because of noise disturbance. So Vern's Donuts went back to operating a daytime business. This allowed Hill to pursue her interest in cake decorating, and she said she decided to learn as much about it as

In 1977, she began making cakes for the bakery, and the business name changed to Vern's Donuts and Cakes.

Curriculum

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

professional standards, as well as keeping up with what students need to know in order to function, were reasons for the changes.

This is the beginning of a lengthy process, he said.

"After being approved by the college assembly, it goes to the social science subcommittee, then to be approved by Faculty Senate, the provost and eventually by the Kansas Board of Regents," Dannells said.

It could possibly be passed by fall 1992, Benton said. At the earliest, it would be on the schedule for spring

WOW! IT'S WOLFE'S FABULOUS 34TH ANNUAL

E ENDS SATURDAY

Huge savings on new and used cameras, video, and computers, accessories, demonstrators, trade-ins and discontinued items. Bring cash, MasterCard, Visa or Discover, but hurry to Wolfe's Camera & Video for the most dynamic sale ever

386SW WITH VGA MONITOR

KLH Champion IBM Compatible with VGA Color Monitor

The KLH Champion features 16Mhz computation speed and 42MB hard drive. It has 1 MB of RAM, 3.5" disk drive to take modern software and comes with mouse. Software includes DOS 5.0 and Geoworks ensemble. This is a fine basic computer for home use that has a high computation speed.

COMPLETE CHAMPION OUTFIT

Champion with VGA color monitor, dot matrix printer, printer cable, mouse pad and paper

FANTASTIC CD ROM

MAGNAVOX HS 48 CD COMPUTER

CD disks offer tremendous storage. For example, the 48CD comes with a complete Grolier's encyclopedia on one CD. It has 3.5" floppy drive, 80286 CPU, 1MB RAM, and 40MB hard drive. Software includes GeoWorks ensemble, Lotus 1-2-3 version 2.2, DOS 4.01 and PC Globe 4.0.

COMPLETE 48CD OUTFIT

48CD, color .41 VGA monitor, dot matrix printer, cable, mouse pad and paper ONLY $300 Upgrade CPU to 386SX

486SX/20

MAGNAVOX HS4860 Computer

Monitor sold separately

Geoworks ensemble.

Magnavox 486SX with 20Mhz processing speed. Flpppy drives for 5.25" and 3.5" discs plus large 80 MB hard drive and 2 MB or RAM. Software includes DOS 4.01, GW basic, Lotus 1-2-3 and

OFFICEMATE 486DX/33

Powerful 486 computer with 33MHz processing speed and large 100MB hard drive. Has both 3.5" and 5.25" floppy drives to accept modern and older software. It includes 64K Cache, DOS 5.0 and Windows 3.0. New minitower design has lots of room for expansion.

COMPLETE 486 SYSTEM 486dx/33 computer with .28 Super VGA Color Monitor, dot matrix printer and printer cable.

90 DAYS NO INTEREST Instant Credit to Qualified Customers

"With approved credit. Based on 21% A.P.R. with 10% down and 36 monthly payments. Sales tax of 5.25% included. Other terms and down payment options available.

USED 35MM SLR CAMERAS

Choose from over 100 famous name cameras. Choose autofocus or fully manual cameras. Save 1/2 and more from original new retail. These used cameras will make lots of great pictures. Check these examples. Many

	When New	SALE
Yashica FX-3 with 50mm	199.99	79.99
Pentax ME-Super with 35-70mm	389.95	199.99
Nikon F-4 body	1895.00	1199.00
Minolta XG-1 with 45mm f2	298.00	109.99
Maxxum 5000 body	445.00	159.99
Canon T-50 with f1.8	298.00	99.99
Canon AF-1 with 50mm f1.8	395.00	179.99

35mm AUTOFOCUS CAMERAS

Factory samples, used, new closeouts. Over 200 cameras to sell. $19.95 up.

	When New	SALE
ticoh FF-3 AF (used)	199.95	69.99
eystone AF-1	69.95	19.99
/ashica T-2 (new)	289.00	149.99
Minolta Autofocus(used)	229.00	49.99
Minolta Zoom 90 (new)	289.00	179.99
Olympus IS-1	599.00	439.99
entax IQ105 date outfit	395.00	299.99
uji Mini Dual	189.99	129.99
	DE A VIND

MANY ONE OF A KIND

VIDEO

SAVE $100

FISHER CAMCORDER

Fisher 730 features powerful 8X zoom, accurate "fuzzy logic" con-trols, autofocus and 3 lux low light. It has high speed shutter to 1/4000, date/time display and wireless re-

SAVE $200

5 Year Factory Warranty NIKON Camcorder

Nikon 8mm camcorder with 8X zoom lens and digital shutter speeds from 1/60 to 1/4000. It features autofocus, auto fade and CCD sensor with 270,000 pixel high resolution image.

SONY Hi-8 Camcorder

Save $200

Hi-8 for superior picture quality and AFM hi-fi stereo sound for more lifelike sound. Features 8X macro zoom lens, 16 speed high speed shutter, wireless re-mote and 3 lux low light.

SONY 801 SAVE $300 $1399

Only $11/Mo.*

SAMSUNG MTS STEREO READY VCR features 4 heads for excellent special effects, 1 year 8 event programming from remote with on-screen display, HiFi stereo sound, random access tuning and more.

DISK PLAYER Sony Laser Disk player for CD. CDV and LD. If features digital stereo audio, superb special effects, full feature wireless remote. Choose laser disk for the highest quality picture available for your TV today.

BINOCULARS SALE

10X40B Zeiss Armored 1190.00 799 99 7X35 Trag Bifocal 149.95 49.99 7X35 Superlite 69.95 19.99 7X35 Extra wide Bushnell 59.99 129.95 7X35 wide Swift inflocus 150 00 79.99 7X42B Zeiss Armored 1130.00 799.99 664.95 249.99 7X50 Navigalor w/compass 7X50 Nikon Seasider 336.00 199.99 8X30B Zeiss Armored 970.00 699.99 8X40 Trag Armored 169.95 49.99 8X42 Banner Roofprism 377.95 99.99 9X40 Simmons w/a 79.95 39.99 8X22 Minolta Autofocus 376.00 199.99 10X28 B&L Compact 580.95 199.99 119.95 59.99 7X21 Tasco rose 39 99 7X25 Jason Graphite 99.95 8X20B Zeiss Armored 580.00 399.99 549.99 399.99 10X25 Leitz pocket

ENLARGERS & DARKROOM

	NEW RETAIL	SAL
12' Premier Roto Dryer (u)	199.99	79.99
Brownie Safelight (u)	29.99	9.99
Jingle Bell timer(u)	49.99	14.99
Mornick Color Analyzer(u)	279.95	99.99
Richards 25" washer (u)	169.95	69.99
76mm 14.5 Wollensak (u)	95.00	19.99
4x5 Beseler MXT Dichro	2300.00	1449.00
Minolta color head for Bese	ler
4X5 enigr. (head only)	3063.00	1749.00
Beseler 67SC-XL cond.	458.00	329.99
Beseler Cadet II Kit	175.00	139.99
Printmaker 35 enlarger	225.00	109.99
Durst M370 color(demo)	498.00	299.99
105mm 14.5 Componar	165.00	59.99
105mm 14.5 El Vernar	59.95	29.99
25mm t3.5 El Hansa	89.99	29.99
75mm t3.5 El Kalt	49.95	19.99
75mm (4.5 Iscorit (German)	69.95	29.99

METERS

	IF NEW RETAIL	SALE
Capital F4 Cds	59.95	39.99
Elicar Analog Spot meter	269.95	119.99
Elicar Digital Spot meter	359.95	149.99
Elicar Flash/studio meter	249.95	79.99
Gossen Micro attachment	66.00	19.99
Sekonic foot candle mtr.	134.99	99.99
Sekonic L-188 underwater	89.00	39.99
Sekonic L488 Digispot	450.00	249.99
Shepherd ft. candle meter	44.95	29.99

TRIPODS, COPY STANDS AND ACCESSORIES

	F NEW RETAIL	SALE
Bilora 1050 head (demo)	69.95	19.99
Stitz 80mm pan ball head	49.99	14.99
Bogen 3000 tripod	121.45	109.99
Bogen 3003 tripod	147.90	129.99
Bogen 3024 Tripod	202.90	179.99
Bogen 3124 tripod	190.90	159.99
Bogen 3179 tripod	198.98	169.99
Small ball heavi	10.95	2 99
Hama 45 suction mount	37.95	14.99
Hama 4040 car mount	112.95	39.99
Clamp & elev., ball head	47.95	19.99
Clamp w/tripod, ball head	53.85	9.99
Testrite CS-1 copy stand	67.99	49.99
Testrite CS-1L w/lights	99.99	89.99
Testrite CS-3 copy stand	119.99	89.99
Testrite lights 23-C	64.99	49.99
Testrite adj. copy stage	79.95	29.99
Sima SCP monopod	59.99	39.99
Pistol grip/table tripod	29.95	12.99
Pro 363T (tiltall type)	169.95	99.99
Promaster 180T tripod	39.95	24.99
Promaster 4050 tripod	29.95	19.99
Promaster 4150 tripod	99.95	39.99
Promaster 4300 tripod	119.95	69.99
SFX mini tripod	19.99	9.99
Shoulder stock with cable	59.95	29.99
Tiltall Silver Anniv. tripod	199.95	139.99
Vanguard PT10X tripod	69.95	29.99
Vantage VT207 tripod	69.95	39.99
Fiesta Video Tripod	79.95	39.99
Pro 4600 video tripod	149.99	79.99
Pro 4700 video tri.(demo)	179.95	89.99
Pro 4900 video tripod	219.95	119.99

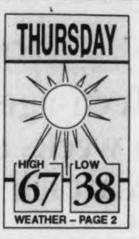

DEO Den 8 30-5 30 Monday Saturday

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

The monthly A&E magazine of the Collegian features the Bluestem Art Gallery in Salina.

INSIDE

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 106

10 downtown businesses burglarized

Sowell Tailors and Cleaners broken into for first time

MITCH HIXSON

Maybelle Sowell, owner of Sowell Tailors and Cleaners, said her establishment had never been broken into. That is, until Saturday night. Sowell was not the only Manhattan business owner who was given the bad news late Saturday that their businesses had been burglarized. Nine other downtown Manhattan stores were broken into Saturday night, all by having the back door pried open by a crowbar.

In almost every case, the only item stolen was cash, while most of the losses were the result of property damage. No alarms sounded at the Riley County Police Department.

Sowell said she does not know what more security her store could have had because she had two doublebolt locks on the back door.

The total loss for her store was more than $1,000. But luckily no clothing was stolen,

The bulk of the loss is due to damage to Sowell's antique cash register.

"If people really want to get in, they are going to find a way. More law enforcement in appearance through here may make a difference," she Sowell Tailors and Cleaners has been in business in Manhattan for 35 years — 25 years at the present location at 219 S. Fourth St.

Police preoccupation with trying to keep Aggieville calm after the KU basketball game may have contributed to the crimes, Sowell said. The my store, because they were probably

DOWNTOWN BURGLARIES

Ten burglaries were reported downtown during the past weekend. Most of the losses from the burglaries were from damage, not theft. Police believe the incidents were related.

2. Manhattan Medical Supply, 313 Poyntz Ave. Stolen property — $350

3. S Bar J, 317 Poyntz Ave. Property damage — $650

4. Home Care, 323 Poyntz Ave. Property damage — $300 Stolen property - $20-$60

NOT SHOWN: Vic's Phillips 66, 420 Houston St. $400 stolen, $50 damage.

Property damage — $150 9. Pro Copy, 223 S. Fourth St. Property damage — $500

Sowell Tailors and Cleaners, 219 S. Fourth St. Property damage — $1,150

Stolen property - $25

8. Supreme Elegance, 221 S. Fourth St.

0000000

GREGORY A. BRANSON/Collegian

would be concentrating their efforts here." on the other side of town, she said.

Darlene Ross of Supreme Elegance, 221 S. Fourth St., said that the burglars broke into all four stores on her block. She said floodlights may be added near the back doors of all the

"I've been here almost four years, and this has never happened before," Ross said. "Nothing was taken from burglars probably knew the police looking for cash, and I don't leave any with police patrols of the area surrounding her store.

'They've checked pretty well. My back door has even been unlocked a couple of times, and they spotted it and called me," she said. Mitzi Richards, executive director of Hospice and Home Care Inc., said she was worried about the people who work in her office.

"I was concerned about employee safety. I was concerned because we Ross said she has been satisfied have employees who are in our office after normal office hours," she said.

Richards said it was scary that one of the employees could have been in the office alone when the break-in

Richards also said she is concerned that her employees might get 'spooked" by the break-in. To help alleviate any possible anxiety, Hospice and Home Care Inc. is looking at See BURGLARIES Page 10

Sexually harrassed students can collect monetary damages

Ruling heightens sensitivity, center president says

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Sexually harassed students may sue to collect monetary damages from their schools and school officials, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously Wednesday.

The court, rejecting the Bush administration's view, said Congress intended to let students try for such compensation when it passed a law known as Title IX of the Education Amendments of

The decision is a victory for a former Gwinnett County, Ga., high school student who sued over her alleged sexual encounters with a teacher who, she said, pursued her ardently.

Marcia Greenberger, president of the National Women's Law Center, hailed the ruling as "a major victory for women" that would "heighten the sensitivity of school officials to what's going on.

'We're relieved, especially since the Bush administration had taken the view that no damages were available," Greenberger said. "This is a major rebuke of the administration contention. This decision is going to make a big difference."

The ruling does not affect sexual-harassment lawsuits by teachers. Congress gave them, and all people who allege harassment in the workplace, the right to sue for monetary damages under the Civil Rights Act of 1991.

Writing for the court, Justice Byron White said, "A damages remedy is available for an action brought to enforce Title IX."

The case had attracted additional attention because it was the first involving alleged sexual harassment to reach the court since Clarence Thomas became a jus-

His Senate confirmation hearings were marked by law professor Anita Hill's allegations that he sexually harassed her while she worked for him at the Education Department and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commis-

Wednesday's decision reversed lower court rulings that had thrown out Christine Franklin's federal lawsuit against the Gwinnett County public school system. Her suit now will return to a federal trial court.

The lower courts had ruled that Title IX, which bars sexual bias in educational programs receiving federal funding, does not allow alleged victims of intentional sex discrimination to sue for monetary

Sexual harassment is the legal ■ See COURT Page 10

OPERATION DESERT

AMY COX

Capt. Renee Miller thought nothing could separate her from her newborn baby, but she was wrong. A war did.

Not only did she have to leave 2-and-ahalf-month old Seath to fight a war, but her husband, Seath, had to quit his job as a licensed practical nurse to stay home with their baby full time. But that didn't worry

"He did excellent. I knew he would. I think the most difficult thing for him was being at home all day with few outside

What rated most difficult for Seath being Mr. Mom?

"Everything. The laundry, the baby, the house, the lawn. The last experience I had with a baby was 19 years ago with my niece. It was all new to me," Seath said.

Renee said being a woman in the war was not a hindrance.

"Everyone in the military treated me with respect as an officer," she said. 'Sometimes the new lieutenant or officer has to prove him or herself, but there wasn't even any of that. Right away they gave me their faith and confidence."

The only sexual harassment Renee heard about was another female soldier who had gone out to run and was yelled at by a native in a pickup truck. She had to restrict her running to the unit area.

Female soldiers in the desert had the same bath facilities as the men makeshift ones.

There was no preferential treatment. No one had them. I don't know who made them, but the women finally got toilets with wooden partitions all the way up so you coundn't see in. The men just had these screens. You had to turn your head as you walked by."

Rence said the one material thing she missed was her bathroom. She washed out of a washtub heated by kerosene heaters and got one shower the whole time she was in the desert by visiting another unit. Back home, Seath missed the company of other adults.

TWO

"I wanted to talk about something besides Sesame Street." One thing Renee did enjoy in Saudi was

"It was like Germany's Autobahn. Of course, a CUCV (large Army truck) doesn't go as fast as the Jeep Cherokees some of the male officers got to drive."

Only male officers got to drive civilian vehicles because of Saudi Arabia's custom of not allowing women to drive. To prevent harassment, female soldiers only drove while in uniform and in military ve-

"I didn't have air condiditioning or anything, but I had wheels," Renee said. Lots of chocolate and letters of support were what Renee enjoyed from back home, and people still show their apprecia-

"We got tons of mail from schoolkids, and I got a package from a lady in California. When I got back, it was just incredible. My neighbors thanked me, and other people who find out I went to Saudi still

As a transportation officer, Renee was usually in charge of a small group of people. But when she was the officer in charge, she commanded about 200 troops in resupplying the 1st Infantry Division.

Seath's pride of his wife handling herself in a war is obvious. "She excels as an officer. They don't come any better," Seath said.

Though her wartime mission usually kept her in the neutral zone, Seath didn't always know that.

"You saw all this stuff on CNN, and you just want reassurance that it's not your wife. Sometimes of the phone, I would ask specific questions about where she was and the line would be cut. I learned not to do that," Seath said. "I never worried about my safety or their health and happiness until I found out I had to stay back longer than the division. The end of May I found out I would be staying an additional two months.

Seath was 8 months old then, and I was afraid he would start walking, and I would miss it. I was even afraid I wouldn't recognize him. His recent photograph looked so different. He had changed a lot, and I worried about getting him to accept me as Mom again.'

Renee said her time away from Seath

"He's still a little bit of a Daddy's boy. But I think he is coming out of that because I spoil him more." But not even a war can put that much distance between mother and son.

"When I came back to Fort Riley at 3 a.m. I talked constantly on the drive home. He just kept looking at me. When I got him out of his crib the next morning, he a.m. wake-up call to go Saudi Arabia, and Amy's unit was alerted also but never ance, Sgt. Kenneth Jerby, was thankful.

That was one thing for which her fi-

"Before I got there, I was worried about what to expect, and what I would be doing. I wasn't worried about her leaving.

Once I got there, I was grateful she wasn't there," Kenneth said. "It wasn't something

I wanted her to experience. It was hard just to keep up with people in my unit. We were separated a lot. You would get word that someone had been killed by a Scud, but not know who it was. I don't know how I would have dealt with it if I had to worry it was my wife."

she had to pick it up by herself.

MR. MOM IS BACK TO BEING "DAD"

War separated Capt. Rence Miller from her 2-and-a-half month old son, Seath. Her husband Seath was left to care for their newborn while she was deployed to Saudi Arabia. To do so, he was forced to quit his job as a licensed practical nurse. He was new to the experience. His last experience with a baby was his niece 19 years ago.

Renee was involved with resupplying the 1st Infantry Division, at times commanding up to 200 troops, while Seath was at home in Manhattan doing laundry and feeding their

PHOTOS BY CHRISTOPHER T. ASSAF

She would have gone had it been neceswas fine. He knew it was me - Mom." sary, but Amy said she was where she The day Sgt. Amy Brown's engageneeded to be. ment ring was ready, her fiance got a 4

"I had a very good reason for being back here - my two daughters," she said.

Kenneth's unit had plenty of warning, but he didn't. His Fort Riley unit was alerted in August. Kenneth was not assigned to that unit, however, until November. He found out then he would be leaving in December for Saudi Arabia.

He said 30 days wasn't much time to get moved in and get ready to move out, Being a non-commissioned officer in his unit, he had to help get the unit ready to

On the home front, he had Amy.

"She took care of what I couldn't control and didn't have time for," he said. Then it was time to deal with the fear of

■ See ONE YEAR LATER page 3

FOLLOW UP

Teen-ager goes home 6 weeks after doctors reattach severed arms

ASSOCIATED PRESS

HURDSFIELD, N.D. - The teenager whose severed arms were reattached six weeks ago is back home on his family farm and expects to return to school next week.

John Thompson, 18, spent his first night at home Tuesday since a farm machine there ripped his arms off below the shoulder on Jan. 11.

"It's good to be back," Thompson told well-wishers that included all nine members of his senior class as he arrived by helicopter for a brief hospital examination in Harvey, 25 miles from his hometown of Hurdsfield.

Thompson waved off a wheelchair and walked into the local hospital unassisted, with about 40 friends and relatives cheering him on.

He had spent the past six weeks at North Memorial Medical Center in Robbinsdale, near Minneapolis, where surgeons reattached his arms.

His mother, Karen, cried when Thompson stepped from the helicopter and was in tears as hospital employees led her into the building.

Thompson, who lost about 20 pounds during his hospitalization, told reporters he was looking forward to getting back to the farm, playing with his dog and eating fried chicken.

Dr. Charles Nyhus, who examined Thompson in Harvey, said he was in very good general condition.

The teen-ager was working alone on the farm when the accident oca curred. He staggered 400 feet to the unoccupied house, using his mouth to open doors and punch out a phone call for help with a pencil.

Thompson said he is still surprised that doctors were able to reattach his

"I can't believe they put it all back together like this," he said. "It was a major mess."

Encouraged by family members and reporters, Thompson lifted both arms above his head and waved.

"I do this every day and it gets kind of old," he said. "I have feeling down to my elbows."

Doctors say it is unclear whether Thompson will ever regain the use of his hands.

When asked what kept him going after his arms were severed, Thompson said, "I'm stubborn. I just didn't want to give up and live like this."

Thompson said he expects to return to school for a few hours a day on Monday and will travel to the Harvey hospital three times a week for physical therapy.

was reported involving Annette Schmid, 1000 N. Fifth St., and Randall Gates, 1836 College Heights Road, and Christopher May, 2110McDowell Creek Road. Both Schmid and Gates refused treatment

At $:19 p.m., Monica Rae Smith, 1031 Yuma, was arrested for DUI and confined in lieu of $500 bond.

At 9:57 p.m., William Smith reported hitting a white-tailed deer. His car sustained major dam-

At 12:09 a.m., the campus police reported a hit-and-run accident by Ackert Hall. The car in question was reportedly a black Toyota with rollbar and should have damage to the right rear and perhaps have red paint transfer.

At 8:40 a.m., a terroristic threat report was

At 9:38 a.m., Fred Freeby, 1100 Goodnow Ave., reported a hit-and-run accident.
At 1:42 p.m., a recovered stolen car report was

At 2:41 p.m., a major-damage, non-injury accident was reported involving vehicles driven by Jay Barnickol, 833 Moore Hall, and Jong Cho, W13 Jardine Terrace.

At 3:21 p.m., Steven K. Rowe, 9440 N. 60th St., Riley, was arrested on a warrant for failure to appear and confined in lieu of $1,500 bond. At 3:26 p.m., David M. Alpough, Overland Park, was arrested on a warrant for failure to

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27

"Isis and Other Goddesses: A Black Woman's Story" will be presented at 8 p.m. in Union Station as part of Black History Month. K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport. Little American Royal sign-up will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the lobbies of Weber, Waters and the Union. Architecture and Engineering Services will sponsor an open forum for University architect candidates at 1 p.m. in Union 208

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 204. "The Geologists' Role in Kansas Department of Transportation" will be presented by the Department of Geology at 4 p.m. in Thompson 213. KSU American Horticultural Therapy Club will have a business meeting at 5:30 p.m. and a chapter meeting at 6 p.m. in Waters 18. Association for Women in Science will sponsor a reception for female students and faculty interested in science, engineering and math from 4 to 7 p.m. in Union Flint Hills Room.

Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 203. Pre-Vet Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Trotter 201.

Rotaract Club will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 206.

TODAY'S FORECAST

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

Latin American Student Organization will meet at 8:15 p.m. in Union

■ ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Little Professionals in Human Movement will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Ahearn ■ Pre-Physical Therapy Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Boyd Hall.

■ Engineering Ambassadors executives will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Durland 173. Membership at large will meet at 7 p.m.

Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 212. Lunchbag Theatre will present "The Lover" by Harold Pinter at 11:30 from 15 to 25 mph. Low tonight in the upper 30s.

WEATHER

a.m. in East Stadium.

Math Club will meet at 6 p.m. in Cardwell 130.

Little American Royal committee meeting will be at 5:30 p.m. in Little American Royal first contestant meeting will be at 6 p.m. in Weber Arena.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28

Hispanic Awareness Month Planning Committee will meet at 12:30

Glory" will be shown at 8 p.m. at the ECM Campus Center, 1201 Denison Ave., as part of Black History Month. K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Flat Tire Mountain Bike Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 29

■ AIDS Quilt will be at Ahearn Field House all day today through March

■ Intervarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 203. There will not be a meeting for the next two weeks.

SUNDAY, MARCH 1

KSU Astronomy Club will meet at 1 and 2 p.m. to discuss the March sky in the Planetarium, Cardwell 407.

MONDAY, MARCH 2

Southwind will be selling environmental T-shirts and raffle tickets on the first floor of the Union.

Faculty Senate elections are underway. Primary ballots, which will be sent via campus mail, should be returned to the location designated on the ballot by Monday, March 9.

Business Council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 208.

French Table will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1. ■ The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Durland 173. The program topic will be the Student Professional Awareness Conference.

CORRECTION

In Wednesday's Collegian, Matthew Cunningham's byline was mistakenly placed on the story "Bulbs preserve environment, save money." The story was written by Keith Leff. The Collegian regrets the error.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

TUESDAY, FEB. 25 At 1:55 p.m., the theft of a red Huffy Scout ountain bike south of Mariatt Hall was reported.

At 3:34 p.m., it was reported the runoff of the creek south of the Veterinary Medicine Complex has snapping turtles in it. Young children should stay away from the creek. Several had reportedly been playing by it.

At 7:06 p.m., Riley County Ambulance Service reported to Weber Arena. A female student had reportedly sustained head injuries after fall-ing from a horse. She was taken to Memorial Hospital.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 26 At 12:08 a.m., a hit-and-run accident was reported in Lot A-28.

At 2:06 p.m., the campus police recovered a stolen vehicle on Sunset Avenue for the Riley County Police Department.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

TUESDAY, FEB. 25

TUESDAY, FEB. 25
At 4:14 p.m., a report was filed for indecent liberties with a minor.
At 5:14 p.m., a major-damage, non-injury accident was reported involving vehicles driven by Brian Olson, 2307 Willow Lane, Carol Snider, 2738 McCollum St., Fort Riley, David Lundell,
4017 Coschman Road, and Michael Grogan, 2007
Northwind Drive, Junction City.

At 5:52 p.m., a major-damage, injury accident was reported between vehicles driven by Amy Reed, 1426 Colorado St., and Eric Regher, 2821 tal.

A 6:13 p.m., a theft was reported at Mini Mart, 2706 Anderson Ave. Three VHS video tapes valued at $143 were reported taken.
At 6:59 p.m., Candace Smock, 1819 Todd Road, reported hitting a white-tailed deer. Her car sustained major damage.
At 7:09 p.m., an ambulance was requested at Weber Hall for a subject who had failen from a horse.

At 7:55 p.m., a major-damage, injury accident

Virginia Drive. Reed was taken to St. Mary Hospi-

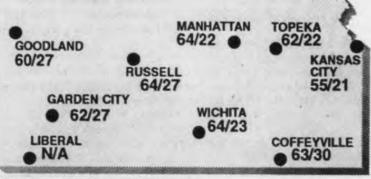

EXTENDED FORECAST

Continued unseasonably warm through Monday with highs in the mid-60s to 70. Lows in the 40s.

Clear and mild with a high in the mid-60s. Northwest wind Unseasonably warm with a high in the mid-70s. Low in the

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

TEMPS	SKY	Honolulu	79/64	cloudy
45/37	cloudy	Manila	86/68	cloudy
63/52	cloudy	New Delhi	76/49	clear
52/43	cloudy	Rio	97/72	cloudy
	45/37 63/52	45/37 cloudy 63/52 cloudy	45/37 cloudy Manila 63/52 cloudy New Delhi	45/37 cloudy Manila 86/68 63/52 cloudy New Delhi 76/49

OPPY'S AMOCO 3RD & FT. RILEY BLVD. 776-9940

WESTSIDE AMOCO 3001 ANDERSON AVE. 539-4331 NEXT TO ALCO

SPRING BREAK SPECIAL OIL, LUBE AND FILTER ONLY $1395

(OIL CHANGE (UP TO 5 QUARTS OF CDO OIL) OIL FILTER AND LUBRICATION).

EXPIRES 3-15-92

The NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt KSU - Manhattan

February 28 - March 1, 1992

Ahern Fieldhouse Kansas State University

Sharing Our Compassion

Friday, February 28

10 a.m. to 8 p.m. 10 a.m.

- THE DISPLAY OPENING CEREMONY

Noon

"Living with AIDS," a vocal duet Unfolding of the Quilt The Reading of the Names.. An HIV patient, a Mother, a Legislator Stories of the Quilt - Manhattan Civic Theater - Union Courtyard HIV patient, Mother, Legislator, Educator, Pastor - Union Big 8 Room

Saturday, February 29 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Sunday, March 1

Noon to 4 p.m.

3:30 p.m.

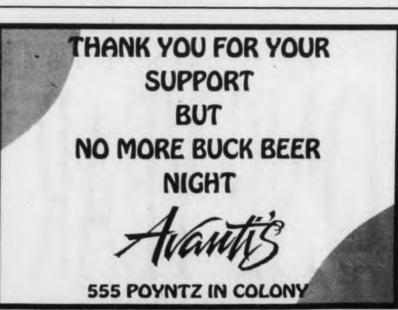

The Reading of the Names Continues

-THE DISPLAY The Reading of the Names Continues

CLOSING CEREMONY

Godfather's Pizza 1118 Laramie • 539-5303 LARGE BIG VALUE PIZZA BIG VALUE PIZZAS 2 LARGE TWO TOPPER SUPER PEPPERONI 2 Toppings of your choice ALL YOU CAN EAT RIPLE MEAT FEAST or CLASSIC Pizza • Breadsticks

"seduction and desperation" produces laughter and shudders in almost equal amounts' February 20-22, 26-29 Nichols Theatre 8 pm lickets at McCain Box Office 532 6428

OPERATION DESERT

PART TWO

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"I always had this distinct fear of going to war with the kind of people you work with in the garrison," he said. "In garrison, people have good and bad days, have all these responsibilities in their personal life, and that carries over into work. But when you're out there, there's nothing else to think about. If the guy next to you goes down, you may too. So people work together. I was impressed. All that anxiety was gone. It was like a well-oiled machine with everybody working for the same cause."

After it was all over, Kenneth said he would never take things for granted again -

(RIGHT) Amy and Kenneth Jerby were married in

The couple now lives near Tuttle Creek Reservoir

(ABOVE)As a sergeant in the Army she was reluc-

New York soon after Kenneth returned from Operation Desert Storm in the Persian Gulf. He still is sta-with their two daughters. A year ago, her name was tantly watching her new flance being sent off to war.

He returned several months later and was able to fulfill tioned at Fort Riley, while she has left the Army.

like a toilet.

"You would never believe some things they call a toilet over there," Kenneth said. "I looked forward to a real, clean toilet, coffee with Dad and the big rodeo back in my hometown," Kenneth said.

When Kenneth came home five months later, they had trouble finding a room, much less a toilet.

"At the time, I was living in Phillips-burg," Amy said, "and we finally found a (hotel) room in Abilene. Everything was

The Army postponed their wedding, but it was also what brought them together.

They met while serving in Korea in 1990.

The wedding wasn't a flashy, grand affair but a quiet, special one held about the time the birds get up.

They wed with the sunrise at 6 a.m. July 27, 1991. It was in Penn Yan, N.Y., in the country - her parents' yard out by the

"We had decided we wanted to get married during a special time of day, either sun-rise or sunset," Kenneth said.

The best man read a biography about how they met, and the matron of honor sang the "Battle Hymn of Love" - one battle they accepted gratefully.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH

Observance ends with goddess presentation

The KSU celebration of Black History Month will end with a bang and a burst of blues at 8 p.m. in Union Station with the presentation of "Isis treatment in time to save her life be-and Other Goddesses: A Black cause the nearest hospital was a white Woman's Story."

All black women, Brown said, are reports. both goddesses and black women. cient black goddess, to reiterate the theme that all are goddesses.

The show focuses on music in telling the story of black women such as Billie Holiday, Ma Rainey, Bessie Smith, Aretha Franklin and others, said Brown. Most people are familiar with the names and work of these women, she added, but the show delves into the personal lives and personal pain they experienced, in addition to fame.

For instance, legendary blues singer Billie Holiday struggled throughout her life with a heroin problem, but eventually beat the addiction before her death.

The tragic end of Bessie Smith, Brown said, is another example of the pain experienced by these black women. Smith was critically injured in a car accident, but did not receive hospital and refused to treat her.

The show, explains director Shirlyn
Henry Brown, is a "celebration of enced by "Queen of Soul" Aretha Black Woman - her art and her Franklin show in her music just as strongly as in newspaper and tabloid

"I'm concentrating on these The show is named after Isis, an an- women's pain," Brown said. "You don't think of these people except as performers.'

> The message she wants to bring with this show is found not only in the pain experienced by these women but in celebration of their accomplish-

"I want people to see that you can do anything. These women kept on going despite their pain," Brown said.

The important aspect of these stories is that modern women and men can learn from the stories of these black women and be inspired by their example, Brown said.

"This thing is you've got to keep See ISIS Page 10

FHSU to lend hand

Fort Hays will help St. Mary students receive degrees

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DODGE CITY - Fort Hays State University will expand its course offerings in Dodge City and make it easier for students to obtain their degrees from the city's St. Mary of the Plains College, which closes June 30.

Edward Hammond, president of FHSU, said Wednesday his school offers four or five outreach courses in the Dodge City area - compared with 35-40 courses offered in Barton County - but is prepared to go fur- said.

Fort Hays State will expand its upper-division course offerings in the fall if a significant need for the courses is shown, he said.

Policies concerning outreach courses also will be waived to allow students to obtain their degrees by completing work in Fort Hays courses offered in Dodge City, Hammond said.

So, if a student wants to earn a degree from St. Mary - and as long as St. Mary is willing to grant that degree - Fort Hays State has agreed to waive a policy requiring outreach students to earn the last 30 hours of their degrees in classrooms on the Hays campus, he said.

"In looking at the statistics of St. Mary students, we have determined a large number of them are geographically limited to the area," Hammond

St. Mary, the only four-year college in southwestern Kansas, announced earlier this month it plans to See FORT HAYS Page 5

& Lounge Open 7 days a week

PHOTOS BY MIKE VENSO

NEWLYWEDS

1304 Westloop

Amy Brown.

his promise of marriage.

Restaurant

Buy One Entree and get a second of equal or less value for 1/2 Price I

The K-State History Department Invites the Friends of HOMER SOCOLOFSKY to the Banquet Dinner in His Honor at the Time of His Retirement

> Saturday, 21 March, 1992, 5:30 PM Ramada Inn, Manhattan, KS

Call the K-State History Department (532-6730) for more Information and Reservations

You've Heard of Rotary

Manhattan/K.S.U. RotarAct for Young Professionals Invites You to our meeting

February 27th 6 p.m. Union 206

Frank Sall will discuss Sexual Harassment Issues

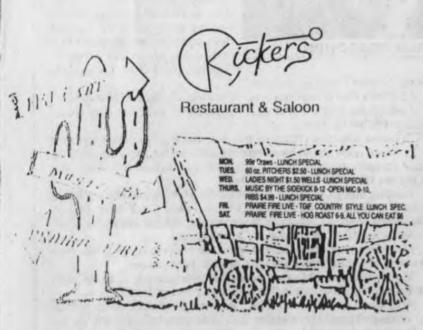

Get to K.C.I. in Style this Spring Break by Taking Advantage of this Great Deal $2 OFF WITH THIS COUPON

457 Poyntz Town East Shopping Center 539-2284

Friday, Feb. 28 Saturday, Feb. 29 Sunday, March 1 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. noon - 4 p.m.

EDITORIALS

Stamps ain't nothin' but a hound dog

The U.S. Postal Service has created yet another hound dog.

As part of a new series of stamps honoring American musicians, the Postal Service has released two versions of a stamp portraying Elvis Presley.

One version of the 29-cent stamp depicts the "King" as a young hipster with whom millions of young teenage girls fell in love, and the other as an aged, starch-collared, Las Vegas showroom superstar.

The kicker is that we as the American public get to decide on which version of the rock 'n' roll legend we get to lick for the next several months.

The choice seems too obvious, and the process, a blatant waste of time and money.

The plan calls for five million ballot cards to be distributed in early April, with voting taking place April 4-26. A decision is expected to be announced in May at Graceland in Memphis, Tenn. Just how does the Postal Service intend to finance this little contest? As you cast your vote for the Elvis of your liking, you must buy a 19-cent stamp so that your postcard ballot will reach the selection committee. That's $950,000 in sales the Postal Service rakes in.

True, the public has been crying for years to honor Mr. All Shook Up, but the Postal Service has requirements for their commemorative stamps. One is that the honoree, who must have made considerable contributions to this great country, must be dead. While Elvis fans were vying for a stamp, their cohorts were bumping into him in shopping malls across the country. Apparently, the Postal Service inspectors have confirmed Elvis's death, and the stamp issuance can proceed.

But what remains to be seen is how many people will opt for an image of the old fat guy belting out a tune wearing a star-studded white jumpsuit that makes even the children of the '60s ashamed.

It's a hands-down contest, and even if it weren't, why should we vote for our favorite stamp? We can't even get 50 percent of the population to vote in a presidential election.

If the Postal Service continues to waste money at the expense of the public with gimmicks like this, they may be dancing their blue suede shoes right out of business.

Postmaster General Anthony Frank stands by his plan to help America believe in politics again. He said, "This lets the American public become involved in a very unique way."

What he forgot to mention is that it also lets the American public pay for it in a very big way.

A & E/Silo Editor

A & E/Silo Editor
Heather Anderson
Copy Chief
Samantha Farr
Copy Editors
Arny Cox
Jodell Lamer
Eve Wilson
Staff Reporters
Derek Bohliken
Shawn Bruce
Vidorla Cherrie
Arny Cox

Viziona Cristito
Virike Dauer
Lisa Edmunds
Mark Engler
Stephanie Fuqua
Jason Hamilton
Tara Hun

Julie Long Erin Perry Niranjan Rao Heather Resz Roger Steinbrock Derek Thoman

OLLEGIAN

NEWS STAFF (532-6556)

Editor
Erwin Seba
Managing Editor
Darla Goodman
News Editor
Lajean Rau
Design & Graphics Editor
Greg Branson
Photography Editor
J. Kyle Wyatt
Opinion Page Editor
Mike Venso
Assistant Opinion Page
Editor

Campus Editor Cindy Briggs Assistant Campus Editor Denise Uphotf

Sports Editor
Patrick Obley
Assistant Sports Editor
David Svoboda
Government/City Editor
Christine Vendel

EDITORIAL CARTOON

CAST YOUR BALLOT FOR THE ELVIS STAMP

STEFFANY CARREL

Quilt is coming. The Project be specific. what it is? Well, I'll tell ya.

a memorial have been devastated by AIDS.

but all are equally important. Perry Ellis, fashion designer.

McKinney, the B-52's. And thousands more.

The Quilt is made up of 14,000

If you include the 12-by-12 foot fabric walkways between the panels, the Quilt measures an incredible 8.75 football fields.

It's absolutely huge. And it's overwhelming to think of all of the panels sewn by the families, companions and friends of those who have died from AIDS.

Barbie dolls, first-place ribbons, jewelry, merit badges, photographs, records, stuffed animals and wedding rings are some of the many materials used to invokes so many emotions. Just as the issue of AIDS itself

Frustration, concern, fear, pain, and more than anything - loss.

> veryone has an opinion about Sometimes though, these opinions can be rather callous, whether intentional or not.

A prime example of this was a letter to the editor on Feb. 12 addressing the alleged "hero-making" of Magic

If you didn't read it, essentially the letter said that even though Magic Johnson is a well-known sports figure, he is no more a hero than any other "normal" person who contracts the disease. Basically, that his "status" does not warrant a pedestal-fitting.

I agreed with those points. However, I objected to the last line of the letter which stated, "The public needs to take another look at this over-publicized Magic Johnson and look at him in the way that all the other AIDS victims are - a statistic.'

A statistic, eh?

Well, my first reaction was anger. I joked (yes, joked) with a friend that maybe I should just walk up to the person who wrote the letter one day, introduce myself, and then kill her

Then she'd be just another "statistic." Someone killed senselessly - another number for the almanac, babe. Forget the people she loved, those who had loved her or any of the people she touched in her

None of that would mean a easier to deal with. Or should I say easier to shove under the rug.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

See, when you eliminate the faces from the thousands of people who have died from AIDS and make them into statistics, it's not so

When you're just talking numbers, the disease loses its desperate urgency - its pressing magnitude.

Or if you still insist on believing "it's a gay disease so I can't get it 'cuz I'm straight." When you say that, perhaps it doesn't seem to be the critical threat that it

So we can all just go back to watching "Beverly Hills 90210" and the newest prime-time rape

Well, that may be the easiest thing folks, but if we do that, it will only be a matter of years before we wake up to find everyone infected - everyone dying - everyone a statistic.

Don't believe me?

Here are some hard facts: · In the United States in 1986. there were 21,517 reported cases of AIDS and 11,713 deaths.

. In the United States in 1991, there were 167,803 reported cases and 106,361 deaths.

Now it doesn't take too many Collegian staff members to figure out that means more than a 700 percent increase in reported AIDS cases alone.

And it's NOT "just a gay disease." We can't single out groups, because it's certainly not affecting just one group

Anyone can get AIDS. It's not the group you belong to ... it's your behavior that can get you into > he Quilt will continue to grow and grow, long after it's left Manhattan. More names, more names, more names. But when it does come, realize that yes, it's about remembrance .. yes, it's about a living tribute to all try to understand its importance... but don't let those feelings leave with the Quilt. Continue to care. Continue to remember. We just can't afford to stop. The Quilt will be at Ahearn those lost to this nondiscriminate disease AIDS ... and yes, we should

Field House Friday - through

Something this monumental should not be missed.

A Patchwork of Pain and Compassion

Names AIDS Memorial Quilt — to Do you know commemorate those whose lives Some more visible than others,

Keith Haring, artist. Rock Hudson, actor. Liberace, performer. Robert Mapplethorpe, photographer. Congressman, R-Conn. Jerry Smith, Washington Redskin. Ryan White, activist. Ricky Wilson, guitarist for three-by-six-foot panels, each about the size of a coffin. Each in remembrance of one individual.

remember them.

It's so incredible it's hard to adequately describe with words.

You just have to see it. Something like this just damn thing when she becomes a "statistic." She may as well never have existed.

Scary idea, isn't it? Sure it makes AIDS, among other things, I think you all should go.

according to my depleted checking account, would be analogous to watching my four year-old set fire to the winning ticket to a $40-million Lotto

County Circuit on Feb. 13 states that as Officer Laningham was turning in reports at the end of a long night on duty, Sergeant Rice asked her about her progress fighting off a cold. Laningham

Testimony in Jackson

America jackpot.

Cyclicism finally comes around ignificant cultural changes always tend to progress in decaying cyclic fashion, moving from one extreme to the other until an equilibrium of sorts is established. It is the nature of things ... an immutable law. It's a fundamental process I like to call Cyclicism - a simple term for the adage, "What goes around, comes around."

Take Magic Johnson, for example. All he knows is: "Put the little round ball in the hoop, take the money, bed the bimbos" - that's it. Doesn't understand the first thing about Cyclicism. If he did, he would not have gotten AIDS, because he would have known the sexual revolution of the 1970s was just one extreme in The Big Cycle. He would have known that, sooner or later, somebody was going to pay for all those "love-ins."

Such is the case with sexual harassment. How long have men been sexually harassing women? Why, ever since Adam said to Eve, "Hey babe, that's a nice pair of apples. Want to fool around?"

Any woman will tell you that men are long overdue for some bigtime Cyclic Phenomenon. Therefore, it comes as no surprise that charges of sexual harassment are flying back and forth in the news like icecubes at a K-State-KU basketball game. Men, the way I figure it, we have some suffering to do. Nothing specific, mind you — just a general, prolonged agony of an as yet unspecified length. Despite this ominous prediction, I still prefer the company of women. As a matter of fact, I am married to a woman. My mother is a woman. I have three sisters — ALL are women. Solid evidence of my commitment to the female of the species. However, a recent incident gave me pause to reconsider my position regarding my longstanding preference for female companionship ... at least in the public realm.

s I approached the grocery checkout line the other day, a woman cut in front of me without batting a fake eyelash. On a normal day this would have been no problem. I am an easy-going sort of guy every day of the week, with the exception of Sunday mornings. Usually, under trying circumstances such as this one, I would have simply said, "I think you dropped a $5 bill back in aisle two." If that didn't move the pesky interloper, I would have tried something more dramatic, like, "Say, didn't you know they are offering two-for-one on those 'Sheer-Energy' pantyhose you have there?"

Then, as the grateful creature trotted off to hosiery heaven, I would have triumphantly established my rightful place in line.

Yet, on this particular day, after having explained to the eighth caller at work that the number 666 is not tattooed somewhere on my slightly balding head, I was not in much of a mood to deal with yet one more born-again Bible-babbler. I was about to tell this rude woman in the checkout line that I thought one had to post a sign when moving wide loads in traffic.

Fortunately, I caught myself — in mid-insult, so to speak. The thought of Sergeant Chester Rice of the Jackson County Police Department made me wonder if what I was about to say could be construed as sexual.

Actually, I thought of William Kennedy Smith, then Clarence Thomas, then Mike Tyson, and then Chester Rice — all within the span of about half a second. Obviously, I was succumbing to what is fast becoming a natural fear for many men: that of having to defend oneself against an accusation of sexual harassment. That's why I thought of Chester Rice.

Sergeant Rice was suspended 5 days last March over a remark made to another officer, one Sharon Laningham. It cost him $900 in missed pay alone, which, lawyer.

BRAD SEABOURN

replied, "I think I need some drugs."

Chester's fateful response was, "You probably need a chest rub." Laningham laughed and said, "It probably wouldn't take long," then quickly left the room.

hester sincerely claims he was just making a helpful suggestion based upon an old home-remedy and was not implying anything sexually suggestive by the remark. Laningham has stated that she did not view it as harassment either.

Another officer, however, overheard the exchange and brought it up during a conversation with Jackson County Police Chief Steve Bishop.

Bishop then ordered Laningham to write up an official complaint which eventually led to the suspension of Chester Rice. Men, for any of you willing to spend the effort to figure it out, there is a lesson of Cyclic Proportions in Chesters' predicament. Most women would agree he probably deserves it ... if not now, then based upon some past indiscretion which escaped retribution. All I know is, if the next time I go into one of those fancy Kansas City restaurants and the waitress asks this poor, suffering guy in the booth next to me how he likes his Mountain Oysters, I'm calling a

It's so incredible

You just have to

it's hard to adequately describe with words.

ADVERTISING STAFF (532-6560)

Advertising Manager David Hamilton Assistant Advertising Manager Angle Humphrey Special Sections Manager

Jayme Wall Creative Director Ron Metz
Marketing/Promotions Manage
Aaron Scoby
Tearsheet Manager
Terrell Fanning

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS STAFF (532-6555) Director/News Adviser
Ron Johnson
Advertising Director
Gloria Freeland
Assistant Director/
Royal Purple Adviser
Linda Puntney
Business Manager
Ann Foster

Jennifer Brunk
Collette Caroll
Clint Coover
Matt Fitzgerald
Brent Dungan
Angela Ross Jackie Harmon Office & Classified Ad Manager Pat Hudgins Production Coordinator

Ad Production Staff Deanna Adams Shelly Bier Glenn Cheshire Pam Ficke Dana Franklin Scott Rosebro

COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL BOARD Heather Anderson Cindy Briggs Shawn Bruce

David Frese Jodell Lamer Patrick Obley

Lajean Rau Erwin Seba

Salina Correspondents Vicki Kindel Lisa Sneath

Columnists
Eric Becker
Steffary Carrel
Jared Gregoire
Carla Jones
Tom Lister
Roblin Meeks

Brad Seabourn
Ed Skoog
Eve Wilson
Sports Reporters
Brian Anderson

Brian Anderson Frank Kleemann Steve Rock Kristeen Young Sports Columnist Margo Keller Photographers Christopher Assaf Margaret Clarkin Todd Feeback Shane Kevser

Shane Keyser Brian Kratzer David Mayes J. Matt Rhea

Assistant Creative Director Holly Lambert Campus Representative Clarissa Delhotal Senior Account Executive Annette Spreer Account Executives

Christine Vendel

The Editorial Board consists of members of the Collegian staff who meet three times each week to discuss topics of concern. These members also write the editorials that appear in the Collegian daily.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom,

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postas paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Changing world changes books

Political events quickly outdate learning material

RICHARD ANDRADE

If a history, geography or political science textbook cannot be sold back at the end of the semester, don't blame your bookstore or the wholesaler.

blame Boris Yeltsin. The changes which have taken place since the Soviet Union was dissolved on Dec. 25, 1991, are making scores of textbooks obsolete.

"Change is taking place now, this month, next month," Joseph Hajda, professor of political science, said. "You don't wait. You have to make an adjustment."

Hadja said he never uses the same edition of a textbook twice because continuous changes demand updated Shifts in social order, geography and economics strike quickly and make even brand-new books instantly

"A number of books have come out that deal with Russia," said Wayne Nafziger, professor of economics. But some of them are already out of Nafziger said many publishers are waiting for the dust to settle before putting forth any updated versions.

"You're very much afraid, as an author, that what you write is going to be overcome by events," he said.

David Kromm, professor of geography, said many publishers may use separate supplements as an alternate option to producing an entire new textbook edition. He said supplements would be less expensive and significantly easier to replace.

Kromm said world changes occur more frequently than many might think but are viewed with different degrees of importance.

"Central America has had a lot of changes, but I don't see a big rush to write new books," he said. "So, some places are watched more closely than others."

Besides textbooks, maps are also extremely sensitive to changes.

"All the major mapmakers have been coming out with new editions reflecting the unification of Germany," Kromm said.

He said judgement calls of importance also occurred in the world of

"Even in Europe there's a difference. Everyone rushed out to buy a new map for Germany, but not for Yugoslavia," he said.

In 1991, Yugoslavia split into three countries - Yugoslavia, Slovenia and

"Except for the Olympics, I don't think most people would have known that," Kromm said.

State primary not yet funded

Brunt of $1-million blow may fall on counties; they claim they can't afford it

PAM FRAHM

Kansas will have a presidential preference primary this year, but who will claim the $1-million tab is still unknown

The primary will be April 7. Last week, a bill enabling the primary was passed by the Kansas House of Representatives 123-0, and the Senate voted 25-15 to concur.

thus far to finance the primary. If the state does not finance the election, the cost will fall back on the counties. Sue Seitz, deputy Riley County

However, no bill has been passed clerk, said Riley County does have money budgeted to pay for it. Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan, said the Senate sent three bills to the House to stop or cancel the primary, but the House did not act on any of

Gov. Joan Finney included $1.5 million for the primary in her budget, but the money would not be available until after the July 1 start of the new fiscal year. Whether the state appropriates the money or not, Oleen said that either way the taxpayers will end up paying the bill at one level or another. One solution would be for counties adding other issues to the primary ballot to be asked to pay for part of the election, she said.

Oleen said the House bill will save about $300,000 of the original estimated $1.8-million tab for the primary because all ballots will be printed by the state and distributed to the counties, and the voting booths will be manned by volunteers.

Assistant Secretary of State Ron Thornburgh said that 1980 is the only year Kansas has previously had a presidential primary. The primary was paid for by the state that year.

Although the turnout for the 1980 primary was 70 percent of total registered republicans and 62 percent of total registered democrats. Thornburgh said these numbers may be slightly misleading because voters registered as independents may vote either party for a primary.

"Our primary, in my opinion, is farcical. It's two months after the New Hampshire primary, and the presidential candidates will have been decided by the time we vote," Oleen

Kansas' percent of input in the presidential primary election is only 1 percent of the total national input, she

Telefund nears goal in final week

JANELLE ESAU

The 1992 K-State Telefund has raised $691,442 as of Feb. 26. The Telefund has been extremely successful this year, Director Russ McMahon said. Totals are 6-8 percent ahead of last year's totals so far, $775,000, and with one night left to call, McMahon said he thinks they will go over it by $25,000 by the end of the week.

Each college has a designated time to call, but they must find their own volunteers, and each college does that differently. He said some find volun- This is Royse's second year at K-and others use professors and word of Travis Rink, sophomore in education, said he called because he received extra credit in a class.

'We're just bringing money in to help ourselves," he said.

Rink said he thinks it was a good The goal for the 1992 telefund is experience because it gave him practice in relating to people.

About 1,200 students volunteer each year. However, students are not the only callers.

David Royse, assistant professor in music, also calls to help build the scholarship fund for music students.

teers through clubs and organizations, State and his second year with the Telefund

Royse said he thinks the Telefund is very important, and he sees the money directly benefiting students in the music department by helping them cover the costs of tuition.

Volunteers not only benefit from the scholarship money, but they also receive prizes at the end of the evening. Prizes are donated by local businesses and include lottery tickets, sweatshirts and gift certificates.

The Telefund ends Feb. 27. The colleges of Architecture and Design, Agriculture and K-State-Salina call

Fort Hays

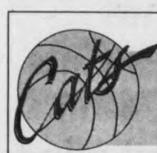

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 close by the end of June because of large losses and a high student loan default rate. The college has 837 fulltime and part-time students.

ence in Dodge City that his school, Dodge City Community College and the Dodge City Daily Globe were formulating a survey to determine the educational needs of the area.

A long-range consideration is one that would bring services from each of the Kansas Regents Schools -Hammond said at a news confer- Fort Hays, the University of Kansas,

K-State, Emporia State University and Pittsburg State University. Called a regents center, it could offer courses towards degrees from the different schools' programs under one roof.

BUY-HIRE-SELL -RENT COLLEGIAN

FOLLOW THE CATS

COLLEGIAN SPORTS

SWING INTO SPRING CRAFT SHOW

SAVINGS...are springing up

Saturday, Feb. 29, 10 a.m.-6 p.m.; Sunday, March 1, Noon-5 p.m. Pottorf Hall - Manhattan

Refreshments Available. 50¢ a day admission, 75¢ for both days

Children under 12 free

d by ABWA Manhattan Charter Chapter

he Nightclub

Thursday Night is Carribean Night

Music of the Tropics

Styles include: Ska, Calypso, Reggae, Steel Drum

Featuring the Groups:

Maxi Priest

UB40

Bud Light Lowenbrau

Bob Marley

Steel Pulse

Coor's Light MGD

Zocolo

$1 DRAWS

Experience Our Radical Tropical Drinks

Rasta's Revenge

Jamican Fiz

WE BE TROPICAL 'MON!

Music...THE BEST Relaxed Atmosphere

Open at 8 p.m. Proper Attire, Jeans Allowed

776-80H0 (7646)

18 to Enter

710 N Manhattan, Aggieville

2ND ANNUAL KAPPA DELTA GOLF CLASSIC HELPING TO PREVENT CHILD ABUSE

SHAMROCK PROJECT Saturday, March 28, 1992

It all takes place at Custer Hill Golf Course, Fort Riley; 9-hole, 2-man scramble (Random flighting) Registration fee is $50 per 2-man team.

(Fee includes green fees, golf cart, golf towels and donation) All proceeds go to the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse. For more information, call 539-7688.

Please return by March 14:

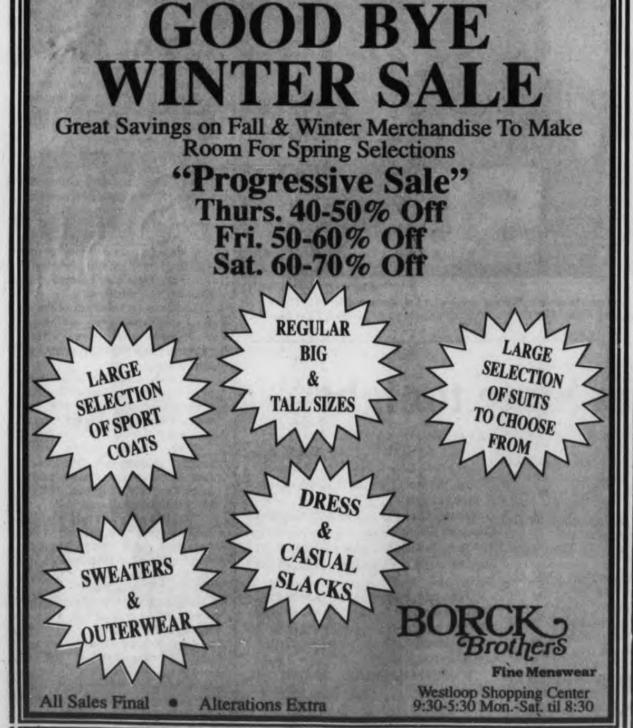

Kappa Delta 1220 Centennial Manhattan, Ks. 66502

TEAM:

NAME

ADDRESS

Mail this along with a $50 check to Kappa Delta. (Limited to 40 teams, so hurry and sign up now!)

SCOLLEGIAN SPORTS

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1992

HOW THE TOP 10 FARED

1. Duke (22-2) beat Virginia 76-67. Next: at No. 4 UCLA, Sunday. 6. Missouri (20-4) beat Iowa State 75-71. Next: at Kansas State,

8. Ohio State (18-5) beat Purdue 71-64. Next: at No. 12 Michigan

9. Arkansas (21-6) beat Auburn 82-74. Next: at Mississippi State,

Shrinking revenue may drop budget by 8 percent

New revenue sources are being sought to prevent across-the-board cuts in all sports

PATRICK OBLEY

If preliminary figures hold, every department in the athletic department will have its budget cut by 8 percent for the 1992-93 year.

This year's budget is $8.8 million. Expenses during the year will probably match that figure, according to Assistant Athletic Director and Financial Chief Officer Jack Key.

"We are looking at breaking even for this year," Key said. That is probably the worst-case scenario."

Key said the department did not make any strides toward eliminating the $5.4-million athletic debt.

But about $200,000 of the $2.9-million Bramlage Coliseum loan will be taken care of by the KSU Foundation, Key said. In addition, another $100,000 of the general $2.5 million debt, used for installing KSU Stadium's Wagner Field, will be paid off when Dave Wagner's pledge is received. Wagner pledged the money for the new artificial turf when he won the lottery last

"So actually, about $300,000 of that $5.4 million has been paid," Key said.

The Foundation will continue to reduce its debt obligations with $100,000 payments each year.

"Of course, that debt won't be paid off in my lifetime by doing just that alone," Key said. "We have to make strides toward getting rid of the debt as soon as possible." Unfortunately, next year will not be the year something is done, said Key. Due to the reduction of revenue sources, the Athletic Department projects an overall budget of $8.1 million, a significant reduction from this year's $8.8 million. At first, an across-the-board, 8-percent cut was recommended. But, it has since been discovered such an action will severely hinder the operations of many departments, primarily those involving Olympic, or non-revenue, sports. "We've discovered that 8 percent is quite frankly going to devastate some of the Monetarily, it will be football and men's basketball that would stand to lose the most. But from an operations standpoint, such a cut would all but destroy track, tennis, and men and women's golf.

Compromises are in the works, according to Key. One of those compromises would be to allow any leftover money from any department to be carried over into the next year's budget for that department.

"Something like that would cushion the blow of an 8-percent cut," Key said. Also, other revenue producing mediums are being considered.

Earlier in the year, the idea for a beer garden at Frank Myers Field had been

Wichita State sells beer at its games. They're a regent school. We're a regent school," Key said. "They generated a $25,000 profit from selling beer there last

But, the idea has already been nixed by the K-State administration.

They don't want to fight that battle, so the idea has been eliminated," Key said. "We felt comfortable with it. It would have been different if Wichita State wasn't a regent school, but it's not a battle they wanted to battle."

Baseball ticket prices have been raised from $1 to $3 a game. The first home date was Sunday against Fort Hays State.

"We generated about $800 off that game, and that was just Fort Hays.'

Another idea being considered is the creation of a joint football-basketball season ticket.

"Separately, those two items would cost a student $110, but if they would be this special joint-ticket, it would be just $95," Key said. "We're also toying with the idea of getting a box put on the registration form that a student could check and have mom and dad pick up the tariff on the tickets."

"I think the season ticket campout will be back," Key said. All these ideas are due to the expected loss of revenue next year in football and men's basketball. In football, there will be just five home games next fall, as opposed to the six home dates this year.

"Also, there will probably not be any sellouts next year, with the opponents we have scheduled to come in here," Key said. "The sellout-plus we had for the KU game alone brought in an extra $300-$400,000. We won't have that game next year."

Also, the slackening season ticket sales for men's basketball has played a big role. "The last couple of years, it's been in our projected budget to sell 10,000 season tickets to basketball games," Key said. "This year, we had just 7,000 season tickets sold, and considering the trend, we've projected sales at just 6,100 for next year."

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State will not participate in next year's BMA Holiday Classic basketball tournament, which means an additional $80,000 in revenue will be missing as well.

A major stickler in the current budget plans is that salary increases have not been entered into the current budget projection, which could pose a major roadblock to easing the constraints.

"Gov. Finney has recommended a 2.5percent raise for state employees, which include those at K-State," Key said. "We try to mirror those raises."

Ultimately, Key said, this current plan is tentative and subject to change according to each department's needs, even though the odds on change are long.

"We didn't want to dictate to the coaches what to do with their money," Key said. "They are better business managers of their sport than we are.

"We are going to do our best to please every department."

A finalized budget must be turned in to the University by May, Key said.

LADY CATS BASKETBALL

CU's Sheetz hits 21; Lady Cats losing streak hits 9 games

Colorado freshman Shelly Sheetz continued where she left off last week.

After winning last week's Big Eight Player of the Week Award with 29 points and 14 assists in two games, Sheetz scored 21 points, including five 3-pointers, to give the Lady Buffaloes a 65-42 win over the Lady Cats Wednesday at Bramlage Coliseum.

The win over gives Colorado, ranked 34th in the Associated Press poll with a 18-8 record, their 10th consecutive win. The loss is the ninth straight for K-State and drops the Lady Cats to 5-21.

"They were flat, but we were flatter," Lady Cat coach Susan Yow said. "We had a golden opportunity to cause an upset. They missed a lot of shots early.'

Lady Buffs coach Ceal Barry agreed.

"We did look a little flat, but it's that time of year, "Barry said. "We did what we had to do to win."

Despite being down 29-22 at halftime, the Lady Cats had the better field goal percentage, shooting 41.7 percent compared to the Lady Buffs' 36.7 percent.

Colorado took control in the second half by ruling the boards. After tying K-State at halftime with 17 boards each, the Lady Buffs grabbed 29 in the second half to gain the edge over the Lady Cats

Abby Wirfs had nine rebounds, and Sherrice King's eight boards helped Colorado gain control in second half. "Good rebounding was key for us winning the game," Barry said.

by a margin of 46-31.

Another factor in the game was Colorado's 17 steals. Amy Mathern came up with five steals, equaling the number of steals for the entire K-State squad. K-State committed 24 turnovers, the most its had against a Big Eight foe and the highest since giving away 25 to Loyola-Chicago on Jan. Along with her 21 points, Sheetz grabbed five rebounds, and intercepted three K-State passes. Sheetz continued her Big Eight record of consecutive free throws as she hit both of her free throws to move her streak to 31.

Colorado's other contributor to win was Wirfs. She scored 14 points, 9 coming in the second half.

A bright spot for K-State was Leah Honeycutt, who led the Lady Cats with 14 points and eight rebounds. Honeycutt hit seven of 12 from the field and played the entire game.

Another bright spot for Yow was Gretchen Bertrand, who scored eight points. Yow said Bertrand's performance reminded her of Bertrand's Southwest Missouri State game in which she scored her season-high of 17 points.

Seniors Mary Jo Miller's and Grebing's Jennifer final performance in Bramlage Coliseum finished with mixed performances as Miller scored 4 points with three assists and six turnovers; Grebing, meanwhile, ended with 8 points and five rebounds.

The Lady Cats end the regular season Sunday on the road at Oklahoma State. In their first meeting, Oklahoma State won 74-

Lady Cat center Jennifer Grebing, is fouled on the shot by Mindy Henery of the Colorado Lady Buffs during the last home game for the Cats Wednesday night. The Cats lost 65-42 shooting 37 percent from the floor.

CATS BASEBALL

Cats to host top-ranked Wichita State tonight

DAVID SVOBODA

K-State's baseball team begins its 1992 series of night games against national and Big Eight powers with a single, nine-inning contest at Frank Myers Field against topranked Wichita State.

Game time is 7 p.m., with the starting pitchers still anyone's best guess.

"We've got some options," Wildcat Coach Mike Clark said of whom he might send to the hill tonight against WSU, the runner-up in last season's College World Series. "Sometime right before the game,

Among the candidates are Brian Hierholzer, Dan Driskill, Tim Churchman, Kevin Sander and Pat Ralston. All have previously been to the mound in 1992 for K-State.

The visiting Shockers, though Coach Gene Stephenson has been as tight-lipped as Clark about saying who will start on the mound, might start junior right-hander Kennie Steenstra.

Steenstra was 17-0 in 1991 and didn't lose a game until dropping one as a member of Team USA during the summer. Steenstra was also an Olympic trialist - just like teammate Jaime Bluma, who comes out of the WSU bullpen.

Regardless of who's throwing tonight, the game — the first of four contests between the two teams, with two in each club's home park — is a big one, Clark

"It's significant," he said. "First of all, they're No. 1 in the nation. And secondly, and very importantly, it's an in-state rivalry. "We're both recruiting several of the same kids in-state, and winning a game like this one would help us there."

Clark also acknowledges the importance of the game to K-State fans.

'They've been talking down in Wichita about how they have the largest crowd now," Clark said of the single-game record for a college game in Kansas, now held by the Shocks, but at one time a K-State claim. "But we're hoping we'll get about 6,000 in here on a great night for baseball and take it right back." That kind of a crowd plays to the advantage of the home team, Clark believes, and he hopes his players can deal with the gamut of emotions they're likely to

"If you're so excited and so psyched up that you can't do anything, it's tough. That's why we're glad we have a couple of guys like we do in the middle of the order." Those two guys - Craig Wilson and

Brian Culp - have led the Cats offensively through the first five games, during which K-State has gone 3-2.

Wichita State also hits the ball well. The Shockers led the nation last year, scoring 704 runs, but also got great pitching. WSU also led the NCAA with a 2.93 team earned run average.

"We can't roll over anybody," Stephenson said. "We have a bunch of guys who play hard, and our pitching is strong."

The idea of playing hard is one that appeals to Clark also.

"If we come out and fight like I'd expect we would, we'll be OK," he said, "This is going to be fun."

CATS BASKETBALL

Jones fires Cats to 74-66 road win

PATRICK OBLEY

It's code blue for Dana Altman. The Cats' coach had said long before Wednesday's matchup at Boulder against Colorado if K-State shot over 50 percent, he'd have a heart attack. Well, Medevac is on Behind 52-percent shooting and shifting defenses, the Cats downed the Buffs 74-66 to stay out of the Big Eight cellar and keep postseason hopes alive.

The game's tempo was set from the start as the Cats, 14-10 overall and 4-7 in Big Eight play, scored the first 6 points, forcing a Colorado time out with 17:32 showing for the half. The Buffs, 12-12 and 3-8, charged back to score the next 5 points and the two teams fought for the lead for the next five minutes.

With Colorado leading 13-12, Askia Jones hit the first of his three treys to put the Cats ahead. Colorado would never lead again.

When the Cats went on yet another 6-point run, the Buffs were broken, and K-State cruised to a 38-28 halftime lead.

The second half started the same way the game began - another 6point Cats run and a Colorado timeout. But this time, there was no Colorado retaliation as the Cats steamrolled to leads as large as 22, 58-36, midway through the half.

Colorado pecked away at the lead throughout the rest of the half, but never came closer than 7, 71-64, with 1:11 remaining. K-State used variations of the 2-

3, 1-3-1 and man defenses throughout the game, which seemingly kept the Buffs untracked throughout the game. Altman said the individual performances of Marcus Zeigler,

Vincent Jackson, Jones and Gaylon Nickerson were vital to the game's outcome. "We played pretty good tonight," Altman said. "We looked like we were aggressive, and I think Zeigler's a big part of that. He handled the ball well. 'Ski had a big first half. Vincent Jackson really took the ball to the hole and made things happen, which gave us a different look on the floor," Altman said. "Gaylon hit some big shots, too." One of those shots Nickerson hit was a 40-footer at the buzzer ending the first half. Jones scored 17 of his gamehigh 21 in the first half. Jackson and Nickerson added 13 each. Donnie Boyce led the Buffs with 17 points, while Billy Law and James Hunter followed with 14 and 12 respectively.

Non-traditional cabinet position may be added

Allocation would provide salary for FENIX representative

JOHN SHARTZER

The addition of a non-traditional affairs director to the student body president's Cabinet in conjunction with a special allocation for the position in the FENIX office will be voted on at tonight's Student Senate meet-

FENIX, which is not an acronym, is an organization that represents nontraditional students.

Kimberley Caves, freshman in business administration, is the appointed non-traditional affairs student senator and a FENIX volunteer.

The special allocation will provide payment for the person in the position with FENIX.

Senate questioned Caves' appointment into a salaried position without the consideration of other applicants. The position was not advertised by FENIX to allow for additional appli-

"Senate is expected to request an

Ladies

Personal Fit Jeans Look and feel your best in jeans made to emphasize the best of a woman's figure. Each 100% Cotton Denim jean is specially cut to fit your particular shape and size. We give you a rainbow of colors found nowhere else! Not to mention our huge size selection! When you're ready to mix the traditional with the contemporary, fit yourself into Rocky Mountain jeans! Straight leg styling. 1st > AVAILABLE UP TO LADIES 36" INSEAM!

EVERYDAY LOW PRICE!

Quality. Made in USA.

FIT FOR YOURSE

1ST QUALITY LADIES JEANS

the bill before further consideration," said Nancy Bolsen, director and dean of student life.

"Kim has come in and consulted with me on several topics, but it was strictly on a voluntary basis," she said.

On other issues, student activity organizations requesting funding will continue to give five-minute presen-

The K-State Union is due for its regular three-year review of financing. An additional $5 per person will be requested during their 30-minute presentation.

Scheduled allocations meetings will be announced for March 19, 24, 26, 31, and April 2 and 7. Additional meetings may be necessary and will be announced on the appropriate dates.

Also, Senate will vote on the approval of new members to the Cabinet. An SGA Treasurer, Campus Safety Director, Assistant Campus Safety Director, Living Organization Coordinator, Athletic Liaison, Fine Arts Liaison and Environmental open application section be added to Awareness Liaison will be announced.

Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea? Call the Collegian day or night 532-6556

How would you like to be an important part of one of the top college newspapers in the U.S.?

The Kansas State Collegian is looking for a Copy Editor. Applicant must have excellent spelling and grammatical skills. Knowledge of Associated Press style helpful. Work approximately 20 to 25 hours per week. Salary $200 per month plus invaluable experience.

Submit applications to Erwin Seba in Kedzie Hall 116 by March 2, 1992. Applications may be obtained in Kedzie Hall

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

More information may be obtained by calling 532-6555.

Baseball

Wichita State

Tonight at 7 p.m.

Frank Myers Field

Mens and Ladies Ropers

Ropers are for more than just rodeo! For Western or urban, experience the handcrafted quality and fit that only genuine leather can give you. Kipskin leather foot, shaft, sole and lining. 1st Quality. Handcrafted in USA.

LACE-R ROPERS AT $99.99

500 Lincoln

9-8 Mon-Sat 12-5 Sunday 456-9100

Delta Tau Delta would like to thank everyone who contributed their blood or time to last weeks Bloodmobile. The following is a list of prize winners:

Carlos O'Kelly's Dinner: Amy Davis Carlos O'Kelly's Dinner: Cambi Colley

KSU v. KU: Amy Washburn VCR: Curtis Janke TV: Gary Stuchlich

And Congratulations to the Following Category Winners:

Residence Hall: West Hall Fraternity: Fiji Sorority: Chi Omega

Thank You For Caring!

- The Men of Delta Tau Delta

We'll keep your foot a tappin'!!

The K-State Singers Spring Show '92

A Contemporary look at music!

Thursday Feb. 27 and Saturday, Feb. 29 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m. Tickets available from McCain Box Office, 532-6428

TONIGHT!

Pitchers

Join Us LIVE! BUD LIGHT

College Rock & Roll With: As We Speak 9:30 p.m.

WHILE YOU SHOP!

One-Hour Service • In The Mall

Each Picture Is The Best I

It Can Be Or We

Reprint It Free...Now!

Offer applies to regular one-hour prices. No limit on number of rolls discounted with this coupon. 4x6 color prints (print length varies with film size). Offer applies to first set of prints only. C41 in lab process. Cannot be combined with other film developing offers.

Coupon good through June 6, 1992 developing • enlargements reprints . double prints

Also Available:

One Hour Services:

wallet photos . film nstant color passport photos video transfer copies from prints albums, frames

Manhattan Town Center

and accessones

main entrance by food court

CPI photo finish

Now Open at 304 Poyntz! We're ready to serve your Spring Break needs:

Skiing Backpacking Traveling

Camping Bicycling

539-5639

OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS

Open Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Thur. 9-8, Sat. 9-5

Downtown, Manhattan

New York City Opera National Company Sunday, March1, 7 p.m.

Puccini's stirring account of a beautiful but jealous singer, the painter she loves butdoes not trust, and the corrupt police chief who lusts after the singer. The National Company's version is fully staged with orchestra and is sung in Italian with English supertitles.

Student/Child: $14.50, 13, 10.50 Senior Citizen: $26, 23, 19 Public/Faculty: $29, 26, 21

McCain Auditorium

Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Fine Arts fee. Corporate support provided by Kansas Farm Bureau and

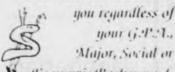

LASSIFIEDS

Announcements

FENIX Scholarship Applications for nontraditional, full time, undergraduate students are available in the FENIX Office, Holton 201. The deadline for applying is March, 13.

Attention Students:

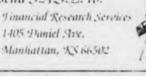

Timancial Research Services has knowledge of over $4 billion dollars available to your G.P.A., Major, Social or W Teonomic Background.

For information send S.A.S.L. 10:

1405 Duniel Ave. Manhattan, XV 66502

BARTENDING 101, class starts March 30, 8:30- 9:30p.m. For more information see in Union March 3 or call 532-2519.

CASH FOR Collegel Don't miss your oppor-tunity for the scholarships/ financial aid you are qualified for! Call or write for in-formation on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, La-wrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

FRESHMAN, SOPHMORES. Do you need college money? Free information. College Funding Resources, 1405 W. North Front, Grand Island, NE 68801.

IS ANYONE going to FARM AID V? If you are, I'd like to put your picture in the Collegian. Call Kratzer at the Collegian.

THE RIDE. Chicago Art And Architecture. May 14, 15, & 16th. Visit Chicago with the help of the fine arts fee. Deadline for sign-up is April 15. For more information call the Department of Art at 532-6605.

WEIGHT LOSS. Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guaranteed! For more information call Rhonda 539–3817.

Baseball Hero Card Show

March 1, 1992 9.5 Free Admission Holiday Inn Holidome

539-5311 530 Richards Dr.

GOODSON AUTO TRIM

Headlining Tonneau Covers Boat Covers Window Tinting Convertible Tops Complete Auto, Truck & Boat Upholstery 201 Sarber Lane

(between Wal-Mart and K-Mart) Manhattan, Kansas 66502 Phone 776-7679 Res. 776-7614

Brussels $315* Athens $479* Guatemala $219* Tokyo $365* Sydney $577*

Council Travel

1634 Orrington Ave Evanston, II 60201 1-800-475-5070 Automobiles for Sale

1968 CUTLASS 91K miles $1000, 776-5196, 537-0510 Brent.

1980 CUTLASS Supreme Brougham. T-tops, excellent 350 V-8, AT, PS, PW, PB, PL, new paint, no rust $2800 negotiable. 778-7299 or see at 1428 Laramie.

1982 WHITE Subaru Brat, with t-tops and camper shell. Reliable automobile, $1400, 456-8595 after 5p.m.

1983 DODGE Challenger, good condition, must sell. Come test drive. $1200. Call 776-3537.

1983 HONDA Accord three-door, hatchback, air condition, AM/FM, 118K, $1950, 537-7686.

1984 ESCORT $425, sold as is. Call 539-3822. 1985 JEEP Cherokee, 4WD, 4D, Sunroof, 71,000 miles. $4,900. 537-2413.

1987 IROC Camaro, excellent condition, t-tops, new wheels and tires, new paint, loaded. $6950... 539-1639.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to ap-proach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,0004 per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

NOT RETURNING TO SCHOOL FOR THE FALL SEMESTER?

BRUBACHER CUSTOM HARVESTING

needs combine, truck, and other equipment operators for the summer and fall harvests. Great wages, free room and board, and excellent experience. If interested, call Trip at 776-8186 or Ron at 776-1526 for an application.

ACCOUNTANT

fanhattan real estate firm has imme fiate opening for one full time accountant. Duties include bookkeeping, financial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary comsensurate with experience. 40 hour reek Monday through Priday. Micro omputer training and experience manatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

BUY-HIRE-SELL -RENT COLLEGIAN

New Opportunities

Eam $5,000 to $10,000 this summer painting houses in your home town. Final hiring for these positions is being held now!

1. Strictly management

2. Painting and management 3. Painting only

ALL-Pro Student Painters, Inc. 1-800-2-MANAGE

$40,000/ YEAR! Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easy! Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn hundreds weekly stuffing envelopes at home. Local businesses will provide all materials. Send SASE to Homemailing Program— B, P.O. Box 3182 Olthe, KS 66062. Immediate response.

KAW VALLEY Greenhouses needs full-time/ part-time help. Call 776-8585 between 4:30 and 5:30p.m. Thursday and Friday.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913)

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Are you looking for a way to defray the high cost of a college education? By serving one weekend a month and two weeks in the summer you could qualify for up to $28,000 in the Kansas Army National Guardi Formore information about an exciting carrier and great herefits call $37-4108. reer and great benefits call 537-4108

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539–3817.

IBM AND Apple Showroom Sales Person.
Connecting Point Computer Center in Manhattan has immediate part-time
opening for experienced, well-dressed,
enthusiastic retail sales associate to work afternoons Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday only. Temporary position, will last throught end of semester. Must be able to communicate effectively. Mail or deliver resume with references to 1115
Westloop Shopping Cneter, Manhattan,
KS 66502. Equal Opportunity Employer.

NEED CASH? We need students to stuff our sales circulars! Excellent wages- $3 per envelope! Start immediately! Send long S.A.S. Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157, Forked River, NJ 08731

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1,700 per month last summer and gained valuable exprience for their resumes. Call 539-8370.

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1700 per month last summer and gained valuable experience for their re-sume's. Call 539-8370.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. One-bedroom furnished apartment, one-half block from campus. $365 per month, 776–1340.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus. One, two, and three-bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fre-mont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285, 539-2482 after 40 m

SUBLEASE APARTMENT for summer. Fully furnished, located next to campus. Call 537-8834.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for two-four students. 1829 College Heights. 539–5451.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

AUGUST 1 lease. Serious student, large one-bedroom. Heat, water and trash paid, air conditioning. $255. No pets. 539-2546.

BORST RESTORATION. Now leasing unique two and three-bedroom apartments. For June 1 occupancy at 1030 Humboldt, 200 North 11th, 901 Leavenworth and 724 Laramie. Rental/credit reference requested. No smokers or pets please. 776–1460 evenings only.

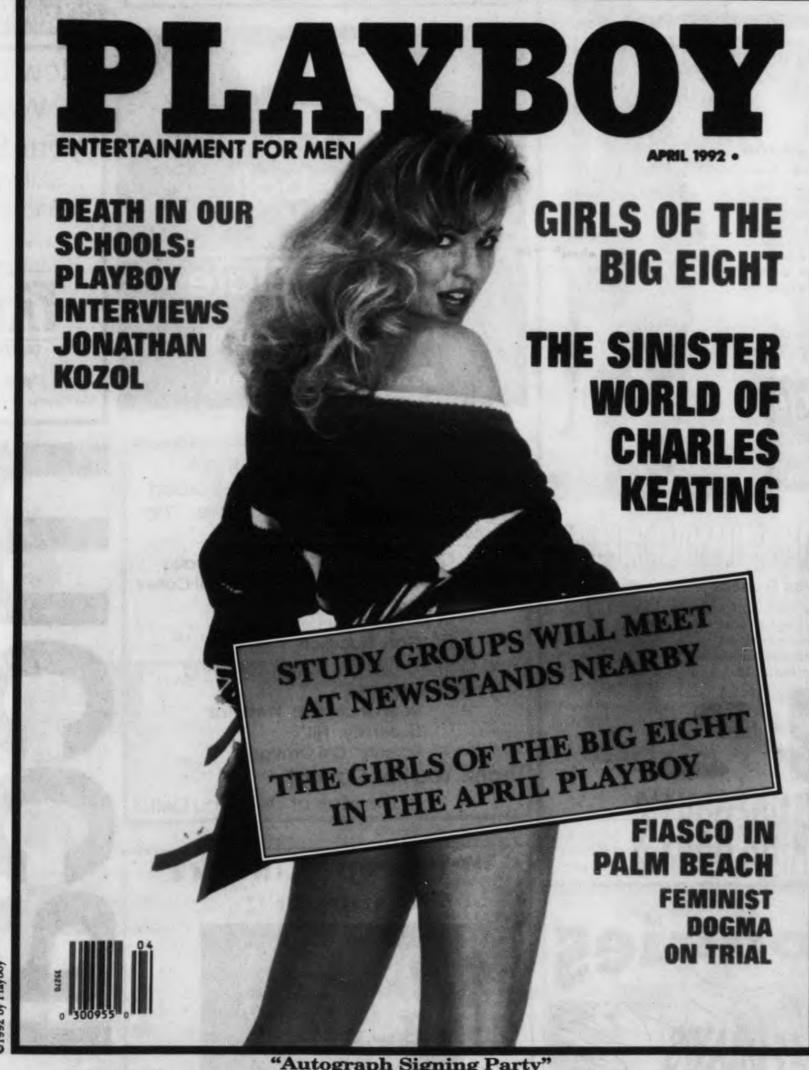

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785–2777. Please leave a message.

SLEEPING ROOM. One block from university. Call 539-2857 or 539-0410.

WO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, big enough for three people. Balcony, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry facilities. Near campus and Aggieville. Lease starting June 1. 537-0852.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804

(continued on page 9)

"Autograph Signing Party"

ALE NOW! ON SA

> Friday, February 28 Shop Quik 1816 Claflin Road • Manhattan, KS 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

(continued from page 8)

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

MAKE ANDERSON PLACE YOUR

HOME AWAY FROM HOME!

NOW LEASING for 1992-1993

KSU Students Both 1 & 2 Bedrooms 1/2 block from campus Furnished & Unfurnished

Showings Every Thursday 3-4 1852 Anderson #17

THE CURTIN COMPANIES 776-8641

Double Barreled

for you, son!

Jim's Journal

Today Tony said

Hey - I'm going to Santa Monica

for my brother's friend's wedding.

m

Calvin and Hobbes

TO SEE SOME

SKUM ABOUT

A JOB.

Manna come ?"

m

1:1

Geech

Shoe

Off the Mark

WHERE ARE

YOU GOING

We have come back

PIG NIGHTMARES

1:31

I said I would.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH

EASTER ISLAND?

I LIKE EASTER

ISLAND.

YOU CAN'T BE

YOUR MOTHER TOLD YOU ...

SERIOUS.

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

ONE AND two-bedroom apartments in 1100 block of Bluemont. Available August 1. One year lease, no pets. 776-0683.

easing Now through August Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts

College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

June & August Leases Available Now

4 bedrms, 2 1/2 bath & study ·All appliances furnished.

including washer, dryer & microwave.

 Pre-wired for your computer, phone & cable TV. ·Large recreation area with hot tubs & sand volleyball ·Bus service to campus

 Monthly rent as low as $195 For info call 776-8763

Property Resources Management

By Daryl Blasi

4

ZZZZ

cool," he said.

Then he told me

blaces me could go and things

we could see.

1:1

NO, BUT I

CAN BE BOUGHT.

all about the

(00)

III

10 For Rent—Houses

AVAILABLE JUNE several houses. Yard, washer and dryer, close to campus. Four-bedroom $640, three-bedroom $540, twobedroom $360. Lease and deposit. 539-3672.

CLOSE TO campus four-bedroom, two bath, central air, washer/ dryer, for five students $175 per student. Available for Aug. 1 537–8543.

13 For Sale—Mobile Homes

12X65 MOBILE Home. Recently remodeled. Located in Countryside Estates. For more information. Call 539-6205 after

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

16 Lost and Found

17 Meetings\Events

Only found ads can be placed free of

FOUND SET of keys in Cardwell Hall, outside of 101. Call Mike to identify. 539-1586.

FOUR KEYS found on a large keyring at Kansas State Bank in Aggieville, call Tracy 537-4435. LOST AT Last Chance Cache jacket. Please return. Call 537–4579.

LOST- LARGE blue topaz triangle shape pendant with gold rim, probably at Rec complex approximately one month ago. Reward, 293-5671.

RECEPTION FOR women students and faculty interested in science, engineering, or math. Thursday, February 27, Flint Hills Room of K-State Union. Join us for food and conversation and meet others who share your interest!

NEIGHBORHOOD BAR

We've got

KAROAKE

tonight!

75¢

FirstBank Center 776-1515

By Jim Dikkers

oh- I should tell you," he said, "we leave towarrow

at 80.m."

By Bill Watterson

By Jerry Bittle

WONDER WHAT

THE GOING RATE IS

FOR A LIZARD?

By Jeff MacNelly

By David Swearingen

" YOU KEEP YELLING

THAT WAY

FACE WILL STICK

Draws

Plus

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale

1981 YAMAHA 850 Special. Runs and looks good, $1,300 or best offer. Call Dan 537-4191.

WANT TO trade my Fuji road bike for mountain bike. 532-3649. Ask for Paul.

19 Music Musicians

EXPERIENCED LEAD guitarist wanted for pop-rock band. Extreme to INXS. Band plays ten times/month. Serious inquiries only. 537–1199, leave message.

FIRST TENOR and Bass alternate wanted for vocal group. Good pay. 776-4999 and leave message.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

ATTENTION ASSASSINS: Tonight's "Last Chance" 5:30.

GIRL WHO bought the friends on Feb. 19 at Aggle Bike. Didn't catch your name, but did catch your smile. Would like to meet you again. Guy with the Hard Head.

PADINA MAN Sam— You thought your big sis in Denver had forgot. What can I say but I think "not"! Bird Butt is finally turning the big two-one. Watch out Aggle, don't have too much fun! We wanted to send you something "male", Fed-ex wouldn't take him, so we failed. So this is the best we can do. A little personal from us to you. Wish we could be there! Looovvveee Yal Becca and Joel.

TO THE 19-dollar Horizon from the two-tone Honda: I hope your toasted OATS heal fast! Don't worry- no ingenious sorority rhymes from me. Happy Birthday! Stevie "B" lated.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

AKC ENGLISH Buildog pups, six males, one female, $400, 537-0633.

SAMOYEDE PUPS: three female, two male. AKC registered, all shots, ten weeks old. $50, call 539-7340. Leave message for Bo.

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away— Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL KINDS of typing done. One- day serv-ice. Laser printer. $1.25 per double-spaced page. 537-7027 after 5.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 527, 2705.

ECS OFFERS laser quality typesetting for re-ports, these, resumes, etc. Math, scien-tific, foreign character support. Style, grammar checking available. 776–6687.

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality Resumes, papers, graphics and equations my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539-3229, 8a.m.-8p.m.

UTILIZE MY BS in English Speech for papers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommate Wanted

$100 CASH to first person to move into nice two-bedroom apartment. One more fe-male roommate, Available immediately. For details 539–5366.

FEMALE NEEDED immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One-half block from campus and aggieville. Own bed-room - Nicel Desperate 776-3514. FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. One-half block from campus, washer/ dryer, rent negotiable, share utilities, call Angela, 776-3760, leave message. ONE OR two female roommates needed

$160 plus half utilities. Must like pets. Own room. Nice walk to campus. 537-8906. ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse six miles from town on blacktop road. Place for horse, $125/ month 539-2029.

UPPERCLASSMAN OR graduate preferred, non-smoking female roommate to share two bedroom duplex. Call 776-0402.

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service, Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049, 8a.m.- 5p.m. Monday through

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

WANDERING HEARTS Video Dating Service

Want to meet NEW and interesting people?

call Janice or Kelli 539-3003

Crossword

38 Man at the DOWN wheel? 1 Fatman's fellow

9 Eden

10 Shake-septet

adviser

11 Sky-walker's unpleasant 20 Height of

BUG SIN ATIVE ADAR SAP SNAG NONES MET GUG GUEN TAA

40 Barnum or partner 5 Lizard's 109 2 "Good 41 Trattoria Earth' 9 Pick up treat the tab 43 Got smaller 3 Ex-Gls 4 Dig up

12 Glenn, in 47 Pal, to "Fatal Pierre 5 Pleased Attraction' 48 Regis' 6 Charged 13 Burden 7 Young co-host 14 Past 51 The 15 Nepal's Almighty

52 Mayberry

53 Comedienne McClurg

period

54 Time

lad

capital 17 Scarlet 18 Followed 19 — apso 21 Peak (abbr.)

ACROSS

1 Jupiter's

a.k.a.

river

22 Passed bad 55 Flex checks 56 Become 16 Ran into 24 Casino rollers Solution time: 22 mins.

27 Actor Alastair 28 Cow's gift 31 Botch up 32 School dance

33 Cousteau's milieu 34 Shed tear 36 Curvy character Not merely pretty

LADS Yesterday's answer 2-27

fashion? 22 Newsstand 23 Little devils

24 Morning moisture 25 Anger 26 "Troilus and -" 27 New York stadium

29 Law (Lat.) 30 EI 8 Grown-up First name of 38 Across spearean "Out of Africa" star 39 One of the Brothers Grimm 40 - Beta Kappa

41 Senate employee

42 Cupid 43 Lean-to star

45 Simon or

Diamond 46 Central structure of the hull 49 Parrot

50 Haley's "Oz" costume

28 Sublease

PREGNANT?

For confidential

help call

523 S. 17th

Good Health

doesn't cost

Don't Suffer

Call Today!

537-8305

it pays!

537-9180

NEED HELP?

irthright

Old Town Mall

5683

1-800-848-LOVE

Dr. Mark Hatesohl

FREE Pregnancy Tests

Chiropractic Family

Health Center

3252 Kimball Avenue

FAST FUNDRAISING PROGRAM

Fraternities, sororities, student clubs.

Earn up to $1000 in one week. Plus receive a $1000 bonus yourself. And a FREE WATCH just for calling

1-800-932-0528 Ext. 65

Pregnancy

Testing Center

539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing

·Same day results

Call for appointment

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

PARTY FAVORS

SCHOOL GROUPS

PEPOENS

SPECIAL EVENTS

HIGH QUALITY AFFORDABLE

"WE DELIVER"

Personal Service Quality Printing

Onick Delivery

Competitive Price Custom Designs

1218 MORO IN AGGIEVILLE

538-2441

KENWOOD RACK system, fully remote, with receiver, CD, cassette, and turntable, plus 200 watt 4-way speakers. 539-0876.

SCUBAGEAR: BC, Wetsuit, Regulators

pressure and depth guages, compass, knife, weights. $350. With mask and fins $375. Call 226-7587 after 5 p.m.

27 Sporting Rec. Equipment

26 Stereo Equipment

HELPI FEMALE needed immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One half block from campus and Aggieville. Own room – Nicel Rent negotiable! Desperate

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE May through August, $130/month plus utilities. Five blocks from campus, four blocks from Aggieville. Cail 539-4168 after 6 p.m.

SUBLEASE ONE or two rooms in new four-bedroom apartment from end of May to August 1. Leave message 537-1690.

SUMMER SUBLEASE for $100/ month! Need female roommate from May – July 31. One-half block campus/ furnished. Call 537–8861.

SUMMER SUBLEASE. Mid- May thru July 31. Two female roommates. $395/ mo, three blocks from campus/ furnished. Call: 776-9712.

SUMMER- NICE, two-bedroom, close to campus, room for two-four, 539-2278.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

AIRPLANE TICKET for spring break. March 6- March 15, Kansas City to Washington D.C. round trip $338 down to $300. Call 539-2185.

FOR SALE: two KSU vs. Missouri. $40/ pair or best offer. 532-3915 leave message if

30 Travel/Car Pool

BAHAMAS VACATION- Five days plus cruise from Ft. Lauderdale. Act now! Call Becky for details! 537-0423. $250 per

SOUTH PADRE- Condo on the beach! We need 2- 3 more girls to share it with. Call 539-7051, ask for Natalie.

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896.

SPRING BREAK! South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner, (212) 472-1414.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

SPRING BREAK!!!

South Padre from $99 per person 5 nights

Bahamas Cruise $299 per person 6 days/5 nights Cancun from $439 per person 7 nights airfare included

31 Tutor

MATH, SPANISH tutor for eighth grade stud-ent, three times per week, 776-0181keep

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback. Best offer, 539–4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE, four gold Alloy wheels with new 14 inch tires. 532-2940. FOR SALE: Computer, printer, and various software. For more information, call 539-6205 after 6 p.m. FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

FOR SALE: Spring/ Summer wedding dress; brand new, size 12, can be altered. 776-9902.

FOR SALE: Zenith console color TV. Great condition. $150 or best offer. Call 539-6205 after 6p.m.

WANTED TO buy: Big Eight tournament tick-ets. Call Jackie after 5 p.m. 537-7490.

By Eugene Sheffer

2-27 CRYPTOQUIP

GEQY SKU ZEWNUW

44 "M"A"S"H" X H X D I JEWA I EWY J V W P R E W :

"ZQAERRI, IHVW PHHGU QG XHHDUY." Yesterday's Cryptoquip: IN SERVING ARTI-

CHOKESTHATI'VE COOKED, I SAID TO OUR GUESTS, "HAVE A HEART."

Today's Cryptoquip clue: W equals R

CONVOCATION LECTURE

to share experiences with K-State audience

Students will get the chance to hear from one of the most important a release. writers in the country, University Convocations chairman Eugene Kremer said.

Maxine Hong Kingston will give a Convocation lecture at 10:30 a.m. Friday, Feb. 28 in McCain Audito-

Most of Hong Kingston's writings are about the experiences of Chinese-American immigrants living in the United States, Kremer said.

Hong Kingston wrote "The Woman Warrior" and more recently, "Tripmaster Monkey."

She has received national awards for these books, as well as many others. Her awards include the National Book Critics Award in 1977 and the PEN USA West Award in Fiction in

The speech will benefit students, even if they do not have an interest in writing, Kremer said.

"Hong Kingston's writings contain remarkable insight about human experience," he said. "Her speech will benefit anyone who is in 20th-century America - to better understand our lives and the lives around us."

It is impossible for Chinese-Americans to assimilate to living in the United States, Hong Kingston said in

"The only healthy thing for Americans to do is to realize that we are multicultural people living in a Internationally acclaimed writer multicultural country and that you just have to take all these complex, disparate customs and languages and try to become a healthy, integrated society," Hong Kingston said.

Angela Hubler, instructor of English and women's studies, uses Hong Kingston's book "The Woman Warrior," in her women's studies classes. She said it provides examples of successful women.

"I think it is important to have a positive example of how women can exist in a sexual culture without being victims of it," Hubler said.

"Hong Kingston's writing is about women in Chinese culture, Chinese-American culture and American Culture, which is mostly negative. But she finds things within these cultures that she uses positively," she said.

In preparation for Hong Kingston's lecture, there will be a pre-Convocation forum at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in

Award-winning writer Girl allowed to travel to Britain for abortion

Catholic Church. pro-choice groups welcome decision

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DUBLIN, Ireland — The Supreme Court cleared the way Wednesday for a 14-year-old girl to leave Ireland for an abortion, leaving divisive legal and political issues for another day.

The ruling overturned the first attempt to prevent an Irish woman from seeking a legal abortion in another country. The case attracted international attention and reopened the debate over abortion, which is banned in Ireland by a constitutional amendment that won overwhelming support in a 1983 referendum.

From a humanitarian point of view, I welcome the decision. It has been a sad and distressful case, and I am glad that everything is over," Prime Minister Albert Reynolds told report-

The Supreme Court's five justices overturned a High Court order that had prevented the girl, who says she was raped and has threatened to kill herself, from having an abortion or leaving the country.

Opposition leaders, pro-choice groups and even the Roman Catholic Church welcomed the decision. But supporters of the right to an abortion stressed the court's written decision fied employees to write or type letters

The letters can be sent to Anderson

'Our eight voices will not be

Members of the Classified Senate

Hall through campus mail in care of Classified Senate, Humbert said. They must arrive by 5 p.m. Monday, March concerning their wages.

enough," Humbert said.

would indicate whether they would seek a new constitutional referendum or legislation.

Chief Justice Thomas Finlay said the written judgment would be issued in a few days.

"No girl or woman who is the victim of rape should ever again find herself and her family put on trial in such circumstances and suffer such barbaric treatment at the hands of the state," said Alan Shatter, justice spokesman for the main opposition party, Fine Gael.

Shatter said the government should not assume that the decision "relieves it of its political responsibilities."

Reynolds, who was in London for a meeting with British Prime Minister John Major, said he wanted to see the written decision before commenting on implications for future cases.

Reynolds previously said he hoped to avoid another bitter fight over a referendum on abortion.

It was not known whether the Supreme Court had decided the High Court had overstepped Irish law or had acted contrary to Ireland's commitments under European Community treaties calling for freedom of movement of citizens.

About 4,000 Irish women have abortions in Britain each year.

The girl, who has not been identified, says she was raped in December by a friend's father following more than a year of sexual abuse.

will also be glad to take the letters with them, McClain-Williams said.

Without classified employees, food would not be prepared, trash cans would overflow, toilets would be filthy and phones would go unanswered,

"Some of us are the right hand of faculty members," she said.

Isis

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

on struggling. The message is 'Let's make it," she said.

Brown, a graduate student in theater, said she is very impressed with the hard work of the performers who helped put the show together - all volunteers

She said she is especially thankful to musicians George Gillmore, Fred shepard, Michael Brown, Don Washington and Ira Wright, who play an instrumental role in the production.

Burglaries

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 procedures that will improve employee safety.

Richards' organization is nonprofit, so little, if any cash is ever kept in the office. The only thing Richards said she could think of that a person would want to steal would be the computer system.

The assistant manager of Brown's Shoe Fit Co., who asked to remain anonymous, said all the burglars took from his store were three pairs of size 11 shoes.

"It makes no sense to go through the trouble and take that risk for three pairs of shoes," he said.

Although just three pairs of shoes were taken, the total cost of the breakin will be around $600 to $700, due to the damage inflicted to the back door and door frame.

"I think a lot of the break-ins on Saturday had to do with the police being busy after the game. It sure provided a good distraction," he said.

Captain Allen Raynor of the RCPD, said the cases have not been solved yet. He denied the KU basketball game had anything to do with the rash of burglaries because there is a KU game every year, and said the burglaries were an isolated incident.

However, Raynor said he believes the burglaries that occurred in Manhattan Thursday night may be related to the Saturday burglaries.

Court

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

equivalent of sexual discrimination. Franklin's 1988 suit alleges that Andrew Hill, her ninth-grade economics teacher at North Gwinnett High School, initially began trying to engage her in sexually suggestive conversations.

The suit said Hill and Franklin had sexual intercourse on three occasions during her sophomore year.

At the end of Franklin's sophomore year, Hill resigned.

Hill is not named in the federal suit, but is the subject of an $11 million civil action filed by Franklin's mother that is pending in Gwinnett County Superior Court.

Franklin graduated in 1989. Now 21, she is married and lives in the Atlanta area. She has declined requests to be interviewed.

A federal judge and the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that suits filed under Title IX and a similar law known as Title VI only can seek to halt some illegal practice, what lawyers call "injunctive relief."

Writing for the high court, White said the lower courts were wrong.

And he rejected the administration's contention that the remedies available in Title IX lawsuits should be limited to back pay and "injunctive" help.

The equitable remedies suggested by ... the federal government are clearly inadequate," White wrote.

Chief Justice William Rehnquist and Justices Antonin Scalia and Thomas did not sign on to White's opinion. But in a separate opinion by Scalia, the three said it is "too late in the day to address whether a judicially implied exclusion of damages under Title IX would be appropriate" because of laws Congress passed subsequent to

KILLER THRILLER

A 'FATAL ATTRACTION' FOR THE 90'S.

Classified employees seek raise

'Everything goes up but our wages,' president McClain-Williams says

STACY WATERS

Eight members of the K-State Classified Senate will travel to Topeka Tuesday, March 3, to discuss the rejected proposal to increase classified employee wages with legislators. Greg Humbert, Classified Senate member, said Gov. Joan Finney proposed a 2.5-percent increase for cost-

"What we need is about 10 percent total," he said.

However, the legislature is recommending there be no increases in the cost-of-living or wage-step increases for classified employees.

"State employees haven't seen cost-of-living increases worth anything," said Deb McClain-Williams, president of Classified Senate.

wages," she said.

Classified Senate is asking classi-

"Everything goes up but our

776-5577 776-5577 "NO COUPON SPECIALS" Everyday Two-Fers Special 3 - 10 in. Pizzas 2 - 10 in. Pizzas 1 - Topping 4 - Cokes 2 - Toppings 2 - Cokes $10.50 $8.50

BACKPACKING IN THE GRAND CANYON

March 6 - 12

Hiking through one of the world's greatest natural wonders -The Grand Canyon! The ultimate Spring Break adventure!!! DRIVER'S MEETING: Thursday, Feb. 27, Union 204, 7 p.m.

KSU - Manhattan The Names Project AIDS Memorial Quilt Opening Ceremony: 10:00 a.m., Friday, Feb. 28

Ahem Field House Panel: Living with AIDS

12:30 p.m., Friday Feb 28 K-State Union Big 8 Room * * * * * * * * * * * * * * WK-State Union

Art Department Exhibit March 2 - March 20 Art by John Good K-State Union

WOODLANDS RACE PARK

Experience the thrill of watching greyhound races at Kansas City's Woodlands Race Park. Spend the day watching the races from the grandstand or clubhouse areas and test your skill at handicapping the greyhounds. Trip includes round trip transportation and entrance to the park.

COST: S10 SIGN-UP BEGINS: Wednesday, March 4

K-State Union

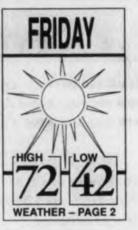

COUNTRY DANGE LESSONS

Get back into the groove after Spring Break with Country Dance Lessons! You receive four weeks of instruction for only $10 per couple. Beginning lessons start Monday, March 16, 8 - 9:30 In the Union Station. Advanced lessons start Tuesaay, March 17, 8 - 9:30 in the Union Station. SIGN-UP BEGINS: Monday, Feb. 24 K-State Union UPC Special Ever

KANSAS STATE OLEGIAN

Author Maxine Hong Kingston has the flu and will not deliver a Convocation Lecture today. The lecture may be rescheduled for a later date.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 107

Chase ends at mother's home charged with aggravated battery DAVID FRESE

Man arrested,

A man was cornered and arrested in the basement of his mother's house after running from police yesterday. George Morgan had been eluding police since Wednesday night when an acquaintance, Charlene Wofford, reported that Morgan had allegedly hit her with a large wooden stick and stolen her purse.

Morgan was spotted by a Riley County Police Department detective Thursday afternoon. Morgan ran from the officer and hid in his mother's house at 916 Pottawatomie Ave.

Police waited outside the residence for an hour while officials obtained permission from the residence's owner to enter the premises.

Officers entered the house from the doors and through the attic window and searched the house from top to bottom. The officer entering through the attic window fell through the ceiling, but was not injured.

Morgan was found hiding in the basement. He was arrested and charged with aggravated battery. Morgan also allegedly resisted arrest, said RCPD Lt. Gary Grubbs, and charges will be filed with the county attorney's office.

"He and his woman got into a fight last night or something," an unidentified acquaintance of Morgan said on the scene. "I don't know what he was

Jews still stereotyped

Anti-semitism based on ignorance of Judaism, not a hatred, says Litwak

KATIE WALKER

"All Jews are wealthy money pinchers.

To Jew something down. "The Jewish-American prin-

These are just three examples of anti-semitic expressions and stereotypes that Kenneth Litwak, thirdyear veterinary medicine student, has had to deal with throughout his Litwak, president of B'nai B'rith Hillel — a Jewish organization, said most anti-semitism is due to an ignorance of the Jewish religion instead of a real hatred for Jews.

According to a survey by the Anti-Defamation League, national incidents of anti-semitism in 1991 rose 11 percent from 1990.

The survey also found that harassment increasingly has taken the form of direct attacks on Jewish individuals as opposed to their prop-

New York, California and New Jersey all reported more than 100 incidents of anti-semitism. Kansas, along with six other states, reported no incidents.

The ADL cited cases throughout the country that took place in 1991. A Jew was killed by a mob in Brook-Ivn, and Skinheads in Tennessee attacked a Jewish store owner, according to the ADL.

One of the reasons for so few problems in Kansas could be that the Jewish population is a small fraction of the state's population.

Philip Becker, founder of the Manhattan Jewish Congregation, said membership is about 50 families, and Litwak said about 1 percent of K-State students are Jewish.

When Becker lived in Chicago, he said, there were more problems

"I never had a problem, though," he said. "I made it a point to get along with everyone. Some of them are filled with hatred and don't enjoy anything but hatred."

Both Litwak and Becker said the key to eliminating such hatred is education.

'They don' thave any worthwhile knowledge of our religion," Becker said. "The best thing to do is talk about it.

Several states have laws dealing with specific hate crimes. Florida. for example, has laws against religious symbol burning.

Kansas applies laws against assault and battery, defamation, harassment, terroristic threats and other applicable laws to anti-semitic cases, said Sgt. Stanley Conkwright of the Riley County Police Department.

one, although it's not real good for your mental health," said Sen. John Sohlbach, D-Lawrence.

The maximum penalty for vandalizing a house is a one-year prison sentence and a $2,500 fine, he said.

"We increase penalties and create new crimes, but that always involves a cost in longer prosecutions, higher lawyer costs and increased prison population," Sohlbach said.

When confronted with someone bad-mouthing his beliefs, Litwak said, the best solution is to talk to the person who said it and explain why it shouldn't have been said.

Litwak said he has never had to go beyond talking to an individual.

"If vandalism or hate literature, which have no place in civil society, were involved, then I would have no problem with going to the authorities," he said.

One of those authorities at K-State is Pat Bosco, vice president for institutional advancement and dean of student life.

Bosco said bringing a complaint to the administration's attention involves just letting them know about

"Then there's a hearing much like our student court system," he said. "If the complaint is a violation of criminal law, then we would prosecute fully under state laws and University policy."

House prepares to tackle abortion debate

DAVID MAYES/Collegian

Pro-life groups will play key role in decision to sign bill, Finney says

Riley County Police Officer Jeff Hooper and Detective Al Sill walk

George Morgan from his mother's house at 916 Pottawatomie Ave.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — The House prepared for Friday's debate on an abortion regulation bill, while Gov. Joan Finney said pro-life groups will play a key role in her decision on whether to sign such legislation.

The bill is designed to protect the right of women to obtain an abortion in most circumstances.

The measure has strong support from pro-choice advocates, and prolife groups have called it unacceptable.

Legislators on both sides expect pro-life advocates to offer at least two amendments to strengthen restrictions on abortion. They want to make the bill's proposed ban on late-term abortions stricter and add a provision to require minors to notify a parent before obtaining an abortion.

"If you're asking where the votes are, Idon't know," said Rep. Kathleen Sebelius, D-Topeka, chairwoman of the House Federal and State Affairs Committee and a vocal pro-choice bill. We could end up with a decent policy on abortion.'

Finney has pledged to sign bills to restrict abortions, and some legislators say they believe she will veto the bill before the House if it reaches her desk in its current form.

The governor said Thursday that advice from Kansans for Life, the state's largest pro-life group, and Concerned Women of America, a conservative organization, will play a large role in her decision. 'I will support their position," she said during a meeting with about 40 Associated Press member editors, publishers and broadcasters.

"You know my position. I am pro-"I use their thinking about the subject as a guide. I will have basically the same position of the majority, say Kansans for Life and Concerned Women of America.

The state now requires only that women seek the advice of a doctor We could end up with a monster and have the abortion at a licensed medical facility, such as a hospital or

State funds cannot be used to pay for abortions directly, but there are no limits on when a woman can end her

The bill would repeal a tougher, 1969 criminal abortion law that is still on the books. Court decisions before the U.S.

Supreme Court's landmark 1973 Roe v. Wade decision invalidated most of the law. The Roe ruling legalized abortion across the nation, but the high court is expected to overturn it eventually.

"This is an issue that the Legislature has ducked for years and years, said Rep. Kent Campbell, D-Miltonvale, a pro-life advocate. "I hope we don't get the extremes from both sides of the issue."

The bill would prevent the state from interfering with a woman's decision to have an abortion until a physician considers her fetus able to live outside the womb.

City and county governments also could not interfere.

After a fetus is viable, a woman could not obtain an abortion unless a doctor said it was necessary to preserve her life or health or that the fetus is seriously deformed.

Also, a girl under 16 would have to obtain counseling before undergoing an abortion. Potential counselors would include clergy, doctors, surgeons, nurses and social workers.

Finally, the bill would make it a class A misdemeanor to block access to an abortion clinic or interfere with its business.

ENTERTAINMENT

Van Halen booked for April concert in Bramlage; tickets to go on sale Saturday

SHAWN BRUCE

Van Halen is coming to Bramlage

The monsters of rock will make an appearance in Manhattan April 6. Tickets go on sale Saturday for $20.50 each. Baby Animals will be the opening act. Bramlage Director Charlie Thomas said he couldn't be happier to welcome Eddie Van Halen and Co. to

"It's hard to get these types of shows in, so it's really great anytime you can get someone of this stature,"

Although Bramlage suffers from being off the normal concert route, Thomas said he believes the Van Halen concert provides a good start to fully, it will sell out."

making Bramlage more attractive to other bands.

"The promoter is really trying to develop this market," he said. "This is absolutely a positive step.'

Of course, for that to happen, people will have to attend the show.

Although Van Halen has played concerts in both Kansas City and Wichita in support of its latest album, "For Unlawful Carnal Knowledge," Thomas said he is confident people

"The (other) shows may affect our attendance some, but the promoters figured that in," he said.

"I don't think we had all that many of our people go to the show. Hope-

AIDS Quilt displays hope, suffering, compassion

BRYAN LARSON

A collection of people's lives is visiting K-State this weekend.

The Names Project: AIDS Memorial Ouilt will be displayed in Ahearn Field House today through Sunday. Though the quilt is colorful, the beauty viewed the quilt say the beauty runs deep and is intensely personal. "This quilt is very moving," said the Rev. Don Fallon, director of campus ministries and a major player in bringing the of it is not on the surface. People who have nationally known quilt to campus. "It is really something to see the personal messages of parents and friends to their loved ones. The love and compassion that is brought out for persons who have died of this disease is incredible." The AIDS Quilt contains more than 1,400 sections. Each section is contributed by the family or friends of a person who has died of AIDS. These sections can be emotional, and each one is unique. Those responsible for the quilt coming to campus said they hope to raise people's awareness of the disease. "In viewing this quilt, people can see the pain and suffering that goes along with the discase," Fallon said.

"This arouses many feelings and brings concerns about our own eventual deaths.

Cindy Burke, Lafene Health Center staff assistant, also worked to bring the quilt to

"This quilt will really have an impact on people who are able to see it," she said. "The reason it has such an impact is because the messages are so very personal."

Though Fallon said he is excited about the quilt's ability to inform people, he said he is also involved in the project for per-"As director of campus ministries, I have

he said. "I have seen people go through the pain and suffering caused by this disease "In doing this, and because of my duties been in close contact with the AIDS virus," as a pastor, I have become very personally

"Not only does the quilt contain some very powerful emotions, but it expresses a sense of hope and commitment to finding a

The AIDS Quilt can be viewed from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. today and Saturday and from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Mobile home

A Valley Movers truck carrying a 36 feet wide, 24 feet tall house waits at the intersection of Tuttle Creek Boulevard and Highway 24 for officials to clear the way for the truck to turn Thursday afternoon. The house was one of two moved from Manhattan to St. George by a cooperative effort of Vailey Movers and Hultgen Enterprises.

COMMENTS

"It's nice to have a song come out that doesn't scream, yell or have a nervous breakdown. It's nice to have a song accepted where you don't get a hernia when you sing it."

> "Unforgettable" composer Irving Gordon, accepting the Grammy Award for best song.

"As to how in touch Mr. Gordon is with music, I can't speak for him. I can say I don't get a hernia when I sing because for me it's no problem."

> - Michael Bolton, who won the best male pop vocal Grammy for belting out "When a Man Loves a Woman."

"I feel normal now, but in the morning I will wake up and feel

 Coach Kiyoshi Hayasaka after his Nordic combined team won Japan's first Olympic gold medal in 20 years.

"We're the token dangerous act."

 Kirk Hammett of Metallica, Grammy winners for best metal performance.

"Put up or go home time has arrived."

Georgia Democratic strategist Bert Lance, describing the March 3-10 stretch of two dozen contests in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I'm cutting down somewhat. I'm only doing 250 performances per year."

> 66-year-old B.B. King, Grammy winner for best traditional blues album.

"We're not going to celebrate because we feel bad for people who are losing their jobs."

> - Mike Seiler, shop chairman for UAW Local 276, representing workers at the GM auto assembly plant to be kept open in Arlington, Texas.

"Star Trek is simply a springboard for a better future."

- Actor Walter Koenig, who played Ensign Pavel Chekov, as the Smithsonian's Air and Space Museum prepares to open "Star Trek: The Exhibition."

"We've definitely seen an increase in weapons in schools. But then, they're flooding the whole city. ... It's a hellish time to be a kid."

> Robert Terte, a spokesman for the school board in New York City where a 15-year-old high school student allegedly shot to death two schoolmates on Wednesday.

"They don't know what they're talking about. The record is good."

> - President Bush, at the drug summit in Texas, rejecting criticism by Democrats in Congress that the multibillion-dollar drug war has been a failure.

"I like to call this power grass. It's bluegrass with drums."

- John Starling, who with Carl Jackson & The Nash Ramblers won the Grammy for best bluegrass album.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

THURSDAY, FEB. 27

At 9:20 a.m., a theft was reported. Taken were drawing pads from Bluemont Hall. Loss was $25. At 11:10 a.m., a subject was arrested on a warrant for a terroristic threat.

tween a vehicle and a bicyclist.

At 1:56 p.m., a criminal damage to property

At 12:55 p.m., a minor-damage, injury acci-dent occurred on Vattier Street near Lot A2 be-

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 26

At 7:40 p.m., Christin Olson, 3525 Wilson Road., St. George, reported a burglary at the Manhattan Town Center. Taken was a black leather purse, $5 in cash, sunglasses and miscellaneous IDs and pictures. Loss was $180.

At 7:49 p.m., Hideyo Hayworth, 910 Poyntz

Ave., reported a major-damage, non-injury accident with a white-tailed deer on Highway 177, 10

dent with a white-tailed deer on Highway 177, 10 miles south of I-70.

At 10:46 p.m., Kenneth L. Smith, 717 Atchison St., Atchison, was arrested for probation violation and confined in lieu of $1,000 bond.

At 11:02 p.m., Carol Hulsey, 1416 Cambridge Place, No. 27, reported a past burglary. The loss was miscellaneous clothing totaling $230.

At 11:19 p.m., Ashley K. Rothenberger, 639

Ford Hall, was given a notice to appear for being a minor in possession of a cereal malt beverage.

THURSDAY, FEB. 27 At 12:15 a.m., a hit-and-run accident was reported at 14th Street and Anderson Avenue between a silver Audi 5000 with license plate EDJ605, and Jeff G. Weaver, 1201 Claffin Road. At 12:40 a.m., Sean R. Hood, 1517 Oxford Place, No. 17, was arrested for DUI and released on

At 1:35 a.m., Mini Mart, 1102 Laramie St., reported stolen a VHS tape titled "Drop Dead." Loss was $35.

At 1:47 a.m., Last Chance Restaurant & Sa-loon, 1213 Moro St., reported detaining an indi-vidual attempting to steal a sign. A Coors neon sign, valued at $200, was recovered and returned

At 3:46 a.m., Dillons, Westloop, reported that

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28

p.m. in K-State Union 205.

At 2:14 p.m., a theft was reported. Taken was a Trek bike from north of Boyd Hall. Loss was

At an unknown time, a red Trek bike was taken from the west side of the Biochemistry Building. Loss was $450.

Alisha Canan, 730 Allen Road, No. 3, was battered Alisha Canan, 730 Allen Road, No. 3, was battered by her ex-husband. A battery report was filed. At 4:27 a.m., Emery Albert Bradford, Route 3, was arrested for criminal damage to property and criminal trespassing, and confined in lieu of $300 bond. The damage was to a rear basement window at 719 Bluemont Ave., with a loss of $40. At 6:51 a.m., Richard's Auto Parts, 320 Yuma St., reported a burglary. Taken was $216. The damage was to a safe and window with a loss of $180.

At 8:25 a.m., Sherri Dunbar, 401 Redwo

Place, reported to the animal warden that her cat was rabid. The animal was taken to K-State. At 11:28 a.m., Laura Walker, 600 Colorado St., was in a minor-damage, non-injury accident with a sign at the intersection of N. Manhattan and

At 11:30 a.m., Khalid S. Khouri, F-30 Jardi Terrace, was arrested for making terroristi threats. He was confined in lieu of $1,000 bond. At 1:11 p.m., an officer assisted in removing as inruly sixth grader from a classroom at Theodore Roosevelt School, 1401 Houston St. At 2:43 p.m., George E. Morgan, 916 Pottawatomie Ave., was arrested on three counts of battery to a law enforcement officer and resisting arrest. He was confined in lieu of $500 bond. At 2:43 p.m., George E. Morgan, 916 Pottawatomic Ave., was arrested for aggravated battery, terroristic threats and theft. He was confined in lieu of $15,000 bond.

At 3:38 p.m., there was a major-damage, non-injury accident at Fourth Street and Fort Riley Boulevard involving vehicles driven by Lamar Ratcliffe, 416 Shelle Road., and Mary Stahl, 227 W. Sixth St.

"Glory" will be shown at 8 p.m. at the ECM Campus Center, 1201 Denison Ave., as part of Black History Month.

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Flat Tire Mountain Bike Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208. ■ Intervarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212. There will not be a meeting for the next two weeks.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 29

■ AIDS Quilt will be at Ahearn Field House all day today through March

SUNDAY, MARCH 1

KSU Astronomy Club will meet at 1 and 2 p.m. to discuss the March sky the Planetarium, Cardwell 407.

Collegiate 4-H will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 207.

MONDAY, MARCH 2

Southwind will be selling environmental T-shirts and raffle tickets on the first floor of the Union.

Faculty Senate elections are underway. Primary ballots, which will be sent via campus mail, should be returned to the location designated on the ballot by Monday, March 9.

Business Council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 208.

French Table will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1. The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers will meet at 4:30 o.m. in Durland 173. The program topic will be the Student Professional Awareness Conference

Society for Collegiate Journalists will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Union 213. The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Stephanie Greene at 10 a.m. in Throckmorton 124. Career Planning and Placement Center will have a resume critique session from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in Holtz 107B. KSU Marketing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 212.

Chimes will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207. This will be the first meeting for new members and the last meeting for old members.

Engineering Student Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Durland 152.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207.

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Southwind will be selling environmental T-shirts and raffle tickets on the first floor of the Union.

WEATHER

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Hispanic Awareness Month Planning Committee will meet at 12:30

TODAY'S FORECAST

Warmer with a high around 70. Northwest wind 15 to 25 mph. Friday night, fair with a low around 40.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

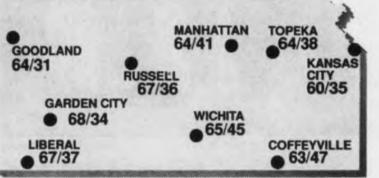

Continued warm with a high in the mid- to upper 60s. Saturday night, fair with a low around 40.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Dry Sunday and Monday. A chance for showers on Tuesday. Highs in mid- to upper 60s Sunday and Monday, and in lower to mid-60s Tuesday. Lows in upper 30s and 40s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Kiev	39/28	clear
Barbados	84/73	clear	Rome	61/41	cloudy
Bermuda	72/70	clear	Toronto	32/30	cloudy
Corpus Christi	75/45	clear	Warsaw	48/27	clear

Now Open at 304 Poyntz! We're ready to serve your Spring Break needs: Skiing Camping

Traveling

OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS

Open Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Thur. 9-8, Sat. 9-5

304 Poyntz

Backpacking

Downtown, Manhattan

The NAMES Project

AIDS Memorial Quilt

DISPLAY

AHEARN FIELDHOUSE

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

FRI - FEB 28 -- 10 am - 8 pm

OPENING CEREMONY - 10 am

SAT - FEB 29 -- 10 am - 8 pm

SUN - MAR 1 -- 12:00 - 4 pm

CLOSING CEREMONY - 3:30 pm

FREE ADMISSION -- EVERYONE WELCOME

Sponsored by

KSU and Manhattan Communities

539-5639

Bicycling

Bobby T's 3240 Kimball Ave. Candlewood Shopping Center 539-1571

Mon.-Sat. 9:30 AM to 5:30 PM

Thur, evening 'til 8:00 PM Sunday 1-5 PM

5th Birthday Party

Friday, Feb. 28th Lots of food and drink specials. All you can eat buffet

$2.50 Great music - lots of Prizes Come celebrate with us!

SPRING BREAK AT THE LOFT

Our Lower Total Price Includes a FREE 10 × 13

Our Entire Portrait Package is Just $21.95

You get our best poses in the advertised puckage. We NEVER bold back the better pictures to sell at a higher price.

Your 3 Pose Package Includes 2 . 8 × 10s 3 - 5 × 7s 12 Billfolds AND a FREE 10 × 13

Saturday, February 29th 10 A.M. to 5 P.M & Sunday, March 1st 11 A.M. to 5 P.M.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or your deposit refunded.

No age limit • No Quantity Limit • No Extra Charge for Groups es Welcome

Infants to adults

Low-priced reorders available by

Double Exposure and Black Background at No Extra Charge

3007 Anderson Ave. Manhattan, Kansas

Foot patrol

Riley County Police Officer Gary Hannes pushes an incapacitated Ford Maverick, owned by Jeffrey Smith, Manhattan, out of the east-bound traffic lane Thursday on Highway 24 east of Manhattan. Smith's car was hit by another car while he was stopped with a line of cars waiting for a road obstruction to be cleared. Neither driver was injured.

Students make most of rare occasion

Leap year birthdays few and far between, call for special celebration

LISA TINNIN

Counting by birthdays, Dustin Zander is a 5-year-old sophomore in civil engineering.

Zander was born in a leap year on Feb. 29, and though some of his friends may tease him and say he is only 5 years old, he said he thinks it's nothing out of the ordinary.

"I am as old as everyone else, I just have not had as many birthdays," he said. "It is really no big deal. I never knew anything different."

Zander said that on years other than leap year, he celebrates either on Feb. 28 or March 1 — whenever it is convenient.

"Usually, it depends on which day is closer to the weekend," he said.

"This year, I expect to celebrate plenty. It only comes once every four years, and you want to do a little bit extra for it."

Lori Williams, senior in psychology, was also born on Feb. 29, 24 years ago.

Williams said before she was born, people would tell her parents how sorry they were. "They thought it was such a terrible thing to be born on the 29th, because I would not have a birthday," she said.

"My mom made my birthdays special. When I was growing up, I would have two birthday parties. She would gather all my friends and go somewhere on the 28th, and then do it all over again on March 1.

"Each morning when I woke up, I got two sets of presents. It was great." Having the tradition of two birthdays started when she was in kinder-

"I got really upset when my teacher had the class put our names on our birthday up on the bulletin board, and I could not find my birthday," she garten, Williams said.

"All the kids teased me really bad, because I did not have a birthday." Williams said she went home and

"When my mom asked me what was wrong, I told her and she said, Oh, no - look, you have two birthdays," Williams said. "That is where the tradition of having one on the 28th and the other on March 1 started."

"So really it was my mom who made my birthdays a lot of fun. My friends also had a really good time with it, too. They were excited to get to go out and do stuff."

Leona Armstrong, senior in elementary education, will be 24 Feb.

"I like having my birthday on leap year. It is fun and different," she said.

Armstrong said the first thing she remembers about her birthday being on leap year is her older brother telling her she did not have a birthday.

Avanti's restaurant to close Saturday

KRISTEN TURNER

Avanti's restaurant will serve its last customers Saturday. The business plans to close its doors.

Avanti's Chef Gary Wallace said the closing of Avanti's is not due to economic problems, but rather the decision on the part of the building owners not to renew the restaurant's contract.

Manhattan's Steel and Pipe Supply Co. owns Colony Square, 555 Poyntz Ave., where Avanti's is located.

"Avanti's was a viable operation. It was just hitting its stride. The timing could not have been worse as far as popularity and profitability," Wallace said.

Dennis Mullen, executive officer of Steel and Pipe, said Avanti's is closing because Steel and Pipe is moving its executive offices and needs the space.

Mullen would not comment any

Wallace said the owners were advised they needed to open new executive facilities.

Since the company already owned Colony Square, it made economic sense to not renew Avanti's contract instead of constructing a completely new building to house the facilities, Wallace said.

Wallace said the owner, John Heritage, said he is committed to finding a new location for Avanti's and has had a meeting with an individual concerning an unoccupied space in Manhat-

Some Avanti's employees do not share Heritage's optimism.

"I don't think they will relocate, and I think it's sad, because Avanti's was something that Manhattan needed desperately," said Stephanie LaBerge, waitress.

"I've already started finding places to apply for a new job."

Max Divine, bar manager, said he is also pessimistic about Avanti's relocating, but due to the caliber of the restaurant, people would not be afraid to hire former Avanti's employees.

Another employee said she was disturbed by the rumors she heard floating around.

"I've heard that Harry's Uptown put us under and all kinds of other not true," said Amy Bricker, dining room manager.

> Westview Community Church

Worship Services 8 a.m. - 10:30 a.m.

Sunday School 9:30 a.m.

Sunday Evening Service

6 p.m.

(1, 3, 5 Sunday of month)

Care Cells

6 p.m. (2, 4 Sunday of month)

College Program

Handicap Accessible

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

537-7173

Worship 8:30 & 11 a.m. Sunday School

9:40 a.m.

(for all ages)

10th & Poyntz 537-8532

FIRST UNITED

FIRST

LUTHERAN

CHURCH

McClaskey may spend break in Washington, D.C. ANDY WOODWARD

Some students go to Florida for spring break. Others go to Texas.

If Student Senate approves it, Student Body President Jackie McClaskey and ASK Campus Director Sean Cash will spend their spring break in Washington, D.C., lobbying for K-State.

The first reading of the resolution approving funds for the two to represent K-State in the Capital was discussed for at least two hours.

Kansas Republican Sens. Bob Dole and Nancy Kassebaum, and Democratic Rep. Jim Slattery, to ask for support for improvements at K-State.

McClaskey emphasized the importance of a K-State envoy in Washing-

"What it comes down to is, whenever you mention K-State to any legislator, they think Farrell Library,' she said.

McClaskey went on to say other If approved, the two will speak to high-profile concerns include the expansion of Throckmorton Hall and an increase in financial aid.

> A proposal to increase the K-State Union fee was approved for final voting at the next Senate meeting. The resolution would increase the fee $5 for full-time students, and $2.50 for part-time students.

ment at the beginning of each semes- in the Union, and possible retribution

Jack Sills, director of the Union, attended the meeting to justify the increase to Senate and answer ques-

Among other topics, senators asked about the higher price of chicken in the Union compared to the price of a chicken at Food Barn, the ashtrays in The fee, currently $22 for full- front of the Union, called "eyesores" time students, is paid during fee pay- by one senator, the future of smoking from the administration if this increase was not approved. The resolution will be voted on at the next meet-

Three other resolutions were approved for final voting at the next meeting. Eight new officers for McClaskey's cabinet were established, including SGA treasurer, athleuc and fine arts haisons, a campus safety director and three new special projects directors.

Environmental Gardening

- · Visit with local experts about environmentally sound gardening.
- View our exhibits and demonstrations.
- Exhibits displayed through March 8.

Riley County Master Gardeners 9-5 Saturday, February 29.

K-Hill Engine Service Mulching Mowers, Wood Chippers Through March 8.

We have a good thing growing for you!

776-5764

2 ml. east of Manhattan on U.S. 24 Monday-Saturday 9-6 Sunday 12-6

CLUB SOHO The Nightclub

DANCE PARTY FRIDAY & SATURDAY NIGHT

Dance & Romance Lowenbrau now on tap

Music...THE BEST Relaxed Atmosphere

Open at 8 p.m. Proper Attire, Jeans Allowed

18 to Enter 710 N Manhattan, Aggieville 776-30H0 (7646)

Church Directory

COLLEGE CLASS 9:30 a.m. WORSHIP 10:30 a.m. CHINESE WORSHIP 3 p.m. EVENING WORSHIP 6:30 p.m. 4761 Tuttle Creek Blvd. (3 miles N. of Kimball)

776-3798

Christian Science Church 511 Westview Drive 10 a.m. Morning Service

10 a.m. Sunday School Wednesday 7:30 p.m. Testimony Meeting Reading Room-105 N. 4th

ST. LUKE

LUTHERAN CHURCH

(LCMS)

Lutheran Student Fellowship

(LSF)

Campus Pastor,

Rev. Frederick V. Smith

Bible Class Sunday.....9:30 a.m.

Worship Service......10:45 a.m.

Lutheran Campus Ministry invites you . . .

Worship, Sunday 11 a.m. Danforth Chapel (campus, behind McCain) 539-4451 1021 Denison

LUTHERAN CAMPUS Carring for the Fotone

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH

Morning Worship 8:30 & 10:45 Collegiate Bible Study Sun. 9:30 a.m. International Bible Studies

Sunday Evening Fellowship or Caring Cells 6 p.m. Family Night Wed. 7 p.m. Students Welcome!

2901 Dickens 776-0424 St. Isidore's

Catholic Student Center Masses: Set. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30, 11 a.m. & 5 p.m.

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship Service & Sunday School 10:45 a.m. An old church with a liberal tradition and open-mindedness about religious belief. For more information call 539-9369 or 537-2349. 481 Zeandale Rd. (Hwy. 18) and left off Hwy. 177 S. of viaduct

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH Worship 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. Disciples of Christ Handican Accessible 115 Courthouse Plaza

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m.

Pastor: Harris Waltner 539-4079

METHODIST CHURCH 8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month)

9:45 a.m. Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services John D. Stoneking, Pastor 776-8821 612 Poyntz

PEACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

Worship 8:30 a.m. & 10:45 a.m. 2500 Kimball

Kansas presidential primary — April 7

Democratic National Convention — July 13-16, New York City Republican National Convention - Aug. 17-20, Houston

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

Shorter primary season would benefit voters

Many people wonder why President Bush is not working to rejuvenate the economy faster. Perhaps he is spending all of his time and energy trying to get re-elected.

It's nothing unique to Bush. It happens every time any president seeks another term.

The president's daily decisions are not based on what's good for the country, but rather what will get him four more years in the Oval Office.

Case in point: the Persian Gulf War garnered Bush his highest public-opinion ratings, which have since plummeted. This leads some skeptics to believe we will see Operation Desert Storm II, or some other military action before election day rolls around to push up the ratings once again.

By shortening the campaign season a few months, we could reduce the wasted time and potentially misguided

The campaigning for this year's election began when former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas declared his candidacy April 30, 1991.

Then there's the first caucus in Iowa Feb. 17 and the first primary in New Hampshire Feb. 25. The festivities continue with Super Tuesday March 10; Kansas' primary April 7; all the way to July 13 and Aug. 17; the Democratic and Republican national conventions, respectively.

Opponents may say we need all this time to get to know the candidates better.

But as anyone who has followed the candidates will attest, each debate or sound bite is the same old campaign rhetoric, different day.

The candidates have their position papers, campaign speeches and canned answers to possible questions memorized. A lengthy campaign does not further enlighten us, it merely repeats the number of times we get to hear the same campaign promises.

A shorter, more meaningful campaign will also mean the candidates won't have to raise so much money. This, in turn, means less catering to the rich and powerful, and more money that could be donated to worthy causes.

Voters need to research the candidates themselves by requesting information be sent to them, talking to others and reading unbiased news stories in reputable publications.

Selecting the best candidate might take a little more effort on the part of voters, but it is worth it if we can get this country turned around.

It's certainly better than watching the same commercials for months on end and listening to a leader who isn't looking past November.

Violence in schools must be governmental priority

It's a sad statement about our society when our children are packing guns and toting knives to school.

Just Tuesday, in a small town in North Carolina, a 16year-old walked into a chemistry class and stabbed his 14year-old ex-girlfriend to death as 25 eighth-graders watched.

Wednesday, in Brooklyn, N.Y., a 15-year-old shot and allegedly killed two other students less than an hour before New York City Mayor David Dinkins was scheduled to speak there about violence in the schools.

Unfortunately, these are not isolated incidents. It happens all the time.

Concern for weapon control in elementary and high schools has become a popular topic among educators. And rarely does a day go by when a child isn't killed or seriously hurt by another child, often on school grounds.

It's hard to blame someone. It's even harder to think of a solution.

You can't blame the kids for being brought up in an environment where they think they need to have a weapon to protect themselves. In TV interviews they say things like, "Everybody has one. You've got to protect yourself somehow.'

These killers and victims are someone's children. Parents need to realize what they do is what their children will do. A father who beats his wife and packs a pistol on beer runs might raise a boy who would stab his

Much of the blame lies with the parents, but blaming the parents is as futile as blaming the kids.

There is no quick solution, because this goes back to the violent nature of our society, which goes back to our problems with the economy, drugs, the breakdown of the family unit and about a million other things.

There must be leadership from the federal government to protect our children from all these problems they had nothing to do with. Our youth should not have to suffer so much from the mistakes of other generations.

The federal government is charged with maintaining the welfare of the people. They obviously aren't living up to that mandate and must stop talking problems and start talking solutions.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hali 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Gollegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Of Presidents and Alcoholic Beverages

X SERVED ONLY

L iles of puke and dead gophers.

Is this what my world has come to? After hour upon hour in college classrooms, are these the only things I can think of?

I'm afraid the answer is "yes.

You see, I haven't always been a columnist. It's hard to believe, but only six months ago I was driving a dead animal truck down the back roads of Reno The summers were the worst. Humidity mixed the stench of death with the loose dirt on the road, and it nearly choked me. Drinking a beer with the highschoolers on Friday nights was the only thing I looked forward to.

But I always had my Bachman-Turner Overdrive

Now, though, I'm in college, and there's a lot more to discuss. This campus, like this country, is an everchanging environment. Sometimes the stench here is worse than what I smelled in the cab of that old Ford.

Take the presidential race, for example. As much as we like to think, we never really get a great president. We get the best of the worst. After primaries roll around, we're about as picky with future presidents as we are with women after 2 a.m. in Aggieville.

One thing I can tell you, though, is don't vote for George Bush. But I'm not telling you to vote Democrat they've got less brains than I crap in the morning.

No, I've got a personal grudge against George. One evening after work, I was sitting down to eat my dinner when George's face popped up on the screen. It killed my favorite episode of "Who's the Boss?" You know, the one where Sam comes back from college?

Man, I was pissed. Anyway, I went to the kitchen, took my turkey pot pies out of the oven and started flipping channels.

George was on every one (I didn't have cable). What was even worse was that it was the same camera angle. PBS was free, but I didn't want to watch "Wild Kingdom."

He bored the hell out of me, like usual, talking about stuff like the economy. After a while, though, I was hypnotized.

George was waving a bag of crack cocaine across my screen.

I damn near spit my food out. 'This crack cocaine was bought only blocks from the White House,"

"GODDAMN!" I said. He had a mondo bag. I mean, he could've shaved that rock for weeks and never seen the end of it. He picked it up and held it to the screen.

And I'm thinking, "Man, our economy's going to hell, we might go to war in the Middle East, and this guy's hitting the crack pipe.

Then just as soon as he invaded my living room, the sneaky bastard disappeared and took that bag with him. And although tax money paid for it, he probably went to bogart it all by himself.

Don't vote for George Bush. He's a no-good ut he's not the only one partying it up at

I'm not a big sports fan, but I am an amateur social scientist. Each day, I try to learn a little more

Last Saturday at the KU game, I learned quite a bit. It freaked me out. Fans were calling the refs "faggots," and I saw a KU player bleeding after he got hit with something thrown from the crowd.

'Damn," I thought. "These people could use some

But you can't drink in Bramlage Coliseum. Although students pay high prices for season tickets to show their spirit, they have no choice in whether they can drink there or not.

And what's more American than drinking a brew while you watch a ballgame?

Easy - bureaucracy. It's the red tape passed by older legislators to change the legal drinking age after they were well past it. It's the investment of student money in a non-alcoholic bar doomed to failure.

And it's the hypocrisy that while students aren't allowed to drink at Bramlage, bigwigs with the University have their own special drinking room there.

Appropriately enough, it's called the Legends Room. It has its own bar and a great view of the football field. And cable television.

BRAMLAGE LEGENDS' ROOM Saturday marks our next game here at K-State. Like usual, I expect to see students drinking cans of beer in the parking lot and trying to hide them in their jackets as they wait in line on the concrete. Meanwhile, the dudes in the suits will be chilling out on > the couches in the Legends Room, mixing their first drinks of the day. Somehow, I can picture George landing Air Force One in the parking lot and going up for a few drinks.

I wonder if he's going to bring that bag with him.

things concerning me today. The first: I have a cold. The second: The AIDS Quilt is here this weekend.

About four months ago, I took my first HIV test. I did it partly because a friend of mine, who (for all you nosey folks out there) happens to be gay, told me that someone should go do a story about taking an AIDS test, and I thought it was a great idea.

The other reason was even though I'd grown up in those Reagan years when AIDS was something only homosexuals and dope addicts contracted, I always wondered. I mean, hell, my sex life's nothing to brag about in the locker room, but there's always that chance. I think you know what I

But anyway, I went. I'd planned on just going to Lafene Health Center until I found out HIV tests weren't done anonymously there, and I'd read in Spin that unanonymous HIV-test results were kept in a warehouse in Lenexa where insurance companies could find out about them and refuse you insurance. It sounds rather dubious, almost Nixon-esque, but you can't be too careful about who you give your blood to nowadays.

I went to the Riley County Health Department, and they said they could do it for no cost, and they didn't even ask who I was. Actually, they almost forgot who I was, because the receptionist who wrote down, "Brown-haired guy in jean jacket needs HIV test" went to lunch and the other receptionists got me confused with another brown-haired guy in a jean jacket who was waiting for his wife to come back and tell him whether she was pregnant.

There was a bunch of children running all around the waiting area, and I remembered a poem a friend wrote once that talked about having AIDS and being afraid to touch his niece. He must have known what

Anyway, a nurse took me back and sat me down and asked, very politely, why I wanted an AIDS test, what the chances were of me having AIDS, when my last sexual contact was and other things. After filling out the form, she tied a rubber hose around my upper arm and told me to look away if I didn't like needles. I watched her pull out a tube full of blood and put it into a packet to be sent somewhere to be tested. She handed me a little blue sheet of paper with my assigned, random number on it and said to come back in about 10 days. She left the room. hich reminds me. About two years ago as a reporting student, I wrote a story in the Collegian about a fella who was HIV-positive. I'd give anything if I could remember his name.

I met him through a friend who worked at Lafene who has since moved on. We agreed to meet at the old Kitchens Plus and have a soda and talk about what I wanted to do with the story and whatnot.

When I walked in the door, I wasn't sure who to look for because I forgot to ask what he looked like. Luckily, our mutual friend had come along. I remember thinking how I wasn't going to be afraid to shake his hand.

He wasn't a student. He was from Junction City, which was a little disappointing to me. I wanted to do the story on a student with AIDS, and I asked him if he knew any. He looked up in the air, thinking in his head, counting the ones he knew on his fingers. One, two, three, four, five, six.

"No," he finally said. "None that would talk.'

In the end, I did the story on him, and I never heard from him again. Probably the two toughest questions I ever asked were in that interview. The first was, "Are you

He said yes. The second was, "Are you afraid to die?"

He said yes.

Not to steal anything from Steffany Carrel, but I hope you all go see the AIDS quilt this weekend. It's not a party. In fact, it's rather sobering. I hope to find time to go there myself if my cold gets better.

And for all you nosey folks, my test came back negative.

LETTERS KU PLAYERS PROVOKED FANS

Editor, This letter is in response to Rex Walter's comments in the Feb. 24 edition of the Collegian. Walters, the starting guard for the University of Kansas, was quoted as saying about the crowd, "I don't think they're the classiest bunch. I think they have a total lack of respect." This was in response to the icethrowing incident at the end of Saturday's game. I admit the students who threw the ice were totally wrong in their actions. Under no circumstances should the students throw any sort of objects onto the court. It makes the entire University look bad. However, the students' response was brought on mostly by the actions of two KU players, namely Richard Scott and Rex Walters.

I happened to be an usher at Saturday's game, and I had the honor to be standing beside Scott as he stood no more than five feet from the student section, taunting the student body. As Scott stood there pointing his fingers at the crowd and saying various things about K-State, his fellow teammate, Walters, came over to join in the fun. I can also say the majority of the ice was thrown after Scott and Walters began their taunting of our students. Now, why didn't Walters mention how immature he and his teammates actions were?

Both the students and the KU players were wrong in their actions after Saturday's game. However, it is unfortunate that only the actions of the K-State students is being reported in the media. I am here to state that the KU players' actions were just as wrong as the actions of the students who threw the ice. Now, why don't we report the actions of the KU players not only to the students of K-State, but also to the entire state of Kansas?

Grant Janke Sophomore in business administration

▶ COLLEGIAN WRECK COVERAGE HELPFUL

Editor,

I would like to comment on the response from the residents of Marlatt Hall fourth floor, C-wing about the wreck coverage by the Collegian on Feb. 24. In fact, I would like to address this letter to them as well.

As one of those people who rides a motorcycle, I would think the individuals at Marlatt would appreciate and understand the opportunity that has been presented to them. Yes, I sympathize with those Marlatt residents because one of their friends has been hurt, but let's look at this on a much broader

First of all, does Mr. Mauldin own a motorcycle helmet? If he does, was it being properly used at the time of the accident? Don't get me wrong, I am against motorcycle helmet laws, because I think riders should have the ability to choose what they want. But on the other hand, I believe that if you take the chance to ride without a helmet, you should also accept the responsibility for your actions.

Second, in expressing your anger of the Collegian's coverage, I trust that you all have had an opportunity to drive a motorcycle and have found out first-hand how dangerous they can be. From the view of the on-looker, one could say that the driver of the car was at fault, and that is that. But, in reality, the motorcyclist is always the one who is going to get hurt in case of a severe accident. It is up to the cyclist to be aware of his/her surroundings and to look out for his/her own safety. I have found in my years of riding that car drivers cannot (or will not) look out for motorcycles and that I have invariably had to be the one on the constant defense. Third, you might be shocked by what was printed, but now that the public can see the result of carelessness, maybe people will drive with a little more attention and consideration from now on. In fact, by seeing the consequences of this motorcycle accident, everyone should be aware of how "human" of a world we live in. It is hazardous to ride a motorcycle, and to neglect this fact is very foolish. Perhaps now, instead of driving blindly or like a bat out of hell, all motorists will take the time to remember this terrible tragedy and learn from it.

You know, that article might take the place of seeing a motorcycle crash in person, but you say it is, "a sight too horrible to see once." If you believe this to be absolutely true, then why do senseless motorcycle accidents keep happening day after day? In defense of most people who drive motorcycles, I don't think "simple text" will do the job anymore.

Frank Sereno ophomore in business administration

Applebee's to open April 6

KRISTEN TURNER

A new restaurant will open April 6 in Manhattan Town Center.

Chris Heavey, Manhattan Town Center manager, said the mall is excited about the new Applebee's.

"We've been trying to get an exterior restaurant for the past three years. Applebee's will be a wonderful addition to the mall," he said.

The new Applebee's restaurant will be next to Kay-Bee Toys and will face the Burger King across from the mall.

The restaurant will have its own exterior entrance and will not be accessible from inside the mall.

Heavey said though he hasn't heard from Applebee's management, he thought the restaurant would be hiring local residents in the near future.

"They will notify us when and how they will be taking applications, and we will assist them in any way possible," he said.

Jim Wright, manager of Carlos O'Kelley's in the mall, said the opening of Applebee's will affect business, but he said he doesn't predict

March 1, 1992 Admission Holiday Inn Holidome

Craig Peters

Monday and Tuesday March 2 & 3 9 p.m. Private Club Memberships Available 18 to Enter 21 to Drink 1119 Moro

CLAFLIN

Books & Copies

featuring books by Convocation Lecturer Maxine Hong Kingston

1814 Claflin 776-3771

'Cat' impressive; Williams' original ending used

Setting perfect for quality acting. great performance in Nichols Hall

TONIGHT

Live music with:

As We Speak

9:30 p.m.

$1 Kamis

SATURDAY

Open at Noon

Watch Cats vs. Mizzou on Big Screen $1 CAT SHOTS

Sand Volleyball All Day

Relax, it is Friday, bring the kids out for Family Night at the Plum Tree Restaurant. Every Friday 2 kids eat free with the purchase of an adult entree. After the children clean their plate we'll give them cupcakes and

HEATHER ANDERSON

KSU Theater's performance of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" is good - but don't expect "Up with People."

Those familiar with the Tennessee Williams play are accustomed to the adapted ending, where Maggie and Brick resolve their dysfunctional relationship, at least for the time being.

However, Director Lew Shelton chose to have the players perform the ending Williams originally wrote.

Seeing the ending rather than reading about it is strongly recommended. The play will complete its run at 8 tonight and Saturday night in Nichols Ayne Steinkuehler does a remarkable job as Maggie.

My only previous exposure to Steinkuehler's acting was when she played the anal-rententive researcher in "Flowers for Algernon," so I was genuinely impressed with her range

As before, her draw from the crowd is her wonderful facial expressions. Steinkuehler also communicates well without dialogue.

Equally impressive was Scooter Nelson's interpretation of Brick. Not only does he bare a great resemblance to the mental image of Brick, but he plays an excellent silent type.

The only flaw in his performance,

1120 Moro

executed acting, my eyes kept wandering to his feet.

David-Michael Allen as Big Daddy is also impressive.

It is often difficult to overcome excessive make-up to make a college student look old, but Allen passed with flying colors. His stirring fatherson conversations with Brick are especially worth noting.

The supporting cast members are as entertaining as the lead characters are dramatic.

Big Mama is a personal favorite.

however, was the presence of his 1990s ankle bracelet. Despite the wellfrom the way she walks to the way she cries into her hanky - is impec-

Also a crowd favorite is Corey Hayes's interpretation of the Rev. Tooker.

Hayes is a true ham, keeping the audience always anticipating his comic antics, even when lead characters are involved in dramatic angst.

Mae (Laura Camien) was also entertaining. The chemistry between her and Maggie reminds me of some of the women I grew up around at SunMaggie may be nicknamed the cat, but Mae does her fair share, too. The success of Big Mama and Mae couldn't have been as great without the costume staff. Both were dressed in a way different from the film versions, yet were equally as convincing.

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" is well worth seeing, not only because of the quality acting and alternate ending, but because the intimate, inviting setting of Nichols.

WHEN ONLY THE BEST DENTISTRY WILL DO ...

- PERSONALIZED
- PROFESSIONAL PRACTICAL
- PROMPT

Now Serving the State of Kansas Traditional-Prudential Dental Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient. Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A. 514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA DOWNTOWN, MANHATTAN

537-9414

Boone's or Bust Stock up for Break Boone's Farm Wine

ALL 7 FLAVORS 1 for $1.99 2 for $1.75 ea.

3 or more-

Only at $1.50 each /

12th & Laramie Aggieville

776-4263

SPRING BREAK SPECIAL for you and a friend

First Service Full Price, Second Service of Equal value or less, 1/2 Price with this ad.

SCULPTURED NAILS MANICURES

PEDICURES FRENCH MANICURES

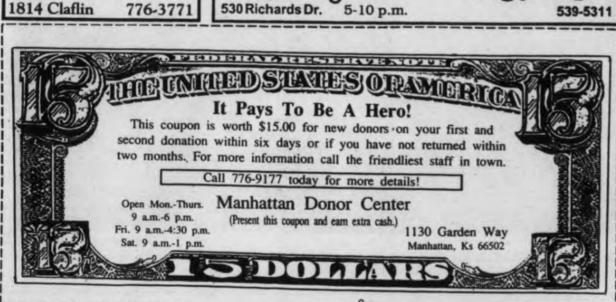

In Aggiewille

MON-THURS 10-7 FRI 9-6 SAT 9-4

LIQUOR

balloons.

Holiday Inn

19 to Enter

"THIS IS THE WAY WE'RE DOIN' ER."

How does a nutritious sandwich made with fresh cooked choice meats or a homemade fish sandwich sound? Howdy's offers homemade soup and sandwiches plus quick friendly service. Most meals run under $5 including tax & drink. Give ol' Howdy's a try!

Open for lunch only, 11-2, Mon.-Fri. Located in the Wareham Hotel next to Harry's Uptown. 418 Poyntz

WESTLOOP

2931 CLAFLIN

539-7447

Howdy's at Harry's

Buy One-Get-One Free Buy one sandwich at regular price and get a 2nd one free.*

("Second one of equal or lesser value) (Expires March 30, 1992, 418 Poyntz) 1 coupon per customer

IT'S WAR!

Be a part of the action and excitement with your Kansas Civil War 1992 collectors mug, available exclusively from Pizza Hut®

O1992 Pizza Hut, Inc. Limited time offer while supplies last. Not valid with any other offer.

KU vs. K-STATE, 1992. There's nothing civil about it.

COLLECTORS MUGS ARE $1.00 EACH OR $1.75 FILLED WITH YOUR FAVORITE BEVERAGE

• AGGIEVILLE 1121 MORO 539-7666 PARTY/MEET ROOM - CALL FOR RESERVATIONS

•3rd & MORO 231 MORO 776-4334

4. UCLA (21-3) lost to No. 13 Southern Cal 83-79. Next: at Washington State, Thursday.

5. Arizona (21-4) beat Oregon 104-56. Next: at Oregon State,

7. UNLV (25-2) beat Fresno State 84-67. Next: vs. Utah State, 10. North Carolina (18-6) lost to No. 22 Florida State 110-96. Next: at Maryland, Sunday.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

INDOOR TRACK

Capriotti optimistic heading into Big Eight Championships

Both teams expected to finish in top 3 this weekend at KU's Anschutz Sports Pavillion

FRANK KLEEMANN

With the Big Eight Indoor Track and Field Championships today and Saturday at Lawrence, the first peak of the season is coming up for K-State athletes.

Head track coach John Capriotti said he is looking forward to a successful meet at the Anschutz Sports Pavillion, but he said some injuries will prevent the team from the placing any higher than second or third.

'On the men's side, it's a toss-up between Iowa State and Nebraska for first,'

"The third, fourth, fifth and sixth places are all between KU, Oklahoma, Colorado and us. It could be a 5 or 10-point meet in either way for the teams. There's a lot balance between these teams."

Capriotti said he is sure everyone will compete well - the problem is the team just doesn't have enough people.

How the team's effort will turn out individual depends on several performances, Capriotti said.

"R.D. Cogswell in the high jump is a factor for the team," he said.

Assistant coach Cliff Rovelto agreed. "R.D. looks best he ever has looked in practice," Rovelto said. Sprinters Thomas Randolph and Gerald Benton in the 55-meter and 200-meter will hopefully pick some points up as well, Capriotti said. One of the top athletes who has injury problems is Dante McGrew, who enters in the competition with the third best mark in the conference in the triple jump.

"Dante has a very sore ankle," Rovelto said. "If he can make four or five jumps, that should be OK to get some points."

Capriotti said it is pivotal the middledistance runners have a good day as well.

"Anthony Williams, Jared Storm and Randy Helling - those guys have to compete well because they have the chance to score high in the mile, 800- and 1,000meter runs," Capriotti said.

It is also important for the team to pick up some points in the long sprint distances and in the relays.

On the women's side, the situation looks a little more inviting.

Still, K-State is not as deep as last year when the women challenged powerhouse Nebraska before falling just 16.5 points shy of the title.

"The second place will be between Oklahoma and us," Capriotti said.

"Right now, I'd say Oklahoma's women are a little bit stronger. I think we need a good meet to beat them for second. But we have a rally good balance in our team."

The team has several key athletes who will compete for first place.

"Markeya Jones in 200-meter is a real quality runner," Capriotti said. "We've got Debra Malone in 600-yard and Verida Walters in the hurdles. She has a pretty good chance to finish in the top two.'

In the middle distances, the team is thin, but has two excellent runners with Lesley Wells in 800-meter and Paulette Staats in the 1,000-meter, Capriotti said.

"In the distance events, we have a good crew," Capriotti said. "The problem is the distance events are very good in the Big Eight. You have five or six real good girls in the conference. That's what cuts us up a little bit.

"Janet Treiber, Jennifer Hillier and Jeanene Rugan are really important for us in the 5,000- and 3,000-meter races."

The women are represented strongly in the field events as well.

In the shot put, Christy Ward and Shannon Flanagan set personal records at last weekend's meet. Ward is the Big Eight's leader in the shot put.

In the high jump, K-State has two athletes who could both win the event -Gwen Wentland and Connie Teaberry.

"At that level, big things can happen," Rovelto said.

"High jump will definitely be a highlevel competition. Connie had a very good practice week."

Wentland enters the event with the mark of the conference, but has some problems with her right foot.

Kathy Janicke and Dee Dee Tribue will compete in the long jump. Rovelto said Janicke improved a lot throughout the year.

Tribue could really help the team out, Capriotti said.

Fatal fifth dooms Cats, Shockers roll, 10-2

Back-to-back homers fuel 6-run Wichita State inning

DAVID SVOBODA

It was not, it could safely be said, a perfect Thursday night.

The home team scored two runs in the first, only to see the visitors score 10 runs in the game's final

There were 11 total errors committed, including six by the

And the home team's starting pitcher, cruising along with early momentum, cut his throwing hand on a piece of loose metal on the top of a newly-roofed dugout and required four stitches.

1 Wichita State 10, K-State

Bummer night for the guys in

"They're just a great ballclub," K-State coach Mike Clark said after watching the Shockers, 4-0, pound out eight hits and take full advantage of the six errors his team aided by a poor Frank Myers Field infield surface — committed.

"They've got four Olympians, and they're tough.'

It was K-State, now 3-3, that looked toughest early on against the more-heralded visitors.

The Cats scored their pair of first-inning runs off of Wichita State starter and eventual winner Kennie Steenstra, 2-0.

Jamey Stellino got K-State going, leading off the inning with an infield single. Jay Kopriva then dumped an excuse-me, check swing, hit-and-run single over third. with Stellino streaking into third.

After a brief mound visit by Shocker pitching coach Brent Kemnitz, Steenstra wheeled toward Stellino at third and then back sandwiched around an error by Cat toward Kopriva at first, and caught Kopriva leaning and picked him

Nope, it wasn't a great night, not even in a good inning.

After Kopriva was retired, however, Craig Wilson got aboard after he was hit by a Steenstra pitch.

With Stellino holding on at third and Wilson now at first, Brian Culp ripped a run-scoring single to left, and was followed to the plate by Jeff Ryan, who dumped an RBI single of his own into rightfield.

Steenstra, however, was able to get Andy Williams to ground into a double play and avoid further

"The pickoff in the first was big," Clark admitted. "I think we could have broken out with a fourspot (four-run inning)."

K-State's failure to finish off Steenstra early turned out to be fatal, as the Wichita State ace - he was a perfect 17-0 in 1991 retired 14 of the final 19 batters he faced before giving way to Darren Dreifort, who got his second save.

"He was fortunate to get out of the first inning with only two runs." Shocker coach Gene Stephenson said of Steenstra.

"He got behind their hitters quite a few times early on, but pitched out of jams."

And while Steenstra and Dreifort were giving the Cat hitters fits, the Shocker bats were poised to come alive against K-State starter Tim Churchman, who had it in cruise control through four, allowing just two hits despite his hand injury.

The wheels came off the cart for Churchman in the fifth, with his wildness and one of the six K-State errors playing key roles.

loaded due to a pair of walks third baseman Scott McFall, Wichita State All-American Doug Mirabelli unloaded on a Churchman offering and sent it out of the park in the rightfield power alley, approximately 385 feet from home

The opposite field shot by Mirabelli, his first of the year, was the result of a bit of scouting he did in his initial two at-bats: a ground out to short and a solid double to the gap in left.

"After my first at bat, I knew he was throwing pretty hard," the Shocker catcher said. "He was throwing some sliders and not really throwing his fastball consistently.

'So, when I went up there in the fifth, I sat on his fastball."

Jason White did the same thing as the next batter following Mirabelli to the plate, depositing a Churchman offering some 405 feet from the plate over the fence in dead centerfield.

That was it for Churchman, who was lifted in favor of Brett Bock.

"Right now, this early in the season, you don't know when it's going to go or what's going to happen," Clark said of Churchman's failure to get through the fifth after starting strongly.

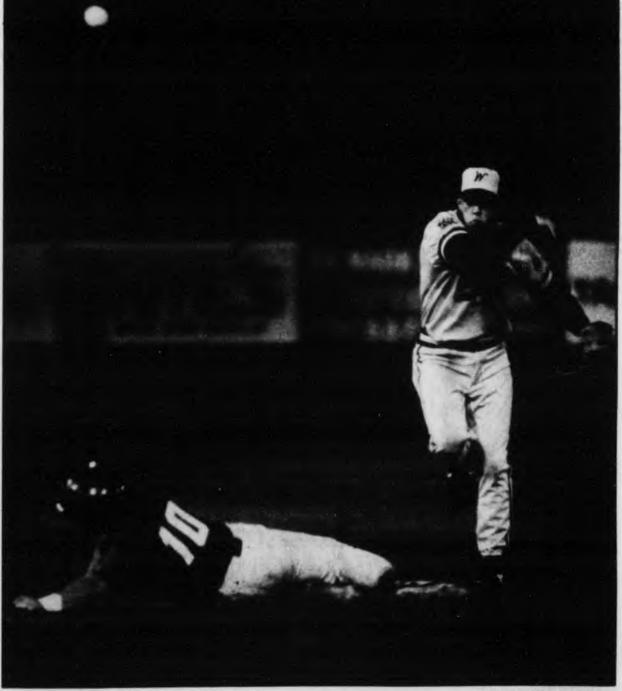

All-in-all, it wasn't a bad night, Clark said in retrospect.

"I look at it as a 6-2 game," he said. "If it weren't for the field, it would have looked much better."

Stephenson agreed.

"This is one of the worst fields we've ever played on," he said. "We were lucky we only committed five (errors). It could have been much worse.

"At least eight or nine of those With one out and the bases errors were due to the field conditions."

Wichita State second baseman Joey Jackson completes a double play in the bottom of the first inning of play Thursday night at Frank Myers Field. The Cats lost to first-ranked Wichita State 10-2.

CATS BASKETBALL

No. 9 Tigers coming to town; Cats

Cats will be knocking on post-season door with wins in last Big Eight games

DAVID SVOBODA

Time for another big game.

K-State, fresh off a 74-66 road win Wednesday at Colorado, returns to action Saturday with a 3 p.m. contest against Missouri in Bramlage Coliseum.

And for the Wildcats, 14-10 overall and 4-7 in the Big Eight, the tilt with the Tigers is just the latest in a series of must wins.

"They're all big at this point," K-State coach Dana Altman said. "We've just got to go out and play as well as we can play and see what we can get done."

Altman on Thursday reiterated his stance that six or seven league wins will be the key that unlocks the NCAA tourney door for any Big

That would mean K-State needs to win two of its final three games - if not all three - to be a likely NCAA tourney pick.

After Saturday's game with the Tigers, 20-4 and 8-3, K-State travels to Nebraska Wednesday and closes the season with a home tilt with Oklahoma State March 7.

Even if K-State doesn't get the two or three wins Altman said he believes will be necessary for an NCAA bid, he said there might just be a postseason prayer in these parts after all. "I think everybody in our league should be in a tournament (either the NCAA or the NIT)," he "You look at our power ratings and our non-conference records, and they speak for The Cats did a bit of talking against the Buffs on Wednesday, and in so doing, captured their first Big Eight road win of the year. Altman said he was encouraged by the team's play offensively during a stretch at mid-game. "The first 10 possessions of the second half were probably as solid as we've had all year," he

K-State hit seven of its first eight shots in the flurry against the Buffaloes, and will need similar luck Saturday against an aggressive and talented Tiger unit, Altman said.

"We don't match up very well with them, and Anthony Peeler presents big problems for anybody," Altman said of the Tiger leader.

The Tigers won the previous meeting between the schools this season by a 67-59 count Feb. 12 in Columbia, Mo.

In that contest, Peeler and Jamal Coleman each had 19 points as Mizzou rallied from a 50-48 second-half deficit.

The teams have had great success on their own courts in the series, with the Wildcats having won three of the last four in Manhattan. Mizzou grabbed the 1990-91 installment in Manhattan by a score of 84-75.

"Missouri-K-State games have always been really good ones," said Altman, who was on the bench as a Cat assistant in 1988 when the Tigers were the victim of a charged up K-State crew in the final game in Aheam Field House.

Altman was also there in 1989 when Tony Massop opened the Manhattan series between the two schools in Bramlage with a dramatic, buzzer-beating, tip-in of an errant shot.

The K-State coach said he hopes Saturday's game won't come down to late heroics. He said he's happy with his team's progress of late and would be happy if it continues got beat down pretty badly for a while," Altman said of his team's emotional state. "The feeling we've got now is a better feeling than we had at the start of January, that's for

"We went through a period there where we

Just three more regular season games will determine whether the Cats will have a tournament feeling.

CLUB SPORTS

Lacrosse hosts KC

The K-State lacrosse team will step onto the grass at Memorial Stadium Saturday with an 18-3 victory over Creighton already on the books. Brandon Aslin, however, said this weekend's game against Kansas City will be different. A lot different.

"Kansas City is a lot better team than Creighton," said Aslin, who paced the Wildcats with a career-high eight goals against Creighton. "I don't really like to play Kansas City." The squad from KC, which will stroll into Manhattan to face the 1-0 Wildcats Saturday afternoon, is riding a three-game winning streak against K-State.

And team captain Curt Thurman knows it will be a tough streak to break.

"They've always played us really tough," Thurman said. "They're an older team with a lot of experience."

Despite Saturday's offensive outburst, the team sees the play of the defensive unit as the key to beating Kansas City.

"If we can get on them and knock them down, kind of get them a little gun-shy," Thurman said, "that will help a lot." In fact, the defense, as well as the transition game, may be the burning. "If we play real strong defense, we can really turn the spark that gets the offense game our way," Aslin said. That is an area, though, that the team has been working on. "In practice, we've been working a lot on defense," said Erik Olson, midfielder. "The hustle will definitely be better this week.

"The middies and defensive guys are going to be pretty psyched up.

Track sports stand to lose most if budget plan holds

Capriotti says he just asks for his athletes to be treated fairly

PATRICK OBLEY

If the current plan to cut each athletic program's budget by 8 percent remains in place, John Capriotti's track program stands to lose up to half of its operating budget.

"Track would probably be hurt the most," said Jack Key, athletic department's chief financial officer. "He's actually got six sports and six Big Eight championships to budget for."

According Capriotti, recognition of the problem isn't

"There comes a time when talk isn't enough, and we're at that time," Capriotti

Capriotti said he fully supports the funding of the football and men's basketball programs, which according to Key, stand to lose the least.

'Men's basketball and football need to get what they need to be successful,' Capriotti said. "Give them what they need.

They're the two that help us out.
"But, with that said, I don't think a team that finishes last in the Big Eight, deserves to get preferential treatment," Capriotti said. "Over the last five years, track has been the most successful program at K-

Last year, K-State had seven sports finish in the top half of the league in their respective sports. One was women's basketball, and the other six were track

"Now we're getting hurt the most," Capriotti said. "There comes a time when you are going to have to make cuts. All I ask is that they be fair.

We have some sports that sleep two kids in a room and others that sleep four," Capriotti said. "Some sports drive out to events the night before and some drive out the same day.

Capriotti said he doesn't blame the current administration for the woes, or for the cutbacks. However he did question how the cuts were being decided.

"We have 12 Olympic sports, let's put that in perspective," Capriotti said. "You have 12 stocks. Some stocks are not doing as well. What do you do?

"You dump those stocks and keep the good ones. Why should we spend $80,000 to finish eighth when you can spend $40,000 and be first?" Capriotti said. "Why make us all average or poor?"

An option the athletic department has come up with is to allow the various departments to keep the money they have time. We used to get 40,000 out for every left over from this year to cushion the blow of next year's cuts.

Capriotti said there will be leftover money in his program since a couple athletes left school or the team, leaving their scholarships

"They've already promised me that money. Capriotti said. "I'm mad at myself because I haven't done enough to speak out for athletes when we're being screwed and other coaches have. other coaches behind.

haven't done shit for the conference. "This whole situation has made me who

But, Capriotti said, the first step out of the situation is increasing the success of football and men's basketball, even to the point of damaging other programs.

"I've been told as long as attendance at football games continues to increase, the budget will grow," Capriotti said. "But that isn't really realistic.

"We've been bad in football for a long game back when Lynn Dickey and Steve Grogan were quarterback and Vince Gibson was a coach," Capriotti said. "It took us 20 years, but we got rid of all of them. It's going to take several years of winning upon

"The next time they run up a tab at the bar, or spend a week at a convention, or hit the ball at the country club, I doubt they are thinking about what happens when we get up at 6 in the morning to drive to Lincoln for a meet that starts at the athletic department's concern for athletes winning to bring people back. Where does leave track and field? "All my kids are treated unfairly. Sure, all the coaches will say they care about their players, but really. "The next time they run up a tab at the bar, or spend a week at a convention, or hit the ball at the country club, I doubt they are thinking about what happens when we get up at 6 in the morning to drive to Lincoln for a meet that starts at

- John Capriotti, on

"I can't get (long distance runner) Janet Haskin her shoes because I don't have the money," Capriotti said. "There's a convention this week. Sure, I can gather up all my coaches and go to this convention for the entire week, but I ask myself, 'should I spend $2,000 for me and my staff or should I put that money into my operating budget.

"I have to watch money. We all do, and sure, there are places where I've wasted money. But I'd promote this school tomorrow.

"I like Kansas State University, but I don't think I'm being treated fairly," Capriotti said. "I understand there are other departments on campus feeling the same way, but I represent 75 athletes, and when they're treated unfairly, I am going to speak

Capriotti said he understands Athletic Director Milt Richards is trying to do his best with what he has.

"It wasn't Milt or Jack Key that accumulated the $5-million debt," Capriotti said. "They're sitting at the poker table with this horrible hand. Either they've got to be a good bluffer, or they've got to fold.

"But I think sometimes, we forget we're here for our students," Capriotti said. "Sure, we'll take this 8-percent cut, but all our coaches are still getting the same paychecks. Where's the money going to be taken from?

"It's the athletes who are suffering," Capriotti said. "The people we need to take care of the most are getting hit the worst.

"If an athlete is doing a good job, they should be taken care of, period."

COLUMN

And so it goes for K-State athletics

DAVID SVOBODA

ou've got to admire Jack Key for taking some bold, yet controversial initial steps to help make ends meet in these parts.

It's just too bad he may end up - and probably should end up - retracing a few of them.

new K-State assistant athletic director and chief financial officer has a tough job facing him: keeping the Wildcat athletic budget either balanced or in the black, while working to eliminate the department's And yet, at least an initial plan forwarded by Key - an across-the-board, 8-percent cut of the budgets of all programs - would appear to be a quick fix of sorts, rather than the diligent investigation and formulation truly needed here. When Key and athletic director Milt Richards announced the proposed 8-percent reduction in budgets, Olympic sports coaches let out a collective, yet quiet, roar. These coaches, if their programs saw this type of a cut, would be working on a high wire with one leg cut off and a blindfold firmly fixed around their collective head. And so, with the 8-percent trial balloon hovering overhead, at least one of those coaches cried out for help privately, and another has since done it publicly. Key has listened, admitting that "we've discovered that 8 percent is, quite frankly, going to devastate some of the Olympic sports. Maybe Key and Co. didn't know that going in. If they didn't, then they should be slapped on the hand for not having done their But, then again, maybe they did have a clue as to just where the fat was in the budget. And maybe they took this severe initial stance to allow each coach to haggle for some built-in breathing room. Let's hope that's what Key had in mind. Key has used words lately like "compromise" and "carry over."

Those words have been well-chosen and carefully crafted. He has also painted a rather bleak picture of the economic future faced by the

This, too, is probably wise. But while realizing that times will be tough and something must be done, it appears as if Key, who has been in Manhattan a short time and -like Richards - doesn't have a great handle yet on where the fat is on this animal, has fallen into a too-familiar budgetary trap. It's the old "cut everyone equally, and no one will complain" Well, my new friend, that just isn't true. Especially when things have been so fraught with inequity around here for so long. The rich have gotten richer, and the poor have stayed at or below poverty level here for far too long. Success by former basketball coach Lon Kruger and current football coach Bill Snyder has been rewarded with personal raises and budget increases.

Success for track and cross country coach John Capriotti, baseball coach Mike Clark and tennis coach Steve Bietau has been rewarded with the mandatory state-issued raises and little or no help for the individual programs.

Do you think for a moment that the football team would have to build its own bleachers like the baseball team had to at Frank Myers Field? Come on, be real!

What needs to be done is simple: Key needs to meet face-to-face with each of his coaches, get to know their programs inside and out, and trust the integrity of each of them enough to value their opinions. Yes, he likely has already done that, and it's human nature to expect that each coach probably was giving him the old "we just can't live without this" line.

Key must now use the next two months - prior to a May budget deadline - to figure out who's telling him the truth about their budgets, and who's giving him a fish story.

What he has to do is not be afraid of pissing someone off - and a big someone or two at that - in doing his job.

With the recent suggested compromise that leftover money be carried from one year to the next within programs, those programs with huge budgets like football and men's and women's basketball could see little or no effect from an 8-percent cut.

But where is the leftover money going to be in the baseball budget? How about track, cross country or baseball?

And no, this isn't to say that the football and basketball programs are the only budgetary offenders. But they do have it pretty good. And it's time someone did something to make a few fat cats a bit skinnier so the kittens can gain - or at least retain - their claws.

If that doesn't happen, K-State could be without the kind of athletes and coaches it so desperately needs to right its financial ship. And without good coaches and good athletes, there is no revenue

And with no revenue source, Key is out of a job.

Right now, he's got one, and he's just beginning to realize what he's gotten himself into.

Netters swing back into action Sunday

FRANK KLEEMANN

K-State tennis coach Steve Bietau is almost out of work, at least in view of who he will let play against New Mexico at 10:30 Sunday in Topeka at the Wood Valley tennis courts.

Bietau said right now he has just six players to choose from, just enough to fill the six positions. The tennis team has been plagued with serious injury problems all season.

"The physical fitness of the players is a serious concern for me right now," Bietau said. "Amy Grantham has herniated disk, and her status is still questionable. But she will not play this weekend."

Another player who has some health problems is sophomore Michèle Riniker.

"Michèle had a problem with her foot," Bietau said. "She's been injected with cortisone twice now. She's not practicing as much as we liked her to, and she's not 100 percent. But I think she is OK and will play Sunday."

Long-injured junior Angie Gover is on her way through the mend following surgery on her

"Angie had a shoulder surgery last Friday, which went well," Bietau said. "She's gone for the whole year. We will miss her in both singles and doubles."

However, there is also good news for Bietau where health is concerned. Martine Shrubsole, who suffered from a back injury, is back on the court.

"Martine is the bright spot of the health issue," Bietau said. "She's fully recovered and is practicing with full strength."

Having his mind full of injury reports, Bietau said the practices have been lacking. But Bietau said practices during the last three weeks have went well.

"Our practices have been good. We had some rough days, but if you have such ones, you're addressing important issues," Bietau said. The three weeks off also allowed Bietau to experiment, particularly with the double teams combinations. "We will try some different double teams in the match against New Mexico," Bietau said. Riniker will team with Mareke Plocher, Karin Lusnic with Shrubsole and Suzanne Sim with Neili Wilcox. "I just felt that Mareke and Michèle are the best double players in the team," Bietau said. "Neili and Suzanne are an experienced team. Playing on position three they will give us a very strong team."

With all the changes within the team, the concern about Sunday's opponent is just a minor topic for

"I'm going into the match taking care of our team and not as much concerned about the opponent," he said. "They lost a couple players from last year. I know their No. 1 player Jenny Cook is a solid player in their region.

The No. 2 singles game will be an interesting match, Bietau said. New Mexico's Jill Baron has 6-0 dual record in spring.

"But we have also a very good No. 2 player," Bietau said referring to Riniker's 4-0 record.

CATS BASKETBALL

Altman hittin' the road, hunting recruits Altinan mittin

Cats coach has two in the bag; hopes more are in the bush

STEVEN ROCK

Cat coach Dana Altman is on the prowl.

With the Wildcat regular season nearing an end, Altman is wheeling and dealing at the recruiting table, hoping to land an ace or two.

"We're going to get the best players available," Altman said.

The K-State basketball program worked hard last year to land some of the best community college transfers available.

And although the coaches were able to lure all-America community college player of the year Gaylon Nickerson, Altman is not necessarily trying to do the same thing this year.

'In most cases," Altman said, "juco players can blend in easier." That, however, is not the bottom

"We're looking for talent,"

Altman said. "If he's a juco player, available to the basketball team, that's fine. And if he's a highschool player, that's fine too."

Altman said he sees the recruiting season as an opportunity to fill holes on the squad.

"First of all," he said, "you need to look at your needs."

And those needs include filling the vacancies graduating seniors

For starters, the void that will be left by point guard Marcus Zeigler is an important one to fill. With the conclusion of this season, freshman Brian Henson will be the only point guard on the roster.

"We definitely need another point guard," Altman said.

He said a possible injury to Henson and individual game foul trouble are reasons for a need to compliment Henson.

A second void in the Wildcat lineup will be created by the exit of seniors John Rettiger and Wylie Howard. But that is one hole Altman has already made strides to two have already been filled. Both have been filled by centers, both coming from the high-school ranks.

Of the four scholarships

From Greenville, Miss., Altman was able to attract all-stater Jerrell Roberson.

Roberson, a 6-foot, 8-inch center, was the captain of his highschool team. He was also selected for his conference's all-division

Kevin Lewis, a 6-9 center out of Midwest City, Okla., has also been signed. Lewis averaged 18 points and 13 rebounds during his senior year in high school and attended the Nike all-star camp.

"I think it's going well," Altman said of the recruiting process.

K-State Athletic Director Milt Richards said although he supports any decisions made by Altman, he would prefer to see a corps of freshmen, like the two Altman has signed, brought into the program.

"In an ideal world, my preference would be freshmen," he

The freshmen would have a and that's the most important part."

longer amount of time to blend in with the school, Richards said. However, Richards said he would like to see students excel academically before competitively.

And if that means bringing in a community college transfer, so be

"Academic success is more important than competitive success," Richards said. "I'd rather take a juco college kid who would do good in school than a freshman who Dana has got concerns about." The team is also trying to keep an even mix of upper- and lowerclassmen in efforts to avoid a situation similar to last year's gaping holes.

"We're trying to get our classes evenly distributed," Altman said. The work isn't over just yet.

"I think we're in on the right people," Altman said in reference to the players he said he's hoping to

"Now we just need to finalize,

SPORTS DIGEST

NBA: 2 approved for CBA DENVER (AP) — Former Dallas Maverick Roy Tarpley and Richard Dumas, a draft choice of the Phoenix Suns, were approved Thursday to play in the Continental Basketball Association after completing drug programs at the John Lucas Treatment and Recovery Center in Houston.

Tarpley, banned from the NBA for at least two seasons under the league's antidrug program, and Dumas, who was in training camp with the Suns, are eligible to play in the CBA immediately.

"Mr. Dumas and Mr. Tarpley have met the criteria for admittance to the CBA, and accordingly, their applications have been approved," said Terdema L. Ussery II, commissioner of the league. "Their medical doctors and counselors at the John Lucas Center have assured the league office that both players have made the necessary strides in their personal battles against substance abuse, and thus are ready to resume their professional basketball careers at this time."

Tarpley reportedly would sign with the Wichita Falls Texans. Dumas is negotiating with the Oklahoma City Calvalry.

SKATES: Bonaly's coach quits PARIS (AP) - The coach of Surya Bonaly, the acrobatic French figure skater who placed fifth at the Winter

Olympics, said Thursday he has quit because she no longer follows his advice. Didier Gailhaguet, confirming the anticipated split, said he had been particularly upset by Bonaly's insistence on trying a rare quadruple jump during her figure skating at Albertville. Bonaly completed the jump, or nearly so, but stylistic flaws then and elsewhere during the routine dropped her from third to fifth in the standings.

routine in the final night of the women's

"If she has listened to me, she would have finished fourth for sure, and perhaps third," said Gailhaguet, who had trained Bonaly since 1985.

Bonaly, 18, won the European championship this season, but Gailhaguet said problems had building up for several

TV: McGuire signs with CBS

NEW YORK (AP) - Al McGuire was added to the list of analysts on Thursday for CBS Sports' coverage of the NCAA basketball tournament. McGuire, who coached Marquette to the national title in 1977, will team with play-by-play announcer Dick Stockton for two games in both the first and second rounds of the tournament.

He will be available for commentary during the rest of the tournament, either on site or in the study, CBS said.

COLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $5.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Exact change or checks only after 4:30 p.m. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper

Announcements

ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS: Need help seeking employment in the Architectural profession? My Kansas City firm has an option for you. If you are interested in attending a career counseling seminar, write Teri B. Price, TBP Architectural Services, Inc. 5613 Nall Ave. Roeland Park, KS 66202 or call (913) 384-6929.

BARTENDING 101, class starts March 30, 8:30- 9:30p.m. For more information see in Union March 3 or call 532-2519.

CASH FOR Collegel Don't miss your oppor-tunity for the scholarships/ financial aid you are qualified for! Call or write for in-formation on our scholarship search service and a free copy of 'Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances'. Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, La-wrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

FRESHMAN, SOPHMORES. Do you need college money? Free information. College Funding Resources, 1405 W. North Front, Grand Island, NE 68801.

IS ANYONE going to FARM AID V? If you are, I'd like to put your picture in the Collegian. Call Kratzer at the Collegian.

THE RIDE. Chicago Art And Architecture. May 14, 15, & 16th. Visit Chicago with the help of the fine arts fee. Deadline for sign-up is April 15. For more information call the Department of Art at 532–6605.

WEIGHT LOSS. Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guar-anteed! For more information call Rhon-da 539–3817.

PREGAME PARTY Saturday at 11

Free hotdogs & nachos Weekend Drink Specials

$1.75 WELLS

DJ Fri. & Sat.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

FEMALE STRIPPERS

Wednesday through Saturday 6 p.m. 'til 9 p.m. BOUNTY HUNTER Tonight

Starting at 10 BLUE RIVER PUB

North on Tuttle Creek Blvd. 537-9877

Automobiles for Sale

1968 CUTLASS 91K miles $1000, 778-5196, 537-0510 Brent.

Come in and try Burgandy's new menu and on Sundays we will serve you a complimentary flaming dessert prepared tableside.

於 Holiday Inn

530 Richards Dr.

539-5311

International All Shows Daily Before 6 PM $3.50 Students and Military with I.D. 4.50 SETH CHILDS 6 Seth Childs of Farm Burezu Rd 775-955 WESTLOOP CINEMA 6 BEAUTY AND THE BEAST G THE HAND THAT ROCKS THE CRADLER FATHER OF THE BRIDE PG. FRL 4:40-7:20-9:35 t407:15950 SHINING THROUGH R. FRL 4:30-7:05-9:45 £1570094 RADIO FLYERS PG-13. .FRL 9:30 425610 MEDICINE MAN PG-13... FRI. 4:45-7:15-9:40 BOOKLY WAYNE'S WORLD PG-13... .FRI. 450-7:00-9:35 415700940 MEMOIRS OF AN INVISIBLE MAN PG-13.....FRI. 7:10-9:30 FINAL ANALYSIS R. 420-705-945 7:00-9:10 $100 CAMPUS HE LAST BOY SCOUT

776-5577 776-5577 FirstBank Center "NO COUPON SPECIALS" Everyday Two-Fers ime Time Special 3 - 10 in. Pizzas 2 - 10 in. Pizzas 1 - Topping 4 - Cokes 2 - Toppings 2 - Cokes $10.50 $8.50

We'll keep your foot a tappin'!!

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

The K-State Singers Spring Show '92

A Contemporary look at music!

Thursday Feb. 27 and Saturday, Feb. 29 McCain Auditorium 8 p.m. Tickets available from McCain Box Office, 532-6428 1980 CUTLASS Supreme Brougham. T-tops, excellent 350 V-8, AT, PS, PW, PB, PL, new paint, no rust $2800 negotiable. 776-7299 or see at 1428 Laramie.

1982 WHITE Subaru Brat, with t-tops and camper shell. Reliable automobile, $1400. 456-8595 after 5p.m.

1983 DODGE Challenger, good condition, must sell. Come test drive. $1200. Call 776-3537.

1983 HONDA Accord three-door, hatchback, air condition, AM/FM, 118K, $1950, 537-7686.

1984 ESCORT $425, sold as is. Call 1985 JEEP Cherokee, 4WD, 4D, Sunroof, 71,000 miles. $4,900. 537-2413.

1987 IROC Camaro, excellent condition, t-tops, new wheels and tires, new paint, loaded. $6950... 539–1639.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

5 Employment

ACCOUNTANT

Marshattan real estate firm has imme diate opening for one full time account ant. Duties include bookkeeping, firm rial reports and management role in inancial planning. Starting salary comensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Friday. Micro omputer training and experience mandatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000per month working on cruise ships World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

GUARANTEED ALASKA JOBS $1000+/wk, room, board & airfare. New ex. $1000+/wk, room, board & airfare. New, 92: 80 pg. guide reveals most current prospec in: Fishing, Oil, Alaska Teacher Placement, Degreed jobs, Construction, & much more. Weekly info available. State liscensed agency. Alaskemp Guarantee: Secure Alaska job, or 100% refund. Send $9.95 + $3 S&H to: Alaskemp, Box 1236 - T, Corvallis, OR 97339

> NOT RETURNING TO SCHOOL FOR THE FALL SEMESTER? BRUBACHER

CUSTOM HARVESTING

needs combine, truck, and other equipment operators for the summe and fall harvests. Great wages, free room and board, and excellent experience. If interested, call Trip at 776-8186 or Ron at 776-1526 for an application.

$40,000' YEAR! Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like" don't like" form. Easy! Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Earn hundreds weekly stuffing envelopes at home. Local businesses will provide all materials. Send SASE to Homemailing Program— B, P.O. Box 3182 Olthe, KS

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Are you looking for a way to defray the high cost of a college education? By serving one weekend a month and two weeks in the summer you could qualify for up to $28,000 in the Kansas Army National Guard! For more information about an exciting career and great benefits call 537–4108.

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539–3817.

HANDYMAN PART-TIME for carpentry and some plumbing. Has to work indepen-dently. Basic tools required. $5/ hour, 537-1269.

S. 17th Ft. Riley Blvd.

Fri.-Sat.

9 p.m.-1 a.m. Reservations 537-1484

CLAFLIN BOOKS & COPIES

Book signing by Marc Davenport author of Dear Mr. President, which contains 100 environmental awareness letters

Sunday afternoon 2-5

Open until 9 p.m. Sunday-Friday 9-6 p.m. Saturday

Monday

Barbecued Spareribs

Friday 4 p.m.-Close Fried Shrimp, Fried Clams, Baked Fish

KIDS EAT FREE ALL DAY TUESDAY Includes fresh baked rolls and over 80 delicious salads, soups, fruits and puddings, plus FREE dessert and FREE drink refills.

325 E. Poyntz

IBM AND Apple Showroom Sales Person.
Connecting Point Computer Center in Manhattan has immediate part-time opening for experienced, well-dressed, enthusiastic retail sales associate to work afternoons Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday only. Temporary position, will last throught end of semester. Must be able to communicate effectively. Mail or deliver resume with references to 1115 Westloop Shopping Cneter, Manhattan, KS 66502. Equal Opportunity Employer.

FENIX Scholarship Applications for nontraditional, full time, undergraduate students are available in the FENIX Office, Holton 201. The deadline for applying is March, 13.

KAW VALLEY Greenhouses needs full-time/ part-time help. Call 776-8585 between 4:30 and 5:30p.m. Thursday and Friday.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply-especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

(continued on page 9)

Weekday Special Dump and Dash 35 cents per pound

Fremont Laundry

where quality is our tradition 304 Fremont 539-3261

*Attendant on Duty 'Front Door Parking 'Sun-Fri Hours-7 a.m.-8:30 p.m. *Sat Hours-7 a.m.-6 p.m.

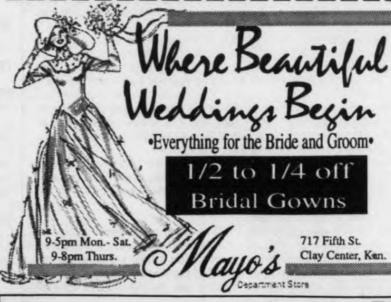

"The Total Sports Package" Friday- FREE Macho Nachos 5-7 Saturday- $1.50 Wine Coolers GOOD LUCK CATS vs MIZZOU

1119 Moro

776-7714

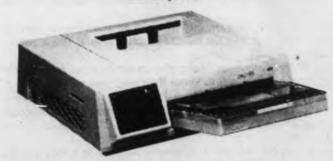

Get to K.C.I. in Style this Spring Break by Taking Advantage of this Great Deal

Business to business. Person to person.

MARCH SPECIAL $ FOR STUDENTS AND STAFF

The Okidata' OL400. PC Magazine Editors Choice.

 Industry's best warranty; 5 vears on printhead, I year parts/labor on printer.

· PC Magazine Editors' Choice -June 12, 1990.

 4 ppm, 300 dpi: crisp blacks. publication quality output.

trav included.

· HP Series II compatible.

 More standard rypefaces fonts than Laserlet IIP. -

· High-capacity 200-sheet paper

Slim, low-profile design fits

anv desktop.

1306 WESTLOOP

776-0086 OKDATA OK

(Continued from page 8)

SUMMER JOBSI Complete Guide to Employment in the National Parks—10,000 jobs. Work on Cruise Ships—listings for all cruise lines. $5.95 each, $10.95 for both. Great Plains Publishing, Box 1903, Joplin, MO 64801.

Attention Students:

Tinancial Research Services has knowledge of over $4 billion dollars available to you regardless of 5

your G.P.A. Major, Social or

W Teonomic Background.

for information send S.A.S.L. to: Tinancial Research Services 1405 Daniel Ave. Manhattan, XS 66502

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1,700 per month last summer and gained valuable exprience for their resumes. Call 539-8370.

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1700 per month last summer and gained valuable experience for their re-sume's. Call 539-8370.

TRANSLATORS WANTED: Japanese, Swed-ish, Norwegian, Greek, Russian, Dutch, Portuguese, Turkish, Nigerian, Danish, Korean, Slovak, Czech. Call Pam Fulm-er at International Trade Institute 532-6799.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. One-bedroom furnished apartment one-half block from campus. $365 per month. 776-1340.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus. One, two, and three-bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fre-mont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.

FOUR-BEDROOM APARTMENT across campus and Aggleville. Available June 1, $600 monthly, all utilities paid. 539–4318.

COME SEE Lee Crest Apartments 1122 Kearney Apt #8, Saturday, Feb. 29, 2-4:30p.m. Four buildings right by campus. Large furnished one-bedrooms.

By Daryl Blasi

Double Barreled

Calvin and Hobbes

HELLO, IS THIS THE HARDWARE STORE? YES, I'M WONDERING IF YOU SELL CATAPULTS .

Off the Mark

NO ? WELL, I'M LOOKING FOR SOMETHING THAT CAN DELIVER A 50-POUND PAYLOAD OF SHOW ON A SMALL FEMININE TARGET CAN YOU SUGGEST SOMETHING? MI

HETTO 5

By David Swearingen

ENJOYABLE NIGHT OF DRINKING THERE IS NOTHING LIKE A GOOD GAME OF Wheel of

Jim's Journal

Today Tony, his brother Mike and I get into Mike's car and headed for

Geech

Tony and Mike ate Doritos and talked a lot about the shoe store where they work.

The smell of vinal seats started to make me feel a little carsick.

HE'S NOT. HE'S

A WRITE-IN

CANDIDATE.

Tony turned to me and said, "Plenty of Deritos, Jim-dig in!"

By Jerry Bittle

HE'S BEEN NOMINATED FOR GRAND LIZARD OF THE SECRET UNBALANCED MOONPIES.

By Jeff MacNelly

Leasing Now through August * Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts

* College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

MAKE

ANDERSON PLACE

YOUR

HOME AWAY FROM HOME!

NOW LEASING

for 1992-1993

KSU Students

Both 1 & 2 Bedrooms

1/2 block from campus

Furnished & Unfurnished

Showings Every Thursday

3-4

1852 Anderson #17

THE CURTIN COMPANIES

776-8641

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

BORST RESTORATION. Now leasing unique two and three-bedroom apartments. For June 1 occupancy at 1030 Humboldt, 200 North 11th, 901 Leavenworth and 724 Laramie. Rental/ credit reference requested. No smokers or pets please. 776–1460 evenings only.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285, 539-

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for two-four students. 1829 2482 after 4p.m.

two-bedroom for two-four College Heights, 539-5451.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785–2777. Please leave a message.

SLEEPING ROOM. One block from university. Call 539-2857 or 539-0410.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, big enough for three people. Balcony, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry facilities. Near campus and Aggieville. Lease starting June 1. 537–0852.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

ONE AND two-bedroom apartments in 1100 block of Bluemont, Available August 1. One year lease, no pets. 776–0683.

ONE-BEDROOM, AVAILABLE immediately, partially furnished plus dishwasher and built-in king size waterbed, call 539-5703.

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

June & August Leases Available Now

4 bedrms, 2 1/2 bath & study ·All appliances furnished. including washer, dryer

& microwave. Pre-wired for your computer, phone & cable TV.

arge recreation area with hot tubs & sand volleyball ·Bus service to campus Monthly rent as low as $195

For info call 776-8763 Property Resources

Management

By Bill Watterson

I DON'T UNDERSTAND HOW SOME OF THESE PLACES

21 Personals BRING YOUR swimsuit, bring your thirst, pre-pare your body for the worst! ITK Leap Year Party. We're doing it for the good of

GIRL WHO bought the fenders on Feb. 19 at Aggie Bike. Didn't catch your name, but did catch your smile. Would like to meet you again. Guy with the Hard Head.

SUAVE: HOPE your 20th is the best. I'll think of you at work, so drink one for me! I love you, Jelly Bean.

TO THE men of Alpha Gamma Rho and Kappa Sigma- choosing us you won't re-gret, we'll make Homecoming a time not to forget! Love the women of Tri Sigma

TO THE men of Kappa Sigma and Alpha Gamma Rho- The roses were red, but we will be blue, if you don't choose us for Homecoming in '92. The suckers were sweet, your singing the best, we'd og great together, so forget all the rest! Hopefully yours, the Women of Alpha Chi Omega.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

AKC ENGLISH Bulldog pups, six males, one female, $400, 537-0633.

SAMOYEDE PUPS: three female, two male AKC registered, all shots, ten weeks old. $50, call 539-7340. Leave message for

 PEUSON STUDIAL

Mon.- Fri. 9am-8pm 9am-5:30pm Sat. Noon-5pm Sun.

1105 Waters (across from Alco)

539-9494 ******

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL KINDS of typing done. One- day serv-ice. Laser printer. $1.25 per double-spaced page. 537-7027 after 5. ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes, $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537–7294.

ECS OFFERS laser quality typesetting for re-ports, these, resumes, etc. Math, scien-tific, foreign character support. Style, grammar checking available. 776-6687.

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539-3229, 8a.m.- 8p.m.

UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for pa-pers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, dical, education, military terminology 25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice

24 Roommate Wanted

$100 CASH to first person to move into nice two-bedroom apartment. One more fe-male roommate. Available immediately. For details 539-5366.

FEMALE NEEDED immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One-half block from campus and aggieville. Own bedroom – Nicel Desperate 776-3514.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. One-half block from campus, washer/ dryer, rent negotiable, share utilities, call Angela, 776-3760, leave message. MALE ROOMMATE needed, own bedroom, off-street parking, close to Aggieville, campus, $140 per month, utilities paid, 539–2017 leave message.

ONE OR two female roommates needed $160 plus half, utilities. Must like pets. Own room. Nice walk to campus. 537-8906.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse six miles from town on blacktop road. Place for horse. $125/ month 539–2029.

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.- 5p.m. Monday through

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

WANDERING HEARTS Video Dating Service

Want to meet NEW and interesting people? call Janice or Kelli 539-3003

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

irthright FREE Pregnancy Tests

523 S. 17th Old Town Mall 1-800-848-LOVE 537-9180 5683

0

PAT M. DREILING D.D.S. M.S.

26 Stereo Equipment

KENWOOD RACK system, fully remote, with receiver, CD, cassette, and turntable, plus 200 watt 4-way speakers. 539-0876.

Manhattan Med Center

27 Sporting\Rec. Equipment

SCUBAGEAR: BC, Wetsuit, Regulators, pressure and depth guages, compass, knife, weights. $350. With mask and fins $375. Call 226-7587 after 5 p.m.

28 Sublease

HELPI FEMALE needed immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One-half block from campus and Aggieville, Own room – Nicel Rent negotiable! Desperate 776-3514.

SUBLEASE ONE or two rooms in new four-bedroom apartment from end of May to August 1. Leave message 537-1690.

SUMMER SUBLEASE for $100/ month! Need female roommate from May- July 31. One-half block campus/ furnished. Call 537-8861.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Mid- May thru July 31. Two female roommates, $395/ mo, three blocks from campus/ furnished. Call: 776-9712.

SUMMER- NICE, two-bedroom, close to campus, room for two-four. 539-2278.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

AIRPLANE TICKET for spring break. March 6- March 15, Kansas City to Washington D.C. round trip $338 down to $300. Call

WANTED ONE ticket in student section for K-State vs. MU basketball game. Call 539-7860.

30 Travel\Car Pool

BAHAMAS VACATION- Five days plus cruise from Ft. Lauderdale. Act nowl Call Becky for details! 537-0423. $250 per

SOUTH PADRE- Condo on the beach! We need 2- 3 more girls to share it with. Call 539-7051, ask for Natalie.

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212 SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896.

SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner. (212) 472-1414.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

SPRING BREAK!!!

South Padre from $99 per person 5 nights Bahamas Cruise $299 per person 6 days/5 nights Cancon from $439 per person 7 nights airfare included

31 Tutor

MATH, SPANISH tutor for eighth grade stud-ent, three times per week, 776-0181keep trying.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback Best offer, 539–4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE, four gold Alloy wheels with new 14 inch tires. 532-2940.

FOR SALE: Computer, printer, and various software. For more information, call 539-6205 after 6 p.m. FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

FOR SALE: Spring/ Summer wedding dress; brand new, size 12, can be altered. 776–9902.

WANTED TO buy: Big Eight tournament tick-ets. Call Jackie after 5 p.m. 537-7490.

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS 1 Pickle 4 Ball of yarn

12 Kyoto cummerbund 13 George athlete 14 New York city 15 Usurpa-

17 Jet black 18 Treeless plain 19 Tier smoke'

star

role year? 54 Lip 55 Illuminated Solution time: 28 mins.

SEXY SADAK PU PASDA SHRANK AMD KADHUBUBE

Yesterday's answer 2-28

Alcott 11 Voodoo 16 Geological period 20 Raw rock

DOWN

1 Makes alia

tion

4 Like

7 Justify

8 Candice margin-

2 Blind as 23 Jannings 3 Amplifica-Ludwig 24 Pop device 25 Charon's waterway rough

26 Sharks' seas or bad prose rivals 5 Worships 27 Mormon 6 Needle 28 Bakery feature employee

29 Extinguished 32 "Aida" Bergen 9 Chaney of hero Hollywood 10 Golfer 33 Beat 35 Song

> 36 Matures 38 Bizarre 39 Berle's 43 Big rig climber 47 Marsh

2-28 CRYPTOQUIP

HLDGT M

HLN QBUTGRKK, QDF WDKF XNLWMKR

MF DGTRN CLDN SBF. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SAID THE FARMER TO COCKY BARNYARD BURGLAR: "FINALLY, YOUR 49 Oklahoma GOOSE IS COOKED."

Today's Cryptoquip clue: D equals U

washer and dryer, dose to campus. Four-bedroom $640, three-bedroom $540, two bedroom $360. Lease and deposit. 539-3672.

16 Lost and Found

10 For Rent-Houses

CLOSÉ TO campus four-bedroom, two bath, central air, washer/ dryer, for five students $175 per student. Available for Aug. 1 537–8543.

AVAILABLE JUNE several houses. Yard,

13 For Sale Mobile Homes

12X65 MOBILE Home. Recently remodeled. Located in Countryside Estates. For more information. Call 539-6205 after 1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

FOUND SET of keys in Cardwell Hall, out-side of 101. Call Mike to identify. 539-1586.

Only found ads can be placed free of FOUR KEYS found on a large keyring at Kansas State Bank in Aggieville, call Tracy 537-4435. LOST- LARGE blue topaz triangle shape pendant with gold rim, probably at Rec complex approximately one month ago. Reward, 293-5671.

1981 YAMAHA 850 Special. Runs and looks good, $1,300 or best offer. Call Dan 537-4191. WANT TO trade my Fuji road bike for mountain bike, 532-3649. Ask for Paul.

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale

19 Music Musicians EXPERIENCED LEAD guitarist wanted for pop-rock band. Extreme to INXS. Band plays ten times/ month. Serious inquiries only. 537–1199, leave message.

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

Crossword

easy 37 Veil of secrecy 39 Capt. Kirk 8 Insipid 40 Dos Passos

trilogy

(abbr.)

53 Last word

of the

41 Go up against 45 Present 48 Beauty salon treatment 50 State 51 Paradise tion 52 Mornings

21 Harvest goddess 22 "Gun-

26 Succulent 29 "A Chorus Line" song 30 Witticism 31 Impress deeply

32 Trench 33 A la Felix Unger 34 Menlo Park monogram

DICE 35 "Roscoe" bookful 42 Elliptical 44 Formerly 45 Helium, for one 46 Wall

city

UDIAMUC, IDNR

COLLEGIAN 1 FOCUS

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1992

Truck Stop Love guitarist Rich Yarges gets some help taking off makeup from Mary Alice Hodgson after band members were kissed for good luck by Hodgson at the Comfort Inn after the band's sound check. Truck Stop Love and their fans stayed at the Comfort Inn the night before the concert.

It's about 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 26. Truck Stop Love is 48 miles north of Oklahoma City when Matt Mozier announces he's not feeling well.

"I'm gonna throw up," the guitarist says to the other six people traveling with him.

It could be a combination of things making him ill. Drummer Eric Melin is wearing the same clothes h the day before. Guitarist Rich Yarges hasn't showered, and even his wife has told him he's gross. Bass player Brad Huhmann is driving the Chevrolet Suburban and, for some reason, can't stay on the road.

The best explanation, however, is the beer that's dripping from the Suburban's roof that has soaked everyone. Mozier's attempt to shotgun a can of beer hasn't gone well.

He's not only sick, but disap-

"I've only been able to do that once, and it was the greatest day of my life," he said dejectedly. He should be glad he failed. Melin actually managed to shotgun his beer and now lies in a state of semi-consciousness in the back seat. Every once in a while he sits up and speaks.

"I gotta piss," he says. The bathroom stops grow fewer and farther between as the lights of Dallas appear on the horizon. Traffic is heavy, and the strain of eight hours in an automobile is evident on the band members' faces.

Truck Stop Love is nervous - and with good reason.

Sunday night, the band will be taking the stage at Texas Hall to play in an MTV contest with four other bands from across the Southwest. Should they win, they will to go to Daytona Beach, Fla., and be on television as part of the MTV Spring Break '92 show. Should they emerge victorious there, they would receive $2,000 and a recording session in New York.

"They're gonna laugh at us when we put our shit up on the stage," Yarges said.

Mozier has other concerns. 'What songs are we playing?" he

Huhmann, however, is more worried about the semantics of the show then actual content. We're gonna start drinking Sunday morning, and by the time we hit the stage, we're gonna be the baddest thing Texas ever saw," he said. The motel is quiet. The trip down has taken its toll on the band, and they're quietly lounging around the room alternately sleeping and watching bad movies on HBO. Yarges and his wife are cuddled asleep on the double bed.

It looks like a quiet night. But at 11 p.m., nine of Truck Stop Love's fans hit the motel.

They've got beer and a portable stereo the size of a small island nation. Everything is bigger in Texas.

It's not entirely clear whether the band is glad to seem them. But the party goes on until the wee hours of the morning, nonetheless. Quart bottles of malt liquor soon litter the room, and the small talk gives way to more philosophical discussions.

"We discussed on the trip do whether it was more perverse to sleep with an animal, a parent, dead people or a child," said one of the fans.

But before a consensus can be reached, one of the fans has an asthma attack, and Huhmann has to take him to the nearest emergency room. He gets back to the motel around 3 a.m. and collapses into bed. The wake-up call is set to come at 9:30 a.m.

Sunday morning rises brightly on three members of Truck Stop Love. The fourth member, Melin, disappeared into the heart of the city with his girlfriend, and the rest of the band isn't happy about it. "That butthole," Huhmann says. "He better be there to meet us at 1p.m.

Mozier remains convinced that he

"He knows that he gets free food,"

he said. Mozier's right. Melin's there in time for lunch. But even free food takes a back seat to Texas Hall. The place is enormous.

"I can't believe how big this place is," says Yarges, slowly shaking his head back and forth. Right before sound check, the band finally decides what to play. As they launch into their first song, the various people backstage look up in wonderment at the sheer volume the band is pumping out.

One of the contest organizers walks onto the stage and tells them to turn it of the judges. "You really need work down. Huhmann doesn't take the ad-

"Why would we have these big casionally nodding their heads. fucking amps if we didn't want to play loud," he says.

They turn the volu sound check but decide to turn every- ing to the third judge. thing back up for the show itself.

The show is co-sponsored by Dodge and is supposed to be a statement against drunken driving. An hour before the 8 p.m. show, the band realizes they better follow that advice, since they've been drinking since 4:30

"I can't believe we're getting fucked up to play on MTV," says Huhmann just before losing his balance and almost falling to the ground. They find a ride.

They're the third band on the stage, and the first without shirts. Melin opens the show with a scream, and the band launches into "You Keep Me

Searchin'.' The Manhattan faithful are up and dancing even though the security guard has told them to stop.

By the time the band goes into "Fuck Me Anyway," the Manhattan he says. fans are at fervor pitch. Unfortunately, the rest of the crowd sits as if they were glued to their seats.

stage. The Manhattan faithful go nuts. band deserved to win. The rest of the crowd sits in stunned silence.

They don't win.

Backstage, the three contest judges critique the band's performance.

"Vocals, vocals," says one there and on your hooks.

Yarges and Melin sit silently, oc-

"You guys have a great concept," says another. "The 'fuck' didn't bother me. What about you?" he asks point-

The 40-something judge is slowly shaking his head.

up somewhat by the fact that MTV of three hours ago has been replaced veejay Steve Isaacs is partying with by obvious disappointment. At the conclusion of "Trilogy," the band. He's promised to wear a Mozier throws his guitar 20 feet in the Truck Stop Love T-shirt for one of his quick," Huhmann said. air. It lands in a cloud of sparks on the segments. He also said he thought the Truck Stop Love is convinced they were the best band of the evening.

"It was fixed," Huhmann says. The fucking thing was fixed. If I was "You don't have to be obscene," judging, we would have been first."

The beer consumption among the The party at the motel is cheered band members has slowed. The high

"After we lost, we sobered up real

But all in all, it's not been a bad trip. And the band realizes that the But Isaacs didn't have a vote. And future is what they want to make of it. "We gotta do something now,"

Melin said. 'We're a real band."

BELOW: Bassist Brad Huhmann takes a leap during Truck Stop Love's performance of "Amphetamine." ABOVE: MTV veejay Steve Isaacs talks with the band and Manhattan fans after the contest. Isaacs came to the party in Truck Stop Love's room at the Sheraton Hotel wearing a band T-shirt.

Photos by J. Kyle Wyatt

Story by Shawn Bruce

KANSAS STATE IJEGIAN

MONDAY, MARCH 2, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 108

Bill preserving abortion rights to be considered

Finney expected to veto measure in its present form

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA-A measure that would preserve abortion rights is expected to come up for final action in the Kansas House this week as work begins to pile up for the lawmakers.

"This is the most exhausting session," said Minority Leader Jerry Karr, D-Emporia. "The next eight legislative days should be pretty heavy. Our committees are going to have to accelerate their output.

The House will consider the abortion bill Monday. The measure would preserve the right of women to receive an abortion in most instances. Anti-abortion advocates oppose the bill, saying it would allow all abortions during the first two trimesters and place few restrictions on others.

The House advanced the bill Friday to final action during its first major debate of the session. Gov. Joan Finney is expected to veto the bill if it reaches her desk in its present

The Senate will debate a bill that would change the statutory qualifications for secretary of wildlife and parks. The bill is intended to pave the way for an easy Senate confirmation for Jack Lacey, who has been acting secretary of wildlife and parks for

Attorney General Bob Stephan issued an opinion that said Lacey did not meet the statutory qualifications because he had never received any formal education in natural resources management or a related field.

The proposed change would allow a cabinet secretary to have either education or experience in that area. Lacey is a lifelong outdoorsman.

"He's a known quantity and a respected person," Kerr said. "Who knows what the next appointee might

The debate on changing the qualifications will come less than a week after Finney appointed John Hennessy, a former Republican and prominent anti-abortion activist from Wichita, as secretary of administra-

That appointment brought protests from Republicans and Democrats. Four days after his appointment, Hennessy resigned, and Susan Seltsam, the governor's chief of staff,

The Senate also will take up Finney's proposal to divide the Kan-See LEGISLATURE Page 10.

more than a year.

"Mr. Lacey is certainly in the gray area," said Senate Majority Leader Fred Kerr, R-Pratt. But he added that some senators are wondering who would be appointed to the cabinet post next if the Senate rejects Lacey.

was named to the post.

Remembering AIDS victims

A lone student walks past several panels of the NAMES Project: The AIDS Memorial Quilt which was in Ahearn Field House Friday through Sunday. More than 800 panels of the entire quilt remembering those who died of the HIV virus were displayed. See story on page 8.

CAMPAIGN '92

Battle brings fascist accusation

Bush campaign attacks Buchanan for party nomination; Georgia primary nears

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — The sizzling battle within the Republican party heated up Sunday with one of President Bush's prominent supporters accusing challenger Patrick Buchanan of flirting with fascism.

The charge by former Education Secretary William Bennett came as Bush and Buchanan campaigned in Georgia for that state's critical primary on Tuesday.

The campaign became more vitriolic during the past week as Buchanan accused the administration of investing in pornography and Bush called his challenger a disappointment to all Americans for opposing the Persian Gulf War.

Bush supporters insist the president will be the party's nominee, and many of Buchanan's conservative backers have conceded he has little chance of wresting the nomination from the incumbent.

But these conservatives see the very disappointed with the character race as a battle for the future of the Republican party, with Buchanan forcing Bush to move to the right and then emerging as leader of a resurgent conservative movement.

"This Week with David Brinkley," was asked whether he agreed with commentators who have suggested that Buchanan's restrictive immigration views are a kind of fascism.

Bennett, appearing on ABC-TV's

"I think that Pat certainly flirts with it ... it being fascism," Bennett

"Pat has a mighty heart ... but I am and quality of the approach he is making," said Bennett, who served with Buchanan in the Reagan administration and went to the same high school in Washington, D.C.

But he said Bush has to stand up and fight for conservatives and that some of the president's advisers have unwisely conceded conservative votes to Buchanan

White House Chief of Staff Samuel Skinner, interviewed on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press," said he believed many Buchanan supporters were ex-

See FUTURE Page 10

MARK ENGLER

Bob Randall smokes 10 joints every day.

He said he has smoked two and a half ounces of marijuana a week for 15 years. He not only freely talks about this subject, he openly fires criticism at the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration and any other law enforcement agency that arrests people for marijuana-related crimes.

Randall doesn't have to worry about the DEA or anyone else arresting him for his drug use because his dealer said it was OK, and his dealer is untouchable

You see, Bob Randall gets his dope from the U.S. Government. In 1976, Randall, now the president of the Alliance for Cannabis Therapeutics, became the first person in the United States to legally gain access to marijuana by proving in court that he had a legitimate medical use for it. He said marijuana relieves pressure on the eyes, which directly alleviates the suffers from - glaucoma. "Marijuana has afforded me 15 years of eyesight without an operation," he said. "If my sight were to fail me today, the doctors would have 15 more years of technology behind them to perform the surgery."

symptoms of the disease he

Randall said he has become angry at the DEA and other law enforcement agencies' attitudes over the years concerning their views and positions on marijuana. He said marijuana is widely known by physicians to effectively combat many diseases, as well as glaucoma.

Pam Spaulding, a Manhattan pharmacist, said marijuana-based pills were sometimes prescribed to patients, but doctors usually keep tight controls on who they give access to the drug. She said the DEA considered the leafy form of marijuana as a schedule 1 substance, meaning it is not believed to have any medicinal uses and cannot be prescribed, and the pill form, marinol, to be a schedule 2 drug, indicating it has limited medical uses and strong potential for abuse.

"It's (marijuana pill) usually used to treat the nausea that is associated with chemotherapy for cancer patients," she said.

Randall said he believes the decision to use a drug, in any form, should be up to the patient, and he resents the government stepping into such personal areas of people's lives.

When it comes to determining whether or not to use a certain drug, I would take the word of a sick person over the word of a government bureaucrat," he said.

WHAT THE REPORTS HAVE SAID

In 1973 the U.S. Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse delivered a study to President Nixon and the Congress that stated "the risk potential of marijuana is quite low compared to the potent psychoactive substances, and even its widespread consumption does not involve the social costs associated with most of the stimulants and depressants." The Commission's report then lead directly into the subject of alcohol abuse, and described it as a "powerful psychoactive drug."

Commission advised that although they come to those conclusions, they felt marijuana should not be legalized at that time, and alcohol prohibition had already been proven ineffective.

The Commission's report said it regretted that "marijuana's symbolism remained so high, obstructing the emergence of a rational policy.'

Taken in the context of those times, the "symbolism" that the Commission said it regretted could possibly have been reference to the turbulent movements of the 1960s and early 1970s that had often been associated with marijuana use. Advocates of marijuana legalization say that to this day the government still fears the symbol of political dissent, which, they say, is the true driving force behind the government's continuing ban on marijuana rather than any scientific evidence regarding the drug itself.

Since the 1973 report, the public has been constantly warned of the harms of marijuana. Television images of comatose teens and sizzling eggs promote the view that drugs are bad.

The U.S. government will spend more than $11 billion to wage the Drug War in fiscal year 1992 - $1.1 billion more than was spent on the Drug

Yet as recently as last week, congressional studies have indicated that the war is failing. One report showed the Drug War budget has increased by as much 700 percent in the last decade, but the availability of most drugs remains as high as ever.

See WEED Page 12

Illustration by JEFF GAMBER/Special to the Collegia

The 1973 Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse stated that the risk potential is low for marijuana when compared to other stimulants and depressants. The commission nevertheless advised against the legalization of marijuana.

TREND

Farmers Home cuts 95 offices in 2 years

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — The Farmers Home Administration, lender of last resort to struggling farmers nationwide, has begun the politically sensitive job of closing down field offices.

Farmers fear services will be cut along with the number of local offices, but advocates of a streamlined Department of Agriculture say the reduction is overdue in a time of tight

Since Oct. 1, the agency has either closed or authorized closing 89 county offices and six district offices in 21 states. Another 19 or 20 offices are pending and more closures are expected, said FmHA administrator La Verne Ausman.

Ninty-five offices were closed between 1989 and 1991. The agency, which makes and guarantees housing and farm loans, now has 46 state offices, 252 district offices and 1,774 county offices.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., said there's still room for more consolidations and improvements in the way Farmers Home operates.

"Taxpayers across the nation deserve a greater return on the money they invest in the administration of U.S. agriculture policy, and that includes the administration of loans by FmHA," Lugar said.

But David Senter, national director of the American Agriculture Movement, said he's suspicious some of the closures may be politically motivated. In Texas, according to the farm group, 17 of the 20 offices being closed this year are in congressional districts represented by Democrats.

"It's very political," Senter said. "All of the cuts that are handed down come right to the producer level. There are either cuts in farm program benefits, or they close offices that deal directly with producers."

But Ausman said the need for so many offices has gone the way of the time when borrowers made their monthly payments in person at the local Farmers Home office, and when the employees did everything from taking loan applications to helping with foreclosures.

Ausman said he now hopes to establish local offices large enough to separate duties between the supervisor, assistants and clerks. The consolidations should be possible with a minimum of job losses.

Each state has been asked to come up with a plan, and the closings are approved after consultations with members of Congress. Ausman said that's helped keep the complaints

People have been very receptive to the plan, partly because it wasn't an arbitrary thing, but how do we serve people," Ausman said. "It would be false to tell you we haven't been contacted. But it hasn't been overriding, and we take those things into consid-

After Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, complained about the planned closure of six county offices in east and west Texas, the agency decided to keep two open. Bentsen said the proposal could have compromised services to the people who need them

Rep. Glenn English, the chairman of the House Agriculture Subcommittee on conservation, credit and rural development, complains that Farmers Home has failed to document how the plan will either save money or improve service to borrowers.

we're supposed to achieve by doing this. It has the feel of change for the sake of change," said the Oklahoma Democrat.

"I'm not sure exactly what it is English said he suspects the real purpose for the closures "is to further dismantle the support and demand for the program."

But Ausman said Farmers Home today is providing 11-12 percent of farm credit, compared to just 5-6 per-cent from the 1950s through the mid-

"We're doing more than Farmers Home historically has done in modern history," Ausman said.

Farmers Home had an outstanding loan portfolio of $57 billion as of

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

FRIDAY, FEB. 28

At 2:20 p.m., a hit-and-run accident occurred in Lot D1E, and a report was filed. Damage was less than $500.

At 2:40 p.m., a hit-and-run accident occurred in the west Bramlage lot, and a report was filed. Damage was less than $500.

At 2:45 p.m., a student reported the theft of a student parking permit No. 10565. Loss was $5.

At 3:04 p.m., a two vehicle, non-injury accident was reported in Lot A-15. Damage was less

At 5:21 p.m., a person reported receiving ter-

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SATURDAY, FEB. 29
At 6:20 p.m., Louglas L. Wittman, 309 Catapa
St., Garnet, was arrested for DUI. He was confined in lieu of $500.

At 7:45 p.m., James T. Reed, 624 Bluemont Ave., No. 3, was arrested for DUL He was confined in lieu of $500. At 8:58 p.m., Mike Kane, 1012 Fremont St., reported that his apartment was on fire.

SUNDAY, MARCH 1

SUNDAY, MARCH 1
At 12:15 a.m., Bryan D. Jones, 2508 Bighorn
Lane, was arrested for battery and violation of a restraining order.
At 1:27 a.m., a theft was reported at 617 N.
17th St. Loss was estimated at $522.
At 1:57 a.m., David C. Campbell, 7320 Willow, Raytown, Mo., was arrested for DUL He was released on $500 bond.
At 2:22 a.m., two females were reported possibly intoxicated at Third Street and Bluemont Avenue. An officer advised them not to drive.

enue. An officer advised them not to drive.

At 3:45 a.m., Ronald F. Miessler, 1421 Cambridge Place, No. 20, was arrested for DUI and

MONDAY, MARCH 2

first floor of the Union.

by Monday, March 9.

roristic threats over the telephone.
At 7:28 p.m., a Haymaker Hall resident reported the theft of a backpack with books inside.
At 7:28 p.m., another Haymaker Hall resident reported the theft of a backpack with books inside.

At 3:53 p.m., a black Plymouth Horizon, bear-ing Kansas license plate FEE 226 was towed to Mike's Wrecker. The vehicle was parked in a 24-

At 4:45 p.m., a hit-and-run accident was re-ported in Lot A-28. The incident occurred on Feb. 11. Damage was less than $500, and there were no exhibition of acceleration. He was released on $500

At 5:40 a.m., a pay-phone was reported damaged at 2829 Anderson Ave.
At 6:29 a.m., Antoinette E. Abod, 301 Johnson Drive, and Anthony J. Martin, 1632 McCain Lane, No. 102, were involved in a major-damage vehicle accident at Seth Childs Road and the Kimball

At 7:43 a.m., a stray beaver was reported at 5938 Tuttle Creek Blvd. At 8:54 a.m., Craig R. Brashell was arrested on various warrants. He was confined in lieu of Avenue off-ramp.

At 7:15 a.m., a vehicle burglary was reported at 2136 Griffith Terrace. Loss was estimated at

At 11:45 a.m., a man was reported driving around CiCo Park, exposing himself to pedestri-ans. Officers were unable to locate the subject.

At 1:36 s.m., James M. Scholle, 1945 Strong Ave., was arrested for DUL He was confined in lieu of $500 bond.

■ Career Planning and Placement Center will have a resume critique session from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in Holtz 107B.

Awareness Conference.

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3

session from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in Holtz 107B.

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

■ French Table will meet from noon to 1:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

■ The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Durland 173. The program topic will be the Student Professional

■ Society for Collegiate Journalists will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Union 213.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral

■ Career Planning and Placement Center will have a resume critique

■ Chimes will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207. This will be the first meeting

■ Engineering Student Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Durland 152.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral Candidate for assistant provost for planning and evualuation services, Gerald McLaughlin, will participate in an open forum titled "Planning dissertation of Stephanie Greene at 10 a.m. in Throckmorton 124.

■ KSU Marketing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 212.

ssertation of Jackie Rudd for 2 p.m. in Throckmorton 124.

Beta Alpha Psi will meet at 7 p.m. in Union Big 8 Room.

in a Comprehensive University" at 3:30 p.m. in Union 207.

for new members and the last meeting for old members.

Southwind will be selling environmental T-shirts and raffle tickets on the first floor of the Union.

■ Circle K will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 205.

■ Block & Bridle will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 111. Block & Bridle executives will meet at 6:45 p.m.

KSU Young Democrats will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 209.

■ HALO will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 207. KSU Amateur Radio Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 202.

■ Institute of Industrial Engineers will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 173. This is a required meeting. ■ Kansas State Racquetball Club will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 203.

■ Student Gerontology Club and Student Chapter of American College Health Care Administrators will present "Hospital, Retirement Center and Long-Term Care Administrator Panel" at 4:30 p.m. in Union 206.

■ KSU Young Democrats will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 209. Society for Advancement of Management will meet at 7 p.m. in Union

KSNEA will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont Media Center.

■ Career Planning and Placement will have a workshop on "Securing Federal Employment" at 6:30 p.m. in Denison 220. ■ Phi Beta Lambda will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208. Paul Brown from

Pizza Hut will speak on "Career Motivation."

WEATHER

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Southwind will be selling environmental T-shirts and raffle tickets on the Faculty Senate elections are underway. Primary ballots, which will be sent via campus mail, should be returned to the location designated on the ballot

■ Business Council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 208.

TODAY'S FORECAST

Partly cloudy. High around 70. South wind 10 to 20 mph.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

Cloudy with a 40-percent chance for rain and thunderstorms. Low in the low to mid-40s.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Rain and thunderstorms likely Wednesday and Thursday. Dry Friday. Highs from the 40s Wednesday, then mainly in 50s Thursday and Friday. Lows in upper 30s and 40s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

TOPEKA ® MANHATTAN 82/46 GOODLAND KANSAS 73/31 RUSSELL 79/50 GARDEN CITY WICHITA 78/40 78/40 LIBERAL COFFEYVILLE 78/46

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Lisbon	63/50	cloudy
Bermuda	73/66	clear	Nairobi	81/55	cloudy
Copenhagen	41/37	clear	Sydney	77/64	clear
Kiev	36/36	cloudy	Vienna	55/34	clear

WALT DISNEY WORLD COLLEGE PROGRAM

Walt Disney World Co. representatives will present an information session on the Walt Disney World College Program on Tuesday, March 17, 7:00 pm, in Justin Hall. Attendance at this presentation is required to interview for the SUMMER/FALL '92 COLLEGE PROGRAM. Interviews will be held following the presentation. The following majors are encouraged to attend: SUMMER—Business, Communications, Recreation, Theatre/Drama and Hospitality. FALL—all majors.

An Equal Opportunity Employer REMEMBER All of those alcohol messages you've heard, read, seen ... HAVE A SAFE SPRING BREAK This ad produced by the KSU Alcohol

& Other Drug Education Service.

Desert Storm troops lucky to emerge unscathed, pilot says

Leatherman gives that I was going to work." insight on Stealth, military operation

STEPHANIE LOEPPKE

One of the first fighter pilots to bomb Iraq when Operation Desert Storm began last year said on Saturday that American troops were fortunate to have emerged as unscathed as they did from the war.

Leatherman spoke at the annual area conference 1992 Military Ball at the Manhattan Holidome Saturday night. The Kansas State Air Force ROTC was the host of the ball.

"I personally thought there was no way in hell all of us would come back,"Leatherman said about the first wave of fighter planes to fly into Iraq.

Through the whole war, they were lucky, he said, and hardly got nicked.

We had more damage from weather- flying hail and thunderstorms. But not even a bullet nick very lucky. I'm glad the war ended when it did," Leatherman said, adding that the pilots were at the point where they were pressing their luck in their missions.

Leatherman is now involved in an exchange program within the mili-Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth.

Leatherman, aF-117 Stealth fighter pilot, referred to his overhead slides as he presented his "no script briefing" to give insight on the Stealth fighter plane and Operation Desert

He said he contributed to the idea for the Stealth when it was originally developed. It was considered a secret program, he said.

"I couldn't tell my wife, Nancy, where I was going every week," Leatherman said.

"I would leave the base on Monday mornings - Monday noon take a charter airline and disappear off into the desert. And I'd come back Friday, and all I could tell Nancy was

The top-secret airplane was built by a Burbank, Calif., contractor in the middle of town. They managed to move in and out without anyone knowing about it, Leatherman said.

The actual debut of the airplane was in September or November 1989 when a black-and-white picture was released, he said. No one could really tell what it looked like though, Leatherman said, because the plane is

In August 1990, the first squadron Fighter pilot Maj. Jerry of planes were transferred to Operation Desert Shield. By December, all the planes not being modified or tested were in Saudi Arabia.

"The plane is primarily a night ground-attack airplane," Leatherman said, "It drops bombs, which is a good business to be in, because that's all I've really known.'

Leatherman said the Stealth is a fairly quiet plane, except for take-off.

It also has a secure communications system, laser-guided bombs and other tactical munitions Leatherman said he was unable to discuss.

Before actually crossing the border, Leatherman said, he practiced every part of the mission except for actually dropping the bomb, "which got to be lots of fun in the end," he Leatherman said the Army desentary. He is in school with the Army at sitized Iraqis to large aircraft formations. Pilots would form the first wave of 10 planes, pair with the tankers and fly around the border. After a while, the Iraqis would not really think twice about it, he said.

Leatherman said he thought that routine gave the United States an edge on the first night of attack.

"Execute wolfpack" were the operational words for the late night of Jan. 15, the evening before the war started. Pilots had to match meeting times with the tankers. Starting time was 3 a.m., Baghdad time.

The crew had a radio silent departure so the enemy could not detect Americans were on their way.

Leatherman said he really appreciated the timeliness of the tanks during-

See STORM Page 10

Downed on the prairie

Neither the passenger nor the pilot were injured in the aircraft, which is owned by Spicer Aircraft of Manhattan.

Police ribbons mark the emergency landing spot of an aircraft that went down Friday evening south of Manhattan on the Konza Prairie.

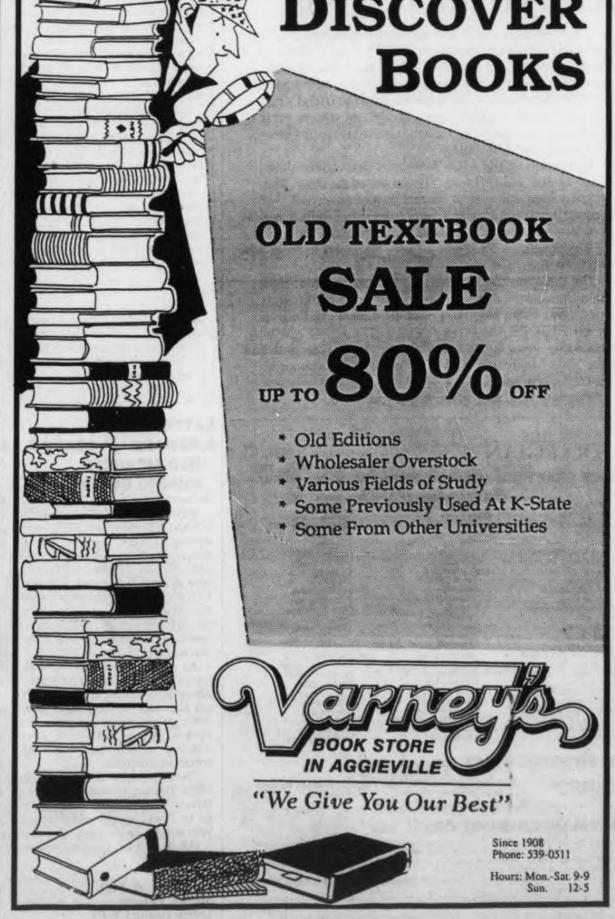

will relocate to

Burt Hall, Room 128, effective March 12, 1992.

Business hours: 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Telephone extention: 532-5710

Quilt contact them at: The NAMES Project Foundation 2362 Market Street San Francisco, CA 94114

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

athletic budget woes

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics needs to cut back its spending since its revenue will be down next year.

True, it just may be the only solution to the money crunch is to cut all departmental funding by 8 percent.

True, there are going to be losers. But why must the losers be the student athletes?

Though each department will see an 8-percent cut, the coaches and staff will still be making the same money they made this year. So what gets cut?

Scholarships. Operating budgets. Equipment: All the items a student athlete must have in order to compete.

Worse yet, if the Kansas Legislature approves a 2.5percent salary increase for state employees, the athletic department must mirror the University and duly raise its staff

Obviously, the athletic department must devise a plan that would help cushion the impact of the cuts on its sports teams.

There are proposals on the table, several of which could be implemented immediately if approved. Seemingly, the most feasible proposal would be the creation of beer gardens - places where beer could be purchased and consumed - at baseball, football and basketball games. Wichita State University, a Kansas Board of Regents school that has beer gardens at its sporting events, generated a $25,000 profit from the baseball beer garden alone, which was a big boom to the baseball team's operating budget.

The only stumbling block is the school administration's reservations about the proposal. Everyone who attends a football game knows hard liquor is smuggled into the stadium anyway, so this proposal might as well be accepted. There is no worthy reason for the administration's reluctance.

More money means more scholarships, more travel money, better equipment and, ultimately, championshipcaliber sports.

So, advocate this measure. Bring it up for a referendum and vote it in.

We know the old fogies drink in the Legends Room at Bramlage Coliseum. Let the students join the party. There are many who are more than willing to pay for it.

AIDS Quilt sponsors deserve thank-yous

There were panels with intricate, painstaking needlework. There were panels with only a name spray painted on a piece of a bed sheet. There were panels with pictures. There were panels with poems. There was a panel made by a friend next to the panel bearing the friend's name. There were panels for the famous, though most were for the uncelebrated. No matter how complicated; no matter how simple, each was devastating.

800 panels of the AIDS Memorial Quilt covered the walls of Ahearn Field House. They covered the floor. The Quilt uncovered our eyes to the real cost of the AIDS epidemic. It was only a small part of the entire quilt, which is expected to be comprised of 18,000 panels in the fall.

The panels — The Quilt — gave humanity to those who would be stereotyped into statistics.

For the opportunity to see, the K-State and Manhattan communities owe a debt of gratitude to Cindy Burke, Reita Currie, Don Fallon, Marilyn Lewis, Roseanne Proite, Dori Lambert, Mary Buchanan, Dorine Elsea, Jennifer Crawforth, Loleta Sump, Joan Smith and all those who worked with and for the KSU-Manhattan NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt Host Committee.

For your time and effort, thank you.

Beer gardens may fix Switch-hitting voters could turn tables

Hitler joke: A stocky man with loose curls and an Austrian accent appears in the headquarters of the British intelligence service in May 1945, removes his stuck-on moustache, and reports: "Secret agent 51 ... assignment completed ... Germany

George Bush must be working for the Bulgarians, maybe the Red Chinese. Or perhaps some international cabal based at Yale or Phillips Academy: The Plaid Menace. He must be stopped. I have a plan. Read on.

As the Winter Olympics pass, so does Bush's first term. Unlike his predecessor, Ronald Reagan, Bush has no guarantee of a second term.

Sure, it's likely he'll succeed, but Bush never united the Republican party behind his banner, as Reagan did. Reagan had no serious Republican opposition, while Bush has former Reagan and Nixon speechwriter Pat Buchanan dogging his heels. Bush seems annoyed with Buchanan, but it's a mask. Bush is plumb scared.

Unlike Bush, Buchanan has a brain. This brain thinks some disturbing thoughts, but they are the result of personal opinion, not public opinion polls.

Buchanan is more than a little scary. His America First idea has a mean hater tinge to it, but the message is appealing - appealing to David Duke supporters, that is. However, a president is not an emperor. His opinions are tempered by Congress and the courts. Few of Buchanan's conservative re-revolution plans could ever be enacted.

I am, however, a big supporter of Buchanan for the Republican

Bush has awful speechwriters, but he has so far managed to sell us several bad ideas, such as the Persian Gulf War and being friends with China. Bush is a goon who must be sent back to Maine or Texas or Paraguay or wherever he's from this week

Buchanan's been a pseudo-journalist so long that it's strange to imagine him as president. As with George Plimpton or Dick Cavett, who have also played the part of expert on television, there's a tendency to trust Buchanan, yet distrust him out of his television context. America bought Reagan, though, his Death Valley Days deathrattle voice in the bargain.

America's an alarming place. Weird things

The date of the Kansas primary is April 7.

Here's my plan to ruin the Bush administration. All you Democrats should re-register as Republicans. Go out and buy a few new dark suits, some red ties, contribute a few dollars to the Contra resistance. Join the John Birch Society for a week, have teas for candidates,

Most important, vote for Pat Buchanan in the Republican primary

On April 8, re-re-register as a Democrat, and vote for Tsongas, Kerry, Brown, Clinton, Harkin, Fulani or whomever in November. The chances your favorite son will be elected will be improved exponentially by a Buchanan nomination. Don't worry. Buchanan will withdraw long before he's really elected. The deconstructionist worm is playing around in his brain something fierce. He wants to tear down the Republican party and rebuild it in a more Libertarian image. Read his book, "Right From The Beginning." He means

All you Democrats should re-register as Republicans. Go out and buy a few new dark suits, some red ties, contribute a few dollars to the Contra resistance.

ED SKOOG

Latt and I sat in my father's car waiting for a traffic light to change at the intersection of Fourth and Evens in northern Pittsburgh, Penn. In front of us were two teen-age boys in a red convertible with the top down. They were bobbing their heads to the rhythm of their loud rock 'n' roll music.

The driver punched the passenger in the arm and laughed while the passenger punched him back. The passenger opened a can of beer and gave it to the driver. The driver immediately drank the beer and crushed the can in his hands. I watched the light change to green, and the convertible took off across the intersection, leaving behind a scent of burnt rubber and an empty beer can.

Matt flinched as soon as we heard a sound of breaking glass and iding metal. Looking straight ahead, we noticed the convertible stopped immediately with no warning from the brake lights. A cloud of steam rose from the front end of the convertible. A four-door, white luxury sedan rested motionless in front of the convertible about 10 feet away. The driver's side of the sedan was caved in about a foot from the front bumper to the end of the rear door. The convertible had smashed into the side of the sedan.

Motorists from all four sides of the intersection stopped their vehicles and ran to the scene of the accident.

I ran up to the sedan and saw the windshield was partially covered from the inside with bright red blood. I looked past the windshield into the sedan. A frail elderly lady was still strapped into her driver's seat. She was looking at the steering wheel. Her eyes were glossy and wide open. Her mouth was open and she was grasping for air. Her left shoulder appeared to be compressed into her torso. Blood squirted in a pulsating stream from a wound on her neck. I watched as her head slowly fell against the headrest and lay motionless. I noticed a large piece of glass embedded in her left ear. I turned away as I realized gray matter was oozing from the left posterior side of the skull.

s I looked at the convertible, I could hear people screaming for an ambulance. The front end of the car was smashed almost flatly up to the front tires. The windshield had two shattered marks about the size of basketballs on the driver's and passenger's side. Traces of blood and hair were entwined into the marks from inside.

The driver was alert and shook the passenger on the shoulder. His eyes widened.

"Are you OK?" he yelled to the passenger.

The passenger sat motionless with his chin resting on his chest. He had a small cut above his right eye and some scratches on his face.

The driver started to yell, "Why? Why?" over and over again. He ooked out at the surrounding crowd. I could see a cut above his left eye about two inches long. A small amount of blood was flowing down onto his cheek. He covered his face with his hands and began to weep. The passenger then raised his head and asked what had happened. The driver looked at the passenger and started to laugh as he thanked God for his mercy.

An ambulance arrived and slid to a stop beside the sedan. The sirens were turned off, and emergency medical technicians jumped out to help the injured. One of them approached the occupants of the convertible and

BARRY FRIDLEY GUEST asked if they were OK. After making sure they needed no immediate medical care, he approached his partner at the sedan. His partner was peering into the shattered window, shaking his head.

police squad car arrived and took statements from the witnesses. The elderly lady was transferred to the stretcher and covered from head to toe with a white sheet. The driver and passenger of the convertible were handcuffed and placed into the police car. The teen-age boys appeared to be in a daze as the ambulance drove off with the elderly lady.

Matt and I sat back in my father's car and waited for the police officer to motion us through the intersection. Once on our way, we decided to stop at a convenience store. Inside, Matt bought four six-packs of Budweiser and a sandwich. I looked at Matt and said:

'Yeah, Indiana is pretty far. Maybe we need more.'

Barry Fridley is a sophomore in philosophy

OLLEGIAN

NEWS STAFF (532-6556) A & E/Silo Editor Editor

Erwin Seba Managing Editor Darla Goodman News Editor Design & Graphics Editor Greg Branson
Photography Editor
J. Kyle Wyatt
Opinion Page Editor
Mike Venso
Assistant Opinion Page
Editor

Editor
Jodell Lamer,
Campus Editor
Cindy Briggs
Assistant Campus Editor
Denise Uphoff

Sports Editor
Patrick Obley
Assistant Sports Editor David Svoboda Government/City Editor Christine Vendel Features Editor

Copy Chief Samantha Farr Copy Editors Amy Cox Jodell Lamer Eve Wilson Staff Reporters Derek Bohlken Shawn Bruce Victoria Cherrie Amy Cox Ulrike Dauer Lisa Edmunds Mark Engler Stephanie Fuqua Jason Hamilton Tara Hun Erin Perry

Kristeen Young Sports Columnis Margo Keller

Erin Perry
Niranjan Rao
Roger Steinbrock
Derek Thoman
Andrew Woodward
lina Corresponden
Vicki Kindel

Advertising Manager David Hamilton

ADVERTISING STAFF (532-6560)

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postagpaid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103,

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom. Kedzie Hall 116. Redzie Hall 110.
Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

LETTERS ▶ BEWARE OF TEXAS'S

RED MEASELS DURING BREAK K-Staters,

RED ALERT! RED as in RED MEASLES! Alert to all of you heading to south Texas for spring break. There have been several hundred cases of measles reported there recently. There are more than 150,000 collegians bound to arrive there in the next 1-2 weeks for sun, fun and ... hopefully, not measles. Some may come home with more than sunburn.

As opposed to changing your travel plans, I would strongly advise the following: If you haven't had a measles (re)vaccination since 1980, get one before you leave. The sooner, the better - so your immune system can build up protective antibodies.

Our last outbreak here was in 1990. Protect yourself and your University colleagues who do not go to Texas by checking/getting your measles vaccination.

All of you have a great recess. Happy Trails!

Larry Moeller, M.D. Medical director Lafene Health Center

▶ COLLEGIAN WRECK COVERAGE VIEWED AS INFORMATIVE

Editor, On Wednesday, Feb. 26, 1

opened my Collegian during breakfast. I eventually found my way to the opinion section, where I was disturbed by the letter, "WRECK COVERAGE BY COLLEGIAN VIEWED AS DISGRACE.

In the letter, it is stated how friends and neighbors of Mike Mauldin were "accosted" by the "grotesque image" of their friend. Their friend, Mike, had just been involved in an accident in which a car and motorcycle had collided.

Mike, unfortunately, was injured in the accident, which left him with two broken wrists, a broken nose and facial lacerations. The friends wrote the Collegian because they were "shocked that you (the Collegian) would print something so grotesque, so inhumane ... " as the picture of Mike after the accident when, " ... simple text would have sufficed."

I'm writing to say the Collegian was doing its job, and a fine job at that. The photographer was able to capture the anguish in the victim's face, the air of excitement in the area and the feeling of how relentless accidents involving humans can be.

It's been said many times that a picture is worth a thousand words. This is true, also in this case. One can almost get the feeling of being at the site of the wreck when he looking at the picture. This is excellent journalistic coverage of a traumatic event. In this situation, text on the event would not have been sufficient.

There are certainly ethics that must come into consideration before an editor will allow a picture to run. He or she must take into account the feelings of the individual, as well as the general public who will be reading the paper. To weigh both sides and to make a decision can be hard, and it

Not everyone is going to be happy with every decision, but the editor makes the decision based on which group will benefit most from a given story. He or she then decides how much of that story should be included or excluded from print.

This situation involving a motorcycle/car wreck is a very touchy one.

For example, the debate often arises as whether or not helmets must be worn or if stricter laws should be imposed for motorcycle operators. By being in a situation of debate such as this, extreme sides of both arguments should be presented in ways the general public can become better educated.

The Collegian is, in this case, a public educator. The Collegian presented ideas from one side in a thought-provoking manner and printed a picture to weigh heavily on people's minds the next time they might be faced with a similar circumstance involving riding a motorcycle or passing laws for the operators of motorcycles.

I commend the Kansas State Collegian for upholding good values in publication and for making the tough and sometimes touchy decisions that arise in everyday activities.

For properly weighing moral and ethical values in such a way as to ensure coverage of controversial topics and still printing thorough and informative stories, the Collegian and its staff should be given the recognition they deserve for not only covering these controversial stories, but all the stories they print.

Zach Mills

Senate repeals aid bill

Unemployment-benefits package contains legislation to reduce loan defaults

STACY WATERS

Collegian The bill passed by the U.S. Congress in November 1991 extending unemployment benefits contained a little publicized extension — credit checks on all students applying for federal financial aid.

The bill was repealed Friday by the Senate.

The legislation was designed to reduce defaults on student loans, said Larry Moeder, director of student financial assistance. The savings would then offset increased costs for unem-

A survey conducted by the U.S. General Accounting Office showed the majority of students defaulting on loans were area vocational technical

Come in and see us for the Best Prices in Town on New and Used LPs, CDs and cassettes.

We carry all styles from country to rap. We buy, sell and trade CDS, LPs and cassettes.

Vital Vinyl In Aggieville

1118 Moro 539-3160 Mon.-Sat. 11-8 Sun. 12-5 students, not university students, said Kim Caves, non-traditional student affairs director for Student Body President Jackie McClaskey's cabinet. Under this law, there are students who could be deemed ineligible for the Stafford Loan Program, Moeder Traditionally, students who have a history of bad credit could come back to school and turn that around, he said. This bill would prevent what student aid programs are trying to Caves said she agreed.

"The people who need the money are the ones who are going to be hurt,' she said.

Students who do not have a credit history do not have to worry about negative consequences.

'No credit rating does not indicate a poor credit rating," Moeder said. A maximum of $25 could be charged for the credit checks.

"The $25 is very misleading," Moeder said.

The actual cost of a credit check is usually less than $3, he said. The lender or the guarantee agency generally cover the cost. It is rarely passed on to the student.

Dance Lessons Monday & Tuesday

776-8770

Brussels $315* Athens $479* Guatemala $365*

Sydney $577* *faires are each way from Kansas City based on a roundtrip purchase. Taxies not included and restric-tions apply. Call for other destinations, both one

Council Travel

Headliner Craig Peters Featuring Red Tolnai March 2 & 3 9 p.m.

Private Club Memberships Available 18 To Enter 21 To Drink

1122 Moro

776-7726

REC SERVICES

SOFTBALL AND INDIVIDUAL SPORTS INTRAMURAL ENTRY DEADLINE

> Thursday, March 5, 5 p.m. at the Rec Complex-Rec Services Office

MANDATORY

SOFTBALL Managers Meeting

Wednesday, March 4, 4 p.m. Union Forum Hall

Must attend both clinics: Monday, March 16, 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212 Tuesday, March 17, 5 p.m. Rec Complex

MAKE EXTRA CASH!!!

SOFTBALL

OUTDOOR RENTAL CENTER OPEN

Reserve equipment for spring break trips now.

Sunday-Friday 4-6 p.m. Saturday 11 a.m.-Noon Full line of camping equipment available 532-6980

Come in and have our luncheon buffet, it includes soup, salad bar and Hot foods for only $4.95 Monday thru Friday.

Plum Tree

* Holiday Dnn

530 Richards Dr.

11 a.m.-1:30 p.m

INDIA STUDENTS ASSSOCIATION proudly presents India Fest '92

an evening of great Indian food, exhibits and entertainment

ON: Saturday, March 21, 1992. The Manhattan Middle School 9th and Poyntz

Manhattan. Exhibition: 5:30 to 7:45 p.m. Dinner: 5:30 to 7:15 p.m. Entertainment: 7:45 to 9 p.m.

Admission:

1. For dinner and entertainment-

Dinner tickets will have to be purchased. Costs $5 per person

2. For entertainment alone-

Entertainment Pass has to be obtained. Entertainment Pass in FREE!

Dinner tickets can be purchased at the Union, by the Cafetaaria entrance on March 4 and 5, between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. or by calling 537-5042 prior to March 16. Entertainment passes must be obtained at the Union on the above

HURRY! ONLY A LIMITED NUMBER OF TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE.

*No tickets or passes will be sold or made available at the venue. This event is partly sponsored by the I.C.C.

The Endellion String Quartet Thursday, March 5, 8 p.m.

The "Dellies" took their name from a picturesque village in Cornwall and have won acclaim for the intelligence, polish, and vitality of their performances. For McCain they've programmed Haydn (Op. 71, No. 2), Britten (No.1, Op. 25), and Beethoven (Op. 59, No. 3).

"Their reading was a powerful one, impec-cable in balance and sense of timing and above all so fresh and spontaneous." (The

Student/Child: $6 Senior Citizen: $10 Public/Faculty: $12

Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Fine Arts fee.

e statem, and a second This Week's Specials Taco Burgers 2 for $1.45 reg. $1.15 each Burrito Dinner $2.77 reg. $3.70 Good through March 7, 1992 Where good friends get togethe Overlooking Westloop 539-2091

Hardees. 537-2526

Hardees

Offer good thru May 31, 1992. Up to two offers allowed per order.

Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visit, please. Not good in combination with any other offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Offer good at participating Hardee's restaurants. 4479 © 1991 Hardee's Food Systems, Inc.

Roast Beef Sub w/ purchase of Fries & Drink

Offer good thru May 31, 1992. Up to two offers allowed per order.

Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visit, please. Not good in combination with any other offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Other good during regular functivisioner hours at participating Harder's restaurants. 4479 © 1991 Harder's Food Systems, foc.

Hardees Turkey or Ham 'N' Cheese Sub w/ purchase of Fries & Drink Offer good thru May 31, 1992. Up to two offers allowed per order.

Hardees Only Chicken Fillet Sandwich

Offer good thru May 31, 1992. Up to two offers allowed per order.

Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per west, please. Not good in combination with any other ofter. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Other good during regular functivitimer hours at participating Hardee's restaurants. 4479 © 1991 Hardee's Food Systems, Inc.

Hardees Only Cheeseburger

Offer good thru May 31, 1992. Up to two offers allowed per order. Please present this coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visal, please. Not good in combination with any office offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales tax due. Offer good during regular lunch/dinner hours at participating Harder's restaurants. 4479 © 1991 Hauter's Food Systems, Inc.

Sausage & Egg or Bacon & Egg Biscuit

Offer good thru May 31, 1992. Up to two offers allowed per order. fease present first coupon before ordering. One order per coupon and one coupon per customer, per visit, please. No good in combination with any other offer. Cash value 1/100th of 1 cent. Customer must pay any sales for due. Offer good during regular breaklast hours at participating Harder's restaurants. 4479 © 1991 Narder's Food Systems, Inc.

Arizona (22-4) beat Oregon 104-56; beat Oregon State 70-62
 Missouri (20-5) lost to Kansas State 73-69.

Missouri (20-5) lost to Kansas State 73-69.
 UNLV (25-2) beat Fresno State 84-67.
 UNLV (25-2) beat Fresno State 84-67.
 Ohio State (19-5) beat Purdue 71-64; beat No. 12 Michigan State 78-65.
 Arkansas (22-6) beat Aubum 82-74; beat Mississippi State 84-76.

10. North Carolina (18-7) lost to Maryland 82-80.

INDOOR TRACK

Cats teams finish 4th at Big 8 Championships

6 qualify for NCAA nationals. March 13-14

FRANK KLEEMANN

LAWRENCE - The Big Eight Indoor Track and Field Championships Friday and Saturday in Lawrence proved once again that Nebraska remains the dominant force in track and field, and K-State is a national powerhouse in high jump.

Nebraska came out of the twoday event at the Anschutz Pavillion sweeping both the men's and women's competition.

In the men's meet, K-State finished fourth with 68 points behind the Huskers (116 points), Iowa State (103) and Oklahoma Scoring 69 points, the women's team also finished fourth. Between Nebraska (166.5) and K-State, Kansas placed second (79) and Oklahoma third (77).

Cats coach John Capriotti said he valued the two fourth places differently.

"In the men's meet I actually think we did about everything we could," he said. "The men had a good meet. We scored about what I

With the women's team result, however, Capriotti wasn't totally satisfied.

"On the women's side, I thought we would have a chance for second with OU," he said.

"But KU came up at the end and beat us both. There was some disappointment in the women's team effort, but we had some good individual performances."

The brightest spot in the team was high-jumper Connie Teaberry.

Teaberry, a four-time NCAA all-, American, defended her indoor Big Eight title clearing a new personal best of 6 feet, 2-1/4 inches. With this mark, Teaberry is the new Big Eight recordholder and qualified for the NCAA Championships in Indianapolis with the second-best height in the nation. "Connie's high jump was fantastic," Capriotti said.

"If she could do this at the NCAA meet, then she has a hell of a shot of winning," assistant coach Cliff Rovelto said. "Every year, there is 6-2, 6-3 (to win), and she's going to be right there."

With that performance, Teaberry was selected as the best women's performer of the meet. Teaberry said she was happy with her jumps, particularly after being disappointed with her season. She is still limited by a previous

"I've jumped so poorly up to now," she said after the win. "I'd try to stay vertical over the bar. I was concentrating on that and focused to get to the nationals."

With her victory, Teaberry also defeated teammate Gwen Wentland, who came into the meet with the best mark. Wentland finished third, flopping 5'11-1/2".

Wentland, whose height of 6'1-1/2" was third in the nation, said she is now looking forward to the

'My big goal are the nationals, and maybe it was good to lose for me today," she said. "I think I learned something from that meet. That's most important.'

In the 600-yards, Debra Malone finished second with a time of 1:21.62 minutes.

Malone said she was disappointed with the outcome after leading up to the finish line. There, Nebraska's Susan Rehm was first, just two-hundredths of a second ahead.

"I didn't see her passing me," Malone said. "I felt like I was Senior Janet Treiber placed second in the 5,000-meters and helped the distance medley relay team to a silver.

"I was pleased with the 5,000," Treiber said.

"I knew Monique (Ecker) was winning it. Coach Capriotti told me to stay with her and KU's Julia Saul, and it felt good through 1-1/2 miles. In the last lap, Julia was slowing down, and I ran very hard."

Capriotti said Treiber's performance coupled with Paulette Staats's fourth-place finish in the 1,000-meters, filled his expectations of the middle-distance runners.

K-State showed team depth in the long jump as well, collecting 7 points by placing Kathy Janicke, Wentland and Dee Dee Tribue fourth, fifth and sixth respectively.

"It was pretty fantastic," Rovelto

"We never thought we would make 7 points there. It was a great effort. Dee Dee has scored like never before, and Kathy showed an unbelievable effort."

However, by not scoring in the sprint events, K-State did not compete as well as predicted.

'The women's sprint really hurt us," Capriotti said. "We had fault starts in the women's hurdles when we finished second."

The men's team was led by R.D. Cogswell, who won the high jump Friday. Cogswell captured the Big Eight title with a personal best of Triple-jumper Dante McGrew didn't have the fortune Cogswell had. With his last attempt, Robert Thomas of Nebraska passed McGrew to win the event. McGrew's personal best of 50-10 was good for second place.

"I'm satisfied with that, it was good. But I wished I wouldn't have passed," he said, referring to the second jump in the final. McGrew skipped the second attempt to spare his sore ankle. "I do regret that I passed that."

"Dante had a good meet and competed really well," Rovelto said. "Coming in the meet, he was certainly capable to win, but he did everything what we expected."

Thomas Randolph will have to wait another year to win the indoor conference title in the 55-meters. After finishing third in 1991. Randolph improved to a secondplace finish this year.

"I thought it was my year to win the Big Eight," he said. "I'm disappointed because I thought I would win."

The reason for the unfilled expectation was the start.

"I was long in the blocks and lost my concentration," he said. "I didn't get as good a start as I usually do out of the blocks.'

"I think Thomas was rocking forward and thought they would call them back," Capriotti said.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

K-State distance runner, Jared Storm, rounds the corner of the men's 1000-meter finals at the Big-Eight Indoor Track Meet Saturday at Anschutz Sports Pavilion in Lawrence. Storm finished fifth.

"But they didn't, and they shot the gun. That race was over (for Randolph). I was surprised Thomas got second. I tell you what, that was a hell of run."

Gerald Benton, Capriotti said, was late coming out of the blocks as well. As a result, Benton got sixth.

"But Gerald did a good job in the long jump Friday," Capriotti said.

With football player Benton finishing fourth in the long jump and dectathlete Jason Meredith at sixth, K-State scored points with two non-specialists. "The men did as well as the women in long jump," Rovelto said.

"Benton's fourth with just two practice sessions was fantastic. Jason had a great effort. He had never scored before in the Big and fifth in the 1,000-meters. With K-State's middle-distance male runners were best represented by Anthony Williams.

In both the 800-meters and the mile, Williams finished third. He also participated on the mile relay team, which finished fourth.

"I thought the middle-distance guys - Jared Storm, Randy Helling and Todd Trask - did a great job," Capriotti said. "Anthony also had great runs." Helling and Storm finished third Eight, and now he does. Those guys Jason Goertzen finishing seventh, it was the deepest men's team performance of the day.

Jonathon Brown of Iowa State was voted top men's performer of Brown won the 5,000-meters, and he 3,000-meters with a new Big Eight record. Brown was also a member of the winning distance medley relay team.

OVER THE BAR

Teaberry's leap good for NCAA meet

Senior named top female performer after record-setting leap

MARGO KELLER

Connie Teaberry's outlook on the high jump has changed during the last two weeks as she stands at the top of the winner's

Teaberry, a senior from St. Louis, leaped 6-feet, 2-1/4 inches to set a new Big Eight Indoor record. Her determination allowed her to be named the top woman performer of the Big Eight meet.

Prior to her performance at the conference meet at Lawrence's Anschutz Sports Pavilion, Teaberry said she was ready to quit.

Contending with the pressures of graduation in May and coping with her right knee problem began to effect her jumping, she said. "I was to the point of quitting. I was thinking 'I'm graduating, and I have to do certain things, and I'm trying to jump,'... I acquired a hip injury, and I thought if it's not one thing it's another," Teaberry said.

"I just gave up and thought that my knee injury was enough.'

A knee injury she acquired during highschool basketball in 1987 had continually flared up and became bothersome between indoor and outdoor season last year. Last summer, Teaberry had arthroscopic surgery on her knee, which already had little ligament remaining.

This season, until Saturday's meet, Teaberry wore a cumbersome knee brace to support her knee. While the trainers encouraged her to wear her brace for stability, Teaberry opted to jump without it.

"They said it was up to me and my decision," Teaberry said. " There is no ligament there, and there is a chance it could hyperextend or pop out - I call it pop out, because that's what it feels like.

"I jumped without the brace last week (in practice one day) and almost made 6'1". so that's what made us decide to jump without the brace and see if that makes a difference."

The real difference came in her encouragement from her coach, parents and "A couple of weeks ago she left practice and was like, 'I don't even know if I want to do this anymore," assistant coach Cliff Rovelto said. "She was about as low as you can get. That was only two weeks ago.

"We did some talking, and I was able to convince her that she was not jumping poorly. She wasn't that far away. More of the problem was letting herself believe that she wasn't that far away.

Teaberry, who said she is planning to attend nursing school in August after graduation, stuck with it.

"I look at things from a different perspective. People were telling me I was putting to much pressure on myself," Teaberry said.

After the talks and improved practices, Teaberry, along with men's high-jumper R.D. Cogswell were the only two K-Staters to claim indoor championship titles in

"She has been to the national meet six times now," Rovelto said.

"As a freshman, there were only two or three freshman in the country who got to the national meet. Connie was one of them, and she was also an All-American as a freshman. You don't do that unless you are a hell of a competitor, and if you're not

Despite being the defending indoor champion and having the third best height coming into the meet, Teaberry said she wasn't concentrating on winning.

'I haven't done very well this season, and I went in with the attitude that I wasn't thinking of the record," Teaberry said.

Not until the University of Colorado's Karol Damon, the 1991 NCAA third-place high-jumper, and Teaberry were left with a height of 6'1-3/4" did Teaberry think about wanting to win the Big Eight title.

The 1-1/2 inches over NCAA qualifications proved no obstacle for Teaberry, as she adeptly cleared it on the first attempt. Damon settled for second place in the conference after only safely clearing 6'3/4".

While no competitors remained, Teaberry didn't just settle for first. The bar increased to 6'3-1/2", a record unmatched in the nation, which Teaberry attempted

While she couldn't safely clear the bar, her jump of 6'2-1/4" still stands as the second best in the nation, well over the NCAA qualifying mark of 6'3/4".

Teaberry said she isn't worrying about her knee as much as she is worrying about competed at the NCAA Nationals March 13-14 in Indianapolis.

"I'm going to keep doing what I need to do," Teaberry said.

"I'm happy I'm going. The Big Eight is over, and I have to keep training and go in there with a competitive attitude. I jumped well, and that's dandy. But was is that worth if I can't do that at nationals, that a whole different meet?"

But walking away with the top female performance honor at the Big Eight meet isn't an easy feat, Rovelto said.

"I think what that says is all the coaches recognize just what a good performance that is," Rovelto said.

"Usually, that type of thing goes to somebody who had won three or four races. A high-jumper doesn't have much of a shot individual performances, like winning double races and things like that. That, more than anything, should tell people just how good a performance that "These people know track and field,"

Rovelto said. "There were some great

'Short' Cogswell stands tall following big leap

Mental approach key to topping bar that is 'way over my head'

LAWRENCE - Height didn't matter to R.D. Cogswell after he set a personal record to win the high jump at the Big Eight Indoor Championships.

Cogswell's leap of 7 feet, 2-1/2 inches at Anschutz Sports Pavilion at Lawrence Friday also set a new Wildcat record. Cogswell improved the mark he set earlier this year at the Husker Invite in Lincoln, Neb.

"I'm always the shortest jumper," Cogswell said. "The bar is way over my head, so I just go over things mentally and just try to get myself psyched up as much as I can.

But Cogswell, a 6-1 senior, was able to leap 13-1/2 inches over his own stature. With 12 other jumpers, Cogswell said, he thought the competition was more challenging than last year's outdoor performances.

"I felt like it pushed me. I was really surprised that everyone jumped as well as they did," Cogswell said.

In last year's outdoor championships, Cogswell won with a leap of 6'10-3/4". Opting not to participate in several indoor meets this season, Cogswell said he still intently prepared for the weekend

"Coach Rovelto and I have been really been excited since practice has gone really well," Cogswell said.

"I got here, and I was seriously struggling today. I just couldn't get my last two steps down.' Rovelto agreed that Cogswell's performance in Lawrence wasn't as strong as his performance in the previous week's practice. "His last sessions in practice in my opinion were significantly better than how he jumped today in the meet," Rovelto said. "That's part of it. When you get in competition, it's not as easy. ... You just have to make it happen, and he made it As he shows by warming up in a black T-shirt with "JESUS" written on it in neon letters and donning headphones before each jump, Cogswell said he mentally approaches every attempt. "I try to focus what I went through to get there as far as training and how many hours I put in," Cogswell said.

"I pray before every jump and then go through my approach about five times mentally. Over and over, I tell myself I can do it.'

accomplishing his first attempt at the height of 7'2-1/2". 'It was unbelievable. I was on cloud nine# Cogswell said. "I couldn't believe

The key jump for Cogswell was that I had made it on the first attempt." At this height, Cogswell's only remaining competitors were Nebraska's Peter Malesev and Darwin Vander Hoef of Iowa State. Vander Hoef was unable to jump that height, and Malesev took two attempts to clear the bar. Succeeding at that height not only gave Cogswell the edge in the competition ,but it also put him 2 inches from the NCAA qualifications mark.

"The 7'2-1/4" he jumped was in the range of what it would take to get to Nationals, but we felt pretty sure that

See COGSWELL Page 7

CATS BASKETBALL

UPSET! Cats down No. 6 Tigers 73-69

Tourney hopes now realistic for 15-10 Cats

DAVID SVOBODA

No one in purple and white wanted to buy a vowel after this one, and no one was quite sure as to whether the puzzle had three or four

But K-State's game of postseason Wheel of Fortune took a decidedly good turn Saturday, as the Wildcats knocked off No. 6 Missouri 73-69 in Bramlage Coliseum.

In so doing, K-State, now 15-10 overall and 5-7 in the Big Eight, may have inched ever so closer to firming up a NIT bid - buy an I or, dare any Cat say it, a NCAA bid - buy a big pair of As.

"It's big, because we felt like we had to beat somebody ranked in the Top 10 to get some credibility," K-State Coach Dana Altman said of the win over the Tigers, now 20-5 overall and 8-4 in the Big Eight.

That K-State was able to beat Mizzou was due in large part to double-figure scoring efforts by three Cats, but possibly even in larger part, Altman said, because Gaylon Nickerson shut down Missouri All-American candidate Anthony Peeler with the game on the line.

"We knew they were going to go to Peeler," Altman said of the sequence of events inside of 10 seconds left with K-State clinging to a 71-69 lead and Missouri in possession of the ball. "I thought Gaylon stayed with him and slid his

Nickerson said his mission was easy - stop Peeler from doing what Steve Woodberry had done for Kansas a week earlier: shoot down

"Something had to be done," the junior said of his duel with the senior All-Big Eighter. "We couldn't let it happen again.

"I just tried to deny him the ball, and if he caught it, I knew most definitely I wasn't going to let him have a three.'

Indeed, Peeler didn't get off a forced him inside toward the hole, and then slid over and partially deflected Peeler's shot, sending it flying toward the corner of the court, where it was picked up by Askia Jones.

seconds left, and with 2.2 showing on the clock, he was fouled by Mizzou's Lamont Frazier. Two foul shots and one long inbounds pass later, and this one was over, students storming the floor and all.

K-State forward Askia Jones tries to knock a loose rebound back into play as he is surrounded by Wildcats and Missouri players during the first half of their game Saturday in Bramlage Coliseum. The Cats upset sixth ranked Missouri 73-69. Jones scored 20 points in the victory.

And though most K-Staters coaches, players and fans - took a rather conservative approach to all of this tourney gamesmanship and hysteria, at least one Wildcat who played a prominent role in the win was up front.

"It opens a lot of eyes," senior center Wylie Howard said of the win, "and especially on the NCAA shot outside the arc. Nickerson committee. We still have two ranked teams left to play, and if we play well against them, we've got a

As big as Nickerson's defensive play was in preserving victory, it was Howard's clutch performance Jones' grab came with three at the free throw line that got the Cats the lead.

With 35 seconds left and the game knotted at 69-69, Howard was fouled by Missouri's Jevon Crudup. The foul was Crudup's fifth, and put K-State into the 10-team foul, two-shot bonus. And so Howard strolled to the line for a two-shot opportunity.

The senior center - like Nickerson - had just one thing in mind: Don't send the fans home for a second-straight Saturday without

"I looked at the crowd and said to myself, 'I'm not missing,' Howard said in recounting his approach as he went to the line.

Howard was correct in what he had told himself.

First charity shot up, cash. Second toss up, cash again.

Howard ended the game with 16 points, joining Jones, who had a team-high 20, and Vince Jackson, who had a career-high 18, as Cats in double figures.

aforementioned trio, no other Cat had more than 7 points.

All of that wasn't very important on this day, a day in which K-State shot a sizzling 62.5 percent from the floor during the second 20 minutes, and continued their recent improvement in that area.

"A lot of it is confidence," Altman said of his team's recent strong efforts on the offensive end, efforts which appear to have justified his early statements that he had a good-shooting team. "Right now, we feel a little more comfortable shooting the ball."

Altman said that confidence carries over into all aspects of the competitive, and the guys are the court were not consistent with playing with more of a purpose," he those of our basketball program," said of the team's recent surge in Altman said.

In fact, other than the conference play, which has seen K-State go 5-4 in the last nine loop this Saturday afternoon up best.

he said. Want to buy a vowel, Wylie?

NOTE - Before Saturday's forward Trasel Rone has been dismissed from the team.

had been having a rollercoaster season with eight double-figure games at home, but none on the differences as the reason for the dismissal.

Trasel's priorities on and off

LADY CATS Despite loss, team avoids last

STEVEN ROCK

STILLWATER, OKLA. The good news is that Iowa State lost.

That, and that alone, kept the Lady Cats from claiming sole possession of the Big Eight cellar.

The bad news is that Oklahoma State hosted the Lady Cats Sunday afternoon and sent them home with yet another tough loss, 85-56.

"It was a bad game for us," said Coach Susan Yow.

The Lady Cats finished the season with a disappointing 5-22 record, 2-12 in the conference. But Iowa State, who played host to Oklahoma, was defeated as well. That loss kept the Lady Clones alone at the bottom of the Big Eight.

Yow said that Sunday's loss was the result of of poor shooting and poorer defense.

In the opening half, the Lady Cats shot just 21 percent, connecting on only 8 of 38 attempts.

"We just came out as cold as ice," Yow said. "We couldn't buy a basket."

The Cowgirls didn't have

"In the first half, our defense was nowhere to be found."

That opening half ended with Oklahoma State atop a 54-24 lead. And although the Lady Cats played tougher in the second half, the damage had already been done.

When the final buzzer sounded to signal the end of the game, the statistics showed that the Lady Cats had made just 21 of 74 shots.

On a brighter note, two members of the K-State squad finished with doubledoubles. Junior Leah Honeycutt tallied 13 points and 11 rebounds, and freshman Pam Stoltz, who also scored 13 points, grabbed 15 boards. The two forwards lead the team in

With Iowa State's loss, the Lady Cats drew the seventh seed and will face Colorado in the opening round of the Big Eight tournament this weekend in Salina.

BASEBALL

Cats go 4-0 in weekend twinbills

A smile came to K-State baseball coach Mike Clark's face after the second game of a doubleheader against Missouri Western.

After a disappointing loss to topranked Wichita State Thursday, the K-State baseball team bounced back this weekend and swept double-headers from Friends University and Missouri Western to give the Wildcat coach 501 wins in his coaching career.

Another reason to grin was that his squad put 83 runs on the scoreboard while surrendering just 23 to the opposition.

"We had some great hitting," Clark said after the 21-9 win in the second game of the Missouri Western twinbill. "We hit all over the field all weekend. We got guys coming here to compete in every inning.

On Saturday, K-State knocked

Cogswell

Rovelto said.

to three attempts.

experience.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

wouldn't hold up, so it would take 7'2-1/2"," assistant coach Cliff big thing - trying to get that height

7'3-1/2", the showdown for first depended Cogswell and Malesev's ability to clear the bar in one of up

While Malesev, a freshman from

"I was 19 years old, so trying to Yugoslavia, claimed the height advantage, Cogswell had the compare Cogswell and me, I hope

I'll jump higher than 7'2-1/2" when so he could get to nationals."

"Besides winning, that was the

After raising the bar 1 inch to Friends in both games by scores of 22-3 and 25-1. In Sunday's first game with the Griffons, the Cats finished on top with 15-10 win.

The K-State offense hammered out 71 hits during the four games. Twelve of them were home runs.

One of K-State's top hitters in the four games was All-America shortstop Craig Wilson. Wilson went 12 for 17, hitting two home runs, a double, two triples and 15 runs batted in. In the second game with Friends, he went for the cycle, hitting a home run, triple, double and a single.

Wilson took over the Wildcats' career charts with most career atbats, along with gaining third in RBIs, fourth in triples. He is only two hits away of taking over the hits chart.

"He had an All-American weekend," said Clark of Wilson's performances. "They had to pitch to him because of Brian Culp and Jeff Ryan batting behind him."

Culp's six-game hitting streak was ended in Saturday's first game against Friends. The left-fielder had a home run, a double and four RBIs in three games.

Ryan went eight of 11 hitting, with a home run, a double and four RBIs in three games at catcher.

Another bright spot in the fourgame weekend was third basman Scott McFall, who extended his hitting streak to eight games by going eight for 17 with three doubles, a stolen base and 12 RBIs.

Designated hitter Jason Spalitto hit nine of 12 with three home runs, a double and four RBIs in three

The winning pitchers for the Cats against Friends were Sean Pederson (1-0) in game one and Brian Hierholzer (1-1) in game two.

Against the Griffons, Dan Driskill (2-0) and Pat Ralston (2-1) were the winning pitchers.

momentarily crouched behind the mats and waited to view Malesev's final attempt -the decisive factor in the competition.

attempt barely cleared the bar, his impact knocked the bar down, giving the victory to Cogswell.

that I could win this today, because I have really been struggling so much indoors," Cogswell said.

Big Eight Indoor Championships. He said he was able to draw on his confidence as well as faith to

"I just give God the credit for everything," Cogswell said.

"I'm always the shortest one, and someone might look at me and think I'm not a high-jumper. It's a God-given talent, and I want to

The K-State lacrosse team played a tough Kansas City team Saturday at Memorial Stadium and matched them stride for stride - in the second half. In the deciding first half, and consequently lost a physical game by a final count of 14-9. "If we would have played as well in the first half as we played in however, K-State was outscored 8-2

the second, we would have won,"said Wildcat coach Curt "If we would have had one more quarter, we would have won the game," said Tondo Waldron of the attack unit. "We had a lot more stamina than they did." But it was the opening 30 minutes that drilled the Wildcats into an inescapable trench. The team from Kansas City opened the game with five goals in the opening quarter. In fact, up until Waldron's goal with 30 seconds remaining in the quarter, the most the fans had to cheer was Stu Robson's jarring hit of a Kansas City player that was followed by a mellow round of applause.

The second quarter opened the gap to six goals as the Wildcats once again managed just one goal while yielding three. Matt Kinnan, who tied the Kansas City team lead with four goals, finished off the first-half scoring with an unassisted goal. At the start of the second half, the Wildcats made a charge and seemed to be on the verge of a comeback. K-State outscored Kansas City 3-2 in the third quarter and at one point had rattled off three consecutive goals, including two by Jed Dunham, who led the team with three tallies. But just as quickly as the Wildcats had narrowed the margin to three, at 10-7, Kansas City rallied for four unanswered goals.

And that was a lead K-State couldn't overcome.

Despite the final score, which evened K-State's record at 1-1, the team remained upbeat.

"The score didn't reflect how well we played," said Robson, who knocked in a pair for the Wildcats. "Everybody just played great."

And despite that final score, Kansas City acknowledged it was a hard-fought game.

"The guys played well," said Sandy Kemper, who notched four tallies for Kansas City. "It was a real good game."

K-State's offensive potential didn't go unnoticed.

"K-State played real well," said Chuck Ozonoff, president of the Kansas City club. "They have a great offense."

against Missouri at home, but don't expect that game to be as physical as the bout with Kansas City.

The Wildcats will play April 4

"Everybody just went out there and tried to knock each other's heads off," Thurman said.

Robson said he thinks that mentality be there until their next confrontation with Kansas City.

"Next time, we'll get 'em,' Robson said. "That's all there is to

"Cogswell is a great jumper. He shouldn't be satisfied with that result, because he is rather old. He is a senior, and he should have jumped much more."

I'm his age," Malesev said.

The experience at conference meets was a definite concentration factor, Cogswell said. "Seriously, it is different when you come in as a senior than when you come in as a freshman, because you're scared," Cogswell said. "You put a lot of undue pressure on yourself when you are a freshman or sophomore.' Malesev's towering frame gave him the advantage in approaching the bar, but he said he was discontented with his performance and plagued with his ankle injury he sustained last November. "I was scared actually because ... was very pessimistic about my ankle injury from last year, While Malesev contended with a swollen ankle, Cogswell concentrated on his last two steps. After taking turns, neither jumper could clear the bar at 7'3-1/2".

Cogswell said although he wasn't excited about jumping first,

by clearing the bar on the lower height of 7'2-1/2", Malesev had the Malesev said.

additional pressure.

After his third effort, Cogswell While Malesev's third and final

"It really made everything great

Cogswell placed sixth in the last make sure he gets all the glory."

We're better, we're more

But Howard may have summed

"I'm drained, but I feel good," game, Altman announced guard-Rone, a 6-6 junior from Chicago,

Altman cited irreconcilable

CLUB SPORTS

CHRISTOPHER T. ASSAF/Collegian

K-State lacrosse midfielder Sean Pendley tries to run from the check of a Kansas City defender as he looks to pass to a teammate Saturday afternoon in Memorial Stadium. The K-State team lost to Kansas City 14-9.

Lacrosse falls to Kansas City, 1

STEVEN ROCK

Comfort within the Quilt

A mother's love exceeds barriers; death of son still difficult he rising AIDS statistics tell one side of the story. People who lose loved ones to the acquired immune deficiency syndrome tell the other.

Beverly Barbo lost her 27-yearold son to AIDS in 1986.

"Tim died five years ago. His partner Tom died two years ago of AIDS and related cancer," Barbo, who lives in Lindsborg, said in a panel Friday.

The day Barbo learned her son was diagnosed with full-blown AIDS was the day of her graduation from Bethany College in May 1985, she said in an interview.

"He didn't want to tell me. 'It's your day, Mom,' he said. He had been tired all the time and got those typical spots," she said.

Tim lived about a year and a half with the disease, she said. First he got the brown spots that typically develop with Kaposi sarcoma, then his skin developed purple lesions exposing the blood vessels underneath that finally broke open.

"His bowels were completely covered with tumors, so that he could hardly eat," she said. "The disease is not pretty."

Barbo went twice to Los Angeles, where her son lived, to take care

"The first time I went we were not sure about the transmission. Nobody really knew about it at that time," she said. "I spent six months with them (Tim and his partner Tom). I used the same dishes and towels, I bathed him and cleaned up his vomit, and I still test negative."

She said Tim spent only the last five weeks in the hospital.

Tim's death dates nearly six years ago, but Barbo said she still has a hard time dealing with his death. When she read names at the AIDS Memorial Quilt opening ceremony Friday morning, she said she could hardly hold back her tears

"It gets easier, but ... people think one should be through, but losing a child one never gets through," she Barbo frequently gives presentations, and she wrote a book about her son's struggle with AIDS. She said she gets letters and tapes from all over the country, but she is often too moved to read them.

"I have to be emotionally stable to read those letters and listen to those tapes," she said.

She said the churches especially create a lot of the problems for the families who have to deal with

"Of all the letters and phone calls I get, the most pain revolves around the church," she said.

Barbo said churches are not yet ready to deal with the issue of homosexuality.

"Of all the congregations we were in for 37 years, we lost our friends because of our stand on sexuality. That tells me that their message of love was absolutely false. "Churches have to realize that gay people come from families, too, and are our sons and daughters."

scary, it isn't the real issue.

'Sexuality is the issue," she said. "My son never chose to be homosexual; I never chose to be heterosexual. It's just a matter of who we Barbo said the day she found out her son was gay was a sad day. At can dream that one day Tim would get married and live in happiness with his family was gone for me," she said.

"You know the prejudice your child will have to deal with. If I could have promised him one day he would be in a loving, committed relationship, we wouldn't be in this mess today.'

She said she and her husband had a hard time as parents. They constantly blamed themselves for Tim's homosexuality - although their other two children are heterosexual.

"All literature said it's Mom's and Dad's fault," she said.

But, she said, she and her husband tried hard. One night she even went to a gay bar with her son.

"It was wonderful. Everybody shared their story." Barbo said homosexuals need special attention to make up for the discrimination. "They need to be loved, because they experience so much rejection," she said. "The high suicide rate and drug and alcohol abuse is the way of alleviating that loneliness and insecurity."

on teen-age and youth suicide says gay and lesbian teen-agers are 30 percent more likely to commit suicide than heterosexual teen-agers.

Gay children often feel alienated, because it is harder for them to find support in the family, she said.

"If a gay kid is called a faggot, they can't go home and tell Mom and Dad, because they might believe it's true. They have nowhere to go," she said.

She said homosexuals want to tell their stories about being gay or

"They don't want to keep this secret. They want to know that Mom and Dad don't reject them," she said. "Tim and Tom knew they were loved. If he couldn't talk about Tom, this would have been even more devastating."

Barbo said for families and caregivers for AIDS patients, it is important to recognize that their relationships are not necessarily traditional ones.

"The greatest thing is to start recognizing the relationship with the people they love. If we can truly include the people they love, that will bring peace to the disease."

Barbo said AIDS opened up communication barriers in many families, but the sad side is the tremendous losses.

"We are losing a whole genera-Barbo said a government report tion of young men. We don't know what they would have accomplished," she said.

> "We have to take care of the children, no matter if homosexual, straight, black or white."

Story by Ulrike Dauer

Jennifer Stone-Seiwert, senior in music and pre-med, reads one of 800 panels on display. Each panel has been created by either a friend or family member of an AIDS victim.

She said in the last stage of Tim's disease, the gay community in Los Angeles was their only sup-

"They brought flowers and teddy bears to the hospital." Barbo said although AIDS is the age of 15. Tim attempted suicide, and it was afterward that he came out of the closet.

"Even though I knew it in my heart all the time - once you get to know it, you have to deal with it.

"It was sad because the Ameri-

LEFT: A volunteer guides a section of the AIDS Quilt into place during the setup of one of the 800 panels that were on display Friday through Sunday at Ahearn Field House. BELOW: Lisa Working, freshman in theater and English, is comforted by a friend during closing ceremonies Sunday afternoon.

New sections added to quilt during closing ceremony

he AIDS Memorial Quilt ended its 3-day visit to Manhattan in a closing ceremony Sunday afternoon in Ahearn Field House.

The Quilt has been traveling throughout the country to heighten AIDS awareness.

Sunday's ceremony included the presentation of two new sections to the quilt. The sections were presented in memory of Lawrence Jay Lewallen, former K-State graduate student in English, and James Franklin Scheer of Kansas City. Mo. Several people spoke on the tragedy of AIDS to a crowd of more than 200.

Lewallen's section was made by Judy Lynch, associate director of educational personal programming. Lynch had known Lewallen since he worked as a student services staff member in Holton Hall. Besides working with incoming students and their concerns, he also taught a freshman orientation class, and he served as an English graduate teaching assistant.

'A group of us who had worked with Jay felt like this would be a nice thing for him," Lynch said. " We were pleased that we did it. Jay was a special person. He seemed to bring out the best in those who were around him. After he became sick. he still tried to do very much."

Lewallen found out he had contracted AIDS in fall 1988. He died Jan. 29, 1991.

"Those of us who worked with Jay were with him and tried to support him through his last years. Jay made us see how important it is to stand up for somebody. His family was not very supportive, and all he had was his friends, especially toward the end."

Scheer's panel was presented by Brenda Hanger, a Junction City res-

"Frank was a very good friend of mine. He was with me through some difficult times, and this was my way of being there for him."

Hanger said she was impressed with the ceremony.

"I thought it turned out extremely well. It was well planned. I was particularly impressed with the number of people who showed up

The Rev. Don Fallon, director of campus ministries and master of ceremonies, said he was pleased with the entire weekend's activities.

"Over 5000 people came to view the quilt this weekend from all around the area. The event was also well publicized. I am glad that this was able to have the impact it did," Fallon said.

The Quilt came to Manhattan not only to increase awareness, but also to give people a chance to grieve for their loved ones, Fallon said.

'The Quilt can help in the healing process when a loved one is lost. One family who had lost a son who had contracted AIDS told me that it had been several years since they had seen the Quilt. But the same emotions came out from the first time they had saw it. I think the grieving definitely helps the healing process.'

Fallon said he saw the Quilt's presence in Manhattan as a sort of celebration.

"In the ceremony today, I believe we had a strong affirmation of relationships and a celebration of lives."

Story by Bryan Larson

Barbo said she spent the last six

"I cleaned dishes, cleaned the months of her son's life taking care bathroom, I cleaned the sores, I changed his diapers - and I test negative," Barbo said. "It is very

the Riley County Health Department, discussed statistical information and the problems with the Smith said there are two aspects

"First, to find people with risky behavior and educate them. Second, to find the people with the disease and work with them as a support a task force to address the needs of

Smith said she has helped set up

There are more people today

Joan Smith, health educator for thing they had," Barbo said.

hard to contract the disease."

health-care system in Kansas.

to her job.

system," she said.

people with AIDS.

Emotional truths of AIDS weigh as heavy as statistical information during panel's discussion

he AIDS panel discussion Friday afternoon reaffirmed there are still many questions about the disease left unanswered.

Organizers intended the panel to be an informational meeting and discussion about the truths of AIDS, statistical as well as emotional, said the Rev. Don Fallon, coordinator of University religious activities and co-chairman of the AIDS Memorial Quilt Committee.

All members on the panel have dealt with the disease first hand.

One panel member, Jack Markham, was diagnosed with the HIV virus more than five years ago and was diagnosed with AIDS two years ago this month.

Markham discussed about the obstacles he faced after testing positive with the disease.

"I had a rising career in sales," Markham said. "With the fatigue and other things that surround the disease. I had to quit my job." Markham said quitting his job was the hardest thing he had to do. He said because jobs are so important in our society, he lost his self-

Markham said he had to find another way to stay motivated.

He put his energy into the National Association of people with AIDS, of which he is now president. Markham has also created a statewide organization to deal with problems related to AIDS.

He said there are many problems with the medical system.

He said he does not qualify for Medicare. To get any help from the government, he said he has to be unemployed five months before he can get financial help.

"I can't figure out how anyone can live for five months without any income and for medicine, Markham said.

Markham also said 30 percent of his disability pays for his medical insurance. He said he has to pay $1,000 out of his pocket before the insurance will pay for the medicine.

Markham said, however, that does not take long. He said he just paid $336 for prescription that lasts only 30

He said he tries to keep his spirits up by having a positive attitude.

His motto, "HIV can take your body and health, but it can't take your spirit," keeps up his self-es-

All the panel members stressed the importance of self-esteem.

The Rev. Jonathon Loppnow, Manhattan Outreach of the Metropolitan Community Church in Topeka, talked about the views of churches toward AIDS.

Loppnow said when AIDS first hit the gay community in America, little was known about the disease. He said myths were created about working with the people with many people who suffer from the disease lack the self-esteem they disease lack the self-esteem they need to live.

Barbo said she knew when her son was young that he was different. But, she said, because of her conservative > put it out of her mind. Barbo said she blames much of the epidemic on society's way of background she thinking about homosexuals. "Tim never found a place, because kids could sense that he was different," Barbo said. Barbo said her son was labeled in high school and eventually at-

"The gay and lesbian population attempts suicide three times the rate of the general population," she than ever taking the test to see if they have the virus, she said. "In the last year, we have from one to 13 tests a day, on the avertempted suicide.

age," Smith said. "I see no vaccine on the market. The only way to stop the epidemic is through education. Smith said she talks to children before they hit the "sex age" and encourages parents to become more involved in promoting safe sex and building self-esteem.

"It has to involve community and parents," she said.

The Manhattan community is active and understanding about AIDS, Smith said.

Viewers circle the Names Project AIDS Quilt in Ahearn Fieldhouse Friday morning. The first 1,920 panels were first put on display in Washington, D.C., Oct. 11, 1987. The quilt currently has more than 14,000 panels.

He said extreme churches throw who could and could not get the disout anyone who has AIDS. He also said some churches say people will be cured if they repent.

ease, and these myths made people uneasy around people with AIDS.

Beverly Barbo, whose son was "On the other side, there are diagnosed with and eventually died churches that are very active in of AIDS, said because of the myths,

Barbo said the gay community, however, was helpful. "Everyone on the AIDS ward was given a teddy bear. But for some of them, that was the only

Story by Matthew Cunningham

Storm

Future

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 the attacks.

kept his Walkman with rock 'n' roll tapes nearby to pass the time. He said after the adrenaline rush, he needed entertainment on the way home.

'There ain't nothing to see in the middle of Saudi Arabia in the middle of the night. I'll tell you that much," Leatherman said.

The conference at which Leatherman spoke was an area conclave event presented by different schools each year to recognize Arnold Air Society Air Force cadets, members and Silverwings members for their accomplishments, said Kyle Hoffman, sophomore in agricultural technology and management and AAS pressing some kind of frustration and were not really serious Buchanan vot-record of George Bush, they will see a very conservative record," Skinner tive as they would like in some areas, but it is a very conservative record."

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Campbell Jr., in Atlanta to campaign for Bush, appeared on CBS-TV's

"Face the Nation" and said Buchanan, in his appeal for votes, was inaccurately portraying the South as reaca wall around America," Campbell said. "We are talking about taking our internationalist and has waged an

Miller took a similar view of Buchanan on the sale program, saying, "I think the Georgia that Pat Buchanan knows about is evidently the Georgia that he Bush supporter, said, "The message that Pat Buchanan has been giving is a negative, mean-spirited message that I think most Republicans, including conservatives, are going to reject."

Skiing

304 Poyntz

Backpacking

And Sen. Connie Mack, R-Fla., a read about in 'Tobacco Road.'

"We are not talking about building

Buchanan has assailed Bush as an

Georgia's Democratic Gov. Zell

tionary and isolationist.

"America First" campaign.

place in the world."

"When conservatives look at the

"It might not be quite as conserva-

South Carolina Gov. Carroll

They were always there when we asked them to be," he said.

At 3 a.m., seven targets were hit by the F-117, five of which were in Baghdad. Pilots aimed for communications control and central operations centers, Leatherman said.

"We aimed for the presidential palace, hoping we might luck out," eatherman said.

Two main targets in Iraq were the west H-3 Airfield and the east Tallil Airfield. These two sights controlled the enemy area fighters.

Leatherman said it was a quiet war to him, because the planes are deathly quiet. Pilots flew alone, and sometimes one would hear an explosion.

When Leatherman would return "home" from the mission, he said, he

Bush, an Episcopalian, began his last week of campaigning for the Georgia primary by attending the First Baptist Church of Atlanta, a bastion of Southern fundamentalism with a planned to go to services at St.

Michael's Catholic Church and then speak at the Mount Paran Church of God, another major fundamentalist during the week, Buchanan targeted the National Endowment for the Arts and said the administration "has invested our tax dollars in pornographic and blasphemous art too shocking to

Bush has accepted the forced res-

The TV ad echoed charges that ignation of John Frohnmayer as the endowment's director and said he dis-

Buchanan made to wild applause at a recent conservative meeting here and has repeated on the stump in the South.

Skinner, however, said voters re-

Bush's criticism of Buchanan's

At the recent conservative get-to-opposition to the war struck a theme that has troubled some of his consergether in Washington, a number of delegates said they thought Buchanan was wrong about the war, but supported him because of his stands on

Camping

Bicycling

agreed with some of its grants.

gard the issue as "peripheral."

vative supporters.

other issues.

Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea? Call the Collegian day or night 532-6556

Now Open at 304 Poyntz!

We're ready to serve your Spring Break needs:

Traveling

OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS

Open Mon.-Fri. 9-6, Thur. 9-8, Sat. 9-5

Downtown, Manhattan

In a TV advertisement unveiled

Buchanan, a Roman Catholic, televised service.

Legislature

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 sas Department of Health and Environment into two agencies, a plan that has generated considerable opposi-

The Senate can block the governor's executive reorganization order. It has before it a resolution to reject the order, and if that resolution is passed, the order does not take "The administration has not made its case," Kerr said. "I don't really sense that the administration is going to the mat on this one." Among the unfinished items on the legislative agenda is Senate reapportionment, which Karr, the Democratic leader, said could be completed next week.

"We're making progress," Karr

The House passed a reapportionment plan for its chamber with bipartisan support, but some lawmakers are dismayed that the Senate has been unable to do likewise.

House Majority Leader Tom Sawer, D-Wichita, said one of the top issues next week will be the House Taxation Committee's work on a school finance plan. Rep. Joan Wagnon, D-Topeka, chairwoman of the committee, has scheduled four days of hearings on proposals to raise $321 million to cover a proposed school finance plan now pending before the House.

At the same time, Sen. Ed Reilly, R-Leavenworth, chairman of the Senate Federal and State Affairs Committee, has scheduled hearings on a bill that would let the Kansas Lottery offer video lottery games, or electronic slot machines.

Finney has included in her budget $30 million for property tax relief from video lottery machine profits, although some officials say the state could receive much more than that.

TO THE EDITOR

may be brought to Kedzie 116.

COLLEGIAN

One day: 20 words or fewer, $5.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless clie has an established account with Student Publications Exact change or checks only after 4:30 p.m. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noor FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be respi more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates
One day: $6.00 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.80 per inch; Five consecutive days: $5.60 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $5.40 per inch. (Deadline is 4 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, tional origin, age, sex or ancestry.

Announcements

ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS: Need help seeking employment in the Architectural profession? My Kansas City firm has an option for you. If you are interested in attending a career counseling seminar, write Teri B. Price, TBP Architectural Services, Inc. 5613 Nall Ave. Roeland Park, KS 66202 or call (913) 384-6929.

BARTENDING 101, class starts March 30, 8:30- 9:30p.m. For more information see in Union March 3 or call 532-2519.

ASH FOR Collegel Don't miss your oppor-tunity for the scholarships/ financial aid you are qualified for Call or write for in-formation on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, La-wrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

COLLEGIAN

ClassADS

Let them work for you.

1405 Duniel Ave.

For information

send SAS.L. to: .

Manhattan, XV 66502

Tinancial Research Services

2

1980 CUTLASS Supreme Brougham. T-tops, excellent 350 V-8, AT, PS, PW, PB, PL, new paint, no rust $2800 negotiable. 776-7299 or see at 1428 Laramie.

1983 HONDA Accord three-door, hatchback, air condition, AM/FM, 118K, $1950, 537-7686.

FENIX Scholarship

Applications for non-

undergraduate students

traditional, full time,

are available in the

FENIX Office, Holton

201. The deadline for applying is March, 13.

Attention Students:

Tinancial Research Services

has knowledge of over $4 billion dollars available to Leonomic Background.

you regardless of

Major, Social or your GP.A.,

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1985 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

Employment

(continued on page 11)

WHEN ONLY THE

BEST DENTISTRY

- PERSONALIZED
- PROFESSIONAL
- PRACTICAL
- PROMPT

WILL DO ...

Now Serving the State of Kansas Traditional-Prudential Dental Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient. Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A. 514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA DOWNTOWN, MANHATTAN

537-9414

1984 ESCORT $425, sold as is. Call

The Fraternity of Alpha Zeta welcomes its new members of Spring 1992!

Stephanie Akers Sara Bandel Rick Blasi

Julie Buzby Janine DeBey

Tricia Campbell Denise Christie Bonnie Dechant Robert DeWeese David Eckman Theresa Forge

David Foster Christian Freberg James Gillett

Frina Hiner Mike Howey Todd Johnson Becky Keith Chad Kerr

Shonda Leighty Pete Loewen John Lueger

Scott Nichols Jeff Peterson Jeffrey Schwertfeger Michelle Smith Jennifer Swanson Matt Theurer Reggie Voboril Trent Wanamaker Jennie Wells

Mark Whitson

Christine Wilson

Larry Wipple

Monday

Barbecued Spareribs

Friday 4 p.m.-Close Fried Shrimp, Fried Clams, Baked Fish

KIDS EAT FREE ALL DAY TUESDAY

Includes fresh baked rolls and over 80 delicious salads, soups, fruits and puddings, plus FREE dessert and FREE drink refills.

325 E. Poyntz

HUMA

539-5639

Offering An Incredible View.

A majestic waterfall. A star-filled sky. An amazing sunset. A puppy being born. Winter's first snow. These are just a few of the visions that shape your daily life. All made possible by the human eye. Without your eyes offering these incredible views, life just wouldn't be the same.

That's why Price, Young, Odle, Horsch & associates care about the human eye and the visions it provides you with. Visions so crisp and so clear that they sometimes take your breath away.

But if these visions are no longer crisp

and clear, then it's time to see us.

We have an excellent staff, dedicated to giving your eyes the best possible treatment. And with over 3,000 different frames to choose from, we're sure to have that special look you're looking for. And don't forget that we offer free contact trials and free consultations.

At Price, Young, Odle, Horsch & associates, we're working with some very important equipment. Your eyes. But don't worry. We can see the importance of our customer very clearly.

Drs. Price, Young, Odle & Horsch  and associates • Optometrists • We Focus On You. 1012 Anderson • Manhattan, KS 66502 • (913) 537-1118

ASK FOR THE CARD THAT'S YOUR LICENSE TO FILL.

Join the Sub Club! For all of March, we'll DOUBLE Stamp your card for every SUPER Sub you buy! When your card is full, we'll give you a free footlong of your choice! Free for the asking at either SUBWAY in Manhattan.

620 N. Manhattan in Aggieville 537-8700

Manhattan Town Center Picnic Place

537-3311

SPRING BREAK AT THE

SISTERIST THE LOFT The Ultimate Choice in Swimwear Elegant, flirtatious, sporty, feminine, glamorous and always alluring swimwear. The Loft captures all the many moods and looks. FREE T-SHIRT with purchase of swimsuit.

BIBLEIRIE 1207 Moro in Aggieville

(continued from page 10)

$40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Local businesses need students now for stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Excellent earnings. Send SASE to Homemailing Program—B, P.O. Box 3182, Clathe, KS 66062. Immediate re-

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Position in the FENIX Adult Student Service Office, $87.50 per week, 20 hours per week through May 13, 1992. Job description available. Resume and letter of application due March 6, 5:00 p.m. in Holton Hall 201. Equal Opportunity Employer.

ATTENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army National Guard would like to help you! in addition to monthly drill pay, we offer the following incentive programs: $2,000 bonus, $6,120 G.I. Bill, and the $10,000 loan repayment program. By serving two days a month, and two weeks a year you could qualify for up to $28,000. To find out if you qualify, call 537-4108.

KAW VALLEY Greenhouses needs full-time/ part-time help. Call 776-8585 between 4:30 and 5:30p.m. Monday.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and recreational areas. Horticultural background helpful. Send resume to Collegian Box 2.

Double Barreled

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.

LOCKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national forest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

NEW ENGLAND Brother/ Sister Camps—
Massachusetts. Mah-Kee-Nac for Boys/
Danbee for Girls. Counselor positions for Program Specialists: All Team Sports,
especially Baseball, Basketball, Field
Hockey, Softball, Soccer and Volleyball;
25 tennis openings; also Archery, Riflery, Weights/ Fitness and Biking; other openings include Performing Arts, Fine
Arts, Newspaper, Photography, Cooking,
Sewing, Rollerskating, Rocketry, Ropes,
and Camp Craft; All Waterfront Activities
(Swimming, Skling, Sailing, Windsurling, Canoe/ Kayaking), Inquire: Mah-KeeNac (Boys) 190 Linden avenue, glen,
Ridge, NJ 07028. Call 1-800-753-9118.
Danbee (Girls) 17 Westminster Drive,
Montville, NJ 07045. Call 1-800-7298606.

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539–3817.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $1,000 or more plus R & B. Marc Seeger. 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. (708) 446–2444.

CRUISE LINE entry level on Board- landside positions available, year round or summer. Call (813) 229-5478.

By Daryl Blasi

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

ACCOUNTANT

Manhattan real estate firm has imme diate opening for one full time accountant. Duties include bookkeeping, firum rial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary comnensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Priday. Micro computer training and experience mandatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

NOT RETURNING TO SCHOOL FOR THE FALL SEMESTER? BRUBACHER

CUSTOM HARVESTING

needs combine, truck, and other equipment operators for the summer and fall harvests. Great wages, free room and board, and excellent experience. If interested, call Trip at 776-8186 or Ron at 776-1526 for an application.

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

June & August Leases Available Now

4 bedrms, 2 1/2 bath & study

 All appliances furnished, including washer, dryer & microwave.

 Pre-wired for your computer, phone & cable TV. Large recreation area with hot tubs & sand volleyball Bus service to campus Monthly rent as low as $195

For info call 776-8763

Property Resources Management

By David Swearingen

BIRSI

Geech

TION

8

THE PLEDGE A'LOONIES ...

By Bill Watterson

By Jeff MacNelly

Jim's Journal

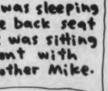

Today, for a while, were been taking Tony was sleeping turns sleeping in the back seat and driving in and I was sitting shifts. in front with his brother Mike.

. . .

Even though I don't know Mike to have a conversation by talking about Tony.

when we ran out of things to say about Tony, we

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

STOPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed to stuff our Dieting Circulars from your Dorm/ Homel Excellent Wages—$3 per envelope! No experience required! Set own hours...Full or part-time! Mailers needed immediately! To start send a long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distribu-tors P.O. Box 1157 Forked River, NJ 08731.

STUDENT COMPUTER Dispatch: 15 to 25 hours per week. Must be willing to work hours indicated: Monday and Wednesday 7 a.m. til 12 p.m. Tuesday 8:30 a.m. til 2:30 p.m. Thursday 9:30 til 2 p.m., and Friday 7 a.m. til 11:30 p.m. Must have been enrolled in at least six resident semested hours during spring semester. Be willing to work during student recesses and summer months. Undergraduates with employment potential for two years will be given preference. Applications will be accepted until 4 p.m. March 6, in room 2 Farrell Library.

SUMMER JOBSI Complete Guide to Employment in the National Parks- 10,000 jobs. Work on Cruise Ships- listings for all cruise lines. $5.95 each, $10.95 for both. Great Plains Publishing, Box 1903,

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1,700 per month last summer and gained valuable exprience for their resumes. Call 539-8370.

SUMMER WORK: Students averaged over $1700 per month last summer and gained valuable experience for their re-sume's. Call 539-8370.

TRANSLATORS WANTED: Japanese, Swed-ish, Norwegian, Greek, Russian, Dutch, Portuguese, Turkish, Nigerian, Danish, Korean, Slovak, Czech, Call Pam Fulmer at International Trade Institute 532-6799.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. One-bedroom furnished apartment, one-half block campus, $365 per month, 776-1340.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus. One, two, and three-bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appoi

FOUR-BEDROOM APARTMENT across campus and Aggieville. Available June 1. $600 monthly, all utilities paid. 539-4318.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285, 539-

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for three-four students. Mid May- July 31 $590. 539-5451.

8 For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

BORST RESTORATION. Now leasing unique two and three-bedroom apartments. For June 1 occupancy at 1030 Humboldt, 200 North 11th, 901 Leavenworth and 724 Laramie. Rental/ credit reference requested. No smokers or pets please. 776-1460 evenings only.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Professional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to campus. Available now. Dishwasher, central air and more, no pets. $450 a month. 776-3804

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

ONE-BEDROOM, AVAILABLE immediately, partially furnished plus dishwasher and built-in king size waterbed, call 539-5703.

Leasing Now through August

Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064

Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

of NOW poetry

show

54 Shield kin

55 Bonfire's

Crossword

ACROSS 39 Concern 1 Famous tower 41 Epic 42 Lay bare town 5 Poisonous viper 8 "True -(movie) 12 Above

13 Classic 14 Change the decor

15 - year 16 1948 John Wayne

18 African 20 Biblical dancer 21 Pre-

Easter season 23 House 24 Stop

sign's equivalent 28 Equally balanced 31 Undivided 32 Caravan stopover

34 Yale man 35 Crazy 37 It's often used in jewelrymaking language Buddhism 2 Ledger entry 3 Daytime by erosion 45 Wild ass TV 49 Depiction offering of Satan 4 Fill with 51 Word dismay before 5 Tin Pan plan or Alley worker 52 Designer 6 Under-Cassini stand 7 Groups of 53 Hot time for Henri? seals 8 Wrought iron grating

56 Abyssin-9 Handgun 10 The same ian prince 57 Spanish 11 Went at muralist high

1 Religious 17 Actress Solution time: 26 min.

10 For Rent-Houses

CLOSE TO campus four-bedroom, two bath, central air, washer/ dryer, for five students $175 per student. Available for Aug.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE near campus $350/ month, water and trash paid. 537-0505 or 776-7199.

13 For Sale—Mobile Homes

12X65 MOBILE Home. Recently remodeled. Located in Countryside Estates, For more information. Call 539-6205 after

14X70 MOBILE Home with custom kitchen only $182.50 payments. Will finance. 15 mobile home selection #198 Redbud. Countryside Brokerage 539-2325.

14X70 WITH deck. Two bed, two bath, with garden style tub. Includes all appliances and central air, 537–8003.

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

16 Lost and Found

Only found ads can be placed free of

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale

WANT TO trade my Fuji road bike for mountain bike. 532-3649. Ask for Paul.

19 Music Musicians

EXPERIENCED LEAD guitarist wanted for pop-rock band. Extreme to INXS. Band plays ten times/ month. Serious inquiries only. 537–1199, leave message.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

AMY (FROM Hays?)- I've seen you in Derby alot lately, and would like to meet you. Interested? Please respond. Shy Guy.

GIRL WHO bought the fenders on Feb. 19 at Aggie Bike. Didn't catch your name, but did catch your smile. Would like to meet you again. Guy with the Hard Head.

KK- FROM stealing composites to rolling "the hill"; playing in the rain and shackin" at the "love cave." Many drunken nights and good friends too. Today's your day so go have a brew. 61 days and I'll be there too. Happy 21 Kid! Lion love, Tamz. P.S. Know what amazes me? Cows- cows amaze me.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

TO GIVE away toa good home, six month old male neutered coonhound mix. Very sweet, loves kids, all shots current. Call after 5p.m. 494–2873.

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away— Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776–0676.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537-7795.

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537–7294.

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality.
Resumes, papers, graphics and equations my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.-8p.m.

tions look great with a laser printer and scalable fonts. $1.25 per doubled-spaced page of text. Joyce, 537-7027 after 5. UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for papers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice $27.2020

24 Roommate Wanted

END OF finals to July 31. Own room in large two-bedroom. Close to campus. $11 two-bedroom. Close to campus. $110/ month plus one-half utilities. Call Brian or Kevin, 539-1598.

FEMALE NEEDED immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One-half block from campus and aggieville. Own bedroom – Nicel Desperate 776-3514.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. One-half block from campus, washer/ dryer, rent negotiable, share utilities, call Angela, 776-3760, leave message.

MALE ROOMMATE needed, own bedroom, off-street parking, close to Aggieville, campus, $140 per month, utilities paid, 539-2017 leave message.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bed-room furnished apartment, very close to campus. $198/ month plus one-half utili-ties. Call Wade at 539–6847. Available

Charlotte

19 Floral neck-

22 "The -

Eve*

Steiger

protects

27 Future

frogs

29 Guido's

note 30 Nothing

puter-screen

image heavily

38 Indians

and

43 Wriggling

50 Call -

33 Com-

36 Plod highest pieces

ONE OR two female roommates needed $160 plus half utilities. Must like pets. Own room. Nice walk to campus. 537-8906.

ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse six miles from town on blacktop road. Place for horse. $125/ month 539-2029.

25 Services

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

Tattoo

Fineline Tattoo Quality work, reasonably priced, hospital sterilization 1028 W. 6th Junction City 238-8238 Topeka 233-8288

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests

5683

523 S. 17th Old Town Mall 537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE

26 Stereo Equipment KENWOOD 820 car amp $150 532-2496.

KENWOOD RACK system, fully remote, with receiver, CD, cassette, and turntable, plus 200 watt 4-way speakers. 539-0876.

28 Sublease

HELPI FEMALE needed immediately to share three bedroom apartment. One-half block from campus and Aggieville. Own room – Nicel Rent negotiable! Desperate room - Nic 776-3514.

IMMEDIATE SUBLEASE $175 plus onethird utilities, call Eric at 537-9060 or SUBLEASE ONE or two rooms in new four-bedroom apartment from end of May to August 1. Leave message 537-1690. SUMMER- NICE, two-bedroom, close to campus, room for two-four. 539-2278.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

AIRPLANE TICKET for spring break. March 6- March 15, Kansas City to Washington D.C. round trip $338 down to $300, Call 539-2185.

30 Travel\Car Pool

SOUTH PADRE- Condo on the beach! We need 2- 3 more girls to share it with. Call 539-7051, ask for Natalie.

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $25 per person per night/ off beach $29 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212 SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night beach front (800) 422-8212

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-

SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront seems 6partying two and three-bedroom sleep 8. Discount by owner. (212) 472-1414. STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

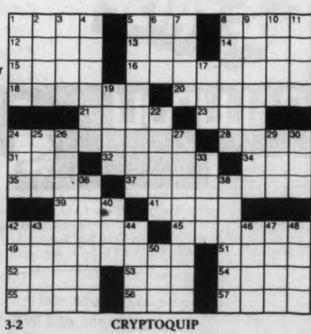

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback. Best offer, 539-4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE: Computer, printer, and various software. For more information, call 539-6205 after 6 p.m.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

WANTED TO buy: Big Eight tournament tickets. Call Jackie after 5 p.m. 537-7490.

By Eugene Sheffer

HPNK GXYMOZ WH GNVVZ FWPG GWH AOF YXA -

PKNYP: "W YNA'P MWYM." Yesterday's Cryptoquip: LUCKILY, I FOUND A CURE FOR BALDNESS, BUT YOU MUST PROMISE TO KEEP IT UNDER YOUR HAT.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Y equals C

48 Pause, to Pavarotti

Weed

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Those in charge of the Drug War, however, want even more money in

The concept of victory in the Drug War has not been defined. Is it the elimination of all illicit drugs and drug dealers? If so, is that possible under the constitutional form of gov-

There is an increasing number of Americans asking those questions, and they are becoming disenchanted with the path the country seems to be tak-

Those groups and individuals range from defense attorneys, law professors and civil liberties advocates, who claim the public has little knowledge of the damage being inflicted upon the Constitution in the name of stopping drugs, to right-wing political commentators like William Buckley, who regard the Drug War as a nonconservative undertaking.

Jeffrey Blum, associate professor of law at the University of Buffalo School of Law, is an outspoken opponent of the government's war on drugs. Although he concedes the obvious public health risks of cocaine, heroin and other hard drugs, he said the intense targeting of marijuana by the DEA, state, and local law enforcement agencies is unwarranted.

"Marijuana targeting is virtually done in bad faith," he said. "They know that they are running a disinformation campaign to keep the policy in place. There is not now, nor has there ever been, credible medical evidence to justify this level of law enforcement effort against marijuana.

He said the lifting of alcohol pro-hibition in the 1930s had directly confronted many federal agents with the possibility of unemployment if new forms of prohibition could not be instituted. At that time, the newly formed Federal Bureau of Narcotics, headed by Harry Anslinger, mistakenly classified marijuana as a narcotic and listed it as one of the most dangerous substances to society and made it the agency's top priority, Blum said.

In May of 1991, Blum received a quantities, can damage every system

Monday, March 2, 1992.

to 5 p.m.

NOTICE*

announces that it will begin taking applications

Interested parties may fill out an application at Street, Mondays from 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. and Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. and from 1 p.m.

the Manhattan Housing Authority 300 N. 5th from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesdays through

The City of Manhattan Housing Authority for the Section 8 Existing waiting list on request from Judge John Elfvin that he submit an amicus curiae, or "friend of the court," brief to the United States District Court Western District of New York addressing the question of whether the current drug situation in America warranted a relaxation of the

Blum responded to the judge's reuest by writing that a relaxation of the Constitution was not justified, but that in the age of the Drug War, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights were especially important in preventing mass hysteria from sweeping the nation under the carpet of a police

Blum said over the past few years, the Drug War has inspired an erosion of established constitutional rights, particularly in the areas of search and seizure, due process and self incrimi-

But as the Drug War broadens, arguments like Blum's seem to be falling on deaf ears.

There is a situation in the United States right now that many say falls nothing short of full-blown illogical hypocrisy. That is the assumption that because alcohol is legal and marijuana is not, marijuana is more dan-

The argument exists that comparing marijuana and alcohol is a waste of time because alcohol is obviously abused much more often than marijuana. Those that adhere to that argument say it is because alcohol is much more prevalent in today's society, and it has nothing to do with claims that marijuana is actually less harmful on an individual-use basis.

"Marijuana is one of the most insidious drugs that's available, because its effects are apparently less than the effects of other drugs," said Bill Kennedy, Riley County attorney. "Alcohol is available. Marijuana is not readily available - legally. Therefore, a whole lot of people can take out their frustrations with alcohol. I guess it's a lot safer. After all, it's

Don Rees is the senior addictions counselor with the drug addiction unit of the Menninger Clinic, an institution for mental health treatment and research in Topeka

Rees said alcohol, if taken in large in the human body. Alcohol has been shown to cause harm to the stomach and other digestive systems, the liver, kidneys, pancreas, colon, muscle tissue, bone tissue, circulatory systems, nerve cells and the brain, he said.

Rees said the studies on marijuana are somewhat limited, but the pri-mary concern of health officials is that inhaling the smoke may cause respiratory problems in heavy users.

Some of the hybridized marijuana that is around now has a tar level that is higher than the marijuana used in the '60s, Rees said. The crossing of plants to get the maximum level of THC, the main psychoactive component in marijuana, has caused the level of resin to reach a point that one marijuana cigarette may have a tar level equivalent to an entire pack of tobacco cigarettes, he said.

"There are some studies that indicated in chronic heavy marijuana smokers, at least in some of them, that the cell membrane in certain nerve cells had thickened a bit," he said. "Theoretically, this could interfere with the release of neurotransmitters."

Rees said in some instances marijuana can have somewhat of a toxic effect if a person is exposed to extremely high levels of it.

"It's kind of a delirium-like condition where they become disorganized and experience feelings of depersonalization," he said. "This would be like if someone got more of it than they had intended or stronger than they were used to. It's more likely to occur if it's ingested orally for instance by eating brownies made with a lot of high-grade marijuana.

He said if that were the case, they might experience a sort of transient

Rees said marijuana overdoses are not documented to have caused death. "It's important to recognize that we're talking about drugs," said Scott Bailey, who holds a master's in psychology and teaches the "Drugs and Behavior" class at K-State. "Whether one is safer than the other does not really say that one is good, and one is bad. It is a matter of degree. But there has certainly been some suggestion that alcohol produces a much more Bailey said the use patterns of alcohol and marijuana are similar, in that they are both used to achieve a sort of high. That is different than tobacco, he said, which people use to try to keep a certain level of nicotine in their systems.

aggressive character than does mari-

"One behavioral-use pattern of marijuana, and there is certainly widespread exception, is that people use only as much marijuana as it takes to achieve a comfortable high, then stop," he said. "Anyone can walk through Aggieville on a Saturday night and see someone who decided to keep able high.'

Although from a scientific standpoint Bob Randall's experience with marijuana may be statistically insignificant, his situation offers a unique opportunity to look at the long-term effects marijuana might have on a chronic user.

Les Sperling, program director of adult services at St. John's Hospital Chemical Dependency Treatment Center in Salina, said he knew for a fact that about 10 percent of the people who used marijuana or other substances became addicted to those sub-

"Nowadays, most patients are polydrug addicts," Sperling said. "Alcohol is still the primary, but along with that, most people usually smoke marijuana and have tried cocaine or other chemicals. Marijuana is present in a large number of our cares (pa-

Sperling said he disagreed with arguments that claimed marijuana is less dangerous than alcohol.

"I'd ask them for evidence to prove that," he said. "I would say they are equally harmful.

"What people fail to understand is that it takes time to develop the dis- any other supposedly marijuana-inease. So when they say they don't see duced ailments anytime soon."

drinking past the point of a comfort- the physical evidence (in chronic marijuana smokers), you would see similar damage in a 15-year, eighthof-an-ounce pot smoker as you would in a fifth-a-day alcoholic."

> Randall insists that to make a comparison between his 15 years of marijuana use and the ingestion of a fifth of alcohol a day for that same time period is "ludicrous." He did say that the marijuana he gets from the government is low-grade, calling it the "Boone's Farm of marijuana," which, as suggested by some studies, indicates it has lower levels of THC and tar than the higher-grade hybridized variety. That may be the reason he has to smoke so much of it to get the desired result for his glaucoma, he

Randall said he had not suffered any adverse side effects from chronic

"None," he said. "Not even respiratory problems. Although I'm sure that if I did develop problems, those at the DEA would be happy because they could say that it proved how bad the drug was. However, I don't plan on dropping dead from respiratory or

500 OFF ALL CHEMICAL SERVICES OR HAIRCUT WITH STYLE OR SCULPTURED NAILS first time visitor only

129 Moro

Sun. 1-5

537-1332

Marketing Club Presents

NORTH SUPPLY

a subsidary of

U. S. SPRINT

Monday, March 2nd 7 p.m. Union 212

ALL MAJORS WELCOME!

March 2 Through March 20 UPC & Art Department Exhibit Art by John Good K-State Union UPC Arts

SHOWING THROUGH MONDAY, MARCH 16

Asian Club Exhibit

K-State Union UPC Arts

WOODLANDS RACE PARK

Experience the thrill of watching greyhound races at Kansas City's Woodlands Race Park. Spend the day watching the races from the grandstand or clubhouse areas and test your skill at handkapping the greyhounds. Trip includes round trip transportation and entrance to the park. $10 per person Sign up in the UPC office,

3rd Floor, K-State Union, 8 a.m. - 5p.m. SIGN-UP BEGINS: Wednesday, March 4 *

K-State Union UPC Travel

GALLIPOLI

K-State Union

Peter Weir's (Dead Poet's Society) Gallipoli is a celebration of Australian innocence and courage during World War I. Mel Gibson and Mark Lee play young runnuers who meet at a track competition, becoming friends, and go into battle together in "The Great War" Rated PG (111 min) Wednesday and Thursday, March 4 & 5, 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. FORUM HALL

> Bring in ALL those wellloved, old albums and help recycle!! Collection is March 18 & 19. Selling runs from March 31 through April 2.

Country Dance Lessons

Join Special Events and learn a few country steps with dance lessons beginning after Spring Break. Four weeks of instruction in Union Station only cost $10 per couple. Beginning lessons start Monday, March 16, 8-9:30 p.m. and Advanced Lessons start Tuesday, March 17 from 8-9:30 p.m. in the Union Station, K-State Union. SIGN UP BEGINS Monday, Feb. 24. For more information stop by the UPC Office, 3rd Floor K-State Union, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. weekdays.

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

HATE

Universities across the country are enforcing rules against hateful speech and

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 109

Study mobile

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Dan Peugeot, junior in marketing, sits on the hood of his convertible to study as Quentin Holy, sophomore in economics, studies in the back seat Monday afternoon in Manhattan City Park. Mild temperatures beckoned many people outdoors.

Kansas House approves abortion regulation bill

Finney threatens to veto legislation giving women right to procedure

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA — The House approved an abortion regulation bill by a large majority Monday, prompting a veto threat from Gov. Joan Finney and putting the issue in the hands of a reluctant Senate.

The bill has strong support from prochoice advocates, because it would preserve the right of Kansas women to obtain abortions in most circumstances. It does contain some restrictions on late-term abortions and abortions for minors, but pro-life groups consider it unacceptable.

Representatives approved the bill 82-41. The bill had 19 votes more than it needed for passage but fell two votes short of the twothirds majority supporters would need to override a gubernatorial veto in the 125member House.

The Senate will deal next with the bill, but its top two leaders did not commit immediately to having a debate on the floor. Senate President Bud Burke, R-Leawood. said he thinks some senators do not want to discuss the issue.

"I will attempt to find out if there is a general, strong majority one way or the other," he said.

Burke said he will assign the bill on Tuesday to either the Judiciary Committee or the Federal and State Affairs Committee. The chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Sen. Wint Winter Jr., R-Lawrence, is a prochoice advocate. The chairman of the other committee, Sen. Ed Reilly, R-Leavenworth, Senate Majority Leader Fred Kerr, R-Pratt, indicated Senate leaders might let a committee decide the bill's fate, rather than ask members to forward the measure in some form to the entire Senate.

"If it comes out of committee, we'll run See ABORTION Page 7

House hears testimony on anti-discrimination bill for military personnel

Community support influences post-closing plans, Montgomery says

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - The House Judiciary Committee heard testimony Monday on a bill sponsored by 30 House members that would make it a crime in Kansas to discriminate against military personnel in jobs and public accommodations.

Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, the principal sponsor, said it was intended to protect reserve and National Guard members as well as active duty military.

The least we can do for military personnel is to ensure they are not discriminated against by businesses and political divisions," she said. John Montgomery, publisher of the Junction City Daily Union and a former civilian aide to the Secretary of the Army for Kansas, said Fort Riley is the second-largest employer in Kansas.

"As our country downsizes the military, more posts are going to be closed," he said. He said community support of local military bases would be considered by the next base-closing commission in deciding which

The bill bans discrimination against military personnel in employment, housing or public entertainment.

Randy Martin, president of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber supported the bill because of incidents of discrimination before and during the Persian Gulf War deployment.

He said its primary effect would be in preventing housing discrimination, which he said was the most difficult aspect for local ordinances to cover.

Col. David Runnels, Fort Riley garrison commander, said he had received complaints from soldiers of unequal treatment.

He told the committee some apartment complexes maintained quotas in renting to soldiers, and some refused to rent to enlisted soldiers.

Some soldiers commute to Fort Riley from as far away as Topeka and Salina, he See MILITARY Page 3

MANHATTAN Businesses come and go in city

BECKY DARBY

The closing of Avanti's restaurant this weekend seems to epitomize Manhattan's business environment, which sees a lot of businesses come

When something leaves, something new usually comes in to replace the lost business, said Bryan Taylor, manager of The Palace in Aggieville.

Randy Martin, president of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce said he agreed, and while there are businesses leaving Manhattan for one reason or another, there are others that come in to fill the empty space. There are a couple currently moving in at the mall and downtown, he said.

Aggieville is really strong right now, said Cheryl Sieben, executive director of the Aggieville Business

She said there aren't many vacancies in Aggieville.

"Even when a business closes, there may be another in the works. People notice the papered-up windows, but they don't always notice a new business that may come in quietly," she

See BUSINESS Page 3

MARK ENGLER

The Riley County Attorney said people who use marijuana just look different than people who do not. There is a visible difference in the people facing marijuana charges and the people

"I see people that are messed up," he said. "Somehow or another, there is a difference between people who are abusing alcohol and people who are abusing marijuana. And I wonder, it may be that one is against the law and the other is not. I don't know. It facing alcohol charges, Bill Kennedy may be that people who violate the law tend to look that way. Maybe it's because they are violating the law and they are using marijuana. I don't know, I don't have any scientific evidence for what I am saying."

Kennedy, who said he was not in favor of legalizing marijuana, said although he did not have any way of knowing for sure, he agreed that because of its prominence and social acceptance, alcohol causes more problems in society than marijuana.

"(But) please don't hear me saying that an ounce of marijuana is less harmful than an ounce of alcohol," he said. "I'm saying that more harm is readily, legally, available." There are many people who will turn to a substance that is legal over one that is not, he said. Kennedy and others who oppose marijuana legalization point to its addictive qualities when describing its potential for harm. He said the done currently in this country by alcohol because it is information he has indicates that marijuana is definitely an addictive substance. "Certain drugs develop what is called a shelf-life in the human body," he said. "And you don't really hit the addiction notice level until you've gone by the shelf-life. Marijuana's shelf-life is 21 days." Kennedy said the problem arises when people seek treatment and after a short stay in a drug clinic no longer feel the desire to smoke marijuana "A week goes by, and they say, 'hey, I don't need any marijuana. See, it's not addictive,"

he said. "They don't feel the true addictive urge until the 21 days have gone by, and by then it's too late. They've already said 'hey, I'm outta here. "They walk out

See WEED page 10

Addictions come in 2 forms

MARK ENGLER

Whether or not marijuana is addictive, as with all drugs, hinges on two types of addiction - physical and psychological.

In some cases, it may be difficult to differentiate the

Some scientists, for instance, believe there is a genetic trait in alcoholics that predisposes them to alcoholism. This would be a physiological answer to a problem that has long been regarded psychological.

But even if alcoholism is rooted in genetics, many alcoholics find relief from their illness by consulting professional psychologists or by attending Alcoholics Anonymous meetings arguably not physiological treatments.

Scott Bailey, who has a master's in psychology and "Drugs and teaches Behavior" at K-State, said some drugs, particularly heroin, are said to mimic the effects of endorphins within the brain. Endorphins are the body's natural opiates and are thought to be responsible for pain suppression, he said.

Bailey said heroin abuse stifles the brain's production of endorphins to the point that users have low pain thresholds. So low, he said, that addicts intensely desire heroin to simply maintain a state of relative comfort.

With that in mind, heroin addiction lies primarily at the physical end of the addiction spectrum, Bailey said. Even so, medical treatments for heroin addiction, such as methadone prescription, have little chance of success unless

■ See ADDICT page 10

PROFILE

Fallon provides guidance, helps solve personal problems

DOUG MILLER

K-State students looking for personal guidance can turn to the Univer-

Don Fallon, campus coordinator of religious activities, helps hundreds of students each year solve problems that develop while they're in school.

"My office is the expression of the University's concern for the faith development of our student community," Fallon said. "It provides a resource for pastoral care and counseling - taking into consideration a student's ethnic background, diversity and position in the world community.

In doing this Fallon, a Lutheran minister, arranges meetings with other counselors on campus, as well as taking an active role in the counseling process. He is involved in several support groups and advisory boards that help counsel and form the University's religion policy.

"We've had conflicts in the past concerning what constitutes a valid he said.

religion here on campus," Fallon said. He cited past cult activities and active recruitment of students by the "Moonies" - members of the Unification Church, which was established by cultist Sun Myung Moon. During these conflicts, the K-State Committee on Religion met with University officials to determine the group's rights according to the U.S. Constitution, and how the University should handle problems and complaints involving these groups.

More recent conflicts involve racism and sexual orientation. Fallon is currently serving on committees to address sexuality, communicable diseases and ethnic harmony, to name a few. A large part of his time was spent bringing the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt to K-State.

We try to use events like the AIDS Quilt, Martin Luther King Day and Black History Month as an opportunity to bring people together and promote understanding about each other."

Able answers call for llama publications

If anyone in the Manhattan area wants a llama for a pet, the man to talk to is Doug Able.

Able, along with his father Bill, is owner/partner of the Llama Banner magazine, published in Manhattan.

Able said they got the idea to start the magazine five years ago when Bill was the judge of some llama shows. Able said his father heard the llama industry needed more publications because there was only one being published at that time.

"The magazine's primary emphasis is on sales and breeding aspects of the industry," Able said.

He said the magazine runs breeding profile sections on "the day in the life of a llama breeder" and updates happenings in the llama industry.

The bimonthly magazine has five full-time employees and a circulation of about 4,000. It is not for sale at newsstands.

The majority of the magazine's subscribers are active breeders, Able said. He said the rest of the subscribers are mainly people curious about llamas or those who show and sell

Able said there are a number of 122, are due by 4 p.m. March 6. new subscribers just getting into the llama industry who heard about the magazine by word of mouth.

Anyone interested in buying a llama just needs to do some homework on the subject and talk to breeders, he said. The cost of llamas, however, is high in this country, he

There are different breeds of llamas; the common llama, the wild species and the alpaca, a smaller breed of the llama. He said llamas can be domesticated.

"People who own llamas come from all walks of life," Able said.

He said llama owners vary from sports stars like Jim Otto to actors like Sylvester Stallone. Michael Jackson not only owns llamas, but he also owns an exotic wildlife farm, he said.

Able said the 15 to 16 breeders in Kansas own an average of 10 llamas

He said most of the U.S. Ilama population is in California, Oregon and Washington. The international market for llamas is increasing because of the big markets in Australia and New Zealand.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

MONDAY, MARCH 2

At 5.45 a.m., a faculty parking permit was reported lost somewhere on Seth Childs Road. At 12:25 p.m., a wheellock was placed on a silver Mazda MX6, Kansas license plate CFL43, in Lot A-17 for displaying an altered permit. The tow time was reported as 5 p.m.

At 1:25 p.m., the theft of a student parking permit, No. 6843, was reported in Lot A-2. Loss was $5. At 3:57 p.m., a blue Plymouth Turismo, license plate BDD367, was reported disabled in Lot A-2 until noon Thursday. At 3:45 p.m., a lost student parking permit was reported lost at Manhattan City Park. Loss was $5.

At 5:10 p.m., it was reported that 25 stalls in D-1W would be barricaded for Tuesday.

At 6:19 p.m., a wheellock was reported placed on a brown Ford Aerostar, license plate DYM646, in Lot B-2 for displaying an altered permit and illegal registration.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

At 12:23 p.m., an unidentified female reported tching two males roll and subsequently smoke a int" near the tennis courts in Manhattan City

"joint" near the tennis courts in Manhattan City Park. The reporting person told officers upon arrival the two had already left the area.

At 12:38 p.m., the police attempted to locate Jim Burns, a.k.a. Hippie Jim, approximately 36 years old, waist-length brown hair, beard and mustache. Hippie Jim called his wife at approximately 5 p.m. the day before to inform her he was hitchhiking home from Ellsworth.

At 1:50 p.m., A major-damage, non-injury accident involving vehicles driven by Stephanie Labarge, 336 Moro St., and Marilyn Hetzel, Leroy, occurred at 11th and Bertrand streets.

Labarge, E39 Moro St., and Marilyn Hetzel, Leroy, occurred at 11th and Bertrand streets.

At 4:12 p.m., a major-damage, injury accident involving a motorcycle driven by Bill Sowles, 1695 Houston St., and a car driven by Tiffany Daniels, 724 Poyntz Ave., occurred at 11th Street and Bluemont Avenue. Daniels was taken to the hospital for treatment of a concussion.

Bluemont Avenue. Daniels was taken to the nospi-tal for treatment of a concussion.

At 6:03 p.m., a major-damage, non-injury accident involving vehicles driven by Ken Brooks, 3336 Newbury, and Amy Joyce, 715 Leaven worth St., occurred in the alley behind 210 N. Eighth St. At 11:11 p.m., a burglary report was filed on a theft occurring at 1728 Thomas Circle. Taken was jewelry, silver, currency and two wallets from Martha Vanier and Robert Krause. The total loss is $7,295.

At 11:24 p.m., a burglary report was filed on a theft occurring at 1707 Thomas Circle. Taken and recovered was a jewelry box and its contents valued at $400, belonging to Dean Campbell.

MONDAY, MARCH 2

At 1:07 a.m., Ronald C. Ingram of Ogden was arrested for battery and released on bond.
At 6:48 a.m., a vehicle burglary report was filed regarding the theft of $320 worth of cassette tapes belonging to Debbie Morales, 4460 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

At 7:04 a.m., a report was filed regarding the theft of $720 worth of car stereo equipment belonging to Virginia Joyce, 2912 James Ave.
At 7:46 a.m., a report was filed regarding the theft of $950 worth of car stereo equipment belonging to Robert Redman, 2121 Halls Landing

At 10:21 a.m., Dillard's, Manhattan Town

Center, reported the theft of a Panasonic Camcorder valued at $1,000. At 11:37 a.m., Shirley Green, 1923 Indiana, was given a notice to appear for littering at Kimball and Seaton avenues.

At 12:15 p.m., Antonio Bennett, 2435 Button-

At 12:15 p.m., Antonio Bennett, 2435 Button-wood, was given a notice to appear for battery and criminal trespass at 3003 Anderson Ave., No. 19. At 12:07 p.m., a minor-damage, non-injury accident report was filed involving a car driven by Albert Hedgepath, McClouth, and a traffic signal at Tuttle Creek Boulevard and Kimball Avenue.

Stateroom 1. Ability Games and Disability Awareness week will be discussed. KSU Young Democrats will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 209.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4

TUESDAY, MARCH 3

executives will meet at 6:45 p.m.

first floor of the Union.

This is a required meeting.

SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207.

on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Circle K will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 205.

HALO will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 207.

Federal Employment" at 6:30 p.m. in Denison 220.

SADD will meet at 7 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3.

Pizza Hut will speak on "Career Motivation."

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory

Southwind will be selling environmental T-shirts and raffle tickets on the ■ Block & Bridle will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 111. Block & Bridle

■ Institute of Industrial Engineers will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 173.

Student Gerontology Club and Student Chapter of American Col-

Society for Advancement of Management will meet at 7 p.m. in Union Career Planning and Placement will have a workshop on "Securing

Phi Beta Lambda will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208. Paul Brown from Society for Creative Anachronism will meet at 7 p.m. in Ahearn Field

Students for Handicapped Concerns will meet at 11 a.m. in Union

KSU Young Democrats will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 209.

KSU Amateur Radio Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 202.

Kansas State Racquetball Club will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 203.

lege Health Care Administrators will present "Hospital, Retirement Center and Long-Term Care Administrator Panel" at 4:30 p.m. in Union 206.

KSU Young Democrats will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 209.

KSNEA will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont Media Center.

Black Student Union will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212.

Intramural Managers will meet at 4 p.m. in Union Forum Hall. ■ University Counseling Services will sponsor "Who Gets Depressed? Why?" from noon to 1 p.m. The discussion is informal. Those interested may bring a lunch.

Graduate Student Council will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 202.

Wildcat Triathalon Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

Bisexual and Gay Lesbian Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. at UFM. "Let's Rap," black student support group, will meet at 3:30 p.m. in Union 208.

WEATHER

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Blue Key scholarship applications, which are available in Anderson

TODAY'S FORECAST

Mostly cloudy and cooler with a high from 65 to 70. Low tonight in the low 50s with a 60-percent chance of showers

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

High near 60 with a 60-percent chance of rain.

EXTENDED FORECAST

BUY-HIRE-SELL -RENT

A chance for showers through Thursday with a high near 70. Clearing Friday and Saturday with highs in the mid-60s. Lows in the 40s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

MANHATTAN TOPEKA GOODLAND 79/51 KANSAS CITY 77/58 80/53 GARDEN CITY 78/40 WICHITA LIBERAL COFFEYVILLE 81/44 ● 78/55

WORLD TEMPERATURES

72/32

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Lima	82/70	clear
Auckland	70/50	cloudy	Manila	93/68	clear
Beirut	57/45	clear	Mexico City	72/50	cloudy
Hong Kong	66/64	cloudy	Vancouver	51/46	cloudy

COLLEGIAN

SIG-EP FITE NITE BOXER SIGN-UP

March 4 at SCOREBOARD COME MEET THE 1992 MISS KNOCKOUTS!!

- · Boxers receive free workouts at NAUTILUS
- $15 boxer fee; $75 for teams of 8 or more
- · Boxers must live in a residence hall, Jardine or a fraternity

Sig Ep Fite Nite

April 2-5 at AHEARN FIELD HOUSE For ticket information call 539-2387

2ND ANNUAL KAPPA DELTA GOLF CLASSIC HELPING TO PREVENT CHILD ABUSE

SHAMROCK PROJECT Saturday, March 28, 1992

It all takes place at Custer Hill Golf Course, Fort Riley; 9-hole, 2-man scramble (Random Flighting) Registration fee is $50 per 2-man team. (Fee includes green fees, golf cart, golf towels and donation) All proceeds go to the National Committee for the Prevention of Child Abuse. For more information, call 539-7688.

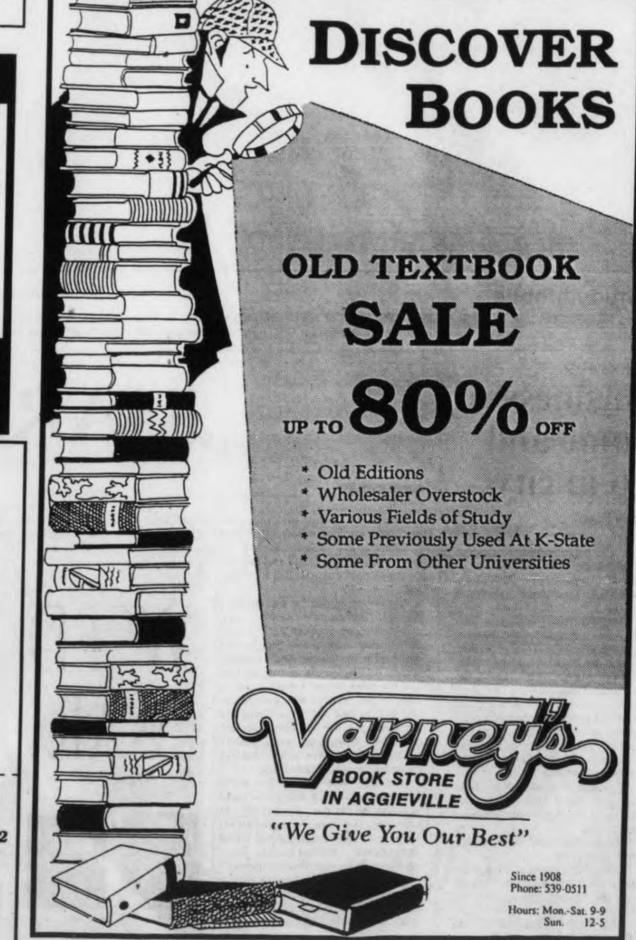

Please Return by March 14

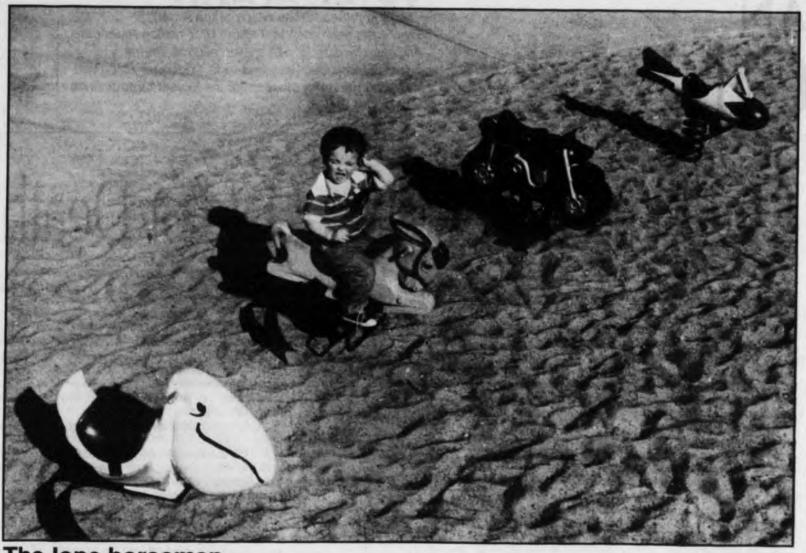

TEAM:

NAME

Kappa Delta 1220 Centennial Manhattan, KS 66502

Mail this along with a $50 check to Kappa Delta (Limited to 40 teams, so hurry and sign up now!)

The lone horseman

MIKE WELCHHANS/Collegian

Two-year-old Josh Burton chooses to ride a toy horse despite having a wide selection to play on Monday at Manhattan City Park.

Plan to speed up expansion has existed for several years

Students played big role in changing priority, Wefald says

STEPHANIE FUQUA

University officials say the plan to speed up Farrell Library's expansion has existed for several years, and that has left some students wondering why it was not proposed earlier.

University President Jon Wefald said K-State students can credit themselves for the recent proposal to finance the addition to Farrell by increasing the Educational Building Fund levy.

The proposal, originated by Regent Charles Hostetler, would increase the levy from one mill to 1.5 mills. Wefald said it was brought about mainly because of student efforts.

"The students definitely played a big role in moving the library from 35 on the priority list to No. 1," Wefald

John Johnson, chairman of the Research Information Services at Farrell, said he agreed.

the last two or three years are respon- before," Hostetler said.

sible for the administration's taking notice of Farrell. SHELF (Students Helping Enhance Library Funding) was very instrumental in increasing awareness, as was the sit-in," John-

Dean of Libraries Brice Hobrock said that he has been proposing Farrell expansion for 10 years, and it was the students' voices that finally made the Kansas Board of Regents take notice.

"All the planets had to be in alignment - the students, the administration and the Legislature. The students deserve a lot of credit," Hobrock said.

Hobrock also said in a recent interview that Hostetler's proposal is not a new idea but has been talked about for as long as five years.

Hostetler denies this, however, and said it was his idea.

"I read that in the Collegian the other day, and it is not true. I don't know where he got that information. came up with that idea a year ago, "The student organizations within and it had never been talked about

Artist worked in the face of social, political pressure

Union gallery show valued at more than $98,000

PAM HANSON

Collegian The Union Art Gallery ended

one of the most significant art shows of the last few years. Sam Gilliam, a black artist from Washington, D.C., was the featured artist, and the show was valued at more than $98,000.

Noticed in the early 1970s, Gilliam was part of the movement of artists bridging the gap between flat work and three-dimensional work in painting and sculpture, said Kathi Hudson, fine arts coor-

His significance for being a black painter who continued to work abstractly in the face of social and political pressure on black artists to depict traditional black images is also important, Hudson

Gilliam actually started out as a conceptual artist but now considers himself an abstract artist. Hudson said.

Hudson said there are basically three kinds of art: representational, abstract and conceptual.

Representational art has a subject, and it is obvious by looking at the art what it is.

Abstract art has a subject. A form is taken apart and put back together in a different way.

"Abstract art is when the artist puts different shapes and colors together, and it's not a clear distinct image of what they're painting," said Shelly Rasmussen, program adviser for the arts commit-

Conceptual art does not have a subject. It is purely formal elements, and it can represent an emotion, Hudson said.

Gilliam's art includes mixed

See ART SHOW Page 10

Traffic accidents cause concern

Residents suspect faulty stoplight at 11th and Bluemont

VICKY SAENZ

Collegian

Traffic accidents are generally common in intersections, but several in Manhattan have a statistically higher number of collisions.

One such intersection over which students have voiced concern is at 11th Street and Bluemont Avenue.

'I see accidents pretty often at this intersection, more than in any other one," said Cathy Coffee, employee at Shop Quik, 1127 Bluemont Ave., and junior in apparel and textile market-

A resident who lives at the intersection concurred.

"I've lived here for 14 months, and them are minor, but there's been a couple where they've had to bring an ambulance," said Mike Legler, junior in hotel and restaurant management.

Some students said one of the main reasons for the danger of this intersection is a faulty stoplight.

"We see lots of accidents, sometimes even two a day. We've seen it happen because one of the lights is yellow and the other one is already green. The car in the yellow light keeps going and it runs into the other one," said Ronda McMackin, junior in construction science and management, who lives near the intersection.

This is a pretty dangerous corner. Too many cars and people have been hurt. Like they redid the roads this summer, they need to redo the lights," McMackin said.

"I have heard that the lights are not in sync. I know of someone who was driving a truck and got in an accident, and both parties said that the light was in green," said an employee at Arby's, 1115 Bluemont Ave.

Buddy Mays, lieutenant of the traffic component of the Riley County Police Department, said that they have no listings of accidents inside the city due to a faulty stoplight.

"I have not seen two traffic lights that for a split second are green, and we've seen a lot of accidents, at least there are no surveys from the city one to two accidents a week. Most of traffic engineers stating this," Mays

> However, he said some traffic lights in the city turn red at the same time, especially in congested intersections such as the one at 11th Street and Poyntz Avenue.

> "I believe this is a good feature because all the traffic at one point is stopped," he said.

The main factors causing accidents at the intersection of 11th Street and 1991. However, they show that by the Bluemont Avenue, according to statistics are: inattentive driving, tailgating, driving too fast for road conditions and slush and ice on roadways.

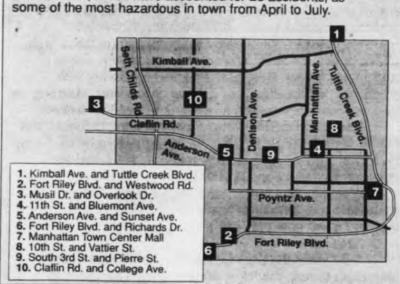

Statistics show that the intersection ranked No. 1 in accidents in early end of the year, the intersection fell to

"We have selective enforcement locations quarterly, and I believe that it had a major impact in reducing accidents at this location," Mays said.

Manhattan's hazardous intersections

The Riley County Police Department lists these 10 intersections, which have accounted for 28 accidents, as

Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea?

Call the Collegian day or night

532-6556

SPRING BREAK AT THE LOFT

Source: Riley County Police Department

ROD GILLESPIE/Collegian

Business

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Martin said businesses close for many reasons, but there doesn't seem to be any certain trend to the business closings in Manhattan lately.

Some of the reasons for closing a business may be something like new competition or not making money. Martin said. Another reason may be the owner doesn't want to be in that business anymore.

The economy does figure into it, but there are so many other things involved," Sieben said.

Sieben said that there isn't any one reason businesses are closing in Manhattan. It's something that just happens. She said it just seems like a bad thing when several businesses close at the same time.

Because of K-State and Fort Riley, the Manhattan economy is relatively stable, said Ellie Brent, owner of Woody's Ladies Shop in Aggieville. She also said there isn't any particular trend in recent business closings.

"The Manhattan economy seems pretty stable right now compared to the national economy," Martin said.

Military

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 said. The post now has about 2,000 extra soldiers and their families because of cutbacks in U.S. forces in "All we're asking is that soldiers have the same access to available housing in these areas as any person,"

Runnels said.

The bill also was supported by former state senator Merrill Werts, the American Legion and William Wojciechowski, president of Pratt Community College.

Wojciechowski represented the Kansas Chamber of Commerce and Industry in support of the bill. No one spoke against it.

Headliner Craig Peters Featuring

Red Tolnai Tonight 9 p.m.

Reservations Accepted

after 10 a.m. Private Club Memberships Available 18 To Enter 21 To Drink

MOO!

THE LOFT The Ultimate Choice in Swimwear The graphic boldness of black and white harlequins, lush garden florals and cheerful vivid brights create the palette for The Loft swimwear. The Loft will make you feel like a million dollars on the beach this spring break. FREE T-SHIRT with purchase of swimsuit. 1207 Moro in Aggieville (Women's Casualwear Mon.-Sat. 9:30 AM to 5:30 PM Thur, evening til 8:00 PM Sunckry 1-5 PM

VOTER APATHY

The Committee for the Study of the American Electorate estimated that about 67.7 million Americans, or 36 percent of the 186 million eligible voters, participated in the 1990 mid-term elections, which tied the 1986 mid-term election for the lowest turnout since World War II.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

Motor Voter Bill could be a driving force in election

Only about 70 percent of all eligible voters were registered during the 1988 elections.

But in the 18- to 24-year-old age group, that statistic dropped to 50 percent.

There are a number of reasons why - apathy, lack of free time during courthouse hours, etc. While some states require the presentation of an original birth certificate, in the state of New Hampshire, for example, some towns still require people to pay a tax at registration This in the very state where presidential primaries kickoff the election season.

But rather than point fingers, many pressure groups are advocating a national bill be passed that would automatically include voter registration applications to be completed with driver's license applications and renewals.

It's called the Motor Voter Bill.

In support, MTV's Rock the Vote campaign collected more than 20,000 signatures during this summer's Lollapalooza tour.

Other promotion includes the back of R.E.M.'s "Out of Time" CD package, which takes the form of a "Dear Senator" petition in support of the bill.

The Motor Voter movement has met opposition from Republican leaders.

Why? Because the law would register a young, and historically Democratic, population.

Regardless of political affiliation, top national leaders should encourage voter registration of all people, young and

It's the fundamental principal that guides America.

Student journalists should use their rights

A little more than a week ago, Gov. Joan Finney signed into law a student publications bill protecting Kansas highschool students from censorship. The bill reversed a 1988 Supreme Court decision in Hazelwood v. Kuhlmeier.

The court in '88 ruled by a narrow margin that a highschool principal had broad powers to censor the school's student newspaper. He omitted stories concerning teen pregnancy and the effects of divorce on students, claiming the in-depth features were too insensitive to teenage students.

Kansas's remedy for this First Amendment illness was the passage of Senate Bill No. 62. It was passed by the Senate on March 13, 1991, the House on Feb. 7, 1992, and the governor signed it Feb. 21, 1992.

For more than a year, students, teachers, college professors and journalists have been fighting for this legislation and now they can rest. Not really.

Now is not the time for rest but the time for young journalists to reap the fruits of their labor. They have resecured their rights and duties as journalists to inform their communities. They must cover the difficult stories like teen pregnancy, divorce, abortion, cheating and inadequate education funding, and fight for improvements to the system.

Don't waste any time celebrating or rejoicing. Instead, accurately and truthfully report what happens in your school and your community.

Don't be fearful of a principal who may have selfish interests. Encourage your fellow students to send letters to the editor and give students a voice again. Every day and night at the Collegian, students report the news, shoot the photographs, make the graphics, sell the ads, paste-up the paper without censorship or regulation beyond our own ethics and editorial decisions. The following day we receive critiques from our adviser, our readers and ourselves. That is how we learn, that is how a student newspaper must operate. In high schools, too.

OLLEGIAN

NEWS STAFF (532-6556)

Editor Erwin Seba Managing Editor Daria Goodman News Editor News Editor
Lajean Rau
Design & Graphics Editor
Greg Branson
Photography Editor
J. Kyle Wyatt
Opinion Page Editor
Mike Venso
Assistant Opinion Page
Editor

Assistant Opinion Page Editor
Jodell Lamer
Campus Editor
Cindy Briggs
Assistant Campus Editor
Denise Uphoff
Sports Editor
Patrick Obley
Assistant Sports Editor
David Svoboda
Government/City Editor lason Hamil Jason Hamilton Tara Hun Erin Perry Niranjan Rao Roger Steinbrock Derek Thoman Government/City Editor Christine Vendel Features Editor

A & E/Silo Editor
Heather Anderson
Copy Chief
Samantha Farr
Copy Editors
Amy Cox
Jodell Lamer
Eve Wilson Eve Wilson Lisa Edmunds Mark Engler Stephanie Fuqua

Sports Columnis Margo Keller Andrew Woodward

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postag paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103.

will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom

Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Condoms: The Sheath of Life or Death

"Squeeze reservoir tip. Roll end down."

Last Friday I witnessed the unfolding of the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt.

I heard the names read aloud of the people who have died from AIDS. As I walked around it, I tried to take in every memory from each individual panel.

I left Ahearn Field House feeling empty and powerless. What can anyone do to combat this leviathan that has already killed more than 100,000 people in America and will kill many more?

What are we willing to do?

One thing all of us can choose to do is to realize that AIDS is 11 years old, and it's past time to start shattering senseless taboos.

I think one stigma that has been partially corrected but still needs more work is the patently false belief that AIDS is a disease reserved for homosexual men and junkies. Statistics now show the fastest growing group contracting the HIV virus is heterosexual teenagers. Some idiots like Fred Phelps are still picketing coffins and zoos in the name of their pesky religion, and one candidate vying for the Republican presidential nomination (a.k.a. Patrick Buchanan) asserts that AIDS is a punishment for homosexuals from God himself.

They're almost exceptions by now.

(I don't know about you, but I don't want this Buchanan guy to get close enough to the White House to mow the lawn.

But incumbent George has been lackadaisical in his treatment of this problem as well. Funding for AIDS research has been cut substantially since the beginning of his reign. Frankly, I'd like to see him in the unemployment line next year, too.)

Here I want to focus on another subject - condoms.

Now, I know that at the very mention of that word, Campus Crusade for Christ and its satellites are probably sharpening their letter-to-the-editor pencils. But before they or anyone else with imperialistic religious beliefs or high-falootin moral self-imperatives line up to prevent the discussion and use of condoms, I'd like to offer them some advice.

Leave the rest of us alone. It's time we talked seriously about safety. Not so long ago, the Collegian printed two letters expressing outrage about the addition of condoms in candy machines in the Union. One person even wondered if they were to be eaten, typifying what I think is a common societal intelligence gap

Come on, kids, let's slough off this tired, thick skin of ignorance and myth. People are dying from sexual intercourse right now - not just homosexuals, not just needle freaks. Anyone. No exceptions. To think otherwise is to choke yourself on your own stupidity.

Maxim: It's not who you are. It's what you do.

That's where latex condoms come in. No prophylactic is 100 percent guaranteed to prevent STDs or pregnancy, but a latex condom lubricated with a spermicide, preferably Nonoxynol-9, is one of the safest and most effective means of protection available. Nonoxynol-9 not only kills sperm, but also destroys some viruses, including the AIDS virus.

You can choose to use one every time you have Condoms are readily available at almost any grocery store, convenience store, campus residence hall, hospital, pharmacy and at places like Lafene. They're relatively inexpensive, especially compared to the high cost of health care an AIDS patient demands. You can also choose the way you think about condoms and the people who use them. Don't be afraid or embarrassed to buy them. The purchase of a threepack shows off your intelligence, whether you're a male or female. I, for one, firmly believe it's cool to be alive.

Be a careful consumer. Check the expiration date before buying, and follow the handy directions if you've never used one before. It's not quantum physics - anyone can do it.

A woman who carries a condom is not automatically a slut. Don't call You might also want to take an HIV test. They're relatively cheap and anonymous at the Riley County Health Clinic. Condoms don't make a person invincible, and it's always nice to know where you stand.

You can choose to do something about AIDS.

If you're not into abstinence, use a condom. If you're not into abstinence or condoms, get monogamous or married and be faithful.

Talk and think positively about using condoms every time you have

All in all, think about what you're doing, and what the effects from your actions will be. I know it's hard with the spring hormonal hyperactivity and the shorts and skirts everyone is wearing, but take the time to mull things over.

Oh, and don't worry about friends finding out about your prophylactic practices. The obituary section is the most widely read part of the paper.

LETTER

Editor,

▶ SOLDIER APOLOGIZES

FOR FELLOW SOLDIER

I would like to apologize to the students of K-State and the friends and family of Catherine Heintze for the senseless actions of my fellow soldier Jason Turner. Even though I never knew Turner, the Army works as a team, and each and every soldier is responsible for the

to make a difference in the way you all must feel toward Fort Riley soldiers after this incident. But, I would like to say that the majority of us stand for honor, duty and a strong moral character. There is Riley can live happily together; in a funny way, we all kind of depend on one another. Be assured that many of us believe in peace, love and happiness and any act of violence is the furthest thing from

Please try to understand and don't rule out befriending a soldier because of the reputation caused by our minds.

a few bad apples.

I'm truly sorry.

Spc. John Barrett

C Co., 4-1 AVN, Fort Riley

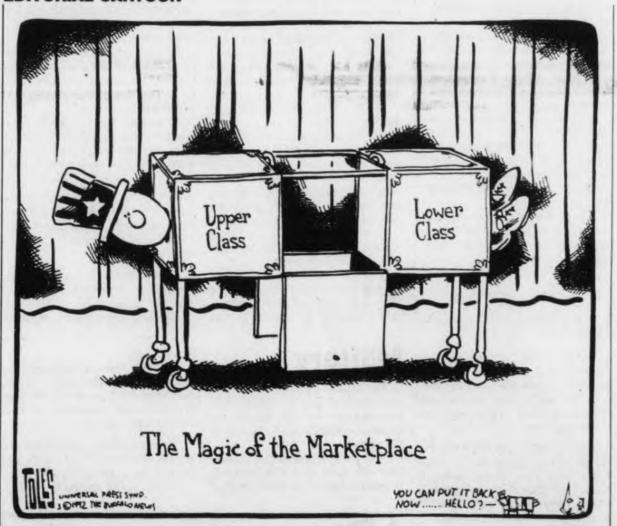

Please don't let this force us further apart. K-State and Fort always a bad apple in a crowd.

I know there is nothing I can say actions of one another.

EDITORIAL CARTOON

LETTERS SEABOURN DOESN'T KNOW AUTOMOBILES

For three years now, I've been reading Seabourn's columns and until now have found them thoroughly researched and difficult to dispute. However, on Feb. 2 Seabourn had not researched his topic thoroughly enough. As a result, he demonstrated his ignorance quite effectively.

In his final argument, Uby Wauken challenges Seabourn to a "baha" race in which Seabourn may drive any American-built product while Uby drives a similar "Japmobile." Seabourn should know this "baha" race is more correctly spelled "baja," and the sanctioning body of this sort of race is SCORE/HDRA. In 1991, the series light-truck competition was won by Chevrolet. Nissan and Toyota competed, and both lost. If I were Seabourn, I'd take Uby Wauken up on his challenge because if Seabourn did, he'd be walking straight up to the victory podium after the race to pick up his first-place trophy.

If Seabourn wanted to continue the 1991 competition result argument with Uby, he could tell him that in addition to the SCORE/HDRA championships, Chevrolet won the CART (which includes the Indianapolis "500"). the NASCAR Winston Cup, the SCCA Trans-Am and Escort World Challenge championships. Ford won the SCCA Racetruck championship. While it is true that Mazda won the world's most prestigious endurance race, the 24 hours of Le Mans, it is also true that this was Japan's first victory in a race which they have participated in for more than a decade. American and European manufacturers have won the race countless times. The most prestigious competition, the FIA Constructor's championship, was won in 1991 by Jaguar, a marquee made in Great Britain, which is owned by Ford. After telling Uby all this, I'm sure he would recognize that American manufacturers are truly dominant in international racing competition, while European makers finish

Furthermore, Seabourn should realize that this is not 1982. This is 1992. Perhaps a decade ago, when the American automobile industry reached an all-time low, the Japanese held an advantage in price, performance, reliability and quality control, but that advantage has been all but eclipsed. American cars like the Ford Taurus and Thunderbird, Chevrolet Corvette and Camaro, Pontiac Bonneville, Dodge Viper (the list goes on and on ...) are consistently beating the Japanese in the performance, quality and (yes) price categories. True, the American industry dug itself into a hole in the early '80s, but in recent years, it has climbed out and is just waiting for sluggish Americans like Seabourn to recognize that its cars are at least the equal of, and in many cases, superior to, any Japanese car.

Next time Seabourn tries to write a column on something other than religion, he should research the topic more thoroughly so he doesn't look like such a fool. I guess it's ironic that he is actually Uby Wauken because he is the one who will be walking if he doesn't do a bit more research about cars.

Rod Ratzlaff Senior in history

MAINFRAME SYSTEM MUST REMAIN HERE

The news of the announcement about the disintegration of K-State's mainframe reached me recently, and it was only appropriate that it came over Bitmail lines.

In response to the accusations that the students are only using the system for pleasure, it is true that opportunities for pleasure are readily available and used, but the belief that that is its only use has no foundation. Hundreds of students use the system for word processing, as well as compiler uses for classes in Fortran, C, Pascal and Calculus Applications. It is also the most efficient method for relaying messages and other administrative

I, myself, have never used the mainframe system at K-State, but I've learned the power of one now that I have been a foreign exchange student in Germany for a year. Of course it would be ridiculous to bring or buy a computer for just a year, so I have been relying on our local mainframe system to pass my programming classes. I have been using "pleasure" functions such as E-Mail and "talk" to do such important functions such as enrollment, housing application and simply maintaining contact with K-

I know if there are ever protests staged against moving the mainframe system, I would be there, if only in spirit. Such a service is for the students, as is the University.

P.S. This letter would not have been possible without the use of K-State's mainframe system.

Keith Loseke K-State student in Gießen,

Tsongas leading polls

Maryland, Colorado outcomes play important role in Democratic race

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW CARROLTON, Md. -Maryland and Colorado may play kingmakers Tuesday in anointing one of the Democratic presidential contenders a national candidate - perhaps the man once dismissed as the longest of long shots.

With former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas showing strength in late polls in both states, Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton on Monday was looking beyond Tuesday's primaries even as he tried to generate enthusiasm for a last-minute surge in Maryland.

Tsongas' outlook in Colorado and Maryland, the first states where there is no regional favorite, improved after his win in the leadoff New Hampshire primary. His pro-business economic message plays well among the more affluent, suburban voters found in large numbers in both states.

The two states are among seven that have primaries or caucuses Tuesday, with 383 Democratic delegates at stake.

Once considered a regional longshot with no staying power past New England, Tsongas is counting on a strong Tuesday to propel him into the South, where Clinton is expecting to get a needed psychological boost.

"The criticism against me has been that my ideas are regional and that's why the Maryland and Colorado elections are important, to show you can compete in other parts of the country," Tsongas told voters in Greenbelt, Md., on Monday.

LITTLE TUESDAY

South's Super Tuesday next week.

Seven states and American Samoa will have presidential caucuses and primaries today. This may be a preview to the tions and judgments," he said. "I have to do well here.'

4

Clinton, meanwhile, is playing down expectations. He promises a win in Georgia on Tuesday, but says he may have got his stride back too late to overcome Tsongas in Colorado and Maryland. The other contests, in Washington, Minnesota, Idaho and Utah, are unpredictable, he Still, he said Monday as he campaigned in Maryland, he thinks there will be a real turnaround in this elec-

"In the aftermath of New Hampshire, my economic message was totally wiped away," said Clinton, who was forced to defend himself against unsubstantiated allegations of infidelity and suggestions he manipulated a deferment to avoid the Vietnam draft. "People are beginning to get back to the issues and are listening to my message again.

Maryland and Colorado are significant not only because they are the first important tests of the Democrats outside their home regions. With diverse economies and a mix of urban and rural areas, both are considered bellwethers of Democratic chances in

"We represent the new, emerging Democratic vote in this country," said Denver political consultant Floyd

Clinton's strategy is to contrast his economic proposals with those of Tsongas. He casts Tsongas' propos-"I am a prisoner of your expecta- als as "1980s economics" and tells different for the 1990s and beyond. He wants to put capital first. I want to put people first."

Campaigning later Monday in Stone Mountain, Ga., Clinton sharpened his criticisms, saying Tsongas would inflict more pain and and more agony on the middle class while rewarding corporate America for the excesses of the 1980s.

While playing down the significance of Tuesday's contests, Clinton said he is confident he can win among Democratic voters if the debate with Tsongas is over economics.

Tsongas' success among professionals clearly grates Clinton, who viewed this constituency as a natural part of what he calls his new coalition for change

Tsongas' attempts to cut into Clinton's black support also are a sore point, with Clinton accusing his rival of using the very negative tactics that Tsongas himself has denounced.

It is no trivial argument. Black voters are critical for a Clinton comeback in Maryland and to Clinton's margins in the South, where he has to win big to cement his regional strength heading into nine more Southern primaries next week on Super Tuesday.

"Georgia serves as a launching pad for Super Tuesday," said Georgia State University political science professor Michael Binford.

Should he win only Georgia, Clinton still will have to prove himself more than a regional candidate. Aides stress that Clinton will get a good share of delegates this week, even if he wins only one state.

County will vote on secession

Outcome will not bind or force legal action

ASSOCIATED PRESS

HUGOTON - The Stevens County Board of Commissioners adopted on Monday a resolution calling for a vote on April 7 allowing voters to express their sentiment on a proposal that the county secede from Kansas.

"We live in a democracy, and we represent the people in our county,' Commission Chairman Kenneth Lester said. "We have an obligation to let them express their opinion at the ballot box.'

The advisory election, which will not be binding or force any legal action, will be held in conjunction with the state's presidential preference primary election.

Secession by the far southwest

Kansas county was proposed by Hugoton attorney Don Concannon as a protest against a school finance plan that would levy a 45-mill statewide property tax to support elementary and secondary education. The Kansas House will vote on that plan in about two weeks.

School levies in the Hugoton and Moscow school districts, the only two districts in the county, are both about 16 mills. Concannon said to levy another 29 mills in the county and distribute that money to other districts, coupled with the oil and gas severance tax imposed in 1983, would constitute confiscatory taxation. He urged secession.

Some residents of Stevens County are wearing T-shirts. On the front is a picture of a tornado blowing away the southwest corner of a map of Kansas, with the words, "Toto, we're not in Kansas any

Two Stevens County residents, Pat Willis and Mike Gaskill, presented to the board of commissioners at its meeting Monday morning petitions signed by more than 700 people requesting submission of the advisory question to voters.

Lester said the board concluded that was a sufficient number to submit the issue to a vote. Stevens County has 2,277 registered voters.

Attorney General Bob Stephan has advised Rep. Gene Shore, R-Johnson, whose district includes Stevens County, the county cannot secede regardless of its citizens'

BOARD OF REGENTS

K-State mission to be rewritten

Universities must provide more differentiation, specificity in 1991 drafts

TRISHA PERRIGO

"Kansas State University is a comprehensive research land-grant institution serving students and the people of Kansas, the nation and the world."

These words introduce the University's soon-to-be-rewritten mission statement.

The year-long project, however, is back to the drawing board.

It was decided at the February Kansas Board of Regents meeting to take another look at all six regent institutions's mission statements again in March, Provost James Coffman

"Some people were concerned the board might want each institution to rewrite its mission statement in a short amount of time, but now it's beginning to look like that may not take place," Coffman said.

All regents institutions were asked at the February meeting to revise their mission statements.

"The board is looking for greater differentiation and a higher degree of specificity within each mission statement," Coffman said.

The current one-page mission statement was intended to last 10 years, but part of the plan included a reexamination of the statement in 1991, said Stanley Koplik, executive director of the regents.

'We're looking for a statement of philosophy and the institutions' pri- they're ready," she said.

mary focus to help guide the universities for the remaining years of the decade," Koplik said. Coffman said the mission statement was rewritten in 1986 and that the regents played the primary role in revision, with minimal help from K-The 1991 mission statement, however, was a combined effort between Student Senate, Faculty Senate, the Strategic Planning Committee, Council of Deans and every college, Coffman said. "The board wanted to take a little time to decide how to handle these general mission statements," Coffman Jackie McClaskey, student body president, said the board decided not to decide.

"I'd rather have them lay it on the table and wait and discuss it when

ENTERTAINMENT

Local bands will get chance to strut their stuff

TOM LISTER

The Olympics are coming to Man-

Rock Olympics '92, a contest sponsored by KSDB-FM 91.9, will give local bands a chance to strut their

"We're looking for some high-energy rock 'n' roll," said Joe Montgomery, station manager of DB92.

There are a lot of young, hungry bands in Manhattan that need stage time and exposure."

will compete April 23.

Brother's Tavern is co-sponsoring the event. Joel Stone, co-owner of Brother's, said the bands will need to play three or four original songs.

"Hopefully, there will be a big mix of bands," he said.

Montgomery said nine bands will compete on three consecutive Wednesdays, starting April 8. The three best bands from those nights

Judges will come from out of town, Stone said. He said bands will be judged on their music and the crowd's The winner of the contest will receive a $150 cash prize.

Bands can enter the contest by submitting a tape to DB92 and paying a $15 entry fee. Deadline for registration is March 6.

"This will be a chance to showcase a lot of talent in this town," Montgomery said.

3. Utah

1. Washington

caucus — 71 delegates

caucus — 18 delegates

primary - 23 delegates

Bringing acts risky business for Bramlage

primary - 42 delegates

caucus — 3 delegates

GREGORY A. BRANSON/Collegian

8. American Samoa

Booking no guarantee of profit; popular groups bring less money, director says

MITCH HIXSON

Timing and luck are very important when an arena is trying to book performing groups, said a man who spends a majority of his time trying to do just that.

Charles Thomas, director of Bramlage Coliseum, said bringing acts into Bramlage is a risky business. "When Bramlage books an act, there is no guarantee that Bramlage will make any money from it," he said. Bramlage might not get a penny.

Thomas compared booking an act to

"If the tree dies after you buy it, it's dead, and you're out of the money. It's the same way for an act. After you buy it, if no one shows - tough, You're out of the money."

Normally, Thomas said he will go through a promoter to get acts.

"An act may be going from Denver to Kansas City, so they would like moter to find us an act for that date.

the promoter calls you," he said.

4. Colorado

6. Georgia

Minnesota

primary - 47 delegates

caucus - 78 delegates

primary - 76 delegates

There is one major benefit in going through a promoter, he said. The venue, in this case Bramlage, would have no financial risk. This risk is taken by the promoter.

"This, of course, is the most advantageous way for a building to do it," he said. Another way to book acts is when the venue tries to get acts on their own, without using a promoter. Thomas said this is the toughest way to

"If the venue tries to get an act, it means the venue does everything in trying to get them.

It means making many phone calls and consumes more time, he said.

There is also a variation to using a promoter. In this case, Bramlage would buy an act using a promoter as a middle-man.

This means if we have an open date we want filled, we'll tell a proto have a stop in between. In that case For a fee, he'll buy and act on our behalf," he said.

However, Thomas said the financial risk would still belong to the

7. Maryland

not shown

When a promoter opens talks with Bramlage, the promoter generally has a time frame of about 90-120 days his or her act will be touring. The promoter asks Thomas which dates Bramlage would have available. Thomas then will look at a calendar of approximately three months to see if Bramlage has any open dates when the act is in the Manhattan area.

"Usually the promoter is trying to round up five or six dates in this part of the country, and he's trying to put them together in a logical fashion ... all a pretty prearranged business," he

A problem for smaller venues like Bramlage, when dealing with promoters, is that promoters usually do not remember anything about the building. This causes an on-going process of educating the promoter about the venue.

"Recognition comes if you do a lot of shows with a certain group or pro-

Act management and arena directors also meet with each other at national meetings. The two parties are the life blood of each other, Thomas said, so the more people known in the other field the easier the job of concert scheduling becomes

Concerts are generally more exensive than family acts, and usually family acts sell themselves to a venue

The circus comes to you and negotiates," Thomas said. He said such acts are difficult to deal with because they offer a deal and say "If you don't like it we'll go somewhere else."

There is no set fee Bramlage will receive for a concert or other performance. Bargaining and "pitching" decides the price.

"The groups ask for the most money first, naturally. It's like buying a car. What's on the sticker shouldn't be what you end up paying for it. You bargain back and forth, until a price is good for both sides,"

In large markets with only one major venue, the acts may have to pay the 'list price' for a building or not play in that location at all. But in Manhattan, with Omaha, Kansas City and Wichita close by all deals are subject to negotiation, he said,

Most performing groups have a set price that they have to get before they will perform. A problem occurs when some arenas overbid on a group.

This in turn hurts all the other arenas that wanted that group, because the group's asking price is more.

"Sometimes the best thing to say to a group is 'no' because the arena is setting itself up, and the next guy up too, if they pay an inflated price," he said. Arenas have to pitch the deal that makes sense for their area.

Thomas said he is constantly battling with promoters who try to compare Manhattan to a bigger market and think what sold well in bigger markets will sell well in Manhattan.

Thomas said that surprisingly, the more popular the act is, the less money the arena will make.

"The acts know if they are exarena in the region and get a show, so usually they have a high price, and if we don't want to pay that much they just move on," he said.

All the conditions and provisions the venue has to meet for the act to perform are contained in the technical rider, which comes with the contract.

Every act asks for different things. Thomas said the technical riders are very specific because the promoter is trying to keep life for the act as normal and as comfortable as possible, which is difficult to do when the act is performing six nights a week in a different city every night.

The act's road crew benefits most from the technical rider.

"The performers get on a jet, but the poor roadies may start unloading equipment at an arena at 8 a.m., work all day, and then start taking down a set about midnight. This might take them until 4 or 5 in the morning, and then it's back on the bus and on to the next town, where the cycle starts again," Thomas said.

If Bramlage follows what the techtremely popular they can go to any nical rider says, the acts are normally easy to get along with.

> "If they ask for 20 people to help unload, you better have 20 people there or they will be in a rotten mood the rest of the day and will make your life pure hell," he said.

is extremely physically and psychologically addictive. The effects are especially intense, immediate and potentially deadly. There is no antidote for a cocaine or erack overdose. The immediate effects include dilated pupils and a narrowing of blood vessels. Cocame and crack also cause increases in blood pressure, heart rate, breathing rate, and body temperature. Users lose their appetite and have trouble sleeping, tempers are often short

304 Fremont

Weekday Special Dump and Dash

35 cents per pound

7 a.m.-6 p.m.

Fremont Laundry 'Attendant on Duty Front Door Parking 'Sun-Fri Hourswhere quality is our tradition 7 a.m.-B:30 p.m. 539-3261 'Sat Hours-

Free Delivery from our delivery menu.

with a minimum $9

11 a.m. - 1 a.m.

order 7 days a

(offer exp. March 10) Weekly Special:

THUNAM This week's entree: Pepper Steak > not valid on delivery with any other 537-0886

1116 Moro

only $3.75

with coupon

ECUMENICAL ASH WEDNESDAY WORSHIP SERVICE

March 4, 7:30 p.m. Danforth Chapel

Sponsored by: American Baptist, Episcopal, Lutheran (ELCA), United Methodist Campus Ministries

ALL WELCOME

5. Ohio St.

6. UNLV (2)

12. Oklahoma St.

13. Michigan St.

18. Michigan 19. Florida St. 20. Alabama

Other Big Eight teams with votes: No. 28 Oklahoma, No. 29 Nebraska

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1992

SPORTS DIGEST

FOOTBALL: Snyder's daughter stable

Merideth Snyder, the 17-year-old daughter of K-State football coach Bill Snyder, was listed in critical but stable condition at the Dallas Rehabilitation Institute this weekend.

Snyder, a senior at Greenville (Texas) High School, was involved in an automobile accident Feb. 15. She sustained a damaged spinal cord and a damaged lung. She has been in the intensive care unit of the DRI since the accident.

"Obviously, I wanted the opportunity to share the situation with all of my family members before releasing Meredith's condition to the public," Bill Snyder said.

"I'm grateful to all of the people who have called and written."

BIG 8: KU grabs share of league title

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) - Rex Walters scored 10 straight points during a decisive stretch of the second half Monday night, vaulting No. 3 Kansas past No. 12 Oklahoma State 77-64 and clinching at least a share of its second straight Big

The Jayhawks (22-3 overall, 10-2 Big Eight) handed the Cowboys (22-6, 6-6) their fifth straight Big Eight road loss and their 28th loss in 30 trips to Allen Fieldhouse, where Kansas has won 16 straight conference games.

Oklahoma State's Byron Houston led all scorers with 26 points. Walters wound up with 18 points. Adonis Jordan had 14, Eric Pauley 13 and Richard Scott 10.

MBL: Cubs' Sandberg gets $7 million

MESA, Ariz. (AP) - Ryne Sandberg took baseball salaries to unprecedented heights Monday when he agreed with the Chicago Cubs on a fouryear contract extension with an option worth a total of $28.4 million.

The 32-year-old second baseman, an All-Star for eight consecutive seasons, becomes the first $7 million-a-year-player in a sport where the previous high was Bobby Bonilla's $5.8 million average.

Sandberg, who already was signed for 1992 at $2.1 million, gets a $3.5 million signing bonus to be paid in December, $5.1 million over each of the next four seasons and a guaranteed payment of $2 million for personal services. In addition, the Cubs have an option for 1997 at $5.9 million with a $2.5 million buyout.

MBL: Rockies will train in Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - The Colorado Rockies will train at Hi Corbett Field starting next spring, erasing any void from the Cleveland Indians' impending departure.

The National League expansion team, which will debut next season, will be the only major league team in Tucson for its first spring, under a five-year agreement announced with the Pima County Sports

John Antonucci, the Rockies' chairman and chief executive officer, announced the news to cheers at a news conference held with Gov. Fife Symington, Rep. Jim Kolbe, R-Ariz., and city and county officials.

CLUB SPORTS

Colorado skates past hockey team for weekend sweep

Two Cats injured in 7-6 and 8-5 losses in Boulder

FRANK KLEEMANN

K-State's hockey players had a tough time at the Recreation Center at the University of Colorado in Boulder, Colo.

The team lost both matches against the Buffaloes Friday and Saturday and suffered some injuries. During the first game, which the Wildcats lost 7-6 in the second overtime, Tony DiCola and Pat Steiner had to be taken to a hospital for cuts they received when a Colorado player skated over

K-State's small roster forced the team to finish the game with just seven players.

"It was a hell of an effort," said Jake Kisel, a field player. "Our goalie, Bill Hudson, played exceptionally well."

'We played excellent, but we couldn't manage to win the game," Kisel said, summing up the game. "But they stayed fresh, having three full lines against our one and a Kisel said the entire game was close.

"It was goal for goal," he said. "The game was tied all the time.

DiCola gave K-State an early lead. He curved around Colorado's goal and shoveled the puck through the goalie's legs and into the net.

The other K-State scorers were Pat Steiner, Yui Namba and Steve Stroud twice.

In the Saturday rematch, K-State lost 8-5. The Cats played with nine players, including DiCola and Steiner. "The loss wasn't too bad considering we had only nine players against their 16," Kisel said.

K-State scored its five goals through Steiner, DiCola, Namba, Chuck Kipp and Greg Latham.

"We played a good defense," Kisel said. "We covered our goal pretty well and our offensive players did also a good defensive job. Colorado got some lucky

Randolph hoping for fast start at Nationals

Cats football player moonlights for thinclads; will run 55-meter dash in NCAA Nationals

MARGO KELLER

Sprinter Thomas Randolph is accustomed to training, not only on the track, but the football field as well.

The Manhattan native, a cornerback in Bill Snyder's defensive secondary isn't taking a break from the field. He is focusing on the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Meet in Indianapolis, Ind. March 13-14.

From the outset, Randolph's training for the Nationals will include concentrating on the starting blocks. Sprint coach and K-State assistant track coach Trevor Graham said Randolph has a good opportunity to reach the finals in the 55-meter dash at the national meet.

"Thomas is one of the best athletes I have coached," Graham said. "He has a great attitude about learning. He treats it as if he were in a classroom. He doesn't know 100 percent about running, but he is learning. While he claimed his best time of 6.20 last indoor season, Randolph's best mark this season, 6.24 is under the provisional time for NCAA qualifying.

His 6.20 is only five hundredths away from K-State's record of 6.15 set by Ray Hill at the '89 Big Eight indoor meet, and he is less than a tenth of a second from matching the automatic NCAA qualifying time of 6.18 seconds in the 55-meter dash.

At the Big Eight Championships in Lawrence this past weekend, Randolph placed second with the 6.24 time. Going into the conference finals on Saturday, he was tied for the best preliminary time of 6.22. "I was long in the blocks and lost my concentration," Randolph said. "I didn't get as good a start as I usually do out of the blocks." By applying more pressure on the blocks, Graham said he thought Randolph could have tied the winner in the 55-meters.

"You can loose three-tenths to four-tenths of a second from a bad start. He lost the race in the first 30 meters," Graham said. "He could have ran a 6.18 sprint, but he couldn't because he didn't apply the pressure to the blocks."

While disappointed about his final placing, Randolph still has Nationals

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

"I thought it was my year to win the Big Eight," Randolph said. "I'm disappointed because I thought I would win."

The main ingredient for Nationals training is focusing on the blocks.

"He almost false started," Graham said. "He was too pumped, and he couldn't wait to get out of the blocks. He needs to have more mental focus on the blocks so be can be in the race earlier. I want him to be in control so he can feel comfortable with the blocks.'

Randolph earned all-America status last year when he placed ninth in the nation in the 55-meters. At the 1991 Big Eight Championships, he ended up third in a photo finish with a time of 6.21, one-hundredths of a second behind the winner.

Ruggers whip

COLLEGIAN STAFF

The K-State/Fort Riley

Rugby Football team posted a 32-18 road victory over the All Western-25 side in Lawrence over the weekend.

After surrendering a Western try that narrowed its lead to 6-4, KSUFR scored four unanswered tries to take an insurmountable 22-4 consisting primarily of rookie players, lost to Western's A recorded his Zulu try in the

be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday,

March 7 against the Kansas

City Blues at Chester E.

Peters Recreation Complex

Rookie Matt Robbke

The team's next action will squad in the late match.

B-team.

advantage.

early match.

KSUFR's

Batter Up

Members of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity wait to practice their batting during a softball workout Monday evening at the Rec Complex. Monday was the first day for teams to register for intramural softball. March 5 is the final day for registration.

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Netters win first match of season

Strong singles play fuels solid 6-3 over New Mexico State Sunday

FRANK KLEEMANN

The tennis balls are flying in the right direction again. K-State's tennis team came to its first win of the spring season against New Mexico Sunday at the Wood Valley courts in Lawrence.

The netters' 6-3 win was assured after they won five of six singles matches.

Cats coach Steve Bietau said he was satisfied with the efforts.

"I was pleased with the players. It was a good effort, and the team played better," he said. "It was an improved performance. More players were playing well at the same

Freshman Karin Lusnic took a 6-1, 6-4 win over Jenny Cook in the No. 1 singles. Swiss Mareke Plocher won her first singles match of the spring after several close losses. Plocher beat Staci Hurff in two sets 6-1, 6-0.

Bietau said he saw positive trends in both Lusnic and Plocher.

"Both did a nice job," he said. "They had weaker opponents this time, but both also played better. They continued their progress."

In No. 2 singles, Michèle Riniker kept her spring record clean with a win over Jill Baron. Riniker swept Baron, . singles. who entered the game with a 6-0 record, 6-1, 6-2.

"I think I played pretty well," Riniker said. "By playing from the baseline, (Baron) played a game I liked to play against. I also served pretty good."

Suzanne Sim scored on No. 5 singles, winning 6-4, 2-6, 6-4 against Tonna Rieger. Martine Shrubsole scored the fifth point for the netters in the singles. She defeated Ludmila Cosio 7-5, 6-1.

"Suzanne did a good job fighting through the tough situations," Bietau said. "Martine is getting better. She now plays with fewer unforced errors."

The only point K-State well," Bietau said. "They did

Senior Neili Wilcox lost in a close three-set match against Megan Pye, 4-6, 7-6 (7-3), 6-"I thought Neili played well," Bietau. "Her opponent was just better."

Pye also won her game against Kansas the day before. She is also an improved player over the last couple years, Bietau said.

In the final doubles, K-State took the No. 1 doubles behind the play of Riniker and Plocher. They beat New Mexico's combination Cook and Baron 6-1, 6-2. It marked the first time Riniker and Plocher had played together.

"I thought they played off my toe and right to the guys waiting on the sideline.

What accuracy, I schooled, no doubt

nothing quite like the feeling of getting the inside position on a

There's

a nice job, accounting for three points together in two weeks.

On No. 2 of the doubles, Bietau again opted for a new team. Lusnic matched up with Shrubsole. This time though, the experimentation didn't pay off, as the tandem lost to Hurff and Pye 6-1, 6-4.

Wilcox and Sim also fell short. Lana Wagner and Rieger of New Mexico won 6-2, 6-1.

"In the two doubles losses, I saw some things I liked and some things I didn't," Bietau said. "They needed to execute better. Some mistakes were made on some basic things like a volley or a first and second shot."

Writing about basketball safer than playing it There's nothing quite like a little Recreation Complex. My thinking was believe it or not, were crisp and sharp.

street ball to keep a sports writer honest. Real honest.

As a rookie sports writer, and one of the best armchair coaches to come out of the Kansas City area, I find it easy to critique and criticize the play of our Wildcats.

From the sidelines, you see, it all looks so easy. Surely I'm not the only one to find a flaw or two in K-State

But, in all honesty, what do I

My point is this: it's easy for me, as an outsider looking in, to find fault in the struggling Cats. But I could never know what it's like out there, in the limelight of a major-college basketball game, with thousands of screaming fans ready to boo me off the court at the drop of a hat, shooting hoops with the big boys.

Never. I recently spent a fun-filled Friday evening at the Chester E. Peters that, being a Friday night, the competition might not be as stiff as other nights, what with the true giants doing the traditional Friday night I was right.

It didn't matter, though; I still got shelled. The first game

I played in started off ominously. As I ripped my shirt off, and exposed my massive chest o' hair, my friend approached me, a grin on his face.

We lost that first game, thanks in no small part to myself. I hurried to the sideline after the game and put my muscle shirt back on.

My passes throughout the evening, rebound, with your Patting my college belly, he rear planted firmly into somebody's murmured, "Putting on a little midsection.

STEVEN ROCK

One crisp pass went to a guy at the drinking fountain. Another was tossed sharply to somebody in the weight room. Still another was hurled square thought.

about it.

And there's nothing more humiliating than going up strong for that rebound, only to have a pair of outstretched arms eclipse yours and pull it away. Check that. Yes there is. Looking down the court and seeing the 5-foot-6 little guy who just stole your board. I could only laugh.

I went home that night and, after peeling off and wringing out my socks, took a long hard look at myself.

And my purple toe. In each, I found about the same thing: a little color, a little pain, and a true indication of error. From my toe, I realized that I shouldn't have taken the open lane away from Kong, the Missing Link. I write about sports; I don't play them, at least not at a collegiate level. Who are we, as students, to evaluate the performances of the athletes here at K-State? How many of us really know what they're going through?

Realistically, I'll continue doing what I'm doing, and the fans will continue doing what they're doing. But I'll do so more objectively.

And the next time I find myself at the Rec Complex, I'll make sure I play for the Shirts.

Bomb threat causes Cardwell evacuation, test cancellation

Alternate test location to be chosen, Legg says

JULIE LONG

Collegian

The K-State Police were notified that a bomb was set to go off in Cardwell Hall at 2:40 p.m. Monday. The bomb was said to have been planted in Cardwell's basement.

The campus police received the call at 2:10 p.m. They went to Cardwell and informed the department heads of the situation. The department heads decided to evacuate the building, which meant canceling a 2:30 test in Physical World I.

"The first thing I did was ask who was giving tests today," said James Legg, head of the Department of Phys-

He then talked to the campus police about evacuating the building, he Legg said this was the first bomb threat of the semester. They are considering reserving an alternate test location in case of another occurrence. Students won't be able to just call in a bomb threat to get out of a test anymore, he said.

Richard Herrman, University detective, said they evacuated the building and tried to keep people away from it. Campus police searched the building as best they could, but they did not find anything. He said they waited about 15 minutes after the bomb was supposed to go off and then reopened the building.

Herrman said a bomb threat is considered a terroristic threat and is a criminal offense.

Lt. Rick Howard said a terroristic threat is a class E felony. It carries a penalty of one to five years in the state prison and a fine of $10,000.

Howard said they get these threats periodically, but they generally come during finals at the end of the semes-

MIKE WELCHHANS/Collegian

Steve Capeluto, senior in business administration, reels in his kite while Kristen Miller, junior in human ecology, watches Monday afternoon at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. They packed up early because the wind was not cooperative.

Colleges adopt way to deal with hateful speech

K-State has no policy; topic has been informally discussed, Bosco says

SCOTT MEGGS

Collegian

Some U.S. universities have and/or Ethnic Harassment." adopted "hate-speech" codes to deal with hateful and insulting speech within their communities.

"Hate speech" by definition includes insults to an individual or group on the basis of sex, race, color, handicap, religion, sexual orientation, or national or ethnic origin.

While K-State does not have a code or policy, Dean of Student Life Pat Bosco said the topic of hate speech has been brought up before.

"It's been discussed informally," Bosco said. "We moved very quickly a few years back to develop a statement on harassment"

That policy is the "Kansas State University Policy Prohibiting Racial

The policy states that racial and ethnic harassment encompasses verbal, physical or written behavior directed toward or relating to an individual or group on the basis of race, ethnicity or racial affiliation and has the purpose or effect of intimidating or creating a hostile or offensive work or educational environment, or interfering with an individual's work, academic performance, living environment, personal security or participation in any University-sponsored activities. It also includes anything that would threaten an individual's em-ployment or academic opportunities some examples of racial and ethnic harassment, such as physical and verbal assaults, are easy to identify, there are other, less-obvious instances that also fall under the policy.

March winds ...

"More frequent and generalized instances, such as blatant and subtle graffiti and insensitive use of language, including epithets and 'humor,' often go unacknowledged. All the above instances are equally demeaning and violate the spirit of the policy," the policy reads.

Bosco said K-State's policy was not developed out of any specific in-

Paul Parsons, associate director of the A. O. Miller School of Journalism and Mass Communications, said K-State's policy is not a code.

"I wouldn't call this a hate-speech code," Parsons said. "Kansas State, don't want to punish people for what

The policy also states that while probably wisely, called it a policy prohibiting racial and ethnic harassment, because it is against the law to harass someone," he said.

Bosco said the policy carried various penalties, including expulsion.

The harassment policy does have the ultimate sanction of removing a person from the University," Bosco said, "so we take it very seriously."

K-State stands firm in the area of establishing itself as a tolerant environment, Bosco said. But he acknowledged there is a line that should not be crossed.

"The University is committed to exchanging ideas, but there is always that fine line we all wrestle with. And we would deal with each case on a case-by-case basis," he said.

Parsons said the concept of free speech is valued so much that people they say. But they aren't absolute about it, he said, and some kinds of speech are punished.

We punish fighting words, we punish speech that calls for the violent overthrow of the government, and we punish people who threaten people's lives," he said. "So there are some exceptions. But generally, we believe in the right to say what you believe or what you think, even if it's offensive."

Parsons said several universities have established "hate-speech" codes, but they are being struck down throughout the nation.

"My reading of what the courts are saying in other states is that a university that has a broad 'hate-speech' code that would prohibit someone from making racial slurs at large, that those codes are going to be struck down as unconstitutional." Parsons

Parsons said this area of law is presently unsettled.

"It's different with judges in different courts in different states," he

Since harassment is clearly against the law, Parsons said he thought it was safer for schools to have harassment policies.

"That is a long standing legal area. It's wrong to harass someone," he

He said K-State's policy focuses on individuals.

"This is good," he said. "It is obviously wrong to go up to an individual and be hostile to them in such a way you cause them to fear or that you disrupt their ability to function as a student," he said.

Universities have trouble passing codes; some declared unconstitutional

SCOTT MEGGS

Collegian

"Hate-speech" codes may not be the best way to deal with offensive or hateful expression on college cam-

While some have passed and have yet to be challenged, many of the codes have been found unconstitutional. And some universities are having trouble getting the resolutions passed at the campus level. Stanford University has a free speech and harassment policy that defines what is and what is not free Stanford's policy says, "Speech or any other expression constitutes harassment by personal vilification if it:

an individual or a small number of individuals on the basis of their sex, race, color, handicap, religion, sexual orientation, national and ethnic origin, and b) is addressed directly to the individual or individuals whom it insults or stigmatizes, and c) makes use of insulting or fighting words or nonverbal symbols.

a) is intended to insult or stigmatize

Insulting or fighting words or nonverbal symbols are those, which by their very utterance inflict injury or tend to incite an immediate breach of the peace, according to the policy. They are words commonly understood to convey hatred or contempt toward people based on the characteristics listed in the policy.

Iris Brest, associate general counsel at Stanford, said the policy has never been challenged because no ase has ever been tried under it.

The University of Wisconsin "speech rule" was implemented in 1989 and used to punish at least nine students but was overturned in court

The case was overturned in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin, with Judge Robert Warren ruling, according to the Nov. 12, 1991, Media Law Re-

The "speech rule" allowed the disciplining of students for making "racist or discriminatory" remarks creating an "intimidating, hostile or demeaning environment," the article

The university argued the rule should be upheld because the speech it regulated fell within the "fighting words" doctrine.

In the ruling, however, Warren said the rule didn't require the regulated speech that "by its very utterance, tended to incite violent reaction." He said the rule went beyond the present scope of the fighting words doctrine.

The court did not accept the school's assertion that the discriminatory speech addressed in the rule lacked "social utility," because it was not intended to inform or convince the listeners of a position.

The court said, even if the rule did not regulate speech intended to inform or convince the listener, "the speech would still be protected for its expression of the speaker's emotions."

The University of Kansas recently tried to pass a philosophical statement in regard to "hate speech" on its

It failed for two reasons, said Maggie Childs, head of the Human Relations Committee, which wrote the resolution.

"It was misunderstood, and it wasn't written well enough," she said. "The fact that the faculty were involved in writing it, it should have been more clear," Childs said.

Mike Castro, a KU law student, who spoke to the University Council against the resolution, said he thought the committee wrote it because other schools have similar statements.

"This isn't consciously why they did it, but I think there is a trend (on) a lot of campuses to put out these speech codes," Castro said, "In the background, maybe people think 'Maybe we need one too," he said.

Castro said students were concerned that since other schools are writing the policies and statements, maybe KU was just jumping on the bandwagon.

"We brought it up because it was a national issue, and this is one way to do a little community education about social values," Childs said.

Childs said the resolution was a philosophical statement and not a code.

"We just wanted to encourage people to be civil," she said. "The law of the land may allow 'hate speech' as a legal gripe, but we don't expect to have to hear it in the University com-

Childs said the hateful speech is not a serious problem, but is a problem nonetheless.

"We're talking about harassment that occurs not because of something you did, but because of who you are,"

Abortion

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 it," Kerr said.

Many legislators expect Finney to veto the bill if it remains unchanged. She said her views mirror those of the state's largest pro-life group, Kansans for Life, and a conservative group, Concerned Women of America.

"My position has been known for some time," Finney told reporters. "I will stand by my principles."

Rep. Kathleen Sebelius, D-Topeka, vocal pro-choice advocate who played a key role in the bill's drafting, played down Finney's threat. Sebelius is chairwoman of the House Federal and State Affairs Committee, which sponsored and endorsed the bill.

"I think we're a long way from the end of the process," Sebelius said. "I think the message the House is sending is loud and clear."

Rep. Kent Campbell, D-Miltonvale, a pro-life advocate, took some solace in the vote, saying it created a record for pro-life groups to cite in election campaigns this year.

"We wanted the visibility raised on the issue," he said. "We wanted roll-call votes. That's what we got."

Pro-life advocates staged a lastminute lobbying effort, bringing about 15,000 letters to the Statehouse. They also stood around the Statehouse before the vote, most holding signs, "Abortion Kills Children." A few carried large pictures of aborted fetuses.

The bill would prevent the state and city and county governments from interfering with a woman's right to have an abortion until her fetus could survive outside the womb.

After a fetus was viable, a woman could not obtain an abortion unless a doctor said it was necessary to preserve her life or health, or that the fetus was seriously deformed.

A girl under 16 would have to obtain counseling before undergoing an abortion. Potential counselors would include clergy, doctors, surgeons, nurses and social workers.

The bill would make it a class-A misdemeanor to block access to an abortion clinic or interfere with its business. Upon a first conviction, a person could be fined $250 or more and put under house arrest for 24 hours, and the penalties would become stiffer for subsequent convic-

The state now requires only that women seek the advice of a doctor and have the abortion at a licensed medical facility, such as a hospital or clinic. There are no limits on when a woman can end her pregnancy.

The state put a tougher law on the books in 1969, but most of it was struck down by court decisions before the U.S. Supreme Court's landmark 1973 Roe v. Wade decision, which legalized abortion across the

In 1970, the band formed its own

The Moody Blues made a come-record company called Threshold

Sidewalk studying

Annette Green, senior in interior design, takes advantage of the weather Monday afternoon to study on

People must choose: Moody Blues or Van Halen

AOGER STEINBROCK

In a time when money is especially tight, concert goers may have to decide between up-and-coming concerts at Bramlage Coliseum.

Both the Moody Blues and Van Halen will be in Manhattan the first week of April.

The Moody Blues, appearing April 1, is the cheaper of two shows at $14.50 a ticket

Charlie Thomas, director of Bramlage, said he thinks the Moody Blues concert will be attractive to a variety of people.

"It's the type of show that will appeal to a wide audience," Thomas

He said Bramlage hasn't featured a concert like the Moody Blues for a long time.

"It's like a Chicago concert," he said. "It's a middle-of-the-road band that will appeal to a wide audience." Tickets sales are behind what he expected, but he said they have been selling steadily.

"People will have to make a choice," he said. "It will tend to be an older crowd."

cently released its 17th album, "Keys of the Kingdom.' The band's first album, "Days of Future Passed," was released in 1967

The Moody Blues, who have performed for more than 23 years, reand stayed on the Billboard charts for two years. All of its albums included, the band has sold more than 55 mil-

"Day of Future Passed" contains the one of the band's biggest hits,

"Nights in White Satin," which hit the charts twice climbing to the Billboard back in the mid-'80s with the album "The Other Side of Life." The single "Your Wildest Dreams" climbed to the Top 10 on the Billboard Pop Singles Chart, and the accompanying video was voted Video of the Year by

Records

Billboard magazine. The band continued the story of the video for "Dreams" on its single "I Know You're Out There Somewhere" from the album "Sur La Mer."

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

WEIGHT LOSS. Looking for 100 people to lose 29 or more pounds. Results guaranteed! For more information call Rhonda 539–3817.

COLLEGIAN ASSIFIEDS

Announcements

No. 1 slot in 1972.

ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS: Need help seeking employment in the Architectural profession? My Kansas City firm has an option for you. If you are interested in attending a career counseling seminar, write Teri B. Price, TBP Architectural Services, Inc. 5613 Nall Ave. Roeland Park, KS 66202 or call (913) 384-6929.

ATTENTIONI ATTENTIONIII Due to Spring Break the Deadline for placing Classi-fied Ads is Noon Friday, March 6 for the Monday, March 16 Collegian.

BARTENDING 101, class starts March 30, 8:30- 9:30p.m. For more information see in Union March 3 or call 532-2519.

CASH FOR College! Don't miss your opportunity for the scholarships/ financial aid you are qualified for! Call or write for information on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, Lawrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

FENIX Scholarship

Applications for non-

undergraduate students

traditional, full time,

are available in the

FENIX Office, Holton

201. The deadline for applying is March, 13.

NEW OIL CANDLES

CLEAR GLASS IN FUN SHAPES

HANDBLOWN GLASS

BAKING DISHES

WOOD STANDS

Glass Impressions • Aggieville 1128 Laramie • Mon-Fri 10-6 Sat 10-4

1980 CUTLASS Supreme Brougham. T-tops, excellent 350 V-8, AT, PS, PW, PB, PL, new paint, no rust $2800 negotiable. 778-7299 or see at 1428 Laramie. 1983 DODGE Challenger, good condition, must sell. Ceme test drive, $1200. Call 776-3537.

Automobiles for Sale

983 HONDA Accord three-door, hatchback, air condition, AM/FM, 118K, $1950, 537–7686. 1984 ESCORT $425, sold as is. Call 539-3822.

1986 CARAVELLE, four-door. Automatic, air condition, good condition, $1,800 call 539–2555. Noon– 5:30p.m.

1988 CAMARO Iroc T-top automatic loaded, red, excellent condition, 57,000 miles, 889–4342.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

FOR SALE: 1989 one-half ton Chevy Silver-ado pick-up with matdring w/w two horse trailer. Call evenings (913) 749–5161.

Computers

APPLE IIC complete system; color monitor, built-in and external drives, modern, Im-ageWriter II printer, software. 776-8841. Leave message.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, Michealangelol Nation-wide this virus starts annually on March 5. Disinfect your computer before this virus cannibalizes your hard drivel Too late, you say? In most cases, we can re-capture your information. Schedule your preventive maintenance today! Connect-ing Point Computer Center, 539-0801.

Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to ap the sidewalk outside Espresso Royale in Aggieville. Temperatures reached 83 degrees in Manhattan.

$40,000/ YEAR! Read books and TV scripts Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, vacations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS23KEB.

BUSINESS

Telecommunicators like Manhattan area

ITI Telemarketing Services flourishes. diversifies despite recession, Sheets says

SUSAN DONOVAN

Manhattan is home to a part of the No. 1 telemarketing business in the United States.

Don Sheets, Operations Vice-President of ITI Marketing Services branch in Omaha, Neb., ITI's headquarters, said the company has been in business for six years.

The local branch has been in business since summer, 1988.

Sheets said the company changed its name last summer from Idelman

Telemarketing Incorporated to ITI Telemarketing Services because the company grew into a more diverse business than just telemarketing.

"We underwent the name change because we had grown and flourished in six years, and we are becoming much more diversified in the marketing field," he said. "We've grown from out-bound telemarketing and have added in-bound telemarketing, direct marketing, consultations and fulfillment services."

Sheets added that out-bound call-the telephone. In-bound telemarketing is clients and consumers calling ITI business offices for assistance and Sheets said fulfillment services are used when people order goods and selling and marketing products over services off the television and ITI handles the shipping orders. Considering the tough times and recession, Sheets said ITI is doing quite well. "Telemarketing is pretty much recession proof," Sheets said. Manhattan and K-State are examples of how ITI Marketing Ser-population, Sheets said. their offices to consumers and clients Sheets said most of the positions at ing is ITI employees calling out of vices places facilities based on a city's the businesses are part time and ideal for college students. The Manhattan branch has about 80 telephones and employs between 120 and 135 people. This includes supervisors and managers. He added that employees selfschedule themselves to work around their own activities and obligations.

"If there are any problems, it is with recruiting at facilities," Sheets said. "Like at K-State, we lose a lot of college student employees over Christmas and spring breaks and summer vacations.

COLLEGIAN 532-6556

Read the Collegian and

EXPAND THE MIND.

R.L. Polk, city directories publisher, to hire 150 more part-time employees hattan." R. L. Polk collects detailed infor-

MEGAN MULLIKIN Collegian

A telecommunications and publishing company, R.L. Polk & Co., has hired 130 new people and is looking for 150 more, since opening in Manhattan Feb. 10.

The company will be hiring constantly to keep a force of 250 to 300 people, said Patrick Ivey, national Tel-X manager.

The national company has been in business 120 years. Ivey said he is impressed with the city in terms of downtown stores and people in the business community. "We chose Manhattan for R.L. Polk because of the work ethics of the Midwestern area," Ivey said, "We knew there would be more people looking for part-time work in Man-

The company is a good industry to have in Manhattan, said Dale Stinson, director of economic development for the Manhattan Chamber of Com-

"It's an ideal match for Manhattan. It offers employment for those who haven't finished training in other skills, like working on a degree or in the military," Stinson said.

Riley was another appealing aspect of Although Manhattan is home to another company that relies on the use of telephones, Idelman Telemarketing, or ITI, Ivey said R. L. Polk is different.

"Idelman employs telemarketers who sells things, our employees aren't selling, just gathering basic household information - that is the difference between the two firms," Ivey mation from households and publishes it as city directories, said Michelle Eads, administrative assistant.

Eads said the company is not looking for any certain kind of person for employment, as long as they can work "We are looking for qualified Ivey said the University and Fort people. Students work out; so do housewives and retired people," Eads

The Polk Company provides an alternative to normal service jobs, like restaurants and retail work, Ivey said.

Don't Forget! 13-$500

Blue Key Scholarships

Applications in Anderson 122

Deadline 4 p.m., March 6

For more information

Blue Key call Jada Kohlmeier at 539-2301

WHEN ONLY THE BEST DENTISTRY WILL DO ...

- PERSONALIZED
- PROFESSIONAL
- PRACTICAL
- PROMPT

Now Serving the State of Kansas Traditional-Prudential Dental Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient. Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A. 514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA DOWNTOWN, MANHATTAN

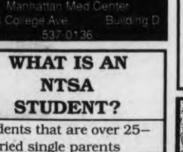

537-9414

WHAT IS AN NTSA

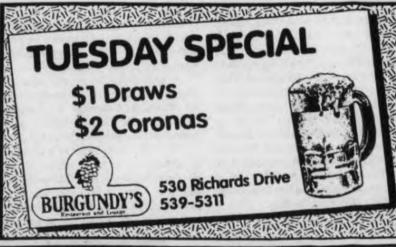

HAVE FUN We meet on the 1st & 3rd

Students that are over 25married single parents We are family oriented and offer support

We like to get together and

Tues. of the month. See campus bulletin for time & place or call FENIX OFFICE

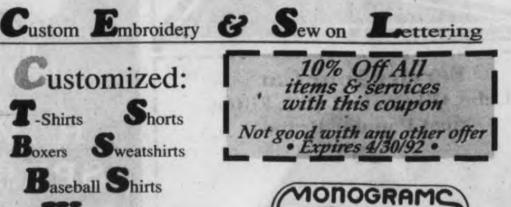

We've Got Your Style.

ustomized:

Boxers Sweatshirts

Baseball Shirts Windbreakers

Manhattan Town Center

New Location

The Endellion String Quartet Thursday, March 5, 8 p.m.

The "Dellies" took their name from a picturesque village in Cornwall and have won acclaim for the intelligence, polish, and vitality of their performances. For McCain they've programmed Haydn (Op. 71, No. 2), Britten (No.1, Op. 25), and Beethoven (Op. 59, No. 3).

"Their reading was a powerful one, impec-cable in balance and sense of timing and above all so fresh and spontaneous." (The Guardian)

Student/Child: $6 Senior Citizen: $10 Public/Faculty: $12

McCain Auditorium

Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort Riley).

Presented in part by the Kansas Arta Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding proyided by the Fine Arts fee.

(continued from page 8)

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Local businesses need students now for stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Excellent earnings. Send SASE to Homemailing Program—B, P.O. Box 3182, Olathe, KS 66062. Immediate re-

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Position in the FENIX Adult Student Service Office, $87.50 per week, 20 hours per week through May 13, 1992. Job description available. Resume and letter of application due March 6, 5:00 p.m. in Holton Hall 201 Found Opporturity Employer.

ATTENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army National Guard would like to help you! In addition to monthly drill pay, we offer the following incentive programs: $2,000 bo-nus, $6,120 G.I. Bill, and the $10,000 loan repayment program. By serving two days a month, and two weeks a year you could qualify for up to $28,000. To find out if you qualify, call 537-4108.

BE YOUR own Boss. Distributors needed. Set your own hours. Work full or part-time. Unlimited earnings potential. Call Mike 539–3817.

BLUEVILLE NURSERY needs workers to do manual labor. Full-time, temporary or at least three one-half days from 8- 12 or 1-5 not including Saturdays. Firm is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Apply in person no phone calls. 4539 Anderson.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing. gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sporis, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $1,000 or more plus R & B. Marc Seeger. 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. (708) 446–2444.

CRUISE LINE entry level on Board- landside positions available, year round or summer. Call (813) 229-5478. LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and recreational areas. Horticultural background helpful. Send resume to Collegian Box 2.

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326. LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national lorest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encurred. Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

By Daryl Blasi

NERD MATING CALL

Off the Mark

Geech

Shoe

By Jerry Bittle

By Jeff MacNelly

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Jim's Journal

we arrived in

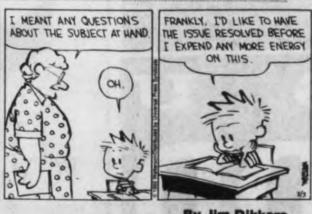

Santa Monica

last night.

Today Mike went off with his

By Jim Dikkers

Tony said, 'can

Aon peliens me, as

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

NOT RETURNING

TO SCHOOL FOR

THE FALL SEMESTER?

BRUBACHER

CUSTOM

HARVESTING

needs combine, truck, and other equipment operators for the summer and fall harvests. Great wages, free room and board, and excellent experience. If interested, call Trip at 776-8186 or Ron at 776-1526 for an

CUSTOM HARVESTING

ACCOUNTANT

Manhattan real estate firm has imme diate opening for one full time accountant. Duties include bookkeeping, financial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary comnensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Priday. Micro computer training and experience mandatory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

VANTED: ILLUSTRATOR skilled in pen and ink to collaborate on stories for young people. Write Dave Lemire, Box 8622 Pratt, KS 67124.

By David Swearingen

application.

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpet ed and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. One-bedroom furnished apartment, one-half block from campus, $365 per month, 776–1340.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus One, two, and three-bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285. 539-

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for three-four students. Mid May—July 31 $590. 539-5451.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

BORST RESTORATION. Now leasing unique two and three-bedroom apartments. For two and three-bedroom apartments. For June 1 occupancy at 1030 Humboldt, 200 North 11th, 901 Leavenworth and 724 Laramie. Rental/ credit reference requested. No smokers or pets please. 776-1460 evenings only.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

Leasing Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

10 For Rent-Houses

TWO-BEDRROM HOUSE near campus $350/ month, water and trash paid. 537-0505 or 776-7199.

13 For Sale—Mobile Homes

12X65 MOBILE Home. Recently remodeled. Located in Countryside Estates. For more information. Call 539-6205 after

14X70 MOBILE Home with custom kitchen only $182.50 payments, Will finance, 15 mobile home selection #198 Redbud. Countryside Brokerage 539–2325.

14X70 WITH deck. Two bed, two bath, with garden style tub. Includes all appliances and central air, 537–8003. 1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

14 Furniture to Buy or Sell

WATERBED - Queen size with bookcase headboard, entire bed complete, with sheets. Like new $275 or best offer 539-3959.

16 Lost and Found

Only found ads can be placed free of SMALL ENVELOPE found in the Chape 2/28/92. Call Johnny King at 532-5909 or come by Bluemont Hall room 22 to claim.

19 Music Musicians

WESTRON WYNDE Music Going Out Of Business Sale. Aggieville. Guitars, vio-lins, sheet music, drums, speakers

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

AMY (FROM Hays?)— I've seen you in Derby alot lately, and would like to meet you. Interested? Please respond. Shy Guy.

FLAVOR, DELTS and Fiji's heading south. You're the one I'll be thinking about. So, whistle at bikini's, jam some tunes, shoot tequila, stay up with the moon. Padre is sunny and ya... warm too, but hurry on back because I'm HOT for you. K scissors 24 Director cut 2 French 25 Desert novelist 3 Two fives 26 Barbara for -4 Confuse 27 Vast or mix up brassardent devotion

wind

hot air? 47 Umpire's stirring" 49 Kitchen 13 Japanese follower vegetable 14 Mimicked 50 Verdi opera 51 Nickname 15 Road to 16 Fairway comedian 52 Hayworth machine

53 Connery O'Casey 54 Arrival 23 Charge or

26 Muddles 10 confuses 30 "The Greatest"

Rome

sphere 18 Arcade

20 Eagle's nest 21 Position

for 16

Across

human lead-in

22 Sesame

31 Slippery one 32 Special period 33 Billiards sphere sphere 36 "— and Deliver'

(1987 movie) 38 It rested

Yesterday's answer 3-3

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

BOA CONSTRICTOR, three feet long, very tame, with large cage, many mice. $250 ask for David 776-7622.

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away— Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537–7294.

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equations my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.-8p.m.

MAKE YOUR resume, papers and invita-tions look great with a laser printer and scalable fonts. $1.25 per doubled-spaced page of text. Joyce, 537-7027 after 5.

UTILIZE MY BS in English Speech for pa-pers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE MAY 1st own bedroom, share kitchen and laundry, in country place for horse. $200/ month all bills paid. 1-456-9145, leave message.

END OF finals to July 31. Own room in large two-bedroom. Close to campus. $110/ month plus one-half utilities. Call Brian or Kevin, 539–1598.

MALE ROOMMATE needed, own bedroom, off-street parking, close to Aggieville, campus, $140 per month, utilities paid, 539–2017 leave message.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bed-room furnished apartment, very close to campus. $198/ month plus one-half utili-ties. Call Wade at 539–6847. Available

ONE NON-SMOKING male to take over lease, now till August, on two-bedroom basement apartment located across from campus, own large room, lots of storage, off street parking, available immediately, $195 all utilities paid. 539-0248.

ONE OR two female roommates needed $160 plus half utilities. Must like pets. Own room. Nice walk to campus. 537-8906.

ROOMMATE WANTED $120 plus one-half utilities. One block to campus, John 537-ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse six miles from town on blacktop road. Place for horse. $125/ month 539-2029. 25 Services

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

RILEY COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT 2030 TECUMSEH 776-4779

FREE PREGNANCY TESTS

FREE PREGNANCY COUNSELING DISCUSSION OF ALL OPTIONS Early Detection of Pregnancy is Important CONFIDENTIAL

(Ad Placed by Friends of Women)

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Free pregnancy testing ·Totally confidential service

•Call for appointment

Grosbard

favorite vase

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Attention Students:

Tinancial Research Services has knowledge of over $4 billion dollars available to SE SE you regardless of your G.P.A. Major, Social or W Leonomic Background.

For information send S.A.S.L. to: Limmeial Research Services 1405 Daniel Ave. Manhattan, XS 66502

PREGNANT?

NEED HELP? For confidential help call

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests 523 S. 17th Old Town Mall 537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE 5683

26 Stereo Equipment

KENWOOD 820 car amp $150 532-2496.

KENWOOD RACK system, fully remote, with receiver, CD, cassette, and turntable, plus 200 watt 4-way speakers. 539-0876.

28 Sublease

IMMEDIATE SUBLEASE $175 plus one-third utilities, call Eric at 537-9060 or 776-0058.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Nice two-bedroom, two- four people, $300 plus utilities; call 539-3360.

SUMMER SUBLEASE— June 5- August 5. Three bedrooms in Woodway Apartments. $150 month each. Call 532-3260. SUMMER- NICE, two-bedroom, close to campus, room for two-four. 539-2278.

URGENTI NON-SMOKING female needed to sublease townhome immediately. One-fifth utilities, shuttle and more. Roxanne, 776-8828 or Monica 776-6301.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

AIRPLANE TICKET for spring break. March 6- March 15, Kansas City to Washington D.C. round trip $338 down to $300. Call 539-2185.

30 Travel/Car Ppol

NEEDED GIRL to carpool to northern part of lowa over spring break call 1-456-2832 for more details.

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896.

SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner. (212) 472-1414.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, townsville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback Best offer, 539-4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE: Computer, printer, and various software. For more information, call 539-6205 after 6 p.m.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m. WANTED TO buy: Big Eight tournament tick-ets. Call Jackie after 5 p.m. 537-7490.

By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

ACROSS on Ararat 1 Refinery 39 Ewe refuse said it 5 Encore 40 Cassia 8 Moslem plant magistrate 43 It's full of creature

5 Military 6 Object of 7 The sun

> 8 Novelist James Branch or Moreno 9 On -(equal to) 10 Food shop 11 At liberty

> 17 Go bankrupt 19 Melody 55 High-22 Former lander chess . DOWN champ 23 USAF unit 1 Small

Solution time: 24 mins.

weight wood 40 Health resorts 41 Nobelist Wiesel

42 Nothing, in Madrid 43 Calligra-pher's problem

ADNKVDNK

46 In good order

Geddes quantity 28 Footed 29 Inflate the expense account 31 Lodge member 3-3 CRYPTOQUIP

34 East Indian fig tree 35 Bedouin 36 Actor Mineo 37 Old German coins 39 Light-

PEUWDEM FEFWZM WK PZQMM KHHAZHFDWKV

45 Conductor Klemperer WITH HIS NEW CONTRACT: "I CAN'T KICK."

NHUH 44 Of the ear Q Z Z H G H M . Yesterday's Cryptoquip: HOCKEY STAR IS HAPPY

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Z equals L 48 Kingtopper

Weed

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

counseling, and they say 'I don't need - I'm cured. I'm not addicted. Everything's cool,' and they go home and hit the 21st day, and they've just got to have it again.

Leon Rappoport, professor of psy-chology, said he is a bit skeptical of Kennedy's marijuana addiction sce-

"I've never seen or heard anything like that," he said. "The individual differences in people varies so much, and physiology varies so much, that you can't say some mystical thing happens after 21 days, or 25 days, or 30 days or 10 days. Obviously somebody that's heavily into marijuana, and is dependent to some degree on it for all the various reasons we could mention, might have some withdrawal

Rappoport said those in the arena of drug prevention often go to great lengths to convince others of the harms

"A lot of law enforcement and drug education people have a kind of evangelical feeling in the sense of a mission in life to save people from drugs, although they usually don't include alcohol, cigarettes, and caffeine," he said. "In their sort of missionary zeal to do this, they come up with arguments that don't have any

Scott Bailey, who teaches a class called "Drugs and Behavior" at K-State, said psychological addiction is not a term usually used by those in the psychology field to describe marijuana use patterns. But marijuana may produce a sort of psychological dependency that is often confused with addiction, he said

"People are sometimes claimed to be psychologically dependent on such activities as listening to music, sex, reading, using credit cards or whatever," he said. "So if people say the drug is psychologically dependent they need to be cautious in the way that they couch the phrase."

Bailey said a theory known as the "addictive personality approach" says some activities may bring out a problem a person already had. The concept is based on the idea that a certain activity may become behaviorally catching if a person is exposed to it and it fulfills some desire that they may have, he said.

Because of the personality that an individual may have, they can become addicted to whatever seems to satisfy that need," Rappoport said. "In some cases it can be a drug. In others, it can be a particular activity such as jogging."

As with the issue of psychological marijuana dependency, the argument that marijuana leads to harder drugs, such as cocaine and heroin, can be similarly confusing to the general public, Rappoport said.

He said often the evidence cited is suspect. Retrospective studies are set up with hard drug users in which they answer yes to the question of whether they ever used marijuana, Rappoport

"You do find people who end up addicted to hard drugs who also say they initially had experiences with marijuana," he said. "But there are also many, many instances, and this is why the evidence is biased, of people who smoked marijuana, particularly college-age, who do not go on to use harder drugs. But those people are not picked up in the studies.'

Some proponents of marijuana legalization leap on suggestions that marijuana has not been proven addictive or an introductory substance to harder drugs. The arguments become as wide-ranging as the types of people who promote them. The bottom-line, however, usually goes along a freechoice theme.

It can be argued then, proponents legalization said, if there is no proven addiction, either physical or psychological, the addiction a person may seem to have for marijuana may not be a substance addiction at all.

"Our policy opposes the laws that criminalize the possession, use or sale of marijuana," said Dick Kurtenbach, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union of Kansas and western Missouri. "Police ought to divert more time and energy to more serious violations than something that shouldn't be a priority to them.'

Government reports have indicated as many as 60 million people have tried marijuana at least once. Some critics of the country's war against drugs said the large-scale use of marijuana may simply reflect a society where a population, especially young Americans, is reluctant to follow the beaten path or the established or "acceptable" lifestyle.

The federal government's refusal to recognize the flaws in prohibitory legislation only perpetuates this kind of situation, proponents said.

Bailey said he had heard prohibition without legitimate education compared to challenging youths to play a mental game of "chicken."

But even if that is the case, some simply believe it is their right to do as they please, as long as what they do does not infringe upon the rights of

"It's a freedom of choice issue what our Declaration of Independence talks about. The freedom to pursue your own happiness," said Greg Copeland, arts and sciences student senator and president of the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws, Flint Hills chapter.

Copeland said the issue at hand is tolerance for chosen lifestyles. He said marijuana targeting is, in fact, simply the established government's attempt to eliminate dissenting or counter-cultural views within American society. He said this runs contradictory to the Constitution and the freedom it protects.

Kennedy said one of the main reasons he sees marijuana as more potentially dangerous than alcohol is that he often prosecutes cases where defendants are charged with crimes other than simply possessing the illegal sub-

"When you see the addicts it's terrifying," he said. "One thing that I see different on the drug issue from the booze issue is I don't see alcoholics out committing other crimes to support their habits. I don't know why that is, but I don't see that."

Terry Weber, junior in business and vice president of NORML's Flint Hills chapter, said he believes very few crimes, aside from the actual trafficking of the drug, are committed by people to gain access to marijuana. He said most drug-related crimes are committed by people trying to get money for cocaine or crack, not mari-

"Those crimes are because of price," he said. "A price that is many times greater because there is only a black-market for drugs."

When asked if any of the marijuana-related crimes he was describing resulted from the drug's high prices rather than its mind-altering effects,

Kennedy said he did not think so. "A marijuana cigarette just doesn't cost that much," he said. "I'm afraid it's the addictive facet that's the problem. Apparently the so-called illegal drugs are much more addictive than alcohol is.' Allen Raynor, commander of the Criminal Investigations Division of the Riley County Police Department, said he had no idea how many marijuana-related crimes were committed yearly in the area.

"We don't know what a marijuanarelated crime might be, and we have no way of knowing when crimes are and when crimes aren't."

Raynor said short of obtaining urine sample, which the RCPD does not usually do unless a person is arrested for driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol, there is no real way

"It's a lot of speculation," he said. But Raynor was quick to evoke

He said, "I'm sure there are many, many, many crimes that are committed under the influence of any sort of drug that we don't know about."

CONGRESS

Senator will not seek re-election

ASSOCIATED PRESS

OLYMPIA, Wash. - Democrats scrambled to save Sen. Brock Adams' seat Monday after he dropped his reelection bid amid allegations he sexually harassed eight women.

Popular Democratic Gov. Booth Gardner said he wouldn't decide whether to run for more than a week.

Adams, meanwhile, resisted continued calls for his resignation from Democrats and Republicans alike. Gardner, seen by many backers as the party's most viable candidate for the Senate spot, told a news conference he wouldn't decide whether to seek Adams' seat until after the state Legislature adjourns March 12. Gardner also declined to immediately call for Adams' resignation, though he questioned whether the senator can effectively represent the "I think ... he can make the judgserving effectively, and if he is not, I think he'll be the first to know,"

Gardner said "But on speculation that he doesn't would talk with him by private phone before making a public statement." When asked if he believed the allegations against Adams, Gardner soon. said, "I'm not going to make any judgment." Adams, the only Democratic senator from the Pacific Northwest, dropped his bid for a second term Sunday, hours after the Seattle Times published accounts from unidentified former employees and associates.

One woman said Adams drugged and raped her.

In making the announcement, Adams told reporters: "I have a job to do, and I'm not resigning this office."

He didn't return a telephone call Monday, but Tom Keefe, Adams' legal aide, said the senator was standing

Adams, 65, a liberal Democrat who led opposition to U.S. entry into the Persian Gulf War, is also a vocal advocate of women's rights.

He was transportation secretary in the Carter administration and earlier spent 12 years in the U.S. House representing Seattle. Previous allegations of sexual misconduct made him one of the most vulnerable Democrats in State Democratic leaders expressed hope the party can keep the seat that had seemed a longshot anyway with Adams in the race.

Former U.S. Rep. Mike Lowry and state Sen. Patty Murray, both Democrats, were already running against Adams, citing his low standing in polls. Other potential candidates were former U.S. Reps. Don Bonker and "I think people are getting a full dose of sex in the workplace and abuse of power," Murray said Monday. "There is a different feeling of power among the old boys' network.'

State Democratic Chairwoman Karen Marchioro has quietly opposed the senator's re-election bid for months. She said his resignation has ment as to whether he is, in fact, to be considered now. The allegations make a serious hit on a person who was not in that strong a position anyway, Marchioro said

The governor said 18 months ago see that and others of us do, then I Adams should withdraw from the Senate race.

The governor's aides said Monday he may demand Adams step down

"The governor had said he himself wouldn't run for Senate this year, but the world is different now," spokeswoman Sheryl Hutchison said.

U.S. Rep. Rod Chandler, the Republican frontrunner for Senate, urged Adams to resign immediately.

"Anyone who has victimized women the way the senator apparently has done has no business in the U.S. Senate," he said.

State Sen. Leo Thorsness also wants the GOP nomination. House Speaker Tom Foley, D-

Wash., and the state's other senator, Republican Slade Gorton, declined to comment on the call for Adams'

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, said he stood by Adams' wishes. "It's a personal decision by Sen. Adams, which I accept,"

Engineering students have 25 new computers

NIRANJAN RAO

The College of Engineering's new computer laboratory was formally opened Monday evening.

The classroom, located in Seaton 164J, has 25 computers for the use of engineering students and "We have 25 IBM compatibles with 486 processors running at 33 megahertz, the fastest and the best available today. These machines, which have many good features like eight megabytes of memory and color monitors capable of very high resolution, are considered to be very good tools for engineers," said Stephen Coulson, director of the Engineering Computing Cen-

The source of funding for this computer lab, which cost from $90,000 to $100,000, is primarily from a $100 student equipment fee paid each semester by engineering

"This is a very exciting event," said Ken Gowdy, associate dean of engineering. "It is a facility that we needed for several years. We are grateful that the students are in favor of the equipment fee so that this could be provided. It is a major upgrade in computer capability for

Open on most days from 7:30 a.m. to midnight, this classroom has consultants on duty to help

"This is a top-line computing facility," said Amy Ewert, junior in architectural engineering and president of the engineering college council. "Adding this type of facilities is what keeps us competitive with the engineering colleges across the country.

Coulson said future intentions include doubling the size of the existing facility and being able to accommodate about 50 people just like a regular classroom facil-

Universities doing good job of teaching, survey says

ASSOCIATED PRESS

EDUCATION

MANHATTAN — Colleges and universities in Kansas are doing a good job of educating students, but elementary and secondary schools are not doing so well, Kansans believe.

A survey of residents conducted by K-State found 60 percent of respondents believe the state's college's are doing well or very well at educating students. But just 32 percent think elementary and secondary schools are doing as well.

The Future of Kansas Survey included Kansans' views on education, the economy, health care and other issues. Responses were obtained from a random sample of 326 adults from 53 counties. The interviews were conducted by telephone in late January and early February.

The survey by graduate students and staff members in the Department of Human Development and Family Studies had a three-point margin of error, meaning actual results could vary by plus-or-minus three points.

We were interested in the wellbeing of Kansans and their perceptions of their well-being," said John Murray, chairman of the department.

When asked what would most improve primary and secondary schools in Kansas, 43 percent of the respondents said parental involvement would help the most.

Other responses: funding, 17 percent; salaries, 14 percent; training, 12 percent; curriculum, 7 percent; longer year, 6 percent, and longer day, 1

Addict

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 the addict has a strong psychological motivation to stop using the drug, he

The distinction between psychological and physiological addiction can be muddled.

The foreign substance in question is obviously a chemical. But is the body reacting to the physiological need the chemical induces, or is the brain reacting to a psychological need the effects of the body produce? Or is Within the areas of psychological and physiological addiction lies the issue of tolerance and withdrawal.

If a person builds up a tolerance to a particular substance, it will take larger and larger amounts of that substance to achieve a desired result of usage. If the person stops using the substance, he can experience withdrawal symptoms.

Withdrawal symptoms, depending on their severity, can make it physically difficult or next to impossible to continue abstaining — a state that is basic prerequisite for physical addic-

"There are some studies where it looked like, in long-term, heavy users, some people seemed to have developed a tolerance for marijuana," Don Rees said. "Some heavy users have apparently exhibited some withdrawal symptoms like restlessness, irritability, sleeplessness, disturbed eating patterns, sweating, some nausea, or diarrhea, when they stopped using it. Not like alcohol, though. Alcohol withdrawal can kill you if it's

Leon Rappaport, professor of psychology, said, unlike alcohol, there is not a proven physiological response to marijuana that positively identifies it as a physically addictive substance.

There is, however, evidence that would indicate certain people do display a need they believe is satisfied by

"You can argue it's the same thing with people who smoke cigarettes and can't give them up," Rappaport said. "There is some nicotine dependency, but even when you satisfy that nicotine dependency with nicotine pills, they still feel the desire to smoke.

"The activity of taking out a cigarette and lighting it fulfills a need for a sort of tension release. That's quite apart from the nicotine dependency."

Art Show

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

media collages. Hudson said Gilliam's canvases started coming off the wall. They became shaped and draped. She said Gilliam would stiffen the canvas and become freestanding. The art exhibited in the Union Art Gallery was Gilliam's most recent work and came from three different galleries in Chicago.

would shape it to come off the wall or

The show was curated out of Klein Artworks in Chicago.

"As a result of that, we didn't have rental fees associated with the show," Hudson said.

Although the art was valued over $98,000, the gallery paid around $200

"We got it here for less than what some other shows have cost us, Hudson said.

Hudson said show's expenses were shipping and handling, student labor and insurance. Because of the value of the art, the Gallery had to add on to its insurance policy to cover the show, and students were paid to guard the art. There were no problems with the show, Rasmussen said. "It's one of the more successful shows we've done," Hudson said.

The shows the Gallery exhibits are paid for by the fine arts fee or by the Union Program Council, Rasmussen "The fee has enabled us to get work here that would never have been possible without it," Hudson said.

Anabolic

(artificial male hormones) suppress the gonadotropic function of the pituitary. Some side effects include: liver and kidney dysfunction, testicular atrophy, sexual function problems, premature closure of bone growth plates. hair loss, and aene. Long-term side effects may include early heart disease and liver tumors. When the body get-Steroids: too much testosterone, one response may be to shut down skeletal growth mechanisms, resulting in stunted growth in children, or shriveled testicles, or lowered sperm counts, or balding

OPEN OVER SPRING BREAK

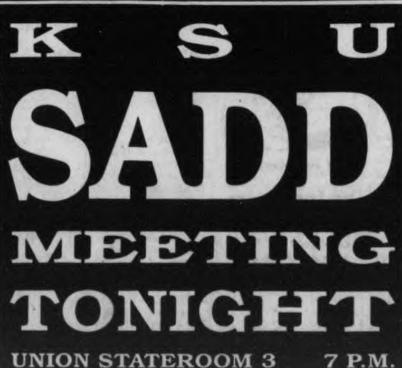

REGULAR CLINIC HOURS Monday-Friday 8-11:30 a.m. 1-4:30 p.m.

AFTER HOURS SERVICE Monday- Friday 4:30 p.m.- Midnight

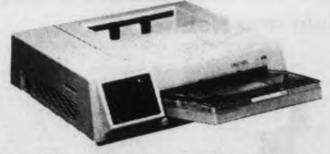

NORMAL SCHEDULING

AND STAFFING DURING

SPRING BREAK

computer Business to business. Person to person. MARCH SPECIAL $ FOR STUDENTS AND STAFF

The Okidata' OL400. PC Magazine' Editors' Choice.

- Industry's best warranty: 5 vears on printhead, I year parts/labor on printer.
- · PC Magazine Editors' Choice -June 12, 1990.
- 4 ppm. 300 dpi: crisp blacks. publication quality output.

1306 WESTLOOP

- More standard typefaces/fonts than LaserJet IIP. High-capacity 200-sheet paper
- · HP Series II compatible. · Slim. low-profile design fits any desktop.

trav included.

776-0086 ONDUN

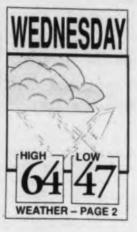

KANSAS STATE ILEGIA

TRIMMING THE QUIET GIAN

The largest American Elm tree in the world is getting a

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 110

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

CAMPAIGN '92

Tsongas, Bush win primary

Maryland win brings renomination closer, president says

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Paul Tsongas won Maryland's presidential primary Tuesday night, and Bill Clinton countered in Georgia as Democratic rivals battled coast-tocoast for frontrunner credentials.

President Bush swept the GOP contests, but Pat Buchanan maintained his determined challenge.

Bush was sure to win Colorado as well, and the president said he was well on his way to the nomination.

Bush said he was committed to regaining the support of Republican voters who deserted him for the more conservative Buchanan. Tsongas said his victory made him the "breakthrough kid," because he was the first Democrat to prevail in a primary outside his home region. Maryland was the first test between Tsongas and Clinton in neutral territory, and he prevailed, he said.

Georgia presented Clinton with his first victory of the primary season, but it lacked drama, coming in his southern stronghold.

The first votes from Colorado showed a close, three-way finish among Clinton, Tsongas and Jerry Brown, and the night's results appeared to assure a continuing, contentious string of primaries as Democrats pick an opponent for Bush in the Democrats had caucuses in Minnesota, Idaho and Washington state, and there was a primary in Utah.

Clinton's victory was a long time coming for the candidate who loomed large before a series of character controversies stalled his campaign in New Hampshire.

He hoped to parlay his win into success next week in several southern states and wasted no time in attacking Tsongas as an advocate of "a refined version of 1980s-style, trickle-down economics."

Bush was gaining 62 percent of the GOP vote in Georgia, to 38 percent percent to 29 percent for Buchanan. for Buchanan, with 67 percent

Buchanan said in advance that a strong showing would be enough to fuel his candidacy throughout the pri-

In Maryland, with 25 percent of the precincts in, Bush was gaining 71

BILL CLINTON 55 ERRY BROWN 18 11% predincts COLORADO

BILL CLINTON 4

FRRY BROWN 9

REPUBLICANS

44% precincts COLORADO Source: Associated Press

GREGORY A. BRANSON/Collegian The president was leading for all

I delegates in the two states. He reached out to Buchanan's supporters, saying: "To those who have been with me in the past but did not vote for me today, I hear your concerns and understand your frustration

See PRIMARY Page 7

MARGARET CLARKIN/Collegian

Arena. The rodeo team is gearing up for their rodeo season which starts later this month and includes the K-State Rodeo March 27-28.

CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS

Spring is rodeo season

Team practicing, raising funds now for 7 consecutive weekends of competition

HOLLY CAMPBELL

nds relaxing, but the ro- working with real stock soon. deo team spends seven weekends in a row at rodeos.

Following spring break, the team attend rodeos as far away as Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford, Okla.

"There are approximately six girls and 10 guys who travel from K-State." said Shawna Stevens, senior in broadcast journalism and the current K-State Rodeo Queen.

Stevens said the team members have been practicing mostly on their own, but now practice as a team in Weber Arena.

Jeff Pendergraft, graduate student in animal nutrition and president of the Rodeo Club, said most of the riders have been working with dummies that are both stable and moving. Many college students spend their He said they will, however, begin

> "We have been trying to keep our bodies in tune," Pendergraft said. He said practice helps the riders > with flexibility, strength, and respiratory reflexes. "Eight seconds doesn't seem that > long until you are up there riding." Pendergraft said. He said concentration is difficult in a rodeo. Pendergraft said mind games are played. If something goes wrong, they try to analyze the problem and over-

"A lot of people keep going over in their minds their perfect ride of perfect performance," Pendergraft said.

All of the hard work the rodeo season is completed, the College National Finals Rodeo will be in Bozeman, Mont.

ciation cards.

Out of each region, the top two individuals in each event, the top two men's and women's teams, and the men's and women's all-around winners will be eligible to compete, Stevens said.

activities. To raise money for travel expenses, team members and the Rodeo Club do various things such as and the individuals still have to pay neir own entry fees and buy their own

Stevens said the NIRA cards cover

The K-State rodeo team will com-

National Intercollegiate Rodeo Asso-insurance and certify the student has a pete in 10 rodeos this year. After the 2.0 or higher grade point average.

park cars at basketball games.

K-State is in the Central Plains region, which includes Kansas, Okla-team does is coupled with fundraising homa and Missouri.

A team and individuals are taken to each rodeo. The coach picks three women to compete as the women's team and six men to make up the K-State does not contribute funds, men's team.

> All of the points from individual members of the team are added together to make the team score, Stevens

> "In the past, the team has been more individuals instead of a team," Pendergraft said. "It helps to have people behind you."

> Pendergraft said not only the support, the cheering and help the team members give each other makes them more team oriented.

"Rodeo combines all three aspects of sports - balance, strength and coordination," Pendergraft said. "The only other sport that rodeo can be compared to is gymnastics."

MARIJUANA:

MARK ENGLER

Other than speeding tickets, Dan Martin had never been in trouble with the

In May of that year, Martin said he was working on his ranch north of Manhattan when a group of federal agents seized his new pickup truck and informed him they had arrested three of his "friends" trying to buy a large quantity of marijuana.

Martin, 34 at the time, hired Topeka attorney John Humpage to look into the truck seizure.

After familiarizing himself with the situation, Humpage informed Martin he was being charged with the crime of "conspiracy to purchase marijuana with intent to distribute.' Martin then voluntarily surrendered himself to authorities.

The seizure of his truck and the criminal charge Martin faced stemmed from a conversation he had with undercover Federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents in a Manhattan motel room a few weeks earlier.

A hidden camera video, which would later be used in court as evidence, showed Martin examining a 5-pound brick of marijuana and smoking a joint from that brick.

The undercover agents said they were looking for potential buyers of a large quantity of marijuana > neighborhood of 500 pounds - and asked Martin if he would be interested.

Martin said he was interested, but did not have the money to make such a purchase. He told them he would ask around and see if anyone he knew was interested.

Martin stayed a short while longer, then left, telling the undercover agents he would get back in touch with them within the next half

The DEA and Martin agree that no contact was ever made between the DEA and Martin until his pickup seizure some three weeks later.

Martin was grouped with three other men who had been arrested trying to buy marijuana from DEA agents in a Topeka parking lot.

During the trial, the federal prosecutors also entered into evidence the telephone records of one of the defendants, James Gish, with whom Martin had gone to the motel.

Those records showed that Gish, who Martin said he had been friends with for 15 years, had made seven phone calls to Martin in the two weeks after the Manhattan motel meeting. The federal prosecutors said those records showed that Martin was interested in the deal.

Martin, who does not want to be directly quoted until after his case is decided, said the DEA, in effect, forced him into making the statements in the motel room.

He described his actions and statements as a fearful response to what he considered to be a potentially deadly situation. Martin suggested that it could have been suicidal to run out of the room saying, "No! No!" - a room where men displaying an air of experienced drug dealers were trying to facilitate a

He said the only reason he was in the room in the first place was because Gish ■ See ARRESTED page 12

Drug war in Riley fought by many people

MARK ENGLER

The drug-enforcement network system in Manhattan and Riley county is not limited strictly to police officers.

Allen Raynor, commander of the Criminal Investigations Division of the Riley County Police Department, was asked how often the Drug Enforcement Agency is involved in undercover operations in Manhattan and if the RCPD worked in conjunction with those investigations.

He said the DEA sometimes works in Manhattan, and when they do, the RCPD offers as much assistance as possible to keep out agents out of dangerous situations. But, he said, "We do a heck of a lot more undercover work than they (the DEA) ever dreamed about.

"We have paid street people working undercover. We have officers working undercover. We have people working off a debt to society of some sort. And we have people who are just interested citizens in the community," he said.

The seriousness local law enforcement agencies and some citizens display in combating marijuana is apparent. But because of the somewhat casual manner in which some Americans, particularly college students, view marijuana use, the attention law enforcement agencies larger than the DEA give it may be surprising.

'As far as the trafficking and growing in Kansas, we consider it one of our priorities, along with cocaine and methamphetemine, because we have such a large-scale domestic growing problem," said Dale Finger, assistant director of the Kansas Bureau of Investigations. "It's a multi-million dollar industry here in Kansas.

Finger said more than 3,500 adults were arrested in Kansas for crimes involving marijuana in 1991. Added to the lengths the law enforcement community will go toward eliminating drugs - for example, offering people marijuana under the pretense of sale on the profitable blackmarket, then incarcerating them for succumbing to that offer — is the issue of mandatory prison sentencing. Mandatory minimum sentencing restrictions are guidelines imposed on

■ See PEOPLE page 12

RECOGNITION

▶ ENGINEERING MAGAZINE FEATURES K-STATER

MARIANN BAKER

A K-State engineering student appeared in a national magazine for his outstanding achievements.

Kurtis Nuss, senior in chemical engineering, was featured in the 1992 Winteredition of Chapter One, a quarterly magazine published by the American Institute of Chemical En-

Walter Walawender, professor of chemical engineering, said the magazine profiles four students from around the country in each issue.

Students are nominated by professors and selected on the basis of academic achievement and participation in extracurricular activities.

"It is an honor to be selected," Nuss said.

Nuss is president of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity and served last year as president of Chimes junior

He is currently a member of Mortar Board senior honorary and Omega Chi Epsilon, a chemical engineering honorary. Nuss is also a statistician for the K-State football team. Others featured in this issue were chemical engineering students from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the University of Massachusetts and the University of Iowa.

This is the first time in several years a K-State student has appeared in the magazine.

▶ BOYER ELECTED TO COUNCIL OF CHAPTERS

BECKY DARBY

John Boyer, associate professor of statistics, has been elected 1992 chairman-elect of the American Statistical Association Council of Chapters.

The Council of Chapters is an organization that oversees local chapters of the American Statistical Association.

The chairman-elect serves one year, becomes chairman of the council and then serves one year as past council chairman, Boyer said.

The Council of Chapters is the largest professional association of statisticians in the world. local chapters, provides information Missouri chapter.

about the services of the national office, speakers and programs, and provides financial assistance to the local chapters

The council of chapters as an arm that is out there to local chapters,

Boyer received his bachelor's degree in statistics at the University of Nebraska and completed his graduate work at Michigan State University.

He taught at Southern Methodist University in Dallas for five years before coming to K-State in 1981.

Boyer has been in several offices in the local chapter and has served as The council helps establish new the president of the Kansas-Western

▶ MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO PERFORM IN CAPITAL

DOUGLAS GRUSH

The K-State Men's Glee Club will be traveling to the nation's capital in March for a national seminar of the Intercollegiate Men's Choruses Inc.

Gerald Polich, associate professor in music, is the coordinator of Glee Club and said the trip will be great for the club.

"It's an informal competition, because everybody is listening to how everybody else sounds," Polich said. The club will be be gone from March 19-24.

The seminar will be in Lexington, Va., but for the final two days of the trip, the club will be in Washington,

Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., has arranged a guided private tour of the White House and is expected at an alumni dinner, during which the Glee Club will perform.

tion is also being planned.

Of the 70 members in the club, about 30 will go. The trip is expected to cost about $400 per person, with each member paying his own way.

Though the Glee Club members said they are excited about the seminar, some members said the main reason for the success of the program has been Polich.

Kevin Feleay, junior in fisheries and wildlife biology, said Polich is like one of the guys.

"He helps loosen us up," said Feleay, a four-year member of the Scott Thomas said he loves the concerts and singing in front of people. "It fires me up. Seeing the faces as we perform is great," he said. Polich said K-State has a strong program, but he said it is important to travel and see other groups.

The nearest group to us is Nebraska. Kansas's Club only has about 15 members," he said.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

MONDAY, MARCH 2

At 1:40 p.m., a teleph reported.

At 4:45 p.m., damage to a window screen was

TUESDAY, MARCH 3

At 9:17 a.m., damage to property was filed. A

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

At 16:49 a.m., a Toyota Tercel, license plate BRW 156, was towed from Lot B-3 to Manhattan Wrecker for displaying an altered permit.

window of a vehicle in Lot A-12 was damaged. Loss was $75.

At 11:45 p.m., an information report was filed for a hate note placed on a car in Lot A-3.

At 1 p.m., Randall D. Behrands, P.O. Box 71, Diller, Neb., was arrested on a Clay County War-rant for misdemeanor checks and confined in lieu of $259 bond.

At 2:08 p.m., damage to property was reported at 727 Poyntz Ave. A third-floor window was broken by a rock. Loss was $400.

At 3:10 p.m., Kelly Z. Pultz, 1826 Hunting Ave., was issued a notice to appear for reckless driving and driving 69 mph in a 30-mph zone.

At 10:30 p.m., a vehicle burglary was reported at 1408 Beechwood Terrace, No. 2. Taken was a lady's nurse. Loss was $160.

lady's purse. Loss was $160. At 10:36 p.m., Dean F. Carey, 1851 Todd Road., Apt. C, was arrested for battery. He was confined in lieu of $500 bond.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3

At 1:03 a.m., atheft was reported at Rockhouse Pizza Plus, 231 Riley Ave., Ogden. Taken was $200 and two cases of beer. Loss was $230.

At 2:06 a.m., a theft was reported at Last Chance Restaurant & Baloon, 1213 Moro St. Taken was a woman's black leather Liz Claiborne shoul-der purse, a woman's black leather bi-fold wallet,

$4 in U.S. currency, miscellan and papers. Loss was $144.

At 7:19 a.m. avehicle burglary was reported at 708 Mission Ave. Taken was a Kenwood stereo 708 Mission Ave. Taken was a Kenwood stereo amplifier, a wooden speaker box containing a 12-inch woofer speaker, Bolle sunglasses, a black nylon cassette case containing 23 tapes and a men's tri-fold wallet containing miscellaneous ID. Loss was $904. Damage to a vehicle window was $150. At 8:22 a.m., a burglary was reported at 611 Houston St. Taken from the garage was a Columbia 10-speed and a 26-inch mountain bike valued at $100.

At 10:15 a.m., a theft was reported at Dillons, 1001 Westloop. Three VHS tapes were taken: "Backdraft," "Five Heartbeats" and "Out for Justice." Loss was $184.

At 10:15 a.m., a theft was reported at Dillons, 1001 Westloop. Taken were two VHS (apes: "Cali-fornia Games" and "Jackal." Loss was $55.

At 10:15 a.m., a theft was reported at Dillon 1001 Westloop. Taken was six VHS tapes. "Goodfellas,""Henry,""Portrait of Saria," "Godfather I, II and III" and "The Life of Brian." Loss

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Blue Key scholarship applications, which are available in Anderson 122, are due by 4 p.m. March 6.

McCain Student Development Council applications are available in the Student Governing Association office in the K-State Union.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4

Intramural Managers will meet at 4 p.m. in Union Forum Hall. ■ University Counseling Services will sponsor "Who Gets Depressed? Why?" from noon to 1 p.m. The discussion is informal. Those interested may bring a lunch.

Graduate Student Council will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 202.

■ Wildcat Triathalon Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208. Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. at UFM. "Let's Rap," black student support group, will meet at 3:30 p.m. in Union 208. The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Donna Stuber for 3:30 p.m. in Bluemont 368.

THURSDAY, MARCH 5

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Circle K will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 205.

■ Intramural entry deadline for softball and individual sports is 5 p.m. at the Recreational Services office at the Rec Complex.

KSU Rock Climbing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206. The Oklahoma spring break trip will be discussed.

Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 204. American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 1:30 p.m. in Wildlife Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Ackert 221.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Elizabeth McGhee Nelson for 1:30 p.m. in Bluemont 487.

Campus Crusade for Christ will meet at 7 p.m. in Denison 222. Women's Soccer Club will meet at 5 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

■ ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Little Horseman's Association will meet at 6 p.m. in Weber 146. Officers will neet at 5:30 p.m.

Baptist Student Union will meet at 7 p.m. at the Baptist Campus Center, 1801 Anderson Ave.

KSU American Horticultural Therapy Association will have its business meeting at 5:30 p.m. and its chapter meeting at 6 p.m. in Waters 18. Horticulture Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Waters 244.

■ Department of Geology Seminar Series will present "Depositional Models for Black-Shale Hosted NI-MO-PT Deposits in China and the Yukon and Speculation on Possible Occurrences in the United States," at 4 p.m. in Thompson 213.

The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Philip Fay for 2 p.m. in Ackert 221.

CORRECTION

Leon Rappoport's name was mistakenly spelled Rappaport in the story Addictions come in 2 forms" in Tuesday's Collegian. The Collegian regrets

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

Cooler with a high of 60 to 65. An 80-percent chance of rain and possibly thunderstorms. Wednesday night, a 70-percent chance of rain. Low 45 to 50

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

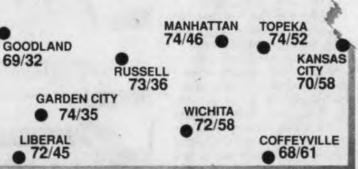

Mostly cloudy with a 50-percent chance for showers. Cool with the high in the mid-50s.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Dry Friday, a chance for rain and thunderstorms Saturday and Sunday. Highs mostly in the 60s Friday cooling to the 40s and 50s by Sunday. Lows mainly in the 40s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

TEMPS	SKY	Montreal	14/02	clear
86/75	clear	Rio	81/70	cloudy
54/36 54/46	cloudy	San Francisco Tokyo	63/55 45/37	rain cloudy

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT COLLEGIAN

IT'S WAR!

Be a part of the action and excitement with your Kansas Civil War 1992 collectors mug, available exclusively from Pizza Hut®

KU vs. K-STATE, 1992. There's nothing civil about it.

COLLECTORS MUGS ARE $1.00 EACH OR

$1.75 FILLED WITH YOUR FAVORITE BEVERAGE • AGGIEVILLE 1121 MORO 539-7666

PARTY/MEET ROOM - CALL FOR RESERVATIONS WESTLOOP 2931 CLAFLIN 539-7447

•3rd & MORO 231 MORO 776-4334

BOARD OF REGENTS

Bill could increase monies to Kansas universities

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - The state would increase spending on its universities by 3.6 percent under a bill the House Appropriations Committee endorsed

The bill would allow Kansas Board of Regents institutions to increase faculty salaries 2.5 percent. It also would increase their budgets for general operating expenses by 4 percent.

The measure would appropriate about $1.04 billion for fiscal 1993, which begins July 1. The figure represents about 16 percent of the state's entire budget.

Regents officials sought more money for faculty salary increases and other items.

The committee's bill closely followed Gov. Joan Finney's budget recommendations, which did not include improvements sought by the regents.

"I don't think it's generous," Rep. George Teagarden, D-LaCygne, the ' committee's chairman, said of the bill. "I think it's adequate in today's times."

Under the bill, regents institutions would be allowed to spend nearly $36.1 million more than during the current budget year.

The figures include a $10.5-million fund in the regents office budget to pay for building maintenance projects. Of the total spending, $417.46 million would come from the state's general fund, into which most state tax revenues flow. That's about $2.2 million more than Finney recommended and $12.67 million more than the figure for the current fiscal year. The regents wanted to increase faculty salaries by 5 percent, and their proposal would have added $8.2 million to the proposed fiscal 1993 bud-The regents sought a 5-percent increase in funds for general operating expenses, an item that would have added $1.16 million to the fiscal 1993 The regents also asked lawmakers to add $3.97 million to state university budgets to make up for a 1-percent cut imposed last summer because of the state's fiscal problems. The committee declined. The measure also includes a state operating grant of $6.17 million for Washburn University of Topeka. It is not a part of the regents system, but

Drive collects $40,000 more than 1991

Student volunteers lifeblood of phone fundraiser, administrators say

The 1992 K-State Telefund raised $737,355 for scholarships and educational materials.

Students and faculty called alumni from Feb. 2 to Feb. 27 to raise money for their colleges and departments.

"Every college surpassed the amount it raised last year, anywhere between 2 percent and 12.8 percent," said Russ McMahon, telefund direc-

State received is up by about 1,500. Of the telefund's pledges, $120,500 have already been paid as of Feb. 28.

The telefund raised about $40,000 more than in 1991. McMahon said there are several reasons why. The first and foremost reason, McMahon said, is that more students volunteered. He said about 1,200 students called this year.

There were also an additional 20 phones in the Hollis Telefund Centhrough all of their pledge cards in the time allotted.

McMahon said the telefund center itself also helped. He said he get their quota of volunteers from thinks the message that K-State is a top-flight university is reaching alumni. Even in these recessionary times, he said, alumni are choosing to budget K-State in their philanthropy.

The College of Arts and Sciences He said the number of pledges K- raised the most. The College of Engineering finished second in the number of contributions and amount of money raised.

> "The program would fall on its face if it were not for the telefund administrators appointed by the deans," McMahon said.

> The telefund administrators are in charge of recruiting students from each of their colleges, making sure volunteers get there and organizing their part of the telefund, he said.

John Dollar, assistant dean of engineering, has been a telefund administrator for 13 years.

Each year, Dollar appoints four coordinators to work with the nine ter, which enabled the colleges to get departments in engineering. The coordinators set up team captains within each department, Dollar said.

The job of the team captains is to each department and turn in their names. From there, the KSU Foundation takes over.

Dollar said the key to success is to make sure you have enough students. He said after the first year, he found it worked better if they did not get faculty involved.

Although other colleges do not follow this policy, Dollar said he thinks alumni like it better if they are called by students, partly since some alumni did the telefund themselves.

The College of Engineering had 214 callers. The engineering college offers incentives in classes as well as prizes for the college's top callers.

'We're up more than 10 percent over last year," Dollar said, "which is incredible because of the nature of the economy around the country. I was really worried that we wouldn't do what we did last year.

Dollar said he thought part of it was due to moving to the new Hollis Telefund Center.

Teresa Pennington, senior in anthropology and political science, said she wasn't quite as pleased with the Hollis Telefund Center.

Pennington, who has called for four years, said the new location was out of the way, and although a shuttle was offered, it didn't show up the night she waited for it.

McMahon said they owe the students an apology; they were not aware of any problems with the shuttle.

students using the shuttle, the Foundation is looking into the cost effectiveness of providing it again next

Pennington said she thought this year's telefund was organized better and was also more fair than the previous years.

"People have learned to manipuand lots of prizes," Pennington said. working until the job gets done.

Upheld ticket appeals

PARKING SERVICES

She said she thought this happened less this year, but it discourages to first-time callers.

The Foundation telefund staff pull the pledge cards by time zones, departments and majors, McMahon

The telefund administrators for each college choose how the pledge cards are handed out, and each college does it differently.

Some colleges may choose to give out cards based on a caller's past experience. The Foundation does not approve or disapprove of this, but it is being looking into, McMahon said.

Pennington said she enjoys doing the telefund and keeps coming back He said due to the low number of because she can call people she called before and see how they are doing.

> "We can't thank the student volunteers enough," McMahon said.

McMahon said other colleges are paying or begging for students, but K-State gets them easily. He said he thinks students at K-State come from a different work ethic, and they've late the system to get lots of pledges grown up doing volunteer work and

Abortion bill in Senate's court

Committee may amend measure before sending to floor

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TOPEKA - Senate leaders said Tuesday an abortion regulation bill will be debated in that chamber.

President Bud Burke said he wants that debate soon.

"We will have an up-or-down vote on this bill," Burke said in an inter-

"It's clear that issue is coming to the floor. There is no place to hide, and I would hope to get it to the floor as soon as possible

We will work the bill, and I think if it is significantly amended to address the problems that are in there, it could conceivably pass (out of committee)," said Sen. Ed Reilly, chairman of the Federal and State Affairs Committee, where Burke assigned the

"I really like the general concept of the bill. It presents us an opportunity to enact reasonable restrictions and set a policy for freedom of choice," said Sen. Wint Winter, chairman of See REGENTS Page 12 the Judiciary Committee.

Burke, Reilly and Winter are three other work. principals in the scenario that will get the abortion issue before the Senate.

The House on Monday 82-41 passed a bill that sets conditions for having abortions in Kansas, basically keeping intact a woman's right and access to abortion.

This is why pro-life groups fought it in the House.

Burke assigned the House bill to the committee headed by Reilly, who is pro-life but said he will not block consideration of the measure. Burke's alternative was to send the bill to the Judiciary Committee, whose chairman is Winter, a self-described "moderate pro-choicer." The Senate president said he opted for Reilly's committee because that panel historically has handled abortion legislation. He said he didn't want to send the wrong message to either side by changing the committee assignment this year. Burke said he thought both committees were about equally divided between legislators who favor choice and those who oppose abortion.

He said he wanted the bill worked and returned to the Senate for debate to look at a reasonable consent amendsoon, so it doesn't delay the Senate's ment."

"Legislators have enough to do without being tied up on the telephone over this issue, when there are hundreds of other issues to be decided," he said.

Reilly said his committee would work the bill, probably amend it and likely send it to the Senate for debate and a vote. He said the bill is not acceptable as it is.

Amendments Reilly said he would expect to be offered in committee would require a second physician's opinion on the viability of the fetus; prohibit all third-trimester abortions; and add some type of parental-notification provision.

Winter said he hopes to "de-politicize" the debate over abortion in the

He said there are other bills into which the abortion-regulation provisions could be amended if the bill does not come out of Reilly's committee or is amended to make it unsatisfactory to him.

"We can round off some of the sharpedges as far as the pro-life forces are concerned," said Winter. "I want parking violators

New $10 charge enacted to cover processing expenses to cost campus

JOHN SHARTZER

As of fall 1992, a processing fee of $10 will be charged to students if a campus parking ticket is appealed and

Students whose tickets are overturned by an appeal will not be charged.

Currently, appeals are free - regardless of outcome. Anyone who wishes to file one only has to fill out the form and wait until the committee

Dwain Archer, assistant manager of parking services, said the fee will cover the cost of processing appeals. Archer said the quantity filed makes the processing of appeals

"The tickets have to be logged ferred to a tracking system, and then to the hearing committee, and copies have to be made for all of the members," he said. The appeals committee meets every 30-60 days, handling appeals that are roughly seven pages per appeal.

Approximately 600 appeals are handled in a year, which breaks down to about 50 per month. Sherrill Young, senior in elementary education, said this is the department's way of reducing the number of appeals, "People use the appeals process to get an extension on the due date of the ticket," she said. Young said there aren't many valid reasons for appealing a parking ticket.

The majority of the people who get tickets are the ones who blatantly park in a spot or resist paying the meter because they are late for class, including me," she said. Archer said the fee is not for the purpose of fundraising. onto the computer system, then trans- ing Council passed the appeals fee.

SIG-EP FITE NITE BOXER SIGN-UP

March 4 at SCOREBOARD COME MEET THE 1992 MISS KNOCKOUTS!!

- Boxers receive free workouts at NAUTILUS
- $15 boxer fee; $75 for teams of 8 or more
- · Boxers must live in a residence hall, Jardine or a fraternity

Sig Ep Fite Nite

April 2-5 at AHEARN FIELD HOUSE

For ticket information call 539-2387

M Frames • Frogskins • Razor Blades

All Oakley sunglasses are made with pure Plutonite" lenses - lenses which actually exceed ANSI industrial standard 287.1 for impact resistance and optical clarity. Of course, Plutonite also blocks 100% of all harmful UV and blue light rays. Your eyes deserve industrial-strength protection by Oakley.

Hours: M-F 9-6

We're moved to

304 Poyntz

Downtown

Th. 9-8, Sat. 9-5 539-5639

"THIS IS THE WAY WE'RE DOIN' ER."

How does a nutritious sandwich made with fresh cooked choice meats or a homemade fish sandwich sound? Howdy's offers homemade soup and sandwiches plus quick friendly service. Most meals run under $5 including tax & drink. Give ol' Howdy's a try!

Located in the Wareham Hotel next to Harry's Uptown, 418 Poyntz

Open for lunch only, 11-2, Mon.-Fri.

Howdy's at Harry's Buy One-Get-One Free Buy one sandwich at regular price and get a 2nd one free.*

(*Second one of equal or lesser value) (Expires March 30, 1992, 418 Poyntz) 1 coupon per customer

Hit the road, cat!

South Padre-284

School and Work-Miles away.

It's almost time, ya know. Time to head down South, out West or just away from everything here in the Little Apple. But if you're running short on dough for that special trip, Collegian Class Ads can help you as easy as 1,2,3.

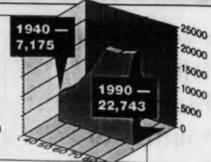

1. Find some things you don't need.

2. Advertise them "For Sale" in the Collegian Class Ads.

3. Sell your stuff in no time and watch the Cool Cash roll in.

Simple, huh? With the Collegian Class Ads working for you, there's no reason you can't clean out your apartment while you have some fun in the sun.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

Finney is getting plenty of appointment practice

Gov. Joan Finney has fared poorly in her ability to appoint qualified people to her staff.

Recent troublesome appointments include Jack Lacey for secretary of wildlife and parks and Jim Cobler and John Hennessy both for secretary of administration.

The moment Lacey was named, charges were flying that he did not fit the job qualifications. He's still hanging in there.

Then, almost as fast after Hennessy was appointed, there were serious accusations cast about his background. Specifically about a calender his oil company had distributed containing racial slurs and pictures of scantily clad women. He threw in the towel immediately.

Hennessy was only appointed after the previous secretary, Cobler, resigned because people were raising questions about his part in purchasing computers for the state. Both men claimed the confirmation process was raising too many questions, which wasn't in the best interest of the administration.

Finney has to hope the third time will be a charm. The most recently appointed secretary is ... (drum roll please) Finney's chief of staff.

Her daughter will take over as chief of staff until the end of the legislative session.

It's like a game of musical chairs.

Although Finney is not the first governor to have problems appointing staffers, she certainly ranks down there, especially after Mike Hayden. Without saying he was a good governor, at least he experienced success with most of his appointees.

The lesson to be learned here is the governor needs to research her appointees more thoroughly.

The Republicans in the Legislature would like nothing more than to make our Democratic governor look foolish. She's making their job too easy.

One thing the Legislature and Finney should not allow, however, is the loosening of the qualifications so Lacey or any appointee meets them. There is a bill in the Senate that would change the wording of the state statute that spells out the qualification. This would set a dangerous precedent.

Don't change the standards. Find people who are truly fit

Legislators must remember voters' views on abortion

The Kansas House of Representatives passed a bill Monday that would ensure abortion access to the people of

The bill, among other things, repeals a 1969 Kansas law that made abortion a criminal offense and prevents the state from interfering with a person's right to have an abortion until after the fetus is determined by a physician to be able to live outside the body.

It also prohibits city and county governments from passing abortion restriction legislation, requiring a woman under the age of 16 to obtain counseling before undergoing an abortion and imposing stricter penalties on those who block access to a medical clinic or interfere with its business.

The bill is a reactionary measure on the presumption that the U.S. Supreme Court may overturn Roe v. Wade sometime in the near future.

This bill now moves on to the state Senate, where it perhaps will face an even tougher battle to reach the governor's desk.

Gov. Joan Finney has promised to review the bill but has also threatened to veto it in its present form.

What this means is that if the bill gets past the Senate and is vetoed, it will again be on the floors of the House and the Senate for a possible override. The bill passed 82-41 in the House, two votes shy of the two-thirds margin it would need to be overridden.

We would hope that senators and representatives will keep in mind the voters and not just their reelection campaigns and religious views when they go to vote on this bill.

Although Kansas has some of the most lax abortion regulations in the entire country, and perhaps some actual restrictions that need to be looked at, the legislators should keep in mind those people who would need an abortion for more than just a matter of convenience.

Kansas has stood for choice for many years, and it is obvious that the majority of Kansans, however slight, are for choice, Wichita's Summer of (subliminal: media circus) Mercy aside.

OLLEGIAN

NEWS STAFF (532-6556)

Erwin Seba

News Editor

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 6650, 7167.

POSTMASTERS seem adoress changes to random some configuration of the Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom,

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Weed Your Body of Meat

ackie McClaskey, our student body president, said I am the first vegetarian she has ever let ride in her car.

I kind of tricked my way in the vehicle, though, because we were halfway to our destination before she found out that I do not eat meat. My memory kindly reminded me that she is an agricultural economics major.

Oops. Yes. This University, town and state, for that matter, do not appreciate non-flesheaters.

I call it flesh, the food I avoid. because the term is accurate. But that confuses many people who think for some reason the word only applies to humans. Let me tell you, however, the hamburger or turkey on the sandwich you eat is flesh. "Meat" is a merely a euphemism. But you can call it what you like.

CHRISTINE VENDEL

I'm not trying to convince the entire campus to not eat meat. I am not that stupid. I realize raising livestock is the livelihood of many families, and some people just won't want to change their lifestyle. I'm merely advocating making an informed decision.

Many doctors, for instance, have suggested restricting consumption of red meat because eating it is not very healthy.

For reasons of health, I decided to give up red meat for Lent a few years ago. After Easter, however, I must admit I ate a hamburger here he big step for me to give up flesh altogether came after Thanksgiving last year. I listened to a tape by the Smiths called "Meat is Murder." The lyrics talked of sizzling blood and the unholy stench of murder. It really hit home because it referred specifically to Thanksgiving by saying, "And the turkey you festively slice, it is murder."

I thought about it. I know I could not kill a turkey myself to put on the holiday table. Just because I am too weak-stomached to kill my own food, what makes it right for someone else to do it for me?

This argument for vegetarianism meets with much criticism from my friends and co-workers. (Note the distinction between the two.)

I won't delve into my reasons for adopting this particular argument, because it is one of personal morality. Either you feel compassion for other living creatures or you do not.

The morality of killing alone, however, was not what really pushed me over the line. I always tell people, don't just do something because everyone else does it. Question everything for yourself, and make an informed decision.

For example, I may tell my roommates and Collegian coworkers to vote for a certain presidential candidate, but do they commit? I think not. Rather they say something roughly equivalent to, "I'm going to vote for whom I please, based on what I have learned about each candidate." Why they don't follow the same line of reasoning for flesh consumption is an enigma.

Anyway, I proceeded to the Manhattan Public Library and checked out two books about vegetarianism, one focusing on the ethical issues and another on health. I could relate to the former, but it was because of the latter that I gave up flesh.

he literature painted pictures of rotting flesh. It's pretty gross, but more importantly, it's also probably a major cause of colon cancer. You see, our bodies use a lot of time and energy breaking down consumed flesh.

Beef and pork rot in our systems before they can be eliminated from the body. Flesh sits and decays in our intestines, which very likely is what causes the cancer. A sidelight to this is that nitrates used to process the flesh, and pesticides or fertility drugs consumed by the now dead animal, all sit there as well.

Oh, I can hear it now, and I've heard it before, like, "What about all of the pesticides on your fruit and vegetables, Miss Weedeater?" as I'm affectionately referred to by the Collegian staff.

Well, the body does not take as long to break down fruits and vegetables. So it does not sit there rotting. Although I concede pesticides are also a problem for me as a vegetarian, the health risks are mitigated.

Another health issue involves the actual processing of animal carcasses. Ask anyone who works in a slaughter house if they eat much meat. You may be surprised. They know things we don't, since the slaughter house is so far removed from that neat little package of flesh we see in the grocery store or Burger King sack.

Even ignoring the sanitation arguments, some skeptics will go so far as to say we are not omnivores because the human body was not designed to eat animal flesh at all. The mere fact that flesh has been eaten for so long does not make it

The situations are totally different. Our ancestors did not eat as much meat as Americans do today, besides that, they hunted what they ate.

And as far as needing flesh, that may be the biggest fallacy. No one food is essential, including meat, which is just protein and fat.

We in the Western world get too much protein anyway, and who the hell needs more fat in their diet?

Just because I refuse to eat meat doesn't mean I'm a health freak. As a matter of fact, I'm eating a chocolate doughnut as I edit this. The point is that whatever you put into your body must be your choice.

Make it an informed one. Christine Vendel is Government/City Editor

I Don't Want My Vegetables

hate vegetables. They're against my religion. What religion that is, I will not name specifically. It's not that I worship a vegetable god, and I'm not a "granola girl" or "tree hugger."

Why don't I eat vegetables? Simple.

They taste yucky, and they have a slimy texture.

I grew up on homegrown vegetables. My parents planted a large garden every summer. But even when the vegetables were fresh, I only ate corn, peas, leaf lettuce, cherry tomatoes, green beans and potatoes.

I don't do canned vegetables. To me, that's sacrilege.

My older sister and I used to have contests to see who could be the most inventive in getting rid of her vegetables. Our parents would make us sit at the dinner table until we ate all of our veggies. We would drop them on the floor, put them in our napkins. spit them in our milk glasses or flush them down the toilet.

CARLA JONES Mom finally caught on to these tricks. She would sit and watch us until we choked them down. Brussels sprouts were the worst.

Because of my hatred for vegetables, I must supplement my diet with another food group meat. I am a firm

l am a firm believer in meat eating. I was raised on beef.

Many of relatives died of hardening

of the arteries.

believer in meat eating. I was raised on beef. Many of my relatives died of hardening of the arteries. It is a way of life for most farmers You America. don't feed a harvesting crew bean sprouts and soybean products. They will those vegetables as an appetizer and then ask, "Where is the real meal?". Our dinners at home always had a formula. We had beef, potatoes, a green vegetable and a gelatin salad. or Christmas a couple of years ago. my parents gave me a side of beef. It was one of the greatest gifts I have ever received. I am still eating from that side of beef.

This is not to say I will not associate with belligerent. I seriously doubt I will vegetarians. I have a friend who is a vegetarian. I know several more.

Trying to find an eatery that serves all of our culinary preferences is sometimes quite a

I went to Lawrence with this Veghead friend for New Years Eve to eat and party with some of her other friends. We spent 40 minutes trying to figure out where the heck

Along with strict vegetarianism, I am also against diets.

Diets make people cranky. People don't like to eat rabbit food or roughage if they are forced to eat

Another aspect of vegetables that amuses me is the "first-date eat out thing" some women do when they are with a new man. They sit down at the restaurant and order a Caesar salad and a glass of water or diet pop.

These women don't want to make the wrong impression on the first date by eating more than their dates. But after they аге committed, off goes the facade. Warning guys! This dainty bird-like creature before you will turn into Miss Food Vacuum when she knows she has you hooked. My ex-husband and I gained 40 pounds after we got married. We didn't have to watch our figures anymore. We had hooked someone.

e would wake up hungry at 2 a.m. on a weekend and drive to Junction City just for a steak and eggs breakfast at Denny's. It was wonderful.

There is nothing like a good steak for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Real people doeat meat. Real people also don't eat meat. It is your personal choice. My parents still put at the bottom of their letters,

"And remember, Carla, eat your veggies. Yeah, right. Don't even expect me to give up eating meat just because vegetables are good for you". Meat vegetables can both be good for you if prepared properly, or bad for you if not prepared properly. I hate vegetables just because they are good for me. I'm that thickheaded and ever learn to like most vegetables. I just can't get past the feeling of slimy, warm, mushy Brussels sprouts sliding down my throat as I try my hardest not to gag.

EDITORIAL CARTOON

LETTER

WHAT MAKES A "REAL MAN?"

Editor,

What makes a "real man?" Some people will try to tell you it's how many women he's taken advantage of, the beer he drinks or the football team he roots for. I'd like to quote rapper Michael Peace in saying. 'What makes a man is what comes from the inside out, not from the outside in." In the choosing of David as the king of Israel, the Lord said to Samuel that while a man judges man by appearance, God looks at a man's heart (1 Samuel, 16:7). So what counts is what the man holds at the center of his value system. This value system displays itself in the man's actions.

There was a book a few years back claiming that "Real Men Don't Eat Quiche," among other "unmanly" actions. I would submit to you that real men are judged by God under some pretty heavy requirements. But these are not impossible if the man relies on Jesus' power to resist temptation. Among those things that real men

Real men wait until they're married to have sexual intercourse. Real men save themselves for their wives. And when they are married, real men don't commit adultery. God forbids adultery (Exodus 20:14). And that's precisely what extramarital "affairs" are adultery. Real men display honesty, integrity, stability, purity and fidelity. Real men practice virginity until marriage, or if it's too late for that, celibacy until matrimony. Don't just practice "safe" sex, abstain from sex altogether until you are married. If you are unmarried and you're still a virgin, don't be ashamed. Be proud. If you've lost your virginity, now is the time to make a decision not to have sex again until marriage. And those of you whom God has blessed with a wife, love her. Your wife belongs to you and you belong to her. Having sex with anyone but your wife is committing fraud (taking something that isn't yours).

Again to the bachelors: even if a girl isn't married, God knows who her husband will be. Having sex with her is defrauding her future husband

Men of K-State, take a stand. Flee from sexual immorality. ... he who sins sexually sins against his own body," (1 Corinthians 6:18,19). "Marriage should be honored by all, and the marriage bed kept pure," (Hebrews 13:4). We wish to challenge the men of K-State to practice responsibility in their relationships.

Andrew Burden Freshman in music education And 75 others

Not all awards based on need

Independent students, parents qualify for SLS, PLUS loans, Pell Grants

MEGAN MULLIKIN

Students have other options for financial aid if they do not qualify for aid on a need basis

Aid from most federal programs are awarded on the basis of financial need.

However, the PLUS Loan and the Supplemental Loans for Students are not, according to a Department of Education information booklet.

The ACT family financial aid packet must be filled out first to determine if the student is eligible for financial aid.

The student receives the report forms after about six weeks and turns them into Office of Student Financial Assistance to be evalu-

"A student must fill out the ACT packet so that the need analysis can be done on the student's information, and if they are not eligible, they can begin filling out the forms for the SLS and the PLUS loans," said Annita Huff, assistant student financial aid director.

Both of these loans have variable interest rates that change July 1, based on the 52-week treasury bill, Huff said.

The interest rate is currently at 9.34 percent and can never exceed 12 percent.

A student or parent can borrow up to $4,000 a year and a total of $20,000 per student.

Most payments are about $50 a month, Huff said, but payments on the SLS loan can be deferred after a bank's verification.

"If a students get a deferment of payments, then they are only charged the interest during their schooling and the principle after graduation,'

The SLS is for students who are categorized as independent.

To be independent, you must be court, married or a graduate student. The PLUS loan is for parents of students.

"A lot of parents are using it, because it is very difficult for middle-income families to get aid. This gives them something to fall back on." Huff said.

The Pell Grant, SLS and the PLUS loan all have available funds if a person qualifies.

However, the campus-based funds are limited because the money comes from federal allocations and other sources.

"We have limited funds for the campus-based programs," Huff said. We give priority to the applications that come in by the deadlines. "The funds are just not available if a student applies as late as a month before school starts." Huff said there is a K-State scholarship application for which any student may qualify. The application, after reviewed by the financial aid office, is given to the student's school.

The school reviews it to see if the student is eligible for any funding 24 years old, a veteran, a ward of the from the particular school, she said. These applications and ACT packet need to be filled out every year.

There are booklets and pamphlets about financial aid and how to go about getting it in the financial aid office in Fairchild Hall.

"We're trying to do more to educate students about how to apply and when to apply by talking to different groups on campus, high-school groups and parents," Huff

"We provide a lot of publications about the aid. However, a certain amount of responsibility falls on the students shoulders to read and absorb the information. It's a two-way street."

According to the Department of Education information booklet, there are other sources of funds.

Each state has a State of Higher Education Agency that has information about programs funded by the state and U.S. education depart-

The public libraries have information about private sources of

Bill centralizing pesticide regulation to go before Senate

Farming groups favor bill, but others prefer local control

PAM FRAHM

Collegian

During a legislative session full of city versus state controversy, there is one bill that seems to be in favor of rural interests.

The bill would prohibit cities or counties from restricting pesticide use. Several Kansas agricultural organizations, including the Kansas Farm Bureau and the Kansas Corn Growers Association, favor the bill. The Kansas Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee approved the bill last week, and it is expected to go in front of the full Senate this week.

The bill would make void any city, county, township, cemetery or drainage district regulation of pesticide use or application.

It would also prohibit cities or counties from regulating parking of trucks carrying pesticides or prohibiting spraying of pesticides on playgrounds.

Gordon Hibbard, communications director for Farm Bureau, said Farm Bureau is in favor of the bill, calling it something "that will bring conformity to our state.'

The legislation would bring all pesticide regulation to one centralized authority and allow one state agency to conduct all enforcement, he

Three organizations oppose the bill, said Chris Wilson, director of public affairs for the Kansas Fertilizer and Chemical Association.

In testimony last week, the Kansas Rural Center and the Kansas Sierra Club said they oppose the bill because they favor local control.

The Kansas League of Municipalities has said it opposes the bill because it has no current application.

COLLEGE OF ARCHITECTURE AND DESIGN

Grant to enhance landscaping in inner-Kansas City areas

Hall Family Foundation to benefit Boston Heights, Mount Hope communities

SUSAN DONOVAN

Flowers and trees in two east Kansas City neighborhoods are worth more visually appealing. $48,000 - or more.

Design received a $48,000 grant from the Hall Family Foundation in Kansas City, Mo., to rehabilitate and upgrade the inner-city neighborhoods of Boston Heights and Mount Hope. K-State landscape architecture professors and graduate researchers are collaborating with Habitat for Humanity to complete the project. The program builds affordable housing in urban neighborhoods. The first community neighborhood

Kansas City, Mo. Community members presented ideas about how to make their neighborhood or street

Graduate research assistants and The College of Architecture and landscape architecture professors were on hand to sketch and draw landscape improvement ideas.

"Our goal is to generate ideas and let the residents of Boston Heights and Mount Hope make the suggestions they want," said Rick Forsyth, director of the Center for Planning and Design Innovation.

"What we will do is take these suggestions and interest back and look for common themes," he said.

John Laney, executive director of workshop was Monday night at the the Hall Family Foundation, said the Linwood Multipurpose Center in premise of the rehabilitation project is to have 10 individual demonstration properties in the neighborhood where the actual landscape improvements will occur.

"Our goal is to find a formula to enhance the reputation and appearance of the neighborhoods consistently," Laney said.

Workshop participants worked in groups to generate landscape improve-

Ideas presented included planting grass, trees, shrubs and flowers, installing landscape lighting, hanging plants and picking up trash. The grant would help pay for these improve-

"I can see my neighborhood changing right before my eyes," one resident said.

Patricia Cann, resident of Boston Heights and Habitat homeowner, said she has a nice home and knows she needs to make outside improvements.

"I can start making improvements just by picking up trash around my yard and around the empty lots," Cann

"People judge the value of a house by the outside. If houses look bad on the outside, people will think the insides are just as bad." Cann said she knows Habitat and K-State mean business, but residents need to see the project actually in the

She said people will become more involved if they see their neighbors outside working on their houses or

LaBarbara Wigfall, assistant professor of landscape architecture, stressed the importance of neighborhood unity and appreciation of the

"You, the people of Boston Heights and Mount Hope, must feel you own this community," Wigfall said.

"In whatever activities and improvements take place, you must know that they are your ideas and your suggestions."

Forsyth said they are more concerned about getting people interested in the project, rather than just designing final solutions.

The people of Boston Heights and Mount Hope are the solution," he

John Pritchard, head of Habitat for Humanity in Kansas City, said the turnout for the workshop was much better than he expected.

"The turnout was excellent. However, we need to get more teen-agers involved," Pritchard said.

"Many youngsters don't get beyond the television, let alone think much about gardening.

Kevin Strehle, graduate research assistant, was brought to the project as an illustrator. He said it is his job to create a visually stimulating picture from the residents' suggestions.

Strehle and Forsyth agreed that it is essential to realize the importance of public service.

Forsyth said this community project builds responsible citizens who care for their land and neighborhood.

Lysergic Acid Diethylamide (LSD) is a synthetic hallucinogen, or psychedelic, that affects a person's perceptions, sensations, self-control, thinking, self-awareness, and emotions. Discovered in 1938, LSD is odorless, colorless, and tasteless. The effects of LSD are unpredictable. The user may feel several different emotions at once or swing rapidly from one emotion to another. Bad trips may last a few minutes or several hours. Flash-

Ad It Up! in the COLLEGIAN

Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea? Call the Collegian day or night 532-6556

OPEN OVER SPRING BREAK

REGULAR CLINIC HOURS Monday-Friday 8-11:30 a.m. 1-4:30 p.m.

AFTER HOURS SERVICE Monday- Friday 4:30 p.m.- Midnight

NORMAL SCHEDULING AND STAFFING DURING SPRING BREAK

The main mind-altering (psychoactive) ingredient in marijuana is THC, but more than 400 other chemicals also are in the plant. The potency of the marijuana now available has increased more than 275 percent over the past which require concentration, swift reactions, and coordination. Marijuana smoke has been found to contain more cancer causing agents than is found in tobacco smoke.

is the active chemical found in tobacco. Its chief hazards are emphysema, chronic bronchitis, heart disease and cancer of the lungs, larynx, and mouth. Smokers are sick in bed an estimated 88 million more days each year than non-smokers. Nicotine kills approximately 340,000 Americans every year.

It can't do laundry or find you a date, but it can help you find more time for both.

The new Apple' Macintosh' Classic' II computer makes it easier for you to juggle classes, activities, projects, and term papersand still find time for what makes collegelife real life.

It's a complete and affordable Macintosh Classic system that's ready to help you get your work finished fast. It's a snap to set up and use. It has a powerful 68030 microprocessor, which means you can run even the most sophisticated applications with ease. And its internal Apple SuperDrive™ disk drive reads from and writes to Macintosh and MS-DOS formatted disks-allowing you to exchange information easily with almost any other kind of computer.

In addition to its built-in capabilities, the Macintosh Classic II can be equipped with up to 10 megabytes of RAM, so you'll be able to run several applications at once and work with large amounts of data.

If you already own a Macintosh Classic, and want the speed and flexibility of a Macintosh Classic II, ask us about an upgrade-it can be installed in just minutes and it's affordable.

To put more time on your side, consider putting a Macintosh Classic II on your desk. See us for a demonstration today, and while you're in, be sure to ask us for details about the Apple Computer Loan. It'll be time well spent.

Introducing the Macintosh Classic II

The Best Support for the Apple® Macintosh.® Anywhere. 11th & Moro Manhattan

We appreciate your support. Your dollars continue to help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

Now at Lower Prices than Ever Before!

TOP NBA TEAMS

EASTERN CONFERENCE | WESTERN CONFERENCE Midwest Division W L Pct.

36 23 .610 38 21 .644 San Antonio 35 23 .603 2 1/2 Boston 32 26 .552 3 1/2 Central Division Pacific Division Pct. Golden State 39 17 .696 48 12 .800 37 19 .661 Portland 39 18 .684

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Rebounding crucial against NU

Containing Chandler will be Howard's primary duty in last Big 8 road game

PATRICK OBLEY

When it comes to naming the dangers of playing Nebraska, Cats coach Dana Altman has no trouble naming the top hazard the Cornhuskers pose.

"We have to rebound well against them in order to have a chance to win," Altman said.

Such a response doesn't seem logical on the surface, since the Cats haven't had a problem competing for boards despite the four-guard lineup.

But, the 18-7 and 6-6 Huskers do boast three of the Big Eight's top 10 glass cleaners.

The trio is led by center Derrick Chandler, who is wiping windows at an 8:2 per game clip. Dapreis Owens (6.6) and Eric Piatkowski (6.5) will also pose problems for the Cats on the

But considering the Cats' torrid shooting in wins over Colorado and then-No. 6 Missouri last week, there may not be many boards up

If there are, the Cats will counter with post man Wylie Howard (7.2) and 6-foot-4 inch Vincent Jackson. "Nebraska is a very big team and they're very physical," Howard said. "We all are going to have to rebound well, especially Vince and Ski (Jones).'

Howard said what made Chandler dangerous was his experience.

"He's more athletic than I am," Howard said.

"He knows the inside game well. He knows when the offensive man is getting ready to step in, and he can outposition him."

Despite such a bad forecast, the Cats have confidence in their conference games.

"We're to a point where we look forward to playing and challenging the rest of the league," Altman said.

"I can't remember a game where we've been beaten badly on the boards, but this week presents a whole new set of challenges."

Jackson said opponents now know K-State is no longer an easy

"Teams around the league know now that we're coming to play," Jackson said.

"In the past, when teams heard K-State was coming, they would think, 'It's stats time,' and they thought they would shoot baskets and go home. It's not like that anymore."

Reasons for the turnaround are based in work ethic in games and in practice, along with the new fourguard game plan...

"In the past, we weren't shooting the ball well, and we had to make up for it by rebounding," Altman continued

"Now, since the shooting has come around, we're that much better for it

"Still, if we're going to win the ball game in Nebraska, we're going chances to sweep the remaining to have to outrebound them on their own floor.'

The Bob Devaney Sports Center floor has been a graveyard for Big Eight opponents. Iowa State, Oklahoma State and Kansas have left Lincoln as losers this season.

They have the opportunity to really hurt us inside with our fourguard set," Altman said.

"They'll drop down inside, and Wylie Howard, John Rettiger and Vincent Jackson are going to have to take that away."

Similar matchup problems were posed to Altman by Missouri last Saturday when Jevon Crudup did that very thing.

To counter it, Altman had Askia Jones drop down to the post when the ball was on his side of the court.

As a result, the Tigers' inside game was corralled just enough for the Cats to pull off the 73-69 win.

Nebraska's trees down low will not doubt be a test for the fourguard set, Altman said.

"The four-guard is something that's just clicked for us," Altman

"It's helped us build confidence. We've handled the ball better, and I don't think we've lost much on the rebounding end."

After the Nebraska game, the Cats will close out the Big Eight regular season with Oklahoma State at 1 p.m. Saturday at Bramlage Coliseum.

The K-State ticket office is offering a spring break special $7 ticket for that game. All the $7 tickets will be general admission and can be purchased at the regular K-State ticket outlets.

for grabs.

NIT or NCAA? Who cares, says Altman

Cats coach will find five guys to play if K-State's in either tourney

DAVID SVOBODA

Well, Coach Altman, what will you do if yousteam doesn't get an NCAA tourney bid, and the NIT is the tourney that comes knocking at your door? What do you say, Dana? Will you play? Will the players want to go?

"We'll find five guys," he says.

Enough said. At his weekly meeting with the media Tuesday, Altman made no mistake that he was of the belief that an NIT berth was a virtual certainty, and that his players would have no say in whether or not the team accepted such a bid. If one came, he said, this would be a dictatorship. He'd vote, and his would be the only vote that

But the Wildcat coach, as has tournaments, choosing to emphasize his team's upcoming games with Nebraska and Oklahoma State.

They're games that, dare it be said again, will significantly impact whether K-State plays in the NCAA tourney or the NIT.

Even Altman admitted that

"We need to win a couple more," Altman said of what will be necessary to get his Cats - 15-10 overall with 13 wins against Division I teams - into the NCAA's Big Dance. "And I think a lot of it has to do with where you finish in the conference."

The importance of an upperdivision conference finish is one reason Altman is putting so much significance on tonight's game against Nebraska in Lincoln, Neb., been the case in every meeting of and Saturday's matchup with late, downplayed the talk about Oklahoma State in Bramlage

If the Cats - now in sixth place in the Big Eight with a 5-7 loop mark - splits the games or drops two, a second-division finish is a virtual certainty. That seconddivision finish,

"It was a gradual progression. There was a realization by the players that coupled with some lopsided early losses, would make winning the Big Eight's postseason that we needed to do." tournament a 100-percent necessity if the Cats were to make it to the NCAA's field of 64, Altman said.

And the final two games are big with regard to seeding that conference tourney. Kansas and Missouri are considered locks for the No. 1 and 2 seeds.

(This week) means everything for the Big Eight Tournament," Altman said. "There are a lot of things to be resolved in that three through seven area."

That Altman's team has been able to post a 5-4 league mark in its last nine games and inch back into tourney consideration has been a combination of renewed confidence and realization that the effort the players were putting out wasn't enough, we weren't getting things done Altman said.

times - Altman on December and January, we weren't playing the Cats' turnaround hard, and weren't working hard in practice," he said. That changed, Altman said, as the players began realizing that they were the problem and could be the solution as well.

'It was a gradual progression," he said. "There was a realization by the players that we weren't getting things done that we needed to."

Senior center Wylie Howard

Vincent Jackson shoots for two of his 18 points at Saturday's victory over Missouri. The point total was a career high.

agreed with his coach.

realize what it takes to win," Howard said in assessing the difference in the Wildcats in December and January and the Wildcats of February and early

The new Wildcats - the Wildcats playing with the pressure of tournament berths hanging around - are preferable to the old "Some of the new guys started to ones — those that had their coach playing Russian Roulette with only one chamber lacking a bullet.

"Those are two different kinds of pressure," Altman said of dealing with the adversity of blowout losses and dealing with end-of-season tournament pressure. "This is good pressure, and that other pressure wasn't very good."

SPORTS DIGEST

BASEBALL: Canseco's wife drops charges

MIAMI (AP) - The wife of Oakland A's slugger Jose Canseco will not press charges of aggravated battery against her husband for ramming her BMW with his Porsche, her attorney said.

"She doesn't believe anything intentionally happened. Nobody was harmed," said Esther Canseco's lawyer, Luis Delgado. "It's not her intention to proceed with the case."

The only problem is the final decision is not hers.

The decision on whether to prosecute is made by the state attorney's office and that will depend on how "prosecutable" the case is, said John Hogan, chief assistant state attorney. The state hasn't decided yet.

"The victim doesn't make that call," Hogan said. "It's not uncommon for victims of domestic violence to ask that we don't prosecute, but we don't necessarily follow that."

Canseco is to be arraigned on the charges on Thursday.

Canseco was arrested Feb. 13 and was freed after posting $5,000 bail. The argument started at dawn after Canseco took his wife's purse and would not return it, police said.

Both have refused to say what they were arguing about.

CATS BASKETBALL: Jones player of week

Cats forward Askia Jones was named the Big Eight's player of the week for his role in K-State wins over Colorado and Missouri.

Jones scored 17 of his game-high 21 points in the first half of the Cats' 74-66 win in Boulder. Against Missouri, Jones sank two free throws in the last 30 seconds to seal K-State's 73-69 home win over the Tigers. Jones again led the team with 20 points.

LADY CATS: Miller gets 2nd team All Big 8

Senior point guard Mary Jo Miller was named second team All Big Eight Sunday. Junior forward Leah Honeycutt received honorable mention.

Karen Jennings of Nebraska, Lisa McGill of Oklahoma State, Kay Kay Hart of Kansas, Shelley Sheetz of Colorado and Missouri's Vantrece Williams comprised the first team.

OUT OF THE BLOCKS

Trask hopes for 'healthy' showing at NCAAs

MARGO KELLER

Distance runner Todd Trask is setting a slower pace - until he weathers a cold virus and finds out if he has a spot at the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships.

Depending on the final times he produces this weekend at the Last Chance Qualifier Meet at Iowa State University, Trask will travel to Indianapolis to participate in the 3,000-meter

While his time of 8:02.77 minutes is just off the 8:01.20 required for national qualification, Coach John Capriotti said only six runners in the nation have ran under that time. Another six nationally, including Trask, have made the provisional qualifying time. While Trask is not competing in the Last Chance Qualifier, the meet will be the last opportunity for collegiate competitors to claim a time under the provisional mark. If no competitors are able to run faster times, Trask's time will allow him to compete in Indianapolis March 13-14.

Trask, a senior from Healdsburg, Calif., placed fourth in the 5,000-meter run at the Big Eight Indoors Championships Friday in Lawrence. Despite suffering from the virus he and many of the distance runners acquired last week, he clocked a time of 14:30.90.

"The pace felt comfortable, but I didn't have the endurance," Trask said. "In that race, the leader had a national pace. Coach Capriotti felt that if I had been well, I could have kept up with

The competition at the ISU qualifier meet will be similar to Nationals, Trask said.

"We competed against Iowa State, who was second in the nation last year. It's nice (to race against them) because it set me up for the Nationals," Trask said.

He had the second-best time in the 5,000 meters, 14:27.23 minutes, going into the meet.

Trask only ran the 5,000 meters at he Big Eight Championships. Due to his virus, he did not participate in the 3,000 meters. "It was Saturday, and there was no use since wasn't going to bring us any more points,' Trask said. "It would have just set me farther back in getting well. "It was kind of a letdown," Trask said. "I hope to rest and take good care of myself so I can get well."

Although not having the chance to vie for the conference title in the 3,000 meters, Trask is still a seasoned competitor.

Along with indoor and outdoor track season. Trask is an all-American in cross country. He placed 29th in the NCAA Cross Country Championships in 1991.

The emphasis on the next two weeks will be staying in shape and getting well.

"We will have easy runs with probably fast intervals in between," Trask said. "We have cut down from 16 miles a day to eight miles to just stay fit." Not only setting his sights on Nationals, the senior in exercise physiology plans to participate at the Olympic Trials in late June. He said he was the third American on the list and eighth on the list of international contenders in the 3,000

Trask said he does feel pressure in competing. "It does place a little," Trask said. "It's part of the competition though, and being able to deal with it."

Trask's first task is to tackle the cold virus before national competition. "He has a chance of going to the finals (at Nationals)," Capriotti said. "We're backing him off right now and letting him take the next one or two days really easy."

Capriotti said the key for the next two weeks would be "getting him healthy and getting him to work on his speed."

By March 13, Trask should be back on track and in top form for the 3,000 meters.

BASEBALL

Cats sweep pair from SWMS, 7-5, 14-5

COLLEGIAN STAFF

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. - The K-State baseball team continued its winning ways Tuesday, sweeping a twinbill from Southwest Missouri State 7-5 and

In the first game, the Cats fell behind 5-3 before notching the come-from-behind win.

Leftfielder Brian Culp rapped a run scoring double to knot the game at 5-5. Two batters later, Jeff Ryan knocked a two-run homer which would prove to be the game winner. Brian Heirholzer was the game's starting pitcher. Rob Reinisch replaced Heirholzer and recorded his first win. Brett Bock notched his second save. In game two, the Cats sent 15 batters to the plate in the fourth inning, scoring nine runs.

inning with a solo homer. Later in the inning, Spalitto stroked a two-The wins were the fifth and sixth in a row for the Cats, who

Jason Spalitto kicked off the improve to 9-3 on the year. K-State will stay on the road, heading to Southern Mississippi for a three-day stand beginning Friday. Over spring break, the team will play in Florida.

Gambling takes fun out of watching games

MARGO KELLER

March Madness is maddening. Okay, I'll agree the NCAA tournament is the highlight of the collegiate basketball season.

We see arch-rivals (as in the other school down the road) that seem to beat the system and the point spread to claim the coveted title. But just as we grin and bear it, luckily a new King (if not a Duke) of the courts takes the crown.

With the Big Eight being well represented in the Top 25, the dream of another Big Eight NCAA Champion is feasible. (I am not at all endorsing the University of Kansas for this accomplishment just any other team in the Big Eight.)

While the talk of who will be receiving bids has been discussed since the beginning of basketball season, it reaches a new intensity competition takes place.

While classes adjourn for a week and laid-back spring break plans unfold, people will have even more time to put in their bets, verbally and financially, for the "chosen"

Who needs the extra pressure of trying to decide who rightfully should be at the NCAA tournament or who to bet on?

But for the restless fan who needs more excitement than just sitting in the stands, there is sports betting. Perhaps for these financially-fit fans, at least before the game, they have the chance to be in the game in a non-physical sort of way.

The best approach? Take it like the Cats do, one game at a time.

We should at least be able to see the Cats at the National Invitational Tournament, which in its hey-day was the tournament to tout about.

During the '40s and '50s, the NIT was more coveted than the NCAA. The first NIT was held in 1934 at Madison Square Garden in New York City where eight regularly scheduled doubleheaders were played.

The project was devised by New every time another collegiate York sports writer Ned Irish and several other sports writers at the request of New York City's mayor James Walker. Walker had requested three years earlier, in 1931, the group of writers set up a college basketball program to raise money for jobless citizens during the Depression, according to Stanley Cohen's book "The Game

They Played." Sports betting evolved during that time. The '50s were plagued with scandalous collegiate teams that received money first, and jail sentences and fines for pointshaving incidents later.

While blatant game rigging hasn't surfaced lately, it doesn't mean it doesn't happen.

The latest question is whether Jerry Tarkanian and his Running Rebels engaged in point-shaving last season.

But what makes March Madness the most maddening is the fervor to which basketball has succumbed to predicting the spread.

According to the April issue of Sport magazine, Danny Sheridan reports more than $1 billion could be bet on the NCAA tournament, and half of these "investments" would probably be illegal. A decade earlier, the figure for the entire tournament was a mere $10 million. Last year, the championship game alone had a hefty $400 million payoff.

The two teams playing in the championship game are the only ones with reasons for winning their risk-taking fans have their own

Cohen writes in his book that sports writer Jimmy Cannon dubbed basketball "the slot machine of sports." Basketball became big business to the gambling world when the "spread," also called "price" and "line," was introduced.

The essence of the spread is that wages could be centered on the margin of victory, rather than the old way of betting on the favorite or risking it in on the underdog.

The best bet yet? Don't bet at all. How can you bet on any of the Top-10 in which all except Indiana were beaten two weeks ago.

Although I hate to bring up the topic of the infamous rival clash two weeks ago, it proves the point. The Cats playing against now No. 3-ranked KU, can make things happen. The 52-54 score attests to the fact that games can be won or lost within seconds.

Iowa State to dabble with altered lineup

ASSOCIATED PRESS

AMES, Iowa - Iowa State coach Johnny Orr is making good on his threat to revamp his lineup. He just hasn't figured out yet exactly what he'll do.

Orr said Tuesday night he would meet with his staff Wednesday morning to decide who would start in Wednesday night's home game with No. 3 Kansas, which has clinched at least a tie for the Big Eight Conference championship.

The Iowa State sports information office issued a tentative lineup of Skip McCoy and Brian Pearson at guard, Loren Meyer at center, Julius Michalik at one forward and either Fred Hoiberg or Donnell Bivens at the other forward. That lineup would put Justus Thigpen, Ron Bayless and Howard Eaton on the bench.

Orr, who raised the possibility of changing his lineup after a 96-70 loss at Oklahoma last Saturday, said he had to do something to shake his team out of its doldrums. The Cyclones have lost four straight games and Orr says they've quit hustling.

"We just don't seem to have the fire we had," he said. "We came from behind so many times, we've done so many things that I think we kind of ran out of gas. Maybe the guys that haven't had to do that so much can get in there and get us going again.

If Orr changes his guards, he'd be benching his leading scorer (Thigpen) and assist leader (Bayless). Orr is unhappy with their passing, saying other players on the team aren't getting enough shots.

'We have a young team," Orr said. "Down the stretch, it would be nice if we had some senior leadership."

Pearson and reserve forward Brad Pippett are the only seniors who get much playing time.

With two games left, Iowa State is 18-10 overall and 4-8 in the Big Eight. The Cyclones' chances of going to the NCAA tournament have just about fizzled out unless they can win the Big Eight tourney to get the league's automatic berth.

At one time, Iowa State appeared to be a shoo-in to make the NCAA field.

the race just to promote his ratings as to the instincts of hate and divisiveness, while former drug czar Bill

Fitzwater said Buchanan appeals

a TV commentator.

Primary

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 with Washington."

The Democratic returns in Georgia showed Clinton with 62 percent, Tsongas 19 percent, Jerry Brown was third at 8 percent, trailed by Sen. Bob Kerrey at 5 percent and Sen. Tom Harkin, 2 percent.

In Maryland, Tsongas had 40 percent to 33 percent for Clinton. Brown, had 9 percent.

Clinton was leading for 87 delegates from the two states; Tsongas few hopes except to survive for the next round of voting.

The same exit polls showed blacks helping Clinton to his victory in Georgia and his strong second place showing in Maryland.

Tsongas was favored by upscale voters, as was the case in New Hampshire two weeks ago, according to a CNN analysis.

Tsongas looked forward to three Super Tuesday contests in the North-

Bush was sure to win in the other states where Republicans voted, including caucuses in Minnesota and Washington.

But it was Georgia wh Buchanan pinned his hopes for sustaining his campaign.

"The impact of Georgia will be great," he said as he stumped during the day in South Carolina.

The exit polls in Georgia showed Buchanan's candidacy fueled largely by anger about the lingering reces-

Buchanan voters were four times more likely than Bush voters to rate the economy as poor and more than twice as likely to say their personal financial situation is worse off today than it was four years ago. The Democratic list of states voting included a primary in Utah as well as Maryland and Georgia.

There were caucuses in Minnesota, Washington, Idaho and American Samoa.

Tuesday's multi-state contests stretched financial and organizational resources, with 383 Democratic and 198 Republican delegates at stake.

Democrats were looking to the Kerrey and Harkin competed with eight contests for a demonstration of nationwide appeal after a string of early contests won by regional favor-

> Tuesday's contests were a key warm-up for an even bigger round of balloting one week hence: primaries in eight states, with nearly twice as many delegates to be allocated.

> Bush, who fielded only 53 percent of the vote in New Hampshire's primary two weeks ago and lost 31 per cent to an uncommitted column in South Dakota, was encouraged by some fresh statistics during the day.

> The government issued two positive economic reports, one detailing a spurt in new home sales, the other an upturn in the government's economic forecasting

Bush may have been conciliatory to Buchanan's supporters, but the White House seemed it was trying to nudge the conservative commentator from the race.

Spokesman Marlin Fitzwater ex-

lenge would damage Bush's re-elec-

Even before the votes were counted, the campaign had turned to the states next up on the calendar.

Clinton and Tsongas were already airing TV commercials in Texas and Florida, next week's Democratic battlegrounds. Fitzwater said Bush would be campaigning in at least seven states in the next week, with more stops likely. In advance of Super Tuesday comes Saturday's primary in South

This was the week the campaign turned nasty.

Kerrey was talking of the Democratic race, but could have been speaking of either when he observed, "This is not a love fest.

Buchanan ran the most memorable commercial of the week, showing gay men in leather in an advertisement meant to tar Bush as some sort of pornographer for allowing the controversial federal grants issued by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Bush unleashed surrogate attacks in reply.

Democrats grew rowdy, a reflection of the heightened stakes.

Kerrey said Clinton's decision not to serve in Vietnam made him ripe as a "soft peanut" for GOP attacks in the

Tsongas was attacked by all his rivals - Clinton leading the charge

-for his pro-business economic proposals and his support of nuclear

The Democrats staged debates in Colorado, Georgia and Maryland in the space of little more than 24 hours. and the highlight was an exchange between Clinton and Tsongas.

Clinton, referring to a Time magazine article, said Tsongas wanted to build hundreds more nuclear power

"That is a lie, that is a lie, that is a lie," Tsongas replied.

"Then just say no," Clinton responded.

Tsongas couldn't - he supports construction of smaller plants than now exist - but he did call repeatedly for a cease-fire in the Democratic war of campaign commercials.

There were no takers on that account, although several of the Democratic candidates voiced the belief that any one of them was preferable to four more years of Bush.

There were no debates on the Republican side and little for the two camps to agree on, except that Buchanan's challenge was stronger and more intense than anyone envisioned just a month ago.

Buchanan attacked Bush in his controversial campaign commercials and on the stump.

George Bush's campaign is hollow. He has no ideas," he said.

Bush criticized Buchanan for waving the white flag of surrender on trade. He rarely mentioned his rival

His surrogates weren't nearly as

White House chief of staff Sam

Skinner suggested Buchanan was in Bennett said the president's challenger "certainly flirts ... with fascism."

ST. MARY OF THE PLAINS

Transfer fair gives students option

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DODGE CITY - About 300 St. Mary of the Plains students weighed options at a college transfer fair where 46 colleges, universities and the U.S. Army offered alternatives to their soon-to-close school.

St. Mary announced it would close its doors at the end of June, and students have been scrambling to find another school where they can continue their educations.

Jeff Miller, dean of admissions, said Tuesday that colleges from Iowa and South Dakota had chartered planes to attend the fair. All of the Kansas state schools and many four-year liberal arts colleges were represented at

An estimated 500 students attend St. Mary's Dodge City campus. Many colleges have offered transfer agreements so the students can obtain their degrees more easily, Miller said.

At the transfer fair, students said some of their St. Mary's credits would not be accepted by other schools, forcing them to add a semester before they could graduate.

"I thought I'd be able to be done in another year, but now that I have to transfer to another school, I have to meet their added requirements on top of what I already need, and that will probably take a year and a half," said Christi Sills, a St. Mary junior.

Kansas Newman agreed to take over St. Mary's outreach programs in Garden City, Liberal, Pratt and Colby as well as St. Mary's Lumen program, which prepares lay people for careers

ECUMENICAL

ASH WEDNESDAY

WORSHIP SERVICE

March 4, 7:30 p.m.

Danforth Chapel

Sponsored by: American

$1 Domestic Bottles

Wednesday

Thursday LIVE Millhous Nixons Bud Lt. Coors Lt. $1.75 Pitchers

> Friday LIVE Mere Mortals $1 Kamis

Saturday Game Day Pitchers $3.25

LIVE Millions

1120 Moro

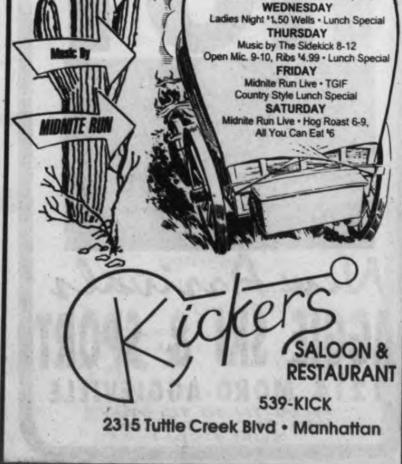

Miller Lt.

19 to Enter

ENTERTAINMENT

Royal Lipizzaners to perfom at Bramlage tonight

Historic white stallions return to K-State

SUSAN DONOVAN

Michael Jackson says he believes it doesn't matter if you're black or white.

However, it does matter if you're a performing Royal Lipizzaner Stallion.

The Wonderful World of Horses, starring the world famous Royal Lipizzaner Stallions, will perform at 7:30 tonight in Bramlage Coliseum. Tickets are available at Bramlage ticket out-Lipizzaner stallion blood lines date back to Ghenghis Khan and his territory. These stallions are born a dark brown or black, and their coats eventually turn white.

"A lot of people don't know that Lipizzans are not born white." said Troy Tinker, master of ceremonies for the Wonderful World of Horses.

They are actually born bay in color, which is a dark brown or black," he said. "They start changing colors at five or six years of Tinker said sometimes a mare will not change colors at all. These stallions remain black their entire

He said these unique horses are considered a good luck charm, he said.

The black Lipizzaners do not perform with the the white ones, because the different colors interfere with the visual appearance of specific routines in the show. But, the black stallions do participate in individual routines.

The stallions have special abilities to maneuver and make spectacular leaps. Military techniques are apparent in many of their rou-

Tinker said Lipizzaner stallions have a unique place in U.S. hisIn April 1945, just weeks before the end of World War II, the 42nd Squadron of the U.S. Army's 2nd Calvary made heroic efforts to save Lipizzaner stallions in Hostau, Czechslovakia, from a German breeding depot.

Louis Holz, president of the 2nd Cavalry Assoc., said 675 Lipizzaner stallions, mares and colts were rescued from a German breeding depot in Hostau.

Holz participated in the evacuation, which was known as Operation Cowboy, under Gen. George

"Out of a total of 675 horses, zero were injured and zero were killed," he said.

Holz said Operation Cowboy was a well-organized mission that went off without a hitch. He said the maneuver was successful because it was arranged and negotiated between the United States and Germany.

"There were no problems with this operation because of negotia-tions," Holz said.

"The Germans thought it would be better to surrender and meet with American demands rather than to the Russians, who were approaching soon."

Holz said the deceased Col. Reed was quoted in interviews as saying the death and destruction of war depressed him. Col. Reed said it was "mandatory for him and his troops to save a piece of culture for "The culture Reed was speaking of was the Lipizzaner breed of horses," Holz said. "The U.S. Army literally stopped the war to save culture and horses."

Holz said the actual evacuation took two weeks, moving the horses 35 miles and returning them to Austrian control.

The Lipizzaners stayed in the Austrian mountains for 10 years until the Russians moved out in

On the road again with K-State Singers

Non-music majors make up group of 'singing ambassadors'

It might come as a surprise that none of the K-State Singers are music

This is because one of the requirements is to not be a music major.

Gerald Polich, professor of music, said this is a requirement because if an individual were both a music major and a K-State Singer, there simply would not be enough time for both. He said majoring in music is time consuming with all the practice and performances involved, and being involved with the K-State Singers is also time consuming.

"The singers perform between 30 to 50 times a year and rehearse every day for two hours," he said.

Polich said the singers initially audition with him and just sing. There are 100 auditions given, and then 25 singers are selected to audition a second time. The second audition requires dance also. Second auditions are judged by both himself and K-State Singer alumni

The K-State Singers have been around since 1954 and currently consist of twelve vocalists, a percussionist, a bass guitarist, a pianist, a sound technician, the director and the choreographer.

Some of their tour stops other than Kansas have included Missouri, California - including Disneyland and Sea World - Arizona, Texas, Georgia, Florida, Oklahoma, Colorado and Washington, D.C. They have also toured overseas to Asia, Europe and the Arctic to entertain American military personnel for the USO and Department of Defense. These tours have established the group as K-State-'s 'Singing Ambassadors," Polich said.

CHRISTOPHER ASSAF/Collegian

K-State Singers Luke Ellis, junior in elementary education, and Nancy Andeel, senior in modern languages, perform with the group recently. The group consists of 16 students, all of whom are non-music majors.

The singers are often invited to entertain at national meetings and the Midwest Regional Governors' Con-

The singers have also performed at three World's Fairs held in Vancouver, British Columbia; New Orleans and Knoxville, Tenn.

Alice Brende, junior in elementary education, said she joined the singers because she wanted to continue performing after high school. "I love to sing," she said.

Brende said she plans to continue to entertain and has gained valuable experience. She said the singers are close and have fun on road trips, even though there is a lot of work to do.

Fine line between games, war in 'Gallipoli'

Running is way of life, then method of survival, for soldiers in Australian film

ROB DE CORTIE

Collegian

Running is what "Gallipoli," the last Kaleidoscope film before spring break, is all about.

This slow, yet strong, movie directed by Peter Weir describes the tragic journey of two Australian runners and the fine line between game

The movie opens at 7 and 9:30 tonight in Forum Hall.

"Gallipoli" tells the story of two young Australian farm boys during World War I, culminating in the 1915 slaughter of Australian troops at the Turkish peninsula of Gallipoli.

Archy (Mark Lee) and Frank (Mel

Gibson) meet at a provincial track competition in May 1915. They become friends and trek across the outback of Western Australia to Perth, where they are separated when assigned to different divisions.

In a training camp in Cairo, Egypt, they see each other, and together they go into the Gallipoli campaign against

The story of "Gallipoli" is simple, but penetrating story about friendship and innocence.

1119 Moro

Everything in the movie is a prelude to a finish: a race to Gallipoli.

make running a way of life.

The boys run for money on the grounds of Western Australia. In the desert of Egypt, they run for honor and glory. Finally, on the battlefield of Gallipoli, they run for their lives. The action in "Gallipoli" carries on rather slowly, especially in the beginning. But the movie is a great pictorial beauty, in which Weir shows a strong sense for detail and refine-It is an anecdote of two boys who

Sig Ep

Fite Nite Boxer

Sign in 9 p.m.

$1.75

Shots

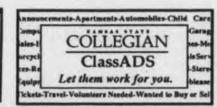

FREE

GIVEAWAYS!!!

776-7714

Hussongs Tequila

532-6556

Trapshooting

Learn the use of guns, selection and care of equipment, fundamental shooting skills and techniques of trapshooting.

Tuesdays, March 17- May 5, 7:00-9:00 p.m.

For registration information call UFM at 539-8763.

REC SERVICES

SOFTBALL AND INDIVIDUAL SPORTS INTRAMURAL ENTRY

> DEADLINE Thursday, March 5, 5 p.m. at the Rec Complex-Rec Services Office

> > MANDATORY

SOFTBALL Managers Meeting

Wednesday, March 4, 4 p.m. Union Forum Hall

Must attend both clinics: Monday, March 16, 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212 Tuesday, March 17, 5 p.m. Rec Complex

MAKE EXTRA CASH!!!

OUTDOOR RENTAL CENTER OPEN

Reserve equipment for spring break trips now.

Sunday-Friday 4-6 p.m. Saturday 11 a.m.-Noon Full line of camping equipment available

SCOREBOARI

Sports Bar

Hussong's

THIS YEAR A LOT OF COLLEGE SENIORS WILL BE GRADUATING INTO DEBT.

Under the Army's Loan Repayment program, you could get out from under with a three-year enlistment.

Each year you serve on active duty reduces your indebtedness by one-third or $1,500, whichever amount is greater.

The offer applies to Perkins Loans, Stafford Loans, and certain other federally insured loans, which are not

And debt relief is just one of the many benefits you'll earn from the Army. Ask your Army Recruiter.

CALL: 776-8551

ARMY, BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

The Louis Vieux Elm towers over the 55-foot bucket truck used to get the men into the tree. Its award winning circumference-312 inches, height-100 feet, spread crown-91 feet. (Below) Joel Brinker positions himself on the main trunk above the rich soil farmland that is fed by the Vermillion River.

Trimming the Quiet Giant

Joel Brinker-arborist

hree men with ropes and chainsaws have been trimming the entire Kansas State Forest northeast of Wamego since Friday.

They plan to be finished by Thursday. That soon, because Kansas's only forest consists of one tree - the Louis Vieux Elm.

Standing 100 feet above an open field, the world's largest elm is getting a trim from Brinker Tree Care of Manhat-

"This is a serious decision-making process, because we have a champion tree here," said Joel Brinker, owner of Brinker Tree Care.

"I have to protect the height and spread of the crown. I have to be aware about what I cut," he said. One cut could seriously alter the size and shape of the tree. The Louis Vieux Elm, which was named after the first owner of the land in the mid-1800s, was the Kansas Champi-

The Oregon Trail runs past the Louis Vieux Elm after it crosses the Vermillion River. Vieux was the owner of the land and bridge around the river and tree. His tombstone sits on a hillside that overlooks the treetop. on in 1978, the U.S. Champion in 1979 and the World Champion in 1985.

When it was last measured, the tree stood 100 feet tall. Its crown spread 91 feet, and the circumference of the trunk was 312 inches.

"Someone had to notice the size of the tree by at least 1977," Brinker said. "It was then the tree was nominated."

The landowner at the time deeded the land under the dripline to the state forester for as long as the tree lives, Brinker said.

The tree and land became the only land the state forestry division owned, so the area became known as the only onetree forest.

"After the large branch to the south broke off, someone counted the rings and determined that portion of the tree to be 125 years old," Brinker said.

He said his speculation as to the age of the tree is about 130 years.

This is the fifth time Brinker has worked on the elm. Each time, he has had to cut branches out to avoid possible storm damage.

Louis Vieux settled along the Vermillion River. The river is one reason the tree has grown so big.

Vieux charged people to cross the river on the Oregon Trail. When Vieux died, he was buried on a hillside still in sight of the tree.

The wind makes it interesting," Brinker said, after coming down from the tree on Saturday amid 20-mph gusts

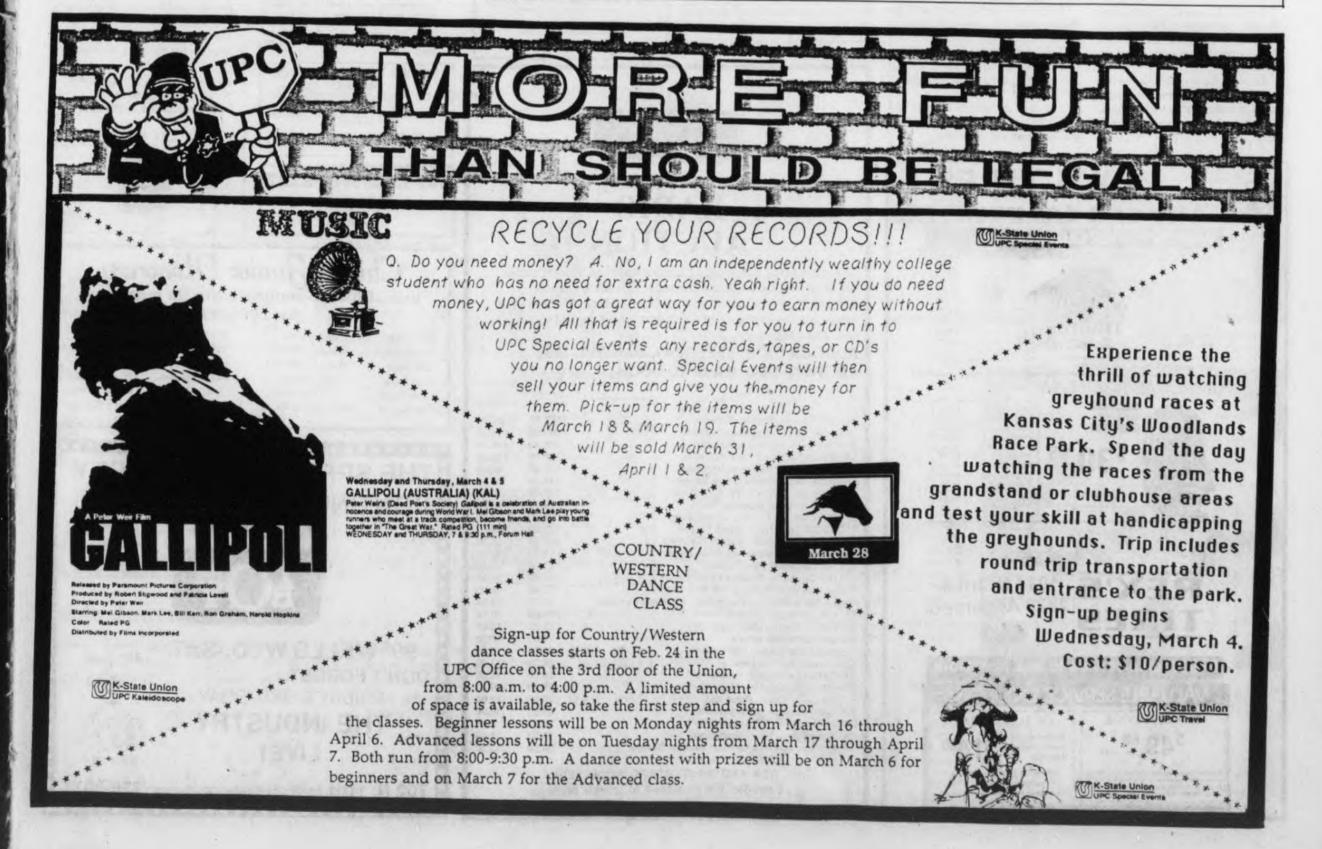

"It (the wind) blows more freely than when the branches weren't trimmed. It's not preferable conditions. It increases the risks and makes trimming more diffi-

"If I had to choose, I'd do without the

Photographs and Story by Brian Kratzer

Drama overcomes disabilities

Acting class mutually benefits kids, KŚU students

CHRISTINA CARBAJAL

K-State students are helping disabled children overcome their handi-

Disabled children from the Manhattan school district are learning to deal with their special problems by interacting with K-State students through an improvisation and acting

Theatre for Special Populations allows 30 K-State students to work one-on-one with disabled children and help them interact with each other in a positive way, said Norman Fedder, distinguised professor of speech.

"These children have a variety of handicaps - being confined to wheelchairs or mental handicaps," Fedder said.

"Some of them might be fine physically or mentally, but may have trouble adjusting to their classes because of problems at home or for other reasons," he said.

The K-State students must lead three class activities, lead an out-ofclass drama session and write their reactions to each class.

Every week, the students pick a theme, Fedder said.

One such theme was "If you could be anything, what would it be?" The whole class then formed a large circle, and the leader asked each child what their choice was.

"Be anything you want, and I'll sprinkle magic dust on you with my wand, and you'll be it," said Roxanne Silan, junior in pre-nursing, as she tried to get the children into the activ-

Each child used imagination to act it out, and the class participated along with the child. One child wanted to be a comedian, and then proceeded to do

Two area high-school seniors will

Tania Gilbert, Manhattan High spend a week learning firsthand about government when they attend the Presidential Classroom program in School, and Miguel Quinones, Junction City High School, were chosen from the Upward Bound program to be in the nation's capital Feb. 29-

March 7, said Reggie McGowan, debating, meeting about 400 students from around the world and interacting with important governmental fig-instructed by presidential cabinet members, and students will be able to give input about important current

Many of the workshops will be

They will be attending workshops,

Upward Bound director.

ures, he said.

issues.

Manhattan, Junction City seniors will participate in Presidential Classroom

AREA HIGH SCHOOLS

KRISTIN SCHMIDT

Washington D.C.

Tammy Sutton, 18, knocks Charles Manz, 17, out while taking on the role of her favorite person, Hulk Hogan, during a recent skit. Sutton and Manz are members of Theater for Special Populations class.

his own stand-up routine.

who they wanted to be, a skit was created with the help of the K-State students that illustrated the imaginary figures in further detail.

Fedder said the children have a chance to express themselves and receive positive feedback.

"The whole thing is about selfesteem," Fedder said. "Some of these kids are beaten down, and so when they participate in the activities, they just blossom," he said.

Silan, who was one of this week's

"It shows the kids that the people running the government are really

That openness, he said, is an im-

"Often, we feel divorced from the because people often feel they have national government. They can come back and tell their friends and family,

'This is what to do if you want to Gilbert and Quinones also will tour

"There are going to be students

She said she also is looking for-

PRICE 25.95 27.95

29.95 33.95

35.95

38.95

41.95 43.95

PRICE 30.95 33.95

Washington, D.C., and participate in from all over the world, and I'm really looking forward to meeting them," ward to the extensive debate in which each student will participate.

165/80R13

175/80R13 185/75R14

205/75R14 215/75R15

225/75R15

SALE P155/80R13 P165/80R13

P185/75R14

make your perceptions known,' little say in government decisions.

people who have ears and will hear you," McGowan said.

McGowan said.

social events.

Gilbert said.

REX'S TIRES

AND CAR CARE CENTERS

DAYTON POWER CUSTOM

UNIROYAL TIGER PAW®

Dayton

立ては

STEEL BELTED ALL SEASON

Tough Stent Brits provides strength & long mileage

Two students to learn government firsthand portant part of Presidential Classroom, essay and interview process.

leaders, said she has liked working acting out in the class with the chil-After all the children expressed with the children and seeing them develop into their own personality.

> Monica Clifton, senior in speech pathology, said she also enjoys the interaction with the disabled students.

> "You learn to appreciate their abilities and what they can do," she said. You pay attention to how they communicate, and when they get their message across, you see them get so excited because you understand

Many of the students said it allowed them to let go of their stress by

The debate will address four cur-

Upward Bound is providing funds rent issues, including the environment for Gilbert and Quinones trip to Washington, D.C., said Lora Boyer, Upward Bound academic services coor-

The two were selected through an

Students who wanted to attend

Presidential Classroom wrote an essay explaining why they were the best candidate. Everyone involved with Upward Bound read the essays and Independent judges then interviewed the four candidates and selected a representative and a runner-up. Gilbert was selected by this process, Boyer said.

selected the top four, Boyer said.

and teen pregnancy, she said.

Melanie West, senior in speech pathology, said when she participated in a drama session, she learned to let go of her nervous feelings about planning her wedding.

The students develop their own drama sessions during the Thursday

"The more fun we make it, then we're not embarrassed to let go," West

Ouinones was selected for the program automatically, because he is the senior with the highest grade point average in Upward Bound, she said.

sas, they will speak to some area civic groups and will answer questions other

Upward Bound participants have.

When the students return to Kan-

Gilbert said she really wants to Upward Bound has been sending bring back positive views of how the students to Presidential Classroom since 1981, and the government learning program has been in existence

We Take Tips Bay or Night

COLLEGIAN

532-6556

government works.

COLLEGIAN

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $5.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Announcements

ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS: Need help seeking employment in the Architectural profession? My Kansas City firm has an option for you. If you are interested in attending a career counseling seminar, write Teri B. Price, TBP Architectural Services, Inc. 5613 Nall Ave. Roeland Park, KS 66202 or call (913) 384-6929.

SPRING BREAK!!!

South Padre from $99 per person 5 nights Bahamas Cruise $299 per person 6 days/5 nights Cancun from $439 per person 7 nights airfare included

for information call: Stephanie 537-0891

> COMING ATTRACTIONS

FEMALE STRIPPERS

Wed. through Thurs. 6 till 9 p.m.

TYRON HOLMES COONEY

Playing Friday, March 6

BLUE RIVER PUB

North on Tuttle Creek Blvd. 537-9877

$1.25 PITCHERS

776-1515

FIRSTBANK CENTER

ATTENTIONI ATTENTIONIII Due to Spring Break the Deadline for placing Classi-fied Ads is Noon Friday, March 6 for the Monday, March 16 Collegian.

CASH FOR Collegel Don't miss your oppor-tunity for the scholarships/ financial aid you are qualified forl Call or write for in-formation on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, La-wrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

SINGLES NEW INTRODUCTION

SERVICE
No bars, no pick-ups, no funny business. Just plain common sense.
Vieet someone with your interests-it could last both your lifetimes!

FRIENDSHIP EXCHANGE

ClassADS

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

CUB SCOUT Biscuit and Gravy Feed, Sat-urday, March 7, 1992 7a.m. - 1p.m. First Christian Church 115 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan. Adults- $2, children - $1.

Automobiles for Sale

1980 CUTLASS Supreme Brougham. T-tops, excellent 350 V-8, AT, PS, PW, PB, PL, new paint, no rust $2800 negotiable. 776-7299 or see at 1428 Laramie.

86 CARAVELLE, four-door, Automatic, air condition, $1,800 call 539-2555. Noon-5:30p.m.

1986 HONDA Accord LX-i. Includes radar dectector and two extra tires. Call Gel-mine 532–2947.

1988 CAMARO froc T-top automatic loaded, red, excellent condition, 57,000 miles, 889–4342.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

FOR SALE: 1989 one-half ton Chevy Silver-ado pick-up with matdring w/w two horse trailer. Call evenings (913) 749–5161.

APPLE IIC complete system; color monitor, built-in and external drives, modern, Im-ageWriter II printer, software. 776-8841.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, Michealangelol Nation-wide this virus starts annually on March 5. Disinfect your computer before this virus cannibalizes your hard drivel Too late, you say? In most cases, we can re-capture your information. Schedule your preventive maintenance today! Connect-ing Point Computer Center, 539-0801.

PLENTY OF Portable Powerl Mitsubishi 286 with one meg, 40 MEG drive, three and one-half and five and one-fourth drives, and external keypad. $995 MicroTelesis (Lunchbox- style) 386 with CGA gas plasma screen, one meg RAM, 40 meg (17 ms) hard drive, full size keyboard and four expansion slots, $1400. Call 537-2937 and make offer.

Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial po-tential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employ with reasonable caution.

WHEN ONLY THE

PERSONALIZED

BEST DENTISTRY

 PROFESSIONAL PRACTICAL

PROMPT

Now Serving the State of Kansas Traditional-Prudential Dental Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient. Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A. 514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA DOWNTOWN, MANHATTAN

537-9414

RADIO AUCTION

The items listed below will be auctioned to the highest bidder this week. Visit the sponsors...inspect the merchandise ... determine your bid. Keep your radio on KMAN 1350 and your hand near the phone. Just call in and bid on the KMAN auction line: 776-1350.

AUCTION DATE: SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1992

AUCTION TIME: 9 A.M. TO NOON

	1000000
Yamaha Scooter: Brooks Yamaha	$895.00	$360.00
Ladies' Watch: G. Thomas Jewelers	380.00	155.00
Dirt Devil Can-Vac: B & L Vacuum	299.95	120.00
Set of Four Farmland Tires: Ampride	280.00	115.00
Portrait Package: Heirloom Portraits	156.00	65.00
Briefcase: Mid America Office Supply	148.95	60.00
Complete Car Detailing: VP Auto Wash	110.00	44.00
$50 Gift Certificate: Drapery World	50.00	20.00
3 - VCR Clean and Lubes: Circuit Shop	32.00	13.00
2 - $25 Gift Certificates: Wash Palace	25.00	10.00
2 - $25 Gift Certificates: Carlos O'Kelly's	25.00	10.00
Two Month Membership: Nautilus Fitness	75.00	30.00
$25 Gift Certificate: Ben Franklin	25.00	10.00
$25 Gift Certificate: Rusty's Last Chance	25.00	10.00
Winter Protection Package: VP Auto Wash	20.00	8.00
Round-Trip to KCI from Manhattan: Travelers Express	57.00	23.00
$25 Gift Certificate: Steve's Floral	25.00	10.00
$25 Gift Certificate: Little Caesars	25.00	10.00
$25 Gift Certificate: Arby's	25.00	10.00
Fragrance Gift Basket: The Palace	40.00	16.00
KSU Sweatshirt: The Palace	26.00	11.00
3 - $25 Gift Certificates: Shoney's	25.00	10.00
$25 Gift Certificate: One Hour Photo	25.00	10.00
2 - Two Large Pizzas: Pizza Hut	29.00	12.00
$25 Gift Certificate: Vista Drive-In	25.00	10.00
Deluxe Car Wash: VP Auto Wash	20.00	8.00
2 - Cocktail Party Trays: Bockers II	35.00	14.00
2 - Hog Roast Dinners for Four: Kickers Saloon	24.00	10.00

VISA AND MASTERCARD ACCEPTED!! Sales Tax Will Be Added To Taxable Items

BUY-HIRE-SELL-REN COLLEGIAN

RETAIL MINIMUM

BID

Chimes Junior Honorary would like to congratulate its members for 1992-93

Julie Buzby Rob Ames Sarah Caldwell Nicole Ary Brent Cardwell Bill Bahr Amy Collett Reid Bork Todd Fleischer Travis Brock Carla Hommertzheim Mike Burton

Todd Johnson Jason Kastner Julie Kerschen Tracy Mader Sharilyn Maechtlen

Pete Iseman

Paula Murphy Jana McKee Charles Walters Michelle West Larry Whipple Mike Zamrzla

Zach Mills

THE SPRING BREAK PARTY CONTINUES... TONIGHT LIVE:

99° WELLS WED.-SAT. DON'T FORGET:

FRIDAY & SATURDAY THE INDUSTRY

LIVE!

702 N. 11th Private Club-Memberships Available 776-0077

40.95 42.95 44.95 46.95 47.95 50.95 51.95 P185/75R14 P195/75R14 P205/75R14 P205/75R15 P215/75R15 P775/75R15 P235/75R15 Reg. $49.95 P155/80R13 1011 N. 3rd & 2829 Anderson FREE Shuttle Service to and from work VALUABLE SERVICE COUPONS BRAKE SERVICE Oll, Lube & Filter $49.88 per oxle Replace filter & lube chassis Most american & foreign cars

(continued from page 10)

$40,000′ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, vacations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS13KEB.

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Local businesses need students now for stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided, Excellent earnings. Send SASE to Homemailing Program—B, P.O. Box 3182, Olathe, KS 66062. Immediate re-

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Position in the FENIX Adult Student Service Office, $87.50 per week, 20 hours per week through May 13, 1992. Job description available. Resume and letter of application due March 6, 5:00 p.m. in Holton Hall 201. Equal Opportunity Employer.

ATTENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Arm TENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army National Guard would like to help youl In addition to monthly drill pay, we offer the following incentive programs: $2,000 bonus, $6,120 G.I. Bill, and the $10,000 loan repayment program. By serving two days a month, and two weeks a year you could qualify for up to $28,000. To find out if you qualify, call 537-4108.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing. gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $1,000 or more plus R & B. Marc Seeger. 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. (708) 446–2444.

CRUISE LINE entry level on Board- landside positions available, year round or summer. Call (813) 229-5478.

HARRY'S UPTOWN is now taking applica-tions for an experienced Bartender. Good pay for hard worker with good people skills. Apply between 2:00 and 4:00p.m. at Harry's 418 Poyntz, Wareham Hotel.

Attention Students:

Tinancial Research Services has knowledge of over $4 billion dollars available to you regardless of

SE SE your G.P.A., Major, Social or W Leonomic Background.

For information send S.A.S.L. to:

Timmeial Research Services 1405 Daniel Ave. Manhattan, XS 66502

Off the Mark

Calvin and Hobbes

EMMMM

BUT OUR CONSTIPATIONAL

BYLAWS SEZ

TO CHOOSE

TWEEN THE

LESSER

A' TWO.

WE'RE S'POSED

SPRING BREAK

EMWW

Geech

NOM'NEE.

WE CAN'T ELECT A GRAND LIZARD WITH JUS' ONE

THERE'S JUS' ONE

CAN I BORROW

YOUR MOTORCYCLE?

LIZARD.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and re-creational areas. Horticultural back-ground helpful. Send resume to Colle-

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913)

LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides frrough national lorest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

NOW HIRING over 40 people for Big Brother Big Sister Project. Need callers for morn-ing and evening hours. Good salary plus bonus. Apply March 7, 9 or 10, 9-6 p.m. 1124 Waters "One block off Anderson

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews, Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

New Opportunities

Eam $5,000 to $10,000 this summer painting houses in your home town. Final hiring for these positions is being held now!

1. Strictly management

2. Painting and management 3. Painting only

ALL-Pro Student Painters, Inc. 1-800-2-MANAGE

ACCOUNTANT

Marshattan real estate firm has imme diate opening for one full time account ant. Duties include bookkeeping, financial reports and management role in financial planning. Starting salary commensurate with experience. 40 hour week Monday through Priday. Micro computer training and experience man datory. Send resume, including salary expectation to box 2, c/o the Collegian.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

GUARANTEED ALASKA JOBS

x. $1000+/wk, room, board & airfare. New, 92: 80 pg. guide reveals most current prospect in: Fishing, Oil, Alaska Teacher Placement, Degreed jobs, Construction, & much more. Weekly info available. State liscensed agency. Alaskemp Guarantee: Secure Alaska job, or 100% refund. Send $9.95 + $3 $&H to: Alaskemp Boy 1236. T. Corpallis OR 97339 Alaskemp, Box 1236 - T, Corvallis, OR 97339

STOPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed to stuff our Dieting Circulars from your Dorm/ Homel Excellent Wages—$3 per envelope! No experience required! Set own hours...Full or part-time! Mailers needed immediately! To start send a long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157 Forked River, NJ 08731.

STUDENT COMPUTER Consultants needed at KSU Libraries. Seeking individuals who are interested in installing micro-computer software, setting up new miwho are interested in installing micro-computer software, setting up new mi-crocomputer hardware, trouble shooting and maintaining that hardware. Envi-ronment consists of 200 microcomputer/ terminals with peripherals attached. Knowledge of WordPerfect, DBase, Su-perCalc, Laplink, Kermit and networks would be helpful. Must be able to work 20 hours a week year round. Apply at Ferrell 109A. Review of applications will begin March 9, 1992.

STUDENT COMPUTER Dispatch: 15 to 25 hours per week. Must be willing to work hours indicated: Monday and Wednesday 7 a.m. til 12 p.m. Tuesday 8:30 a.m. til 2:30 p.m. Thursday 9:30 til 2 p.m., and Friday 7 a.m. til 11:30 p.m. Must have been enrolled in at least six resident semester Be willing to work during student recesses and summer months. Undergraduates with employment potential for two years will be given preference. Applications will be accepted until 4 p.m. March 6, in room 2 Farrell Library.

WANTED: ILLUSTRATOR skilled in pen and ink to collaborate on stories for young people. Write Dave Lemire, Box 8622 Pratt, KS 67124.

WILDCATS NEEDED— Summer counseling and staff for Easter Seal Camp serving people with disabilities in the heart of the Colorado Rockies. For more information, call (303) 892-6063, or write Rocky Mountain Village, P.O. Box 115 Empire, CO 80438.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. One-bedroom furnished apartment, one-half block from campus. $365 per month, 776-1340.

COULD

PASS

GREY POUPON.

PLEASE

EWWWWWW.

S'POSED TO BE

NOBODY LESSER

NO. I JUST

NEED TO PARK

IT FOR A WHILE

IN THE CORNER

RIDER

THAN ..

YOU

By Bill Watters

EMM.AMM.

By Jerry Bittle

LIZARDMAN.

15 17?

By Jeff MacNelly

MY JUKEBOX IS

IN THE SHOP

By David Swearingen

0.1

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bed:oom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus.
One, two, and three-bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537,0428

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for three-four students. Mid May-July 31 $590, 539-5451.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

BORST RESTORATION. Now leasing unique two and three-bedroom apartments. For June 1 occupancy at 1030 Humboldt, 200 North 11th, 901 Leavenworth and 724 Laramie. Rental/ credit reference requested. No smokers or pets please. 776–1460 evenings only.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785–2777. Please leave a message.

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

Leasing Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

"STUDENTS" HAVE A

GREAT SPRING BREAK

And watch the Collegian starting Monday after break for our

DAILY

APARTMENT

MODEL SHOWING SCHEDULE We manage over 500

APARTMENTS

near campus

10 For Rent—Houses

STARTING JUNE 1 or August, yearly lease, three-bedroom, furnished luxury house, cheap, air condition, cable, phone, close, parking phone 537–1388.

13 For Sale Mobile Homes

14X70 MOBILE Home with custom kitche only $182.50 payments. Will finance. 15 mobile home selection #198 Redbud. Countryside Brokerage 539-2325.

14X70 WITH deck. Two bed, two bath, with garden style tub. Includes all appliances and central air, 537-8003.

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

4 Furniture to Buy or Sell

WATERBED - Queen size with bookcase headboard, entire bed complete, with sheets, Like new $275 or best offer 539-3959.

Crossword

ACROSS

1 Russian space station

4 Patriotic

7 Vagrant

8 Game

fishes retreat

10 Sheik's

11 Modern ize

13 Noted

org.

abbr. 1 Edible 28 Violinist mush-Isaac room 30 Political 2 Wild org. 33 Noted goat 3 Danielle American Steel's inventor forte 36 Bakery 4 Tricks 5 Conbyproducts 37 Follow as ous curve

American inventor 16 Brooks or Blanc 17 Lariat

19 Maple genus 20 Light or feature

18 - in the lead-in 21 Disney's Little Mermaid 23 Sacchaless rine 25 Class reunion attendee, for short

Yesterday's answer

16 Lost and Found

FOUND- CALCULATOR with IEEE template in Paslay Lecture Hall. Call Kathy to identify. 537-8134.

SMALL ENVELOPE found in the Chapel on 2/28/92. Call Johnny King at 532-5909 or come by Bluemont Hall room 22 to claim.

20 Parties-n-More

PARTY TUB- 300 gallon punch bowl, hot tub, or two ice beer kegs $75. 537-2687.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

AVERIE: HI my special onel DWO.

KING, PAC-MAN, Rowdy Radar, and MVP-Watch out KSU woman, the man with many names and many stories behind those names is 22 today! Before his next B-day, there will be more stories, come be a part of them KSU woman! Happy B-day TP!! -Helen Keller-

LAUREL, my game is improving! Those lessons at Cottonwood are worth every penny. I want a rematch. - Hardy.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

BUSED ADULT male, white shepard needs special home, shots, neuterd. 532-5776, 17845919, 14562592.

BOA CONSTRICTOR, three feet long very tame, with large cage, many feeder mice. $250 ask for David 776-7622.

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537–7795.

DATA SHEETS to dissertations and every-thing between. Laser printing. 12 years experience, Mrs. Burden, 539-1204.

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equations my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.- 8p.m.

MAKE YOUR resume, papers and invita-tions look great with a laser printer and scalable fonts. $1.25 per doubled-spaced page of text. Joyce, 537-7027

UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for papers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommste Wanted

AVAILABLE MAY 1st own bedroom, share kitchen and laundry, in country place for horse. $200/ month all bills paid. 1-456-

MALE ROOMMATE needed, own bedroom off-street parking, close to Aggieville, campus, $140 per month, utilities paid, 539-2017 leave message.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bed-room furnished apartment, very close to campus. $198/ month plus one-half utili-ties. Call Wade at 539–6847. Available

ONE NON-SMOKING male to take over lease, now till August, on two-bedroom basement apartment located across from campus, own large room, lots of storage off street parking, available immediately. $195 all utilities paid. 539-0248.

ROOMMATE WANTED $120 plus one-half 1369

WANTED: FEMALE roommate who is a serious, clean, non-smoking student. Ask for Celeste 776-6470.

WANTED: TWO non-smoking female room-mates. One-half block off campus, own room, $180/ month plus 1/4 utilities, Au-gust lease. Call Army or Heidi 776-7638.

25 Services

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential

plain 10 Inept

actor

or T.S.

14 Christmas

12 George

help call

irthright FREE Pregnancy Tests

523 S. 17th Old Town Mall 537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE

5683

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Same day results ·Call for appointment

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

26 Stereo Equipment

KENWOOD 820 car amp $150 532-2496, Mike.

28 Sublease

IMMEDIATE SUBLEASE $175 plus one-third utilities, call Eric at 537-9060 or 776-0058.

SUBLEASE REASONABLY one bedroom in nice, spacious three-bedroom apartment from mid-May to July 31, 537-3386 ask for Dustin/ leave message.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Nice two-bedroom, two- four people, $300 plus utilities; call 539-3360.

SUMMER SUBLEASE- June 5- August 5.

Three bedrooms in Woodway Apartments. $150 month each. Call 532-3260. SUMMER- NICE, two-bedroom, close to campus, room for two-four. 539-2278.

URGENTI NON-SMOKING female needed to sublease townhome immediately. One-fifth utilities, shuttle and more. Roxanne, 776-8828 or Monica 776-6301.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

AIRPLANE TICKET for spring break. March 6- March 15, Kansas City to Washington D.C. round trip $338 down to $300. Call 539-2185.

30 Travel/Car Pool

NEEDED GIRL to carpool to northern part of lowa over spring break call 1-456-2832

NEEDED: TWO- three people to share condo in South Pagre. Call 539-2252 for more

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212 SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896.

SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner. (212) 472-1414.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, townsstart at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback Best offer, 539–4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

SPORTS CARDS for sale or trade, leave message, Dave 537-2616.

By Eugene Sheffer

Shoe

Jim's Journal

Today Tony and I went to Disney land.

time for all the rides.

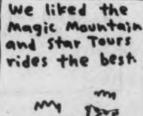

we waited in line for a long

The problem is. too many damned idiots come to this place!" Tony said.

By Jim Dikkers

ductor Previn 6 East a result 38 Room or Indian house sugar lead-in 7 Alan or 39 Bellow Nathan 40 Danger-8 Style of Curve of ture 9 Large treeless ship's planking Solution time: 22 mins.

architec-

3-4 35 Privy to content porridge hot .. 28 Aegean 30 Ore analysis 31 Gloomy 32 Deauville donkey 34 Speck of dust

carol 15 Lease 19 Primary goal 20 Matched group 21 Luau greeting 22 Unconfirmed reports 23 Withered 24 Walks lessly 25 Museum's CRYPTOQUIP 29 Peter and I A T S J D D Y A H J M Z IJLNY -

AVAKYDM'D WZJLM MWZ LYKWM Yesterday's Cryptoquip: CURIOUS PUPILS IN NEEDLEPOINT CLASS DOWNTOWN WERE ALL EYES.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: D equals S

People

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

judges to force them to dole out prison sentences to certain offenders, such as drug traffickers and those convicted of crimes involving firearms. The restrictions do not give judges the leeway to levy alternative, possibly more beneficial, forms of punishment.

All this activity aimed at stopping marijuana and other drug use might make some taxpayers wonder if incarceration rates are becoming a serious burden on them.

We're dealing with a situation right now where we have 1.2 million people incarcerated in the United States, and we have 2.5 million people on probation," said Rep. Jim Slattery, D-Kan. "If present trends continue, if the prison population continues to grow, the National Institute of Corrections estimates that in 1992 the United States will have to construct and open four facilities with a capacity of 500 beds per week to house all the inmates."

Slattery said the situation is out of control, and it is time for the policymakers to acknowledge changes must be made regarding removal of mandatory minimum sentence restrictions so judges can administer justice in a firm, but fair, manner.

Riley County Attorney Bill Kennedy said he agreed he was "basically against mandatory minimums." "It should be up to the judge," he

"We have to make sure that the punishment fits the crime," Slattery said. "I've always believed that we have to deal with our non-violent offenders in an entirely different manner than we deal with our violent offenders. It doesn't make much sense for us to lock up non-violent offenders in jail for a long period of time with violent offenders."

Slattery said he was familiar with the Dan Martin situation, but refused to comment on it until it had run its full legal course. But he said he regarded Martin's 5-year prison sentence as an example of punishment not fitting the crime.

In 1988, Martin was sentenced to a mandatory minimum five-year sentence for conspiring to purchase marijuana with intent to distribute. He is out of jail now pending a new trial. A U.S. District Court judge granted his motion for a new trial because the court found Martin's attorney had a conflict of interest that had adversely affected his counsel's representation.

"I don't think there's much in Martin's background that would indicate that he is a violent man," he said.

For years now, the American people have been hearing about the Drug War. Opinions vary among law enforcement officials and politicians as to whether or not it's being won.

"We're trying it, but we're not winning it," Kennedy said.

Government reports vary. Some indicate overall illicit drug use is down, and prices of drugs are on the rise, which some consider to be a step in the right direction. Others reports point to availability, and suggest drugs are as prominent in society today as ever.

Arrested CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

had told Martin he knew the people. At the very most, he said, he had gone there to smoke a joint.

Martin said he only spoke to Gish one time in the weeks after the motel meeting, not seven. He said the other calls had been picked up by his answering machine, and when he did speak with Gish, it was in reference to the purchase of a used dump truck.

Martin never got to tell his side of the story to the jury. He said Humpage, who was defending Gish as well, was adamantly opposed to either of them testifying.

Although all four defendants were tried together, they each had varying degrees of evidence against them.

Gish and the other two defendants had been arrested in the Topeka parking lot holding about $120,000 in cash.

On one end of the spectrum was Martin with his limited involvement, and on the other was Tom Evans, who along with being arrested trying to buy the marijuana in Topeka, had had numerous telephone conversations with agents regarding the deal, most of which the DEA agents recorded.

Martin said Humpage told him testifying would be disastrous, because it would open him up to cross examination about his apparent knowledge of marijuana use in the motel room the smoking of the joint and discussion regarding the purchase — and his knowledge of the other defendants' involvement in the conspiracy.

Being under oath, Martin said, he would have had to admit he did have at least some knowledge of a purchasing scheme among the other defenattorneys, William Rork and John for all of the defendants would be to take the Fifth Amendment and try to force the government to prove its case without possibility of cross-examination because in the event that one defendant fell, they all would fall.

Martin never told his side of the story, and after a short trial was convicted and sentenced to the mandatory minimum five-year prison sentence for his offense.

Nearly three years later, Martin, who was serving time at a minimum security work farm in Leavenworth, appealed to the U.S. District Court of Kansas to overturn his conviction due to ineffective assistance of counsel on Humpage's part.

Humpage, who Martin had ceased to employ after his incarceration, had also been defense counsel for Gish.

Martin said he sought a new trial because he believed Humpage's defense had been compromised by his representation of Gish as well. Martin claimed there had been a conflict in defendant interest based on Humpage's advice that he not take the

During a one-day hearing to allow the U.S. District Court to hear Martin's motion, the court heard testimony from Martin and Gish on Martin's behalf, and attorneys Humpage and Rork for the government's position that the conviction should be upheld.

Judge Richard D. Rogers found that Martin had "demonstrated a conflict of interest that had adversely affected his counsel's representation.'

Rogers granted Martin's motion that the sentence be vacated and oring a new trial.

In Martin's case, his marijuanarelated crime conviction was based on his telling undercover agents Rob-Martin said Humpage and the other ert Benton and James Woods he would be interested in buying a large quan-

Ambrosio, decided the best defense tity of marijuana, but he would first need to make arrangements to gain access to the funds necessary

Those records indicated Martin told Woods and Benton he would get in touch with them within a half an hour of leaving the motel. Those records also indicate he did not.

Butanother defendant, Tom Evans, returned to the Manhattan motel room and told the agents they would know the following morning if Martin had plans to participate in the deal.

In Judge Rogers's written summary of his decision to set aside Martin's conviction, he referred to Martin's "distinctive familiarity with marijuana" and the fact that Martin wanted to make the purchase."

But aftermentioning Evans's statements that he would know the following morning if Martin would participate in the buy, no other language in the judge's opinion indicates the evidence entered into the trial proved Evans ever made that specification to the agents the following morning or any time subsequent to the motel meeting.

Yet the fact remains that, based on the evidence, the jury in the trial found Martin to be "guilty beyond a reasonable doubt" of the crime of conspiring to purchase marijuana with intent to Martin is currently a free man. But Rogers's decision has been appealed by the government.

Martin currently awaits the outcome of that appeal.

If Rogers's decision is overturned, Martin will return to prison. If not, he may face another trial where he may once again be convicted and forced to go back to prison.

Martin said he is now "basically broke" because of the nearly $60,000 he has spent in legal fees.

lake the ce, ifference, SESSION'92 WASHBUR UNIVERSITY

SUMMER SESSION 1992 PROVIDES YOU THE OPPORTUNITY TO:

- make important progress toward your degree
- take those classes vou missed this year because they were full
- discover some fascinating courses that are offered only in the summer

Courses are offered at a variety of convenient times, both day and evening, in eight week. five week or short term formats. If you'll be working this summer, there are numerous class choices to fit your work schedule.

Find out how Summer Session 1992 can make the difference for you. Contact the Washburn University Admissions Office for more information.

WASHBURN UNIVERSITY 1700 College Topeka, KS 66621 (913) 231-1010 Ext. 1625

Regents

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 for state aid. The figure for fiscal 1993 represents a 4-percent increase. The bill includes $1 million to allow the University of Kansas to start planning for the reconstruction of Hoch Auditorium, a historic building that provided the campus's largest classroom space. Most of the building was destroyed by fire in May.

However, the committee rejected an amendment to add $1 million to the K-State budget to allow it to expand

Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, who made the motion, said the University's main library is inad-

"The heartbeat of a research university is its libraries," Hochhauser

For fiscal 1993, the bill would ap-$169.38 million to K-State, an increase of 1.9 percent.

$14.6 million to K-State's Veterinary Medical Center, an increase of three-tenths of 1 percent.

LUB SOHO The Nightclub

Wednesday night is

ALTERNATIVE MUSIC NIGHT

Featuring the music of

The Smiths The Replacements

Primal Scream

Live Jam Session YAZ Pistachio and Lumber

Morrissey New Order Fishbone

Open at 5 p.m.

Red Hot Chill Peppers and More! NO SLAM DANCING OR PIT MOSHING ALLOWED

Music...THE BEST Relaxed Atmosphere

Proper Attire, Jeans Allowed

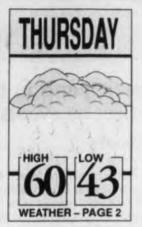

776-80H0 (7646) 18 to Enter 710 N Manhattan, Aggieville

KANSAS STATE

THE FUTURE OF

Kansas Legislature speaks to Student Senate at 7 tonight in the Big Eight room.

PAGE 3

THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 111

LEGISLATURE

State Senate approves new legal limit of .08

LISA TINNIN Collegian

The Kansas Senate passed a bill to tighten the drinking and driving laws. but some legislators and many people who will be affected say it is fraught with problems.

A bill to lower the blood-alcohol content level from .10 to .08 for a conviction of drunk driving was passed by the House last year. The bill was unanimously approved last week by the Senate, after some amendments were added. It has now moved to a conference committee for review.

Rep. John Solbach, D-Lawrence, chairman of the House Judiciary committee, said the Senate's version of the bill creates two tiers.

"If you are between .08 and .10, you have the opportunity to convince the judge you were not really drunk," he said.

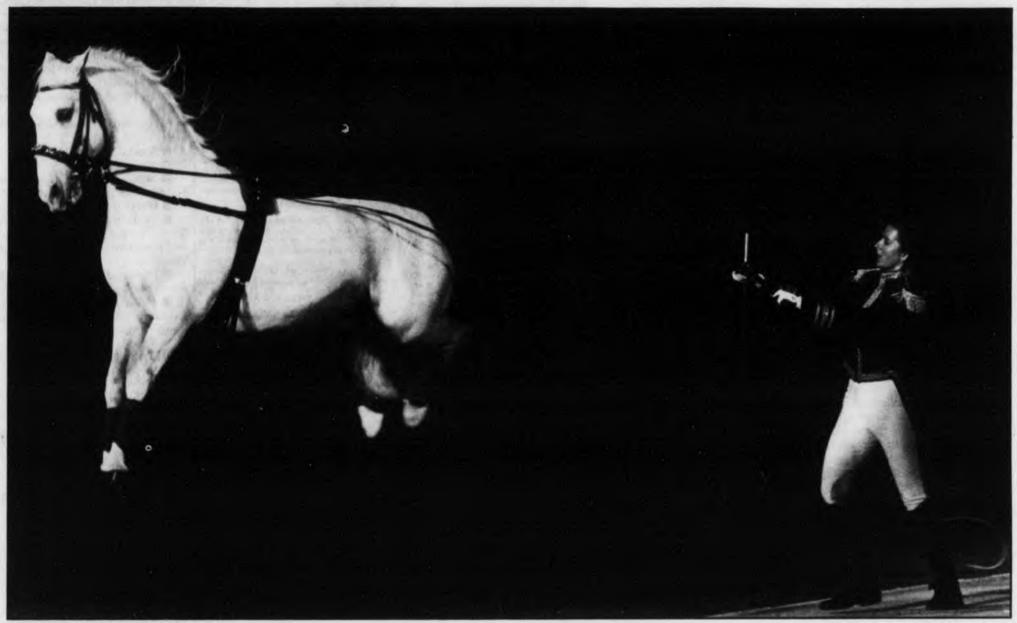

Solbach said that would be problematic.

"It would cause a lot of problems for law enforcement. It gets away from our per se law now and goes to a presumption that is rebuttable," he Solbach said he is against the bill as it is written now.

"I do not think it gives us anything, and it creates all kinds of law enforce-

See DRINK Page 8

DAVID MAYES/Collegian

Leaping Lipizzaner

Andrea Spenser, a rider with the Wonderful World of Horses show, directs Conversano, a Lipizzaner Stallion, in a maneuver called a capirole Wednesday in Bramlage Coliseum.

GUILTY UNTIL PROVEN INNOCENT

MARK ENGLER

Even if you don't do drugs, the war against drugs may be affecting you and your rights.

Earlier this year, Newsweek reported the Pentagon is using the U.S. military to combat Latin American drug lords in a war that "has quietly escalated to greater dimensions than most Americans think."

Kevin Zeese, vice president of the Drug Policy Foundation, an organization calling itself an "independent think tank on drugpolicy alternatives," said his group is currently in litigation with the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration involving its use of the active military on U.S. citizens within the borders of the United States.

In August 1991, Pulitzer prize-winning journalists Mary Pat Flaherty and Andrew Schneider wrote an 11-part series for the Pittsburgh Press entitled "Presumed

In that series they claimed the DEA and other federal, state and local law enforcement organizations have been seizing large amounts of property and capital from people suspected of drugrelated crimes. They say 80 percent of those people were never charged with any crime, much less convicted.

Before those wishing to defend America start saying "no way, not in the USA," there is an area of law to address.

In 1984, Congress passed the first installment of the Omnibus Anti-drug and Anti-crime acts. The Omnibus series was designed to take the profits out of crime by giving law enforcement officials the right to instantly seize property from people arrested for certain crimes - specifically drug trafficking and other organized criminal activity.

revised to give law enforcement agencies more and more leeway in seizing property.

"What happens is that a lot of times law enforcement people know that someone is guilty, but they don't have enough proof to prove it in criminal court," said Cary Copeland, director and chief counsel to the Executive office of Asser Forfeiture for the U.S. Justice Department.

He said law enforcement agencies can pursue a seizure, if the original owner contests it, through the civil court system, where the "preponderance of the evidence" burden of proof is much easier criminal court system's "beyond a reasonable doubt.

In regard to drugs, an officer need only have "probable cause" - the belief that a person is a drug trafficker and the property in question: money, cellular telephones, beepers, cars, boats, houses, etc. - has been or will be used to facilitate drug transactions. If the police believe they have probable cause, they can seize the property on the spot, even if they do not charge the suspect with a

In the event a person has property seized, he or she must pay a 10-25 percent deposit on the property's total value in order to set civil court proceedings in motion to retrieve the

Assuming they do not wish to argue their position with federal prosecutors in a federal court, they must hire an attorney to represent them. If the person wins the case, the law enforcement organization has the full range of appellate options, just as in any civil case. The law enforcement agency is in possession of the property throughout this

If a person is criminally charged and is acquitted, by no means do they get their property back. The seizure process is a civil court process, completely independent of criminal court proceedings. Copeland said the Pittsburgh Press' report that 80 percent of asset forfeiture cases involve people who have not been convicted of a crime is false. He said, rather, that 80 percent of the asset seizure cases in America are not contested by those whose property was taken, which he said implied those people were at least somewhat guilty.

He said he had no way of knowing how Since that time, the laws have been many persons targeted for seizure were also being prosecuted in related criminal cases, because the two areas were in no way related.

"It lies in the idea that property can commit crimes," he said. "Because of that police have the right to take that property."

If the situation arises where a person does not win the case or contest the seizure - which Copeland pointed out could be for reasons ranging from being guilty to, as opponents of the seizure laws point out, being unable to afford the deposit on the property, or feeling the merchandise seized was not worth the on law enforcement agencies than the time, money or hassle to get back — then the law enforcement agencies involved can divide up the property among those organizations that participated in the arrest or seizure and use it to enhance their crime-fighting operations. This could mean buying weapons, purchasing surveillance equipment, paying off informants or giving bonuses to officers who arrested the most people or seized the most property.

Copeland said the DEA and other federal law enforcement agencies do not

> "The general public doesn't realize how quickly their rights are being eroded under this war on drugs"

> > Ron Wurtz

pay the salaries of their agents out of seized property or money. He said they have advised other state and local law enforcement agencies to impose similar policies to avoid suspicion that the seizures are greed-oriented.

But he did say it was theoretically possible that law enforcement agencies could construct incentive programs that pay agents bonus dividends for high numbers of arrests or seizures funded by seized asset holdings.

The Pittsburgh Press reported that besides being questionable from a constitutional standpoint, the seizure privileges were not being used by law enforcement organizations for the sole purpose of nabbing the big-time gangsters.

Instead, the Press reported, the law "mostly ensnares the modest homes, cars and cash of ordinary, lawabiding citizens.'

In addition, the Press reported the examination of more than 100 "drug courier" stops had revealed that in cases where money and property had been seized, but no drugs had been found, 77 percent of those persons had been black, Hispanic or Asian.

In many instances, trained drug-sniffing dogs are used to determine if a person's cash or property has been in contact with an illegal substance. If the dog reacts in a way that suggest drugs have been or are present, the agents have probable cause to seize the property, the Press reported.

Expert toxicologists have suggested that nearly all the currency in the nation has been contaminated, or come in contact wifh drugs at some time or other, the Press

As for the claims by the Press that law enforcement agencies are now given the right to do and take what they please as long as they say it was in connection with drugs, Copeland said the U.S. public need

The instances cited by the Press, he said, were exceptions to the rule. He said if a person examined most of the DEA seizures long and hard enough, he or she could see that at some point drugs had been or were going to be involved.

He said various claims that persons are searched or have property seized because of their race or personal appearance are

Copeland said, on the federal level anyway, DEA and other agents are "professionally trained to avoid infringing upon the rights of innocent citizens.

Opponents of the seizure laws say it is not surprising that law enforcement agencies, like the DEA, enjoy the Omnibus Acts because it makes their jobs easier. But, they say, in regards to actually stopping drug trafficking, about the only thing they are proving "beyond a reasonable doubt" is they have little regard for the Constitution, specifically the Fourth and Fifth amendments.

Ron Wurtz, president of the Kansas Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers, said he believes the Supreme Court has been wrong to uphold these types of seizures.

"The general public doesn't realize how quickly their rights are being eroded under this war on drugs," he said.

"If the government starts taking away basic freedoms, like the freedom to do and go where you please without worrying about being rousted by police because you look a certain way, then we are letting them destroy something much deeper than any drug problem could.

Wurtz said he is a veteran of the Gulf War and feels himself to be a very patriotic person. But, he said, his view of true patriotism differs from the current common perception.

"I actually believe the work I do for the public defender's office is just as much of a defense of this country as taking up arms," Wurtz said.

When asked when or if law enforcement agencies will begin using their search and seizure privileges in a manner that would be regarded by citizens as excessive, he replied, "It's happening right now.'

Riley County Attorney Bill Kennedy said he is concerned about the possibility of civil liberties infringement on the part of law enforcement, but said he also sees situations where he believes perfectly good drug busts or seizures are thrown out by judges.

"I read appellate decisions, and I am surprised that the police in a particular case were allowed to do something and get away with it," he said.

"On the other hand, there are cases where the police did something that seemed to me to be completely appropriate and constitutional, and a zealous defense counsel was able to interpose a constitutional argument and get a dismissal."

FOLLOW UP

Participants in Black History Month reflect on events, plan for next year

KEITH LEFF

Collegian

The beginning of March brought the end of Black History Month 1992. "I am very pleased with the way Black History Month turned out," said Mordean Taylor-Archer, assistant provost for multicultural affairs.

Taylor-Archer said the celebration included a variety-filled calendar of events. She said the events were attended by a diverse group of crosssectional students.

"Black History Month is a celebration of the contributions African Americans have made and will continue to make to society, the country and the world," Taylor-Archer said.

She said these contributions often go unnoticed. Taylor-Archer said such contributions include the invention of the fire extinguisher, the fountain pen and ice cream.

"Black History Month represents inspiration for today and hope for the future," she said. "It serves as a legacy of the past." Highlights of Black History Month included Sonny Kenner - a jazz, rhythm and blues band. The performance was Feb. 20 in the Union Station. Also shown in the Union was The Spike Lee Film Festival, which featured Spike Lee movies every Sunday afternoon.

Two celebrities came to speak to K-State students, one directly and one through a video. "Beyond the Dream IV" was presented Feb. 5. The video featured the recently deceased author of "Roots" Alex Haley.

The editor of "Essence" Magazine, Susan Taylor, spoke on the need for critical thinking and self-respect on Feb. 25.

Pat Mohan, graduate student in student affairs and Black History Month committee member, said she hopes Mae Jemison, an astronaut, will be the keynote speaker for Black History Month 1993.

She said the committee will try to schedule next year's events later in the afternoon so more students will be able to attend them. Mohan said they will also try to get people involved in the events through participation in Black History Month was started in 1926 by Carter Woodson, Taylor-Archer said. The event started out as a week-long celebration, but during the 1960s it was extended to a month.

A possible reason for having Black History Month during the month of February is because it is the month of Abraham Lincoln's birthday. Lincoln, born on Feb. 12, helped end slavery in the United States.

CAMPAIGN '92

Counting the primary votes across the country ...

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the total votes received by each of the major presidential candidates in primary elections held so far this year.

The votes are based on unofficial returns, except in the case of New Hampshire Republicans, where official returns were available. The votes were complete except in Georgia, where 99 percent of the precincts had

The totals cover the six primaries for the Democrats and five primaries for the Republicans.

DEMOCRATS

Bill Clinton, 568,413 - 38 percent Paul Tsongas, 466,846 - 31 percent Jerry Brown, 176,279 - 12 percent Bob Kerrey, 123,579 — 8 percent Tom Harkin, 81,260 - 5 percent Uncommitted, 58,193 - 4 percent Others, 19,170 - 1 percent Mario Cuomo, 5,487 - 0 percent

REPUBLICANS

George Bush, 714,476 - 65 percent Pat Buchanan, 357,689 — 32 percent Others, 21,739 - 2 percent Uncommitted, 13,716 - 1 percent

Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea? Call the Collegian day or night 532-6556

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

TUESDAY, MARCH 3
At 7:16 p.m., two vehicles had a minor-damage, non-injury accident in Lot A-29.
At 8:15 p.m., a bicycle was reported stolen east of the K-State Union. Loss was $376.
At 9:50 p.m., Manhattan Fire Department responded to Seaton Hall for an air conditioner on responded to Seaton Hall for an air conditioner on fire. The fire was out when they arrived. The circuit breaker was cut off, and the unit was un-

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4 At 2:29 a.m., a burglary and theft were re-ported at Moore Hall. At 7:13 a.m., a blue Oldsmobile Firenza was reported disabled in Lot D-3. The owner had until 5 p.m. to move it.

At 7:45 a.m., the smell of natural gas was reported in King Hall.

At 10:36 a.m., two vehicles had a minor-damage, non-injury accident in Lot A-4.

At 5:06 p.m., a blue Ford Escort, license plate EPN215, was wheellocked in Lot A-15 for exces-sive violations. The owner was notified, and it was

At 5:07 p.m., a black Eagle, license plate DJU710, was wheellocked for excessive violations in Lot A-15. The owner was notified, and it was not

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

At 4:18 p.m., Dale Westhoff, 1131 Kearney St., reported the theft of an 18-speed Cannondale mountain bike. Loss was $656.

At 4:42 p.m., John Omli, 9881 W. Pleasant Hill Road, Brookeville, reported a vehicle burglary at the Holiday Inn & Holidome, 530 Richards Drive. Taken was a camera bag containing a 35mm Canon camera, a 35mm Yashika camera, $5x70 film and a stownsteb. Loss was $500.

camera, a 35mm Yashika camera, 55x70 film and a stopwatch. Loss was $509.

At 5:23 p.m., Ed Walking, 2607 Woodside Lane, reported the attempted theft of a dog. At 5:25 p.m., Carol King, 720 Vattier St., reported the battery and unlawful restraint of her juvenile son in the 800 block between Osage and Fremont streets.

Fremont streets.

At 5:35 p.m., Darrin Dobrinic, 1120 Garden Way, Apt. A, reported criminal damage to his 1991 Mazda truck in the parking lot behind Last Chance Restaurant & Saloon. Loss was $1,000.

At 5:43 p.m., Francis V. Rosenow, 1199 E. Santa Fe Ave., No. 83, Gardner, was arrested on Riley County warrant for misdemeanor checks and Manhattan warrant for failure to appear. He was released on bonds of $200 and $258.50.

At 5:56 p.m., Scott Roberts, 1011 Laramie St., reported criminal damage to the driver's side window and mirror of his vehicle. Loss was $350.

At 10:54 p.m., Tonya Novak, 1516 McCain

At 10:54 p.m., Tonya Novak, 1516 McCain
Lane, reported a man hiding in the trees in her parking lot. Officers were unable to make contact with the subject, who fled the area on foot. Extra patrol was requested for the night.
At 11:52 p.m., the Marshall County sheriff's office advised of a cream 1991 Tioga motorhome, valued at $40,000, with Nebraska license plate 23741 and two occupants, heading south. The vehicle was stolen from Nebraska. At 12:20 a.m., Riley County police officers located the vehicle on US 77 and confirmed it stolen with the Lincoln,

At 12:17 a.m., Roger Boykins, 617 Lime St., Topeka, was issued a notice to appear for driving on a suspended Kansas license and transporting an open container of alcoholic liquor.

At 1:46 a.m., Robert M. Lankster, 1355
Garfield St., Topeka, was arrested on four counts of burglary and confined in lieu of $13,000 bond.
John Hodges, 1904 E. 10th St., Topeka, and Roger Boykins, 617 Lime St., Topeka, were arrested on three counts of burglary each and confined in lieu of $12,000 bond each. The burglaries took place at Crum's Beauty College, 512 Poyntz Ave., and Manhattan Floral Co., 630 Poyntz Ave.

At 1:59 a.m., it was reported that a male was battered in the 800 block of N. 11th Street by three men who drove up in a silver car. Craig A. Rocha Route 1, Box 159 BC, Great Bend, was later ar-

At 2:19 a.m., Craig A. Rocha, Route 1, Box 159 BC, Great Bend, was arrested for a battery of a male at 2087 College View Road. His vehicle was

At 8:55 a.m., Shop Quik, 529 Richards Drive, reported the theft of four packs of lottery tickets.

At 11:05 a.m., Matthew Joseph Crelly, 125 Messenger Road, No. 69, was arrested for failure to appear on Shawnee County warrant and con-fined in lieu of $250 bond.

At 12:43 p.m., JCPenney, Manhattan Town Center, reported the theft of men's shorts. Loss was $28. Dillard's also reported the theft of men's shorts at a loss of $50.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Blue Key scholarship applications, which are available in Anderson 122, are due by 4 p.m. March 6.

McCain Student Development Council applications are available in the Student Governing Association office in the K-State Union and are due March

THURSDAY, MARCH 5

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Circle K will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 205.

■ Intramural entry deadline for softball and individual sports is 5 p.m. at the Recreational Services office at the Rec Complex.

■ KSU Rock Climbing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206. The Oklahoma spring break trip will be discussed.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 204. ■ American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120.

■ Wildlife Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Ackert 221.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Elizabeth McGhee Nelson for 1:30 p.m. in Bluemont 487.

■ Campus Crusade for Christ will meet at 7 p.m. in Denison 222. ■ Women's Soccer Club will meet at 5 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

■ ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Little

■ Horseman's Association will meet at 6 p.m. in Weber 146. Officers will meet at 5:30 p.m.

■ Baptist Student Union will meet at 7 p.m. at the Baptist Campus Center, 1801 Anderson Ave.

KSU American Horticultural Therapy Association will have its business meeting at 5:30 p.m. and its chapter meeting at 6 p.m. in Waters 018.

■ Horticulture Chb will meet at 7 p.m. in Waters 244. ■ Department of Geology Seminar Series will present "Depositional Models for Black-Shale Hosted NI-MO-PT Deposits in China and the Yukon and Speculation on Possible Occurrences in the United States" at 4 p.m. in Thompson 213. The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Philip Fay for 2 p.m. in Ackert 221.

■ Open forum: Candidate for Assistant Provost for Planning and Evaluation Services, Roseann Hogan, will speak on "Planning in a Comprehensive University.'

FRIDAY, MARCH 6

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

Cloudy with a 60-percent chance of showers. High near 65 with a 5- to 15-mph southwest wind. Rain to continue tonight with a low in the lower 40s.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

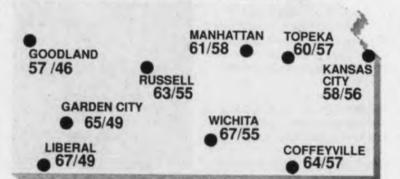

Cloudy with a 49-percent chance of showers. High from 55 to 60.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Dry Saturday with a chance of rain improving through Monday. Highs in the 60s Saturday, cooling to the 50s by Monday. Lows in the 40s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Havana	79/64	cloudy
Barbados	84/73	cloudy	New Delhi	81/54	dear
Berlin	52/37	cloudy	Rio	90/70	clear
Dhahran	63/48	cloudy	Seoul	46/34	clear

NOTICE KSU Parking Services

will relocate to Burt Hall, Room 128 effective: March 12, 1992

All transactions regarding vehicle parking, i.e., purchase of parking permits, arrangements for visitor parking, payment of misuse fees, arrangements for conference parking, purchase of reserved stalls, and comments may be directed to: Dwain Archer at 532-5710 Burt Hall, Room 128.

Office Hours:

8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday

Hit the road, cat!

South Padre-284

School and Work-Miles away!

It's almost time, ya know. Time to head down South, out West or just away from everything here in the Little Apple. But if you're running short on dough for that special trip, Collegian Class Ads can help you as easy as 1,2,3.

1. Find some things you don't need.

2. Advertise them "For Sale" in the Collegian Class Ads.

3. Sell your stuff in no time and watch the Cool Cash roll in.

Simple, huh? With the Collegian Class Ads working for you, there's no reason you can't clean out your apartment while you have some fun in the sun.

WHY YOU SHOULD START PLANNING FOR RETIREMENT WITH YOUR EYES CLOSED.

For retirement to be the time of your life, you have to dream a little—about the things you've always wanted to do: travel, explore, start a business. Just imagine...

With a dream and a plan, you can make it happen. Your pension and Social Security should provide a good basic retirement income, but what about all those extras that make your dreams possible? You'll probably need some additional savings.

THE DREAM IS YOUR OWN. WE CAN HELP YOU WITH THE PLAN.

TIAA-CREF Supplemental Retirement Annuities (SRAs), tax-deferred annuities for people like you in education and research, are a good way to save for retirement and save on taxes now. SRAs are easy - you make contributions through your institution before your taxes are calculated, so you pay less tax now.

You pay no tax on your SRA contributions and earnings until you receive them as income. And saving regularly means your contributions and their earnings

Ensuring the future for those who shape it."

can add up quickly. What else makes SRAs so special? A broad range of allocation choices, from the safety of TIAA to the investment accounts of CREF's variable annuity;

no sales charges; a variety of ways to receive income, including annuities, payments over a fixed period, or cash. You may also be able to borrow against your SRA accumulation before you retire.*

All this, plus the top investment management that has helped make TIAA-CREF the largest retirement system in the country. So start dreaming and planning for the time of your life. Because the sooner you start your SRA, the greater your savings and your retirement will be.

START PLANNING FOR THE

TIME OF YOUR LIFE, TODAY. For your free TIAA-CREF Supplemental Retirement Annuity Kit, send this coupon TIAA-CREF, Dept. QC, 730 Third Aver New York, NY 10017. Or call 1 800 842-2733, Ext. 8016

Institution (Full name) Daytime Phone ()

TIAA-CREF Participant D Yer D No tution's plan and the state you live in. CREF annuities are ding charges and expenses, call 1 800 842-2733, Eat 5509 for are distributed by TIAA-CREF Individual & Institutional Services. I

Lobby day sends messages

Classified Senate representatives take concern over salaries to Topeka

CHRISTINA CARBAJAL

The Classified Senate discussed forts and the addition of K-State- to their issues Salina campus's classified employees at their monthly meeting Wednes-

Eight classified senators took a day of annual leave Tuesday to travel know that we're all pulling double to Topeka to discuss such issues as a duty. There are more students here 2.5-percent step increase and a lon- than ever before that need our sergevity bonus, said Deb McClain- vices, and we need an increase to Williams, president of Classified maintain the University," she said.

McClain-Williams said they were fairly pleased with the results of their first lobbying effort. She said they the results of Topeka lobbying ef- found most legislators sympathetic

> About 250 letters from K-State classified employees were sent with the senators, McClain-Williams said.

We wanted the legislators to enough, and we were there to put us said. a little higher up.'

Dorothy Doan, a member of Classified Senate, also went to Topeka. She said expressing their concerns would be the only way to make Both McClain-Williams and Doan agreed the classified employees would probably receive the 2.5percent step increase, but the longevity bonus was questionable. The legislators said that all funding would likely be addressed toward the end of ries up with the cost of living. We on funding.

"We've been on low priority long don't want any jobs to be cut," Doan

Also discussed during the meeting was the addition of 30 classified employees from K-State-Salina.

"We want to offer assistance and be able to tell them about what is going on, to let them have a voice," said Stephanie Harvey, vice-president of Classified Senate.

McClain-Williams said there will be a contact that will represent the Salina classified employees.

The Classified Senate encourages employees to write or contact their representatives to keep their needs in We're just trying to keep sala- focus when the time comes to decide

Legislators to discuss K-State financing

Student Senate

The Manhattan legislative delega-Senate during their Thursday night hattan and Sheila Hochhauser, D- are concerned," she said. Manhattan, will discuss legislative p.m. in the K-State Union Big Eight student organizations to apply for funds to address.

Student Body President Jackie ward to talking with the lawmakers.

Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan, this visit is the fact that they conand Reps. Kent Glasscock, R-Man- tacted us first. It shows me that they funds from a viewpoint-neutral Sen-

Craig Raborn, arts and sciences

"Myself and all the other people who wrote this bill did so with the intention that it will pass, and after hearing the discussions about this issue, I believe it will pass," he said.

The bill would allow any student organization - regardless of political, religious, moral or ethical views to apply for student activities

Another issue deals with the final vote on a fee increase for the K-State Union of $5 for full-time students, $2.50 for part-time students and 40 cents for summer students.

The last of the five-minute presentations by organizations to acquire Student Governing Association funds will also be heard at tonight's meeting.

Senate allocations will begin March 19 to determine the amounts the organizations will receive.

VICKY SAENZ

Lafene Health Center is still going through board procedures to enable it to offer the Norplant contraceptive.

Contraceptive

lasts 5 years, uses

Lafene working toward offering

Norplant System

The Norplant System is a reversible, five-year, low-dose, progestogen-only contraceptive. While it propatient decides she does not want to nitely one of them," Davis said. use it anymore.

policy to perform it has not yet been taken," said Kris Neuhause, student perienced side effects. health physician at Lafene.

when things are done, but I guess so a decision has still not been reached," she said.

Lafene is also working on the price. They may charge between $500 and $600, although the decision is still not final, Neuhause said.

"There are certain types of insurance policies that will cover it as medication, and the student would only have to pay about $100 for the insertion. This would be really affordable," she said.

Although this contraceptive is relatively new to the United States, it has undergone many years of research and testing, and it has proved to be the second safest contraceptive method after male sterilization.

Norplant consists of six thin capsules made of soft, flexible material. This type of material has been safely used in other medical applications for over 40 years.

The tubes are placed in a fan-like pattern just under the skin on the inside surface of the upper arm through a small incision using a local anes-

"The procedure is very simple, and it only takes about 15 minutes. The capsules are placed in the lowest layer of the skin. There's no involvement of muscles, bones or nerves - only the skin nerves," said Paula Davis, student health physician at Lafene.

There are two doctors at Lafene who have been trained to do the oplow dose of hormone eration: Carol Diamond and Norplant has been widely accepted all over the country, and although it has some inconveniences, women are willing to try it.

Last fall Lafene ordered two packets of Norplant, and the implants took two months to arrive because of the high demand, Neuhause said.

We want to offer the students as vides five years of continuous birth many choices as they can (have) for a control, it is completely reversible if a contraceptive, and Norplant is defi-

According to a survey at the Fam-The idea to perform this service ily Planning Clinic at San Francisco has been in since last fall, but the General Hospital, satisfaction was very high, although some women ex-

"One of the most common side "There's a committee that decides effects of this contraceptive is irregular bleeding patterns. The person can there are other things in the works too, have spotting or bleeding between periods, and sometimes she won't get her period at all. For students, this is not a good factor," Davis said.

As with any birth control, Norplant will not be the right choice for everyone who wants to use it, but it is always an option, she said.

'Most women who are unable to take the pill or who cannot take regular contraceptives are eligible to use Norplant," Neuhause said.

Before the operation is performed, the student has to go to the Women's Clinic. Potential recipients are given literature about the Norplant System. They are shown a movie describing the procedures and a pregnancy test is performed to make sure everything is all right, Davis said.

"There have been no pregnancies recorded while the person has been on Norplant, but there have been reports on women who have had an early pregnancy right before getting Norplant. This is why one of the requirements is to get a negative pregnancy test before," Neuhause said.

Hopefully the procedures will finish soon, and we will be able to offer this service to all interested students as soon as possible, Neuhause said.

to hear issues from local representatives

JOHN SHARTZER

BRYAN LARSON

issues affecting K-State students at 7 ing of a bill that would allow all

Despite being in the midst of a

In fact, local travel agents and stu-

"The number of travelers is sigdents say it is as popular as ever to nificantly higher than last year," said

Travel in Manhattan. "Last year was a down year because of the war, but we are even ahead of two years ago.

We are definitely noticing increased numbers for this year's spring break."

tor for International Tours of Manhat-

Debbie Edwards, marketing direc-

David Garvin, owner of Creative take a vacation over spring break.

recession, the number of students taking off for spring break has not de-

The legislators will discuss the position of higher education and K-State financing. They will also listen senator, said Senate has been disto any additional issues Senate wishes cussing this issue all semester.

tion to Topeka will address Student McClaskey said she is looking for-What really excites me about tan, agreed that the recession is having no effect on spring break travel.

travelers is about the same, possibly a little higher," she said. "I think it's a given that college kids will travel on spring break. They need to get away and vent the year's frustrations. As long as they have a little money and

As far as some students are con-

"I probably should not be spending the money, but I would really like to get away," said Doran Farnum.

junior in journalism and mass communications. "There are only so many opportunities to do something like the desire to go, they will go."

cerned, money is not an issue.

spring break."

Adit Up! in the COLLEGIAN

SOFTBALL AND INDIVIDUAL

SPORTS

INTRAMURAL ENTRY DEADLINE

TODAY!

5 p.m. at the

Rec Complex

"I would say that the number of

Senate will also hear the first read-

Students prepare to vacate for vacation Farnum said he is traveling to South cruises and even some going to Eu-> popular spring break retreat. "For me, the money is going to be my tax refund," said Chris Turner, sophomore in sociology. Turner said he is traveling to Colorado to ski.

> Padre Island in Texas, a perennially

Edwards said students usually spend between $200 and $400. "But that is only for travel and lodging expenses," she said. Destinations seem to remain the same year to year, but there are alternate places to go.

"Of course Padre is always popular and Daytona. But there is no typical trip," Garvin said. "I have people going to Hawaii, people going on

Edwards agreed and said there are good deals for trips to Jamaica, and several people are taking advantage

Garvin said spring is becoming more popular as a traveling season.

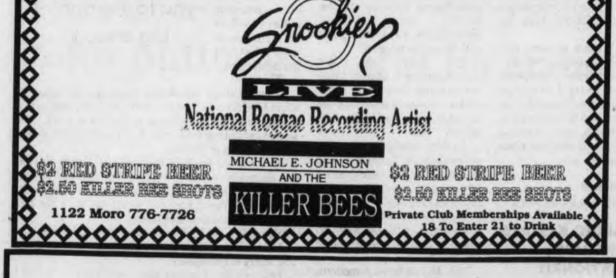

"If you talk to resorts and look at some of the packages, the spring season is a very attractive time to travel," he said. "Right now, Christmas is the time of year when the largest amount of people travel, but spring is getting bigger. Christmas is the time to see relatives, and the spring season is the time to take an actual vacation."

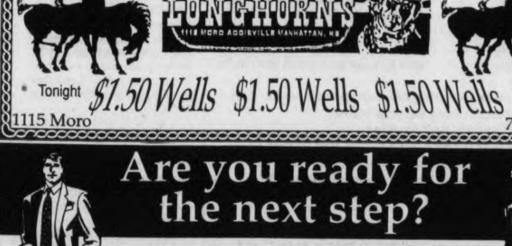

Accounting Club

Field trip to Deloitte & Touche manufacturing client on April 14th.

Student/Faculty Mixer at Aggieville Pizza Hut on March 30th at 6:00 p.m.

Sign up for either, or both events on Shannon Fisher's door in Calvin Student Lounge by March 20th

Executive Positions Available Your success in the future is determined by your actions right now. If you've had experience related to yearbooks or newspapers or feel your managerial skills are strong, there's no better way to prepare yourself for the future than by holding an executive position at Student Publications

Applications are now available in Kedzie 103 for 1993 Royal Purple editor and summer and fall 1992 Collegian editor and advertising manager. These positions are perfect for gaining real-world experience during your collegiate career. Don't delay. Submit your application today for success tomorrow.

5 p.m. Wed., April 1 for summer Collegian positions and RP editor

5 p.m. Wed., April 8 for fall Collegian positions

4:30-7 p.m. Mon., April 6 for summer Collegian positions and RP editor 4-7 p.m. Wed., April 15 for fall Collegian positions.

EDITORIALS

Free speech must include hate speech

This editorial contains language some readers may find inappropriate.

K-State's administrators have "informally discussed" the idea of a "hate-speech" code. We would ask that they stop before they get too far down the tracks on that train of thought.

A hate-speech code, as coined at Stanford University, states that certain things cannot be said and will not be folerated there.

Stanford's code states, "Speech or any other expression that constitutes harassment by personal vilification if it: a) is intended to insult or stigmatize an individual or a small number of individuals on the basis of their sex, race, color, handicap, religion, sexual orientation, national and ethnic origin, and b) is addressed directly to the individual or individuals whom it insults or stigmatizes, and c) makes use of insulting or fighting words or non-verbal symbols."

That's all good and fine and has great intentions for the minority and majority sectors alike, but it is also unconstitutional.

Here's a little refresher for all those fascist hippies out there. The First Amendment reads, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

While Americans are exposed every day to the racist talk from the likes of Axl Rose, Ice Cube, David Duke, Louis Farrakhan, George Bush, Pat Buchanan and a host of others, that speech is protected. If some ignoramus wants to sit on the steps of Anderson Hall and call various ethnic groups a variety of offensive names, then that's all right. Saying those things might be wrong, but it is not, and should not be, against the

The University's role is not to prohibit those words from being said and bring lawsuits against those who say them. The University's role is to be smart enough to educate, repeat "educate," people so they will know better than to say those things

Some administrators and directors on this very campus have said as recent as this past summer that K-State has to take another look at whether one person's right to express themselves outweighs another person's right to be in the classroom. We would have to say it does.

Political correctness and hate-speech codes belong in other countries, not America, and they definitely have no place at K-State. K-State has a harassment code in place that should take care of all harassment incidents.

The University has no need and no place to tell students, faculty, administrators and staff what to think and how to act. That's what our forefathers cast aside more than 200 years ago, and we need to keep America better than the places from whence we came.

Names of accusers should be published by the media

The face of Sen. Brock Adams, D-Wash., was on the front page of nearly every area paper Tuesday.

Why? Because he allegedly raped and harassed several

The women's faces, however, aren't in the paper. We don't even know their names.

Many people argue points well-taken that publishing the name and face of a rape victim endangers the safety of the victim. Women are treated differently by others after they accuse men of rape, they say.

But how much worse can a woman be treated than to be raped?

Last year, more than 100,000 women were raped. That figure is up 8.1 percent from the year before.

The current system isn't working.

As painful as it is going to be for the first women to do so, the accusers' names should be published as well.

Why? Because rape trials have been cheapened to supermarket tabloids, cable TV channels and made-fortelevision movies.

And the "mystery girl" approach is only feeding the fire. In addition, the stigma attached to rape is as tired and worn as the old "she was asking for it" defense. The only way to rid rape of that frame of reference is to treat the crime in a straightforward and responsible manner like any other.

Yes, rape is emotional.

Yes, it's ugly.

But to release names will be an advancement for all women in the end.

Victims should make a public stand and say "I am a victim. I am not ashamed, and I will fight for my rights."

The accused will no longer be able to argue they are being treated as guilty until proven innocent.

And once the crime is treated as a crime, not only will more victims be brave enough to report it, but they will be treated with respect once they take the stand.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103,

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom,

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Dear Mr. President, Part II

Dear Mr. President,

Sorry to bother you again, sir. I know you are very busy running around all over the country trying to get re-elected. I would sure hate to have a job like that - work three years and then spend a whole year getting paid to make sure I get paid for another four years. All those parties and fancy dinners and luncheons and speeches and such must really be quite a

Actually, sir, the reason I am writing is to pass on a bit of good news. No sir, it is not about the economy, Pat Buchanan, the Japanese or Dan Quayle. Actually, it is about your place of residence down in Houston, you know, the Hotel Houstonian, suite 271. You remember ... that cute tax gimmick you came up with to avoid paying state income tax last

Well, as you already know, it is impossible to keep a good thing secret for very long. Garry Trudeau even made a cartoon out of your neat idea. The comptroller of the Great State of Texas has reported that, as of last week, more than 45,000 out-of-state people had sent in Trudeau's cartoon application for Texas citizenship. You should be very proud, Mr. President. Your domestic leadership is an inspiration to all Americans.

Of course, I realize this tax issue and residency status thing has become a burdensome problem for you. Well, sir, I am here to tell you your worries are over.

As of this week, the Hotel Houstonian is filing for reorganization under the Chapter 11 bankruptcy code. It won't have quite the same consequences for the hotel as did bankruptcy for that S&L your son helped mismanage out in Colorado. Why, shoot ... you might even get your old room back. I think it is my duty to warn you, however, that you may want to look elsewhere. Even the slightest association with the dreaded "B" word could be very damaging to your shining presidential image as well as your re-election prospects.

I know it may not sound like good news at first since it is going to force you to find another official place of residency, but, the way I figure it, you could mix this unfortunate incident in with the "no taxes" fib you made not long ago and come out smelling like a yellow rose of Texas.

BRAD SEABOURN

Just come right out and say it was all a situation of "mistaken accent." Any God-fearing, red-blooded Texican will tell you that when an ombre from the Lone Star state says "Takesass," he means "Texas," and when he says "taksiss," he means "taxes." Then at the next news conference, in your best Texas drawl, tell the media you said "no Takesass" meaning, if they can't pay taxes down there in Texas like everybody else, then it is "Adios Amigos. Guaranteed to confuse the heck out of them.

I know, I know. It sounds a little flaky at first, but if you could just turn up your Texas accent a little bit and follow along with me, I'll give you an example of how it might work. Presidential news conference:

"Mr. President. About taxes - will there be or not?"

Why, son ... there'll always be a Takesass.

"No sir, I mean TAXES ... will there be any new TAXES?"

Son, you know there's no taksiss in Takesass. So how could there be any new ones? That's why Takesass is such a great state — they got no taksiss. But the rest of us will have to pay. Taksiss I mean.

"Mr. President, I don't think you understand what I am asking. So, let me approach it from a different angle. Forget about the Great State of 'Taksiss' and just tell me if you are going to raise our

'takesass?'" Yes, in all honesty, I am.

But son, let's first get one thing clear - that's "Takesass," ... with an "ass."

If you will say that, Mr. President, everything will be forgiven.

Brad Seabourn

LETTERS

MAN INVITATION TO COMMENCE WAR ON RACISM

Editor,

I'm writing this letter as an invitation to the students of K-State and the residents of Manhattan to begin an active war on racism. Now, many of you reading this letter may be thinking discussing racism is in reality this horse is alive and kicking.

I feel it is time, especially in light of David Duke's campaign for the presidency, for people to actively begin combating racism. The key word here is "actively." You would be surprised at the amount of people who will accept racism on certain levels and at how many people you know who still hold on to some racist point of views.

When I talk about fighting racism, I don't just mean the traditional sense of racism, which for many years has been white prejudices against African-Americans. When I talk about racism, I mean acts that are committed against white, black, Hispanic, Native-American, Asian, Arabic or other races because of their ethnicity. I think in this time of celebration of Black History Month we should take a moment and remember the words of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., who said during his battle against the injustice of racism, "Love must be our regulating ideal." Although these words may not be as famous as others, I believe they are the key, not only to racial harmony, but to harmony in general. I guess maybe people hate other people for reasons such as skin color because they have little love for themselves, much less love or compassion for their fellow man or woman. It may seem to some that racism is something we will just have to learn to live with. However, today I challenge like beating a dead horse, but you to refuse to live with it, to confront it and to overcome it. One person can make a difference, and the best place to start is with you.

> Laura Howell Sophomore in social work

SHARING K-STATE MAINFRAME QUESTIONED

Editor,

The idea of K-State and KU sharing a mainframe is an interesting one. There are a few questions we have about putting this into practice.

1) If anything goes wrong with the mainframe, won't KU and K-State both be

2) Each command will take a long time to run. Won't this make the wait longer for enrollment? 3) How will both universities benefit? We've been told that we will benefit, but never how. Let's see a list of the benefits.

4) What will happen in a few years, when KU's mainframe can't handle the enrollment increase in both universities?

5) Is our College of Senior in math Engineering, which is very e electrical engineering dependent on the mainframe, going to suffer?

6) We are still paying for a system now three years old. If we are hooked up to KU's mainframe, will we still be paying for K-State's mainframe, even though it will no longer be used? Why are complaining about our mainframe being too slow when it was known to be software problems in the first place?

8) Why would KU have the mainframe if K-State is the college with the most engineering advanced facilities, anyway? 9) If we need technical assistance, will we have to make a long-distance phone call to KU?

10) If you have a modem, will you have to call KU long distance just to log on?

11) Why wasn't the Computing and Network Services staff informed when considering this? 12) When would this be put into effect if approved? 13) Would we be using the same operating systems that we do now?

14) Is KU having trouble paying off their mainframe? We, as well as the rest of the campus, would like to find

Angie Lambley Sophomore in microbiology

David Nofsinger Junior in marketing

Geoff Warren

Keep Your Orange Sherbet Sweet

was in first grade when I lived in Chicago.

I walked eight city blocks to my school every morning and eight back home again every afternoon. It was a long walk, but then - that's how it has always been. I was your classic latchkey kid. I let myself into an empty apartment until I was in junior high. Of course, the place I let myself into changed along the

My mom liked to move. She got bored very easily, she said. Bored with places, bored with people. I'd get settled into another school, and then it was time to go again. Sometimes it's hard to recall each of them, but for some reason I have this need to remember it all. Remembering where I was for which grade. Which school goes with which state and which city.

Which memory goes where. My mom can't understand why I want, much less need, to remember "all that stuff. To her, it's part of a past she'd rather forget. But it was my childhood. No matter how disjointed, no matter how scattered, it's still mine. And because of that, it's very important for me to remember it all.

I looked back from atop the vantage point of my 17th birthday and my high-school graduation to count 21 different addresses and 11 different schools. Three first grades in Illinois ... second grade in Minnesota ... third grade in Illinois ... two fourth grades in Kansas ... fifth grade ... sixth grade in Pennsylvania, etc. A little different from the Beav',

But back to Chicago.

The summer before my first first grade started is still clear. We lived on the top floor of a four-story red brick apartment building that stood on a street corner.

There was young woman who lived on the first floor. With the mind as shrewd as any 7-yearold, I decided she was a lady I didn't want to even look at. She scared me because she never smiled. Her eyes looked hard. Her mouth often twitched. I recognize that hardness as resentment now. I realize that is the look of someone bitter and disillusioned with what life has dealt them.

Vom had never hid from me the fact that life could "sting something terrible." And I knew the bruises could damage you to the bone if big enough.

I hat summer introduced me to my first taste of what I believe is "fate." One evening my mom, stepfather and I decided to go for a walk. We wound up getting ice cream. I can recall, even today, that I had orange sherbet. We walked back as the sun was setting to find the apartment building on fire. The fire had started on the first floor in the scary woman's apartment. Her ex-boyfriend had delivered his love for her wrapped in kerosene and flame. She didn't get hurt, but I never saw her again.

I did see that look again. Those hard, bitter eyes. The steely set of a jaw.

Features that I looked upon with puzzlement as I got older. I understood the pain.

Mom had never hid from me the fact that life could "sting something terrible." And I knew the bruises could damage you to the bone if big enough. But it was the life missing from these people that concerned me. Their bitterness had consumed them until there was no more room for pleasure.

Their resentment had devoured their capacity for They had died a long time before I had ever met them, but their misery had lived on to touch me with its frigid stare. And they terrified me.

People with nothing but hate and anger, as if they couldn't recover from their hurts, as if they weren't

And I was terrified because I didn't want to get too close - for fear it would be catching - for fear I would lose my own strength and the life within me. I want to look back again someday, from atop the vantage point of a long and full life. I want to look back and laugh with my husband Todd and say to him, "It was a long walk, lover, but then - that's how it has always been."

SCOLLEGIAN

THURSDAY, MARCH 5, 1992

BIG 8 MEN'S STANDINGS LEAGUE OVERALL 10-3 20-6 8-5 Oklahoma State 7-6 23-6 Nebraska 7-6 19-7 Oklahoma 7-6 19-7 Iowa State 19-10 K-STATE 15-11 12-14

Hot-shooting Huskers pound Cats; KU loses Foul trouble leads Altman said. "John broke open a they took open shots. They just killed and die on the outside, play poor to problems inside for 6th-place team

CATS BASKETBALL

PATRICK OBLEY

Collegian

LINCOLN, Neb. - Dana Altman had just stepped out of the Cats' locker room after K-State's road game at Nebraska when an autograph seeker asked, "Are you the Kansas State Wildcats' coach?"

"Sometimes," Altman replied. For all the progress that had been made in the past four ballgames, K-State took a big step backward against Nebraska Wednesday night.

Shooting just 38.3 percent and suffering from foul trouble and butterfingers, the Cats got shelled 91-62 by the torrid-shooting Huskers.

At first, it looked as if the Cats were going to pick up where they had left off from the win over Missouri, taking a 16-14 advantage on a Ski Jones stickback of a missed shot.

Then, the bottom dropped out. The Huskers, 19-7 and 7-6 in Big Eight play, scored the next 22 points over a seven-minute span to take a commanding 36-16 lead.

Altman cited the disappearance of center Wylie Howard due to foul trouble as a major reason for the scor-

Wylie was out with foul trouble and John (Rettiger) was in there," couple of times, and we didn't hit him, and then he stopped moving."

Cats point guard Marcus Zeigler

'We lived and died by the jumpers," Zeigler said. "We weren't using our inside game to counter our outside game.

With Howard out, the Huskers pounded away at the Cats' soft underbelly, banging in several shots off the glass, which in effect opened up the Huskers perimeter shooting.

'Wylie's foul trouble took away the inside threat for us, and that hurt us," Altman said. "Their size was a problem for us anyway, and that only compounded the problem.

"We definitely weren't pleased with our defensive effort, but they had a lot to do with that."

When the second half opened, Jones promptly dropped a trey to edge the Cats to within 16, 43-27. However, the Huskers answered with a Chris Cresswell trey 15 seconds later.

From there, it only got worse. The Huskers hit seven of their first 10 shots in the second half, while the Cats flailed aimlessly away, missing 10 straight shots during one span. Nebraska burned off an 18-1 run over a five-minute span of K-State Howard said.

futility to seal the win. "It was embarrassing," said a frus- came to the players' minds. trated Rettiger. "We didn't even contest their shots. Inside and outside, us. This loss just messes up everything we've worked for."

For the game, the Huskers downed a school-record 11 3-pointers, dished out a season-high 27 assists, scored 36 points off the bench and got a bucket from every player except one.

Eric Piatkowski and Carl Hayes led six Huskers in double figures with 14 points each. Nebraska's 54.8 percent shooting was its third-best performance of the year.

"I'm just really proud of the total game," said NU coach Danny Nee. "I thought we just really put it together. I thought it started with the seniors they were really ready to play and just did an excellent job.

The big win was nice because we got all those other kids into the game. It was a perfect finish. It was more than adequate, we didn't need that

Howard was blunt in his assessment of what happened. We got our asses whupped," he

Howard didn't foul out, but was limited to just 14 minutes of floor

'We just didn't come to play. We didn't want it as bad as they did,"

Inevitably, past blowout losses

"In the last blowouts, it was just the same thing," Zeigler said. "Live defense, all the same."

We got the wrong idea in our minds," Rettiger said. "We just thought all we had to do was show up and we would keep playing the way we have been.

"This loss is more embarrassing than any of the other losses," Rettiger continued. "This one's worse because there was no reason for it.

Rettiger ended the Cats' first-half drought with an eight-point outburst that included back-to-back dunks. He finished with 12 points. Jones led the Cats with a game-high 15 points, while Brian Henson and Vincent Jackson added 11 and 10 respectively.

"This loss is more embarrassing than Lamar," Rettiger said, referring to the Dec. 21 loss. "In that loss, and those other blowouts, we were at a stage where we just couldn't do any

"We thought we were out of that stage after playing so well lately. To go back to that level is more embarrassing than anything that has happened to us this year. Hopefully, Rettiger said, the defeat has given the Cats the resolve to finish the rest of the season. "We found out that we can't just come in and look pretty and think we can win the game," he said. K-State, 15-11 and 5-8, fell into a tie for sixth place in the Big Eight with the loss.

Cyclones rebound to beat Big 8 champs ASSOCIATED PRESS

AMES, Iowa - Iowa State returned from the dead Wednesday

Saddled with four straight losses and seven in their last nine games, the Cyclones rebounded to beat No. 3 Kansas 70-66.

Iowa State (19-10 overall, 5-8 Big Eight) blew an 11-point lead in the second half, but recovered in time to keep its NCAA tournament hopes

"We beat a great team, a team I think you'll see in the Final Four," Iowa State coach Johnny Orr said. "I'm happy as the dickens for our kids because everybody was counting us out and kind of wrote us off. So it was great to see us come back and win this

Orr benched three starters in an effort to shake his team out of its doldrums, but ended up going with his usual lineup most of the time.

Julius Michalik, a starter who kept his job, led the way with 17 points, including two key baskets in the final minute, Fred Hoiberg, one of the starters who was benched, added 13 points and Howard Eaton had 12.

"We played for our lives and for the season," Hoiberg said. of 48 games in double Kansas (22-4, 10-3) clinched the was averaging 16.6.

Tarkanian coaches

final game at UNLV

NCAA BASKETBALL

ASSOCIATED PRESS

didn't have a basketball team.

College basketball's renegade tu-sidelined by his own school adminis-fers, saying he preferred the college with rumors flying about his future.

ing a couple of pro coaching opportunities. Los Angeles radio station

KUHL reported Tuesday that Tarkanian would be taking over as coach of the San Antonio Spurs. But

Spurs president Gary Woods denied the report, saying there had been no

It's known he'd like to coach at San Diego State, where his longtime friend Fred Miller is athletic director.

Tarkanian and his wife, Lois, have a condominium in San Diego and consider it a second home. But a 20-year battle with the NCAA, his current lawsuit against the agency and adverse publicity on his UNLV program may hamper his chances for the future of the Rebel basketball pro-

For more than half of his 61 years,

And his record - 212-26 in seven years of junior college and 624-122 in

He was college basketball's

He demanded total commitment

24 years of major college ball - winningest, and possibly most con-from his assistant coaches, often remarking he would not hire an assistant who played golf. He wanted clones, assistants whose total focus

His players were intensely loyal.

Former Rebels Armon Gilliam and gram — in legal limbo.

attests to his tenacity.

troversial, coach.

was on basketball.

by coaching.

contact with Tarkanian.

Now he's officially unemployed,

Those close to him say he's weigh-

Talk about ironies.

years of his life behind.

nightmare.

tration.

ranks.

Big Eight championship outright despite the loss because second-place Missouri lost to Oklahoma. It's the 40th league title for the Jayhawks, who have a two-game lead with one game to play.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Still, Kansas coach Roy Williams was disappointed - mostly in himself. Kansas had beaten Iowa State 91-60 in Lawrence three weeks ear-

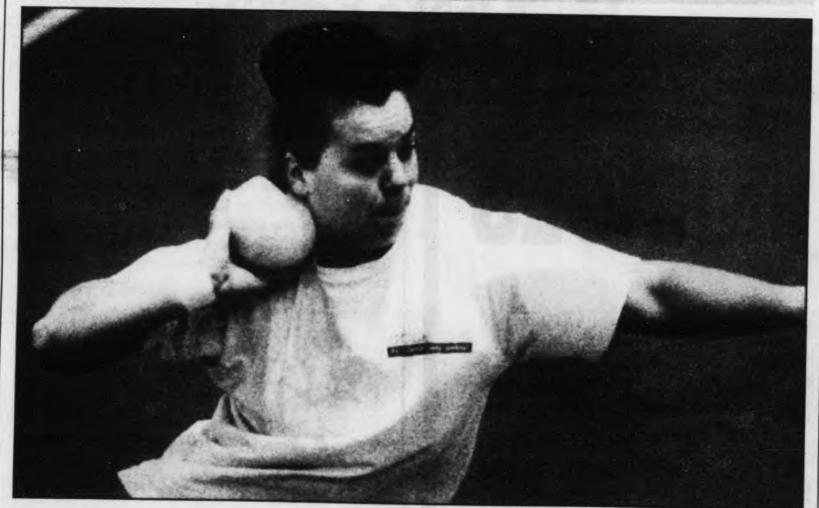

"I don't think I've ever done such a poor job of getting a team ready to play a game," Williams said. "They outran us up and down the floor. They even had their bigger lineup in to start and they still outran us."

Iowa State had not won since beating then-No. 2 Oklahoma State on Feb. 15. The Cyclones overcame 42 percent shooting — their poorest this season in a victory - by getting 15 offensive rebounds and making 14 steals. Kansas finished with 24 turnovers and made only four of 11 free

"The good thing we did was we pushed the ball up the floor," Orr said. "When we do that, we're a much better team. When we come up there cautiously, we have difficulty.

Alonzo Jamison and Adonis Jordan led Kansas with 12 points. Iowa State held Rex Walters to a seasonlow eight points, snapping his streak of 48 games in double figures. Walters

INDOOR TRACK

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian Christy Ward works on fine-tuning her throw Tuesday in Ahearn Field House in preparation for the NCAA Track and Field Indoor Championships March 13-14 in Indianapolis, Ind. The transfer from UCLA is ranked ninth in the nation heading into the NCAA meet.

Shot putter prepares for national meet

FRANK KLEEMANN

If she were still at UCLA, Christy Ward might have been basking in the sun of a Southern California beach instead of sweating in the 80-degrees plus Aheam Field House gym Monday.

But now the shot putter is at K-State and is practicing to compete at the NCAA Indoor Track and Field L.A. Championships March 13 and 14 in Indianapolis, Ind.

Ward's current best effort has her among the 12 finalists in the shot put, though she is admittedly "on the bubble" in the ninth position.

That she's all but on her way to with the fact that she's in Manhattan knew (K-State assistant coach) Jesse the Big Eight Indoor Championships now rather than Los Angeles, she

"The environment in Manhattan is better. I mean, there's not a lot do here," Ward said. "You can keep your mind focused a lot better. I think my focus on shot put is better here than it was in Los Angeles. There are a lot of distractions in Ward, a junior from Portland, Ore., transferred to K-State last summer after having some trouble with her coach at UCLA, Art Venetes.

"It wasn't working out that well anymore. My coach thought I might throw much better somewhere else, Indianapolis may have a lot to do under a new coach," she said. "He Stuart, so I came here."

From that point on, Ward has made steady progress, her new coach

"There are different factors to that, but she seems to be happier here," Stuart said. "Sometimes a change is positive for you. I think it has a lot to do with personality, and maybe the coach-athlete relationship is better here than it was at UCLA. She's more comfortable here.'

At the K-State Open Feb. 22, Ward established personal records on three different throws, including one of 51 feet, 1 1/2 inches. It was her first personal record in four years. With that mark, Ward went into as the conference leader in shot put.

however, Ward finished third with a throw of 48' 7 1/2", only 1 1/4 inches behind winner Stephanie Stean of

"I was disappointed because I knew I could throw better," Ward said. "But hopefully I'll do better in Indianapolis.

the nationals," she said. "Anything better than that would be just great."

Unlike some of her teammates, this will be the first trip for Ward to

It's kind of exciting," she said.

Despite a strong series of throws, another college job. The turmoil that has engulfed Tarkanian since the mid-1970s at Long Beach State isn't likely to go away "I'd like to place in the top six at the national championships. "It's the first time I've qualified.

OBITUARY

Local Negro League baseball great dies

ASSOCIATED PRESS

MANHATTAN - George Giles, an All-Star first baseman in the old Negro Leagues, died Tuesday at 82.

Giles, whose career in the Negro League began in 1925 when he signed on with the Kansas City Monarchs at age 16, died at an area hospital. The cause of death was not immediately

"As a ballplayer, Giles was one of the top three in the Negro League," said Richard Berg, co-founder of the Negro League Baseball Players Association. "He was one of the greatest fielding first basemen."

Giles, who was 6-foot-4 and 200 pounds in his prime, also played first base for such Negro League teams as the St. Louis Stars, Detroit Wolves, Brooklyn Eagles and New York Black Giles had a lifetime batting average of .309 and hit .372 in 1937 for the Black Yankees.

He left the league in 1939 because of racism, Berg said.

"He couldn't take the racism any more," Berg said. "He used to mention that he was tired of going through the back door and tired of abuse."

In an interview with The Manhattan Mercury in 1984, Giles said racism was always present while he was with the league. 'It was just one of those things you learn to accept," he told the Mercury. In 1935, Giles was player manager for the Brooklyn Eagles, and an AllStar in the Negro League, Berg said. "That was a very proud year for him."

After his retirement from the Negro League, Giles returned to his hometown of Manhattan, where he operated a motel and tavern for many

In addition to his wife, Helen, Giles is survived by two sons, two daughters, 12 grandchildren and 24 greatgrandchildren.

Memorial services are scheduled for Friday in Manhattan.

NBA cities last May and waited for LAS VEGAS — Jerry Tarkanian five hours in 100-degree heat to back woke up Wednesday to his worst Tarkanian before the Board of Regents as his resignation was being For the first time in 31 years, he Larry Johnson and Stacey Augmon bypassed multi-million dollar pro contracts to return for their senior tor went as high as the U.S. Supreme year last season, to defend their na-Court to prevent the NCAA from puttional title and out of loyalty to "the man."

ting him out to pasture, only to be Johnson, Augmon and Greg Anthony all wear the same number in the When he took what was likely his NBA that Tarkanian wore in college.

last walk through the tunnel at the The sad-faced coach was at his cavernous Thomas & Mack Center zenith last year when he joined John-- the basketball arena his teams built son, Augmon and Anthony at the NBA he left a chunk of his heart and 19 draft in New York.

Loyalty. Determination. Commit-Tarkanian had often talked of the Rebels being his last coaching job. He They made Tarkanian a winner. routinely passed up lucrative pro of-

And possibly led to his downfall. Tarkanian won permanent residency in the NCAA doghouse two decades ago while at Long Beach, State when he defended a fellow coach who'd come under attack. He wrote newspaper columns charging that the NCAA picked on smaller schools while looking the other way at transgressions by major institutions. The NCAA nailed Long Beach State after Tarkanian moved to UNLV in 1973, and quickly began a probe of the Rebel program. In 1977 the NCAA placed UNLV on two years probation and, in an unprecedented move, ordered Tarkanian suspended for two years. The university served the probation, but Tarkanian continued coaching, battling the NCAA all the way to the Supreme Court.

Most coaches would have taken the lumps, served their punishment and kept their mouths shut. Tarkanian, in retrospect, says he should have. But he didn't.

He continued to hammer at the NCAA, lambasting the agency and its For one thing, he's rescinded the failure to provide due process to those resignation he submitted to UNLV they accuse. officials last June 7 following publi-

The high court ruled 5-4 in 1988 cation of photos showing three former that the NCAA was a private agency players with a convicted sports fixer. and did not have to provide due pro-That move has left his future — and

This year's team, 25-2 going into Tuesday night's finale, was banned from TV and postseason play as a Jerry Tarkanian has been consumed final resolution of the 1977 case.

> Tarkanian was known for gambling with kids other coaches wouldn't touch. Enter Lloyd Daniels, a New York City prep star who was hardly college material. Daniels was recruited to UNLV by Perry, who was known to Tarkanian as Sam Perry, a New York summer league coach.

for the Rebels, is the focus of 29 pending NCAA infraction allegations gainst UNLV drug bust in 1987 and never played

Daniels, who was arrested in a

Tarkanian has said he told his play-Sidney Green returned here from their ers repeatedly to stay away from Perry.

Senate a whirlwind of debate

Mobile home park owners disapprove of mandatory tornado shelter construction

KRISTEN TURNER Collegian

The mobile home industry is fighting a Senate bill requiring mobile home park owners with more than 10 units to provide tornado shelters.

A similar bill is in the House, but it includes a grandfather clause exempting existing trailer parks from installing shelters and has not met with much opposition.

Virginia Stilley, manager of Blue Valley mobile home park, said either bill would not affect the Blue Valley

"We have had our two shelters for years," Stilley said.

William Carson, local mobile home dealer and park owner, said he supports the House bill requiring all new mobile home parks built to include storm shelters, but he does not agree with the Senate bill requiring all mobile home parks to install storm shel-

"Its an unfair burden to small park operators, and it will most likely put them out of business," Carson said.

Carson said the bills are singling out the mobile home industry.

be more far reaching than the mobile home industry. Apartment and slab house dwellers should also be considered," Carson said.

A slab house is a house built on a slab of cement with no basement.

If a tornado hits an apartment or slab house straight on, the same damage can result as when a properly installed mobile home is hit, Carson

"Only 40 percent of the manufactured homes go into mobile home parks, the rest go onto private sites,' Carson said, "therefore, the proposed bills would only solve part of the problem."

"The issue of safety shelters should area built recently have storm shel-

"Some older parks and those small parks with under 50 lots probably do not," he said.

Carson is a member of the Kansas Manufactured Housing Association, and he said KMHA is also supporting the House bill.

"We think it's a good idea," Carson

However, Carson said, during tornado warnings very few people would come out to the storm shelter anyway.

"People see so many warnings that they begin to ignore them, and their Carson said all of the parks in the awareness level drops," Carson said.

senior in electrical engineering and Open House students can see a working station in which they can talk to people around the world.

Smith said during All-University club president.

ATTRACTIONS FEMALE STRIPPERS

> Wed. through Thurs. 6 till 9 p.m.

COONEY Playing Friday, March 6

TYRON HOLMES

BLUE RIVER PUB North on Tuttle Creek Blvd.

(expires 3/31)

1129 Moro • 537-1332

IMPRESSIONS

Hair Design & Body Toning

Spring Break Special

FREE tanning session with haircut

537-9877

ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS: Need help seeking employment in the Architectural profession? My Kansas City firm has an option for you. If you are interested in attending a career counseling seminar, write Teri B. Price, TBP Architectural Services, Inc. 5613 Nall Ave. Roeland Park, KS 66202 or call (913) 384-6929.

ATTENTIONI ATTENTIONIII Due to Spring Break the Deadline for placing Classi-fied Ads is Noon Friday, March 6 for the Monday, March 16 Collegian.

COMING

CASH FOR Collegel Don't miss your oppor-tunity for the scholarships/ financial aid you are qualified for Call or write for in-formation on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, La-wrence, KS 86044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

CUB SCOUT Biscuit and Gravy Feed, Sat-urday, March 7, 1992 7a.m. - 1p.m. First Christian Church 115 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan. Adults- $2, children - $1. (continued on page 7)

WHEN ONLY THE BEST DENTISTRY WILL DO ...

PERSONALIZED

PROFESSIONAL

PRACTICAL

PROMPT

Now Serving the State of Kansas Traditional-Prudential Dental Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient. Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A. 514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA DOWNIOWN, MANHATTAN

537-9414

Radio club will attempt contact with shuttle

Transmission to be conducted from atop Seaton Hall

KEITH LEFF

K-State's Amateur Radio Club will be attempting to contact the space shuttle next time it orbits the earth, tentatively scheduled for the end of Allen Kisler, senior in sociology and member of the club, said the shuttle will implement the Shuttle Amateur Radio Experiment, known as SARAX. When the shuttle is in flight people all around the world will try to contact the shuttle through the experiment.

This is the first time SARAX will be used, he said.

Kisler said amateur radio operators will send their messages via coordinated universal time. This will help eliminate confusion as to what time zone the shuttle will be in at certain times, he said.

The message will include such things as where the message will originate from, the signal strength used to communicate the message, the senders name, the type of radio and antenna being used and the time the message is sent, Kisler said.

He said the club will broadcast its message from the top of Seaton Hall

Oklahoma State

Saturday, March 7,

1 p.m.

Sponsored by Arby's

Business to business. Person to person.

The Okidata' OL400.

PC Magazine' Editors' Choice.

MARCH SPECIAL FOR STUDENTS AND STAFF (I.D. Required)

Bramlage ticket office - 532-7606

with a high frequency ICOM radio, which has between 144 and 148 megahertz of power.

In order to try and communicate with the shuttle, Kisler said the club must have the proper equipment and a license from the Federal Communications Commission stating it has a right to do so.

He said there will be a lot of people trying to make contact with the shuttle, which will cause a lot of mixed signals. Whoever has the strongest signal at a particular time will be the one to get through to the astronauts, Kisler

After an attempt is successfully made to the shuttle, Kisler said NASA will send the sender of the message a type of postcard verifying the message has been received. He said NASA also receives a similar type of card from the sender verifying the contact.

We are doing this to see if we can establish communications with the shuttle, and just to say we did it," Kisler said.

He said the attempt at communication could be made easier by obtaining a tracking system telling the location of the shuttle at any given time.

Kisler said the system could also tell the degrees off the horizon the antenna elevation should be to establish contact, the number of times the shuttle orbits the Earth and the next time the shuttle will be over the United

He said the system could also help for safety reasons," said Jeff Smith, by giving the club the time allotted to talk with the shuttle.

Kisler said the Manhattan Amateur Radio Society will be helping out the K-State club during the attempt to establish contact. "People will be set up for the twoway communication with the shuttle all around the world," said Norman Dillman, professor of electrical engineering and president of MARS.

Dillman said the message they send will be brief. The astronauts in the shuttle use a lengthier two-way communications to reach their families while in orbit, he said.

Kisler said once a year the two organizations get together for purposes of worldwide communications for health, emergency, safety and

He said, for example, during Hurricane Hugo virtually all communication in the area of the hurricane was halted. Kisler said about the only form of communication available was short-wave amateur radio.

The campus club also performs tornado and thunderstorm tracking

RAY-BAN OAKLEY I-SKI VUARNET STYLE EYES

214 MORO ST. - AGGIEVILLE

OPEN Mon-Th 10-8 Fri-Sat 10-6 Sunday 1-5

TONIGHT!

Bud $175 Pitchers Bud Lt.

Coors Lt. Miller Lt.

FRIDAY

Free Dogs 4-6 & Volleyball

Mere Mortals 10 p.m. Shot Chair

SATURDAY

Cats Game on Big Screen at 1 p.m. The Millions 10 p.m.

(Rolling Stone's best new Midwest band) Shot Chair 19 to enter 1120 Moro

LIVE Millhous Nixons

Shot Chair

$1 Cans Bud & Bud Light

WALT DISNEY WORLD COLLEGE PROGRAM

Walt Disney World Co. representatives will present an information session on the Walt Disney World College Program on Tuesday, March 17, 7:00 pm, in Justin Hall. Attendance at this presentation is required to interview for the SUMMER/FALL '92 COLLEGE PROGRAM. Interviews will be held following the presentation. The following majors are encouraged to attend: SUMMER-Business, Communications, Recreation, Theatre/Drama and Hospitality. FALL—all

ASK FOR E CARD THAT'S YOUR LICENSE

Join the Sub Club! For all of March, we'll DOUBLE Stamp your card for every SUPER Sub you buy! When your card is full, we'll give you a free footlong of your choice! Free for the asking at either SUBWAY in Manhattan.

620 N. Manhattan In Aggieville 537-8700

Manhattan Town Center Picnic Place 537-3311

$689°°

Industry's best warranty: 5

vears on printhead, I year

• PC Magazine Editors' Choice -

4 ppm, 300 dpi: crisp blacks.

publication quality output.

1306 WESTLOOP

parts/labor on printer.

June 12, 1990.

776-0086 окрыя о

• More standard typefaces/fonts

• High-capacity 200-sheet paper

· HP Series II compatible.

Slim. low-profile design fits

than LaserJet IIP.

tray included.

any desktop.

(continued from page 6)

TONIGHT

75e DRAWS

Automobiles for Sale

- 1985 OLDS Calais Supreme, V6, air condi tioning, power steering, power brakes, power windows, AMFM cassette, good condition, well maintained, $3000 negotiable. 776–9862 ask for Karla or leave
- 1986 CARAVELLE, four-door. Automatic, air condition, $1,800 call 539-2555. Noon-5:30p.m.
- 1986 HONDA Accord LX-i. Includes radar dectector and two extra tires, Call Gel-mine 532–2947.
- 1988 CAMARO Iroc T-top automatic loaded, red, excellent condition, 57,000 miles, 889-4342.
- CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC
- FOR SALE: 1989 one-half ton Chevy Silver-ado pick-up with matdring w/w two horse trailer. Call evenings (913) 749-5161.

Computers

- APPLE IIC complete system; color monitor, built-in and external drives, modern, Im-ageWriter II printer, software. 776-8841.
- HAPPY BIRTHDAY, Michealangelol Nation wide this virus starts annually on March 5. Disinfect your computer before this virus cannibalizes your hard drivel Too late, you say? In most cases, we can recapture your information. Schedule your preventive maintenance today! Connecting Point Computer Center, 539-0801.
- PLENTY OF Portable Powerl Mitsubishi 286 with one meg. 40 MEG drive, three and one0half and five and one-fourth drives, and external keypad. $995 MicroTelesis (Lunchbox-style) 386 with CGA gas plasma screen, one meg RAM, 40 meg (17 ms) hard drive, full size keyboard and four expansion slots, $1400. Call 537-2937 and make offer.

Off the Mark

Employment

Collegian cannot verify the financial po al of advertisements in the Employment elfication. Readers are advised to ap

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

New Opportunities

- Eam $5,000 to $10,000 this summer painting houses in your home town. Final hiring for these positions is being held now!
 - 1. Strictly management
 - 2. Painting and management
- 3. Painting only ALL-Pro Student Painters, Inc. 1-800-2-MANAGE
- $40,000′ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, vacations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS13KEB.
- ATTENTION STUDENTS: Local businesses need students now for stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Excellent earnings. Send SASE to Homemailing Program—B, P.O. Box 3182, Olathe, KS 66062. Immediate re-
- ATTENTION STUDENTS: Position in the FENIX Adult Student Service Office, $87.50 per week, 20 hours per week through May 13, 1992, Job description available. Resume and letter of application due March 6, 5:00 p.m. in Holton Hall 201. Equal Opportunity Employer.
- ATTENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army TENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army National Guard would like to help you! In addition to monthly drill pay, we offer the following incentive programs: $2,000 bonus, $6,120 G.l. Bill, and the $10,000 loan repayment program. By serving two days a month, and two weeks a year you could qualify for up to $28,000. To find out if you qualify, call 537-4108.
- CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing. gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $1,000 or more plus R & B. Marc Seeger. 1785 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. (708) 448-2444.
- CRUISE LINE entry level on Board-land-side positions available, year round or summer. Call (813) 229-5478.

BUY-HIRE-SELL -RENT COLLEGIAN

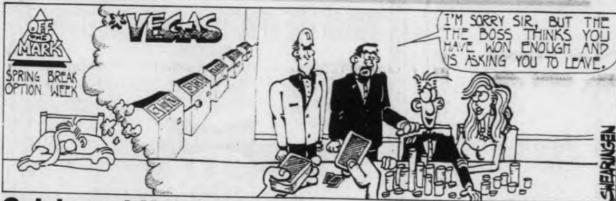

HARRY'S UPTOWN is now taking applica-tions for an experienced Bartender. Good pay for hard worker with good people skills. Apply between 2:00 and 4:00p.m. at Harry's 418 Poyntz, Wareham Hotel.

- IMMEDIATE OPENING for a full-time grounds keeper, experience relating to landscaping or lawn care required. Contact Geary Community Hospital. Attention: Cathy Witt, P.O. Box 490, Junction City, KS 66441. EQE.
- LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.
- LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and recreational areas. Horticultural background helpful. Send resume to Collegian Box 2.
- LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-amoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.
- NOW HIRING over 40 people for Big Brother Big Sister Project. Need callers for morn-ing and evening hours. Good salary plus bonus. Apply March 7, 9 or 10, 9- 6 p.m. 1124 Waters "One block off Anderson
- SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.
- STOPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed to stuff our Dieting Circulars from your Dorm/ Home! Excellent Wages— $3 per envelope! No experience required! Set own hours...Full or part-time! Mailers needed immediately! To start send a long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157 Forked River, NJ 08731.
- STUDENT COMPUTER Consultants needed at KSU Libraries. Seeking individuals who are interested in installing microcomputer software, setting up new microcomputer hardware, trouble shooting and maintaining that hardware. Environment consists of 200 microcomputer/terminals with peripherals attached. Knowledge of WordPerfect, DBase, SuperCalc, Laplink, Kermit and networks would be helpful. Must be able to work 20 hours a week year round. Apply at Ferrell 109A. Review of applications will begin March 9, 1992.
- WANTED: ILLUSTRATOR skilled in pen and ink to collaborate on stories for young people. Write Dave Lemire, Box 8622 Pratt, KS 67124.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

- A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.
- AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. One-bedroom furnished apartment, one-half block from campus, $365 per month, 776-1340.

By David Swearingen

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

By Jeff MacNelly

By Jim Dikkers

Geech

Jim's Journal

Then I went to

SO THIS IS

Solution time: 23 mins. 26 Gretzky's statistics 29 Mamie's ALEXA MEL N 30 "This recording" 31 Associate 32 Petrol 33 Cry like a banshee 34 Zilch 35 Shriver of

- CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666. FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each, 539-2482 after 4p.m.
- FOR NEXT school year, close to campus.
 One, two, and three-bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.
- GOLDKEY APARTMENTS. 1417, 1419 Leavenworth. Deluxe two-bedrooms, leasing for fall. 776-0711, 539-2567.
- JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285. 539-2482 after 4p.m.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for three-four students. Mid May—July 31 $590, 539-5451.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

- CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.
- GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

Leasing Now through August * Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts.

College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

June & August Leases Available Now

- 4 bedrms, 2 1/2 bath & study All appliances furnished, including washer, dryer & microwave.
- Pre-wired for your computer, phone & cable TV.
- Large recreation area with hot tubs & sand volleyball Bus service to campus

Monthly rent as low as $195 For info call 776-8763

Property Resources Management

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave mes-sage or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

10 For Rent-Houses

1425 HARRY Road, large house suitable for five-six students. No pets, air condition, carpeted, near campus 539–5267.

13 For Sale Mobile Homes

- 14X70 MOBILE Home with custom kitchen only $182.50 payments. Will finance. 15 mobile home selection #198 Redbud. Countryside Brokerage 539–2325.
- 14X70 WITH deck. Two bed, two bath, with garden style tub. Includes all appliances
- 1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

14 Furniture to Buy or Sell

WATERBED - Queen size with bookcase headboard, entire bed complete, with sheets. Like new $275 or best offer 539-3959.

16 Lost and Found

- Only found ade can be placed free of
- FOUND: TWO cats. One male grey with dark stripe and dark paws. One male greyish black. Both house broken. Do not belong together. Call 537-3386.
- FOUND- CALCULATOR with IEEE template in Paslay Lecture Hall. Call Kathey to identify. 537-8134.
- LEFT AT Photo Services, two rulers. Call
- LOST: SMALL female spayed dog apriot Ter-rier/ Poodle mix 10-12 pounds. "Sidney" with pink collar, Lost in Rosencutter Rd./ Stagg Hill area. Call Laurie with infor-mation at 537-7608, 537-1600, 539-7701, 537-1591.
- SMALL ENVELOPE found in the Chapel on 2/28/92. Call Johnny King at 532-5909 or come by Bluemont Hall room 22 to claim.

residence

mat's sine

qua non bronze, meat

entree

47 Sea flier

49 Vicinity

50 Incenses

51 Charles

Dutton

sitcom

Ships"

before

observance check or clock

54 Witness

55 Actress

DOWN

Diana

1 Stylish

Olin

3 Press

fluid

Stooge 7 Reveals one's face

8 Contempt

9 Jay Leno,

e.g.

10 Praiseful

verse

6 One

2 Horne or agent?

4 Full metal jacket?

5 Antiknock

Crossword ACROSS 36 Stately

1 Rate of speed 5 Ostrich's 37 Church kin 40 Diplo-

8 Barge or punt 12 Argonauts' 41 Brass and patroness 13 Heavy weight 14 Musical 45 French ending 15 Wise to 16 Line of fashion? 17 Portent 18 Fourposter feature 52 "- Three 20 Farm fraction 53 Word 22 Church observance

AGUER SPOU ARUEU SWEET AUUM PEAT AOM STERN AOM

3-5 / 48 Caviar

21 Personals

- JENNIFER- HAPPY Birthday to the one that has stolen my heart for over three years. I Love You, JPM.
- TIM- SWEETHEART, everythime I look M— SWEETHEART, everythime I look back to that Saturday night four years ago today, March 5th, I smile and remember how glad I was you called. We're still thinking up new love names for each other and "Ange!" still sings in my heart. Happy Anniversary, Baby. I'll love you forever— "nmwdodh." Yours always, Stephanie.
- RAVIS, JENNIFER, and Steve: Have fun in Padrel Don't get too much sun- Mario.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

- ABUSED ADULT male, white shepard needs special home, shots, neutered, 532-5776, 1-784-5919, 1-456-2592.
- BOA CONSTRICTOR, three feet long, very tame, with large cage, many feeder mice. $250 ask for David 776-7622.

23 Resume\Typing Service

- KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.
- ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537-7795.
- DATA SHEETS to dissertations and every-thing between. Laser printing, 12 years experience, Mrs. Burden, 539-1204.
- FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality Resumes, papers, graphics and equations my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539-3229, 8a.m.-8p.m.
- MAKE YOUR resume, papers and invitations look great with a laser printer and scalable fonts. $1.25 per doubled-spaced page of text. Joyce, 537-7027 after 5.
- UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for pa-pers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommate Wanted

- AVAILABLE MAY 1st own bedroom, share kitchen and laundry, in country place for horse. $200/ month all bills paid. 1-456-9145, leave message.
- FREE MARCH rent to first female to move into nice two-bedroom. 539-5366 or 726-3425.
- MALE NEEDED, walk to KSU, furnished, pri-vate bedroom, share the rest. 539-1554. MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom furnished apartment, very close to campus. $198/ month plus one-half utili-ties. Call Wade at 539-6847. Available
- ONE NON-SMOKING male to take over lease, now till August, on two-bedroom basement apartment located across from campus, own large room, lots of storage, off street parking, available immediately, $195 all utilities paid. 539-0248.
- ROOMMATE WANTED $120 plus one-half utilities. One block to campus, John 537-
- WANTED: FEMALE roommate who is a seri-ous, clean, non-smoking student. Ask for Celeste 776-6470.
- WANTED: TWO non-smoking female room-mates. One-half block off campus, own room, $180/ month plus 1/4 utilities, Au-gust lease. Call Amy or Heidi 776-7638.

25 Services

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

HIGH OUALITY AFFORDABLE

"WE DELIVER" Personal Service Quality Printing Ouick Delivery Competitive Price Custom Designs

1218 MORO IN AGGIEVILLE 538-2441

11 Ashy

prop 23 Florida

city

League

campus

26 Horde of hoods

27 Medley

as a

32 Hose

33 Am-

35 Army

rank:

abbr

38 Donald

36 - de mer

Duck's

Astaire

43 Calendar

quota

44 Adages

45 Tease

46 Start of portion holders

bushed

25 lvy

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests

523 S. 17th Old Town Mall 537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE 5683

28 Sublease

- IMMEDIATE SUBLEASE $175 plus one-third utilities, call Eric at 537-9060 or 776-0058
- SUBLEASE REASONABLY one bedroom in nice, spacious three-bedroom apartment from mid-May to July 31. 537-3386 ask for dustin/ leave message.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE, June 1- July 31, two-bedroom apartment close to campus and downtown, cheap rent, air condition; par-tially furnished, quiet. Great for summer school. Call 776-9862, Kristi or Karla or
- SUMMER SUBLEASE, Nice two-bedroom, two- four people, $300 plus utilities; call 539-3360.
- SUMMER SUBLEASE, three-bedroom apart-ment across from campus. Mid-May-July. Call 537-2967. SUMMER SUBLEASE- June 5- August 5. Three bedrooms in Woodway Apartments. $150 month each. Call 532-3260.
- URGENTI NON-SMOKING female needed to sublease townhome immediately. One-fifth utilities, shuttle and more. Roxanne, 776-8828 or Monica 776-6301. 29 Tickets to Buy or Sell
- AIRPLANE TICKET for spring break. March 6- March 15, Kansas City to Washington D.C. round trip $338 down to $300, Call 539-2185.
- AIRPLANE TICKET to $195 roundtrip to Sac-ramento. Leaving KCI Tues., Mar. 10, re-turning Sat., Mar. 14, Call 776–6949. TWO STUDENT section tickets for sale to the Oklahoma State game, Sat., Mar. 7. Call 776-4196.

- 30 TravellCar Pool NEEDED GIRL to carpool to northern part of lowa over spring break call 1-456-2832 for more details.
- NEEDED: TWO- three people to share condo inSouth Padre. Call 539-2252 for more SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212
- SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896.
- SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner. (212) 472-1414.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information

on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, townsville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3698.

- 33 Wanted to Buy or Sell
- BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback Best offer, 539-4915, 5:30- 10p.m. FOR SALE: Man's Western Fiver three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.
- SPORTS CARDS for sale or trade, leave message, Dave 537-2616.

By Eugene Sheffer

21 Poolroom 24 Unaltered 28 Assigned

3-5 CRYPTOQUIP

PNOT'LO

XNWLP girlfriend 39 Emulate WI K'OPPHVO MWL VNOM'X XGKGS, 42 Roughly

CHPPUJR NOGSX PWROPNOL.
Yesterday's Cryptoquip: COMPASSIONATE Montana's CARDIOLOGIST'S HEART IS IN THE RIGHT PLACE.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: P equals T

Local gospel singer performs in mall, on Nashville show

TRACI WHITTEN

Not all great singers are born with

Gospel singer Anna Buckland, who performed at Manhattan Town Center Wednesday night, said her singing ability was not always a God-given

"I wanted to sing really bad but couldn't hold a tune," she said of herself in high school.

"My voice was so bad people would get up and leave the room.

However, voice lessons did the Born and raised in Manhattan, Buckland graduated from Manhattan Christian College and also took classes from K-State. She worked in the K-State Union and performed there several times.

"I encourage people to listen to Christian music, but I do not push it on them." Buckland said.

"God has given me a voice and I want to give it back to him."

One piece Buckland sang was titled 'Masterpiece." She dedicated it to her

"I want mothers to realize what a masterpiece children really are," Buckland said.

She also performed "There is a Hope." She said she sang this song often during the Gulf War to encourage people to hang on to their faith.

Buckland has performed around Manhattan and on the TV show Nashville Review Showcase.

Buckland is a member of the Christian Artist Association and Crestview Christian Church.

Jan Levin, gospel singer and Manhattan resident, also performed several pieces.

Levin writes songs and has performed all over the country. While living in Charleston, S.C., I had two songs on the top 40," she

A few of the songs Levin sang were "Hope Set High" and "Everywhere I Go" by Amy Grant.

"I chose these songs because I wanted to sing something happy and light, yet send out a good message," Levin said.

TO THE EDITOR

may be brought to Kedzie 116.

GOODSON

AUTO TRIM

Headlining

Tonneau Covers

Boat Covers

Window Tinting

Convertible Tops

Complete Auto, Truck

& Boat Upholstery

201 Sarber Lane

(between Wal-Mart and K-Mart)

Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Phone 776-7679 Res. 776-7614

Europe Winter!

London Amsterdam Paris

Drink

current law," he said.

in half, she said.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

to jeopardizing federal funds," he said.

there are a lot of other things that have to occur in law enforcement and the way this offense is handled under sas, said for an average person of 150 pounds to be considered impaired at .10, consumption would be equal to three 12 oz. beers, three 4 oz. glasses

If the blood-alcohol level is low-

Russ Liggett, co-general manager

"I do not feel it will have any affect ered to .08, that amount would be cut of Carlos O'Kelly's, said the intent of on the consumption of alcohol," he said. "I think it is just going to prothe bill is to produce income.

of wine or three shots in one hour.

When you drop the level to .08,

Madrid Geneva

$399* *Fares are each way from Kansas City based on a roundtrip purchase. Taxes not included and restric-tions apply. Call for other destinations, both one way and roundtrip.

$249*

$315*

$315*

$365*

Council Travel

1-800-475-5070

duce revenue because more people will be convicted of DUIs."

Liggett said he does not think the bill would have much of an effect on Carlos' business. ment and court problems in addition Rusty Wilson, owner of Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon, said there is not much difference between .08 and .10. He said he does not think this proposed bill will solve anything.

Janine Demo, coordinator of health into consideration," he said. "People education at the University of Kanhave different tolerance levels. Some people can drink more than others."

Kerry Farrell, senior in marketing, said people are accustomed to the .10

They need to take a lot of things level, and if it is changed, they will not know their tolerance level.

"It will be easier for a conviction, but I do not think it will keep people from drinking and driving. There will just be more arrests," she said.

Farrell said being able to contest a DUI when one registers between .08 and .10 will create problems.

"It will certainly make the lawyers happy," she said. "People who can afford a good lawyer will most likely get out of it, and those who cannot will pay.

Ernie Neville, senior in sociology, said he agreed that aspect of the bill is

"By allowing people to go up in front of a judge and try to convince him they were not drunk seems unfair," he said. "It is going to be the cop's word against your own."

Neville also said the law will not deter people from drinking and driv-

When they lowered the drinking age, it did not change anything. Why would this change anything?" he said. "They are going to make it so you cannot even go out to dinner and have a drink without fearing a DUI."

Meeting/Practice

Anyone interested in women's soccer

today.

please meet in old stadium at 5.p.m.

Everyone Welcome

Don't Forget! 13-$500

Blue Key Scholarships

Applications in Anderson 122

Deadline 4 p.m., March 6

For more information call Jada Kohlmeier at 539-2301

Blue Key

HAIR EXPERTS DESIGN TEAM

SPRING BREAK SPECIAL

1/2 OFF HAIR DESIGN I with Shauna Morabito

not valid with any other offer EXP 4/30/92

20% OFF Any Hair Care Product

not valid with any other offer

EXP 4/30/92 776-4455

$5 OFF Any Hair Color Service

not valid with any other offer

1/2 OFF HAIR DESIGN with Mike Titus

not valid with any other offer

EXP 4/30/92

1323 Anderson Ave.,

EXP 4/30/92 $10 OFF

1/2 OFF HAIR DESIGN

with Susan Edwards

not valid with any other offer

Any Perm

not valid with any other offer

EXP 4/30/92

Manhattan

THE SPRING BREAK PARTY CONTINUES...

TONIGHT LIVE:

AND LISA LIED

99° WELLS WED.-SAT. DON'T FORGET: FRIDAY & SATURDAY

THE INDUSTRY LIVE!

702 N. 11th Private Club-Memberships Available 776-0077

WHILE YOU SHOP!

One-Hour Service • In The Mall

Each Picture Is The Best It Can Be Or We Reprint It Free...Now!

Offer applies to regular one-hour prices. No limit on number of rolls discounted with this 4v6 color prints (print length varies with film size). Offer applies to first set of prints only. C41 in lab process. Cannot be combined with other film developing offers. Coupon good through June 6, 1992

CPI photo finish

One Hour Services:

m developing • enlargements reprints . double prints

Also Available:

wallet photos • film nstant color passport photos video transfer copies from prints albums, frames

and accessories

Manhattan Town Center

> main entrance by food court

NOW SHOWING THROUGH MARCH 20

UPC & ART DEPARTMENT EXHIBIT

Art by John Good

K-State Union

RECYCLE YOUR RECORDS!

Earn extra cash by bringing your music to the UPC "Recycle Your Records Sale."

Bring in your old CDs, cassettes and records and UPC will sell them for you. Collection is March 18 & 19, Union First Floor, 9:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. The music sale will be March 31 through April 2 from 9:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. in the Union First Floor Alcove.

K-State Union

Country Dance Lessons

Join Special Events and learn a few country steps with dance lessons beginning after Spring Break. Four weeks of instruction in Union Station only cost $10 per couple. Beginning lessons start Monday, March 16, 8-9:30 p.m. and Advanced Lessons start Tuesday, March 17 from 8-9:30 p.m. in the Union Station, K-State Union. SIGN UP BEGINS Monday, Feb. 24. For more information stop by the UPC Office, 3rd Floor K-State Union, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. weekdays.

W-State Union

THE WOODLANDS RACE PARK

Experience the thrill of watching greyhounds race at Kansas City's Woodlands Race Park. Spend the day watching the races from the grandstands or clubhouse areas and test your skill at handicapping the greyhounds. Trip includes round trip transportation and entrance to the park. $10 per person. SIGN UP BEGINS WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4., Sign up in the UPC Office, 3rd Floor, K-State Union, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

MARCH 28

APPEARING IN UNION STATION— Eclectic Revue Thursday, March 19

7 p.m. Opening Act Mark Mathies - Country Singer/Songwriter

8 p.m. Billy McLaughlin - Acoustic guitar and vocalist Admission $2/person

Union Station, ground floor of K-State Union

K-State Union

Union Promotions & Marketing Interns Exhibit

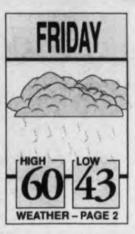

SHOWING THROUGH MONDAY, MARCH 16

K-State Union

K-State Union

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

Collegian in the meantime. The Collegian will resume publication March 16 (That's the first day back)

FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 112

EYEBALL to EYEBA

Trade War: Japan vs. the United States

BRIAN KRATZER

A new combat form began last month when the Japanese Prime Minister Kiichi Miyazawa made a public comment about the lazy American work force.

The verbal exchange of fire has had casualties. For example, a Japanese busi-nessman was killed in California last week, and tensions between Japan and the United States could turn into a more violent form of Americans were more aware of Japan's idea of the U.S. work force after Miyazawa's remarks became public knowledge.

"I heard about the speech in the news," said Sadahiro Saeki, professor in mathematics. "But I had heard the same comments twice before from two other Japanese politicians, so Miyazawa is the third person to say negative things about the United States.'

Saeki, who is from Tokyo, returns to Japan every summer and winter,

In Japan, trade with the United States is a highly discussed topic among the politi-

The Japanese are angry with their own government because they believe Japan has given in too much to the United States," Saeki said.

Three percent of the automobile sales in Japan are American. Last year, the United States shipped 15,000 cars to Japan, and Japan exported two million cars, he said.

The conflict between the two nations seems to go deeper than trade relations and quality of products.

Saiki said that according to the Japanese, America's downfall rests in the types of people allowed in the work force, and the Japanese corporate world has determined this as the United States' most crucial mis-

"One of the biggest differences between America and Japan is that Japan is a homo-geneous society," Saeki said. "It has it's own unique race, and here in the United States everybody is different."

The Japanese, who once held strong to their tradition of seclusion from outside races and cultures, are just recently recognizing non-Japanese.

"Racial prejudice in Japan is quite strong," Saeki said. "One politician said the United States' problem is that it has lots of blacks and hispanics."

Saeki has been in the United States since 1981, and he sees both countries in a differ-

"My belief is most Japanese have an inferiority complex toward white people," Saeki said. "They try to be part of the white superior people. As a result, they have strong prejudice against all other people."

Other Asian races are treated like outsid-

"Three years ago, it was said that America was slipping because of blacks," Saeki said. "If you are Japanese, then you will have no problem being accepted, but if you are not, then you suffer a lot. This applies to the Chinese and Koreans," Saeki said.

'Japan sees sports and the entertainment types-Carl Lewis, Ben Johnson and Michael Jackson," said Nagaaki Sato, graduate student in chemistry.

"Talented people are OK, but a lot of the news we get from New York City and Chicago about murders has given us a bad

See STANDING Page 10

vipeout expected today

Resident virus spreads through contact with infected diskettes; causes data loss

NIRANJAN RAO

A potentially disastrous computer virus, known as Michelangelo, is set to wipe out all data on computers worldwide today.

Named after the Italian Renaissance painter and sculptor, this virus is set to go off on Michelangelo's birthday.

"There has been at least one reported case of Michelangelo on campus," said Chuck Gould, technical support programmer for Computing and Network Services, "but I do not think that it is widespread on campus."

The Michelangelo virus is a diskette boot sector and hard drive partition-table infector based on the stoned virus. When it goes off, it will format the hard drive of infected personal computers.

Like many other viruses, Michelangelo is spread through contact with an infected disk. It will affect IBM-compatible computers.

"We generally scan the computers that we bring in for repair, and we detected Michelangelo on one such computer two months ago," said David

Naas, computer engineer for Computing and Network Services. "I do not remember which department this computer actually came from. I believe that there are other people on the campus who have Michelangelo on their computers,"

Dennis Haza, owner of Flint Hills Computer Systems, said he has not encountered the virus in his store. "But I am sure that it is there in Manhattan," he said.

It is believed there are more than 1,000 different viruses infecting com-"Viruses are a potentially a big problem on a campus," said Harvard Townsend, systems analyst and program manager for the department of Computing and Information Sciences. "If you are going to have 50 students using a PC in a day, that means that 50 diskettes are being being used and potentially getting viruses. Then these are going to 50 other computers. This is a potentially serious problem," he said.

Townsend said not all viruses are malicious. Some just slow down the

"There are lots of viruses for the Macintoshes, too. But IBM compatibles seem to be the ones which are most affected, largely because there is very little security mechanism built into the operating system of MS-DOS," Townsend said.

There are three possibilities for the infectious period: now, or one-shot; during program run, or while-called; and from now on, or resident.

A one-shot virus will seek out and infect a target program. It then passes control to the original program and performs no further functions.

The while-called virus will activate when the infected program is called, and then pass control to the original program.

Resident viruses are the most dangerous of viral programs. The virus will become active when an infected program is run, and it will remain active until the computer is rebooted or turned off. Michelangelo is a resident virus.

"Michelangelo goes a further step beyond just reformatting the hard disk," said Larry Havenstein, electronics technician and network supervisor in the Extension Computer systems office.

"There are utilities with which one can recover the files even after a hard disk has been reformatted. But Michelangelo goes and writes on the sectors of the hard disk dummy data, and this makes the files impossible to recover," he said.

The public computing labs are not likely to be affected by the virus. Gould said in the public labs, all the workstations are remote booting

"When you turn the computer on, they get a copy of the DOS environment from the network. The Michelangelo affects the boot sector of the computer and there is no hard drive in the local workstations in the public labs," Gould said. Terry Hull, computer information specialist in the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, said all the system softwares that have been installed on the network are read-

"Whenever we install a software on the system, the software is scanned before it goes on. So the software cannot be copied and also nothing can be put on the system by the users, and thus we cannot have viruses on the network," he said. "We do virus protection anyway, and so we are not worried about Michelangelo virus."

Safeguards can easily be taken by personal computer owners to protect their computers from the virus.

See VIRUS Page 10

COMPUTING

Cost is key factor in mainframe decision

Service and availability options to be explored

JENNIFER BEALS

Costs and expenses are the next items of business in the future of the K-State mainframe.

"Many pieces and concerns must be considered before a formal mainframe proposal can be reached," Vice Provost Bob Kruh said. "Financial, technical and service concerns have to be analyzed."

Provost James Coffman said his concerns for the mainframe are costs.

"Let's start to figure these costs now," Coffman said. "We've got to options.'

The unofficial proposal of switchand financial aid records to the University of Kansas was presented by puting and Network Services staff meeting.

Kruh named many aspects that maintaining the mainframe. One is certificate of participation:

"The certificate is a time payment arrangement that extends the pay-ments to six years," Kruh said. "K-State also pays the capital costs, plus

Other items to be considered in-compare availability and service cost and software licenses.

"The expense of running only one mainframe costs less than two, which ing mainframe services at K-State allows money for computer-related and transferring academic, enrollment services to be spent in different ways,"

Mike Miller, associate director of Kruh and Coffman in a Feb. 5 Com- computing activities, said there is a great deal of expense in remote com-

'The money will have to be made must be weighed in the expense of available by discontinuing maintenance or hardware," he said. The approximate costs of the plan > are not disclosed at this time. KU isn't the only possible resource for merging the mainframe. Two other options are being reviewed.

"In possibly a month or two, we should know what our options are clude maintenance costs, staff costs with the potential use of the IBM mainframe in Boulder, Colo.," Kruh

KU could be to inquire about the possibilities of local resources. Kruh said he believes information

Kruh said another alternative to is critical, and no decision has yet been made. An advisory committee meeting with each of the department heads and advisory groups is planned for March. The meeting will allow the departments to review the needs of their curriculums.

"We, need to meet with departments to find out their needs over the next few years, Coffman said.

Coffman said he agreed with Kruh about the recommendation to better the system.

Kerrey exits race; four Democrats vie for party nomination

Campaign lacked widespread appeal for Nebraskan

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - On paper, Bob Kerrey was perfect presidential material. But in person, he often fell short.

The Nebraska senator ended his Democratic candidacy Thursday with wit and warmth that he didn't always show on the campaign trail, and with bottom-line honesty that did come through - often to his detriment.

Kerrey's credentials were unsurpassed: Vietnam Medal of Honor, self-made millionaire businessman, former governor, slayer of two Republican incumbents in a conservative state, former boyfriend of actress Debra Winger. But the magic that worked in Nebraska was missing in his first national campaign. Kerrey admitted as much at a wistful and sometimes emotional news conference as he abandoned the race.

"A campaign depends upon the .. candidate's capacity to communicate and to establish trust," Kerrey said, "and I did not begin to do that until very late in the campaign."

Kerrey won a big victory Feb.

Delota but never translated his assets into widespread appeal outside his own region. He consistently finished at or near the bottom of the pack - and was the only Democrat without a first-place finish in any of the seven states that held primaries or caucuses earlier this week.

"After Tuesday, I feel a little like the Jamaican bobsled team. We had a lot of spirit, but unfortunately, we didn't get a lot of medals," Kerrey said as he announced his exit from the race.

Kerrey, whose campaign is about $1 million in debt, said money problems contributed to his decision. "We ran out of gas," he

There are four Democrats still in the field - Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton, former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas, Iowa Sen. Tom Harkinand former California Gov. Jerry Brown.

On the campaign trail, Kerrey insisted that Clinton was unelectable because of questions about the Arkansas governor's use of a draft deferment to avoid serving in Vietnam. But Thursday Kerrey called his attacks "political hyperbole" and said he would campaign "feverishly" for Clinton if he is the nominee. "The only unelectable politician running for president of the United States is George Bush," Kerrey said. For weeks in New Hampshire, site of the critical first primary, Tsongas was perceived as a regional candidate and Clinton was beset by allegations about his personal life. But Kerrey was unable to attract voters searching for an alternative.

The first-term senator was an uneven campaigner who alternately impressed and bored audiences. He seemed to move weekly from one theme to another - trade. health, shaking up government, patriotism, electability. He was blunt about his prospects and his plans, to the point of saying he would raise taxes to pay for healthcare reforms and infrastructure investment.

"If I intend to spend some money, I'm going to tell you where I'm going to get it," he told a group of New Hampshire teachers last month. "That's my nature."

The tone of Kerrey's campaign for what he called "fundamental change" was more abrasive than the man. He was tense and combative in many of the televised candidate debates, and even fans said he came across as too belligerent on TV. The icy image was reinforced by a commercial even See KERREY Page 10

COMMENTS

"Sometimes."

-Men's basketball coach Dana Altman, when asked after the 91-60 loss to Nebraska Wednesday night if he was the Wildcat

"I'm pretty sure he was meant to be."

 Cathy Sumrall, who survived intense cancer chemotherapy, a heart transplant and who had been taking birth control pills, on giving birth to a healthy boy.

"You will see ... a man who was down, a man who was not aggressive, who was not resisting. And those blows ... continued and continued for no reason."

> Deputy District Attorney Terry White on the videotaped beating of black motorist Rodney King by white Los Angeles police officers.

"We got our asses whooped."

- Cat center Wylie Howard, following the Nebraska game.

"Buchanan has finally lost his senses. Buchanan has gone looney tunes on us."

- White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater on challenger Patrick Buchanan calling on President Bush to drop out of the presidential race.

"If it comes to civil war here, blood will be up to our knees." A Muslim fighter in the Bosnian mountains of Yugoslavia.

"We found out that we can't just come in and look pretty and $2,000 think we can win the game."

— Cat center John Rettiger, following the loss to Nebraska.

"It's an encouraging sign of progress, but there's a long way to go."

Brooks Yeager, vice president of the National Audubon Society, on new steps promised by the United States that have raised hopes for a treaty to forestall global warming.

"This is the best birthday party I've ever had."

-Elizabeth Taylor, celebrating her 60th birthday with a party at Disneyland.

"Dead people could get rebounds if they're out there 50 minutes."

> — Jim Boeheim, Syracuse coach, complaining about his team's inability to rebound after losing to Georgetown 72-68. Centers Conrad McRae and Dave Siock combined for only four rebounds against Georgetown. McRae has played 59 minutes in two consecutive games without a defensive rebound.

CORRECTION

In the Wednesday, March 4, issue of the Collegian, the story "On the road again with K-State Singers," contained the following mistakes:

Luke Ellis was incorrectly identified as a junior in elementary education. He is a sophomore in radio-television.

Nancy Angello was incorrectly identified as Nancy Andeel. She is not a senior in modern languages; she is a sophomore in business administration. Alicia Brende, junior in elementary education, was incorrectly identified as Alice Brende.

The Collegian regrets the errors.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4 At 10:52 p.m., a person was arrested at Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex.

At 12:27 a.m., a gray Volkswagen Rabbit with Missouri license plate No. WRZ343 was reported disabled by Quik Cats. The owner will move it by

At 6:50 a.m., a blue Oldsmobile with license plate No. EOH603 was reported to have a bad transmission in Lot D-3. The owner will move it

At 8:44 a.m., a black GMC with license plate No. FHW980 was towed from Lot A-28 south to Manhattan Wrecker for illegal registration. A hold was placed on the vehicle, mr.l it was later

At 9:15 a.m., a vehicle hit the base of a light pole in Lot D-1W. Damage was $500. At 9:37 a.m., a bicycle was reported stolen southwest of Cardwell Hall. Loss was $50.

released.
At 2:05 p.m., an ID was reported lost.
At 5:29 p.m., a gray Dodge Lancer with license plate No. EFN792 was towed to Manhattan Wrecker from Lot A-28 south. It was held for

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 4

At 1:55 p.m., a minor-damage, non-injury accident occurred. Involved were Lynn Bohenblust, 1305 Nichols St., and a tree.

At 4:39 p.m., a minor-damage, hit-and-run accident occurred. Involved were an unknown hit-and-run vehicle, and a parked and unattended vehicle owned by Stephen Aschenbrenner, 918 Bluemont Ave.

At 6:31 p.m., a minor-damage, non-injury accident occurred. Involved were Pamela S. Grif-fin, 636 Bertrand St., and a parked and unattended vehicle owned by Nancy J. Welch, 1426 McCain Lane, No. 140.

Lane, No. 140.
At 6:43 p.m., Susan Hamilton, 115 S. Iowa St., Riley, reported a theft. Taken was a brown leather purse containing $200 in U.S. currency, a gray leather wallet containing miscellaneous ID and bank cards, and personal checks. Loss was $228.
At 8 p.m., a minor-damage, hit-and-run accident occurred. Involved were an unknown hit-and-run vehicle and a fire hydrant owned by the City of Manhattan.
At 10:25 p.m., Kenneth E. Withers, 1223 Lincoln, Clay Center, was arrested for failure to pay coln, Clay Center, was arrested for failure to pay $2,000 bond. He was released on bond. At 11 p.m., James T. Griffing, 2010 College View, was arrested on a warrant for distribution of steroids and use of a false registration for purpose of acquiring an anabolic steroid. He was confined in lieu of $30,000 bond. A hold was placed on the ubject for U.S. Marshals.

THURSDAY, MARCH 5

At 12:04 a.m., Jason B. Norton, 901 Adams St., was arrested on a Clay County warrant for the sale of hallucinogenic drugs within 1,000 feet of a school and a tax stamp violation. He was confined in lieu of a $25,000 bond, then released to Clay County, At 1:15 a.m., three Coors Light Silver Builet nitchers were found 1122 More St. A found present pitchers were found 1122 Moro St. A found prop-

At 11:33 a.m., a white Volkswagen with license plate No. FHX142 was towed from Lot A-26 to Manhattan Wrecker for illegal registration. A hold was placed on the vehicle, and it was later illegal registration.

At 6:53 a.m., a major-damage, non-injury ac-cident occurred. Involved were Cheryl K.

Kickhaefer, 2700 Brittany Terrace, No. 11, and Alan L. Lage, 3040 Conrow Drive.

At 7:38 a.m., Dick L. Sterrett, 440 W. Main St., Quinter, reported a vehicle burglary. Taken was a Motorolla Cellular phone and a Uniden Radar Detector. Loss was $430.

Detector. Loss was $430.

At 7:41 a.m., Anthony Harkness, 506 W. 14th St., Ogden, reported a vehicle burglary. Taken was a Punch amplifier, a Pioneer car stereo, 2
Punch 15-inch speakers and an Army field jacket.
Damage to vehicle was $200. Total loss was $599.

At 8:63 a.m., a major-damage, injury accident occurred. Involved were O.K. Zentz, 3108 Yolanda Way, who was transported to the Saint Mary

Way, who was transported to the Saint Mary Hospital with possible chest and back pain, and Janelle Esau, 909 Wildcat Ridge, who was also transported with a knee injury. Passengers who were injured were Martvin Zentz, 3108 Yolanda Way, who was treated for facial lacerations, and Lisa Nodof, 909 Wildeat Ridge, who had a neck

At 8:27 a.m., a vehicle burglary was reported.

Taken were a set of Tommy Armour golf clubs in a red golf bag containing miscellaneous golf balls, apair of prescription eye glasses, a Hewlett-Packard Laser printer and two animal whistles from the front of the vehicle, Loss was $3,649.

At 9:16 a.m., a major-damage, non-injury ac-cident occurred. Involved were Ethel M. Steichen, 509 Valley Drive, and Patrick S. Slattery, 508

At 10:18 a.m., a major-damage, non-injury accident occurred. Involved Mary J. Brooke, 3117 Driftwood, and Kit A. Portz, 1435 Collins Lane,

At 11:17 a.m., James L. Pultz, 2161 Prairie Lea Place, was arrested for criminal trespassing. He was confined in lieu of a $300 bond.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Summer internship applications for Sen. Bob Dole's Office are available in Kedzie 219B. More K-State applicants are requested, and the deadline has been extended to March 22.

■ Blue Key scholarship applications are available in Anderson 122 and are due by 4 p.m. March 6.

■ McCain Student Development Council applications are available in the Student Governing Association office in the K-State Union and are due March

■ Truman Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office. Eisenhower Hall and are due by 4:50 p.m., March 23, in Eisenhower 113.

■ Marshall Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office isenhower Hall and are due by 8:30 a.m., March 23, in Eisenhower 113. ■ Rhodes Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office Eisenhower Hall and are due by 8:30 a.m., March 24, in Eisenhower 113.

FRIDAY, MARCH 6

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armor on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

■ Hispanic Awareness Month Planning Committee will meet at 12:30 p.m. in Union 203.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctora dissertation of Qing Zhu for 9 a.m. in Durland 236.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctora dissertation of Gary Willhite for 9 a.m. in Bluemont 106.

TUESDAY, MARCH 10

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207.

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armor on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

THURSDAY, MARCH 12

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armor. on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

RIDAY, MARCH 13

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armor on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

MONDAY, MARCH 16

■ Learning Disabled Students Support Group will meet at 3:30 p.m. i

Union 204. TUESDAY, MARCH 17

50/42

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207. K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armor on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

erty sheet was filed.

Partly cloudy with a 40-percent chance of morning showers. Very mild. High in the mid-60s. West wind 5 to 15 mph. Friday night, partly cloudy with a low in the lower 40s.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

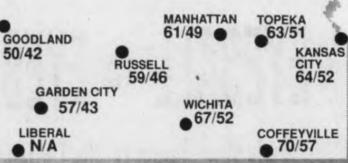

Partly cloudy. Warm with a high in the lower 70s.

Turning colder with a chance for showers and thunderstorms Sunday and Monday. High Sunday 55 to 60, dropping to the mid-30s by Tuesday. Lows Sunday in the 40s, dropping to the 20s on Tuesday.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

SPURS - Sophomore Honorary

proudly announces its 1992-93 initiates

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Montreal	34/14	cloudy
Barcelona	59/45	cloudy	Orlando	82/66	cloudy
Beirut	59/48	cloudy	Singapore	90/75	cloudy
Jo'burg	75/45	clear	Warsaw	48/37	clear

Hit the road, cat

South Padre-284

It's almost time, ya know. Time to head down South, out West or just away from everything here in the Little Apple. But if you're running short on dough for that special trip, Collegian Class Ads can help you as easy as 1,2,3. School and Work-Miles away

1. Find some things you don't need.

2. Advertise them "For Sale" in the Collegian Class Ads.

3. Sell your stuff in no time and watch the Cool Cash roll in.

Simple, huh? With the Collegian Class Ads working for you, there's no reason you can't clean out your apartment while you have some fun in the sun.

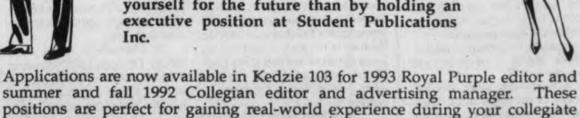

Are you ready for the next step?

Executive Positions Available

Your success in the future is determined by your actions right now. If you've had experience related to yearbooks newspapers or feel your managerial skills are strong, there's no better way to prepare yourself for the future than by holding an career. Don't delay. Submit your application today for success tomorrow.

Deadlines: 5 p.m. Wed., April 1 for summer Collegian positions and RP editor

5 p.m. Wed., April 8 for fall Collegian positions

4:30-7 p.m. Mon., April 6 for summer Collegian positions and RP editor

4-7 p.m. Wed., April 15 for fall Collegian positions.

Lawrence Andre

Lana Benoit

Mark Fleury

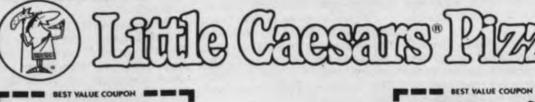

Ted Glasco

Kevin Goering

Doug Gruenbacher Gary Hammes Stacev Heidrick Debbie Hereford Kristin Hodgson Rebecca Keller Karen Kirchhoff Jason Larison Ryan Loriaux Shannon Moore

Jayme Morris Shawna Robb Kathryn Saab Scott Sanders Ann Scarlett Matt Schweer Sandy Steele Amy Teagarden Judy Thompson Joanna Wall Sean Wissman

Congratulations!

) Lifting (Cagaana

WESTLOOP CENTER MANHATTAN

LOCATED IN THE

BOARD OF REGENTS

Task forces formed to assist strategic planning efforts

Groups' purposes to compare, improve existing systems

STACY WATERS

The three task forces formed during the February meeting of the Kansas Board of Regents are aimed at assisting the regents with their strategic planning efforts.

They were in the 'Strategy for Mission Development' that was approved by the board on Jan. 16, 1992, said Ray Hauke, director of planning and budget for the regents.

"It calls for each task force and assigns the particular tasks that each group will study and report back."

The Task Force on Budget Development will review the board's current method of developing its legislative budget requests, said Kenneth Klabunde, Faculty Senate president and task force member.

Klabunde said the board hopes to eliminate duplication from one campus to another. The board wants to be able to operate efficiently and save

"This task force is part of the process of sorting out how money can be saved," he said.

Klabunde said he hopes the outcome of this task force will be that budget requests to the legislature will be more realistic by emphasizing

Klabunde said he expects the work to take from six to eight months.

The Task Force on Performance Funding will look into ways to reward institutions performing exceptionally well, said Don Hoyt, director of planning and evaluation services and task force member.

'The task force will look at other states, look at the purposes of rewarding and report to the regents the advantages and disadvantages," he said.

Hoyt said the regents think dropout rates and graduation rates should be used to measure excellence. -We hope to be able to find ways in which we can strengthen the regents' system," he said.

"We want to see if funding procedures can be adopted that will enhance excellence.

The task force expects to be finished by the end of summer, Hoyt

Bob Wilkinson, director of institutional research at Pittsburg State Uni-■ See TASK Page 6

Three-car pileup

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Mike McCoy, age 17, discusses the details of a wreck at the corner of 17th Street and Anderson Avenue Thursday night. McCoy was east bound in an Isuzu pickup on Anderson turning to go to the K-State Union. According to McCoy, when the light turned yellow, an Escort driven by Zhou Lequing pulled into the intersection while McCoy was making the turn. The two cars collided, causing the Escort to spin into a nearby van on 17th. The passenger in Lequing's car, Chen Swei-Jye, was taken to Lafene Health Center for treatment of minor injuries.

GOVERNMENT

Students lobby legislators for funding increase

K-State Lobby Day on Feb. 17 received mixed reviews from Kansas legislators.

Members of the K-State's Legislative Affairs Committee met with senators and representatives to lobby for increases in funding.

Sen. Don Montgomery, R-Sabetha, said he was pleased with the students who spoke with him.

"They were polite, courteous and not demanding. Some students have been rather demanding in the past," he said.

Montgomery said the only suggestions he would make to future lobbyists is to be more familiar with the budget process.

See LOBBY Page 10

STUDENT SENATE

Legislators address students

Proposed higher education funding has advantages and disadvantages

JOHN SHARTZER

The Manhattan legislative delegation to Topeka addressed issues concerning higher education and its funding Thursday night at the Student Senate meeting.

Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, explained the way funds are distributed and the pros and cons of adding disproportionate funds to the base budget of the Kansas Board of

Disproportionate funds are granted to the state via federal funding. Up to this point, Kansas has never applied for these additional funds.

Hochhauser said one of the arguments against this funding concerns the theory that the budget as a whole is built on sand.

This means the funds could vary in amount each year. If all the civil services were dependent upon these funds, then a reduction of the allocated funds could be drastic.

Rep. Kent Glasscock, R-Manhattan, said an additional $100 million service system, allowing for the funds currently supporting these services to move into other areas.

"The fear is that the window will close, creating a budget that is structurally out of balance, and that would mean everything would get cut," Glasscock said.

The legislators also discussed the future funding of Farrell Library. The anticipated cost of remodeling Farrell is $18-20 million.

"What's going to be done for KU should be done for K-State," Hochhauser said in reference to the rebuilding of Hoch Auditorium.

"I think we need to get Farrell on every front page to gain recognition

BROFFIERS_

-TONIGHT-

LIVE Mere Mortals at 9:30 p.m.

FREE Grilled Dogs 4-6 p.m.

Bud 1 Cans & Sand Volleyball Bud

SATURDAY

- la Degieville!

"Jack and Stonie are the hottest thing to hit the circuit this year."

per year would filter through the civil for the legislators," she said.

On another issue, Tom Hufford, senior in accounting, addressed the Senate in open period about the proposed increase of the K-State Union

"I have a feeling that the reason for this increase is due to a loss from Union Station," he said.

Hufford said this increase, coupled with last year's, will amount to $10 per person, or a 58.8-percent increase.

"This bill is a bribe by the Senate using student money to get the Union Governing Board to do what it should be doing anyway, because it is the student's Union," he said.

presents...

-The Daily Brother

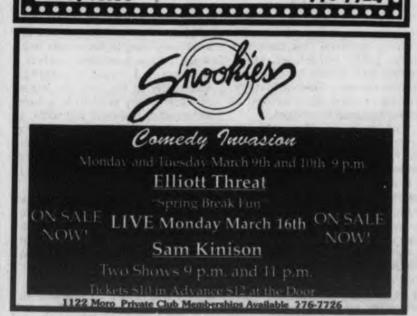

SINGLES NEW INTRODUCTION

No bars, no pick-ups, no funny business. Just ne with your interest both your lifetimes! FRIENDSHIP EXCHANGE in St. Center Suite 423 537-1021 Set. & Sun. 1-5 onl

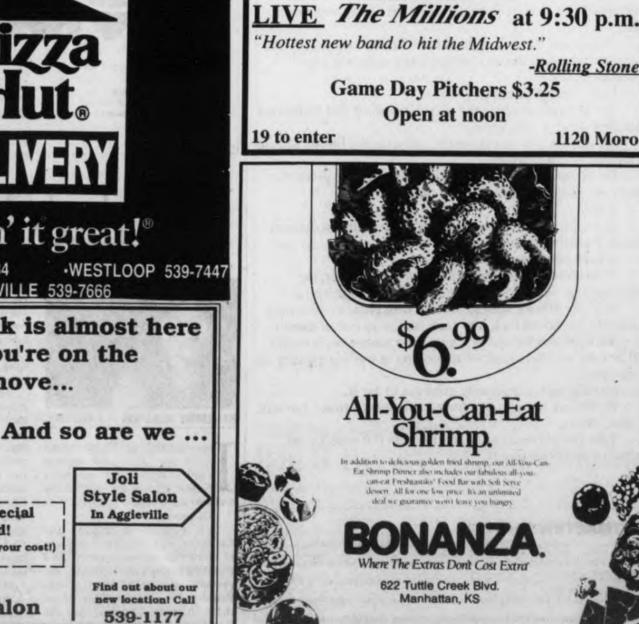

Las Vegas

2 for 1 Perm Special

Bring a friend!

(Take Higher Price + 2 = your cost!) expires 3-20-92

Joli Style Salon

Joli

Style Salon

In Aggieville

COLLEGIAN PINION

FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1992

EDITORIALS

Restricting records not a good idea

If a Manhattan school bus driver runs a stop sign and gets into a wreck because he was drunk, would you want to know if he had any previous DUIs?

We certainly would.

But to find out about the DUI, we need access to drivers' records.

Unfortunately, the law granting the public and media access may be repealed thanks to Sen. Gus Bogina, R-Shawnee.

The Kansas Senate recently passed the bill, 38-0. The legislation is a feeble attempt to curtail junk mail, but it limits access the public and media have to investigate public employees.

Access you deserve.

Why shouldn't the public have the access to find out the driving records and traffic safety of firefighters who maneuver 20-ton trucks through our cities?

The minuscule good this bill would accomplish is far outweighed by the harm.

Closing the records would still leave them open for certain people, such as tow truck operators. A few bucks to an operator and bingo, the records can be opened to anyone with the money. Only the legitimate uses of driving records would be curtailed with this foolish piece of legislation.

Any time public records are closed it is bad, because secrecy and public ignorance behoove no one.

The closing of these records would set off a domino effect of keeping the public in the dark.

Who knows what they will repeal next, maybe the Kansas Open Records Act.

Farrell funding plan must be considered

Regent Charles Hostetler's plan to get the Farrell Library expansion completed a few years early seems to have come right out of the blue.

But that shouldn't matter.

What's clear is that the proposal aims to get the revenue needed by increasing the state Educational Building Fund levy to 1.5 mills and that it will move the completion of the expansion up about 3 years.

Sounds good, eh?

But that's about all that's clear.

Brice Hobrock, dean of libraries, said he has been voicing his concerns about Farrell for 10 years and wonders why nothing has been done sooner.

Students and alumni say Farrell has gotten steadily worse for as long as they can remember and wonder why they've had to wait so long for anything to be done.

Wefald says the students should be thanked for moving the library up to the No. 1 priority, and that we will have the expansion completed by the year 2000 or 2001. Hostetler says his plan will get the expansion done sooner and that, no matter what anyone says, the plan is his idea and no one ever thought of it before. Others, including Hobrock and Wefald, say the idea has been around for at least five years, but the timing was never right.

Wefald and the rest of the administration use that excuse to explain why they haven't looked more seriously into Hostetler's plan.

Ugh! Enough already.

The students have waited and complained and demanded what they deserve long enough.

We are here for an education, and a decent library should be a given - not a luxury.

Everyone agrees the Legislature should have given the library the money it needed years ago.

Everyone agrees we need to get this expansion done as soon as possible, because it is long overdue.

It's not being done. If this plan will get the expansion done sooner, the administration needs to swallow its pride and look into it. If 20 Joe Blows went to Wefald with plans of their own tomorrow, he should look into each and every one of them. We need this library. If it gets done tomorrow, it would still be long overdue. And we're looking at waiting eight or 10 more years.

None of us will probably even get to use it.

We'll have a museum, (financed in record time), but still

Take this plan seriously and find out if it won't work instead of just assuming it.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State Univ blished by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Col sublished weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage aid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103.

tions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

ELECTION '92

66 After Tuesday, I felt like the Jamaican bobsled team. We had a lot of spirit, but unfortunately, we didn't get a lot

- Nebraska Sen. Bob Kerrey, on dropping out of the Democratic presidential race.

KANSAS STATE GOLLEGIAN

Weatherpeople are much more than partly foggy

The very term for me evokes images of perfectly polished mannequins that are either considerably obese or bordering on anorexia, flailing their arms in front of a computer-generated map replete with unrecognizable symbols, and stuttering their way through the weather report like a nervous sixth grader giving his first report in Sex Ed class.

I speak of these individuals because I happened to catch that Flip Spiceland fellow on the Weather Channel the other day. Talk about someone whose parents must have really disliked him. With nary a hair out of place and a smile almost glued to his perfectly capped teeth, my boy Flip reminded me of the Don Henley song, "Dirty Laundry," where he sings of people who just have to look good and don't have to be

After having spent a solid 30-45 seconds commenting on the strange weather patterns in northern Turkey, he spent the rest of his spot foretelling what he would forecast on his next spot, which was something along the lines of, "Well, somehow, something has caused something to act kinda weird in sorta this portion of this one nation .. uh, I think it's Columbia ... yeah, that's it ... and, well, coffee and cocaine prices will definitely be up this year! ... I guess.

And then there's Willard Scott, who, despite seeming a personable fellow and having a name I can actually believe is his, has convinced himself that he's a one-man crusade for regularity and gerontology and against intestinal upset. I figure about a quarter of his reports are actually dedicated to hard weather, with the rest to little old ladies, new "Today Show" sponsors, and explaining why it's an "off" or "on" day for his toupee.

From these icons of national weather, we go to the little local weather person, who lives for the chance to interrupt my favorite episode of "Star Trek" to tell me that some gimp in Backwater County saw a funnel cloud inhale his favorite hound up into a stormfront.

"Yup, that dem cloud jus' sucked ol' Billy right off d' porch; heard him a' yelpin' all the way up. Too bad me shotgun was in d' house, could've got in a few practice shots, but he was jus' plumb movin' too

Perhaps even worse than the weatherpeople is the technology involved in forecasting and displaying this phenomenon. My favorite is the new battery of little symbols each year that appear in the corner of your TV screens during some watch or warning or whatever. Looking like they were created by paranoid schizophrenia, I sometimes really can't tell if I should be looking for a thunderstorm or some Zeus-like god with a penchant for phallic devices.

So, in the spirit of our fast-approaching tornado season, I present my fantasy weather forecast, as I would give it while interrupting your favorite episode of "Star Trek."

"Sorry to break in like this well, no, I'm not sorry ... but the past two hours have produced some considerably severe weather. Yes, a cloud has appeared over Goodland and seems to be moving towards Hays. And since this is March in Kansas, we all know what that means ... Nothing!

"We would go to our live remote vehicle, but one of our cameramen took it down to

Daytona for the week, so none for you.

JARED GREGOIRE

"Let me insist that anyone within the area of this dangerous cloud (don't let its white puffiness fool you) should take precaution ... get out your camcorder! We pay good money to those morons with cam in hand who think that severe weather is their big chance to play George Lucas.

"And before I allow you to get back to whatever inane piece o' garbage you may be watching, let me say that I'll be cutting back in every, oh, five or 10 minutes to keep you updated on the movement of the cloud. I'm sure you're all so very interested.

"And if you all don't like it, well, then get off of my cloud!"

EDITORIAL CARTOON

LETTER ASIAN WOMEN AD SHOCKING AND

OFFENSIVE Editor,

I am writing to express my shock at the ad that appeared in the Feb. 19 Collegian, page 10, offering "Lovely, Faithful, Loyal Asian Girls. I understand you cannot censor paid advertisements, but certainly the paper must exercise some judgment. Are there no standards applied to the advertisements you accept?

The picture in this ad is of a girl who appears to be not much older than 14. The ad basically offers to SELL her. Can the editorial board of the college paper print an ad of this sort without violating any law? Do you not assume moral liability when you print an ad of this nature? This ad promotes involuntary servitude, something that was outlawed many years ago in this country.

This campus pays great lip service to cultural diversity. How do you think any Asian woman or man on this campus would feel when seeing this ad? Does this ad communicate to Asians that they are third world, third class, citizens?

Gretchen Holden Director of educational personal Individuals Must Control Racial Stereotypes

SHERRI WALSH GUEST

was sitting in the Union about a week ago, waiting for my next class to begin. As I sat there, a fellow student approached me and asked if he could join me.

"Of course," I said. We were both reading the Collegian, so not much in the way of conversation was spoken. As I thumbed through the Collegian, my eyes lit upon an ad for "Lovely, Faithful, Loyal Asian Girls." I sat there in mute disbelief that the Collegian would let such an advertisement appear in the paper. As I sat there fuming over what I considered a breach of good taste by the Collegian, my colleague, coming across the ad himself, turned to me and asked, "Do you have any relatives waiting to come here through this ad?"

His insensitive question was the proverbial "slap in the face." I sat there stunned, unable to reply as I fought down waves of anger. I managed to mumble "no," while I picked up my backpack and left. For days I was left with mixed emotions. Should I blame the Collegian for printing the ad, or should I blame the ignorance of the student who asked me the question? And should I blame myself for not having said more regarding the question? I found the answer to be 'yes" to all of my questions.

Although there was no malicious intent involving the printing of the ad (as discovered at a meeting with the Collegian editor and assistant advertising manager, as well as representatives of the Women's Resource Center, Multicultural Affairs and A.S.I.A.), the Collegian must assume responsibility for printing material that does not follow policy guidelines. Many women and Asians found the ad offensive and discriminatory, lacking in good taste, as well as promoting racial stereotypes.

The bulk of the solution, however, must fall to the student body and individuals. The University is our environment, and it is our responsibility to promote awareness and understanding for the many cultural diversities encouraged on campus. While some students read the ad as a harmless, pen-pal correspondence, much of the Asian and Asian-American body and many women, read the ad as a reinforcement of false stereotypes regarding Asian women as being "submissive," "loyal" and "whorish."

In pointing fingers, I certainly cannot excuse myself. I had the opportunity to perhaps dispel that particular student's stereotypes, or at the very least to have made him aware of his question's effect, however, I said nothing. Admittedly, at the time, my anger outweighed my need to help him understand; it should not have. I lost an opportunity to talk with another individual about a subject that affects far too many of us on this campus - stereotypes and discrimination. Although I cannot change the past, I am prepared to help the future. To the gentleman from the Union - and to all interested parties - I've found my voice, and I'm prepared to use it.

Sherri Walsh is a Sophomore in sociology, English, and pre-law

SCOLLEGIAN

Major League baseball teams kicked off the exhibition season with three games Thursday. Defending NL champion Atlanta defeated Los Angeles 10-0, the Chicago White Sox downed Pittsburgh 6-1 and Kansas City schooled Central Florida

The rest of the clubs will commence play today. The Royals will

FRIDAY, MARCH 6, 1992

CATS BASKETBALL

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Seniors bid farewell in season finale against Pokes

Howard, Zeigler, Rettiger say they will be pumped up and ready to go out on top

STEVEN ROCK

The Wildcats play host to the Oklahoma State Cowboys Saturday afternoon in what will be the Bramlage Coliseum finales for seniors Marcus Zeigler, Wylie Howard, and John Rettiger.

And they want to make this last one a good one.

"I just want to win," Zeigler said. "I don't think we (the seniors) are going to go out there and try to do anything we wouldn't usually do. To win would be enough.'

The three seniors, despite their final Bramlage home appearance being just around the corner, haven't been thinking a lot about it, they said.

"We really haven't thought about it much," Rettiger said.

The fact that Saturday would be both Howard and Zeigler's final Bramlage appearance hadn't occured to either of

"I didn't even realize it until a reporter asked me about it this morning," Howard said.

But now that it's here, and the three of them realize it, they said they're hoping that their curtain call motivates them on the

"It'll be an emotional game," Rettiger said. "And it (the emotion) might make us play a little harder."

For Zeigler, though, there's no might about it.

'This being our last game," he said, "we definitely want to go out there and give it all we've got."

And Howard, who was limited to just 14

"I never play for myself," Howard said. "I always play for the crowd, the coaches, and my family."

But it's the crowd, he said, that is his ultimate motivation.

"You don't know how many people it affects when you don't play well," Howard said. "I can see it in their eyes."

The Cats, who are, according to Zeigler, still bitter about the 91-62 road loss at Nebraska, are hoping to give the home crowd a reason to cheer.

But can those same 15-11 Cats, who suffered a tough defeat in Lincoln, pull the pieces together in time to face the 23-6 Cowboys?

"I think we're going to bounce back," Zeigler said.

Howard said that the Wildcats that beat Missouri and played the Jayhawks in a tough 2-point game will be the squad that shows up Saturday, and not the squad that minutes of playing time against the Nebraska, wants to win for the fans.

lost to Lamar and Oklahoma each by 41 out there and play Zeigler basketball."

K-State is 11-3 at home this season. One

"The team that beat Missouri is the K-State team," Howard said. "The team that played Nebraska isn't. We're going to put it

The Wildcats got bombed in the initial meeting between the two squads in Stillwater earlier in the season, losing by a score of 72-34. The Cats shot just 29 percent in that game. But the key to Saturday's game won't be K-State's offensive improvement, Rettiger said.

The key will be defense.

"We want to make it ugly," Rettiger said. "Low scoring, and a lot of scrappy defense - we win those games."

Zeigler, who played 38 minutes against the Huskers, said that the Cats need to play tight defense to win games. And Saturday will be no exception.

"We have to beat them in the defensive game," Zeigler said. And the senior point guard plans to do his part. "I'm going to go of those losses includes the 54-52 loss at the hands of KU. But in that game, a record 13,762 fans showed up to root for the Cats. It is that kind of fan support that drives the team to victory. "Sometimes I look up and see the crowd going crazy," Zeigler said. "It gives us that extra lift we need.

And that lift, Howard said, is greatly appreciated.

"I just want to thank K-State fans for giving me the best," Howard said. "I've gotten everything I possibly could at K-

K-State, whose conference record dropped to 5-8 with the NU loss, are tied with Iowa State in the seventh slot of the Big Eight. The Cowboys are 7-6 and in a three-way tie for third. The area Cats basketball ticket outlets are offering a "Spring Break Special," $7 general admission ticket in order to attract fans. to

INDOOR TRACK

Team play not stressed for NCAA meet

Qualified thinclads gunning for all-American honors at national meet

Only one more week and the big meet for K-State's top athletes is reality.

Running for team points in the Big Eight meet won't be the priority anymore when the Wildcats step up to the starting line at the NCAA Indoor Championships March 13 and 14 at Indianapolis, Ind.

'We don't have that many qualified, so I haven't really thought about team points," said K-State track and field coach John Capriotti."We can be in the top 10 or 15, but mostly we're looking for individual performances.'

Right now, six Cats' athletes are looking forward to competing in Indianapolis. High jumpers Connie Teaberry, who qualified with the second-best height in the nation, and Gwen Wentland, who had the third-best jump, are automatically Shot putter Christy Ward made the provisional qualification, placing ninth in the rankings. Sprinter Thomas Randolph, middle distance runner Todd Trask and high jumper R.D. Cogswell are there, but I think Connie and Gwen are in there.

"I think they both have a shot of winning the NCAA Championships. Of Qualifier meet in Ames, Iowa are released Sunday, since they are provisional qualifiers.

Those "on the bubble" except Ward are hoping that nobody will pass

Ward said she wants to make sure that she is in the nationals. "I'm still ninth in the nation," she said. "But I just want to go into the meet with a better mark." But Capriotti hopes that those six are not the only ones who will compete at the nationals. Verida Walter tries to improve her time of 8.11 seconds to at least the provisional mark of 7.93 at the Qualifier. Walter missed the chance for a better time at the Big Eight meet when she produced fault starts. Shot putter Dione Singleton is also going to Ames after improving to 47 inch short of the provisional mark. Debra Malone is just 26 hundreths of a second above the provisional hundreths of a second too slow for the provisional qualification.

with 4x800-meter relay. In the 800-meter run, Williams has to make up about 2 seconds, while as a member of the relay team he has a better chance. "The 4x800 team is 12th on the list right now and they take the top 10," Capriotti said. "They're going to the meet to get the automatic

"I think they have all a good chance to qualify for the nationals,"

Even if none of the those Cats have the ability or the luck to qualify for the NCAA meet, Capriotti said he would be pleased.

provisionally qualified as well.

Capriotti

However, be it provisional or automatic qualification, they have just one goal in mind — becoming all-Americans.

"The goal is always to go down there and to see how many all-Americans we can get," Capriotti said. "It's hard to figure out who will be course, you always want to have a NCAA champion, but those two have been jumping really well."

The other four have to wait until after the results of the Last Chance them on the ranks during the meet at Iowa State feet and one inch at the Big Eight Championships. Singleton is only one mark in the 400 meters. Sprinter Markeya Jones is even now just 9

Anthony Williams tries to qualify in the 800-meter distance as well as Capriotti said. "That's their goal."

"Oh yeah, I'm really happy," he said. "I just like to get a few more more of us in there, to get a few more qualified. But we will not know until

Netters hit road during Spring Break

The K-State tennis team will escape Manhattan's rainy weather during the next two weekends.

The netters will play today and Saturday in Fayetteville, Ark., against Arkansas and Mississippi State. One week later, the Cats will travel to Houston, Texas, for the Rice Tournament.

K-State coach Steve Bietau said the team uses the weekends around spring break time to play strong

"I see that weekend as important facet of the season," he said. "We play five matches in an eight-day period."

To begin with, K-State meets Arkansas today. Bietau said the Razorbacks are a familiar team.

"We play Arkansas every year," plays in the Southeast conference. The best conference in the country."

The Cats will meet Mississippi State for the first time in the schools' history. However, Bietau said he knows about Mississippi State's competitiveness by looking at its season's results.

"Both are strong teams, and I'm anxious to play these teams," he

After a short rest, the team will hit the balls March 13-15 at the Rice tourney.

It is an eight-team tournament in which the teams play duals, advancing in winner and loser brackets until all places are played

K-State's possible foes are Rice, South Alabama, Tulane, Illinois,

he said. "It is a strong team, which Colorado, Southeast Louisiana and an additional team, which Bietau said he does not know yet.

> Bietau said the tournament is an optimal place to get a preview of the upcoming Big Eight season. "There are two reasons why I like the Rice tournament," Bietau "First, at Rice, are good teams, and second, the tourney's playing format is the same as the Big Eight will be like this year." Both factors playing competitive teams and getting familiar to that format - are profitable for the team, Bietau said. Playing against quality opponents also gives the players the opportunity to get things done for the future, Bietau said. "Our No. 1 double (Michèle Riniker and Mareke Plocher)

Neili Wilcox, Suzanne Sim and Martine Shrubsole.

In the doubles, the combinations of Lusnic and Shrubsole, and Wilcox and Sim are set to play on position two and three.

Amy Grantham will not be able to travel with the team to Fayetteville, Bietau said, and probably also miss the Rice tournament.

OVER THE BAR

Wentland will be a favorite at NCAA national indoors

FRANK KLEEMANN

t says it right after her name in the K-State track and field media guide - multi.

Multi. That's what Gwen Wentland is, a multi-event athlete competing in high and long jump as well as in heptathlon. Multi-winner is what she would like to become after the NCAA Track and Field Championships March 13-14 at Indianapolis.

My goal is to be an all-American," Wentland said. Entering the meet tied for third in the nation in the high jump with

Colorado's

Karol Damon at 6 feet 1 3/4 inches, Wentland not only has a good shot to end the indoor season with all-America honors, but could win the NCAA title as "Going into the meet with

But it also creates some pressure." Assistant track and field coach Cliff Rovelto said at such competitive fields as at NCAA chance to win. "Gwen is certainly one of the people who could very well be among the top six," he said. "She's just as capable of winning as anyone, but at that caliber of field, a sixth place finish wouldn't necessarily be a bad result. "There are a number of girls who have been in the nationals before and who were really successful in the past. They all can compete well and are really good jumpers." Rovelto said at the NCAA meet, the same could happen there as happened at last week's Big Eight conference meet in Lawrence. Wentland came in with the field's best mark, but instead her teammate Connie Teaberry won the meet.

The native of Grand Blanc,

Mich., said she also sees no big difference between the conference and national meet.

"The nationals will be like the Big Eight because three of the top four jumpers in the nation are from the Big Eight," Wentland said.

Teaberry is not only one of Wentland's strongest competitors, she is also a stimulation during practice.

"It's a big help to have someone who's always competing with you and pushing you higher," Wentland said. "It's an advantage at the competition when you practice at a high level." However, Wentland is concentrating on the upcoming meet now - and about nothing

"I don't worry about what my rank is," she said. "I try to put all that behind me. I don't think that is important. I think it's important who is on (top) and who is not." Something that will definitely help her, Wentland said, is the experience she earned from last year's showing at the meet. She also said she liked the indoor surface there. Maybe that experience will be an important factor. After qualifying for the meet at the Husker Invitational Feb. 8 in Lincoln, Neb., Wentland couldn't practice as intensively as she liked to, she said. Pain in the same foot in which she suffered a broken bone last year is still bothering her in practice. 'We haven't jumped in practice for a few weeks," Rovelto said. "Gwen just did approaches. That's one reason why she's a little bit rougher right now than she was one and a half months ago. "She is capable of jumping a lot higher than she has. Over the break, Rovelto and Wentland said they will cut down on the amount of practice. Rovelto said there won't be the practice sessions that cause fatigue. Rather, they will be quality workouts.

Wentland said she also sees the remaining time before the meet as chance to spare her foot. "The last two weeks before the nationals, I have time to rest," she said.

SPORTS DIGEST

NBA: Nuggets retire No. 33

DENVER (AP) - David Thompson. whose NBA career was cut short by substance abuse and injury, will have his Denver jersey retired by the Nuggets next

Nuggets officials reportedly spent considerable time in making the decision because Thompson is a recovering substance abuser. Nuggets president Tim Leiweke said Thompson was, "probably the greatest player to wear a Nuggets uniform, considering what he did for this franchise during its glory years." Thompson scored 73 points in the last game of the 1977-78 season and signed a $4 million, 5-year contract. But he was traded to Seattle in 1982 and underwent drug rehabilitation, then injured his knee in a New York nightclub fight in Thompson, who lives in Charlotte, N.C. with his wife, Cathy, and two daughters, said he was "very happy, very pleased" with the decision.

"I figured it deserved to be retired and I'm glad it's happened," he said.

Thompson's No. 33 jersey will hang in the McNichols Arena rafters alongside the previously-retired uniforms of Dan Issel (44) and Byron Beck (40).

Lady Cats play Big 8 tourney

A new season begins 6 p.m. Saturday when the Lady Cats tackle Colorado in the first round of the Big Eight Women's basketball tournament in Salina.

Colorado, 11-3 league action, which swept the season series from the Lady Cats, 2-12, is led by freshman guard Shelley Sheetz. Sheetz was named the Big Eight's player of the week for last

The Lady Cats will counter with senior guard Mary Jo Miller, a second team all-Big Eight selection and junior forward Leah Honeycutt, who was an honorable mention.

GOIN' TO KANSAS CITY Big 8 tickets still available

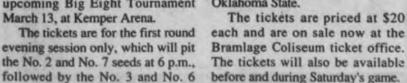

The K-State Athletic Ticket seeds at 8:20 p.m. K-State is Office h as a limited number of "available seating" tickets remaining for t he first round of the upcoming Big Eight Tournament March 13, at Kemper Arena.

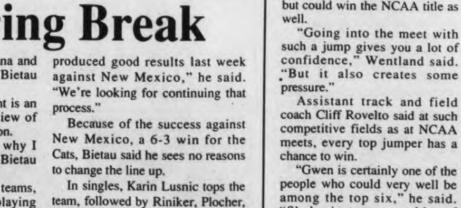

Saturday's outcome against Oklahoma State.

each and are on sale now at the Bramlage Coliseum ticket office. The tickets will also be available before and during Saturday's game.

assured of being either the sixth or seventh seed, depending on

Improved freshmen orientation sought

Updated booklet, extended activities, peer assitants are committee goals

LAURA MCADAMS

Improving freshman orientation is a long-term goal of the Student Senate Student Affairs and Social Services Committee.

Two options being considered are creating a better booklet for freshmen and extending the orientation from one day to a weekend, said Camille Rohleder, committee chairwoman and junior in education.

"Freshmen are already given a thin, little pamphlet that basically talks about the first few weeks of school," Rohleder said.

The committee would like to include more information about possible activities and scenarios, includ-

"Right now, there is about one paragraph on activities," she said.
"We need lengthy pages of activities, so that students will know all the possibilities."

Also being updated is the booklet's academic information, with different course descriptions categorized into majors.

We are editing the academic section of it," said Gary Pierson, assistant director of new student programs. "We sent out the course descriptions to the respective colleges and asked them to revise and edit them."

The section's intent is to prevent students from getting lost while looking at the University catalog, he said.

"We're trying to break it down ing problems and solutions, she said. into a more manageable document,"

Rohleder said the committee would also like to extend the orientation into a two-day session during more than a weekend before other students return to school.

Older students would be in charge of the weekend, as "peer assistants," she said.

Other schools, like Oregon State University, use a peer system, with each assistant in charge of 40 new

"They give tours, assist with makand activities," she said. "They are there for questions."

This means freshmen would be more familiar with the campus before they are thrown into the college scene, Rohleder said.

It may not be feasible, however, for students to stay for a weekend.

"We might be able to do a better job by providing a two-day orientation, but there is a concern that some people may not be able to stay overnight," Pierson said.

This concern includes taking more time off from work, the added expense of staying overnight, and the fact that students come from across the country for orientation, he said.

Other possible improvements include feedback about the program from freshmen and using more creativity, he said.

"We need to find more creative ing schedules and talk about services ways to communicate information to the students," he said. "This may include skits, videos or experiential

Other possible improvements are

Jennifer Wright, freshman in psychology, said individual advisement through the summer would be better.

U.S. accuses Iraq of burying weapons

WASHINGTON - The Defense Department on Thursday accused Iraq of burying Scud ballistic missile launchers, nuclear equipment and other military items near Baghdad in defiance of Persian Gulf War ceasefire requirements.

They've been hiding things since the U.N. inspection started" last year, Pete Williams, the department's public affairs chief, told reporters.

"They've been burying parts of their nuclear capability," he said. "They've been burying all kinds of things - ballistic missile capability right along with everything else."

Williams was responding to questions about a report in Thursday's Washington Times that the United States is actively hunting for more than 100 Scud missiles intelligence agencies believe may be hidden underground near Baghdad.

We have been interested in the number of Scuds, but in fact, the search is going on by the United Nations, not the United States," Williams said.

The spokesman said the U.S. government has offered guidance on where the U.N. inspection teams should look for hidden Scud missiles and Scud missile launchers, but he said there was no new effort or sudden concern about Scuds.

Iraq fired Scud missiles at Israel and Saudi Arabia during the war.

A U.N. cease-fire resolution accepted by Iraq requires that it permit destruction of ballistic missiles with a range of more than 150 kilometers, or about 90 miles.

Iraq also is required by U.N. resolution to eliminate its nuclear weapons capability.

Iraq's ambassador to the Arab League, Nabil Najm, said this week that Iraq is completely committed to implementing the U.N. resolutions.

K-State alumnus appointed to manage Bell's external affairs

He has two jobs. One boss is from the phone company; the other boss is God.

Wayne Franklin, K-State alumnus, has been appointed Southwestern Bell Telephone's new external affairs manager for Manhattan.

But not only does Franklin work for the telephone company, he also is the pastor at Topeka's St. Paul Church of God in Christ.

Does being a minister and working public relations for the telephone company cause some conflict?

There has never been a conflict in the 14 years that I have been with Bell," Franklin said.

The company is governed by the FCC and by the Kansas Corp. Commission, he said.

governing body is, we have to follow them and support them," he said. There really is no conflict at all.

In fact, I started in the ministry when I was a senior at K-State. I then moved to Salina with the telephone company and was assistant pastor there. Then I moved on to Topeka."

"So whatever the policy of our

With Franklin's church in Topeka and his new office in Manhattan, he has to commute back and forth, but he said he is planning a move to Manhat-

"I still have commitments in Topeka that I am tying up, but I have physically moved to my new office in Manhattan," he said. Franklin said he will live in Manhattan during the week and commute to Topeka during weekends. "I will have to have some good people who I can appoint to make sure week, and I think I have some good people," he said.

Franklin is chief media spokesman regarding telephone company matters, any type of complaints and any type of service problems for Southwest-

Franklin

"I will be the chief person the public can get a hold of about any telephone matters," he said.

If a complaint arises, Franklin said, the company works to make sure the problem is resolved.

"Basically, I am the facilitator," he the ministry is on foot during the said, "so a person will not have to go through a lot of red tape with our company.'

> "Basically, I am the facilitator so a person will not have to go through a lot of red tape with our company."

> > Wayne Franklin

Franklin, a 1978 graduate, credits

K-State with his preparation for lead-

"It taught me a lot about people, about organization and leadership, he said. "It was the springboard for my success today."

Franklin came to K-State in 1973 in the footsteps of his brother, Bernard Franklin, assistant dean of stu-

'Bernard is my older brother," he said. "When I came to K-State, he was already quite visible and popular on campus. It was the deal where I was known as Bernard's little

Through involvement, Franklin said, he was able to establish his own

Franklin's involvements included part-time work and serving as senior class president, vice president of Blue Key National Honor Society and a member of several different commit-

Task

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 versity and task force member, said the third task force, on Standard Data Base, will study what kind of information will help the regents since all institutions report a set of data each

They will study how to make that information compare across all six

315-B POYNTZ

Use the 3rd & Houston St. parking lot.

Three doors up the alley from Burger King. Downtown.

institutions, Wilkinson said.

"It's kind of like making sure everybody counts everything the same," he said.

Wilkinson said the driving force behind the task force is the changing times in higher education.

A set of complete data that will provide the regents information they need to help make informed decisions is what the task force hopes to accom-

MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

Segregated parking irks mall employees

PAM FRAHM

Finding a parking place at the mall is not always an easy task.

It can be even harder for employees of mall businesses, who are asked to park in the outer perimeters of the lot to leave the closer parking spaces

Each store at the Manhattan Town Center has its own designated area of the lot for employees.

Even so, Chris Heavey, mall general manager, said there is not a parking problem.

We have a parking situation, not a problem," Heavey said.

According to Heavey, in the retail business when it is hard to find a parking place, it is considered favorable, because it means there are a lot of customers.

This favorable situation, however, creates unfavorable conditions for some mall employees. Many mall employees are not happy with the regulated parking sys-parking system is not effective, and it is unsafe for employees," said Dalene Wieland, CPI Photo Finish employee. "I don't feel safe walking to the periphery of the lot with a bag of deposits when I have to close the store at ees should park. night."

Other mall employee concerns include insufficient lighting of the park- uled among all mall business managing lot and the lack of security outside the mall.

Wieland said even though security guards are available to escort employees to their cars after work, they are often busy or hard to find. She said it would be helpful if security guards patrolled the lot in their cars.

Celeste Johnson, Brass Buckle employee, said its employees are supposed to park outside of Dillard's, but sometimes the Dillard's doors are locked on that side of the store.

When the doors are locked, she said, mall employees have to walk around to the other side of the mall to

How to solve these problems while

"The current designated employee maintaining adequate parking for customers is being investigated, Heavey

> He said he is working on a new manager's handbook, which will tell the managers exactly where employ-

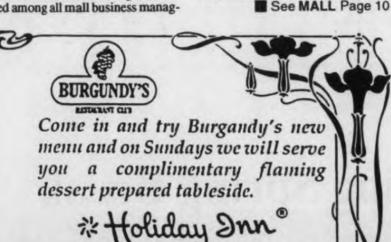

After the manager's handbook is finished in March, a meeting is sched-

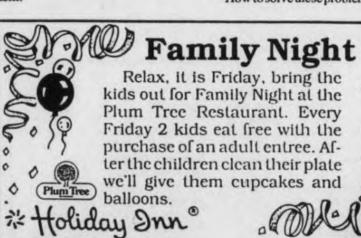

530 Richards Dr.

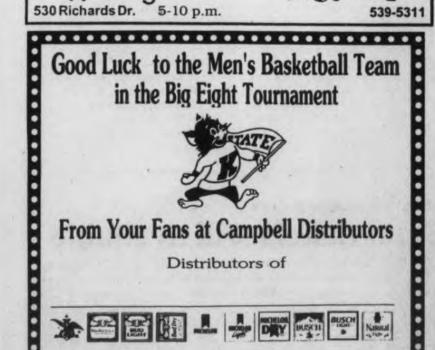

ers to tell them about the new shifts in

The parking situation extends beyond the mall, as some employees of Poyntz Avenue businesses say there are problems with the current parking situation.

Several businesses on Poyntz have designated parking areas behind their

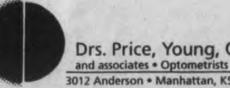

Draft and Package Available Everywhere

Take Care Of Those Who Take Care Of You.

Your eyes are essential. With them, you work, play and live life to its fullest. It's important that your eyes stay as healthy as possible. You'll be using them for a long time.

At Price, Young, Odle, Horsch & associates we express our care for your eyes through the attention we give them. With an excellent staff of professional optometrists, it's unlikely you'll get service as dedicated anywhere else in the state.

And with our 3 month contact lenses for sale at the lowest price in Manhattan, there's no better time to check out your eyes. Come see us at Price, Young, Odle & Horsch. We just might have what you're looking for.

Drs. Price, Young, Odle & Horsch PA and associates • Optometrists • We Focus On You. 3012 Anderson • Manhattan, KS 66502 • (913) 537-1118

Golden Key National Honor Society

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

776-1193

10% Discount

on any repair service with coupon

expires 3/28/92

congratulates the following people upon being nominated for the Graduate Teaching Assistant Award at Kansas State University for 1992

Anthony Barilla Economics

Alan Grant Economics

James Halm Sociology

Nicki Kiner

Music Jeanette Krueger

Journalism and Mass Communications

Janet Laird Mathematics Education S. H. Venkat Mechanical Engineering

Sociology

John Lavin

Geography

Mitchell Neilsen

Charlie Peters

Patricia Pirkey

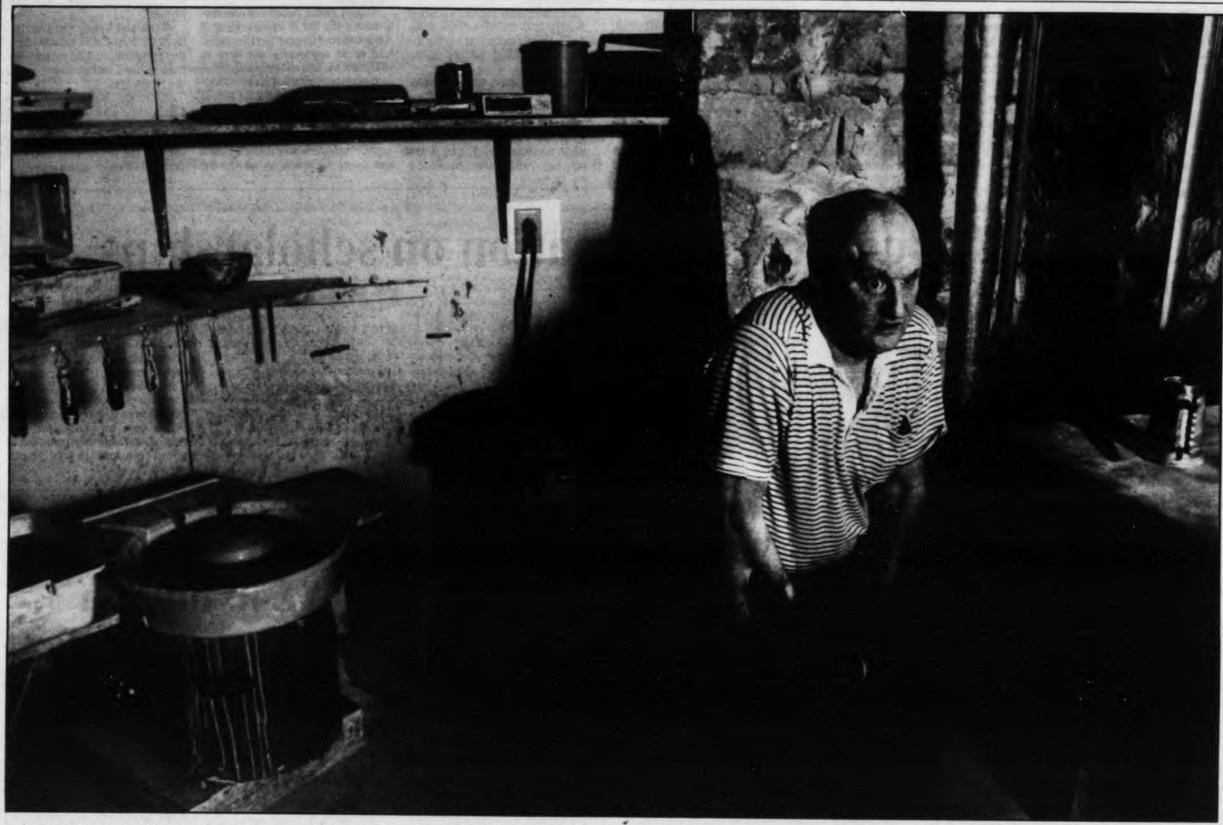

Computer Science

Animal Physiology

Elizabeth Vogt Entomology K-State students appreciate the outstanding efforts and contributions of these graduate students in their teaching roles.

A traveling plaque has been presented to the Department of Economics in honor of Anthony Barilla, the 1992 Graduate Teaching Assistant Award Winner.

Without eyes or hands, Bill Wedekind said he wants his strength to give hope to others who might not be as strong. Wedekind, who was injured in Vietnam, lives in Manhattan making pottery in his workshop.

AKING A LIVING WITH A STRONG GRIP ON LIFE

B ill Wedekind is a strong man. That's evident in his grip.
"Put your fingers in here," he said, opening the bones that have become his hands. "Now try to pull your hand away."
He holds on.

"I make a living with that," said Wedekind, a Manhattan potter.
Surgery has transformed the bones of his forearms, replacing the hands he lost in Vietnam. He lost his eyes there, too.

Wedekind said some people hesitate to shake his hand or won't touch him at all.

"Little kids are funny, though," he said in a quiet voice. "They either want to touch my arms, or they're scared to death. The funny thing is their parents react only the same way."

Wedekind said while girls want to know how he manages his daily activities, boys want to know about the war.

"The little boys are more interested in the blood and the guts than anything else," he said.

Wedekind has seen his share of the blood.

"I turned 18 years of age, and in 1967, you didn't have a lot of choice," he said. "If you weren't in school, you were in the military."

Like his father and his grandfather, Wedekind chose the Marine Corps.

"I wanted to be the best of the best," he said. "When I went into the Marine Corps, I kept that philosophy and went into reconnaissance."

On May 25, 1968, Wedekind was leading a four-man reconnaissance patrol through Vietnam when his team was ambushed.

"They greeted us with hand grenades," he said.
An explosion tore into Wedekind's left leg as he ran for cover. It broke his leg, and he was bleeding badly.
He tried to throw a hand grenade of his own. As he was getting ready to throw it, a bullet grazed him across both shoulders, and he dropped the grenade.

"I don't remember an awful lot after that," he said.
"My own hand grenade got my head, my hands, my eyes and my ears."

octors didn't expect him to live. Wedekind said he could have died, but he never gave up.
"I had the opportunity to quit," he said. "I could've done it real easy. All I had to do was quit

"I didn't know what I was going to do," he said. "I was 19 years old. You know, I got wounded the 25th of May. My 19th birthday was on the eighth of June. I got back stateside on the ninth of June. Nice birthday present — a lifetime of guaranteed income."

Back in the United States, Wedekind spent most of 1969 in a rehabilitation center for the blind. He learned to find his way by following walls. When he left the center, he was able to find his way through downtown Chicago by himself.

Yet the biggest obstacles were overcoming the prejudices of other people.

PHOTOGRAPHY BY MARGARET CLARKIN

Once Wedekind entered a bus and found an empty seat with his cane. He heard someone stir next to him.

"How'd you get so crippled up?" an old woman had asked him.
Wedekind said he was touchy about the word "crippled." He said while many people have disabilities, the only cripples in society are the people who refuse to do anything for themselves — whether they're handicapped or not.

Wedekind turned to the woman and answered her question.
"I said, 'Well, it happened like this: I'm a very high-strung, very

"I said, 'Well, it happened like this: I'm a very high-strung, very nervous person, and I was chewing my fingernails. My hands slipped, I poked out my eyes and bit my hands off."

The bus stopped, and Wedekind got off. He said he felt the wind of the woman storm past him on the street.

B owls, plates, mugs and vases line the shelves of Wedekind's workshop. He averages 12 pieces on most days, but he's made up to 25.

Wedekind has been potting since 1970. His grandmother, Myrtle Fincham, first suggested the idea.

At first he was reluctant, he said. He had not worked with it since he was 12 years old.

"I said 'Grandma, you're crazy," he said.

After realizing that he had nothing to lose, however, he jumped into it.

"I got out of the hospital in '69 and was enrolled in classes in the spring semester of '70," he said. "I never want to waste a lot of time." Time is what has helped Wedekind to find patience.
"When you pray for patience," Wedekind said, "he doesn't give it to you — he teaches it to you."

He has learned to adapt. A guide dog helps him through traffic areas, and he uses a Morse code key instead of a keyboard on his Wedekind walks over the shelves he built, takes a piece of clay and places it on the potter's wheel. His hands transform the shapeless lump into a vase.

"Don't take a picture of this," he said.

Wedekind leans over and shapes the rim of a pot with Wedekind leans over and shapes the rim of a pot with his lips. "I haven't figured out another way to do that," he

He attributes his success to goals. Wedekind said once he reaches one goal, he sets another further on. It keeps him going keeps him going.

That's something society doesn't expect of the handicapped, he said.

"If you're not given the opportunity to show yourself, you never will," he said. "I think the disabled population is very underused in this country."

Despite his circumstances, Wedekind isn't a bitter man. He bangs the ashes out of his pipe and looks up with the plastic eyes.

"I think it was my destiny to be a blind invalid, because I was strong enough to do it," he said, "to give some other people some hope who might not have

"That sounds a little arrogant," he said. "I don't mean it to be "

STORY BY TOM LISTER

person who might receive the transfuhe was proud of the fact he always said. "I just want respect for disabled from the Red Cross explaining why the organization has to take blood from either 2 inches above or below

Kenny was disappointed because

We were both in tears," Karen

Keith and Kenny received letters

sion," Larson said.

the elbow area.

gave blood, Keith said.

Red Cross turns away handicapped donor

Man unable to extend arm; fear of injury reason for refusal, volunteers say

Kenny Lynch suffered a serious brain stem injury three years ago after he fell from a two-story roof.

The fall left him with impaired speech and written communication skills, as well as limited use of his arms. He was in a coma for six months.

Karen Lynch, Kenny's mother, said two days after, he came out of the coma and asked for his blood donor

The card had been on his bulletin board for the two years he was in the prior to his accident at age 19.

"I've never seen a more willing

Karen said she and Kenny waited two hours in line at the K-State Bloodmobile in February. She said they visited with several students in line, and they were all proud of Kenny for

They had to maneuver Kenny's wheelchair around several chairs and tables to reach the table where potential donors fill out paperwork, she Kenny was saying.

"They wouldn't make an excep-

"The setting was not conducive to a handicapped person being there and giving blood," said Keith Lynch, Kenny's father.

Karen read the questions to Kenny, and he told her the answers.

"The only reason my wife read him the questions is because it was faster," Keith said.

If it appears donors have trouble reading or writing, they must go through an oral interview - without anyone else present — to make sure they understand how AIDS is transmitted, Keith said.

However, Karen wasn't allowed

tion to any of their rules," Karen said. "I realize the Red Cross was following rules, but they were inconsiderate and made assumptions about handi-

"They screamed questions at him."

Kenny said the most frustrating part of his experience was having the American Red Cross people yelling

"They should have allowed him to maintain his dignity," Keith said.

Keith said mentally, Kenny is 95-

The Red Cross refused to take Kenny's blood because he could not time to find out if my arm extends," nications for the Wichita region of American Red Cross Blood Services, said he is apparently not able to straighten his arm and keep it straight.

It was the registered nurse's judgment if there was potential for him to

Karen said she was willing to hold concerns.

"In this instance, the Red Cross handled the situation in a very poor, insensitive way," Keith said.

Department to minimize problems

The Department of Parking Services is continuing a search for ways to minimize the parking problem on

"We're constantly looking for new areas to erect new parking lots," said Dwain Archer, assistant manager of parking services. "However, there is enough parking on campus. It's just

It's that walk that has some stu-

He said his parking escapades have Collegian earned him more than $100 in parking

"The money paid (for parking permits) should go toward new spaces.

Archer said the money from permits is used to pay bond issues for maintenance, repairs and the expan-

He said parking services is planning to add 103 spaces to the A-7

"The Justin lot was conducive to expansion, because space opened up when it was decided the old greenhouse will be demolished."

ENTERTAINMENT

TAD MUSSELWHITE

And they can read, too.

The Industry, a Kansas City-area

band, includes a tune called "Willy Loman" on its latest album. The song summarizes the award-winning

"Death of a Salesman" with clarity hospital. He had given seven times blood donor in my life," she said. "He wanted the gallon pin so bad, just to say he did it.

capped people.

A wheelchair and a speech problem do not mean a person is mentally deficient, she said.

to help the interviewer interpret what 98 percent of what he was before the fully extend his arm. They should have asked ahead of Kenny said. Kalen Larson, director of commu-be hurt, Larson said.

Kenny's arm if that was the problem. 'We look out for our donor's health and safety as much as we do the Karen said that's fine, but the Red Cross only addressed one of their

PARKING

seeking ways

DEREK BOHLKEN

on the outer edges.

On certain days, at certain times of day, you have to look a little bit for a parking space. It requires a little bit of walking," he said.

dents miffed.

Robert Pearson, freshman in business, said parking in Lot B-3, his assigned lot, is usually not an option as he rushes from his last class to board, bill states football practice each day.

tickets this year.

"The parking sucks," Pearson said. "They ought to tear down the Old Stadium and build a parking lot."

sion of lots. parking lot behind Justin Hall.

Unique songs illustrate social problems, detail miscommunication, turmoil non-members.

IRS collects information on scholarships

Funds for room, board, travel taxable since 1987, according to agency

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. - The government is worried that college students may be cheating - on their

Any portion of a scholarship applied to room and board or travel has been taxable since 1987, assuming the recipient already earns above a certain minimum.

There is a concern that many taxpayers don't know the room and board portion of the scholarship is taxable income," said Gail Ellis, a spokeswoman for the Internal Rev-

Last month, the agency collected sity on scholarship recipients, uni-

Students are indignant.

This is really frightening, to try to use the IRS to beat on students," said Selena Dong, legislative director of the U.S. Student Association.

"Students are barely able to meet college costs, and all of a sudden, there's this new, tough IRS position on scholarships. It's incredibly frus-

Schools are not required to report information from Harvard Univer- financial aid directly to the IRS. Instead, students are expected to dis-tips" on tax forms, Ellis said.

Those who haven't reported scholarships could be assessed the amount due plus penalties of up to 25 percent of the unpaid tax.

Financial aid applied to books, supplies and tuition remain tax-free, said Marianna Pierce, a Harvard attorney. She acknowledged that the school turned over files on 3,500 scholarship recipients from the calendar year 1989 in early February.

Students who are not claimed as Dong said.

close it under "wages, salaries and dependents on their parents' tax return must themselves pay taxes if they earn above $5,500, including financial aid applied to room and board or travel. Dependent students pay if they make $3,400 or more in taxable income.

"Now they say, 'Here's this measly amount of money that you might have gotten from schools, and all of this red tape to wade your way through,' and still they complain if you can't graduate in four years,"

BOARD OF REGENTS

College governance may change

Community power would transfer

KELLY KLAWONN

Kansas community colleges could be in for a change. The Senate Education Committee began hearings on a bill that would transfer governance of community colleges to the Kansas Board of Re-

The bill was referred to the Legislative Education Planning Committee and will be studied and reviewed Proponents of the bill say the transfer would create a more efficient sys-"We need to think of more efficient ways to work with higher educa-

The Industry is scheduled play at about 10 tonight and Saturday at the Spot Tavern in Aggieville. Cover charge is $3 for members and $4 for

Composed of only three musicians

a guitarist, bassist and drummer — the band is of the "less-is-more"

school, said Dan Torchia, City Spark

Diversity describes band's musical style

However, opponents of the bill have expressed concerns that the board is too far removed from the needs of community colleges to be effective.

"Our college is supported by our community with 80 percent of the funding coming directly from the community," Johnson County Community College President Chuck Carlsen said. "Local control is very important, since local people fund the school."

Difficulties associated with students transferring from community colleges to regents institutions is one force behind the bill. "The transfer of power would help provide better coordination of classes, and, in turn, that would help in the matriculation process," Regent Charles Hostetler said.

tion in the state," said Sen. Lana Oleen, duplicity of course work within the action.

With Joe Hart on lead guitar, Jeff

Brown on the drums and back-up vocals, and Allen Epley on bass guitar and lead vocals, the Industry rocks

Hart said the band's style of music

"I'd say that our style would be

Perhaps the best way to describe diverse. Everybody's views will be the Industry's style would be a cross

Records representative.

with an innovative style.

is hard to explain.

different," he said.

community college structure.

For example, in southeast Kansas, there are four community colleges within a 20-mile radius, and they offer many of the same courses.

Proponents of the bill claim the regents could better coordinate classes to allow for a more efficient use of funds and resources.

Currently, state community colleges are governed by the Kansas Board of Education, which also oversees grades K-12. There is concern the board has become too large and too diverse in its responsibilities. "There are far more similarities between regents schools and community colleges than between community colleges and grades K-12," said Ted Ayres, regents general counsel.

However, Ayres said the bill was There also is concern about the not introduced to produce immediate between U2, Rush and Pink Floyd.

Epley said their music is all about introspection and looking at social problems people have in relating to each other. The band writes in first person about miscommunication and

The Industry, with the help of City

Hart said the band was formed

Spark, is trying to create a unique sound for Kansas City, Epley said.

about four years ago.

Women seek more than $40 million from breast implant manufacturers

Recipients lured into false sense of security, lawyers say ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA - Four women who claim they were injured by leaking silicone breast implants have filed lawsuits seeking more than $40 million from the manufacturers. An amended complaint was filed in U.S. District Court here Thursday adding three plaintiffs to a lawsuit initially filed Wednesday by Cynthia Steward of Wichita. The other plaintiffs are Carrie Jean Shearburn, El Dorado; Terry Ann Tyrell, Newton; and Georgann McGlynn, Wichita. The action was filed by a Wichita law firm that has won multimilliondollar product liability settlements or verdicts in cases involving the food supplement L-tryptophan, tampons, intrauterine devices and vaccines.

Mark Hutton, a partner in the firm, said he is awaiting medical records on 20 additional breast implant cases he intends to file.

The amended complaint was filed late Thursday afternoon against Dow Corning Corp., Bristol Myers Squibb

Co. and related companies. Spokesmen for Dow Corning of Midland, Mich., and Bristol Myers Squibb of New York City weren't immediately available for comment. The other Dow defendants include

Dow Chemical Co. Inc., Dow Coming Wright, Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, and the Corning Corp. The Bristol Myers defendants include Surgitek Inc. and Medical Engineering Corp. Hutton said after conferring with 40 other lawyers who are handling breast implant cases that he is amazed at the lack of information the manufacturers of the devices were providing - especially to plastic surgeons - about adverse reactions and unfa-

"They were sitting on this little time bomb for years and years and were slowing releasing microscopic amounts of information while depriving the Food and Drug Administration and consumers of any information that would cause concern toward these products," Hutton said.

More than 20 years ago, Japanese researchers injected silicone into humans, and because of the problems that developed, recommended against the manufacture of breast implants, Hutton said. U.S. manufacturers knew of the studies in Japan, he said.

■ See IMPLANT Page 10

and intelligence.

ENTERTAINMENT Irish folk singers perform at Manhattan mall

JEFF GAMBER/Special to the Collegian

Felix Powers, vocalist, and Nancy Stover, planist, perform Irish and other kinds of music Thursday in the food court of Manhattan Town Center. This was the duo's second performance together.

St. Patrick's Day celebrated through traditional songs turmoil.

TRISHA PERRIGO

With St. Patrick's day just around the corner, the Manhattan Town Center celebrated with Felix Powers and Nancy Stover, who performed several Irish folk songs Thursday after-

An old Irish favorite, "Dannyboy," captured much attention.

forever. There are a lot of old songs I had completely forgotten about, before I went to the library to look at all the old sheet music," Stover said. "It has been a life-long dream of his to perform. It's not Nashville or

"Those old songs they just live on

New York, but it's fun for him," said Uteva Powers, Felix's wife. "My brother and I used to sing in the one-room school houses before TV kept everyone glued to their homes," Uteva said.

This was the only entertainment they had - there where no radios or televisions.

in the old school house," Uteva said. Felix has been singing since he was a little boy, and Stover started

"We all met on Sunday afternoons playing the piano when she was five years old.

This is the second time the two Manhattan residents have preformed at the mall, and they just recently started the duo.

Felix sings in the choir and is a member of the Uptown Band at the senior center. Stover also plays for the K-State dance class and the Life Song Theatre. "I learned how to play by ear in prison," Stover said. "I played for the Sunday services. I was told they like to play where music its needed. "They didn't have sheet music, so I learned to play what they requested. It was neat, because they didn't have anything to sing for, they really sang needed someone to play the piano. I

"That's why I love to play with Felix. He sings from his heart. One little boy wanted to hear 'Love Me Tender' again. It really reaches people," she said.

from their hearts.

"When people request things it brings back old feeling of something maybe their grandmother taught them. It makes them feel loved."

SCHOLARSHIP

Blue Key to award $6,500 to students

BETSY BERKLEY

Blue Key Senior Honorary will be awarding $6,500 in scholarships to outstanding K-State students for 1992-93.

Every spring, Blue Key gives 13 scholarships worth $500 each, said Jada Kohlmeier, Blue Key scholarship chair and senior in history.

The money comes from an endowment of more than $170,000 from the Student Foundation. The money comes from donations either by a memorial or from Blue Key alumni, Kohlmeier said. Of the scholarships, applications are available for the Lewis Sophomore Leadership Award, Greg Hardin Memorial Scholarship, Neal Atkinson Junior Service Scholarship or See BLUE KEY Page 10

COLLEGIAN LASSIFIEDS

ATTENTIONI ATTENTIONIII Due to Spring Break the Deadline for placing Classi-fied Ads is Noon Friday, March 6 for the Monday, March 16 Collegian.

Automobiles for Sale

1985 OLDS Calais Supreme, V6, air condi-tioning, power steering, power brakes, power windows, AM/FM cassette, good condition, well maintained, $3000 nego-tiable. 776–9862 ask for Karla or leave

1986 CARAVELLE, four-door, Automatic, air condition, $1,800 call 539-2555. Noon-5:30p.m.

1986 HONDA Accord LX-i. Includes radar

1988 CAMARO Iroc T-top automatic loaded, red, excellent condition, 57,000 miles, 889–4342.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1985 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

FOR SALE: 1989 one-half ton Chevy Silver-ado pick-up with matdring w/w two horse trailer. Call evenings (913) 749-5161.

APPLE IIC complete system; color monitor, built-in and external drives, modern, Im-ageWriter II printer, software. 776-8841.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, Michealangelol Nation-wide this virus starts annually on March 5. Disinfect your computer before this virus cannibalizes your hard drivel Too late, you say? In most cases, we can re-capture your information. Schedule your preventive maintenance today! Connect-ing Point Computer Center, 539-0801.

PLENTY OF Portable Power! Mitsubishi 286 with one meg, 40 MEG drive, three and one-half and five and one-fourth drives, and external keypad. $995 MicroTelesis (Lunchbox- style) 386 with CGA gas plasma screen, one meg RAM, 40 meg (17 ms) hard drive, full size keyboard and four expansion slots, $1400. Call 537-2937 and make offer.

Computers

dectector and two extra tires, Call Gel-mine 532-2947.

Announcements

ARCHITECTURE STUDENTS: Need help seeking employment in the Architectural profession? My Kansas City firm has an option for you. If you are interested in attending a career counseling seminar, write Teri B. Price, TBP Architectural Services, Inc. 5613 Nall Ave. Roeland Park, KS 66202 or call (913) 384-6929.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

CUB SCOUT Biscuit and Gravy Feed, Sat-urday, March 7, 1992 7a.m. - 1p.m. First Christian Church 115 Courthouse Plaza, Manhattan. Adults- $2, children - $1.

PREGAME PARTY 11a.m. Saturday

Live DI Friday night

Free hotdogs & nachos 'til they're gone!

COMING ATTRACTIONS

FEMALE STRIPPERS Wednesday through

Saturday 6 p.m. 'til 9 p.m. BOUNTY HUNTER

Tonight Starting at 10

BLUE RIVER PUB

North on Tuttle Creek Blvd. 537-9877

Geech

Calvin and Hobbes

Off the Mark

By David Swearingen

Shoe

By Jeff MacNelly

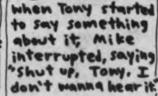

Jim's Journal

we left santa

Monica today.

Nobody was saying much, and I got the impression Mike hadn't had a good time.

We drove all night and into the next day, in shifts.

Employment

Collegian cannot verify the financial po-al of advertisements in the Employment elfication. Readers are advised to ap-ch any such employment opportunity

$40,000' YEARI Read books and TV scripts.
Fill out simple "like" don't like" form.
Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, vacations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS13REB.

CASH FOR College! Don't miss your opportunity for the scholarships! financial aid you are qualified for! Call or write for information on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, Lawrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360. ATTENTION STUDENTS: Local businesses need students now for stuffing envel-opes at home. All materials provided. Excellent earnings. Send SASE to Homemailing Program—B, P.O. Box 3182, Olathe, KS 66062. Immediate re-

ATTENTION STUDENTS: Position in the FENIX Adult Student Service Office, $87.50 per week, 20 hours per week through May 13, 1992. Job description available. Resume and letter of application due March 6, 5:00 p.m. in Holton Hall 201. Equal Opportunity Employer.

NATION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army National Guard would like to help youl in addition to monthly drill pay, we offer the following incentive programs: $2,000 bonus, $6,120 G.I. Bill, and the $10,000 loan repayment program. By serving two days a month, and two weeks a year you could qualify for up to $28,000. To find out if you qualify, call 537-4108.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing. gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding, Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $1,000 or more plus R & B. Marc Seeger. 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. (708) 446–2444.

CRUISE LINE entry level on Board- land-side positions available, year round or summer. Call (813) 229-5478.

MMEDIATE OPENING for a full-time grounds keeper, experience relating to landscaping or lawn care required. Contact Geary Community Hospital. Attention: Cathy Witt, P.O. Box 490, Junction City, KS 66441. EOE.

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

GUARANTEED ALASKA JOBS ex. $1000+/wk, room, board & airfare. New 92: 80 pg. guide reveals most current prospec in: Fishing, Oil, Alaska Teacher Placement, Degreed jobs, Construction, & much more. Weekly info available. State liscensed agency. Alaskemp Guarantee: Secure Alaska job, or 100% refund. Send $9.95 + $3 S&H to: Alaskemp, Box 1236 - T, Corvallis, OR 97339

By Jerry Bittle

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701. LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and re-creational areas. Horticultural back-ground helpful. Send resume to Colle-

LINE UP summer job now! We are currently hiring a crew for 1992 harvest, starting in May. Only drug free, non-smoking individuals need apply. Please call for information, Naegele Combining Inc. (913) 525-6326.

NOW HIRING over 40 people for Big Brother Big Sister Project. Need callers for morn-ing and evening hours. Good salary plus bonus. Apply March 7, 9 or 10, 9 - 6 p.m. 1124 Waters "One block off Anderson

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

STOPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed

STOPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed to stuff our Dieting Circulars from your Dorm/ Homel Excellent Wages—$3 per envelope! No experience required! Set own hours...Full or part-time! Mailers needed immediately! To start send a long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157 Forked River, NJ 08731.

VAN DRIVER: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for transporting clients to/ from day treatment program. C.D. L. required. Contact Community Support Program supervisor, Pawnee Mental Health Services. Call 587–4333.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

A HOUSE with three bedrooms and three bathrooms. Central air condition, carpeted and close to campus. $600 Available from August. 537-0428.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. One-bedroom furnished apartment, one-half block from campus, $365 per month, 776-1340.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

FOR NEXT school year, close to campus.
One, two, and three-bedroom apartments in the North Park Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal, and laundry. For appointment call 537-0428.

GOLDKEY APARTMENTS. 1417, 1419 Leav enworth. Deluxe two-bedrooms, leasing for fall. 776-0177, 539-2567.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Next to KSU. Nice two-bedroom for three-four str May-July 31 $590. 539-5451.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

BRITTNAY RIDGE Townhomes- five-bedrooms, sand volleyball, hot tubs, central air, washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Best living community in Manhattan. Only $205/ month. 539–3606, Will be showing over break for June lease.

CLOSE TO campus, very nice 2, 3, and 4 bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST LEASE- next to campus apartment complex one across from Goodnow and the other near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30 p.m. 539-2702.

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

June & August Leases Available Now

4 bedrms, 2 1/2 bath & study

 All appliances furnished, including washer, dryer & microwave.

Pre-wired for your computer, phone & cable TV.

 Large recreation area with hot tubs & sand volleyball Bus service to campus Monthly rent as low as $195

For info call 776-8763 Property Resources

Bogarde

teammate

Feud"

Management

2 Fre-

verse

9 Leeway

19 "Enterprise"

speed

city

Leasing Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

10 For Rent Houses

1425 HARRY Road, large house suitable for five-six students. No pets, air condition, carpeted, 539–5267.

13 For Sale Mobile Homes

14X70 MOBILE Home with custom kitchen only $182.50 payments. Will finance. 15 mobile home selection #198 Redbud. Countryside Brokerage 539-2325.

14X70 WITH deck. Two bed, two bath, with garden style tub. Includes all appliances and central air, 537–8003.

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

15 Garage and Yard Sales

MOVING SALE— Everything must go. Furni-ture, computer, small appliances, plants, misc. Sat., March 7, 9a.m.— 2p.m. 3109 Lundin Dr. #5.

16 Lost and Found

Only found ads can be placed free of

FOUND: TWO cats. One male grey with dark stripe and dark paws. One male greyish black. Both house broken. Do not belong together. Call 537–3386.

FOUND- CALCULATOR with IEEE template in Paslay Lecture Hall. Call Kathey to identify. 537-8134.

LEFT AT Photo Services, two rulers. Call

LOST: SMALL female spayed dog apriot Ter-rier/ Poodle mix 10-12 pounds, "Sidney" with pink collar, Lost in Hosencutter Rd/ Stagg Hill area, Call Laurie with infor-mation at 537-7608, 537-1600, 539-7701, 537-1591.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles Sale

1991 BLACK 18-speed MTB men's $125 or best offer 537-8103. Leave message.

21 Personals

AG ED Schmucks- Roses are red, violets smell sweetly, get down to brass tacks, but you don't have to eat mel Good luck teachers. Ill miss you all! USD 416

CHAD: WHEN I saw you thru the glass, I no-ticed your cute ass. Last Friday we met again, and I brought you to my den. I hope in studio you didn't slack, because that night you chose to shack. What will the future bring? How bout some more of the wild thing?

LA- THANKS for holding me close this week. You're the Best bestfriend! I miss you already. All yours, Dard.

SIGMA CHIS— We know our choice was right, we've dreamt of y'all, night after night, now it's true, we're with you. We'll party, laugh and play, as for Homecoming we'll go all the way. Luy. Tri Deltas.

"SUN-CHILD" THANKS for being a great bright spot in my life. I'm going to miss you over break. Love, Sleepless

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

ABUSED ADULT male, white shepard needs special home, shots, neutered, 532-5776, 1-784-5919, 1-456-2592.

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537-7795.

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537–7294.

DATA SHEETS to dissertations and every thing between. Laser printing, 12 years experience, Mrs. Burden, 539-1204. FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality

Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539-3229, 8a.m.- 8p.m.

MAKE YOUR resume, papers and invita-tions look great with a laser printer and scalable fonts. $1.25 per doubled-spaced page of text. Joyce, 537-7027 after 5.

UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for papers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommete Wanted

AVAILABLE MAY 1st own bedroom, share kitchen and laundry, in country place for horse. $200/ month all bills paid. 1-456-9145, leave message.

FREE MARCH rent to first female to move into nice two-bedroom, 539-5366 or 726-3425.

MALE NEEDED, walk to KSU, furnished, private bedroom, share the rest. 539-1554.

ONE NON-SMOKING male to take over lease, now till August, on two-bedroom basement apartment located across from campus, own large room, lots of storage off street parking, available immediately $195 all utilities paid. 539-0248.

ROOMMATE WANTED $120 plus one-half utilities. One block to campus, John 537-1369.

WANTED: FEMALE roommate who is a seri-ous, clean, non-smoking student. Ask for Celeste 776-6470.

25 Services

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

FREE Pregnancy Tests

523 S. 17th Old Town Mall 1-800-848-LOVE 5683

28 Sublease

IMMEDIATE SUBLEASE $175 plus one-third utilities, call Eric at 537-9060 or 776-0058.

SUBLEASE REASONABLY one bedroom in nice, spacious three-bedroom apartment from mid-May to July 31, 537-3386 ask for dustin/ leave message.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, June 1- July 31, two-bedroom apartment close to campus and downtown, cheap rent, air condition, par-tially furnished, quiet. Great for summer school. Call 776-9862, Kristi or Karla or

SUMMER SUBLEASE, Nice two-bedroom, two- four people, $300 plus utilities; call 539-3360.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, three-bedroom apartment across from campus. Mid-May-July. Call 537-2967. URGENTI NON-SMOKING female needed to sublease townhome immediately. One-fifth utilities, shuttle and more. Roxanne, 776-8828 or Monica 776-6301.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

AIRPLANE TICKET for spring break. March 6- March 15, Kansas City to Washington D.C. round trip $338 down to $300. Call

TWO STUDENT section tickets for sale to the Oklahoma State game, Sat., Mar. 7. Call 776-4196.

30 Travel/Car Pool

NEEDED GIRL to carpool to northern part of lowa over spring break call 1-456-2832 for more details.

SOUTH PADRE Island condominiums for spring break, $20 per person per night/ off beach $25 per person per night/ beach front (800) 422-8212

SPRING BREAK 1992 with college tours Cancun $449. Price includes: air, hotel, parties and nightly entertainment! Call for more information and reservations, 1-800-395-4896. SPRING BREAKI South Padre Island Texas beachfront Radison Resort, beachfront partying two and three-bedroom sleeps 6-8. Discount by owner. (212) 472-1414.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback. Best offer, 539-4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed rod bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

SPORTS CARDS for sale or trade, leave message, Dave 537-2616. By Eugene Sheffer

Crossword

- picking 36 Wore a ACROSS 1 Opp. of neg. rut in the 4 Rue the rug
- 37 Young 8 "Novus pigeon 40 Actor Seclorum* 12 Sternward 13 Tart 41 "Family 14 Hen pen run

15 It's stuffed 42 Military on Christmas Eve 17 Heavy beneficia ries

20 Wrote

often

the

- reading? 8 Kitchen 47 - of lamb VIP 48 Inexperi-19 Amendenced ment 19 49 Bothers
- 22 Cover 24 Catcher's 1 - de deux 25 Personal Solution time: 26 mins.
- magnetism 29 Arafat's org

50 Do what

- 30 Twitter 31 Pull a waterskier 32 Miss, in Madrid
- 35 Ready for Yesterday's answer

- water quently, in 22 Sajak's cohort 3 California 23 Avis adjective 25 Inte-
- 4 Sent out invitations 5 Hairdo 6 Attila, e.g. 7 Work unit 8 "Army"
- 46 "Heaven's 10 Cupola 11 Admitting customers 16 Guitarist Atkins
- you're told Turn red? factor 20 Mischief DOWN makers 21 Cleo's

 - 3-6

- grated circuit 26 Actress Channing 27 "Mondo animals? Cane*
 - 28 Filled with wonder 30 Nursery item 33 Speech-
 - 34 Dogwood feature? 36 Apt to argue over
 - story 38 Campus area 39 "Do -
 - 40 Twelve, to Jose 42 "No seats" Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SHORT ON LETTUCE letters FOR CHEF'S SALAD, THEY'RE PUTTING THEIR HEADS 43 Bill
 - 44 Hudson co-star 45 She sheep

SGEU-OD-SZTQKU

others... U Q D K VKUZEYKS TGIIKV NKII-QKKIKV.

> TOGETHER. Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals C

INON HEM OMEN CANOPY AGRE PAUMSUNDAY GOALS UKE USA ALLY GAS WALL NIL PAM MANSE GOODERUDAY 34 Lecturer,

Local schools relatively safe

Weapon-toting teens rare, no gangs, principals say

KEITH LEFF Collegian

Recent trends in weapon-toting in high schools have not been observed in Manhattan and Junction City, according to school officials.

Sgt. Stanley Conkwright, in charge of special projects for the Riley County Police Department, said to his knowledge, there is not a problem.

However, he said at the beginning of the school year, there was a dispute in which a Manhattan High School student was cut with a knife near the Sunset Zoo, which is close to, but not on, school property.

To prevent such occurrences,

Conkwright said, the school has security guards on the grounds, but guards stationed in bathrooms and metal detectors are unnecessary.

He said there is always the potential that fights will occur in high school, but nothing out of the ordinary has been displayed by MHS students.

"Manhattan High School is an outstanding school with a lot of great kids," Conkwright said.

James Rezac, principal at MHS, said there have been few instances in which knives have been confiscated from students, but not not as many as there were 10 years ago. He said he does not know the motivation behind the knives being brought to the school.

He said the school has hall monitors at different times of day and a security guard patrolling the parking lot and the building part of the time. Rezac said if a student is caught with a weapon, depending upon the seriousness of the circumstances, punishment can range from the usual three-day suspension to permanent

As far as the dress code is concerned, Rezac said students are not permitted to wear bandanas. This is to discourage gang activity, although Rezac said there is currently no gang activity at the school.

He said that last year, the wearing of such bandanas caused confrontations between groups wearing different colored bandanas, but the confrontations were not gang related.

Larry Dixon, principal at Junction City High School, said there have not been any major problems there. However, he said there was one incident in which a loaded 22-caliber pistol was brought into the school at the beginning of the school year.

"He brought it to school just to show it off," Dixon said. "The student had no prior history of violent behav-

He said the gun was confiscated, and the student was expelled for the remainder of the school year.

Dixon said the school has unarmed hall monitors who patrol the halls and the grounds.

He said the school has a dress code prohibiting Los Angeles Raiders football team paraphernalia. Dixon said the clothing is banned due to illegal activity during the summer.

He said in most illegal acts, all of the perpetrators were wearing some sort of Raiders paraphernalia. Dixon said there was no gang activity in-

He said the school also prohibits the wearing of colored bandanas.

Standing

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

image of blacks. It seems the crimes are mostly committed by blacks. Those are the stereotypes—black and poor people.

What the Japanese know about daily life comes from news agencies. "Ordinary people are afraid of murder," Sato said. "Big money crimes, we don't care much about. It's the idea of personal harm." Yuki Komagata, junior in computer science, said Japanese people don't have a lot of interaction with foreigners. She said Japan was a closed Komagata is from Niigata, a small agricultural town on the northern coast of Japan.

Before I came to America, a lot of people in Japan told me that some of the American people don't like the Japanese," Komagata said. "These feelings were because of World War II and the current economic situation.

When I arrived here, I felt like they didn't care where I'm from, not as much as I was expecting," Komagata said.

Komagata said she came to K-State to learn English and get a de-

"I found it was more interesting here," she said. "I want to try to make the situation between the United States and Japan smoother."

The education an American student receives is much different than a Japanese student.

A Japanese student will study hard in high school for the college entrance exams. Once those are taken, there are only two tests a year for the stu-

"Once you get in college, you don't study," Sato said. "College is heaven."

Sato, who attended Hokkaido, a college in Yokahama, said he thought U.S. students are very serious about grading and study very well. It is because of this that Komagata said he chose an American college.

The experience I learn here is a lot more practical," Komagata said. "I am free to change my major any-

Saeki said education is the biggest difference the countries have.

"There are a lot of American students who lack discipline. It's not a matter of education, it's a matter of discipline."

American education is different from the Japanese version. But when it comes to work ethics and how a worker views his job, the situation is both different and similar.

"Americans' reason to work is because without work, they can't eat or play," Sato said. "In Japan, all we can do is work hard and produce something for others or else we die. We don't have anywhere near the resources Americans have."

He said Japan's large population lives on a very limited amount of

"I think the Japanese do work more than the Americans by hours," Komagata said. "Japanese workers feel like they belong to the company like family. It is part of your life. There is a strong relationship between the place they work and themselves."

Komagata said a worker's level in the work force and education play a large role in how the Japanese perceive American workers.

"Not all Americans are lazy," Sato said. "My boss is American, and he stays here 'till 2 to 4 a.m., he's crazy. He's American, and he works very well and very much."

He said blue collar workers seem to be taking the brunt of the com-

Sato used King Hall as an ex-

"The workers go home at 5 p.m. If my sink is leaking at 5 p.m., good-

He said the relationship between the blue collar and white collar workers in Japan are treated closer to equal than in America.

"Honda and Nissan now employ Americans," Sato said. "In Japan, workers work well in car factories. In America, it seems the worker is the enemy. The workers get layoffs, and they want more money.'

The Japanese see the large gaps between the workers and executives,

"There are some rich, some poor and very few homeless in Japan," Sato said. "Lee Iaccoca was paid $4.4 million and Chrysler is loosing money, but the chairman of Toyota is paid $600,000 and they are gaining money.

"Even the rich people in Japan don't make that much money and the poor in Japan aren't really so poor."

Rubber checks bounce back to haunt Congress

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON—The House ethics committee, in a move that sent shivers through the ranks of Congress, Thursday proposed publicly disclosing the names of 24 lawmakers who repeatedly wrote bad checks on their House bank

The committee, which released no names, will ask the full House to approve the proposal, giving nervous members a direct say in how many of its number face a potentially disastrous election is-

The disclosure would include 19 current and five former members of Congress.

Not even the 14 ethics committee members know who the major abusers are, because the information compiled by the General Accounting Office used codes to identify the account holders.

The committee proposal would name only repeated and routine abusers. Some House members already have called for disclosure of all members who wrote bad checks.

House sources have said about 300 members may have written at least one overdraft at the bank, which was closed late last year because of the check scandal. The committee would privately notify the worst abusers they faced public disclosure so they could plead their cases before any list became public. Rep. Matthew McHugh, D-N.Y., acting chairman of the ethics committee for the investigation, said the panel supported the proposal on a 10-4 vote. McHugh, who also headed the panel's investigating subcommittee, said there will be at least one other alternative, maybe more, when the committee plan goes to the House floor next week.

The members' bank, a prized perk for more than a century, didn't charge a financial penalty to lawmakers who wrote rubber checks. That amounted to interest-free

It's unlikely that any House decision short of full disclosure will be the final word.

Members will be under pressure from the media, political opponents and constituents to reveal how many bad checks they wrote.

The ethics committee, officially the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct, has that information, and members said it would be provided to any member who

The proposed 24-person list represents those who met the following standard adopted by the committee:

- Wrote at least one bad check a month for any eight months in a 39-month period ending Oct. 3. 1991. The months, which need not be consecutive, represent about 20 percent of the period.

Each bad check must have exceeded the net amount of the House member's next paycheck. That means the paycheck would not have covered the deficiency.

The committee took into account the longstanding practice that allowed members to write overdrafts up to the amount of their next paycheck. When the overdraft exceeded the next paycheck, the member was notified.

Virtually all House members had their paychecks automatically deposited in the bank.

The committee also decided to criticize management of the bank by House Sergeant at Arms Jack Russ. Russ failed to carry out reforms ordered by Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash.

Lobby

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 when we're looking for big bucks," Montgomery said.

He also said students should be briefed about the committee process of how bills are reviewed. The more they know about the process, the easier our job is," Montgomery said. Rep. George Teagarden, D-LaCygne, said he was not at all disappointed with K-State's lobbying ef-

"The two people in my office did a good job," Teagarden said.

However, he also said that because his office is on the fifth floor, he did not get to see a lot of the lobbying.

Sen. Dave Webb, R-Stilwell, said he also believes student lobbyists should be more familiar with how the committee process works.

He said Lobby Day is a positive effort, but students should be more organized and research more before "The programs are good, and I would encourage the students to keep it up," Webb said.

Webb said only nine of the approximate 230 names on the petition given to him were students from his Tim Oswalt, state and community affairs director for the student body president's cabinet, said he was pleased with the amount of participation at Lobby Day. Although the legislators were not able to fulfill all of the requests, Oswalt said, they were congenial and agreed to do what they could to help. Oswalt said more than 1,300 names appeared on the petitions given to the senators. A receipt of these petitions was put on record in the Senate jour-"Knowing that there are this many people involved will make a big impact for K-State," he said.

Blue Key

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8 Chester E. Peters Scholarship for Student Development. Applicants will also be considered for the Blue Key and Walter Martin scholarships. To apply, students must go through an application process. Applicants must submit a 500-word essay, an updated resume and a current college Once chosen, Blue Key members, administrators and faculty members will review applicants in personal 15-minute interviews. Winners will be chosen on scholarship, leadership, citizenship and service.

Virus

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The advice is to first have a current backup of the hard drive and scan all new software to make sure they are clean," Gould said. "The second is to scan your system using some sort of scan software. And then get rid of the virus by means of some software tool."

Havenstein said if the identity of the person writing the virus program can be proven, the person can be sued for damages and is criminally punish-

"But not too many people have been caught, though, as it is extremely difficult to prove the crime."

There has been a large growth in computer viruses in recent years.

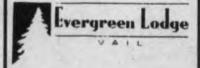

"In the last few years, there have been new strains of viruses developed," Gould said, "Currently there are about 1,200 viruses out there. The K-State campus has seen about half a dozen different types of viruses that I am aware of."

Gould said in some ways, the media are generating more apprehension about the Michelangelo virus than is

"Yes it is a problem, and yes it needs to be addressed. But good computing practices, such as having a current backup, being aware as to where you are getting your software from and scanning your system will take care of it," he said.

SKI & SHRED BREAK VAIL

$98 per night* 3/18 - 4/14/92

*single or double occupancy Sun. - Thurs. Space available

-800-284-VAII

Reservation & Information

Kerrey

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 on-trade ad set in a hockey rink.

Friends and political analysts concluded Kerrey was being packaged by consultants, and not particularly

"He got a lot of bad advice, took a lot of bad advice and he has had a bad Rothstein, who remains a Kerrey confidant although his approach to mar- place to park. keting the candidate was rejected.

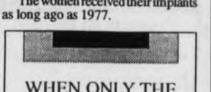

Implant

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

Each of the women in the lawsuit claims the leaking implants caused injuries to their immune systems, joints and skin. They claimed they incurred substantial doctor and hospital bills and suffered wage and salary losses.

All four plaintiffs requested $10 million each in punitive damages. They also are seeking actual damages in undetermined amounts each greater than $50,000.

The women received their implants

WHEN ONLY THE BEST DENTISTRY WILL DO ...

 PERSONALIZED PROFESSIONAL

PRACTICAL

PROMPT

Now Serving the State of Kansas Traditional-Prudential Dental Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient. Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A. 514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA DOWNTOWN, MANHATTAN

537-9414

Mall

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 stores, but some employees said it is hard to find a place to park, even in the designated areas, because mall employees and customers are parking in

One Poyntz business employee said downtown business customers outcome," said ad-maker Joe often complain because they have to spend so much time looking for a

In a Hurry For Lunch?

Come in and have our luncheon buffet, it includes soup, salad bar and Hot foods for only $4.95 Monday thru Friday.

530 Richards Dr.

* Holiday Innº 11 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

539-5311

Church Directory

CRESTVIEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH

COLLEGE CLASS 9:30 a.m. WORSHIP 10:30 a.m.

Lutheran Campus Ministry invites you . . . Worship, Sunday 11 a.m.

Danforth Chapel (campus, behind McCain) 539-4451

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH

Collegiate Bible Study Sun. 9:30 a.m. International Bible Studies Sunday Evening Fellowship or Caring Cells 6 p.m. Family Night Wed. 7 p.m.

St. Isidore's Catholic Student Center Masses: Sat. 5 p.m. Sun. 9:30, 11 a.m. & 5 p.m. Confessions; Sat. 3:30 p.m.

Unitarian-Universalist Fellowship Ontarian-Universalist Fellowship Service & Sunday School 10:45 a.m.
An old church with a liberal tradition and openmindedness about religious belief. For more information call 539-9369 or 537-2349.
481 Zeandale Rd. (Hwy. 18)
Second left off Hwy. 177 S. of vladuct.
Everyone Welcome

511 Westview Drive 10 a.m. Morning Service 10 a.m. Sunday School Wednesday 7:30 p.m. Testimony Meeting Reading Room-105 N. 4th

ST. LUKE LUTHERAN CHURCH (LCMS)

Lutheran Student Fellowship (LSF) Campus Pastor,

Rev. Frederick V. Smith Bible Class Sunday 9:30 a.m. Worship Service......10:45 a.m. 330 N. Sunset Ave......539-2604

Morning Worship 8:30 & 10:45

Students Welcome! 776-0424 2901 Dickens

> FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH Worship 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. Disciples of Christ Handicap Accessible

115 Courthouse Plaza

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship

Sunday School 9:35 a.m., Worship 10:45 a.m. Pastor: Harris Waltner 539-4079

Child Care Availa

Westview Community Church Worship Services

8 a.m. - 10:30 a.m. Sunday School 9:30 a.m. Sunday Evening Service

6 p.m. (1, 3, 5 Sunday of month) Care Cells 6 p.m. (2, 4 Sunday of month) College Program Handicap Accessible

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd.

Worship 8:30 & 11 a.m. Sunday School 9:40 a.m. (for all ages) 10th & Poyntz 537-8532

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month) 9:45 a.m. Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services John D. Stoneking, Pastor 776-8821 612 Poyntz

PEACE LUTHERAN CHURCH

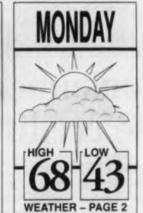

Worship 8:30 a.m. & 10:45 a.m. 2500 Kimball

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

What goes into preparing for game day at Bramlage

SEE PAGES 7 AND 8

MONDAY, MARCH 16, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 113

Check bouncers named

List of 'abusers' surfaces in House bank rubber check scandal

WASHINGTON-Former Rep. Tommy Robinson of Arkansas and Rep. Bob Mrazek of New York wrote the most bad checks among 355 current and former lawmakers ensnared in a rubber check scandal at the House bank, the Associated Press learned Saturday.

Rep. Robert Davis, R-Mich. appeared to be third, according to information provided by his press secretary, William Blaul.

Robinson wrote 996 bad checks, and his overdrafts exceeded his next paycheck for 16 of the 39 months under investigation, congressional sources told Associated Press. He denied the allegation.

Mrazek wrote 972 bad checks, with a negative balance that exceeded his next paycheck for 23 of the 39 months reviewed by the

the New York lawmaker, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate, disputed the number of checks.

Blaul confirmed that General Accounting Office information showed that Davis wrote 878 over-

He said that figure, and the aggregate amount, matched information obtained by the Associated Press that showed Davis's deficiencies exceeded his next paycheck for 13

Davis, who pronounced himself "absolutely astounded," admitted that he overdrew his account more than 800 times, but he did not provide an exact number.

A nearly complete list of the 24 "abusers" of their checking privileges surfaced as members of Congress struggled at home to blunt any House ethics committee. An aide to political damage from one of the most embarrassing furors to hit Congress in years.

The House voted 426-0 early Friday to disclose the names of 296 current and 59 former members who wrote bad checks at their special bank during the 39 months that ended Oct. 3. The bank has since been closed.

The list of abusers is to be released first.

The Associated Press learned the identities of 21 of the 24 names on it all of them current or former Democratic lawmakers.

Davis was the 22nd name and first GOP disclosure, but the identities of the two other Republicans could not immediately be learned.

The ethics committee criteria identified the abusers: account holders whose overdrafts exceeded their next paycheck 20 percent of the time during the 39 months are under

For those who were in the House the entire 39 months, the 20-percent figure came to eight months.

Besides Robinson and Mrazek, the list is as follows: -Rep. Charles Hatcher, D-Ga., 819 checks, 35 months

- Former Rep. Doug Walgren, D-Pa., 858 checks, 16 months Rep. Stephen J. Solarz, D-

N.Y., 743 checks, 30 months Rep. Charles A. Hayes, D-Ill., 716 checks, 15 months - Rep. Ronald D. Coleman, D-

Texas, 673 checks, 23 months - Rep. Carl C. (Chris) Perkins, D-Ky., 514 checks, 14 months Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark.,

499 checks, 20 months Rep. Ed Towns, D-N.Y., 408 checks, 18 months

-Rep. Harold E. Ford, D-Tenn., 388 checks, 31 months - Rep. Edward F. Feighan, D-

Ohio, 397 checks, eight months - Former House Democratic Whip Tony Coelho, D-Calif., 316 checks, 12 months - Rep. William Clay, D-Mo., 329 checks, 10 months

See LIST Page 5

Museum fundraisers near goal

Farrell's vision of creating home for permanent collection to become reality

PAM HANSON

Collegian Higinbotham Gate in the southeastem comer of campus.

The exact site has not yet been chosen, said Thomas Rawson, vice president for administration and finance and museum committee mem-

Whether the museum takes up one or both of the parking lots in that location will be decided as the project gets further along, he said.

The campus parking committee has asked the museum committees to minimize lost parking or ensure parking won't be lost, Rawson said. He said the museum committees are working with those guidelines.

The existing parking lots are not optimally laid out due to the land-The Marianna Kistler Beach Art scaping within the lots, said Charles Museum will be built near Reagan, assistant to University President Jon Wefald.

When the museum is built, the lot will have landscaping surrounding it, allowing more cars to fit into the lot, Reagan said.

At the most, he said, 20 parking spaces, if any, will be lost.

"We won't know until the design is made of the building," he said.

Rawson said construction of a new parking lot behind Justin Hall will begin as soon as classes are out in May. Revenues from parking fees and fines will pay for the new lot, he said, and it should be finished in early fall.

The museum will be close to the other fine and liberal arts buildings, said Ruth Ann Wefald, chairwoman of the museum's original steering used to build the museum, and an committee, which is now dissolved.

She said the current museum com- an endowment. mittee is trying to satisfy student requests to make the museum accessible.

Reagan said the selected area is beneficial because McCain Auditorium, Nichols Hall and the museum can work together. He said pre- and ing on the art museum. post-performance receptions could be in the museum's foyer.

all approval processes for campus, the Kansas Board of Regents and the Kansas Legislature, Ruth Ann Wefald through the approval processes.

Groundbreaking will not start until the $5 million needed to build the museum is raised, said Gary Hellebust, vice president for major gifts at the KSU Foundation.

So far, $3.5 million of the funds has been raised, Hellebust said.

Reagan said the $5 million will be addinonal $1 million will be used for

The interest from the endowment will be used to purchase art and pay for the operation of the building,

He said two committees are work-

The Art Museum Building Com-Plans for the museum have passed mittee will determine the site, develop the architectural plan with the architects and take the museum

> The Art Museum Operations Committee will develop policies for the museum operations and acquisitions, hire a new director, develop a budget and work with the building committee so the building's architecture matches its function.

Turkey rocked by second quake; aid pours into city

Death toll at 800;

thousands missing: 180,000 left homeless

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ERZINCAN, Turkey - Another strong earthquake struck eastern Turkey Sunday, just two days after one killed as many as 800 people and left 180,000 homeless.

The new shock came as tents and food aid poured into this city, a quarter of which was reduced to rubble by Friday's earthquake.

A government official said many of the collapsed buildings were poorly constructed or higher than the city's three-story limit.

There were no immediate reports of casualties from Sunday's quake, which was centered in Tunceli province and felt from the Soviet border to Divarbakir in southeastern Turkey, the semi-official Anatolia news agency reported. The first quake left as many as 800 people dead, according to Turkish figures cited Sunday by the Office of the U.N. Disaster Relief Coordinator in Geneva. Some relief officials said the toll could climb into the thousands, as more bodies were recovered in remote areas.

Turkey also tripled its estimate of people left homeless to 180,000, the U.N. office said. Search efforts in Erzincan concentrated on big buildings, most of which included restaurants full of people breaking the daylong fast observed during the Muslim holy month of Cranes lifted tons of concrete at the collapsed City Club, a five-story building where as many as 200 people were thought to be in the restaurants and tea houses.

"Since we don't have enough heavy equipment, we have to set priorities based on the number of people," said police officer Rifat Aksoy.

A score of doctors were still treating the injured in the open air Sunday, on cots set up in the mud outside the city's damaged hospital.

Two survivors were dug out of the rubble Sunday.

Rescuers said at least one and possibly two young women were still alive in a collapsed dormitory at a ■ See TURKEY Page 10

GREGORY A. BRANSON/Collegian

AGRICULTURE

Ozone hole may affect crop plants

Scientists found 15-percent losses in southeastern states

VICKY SAENZ Collegian

Damage to Kansas crops from a hole in the ozone layer merits concern, but not panic, said Steve Welch, professor of agronomy. Welch said there has not been a lot are clues about the effects of ozone depletion on area crops. "Globally, this is an issue that we should pay attention to and work at,

but we should not panic about it," he said. However, actual studies about the ozone layer that showed ultraviolet-B radiation is damaging to plants has worried researchers at North Carolina State University, who study the effect of environmental changes on agricultural systems. They say if the stratospheric ozone continues to decrease, more ultraviolet radiation will reach the crops, ultimately causing more damage. "We have losses in some crops in the southeastern United States that reach or exceed 15 percent now," said Fitzgerald Booker, psychological ecologist in the NCSU Department of Botany.

"Anything that increases these levels could increase crop loss."

At a recent environmental conference, Booker reported results of three years of field and greenhouse studies on soybeans.

The studies measured plant pigments, growth and yield characteristics, and enzyme activity in each group of plants and compared the measurements to detect the effects of ozone and ultraviolet radiation. Booker said some plants were treated with UV-B and other plants with ozone, and both produced increased amounts of phenolic compounds, which are pigments in the outer cell layers of leaves that absorb UV-B rays efficiently and keep them of research done in Kansas, but there from penetrating deeper into the plant.

> "It looks as though plants are equipped to deal with the increased UV-B expected," he said. "But there are indications of changes in their chemical composition that may affect important ecological processes."

However, Booker said tests have been done on major crops, and the results don't seem to indicate major

"We have had experiments conducted under conditions much harsher, and the results don't seem as a major impact in the Kansas crops," he said.

"The effects in our crops tend to be minor, and you cannot get the same results to happen in every experiment. If there are shifts in some of the chemicals in the plants, we'll have to yield reductions.'

Welch said there are other kinds of crops not grown around here that are more sensitive, but through normal plant breeding, these plants can develop plant strains to cope.

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Welcome back

John Vonachen, junior in philosophy, loads personal items onto a cart upon returning to Marlatt Hall Sunday night after spring break. There are only eight more weeks (not counting finals) of textbooks, exams and papers before summer begins.

TREND

Consumers buy more, use credit cards less

ASSOCIATED PRESS

DES MOINES, Iowa - If shoppers in one American city are any indication, consumers are beginning to listen to economists who say the economic recovery is on firm footing.

But they are not about to go on a buying frenzy. And they are digging out cash instead of credit cards to pay for their purchases.

"I think the economy in general is looking a lot brighter than it was." said Linda Owen of Ottumwa, shopping Friday at a Venture discount store in south Des Moines.

"I'm spending more money now than in the recent past, because I wasn't spending any money at all. But I'm still hesitant."

Retail sales nationally were up 1.3 percent in February, following a 2.1percent increase in January. It was the first time since 1985 that sales have risen more than 1 percent in consecutive months.

Al Kling, the Venture store's manager, said he thinks customers are feeling more upbeat.

"The average sale has gone up considerably from January to February, and it increased every week as February went on," he said. "So I think they are buying more."

Kling said people are starting to buy more expensive items. Electronics and televisions have been his bestselling items, and furniture is selling like crazy. Other strong areas are clothing, home furnishings and economy come through."

Rich Potts, manager of the Best Buy discount electronics store in south Des Moines, said computers are the store's top growth category.

"People have been coming in buying whole computer systems," he said. "It's like the restraints have been taken off and people have gone on a buying

But shoppers don't seem willing to incur debt to buy them.

"We're not seeing a lot of charge cards. It's cash," said Tomi Briseno, manager of a Casual Corner, a women's clothing store at a Des Moines shopping center.

Some shoppers, such as Orville Bain, said they're actually tearing their credit cards up.

When my wife passed away, she had I don't know how many credit cards. I tore 'em up and started paying cash," he said.

"I was paying, oh, I can't remember now, but it must have been around 19-percent interest. And over a year's time, that's a lot of money."

Despite the government's report of a turnaround in consumer spending, some shoppers remained skeptical the economy is reviving.

"There's an indication it's turning around, but I feel it's purposely being manipulated because it's an election year," Roger Grimes said. "Once the election is over, we'll see the real

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

SUNDAY, MARCH 15 At 11:17 a.m., a person reported she had been touched by a man she did not know.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

FRIDAY, MARCH 13 At 2:15 p.m., Stacy L. Jackson, 801 Moro St., No. 6, was arrested for battery and confined in lieu of $300 bond.

At 10:42 p.m., Joey L. Blackburn, 703 Yuma
St., was arrested on two counts of sale of a controlled substance and possession of a controlled substance. His bond was set at $2,000. Also arrested was Ralph E. Martin, 1115 Colorado St., on conspiracy to sell a controlled substance and possession of a controlled substance. His bond was set

At 11:15 p.m., David W. Thowe, Rt. 1 Box 43, Alma, was arrested for DUI. He was released on $500 bond.

SATURDAY, MARCH 14

At 1:38 a.m., Joseph F. Fabre, 812 El Paso, was arrested for DUI and was issued a notice to appear for driving on a suspended driver's license. Bond was set at $500.

was set at $500.

At 10 a.m., a child-in-need-of-care report was filed, and the subject was placed in SRS custody.

At 12:02 p.m., a theft-of-services report was filed in reference to three men who left a Bell Taxi

At 2:05 p.m., Tina Anderson, 1309 N. 10th St.

At 200 p.m., Tina Anderson, 1307 N. 10th M., filed a vehicle burglary report. Stolen from her vehicle were four cassette tapes, a Walkman and a 35-mm camera. Loss was $305.

At 6:46 p.m., Yolanda Jones, P.O. Box 1526, reported her 1991 red Pontiac LeMans, Kansas license FCA272, was stolen. A deprivation of property report was filed, and the loss was $9,000.

At 9.14 p.m., four people were injured in a At 9:14 p.m., four people were injured in a ne-vehicle accident near milepost 200 on state lighway K-18. The vehicle was towed.

At 11:19 p.m., an armed robbery was reported at Giorgio's, 100 Bluemont Ave. A report was filed by the Pottawottomie Sheriff's Office.

SUNDAY, MARCH 15

At 1:30 a.m., Dominic Dillard, 1435 Collins Lane, was arrested for DUI and was issued a notice to appear for driving on a suspended drivers license. He was released on $500 bond.

At 11:53 a.m., Sidney W. Price, 904 Garden Way, No. 9, was arrested for domestic battery. He was confined in lieu of $300 bond.

At 12:18 p.m., some Nazi information pamets were found at the corner of 11th and House ton streets. A found property sheet was filed.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Summer internship applications for Sen. Bob Dole's office are available in Kedzie 219B. More K-State applicants are requested, and the deadline has been extended to March 22.

■ McCain Student Development Council applications are available in the Student Governing Association office in the K-State Union and are due March

■ Truman Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office, Eisenhower Hall, and are due by 4:50 p.m., March 23, in Eisenhower 113.

■ Marshall Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office. Eisenhower Hall, and are due by 8:30 a.m., March 23, in Eisenhower 113. ■ Rhodes Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office, isenhower Hall, and are due by 8:30 a.m., March 24, in Eisenhower 113.

Faculty Senate final ballots will be mailed this week. They should be returned by March 30.

MONDAY, MARCH 16

Learning Disabled Students Support Group will meet at 3:30 p.m. in Union 204

Rhodes and Marshall Scholarship question-and-answer session will be 11 a.m.-noon in Union 207.

Truman Scholarship question-and-answer session will be 11 a.m.-noon in Union 205. ■ Chimes Junior Honorary will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Stateroom 3. New members and old officers need to attend ■ Voices for Choice will meet from 7:15 to 9 p.m. in Union 204.

■ Business Council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 208.

■ Intramural Softball Officials meeting is at 6:30 p.m. in Union 212.

■ French Table will be noon-1:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

TUESDAY, MARCH 17

■ Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 207. The HOT Conference will be discussed, and windbreaker fees are

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207.

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

Rhodes and Marshall Scholarship question-and-answersession will be a.m.-noon in Union 208.

■ Truman Scholarship question-and-answer session will be 1-2 p.m. in Union 205.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral ssertation of Barbara Miller Callahan for 8:30 a.m. in Bluemont 368.

Kansas Young Democrats will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union 202.

■ The Ag Econ Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Waters 244.

■ Non-Traditional Student Association will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18 ■ "Let's Rap," black student support group, will meet at 3:30 p.m. in Union 208. ■ "Just Guys" will meet at 7:05 p.m. in Union 212. The topic will be "What Do Women Really Want?" ■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Yi Wang for 2 p.m. in Chemistry/Biochemistry Building 437.

THURSDAY, MARCH 19

■ Teachers of Tomorrowwill meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 217.

K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

■ Truman Scholarship question-and-answer session will be 1-2 p.m. in Union 205

Cruise lines think recycling

ASSOCIATED PRESS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. - One cruise line switched to biodegradable skeet for passengers who like to shoot off the stern. Another donates its crushed aluminum cans to Boy Scouts in Ketchikan, Alaska.

In many different ways, the cruise ship industry is responding to tighter pollution regulations and the public's growing concern for the environment.

"It used to be, 'Whoops!' Off the fantail at 3 o'clock in the morning," said Ric Fielder, vice president of Chicago Transpacker Corp., which does about one-fifth of its trash compactor business with marine interests.

But tougher maritime waste regulations and the creation of no-discharge zones have led cruise ships to change their ways.

"In this enlightened age, most people are concerned about the environment, and particularly sensitive areas like the Caribbean and the Antarctic," said John Estes, president of the 19-member International Council of Cruise Lines.

By international treaty, ships are banned from dumping plastic anywhere, and they're prohibited from dumping anything else within three miles of shore. Food and paper can be dumped at sea when it's chopped to

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

Warmer, windy and partly cloudy. High 65 to 70. South wind 15 to 30 mph. Monday night, mostly cloudy with a 40-percent chance for showers and thunderstorms. Low in the mid-40s.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

Cloudy and cooler. A 50-percent chance for showers and thunderstorms. High 55 to 60 but falling temperatures in the afternoon.

EXTENDED FORECAST

A chance for rain Wednesday, rain and snow Thursday and dry on Friday. High Wednesday in the mid-40s to low 50s. High in the 40s Thursday and Friday. Lows in the 30s Wednesday and in the 20s Thursday and Friday.

Congratulations

to the Phi Kappa Tau

Cannonball Queen

Janelle Schock.

ΚΑΘ

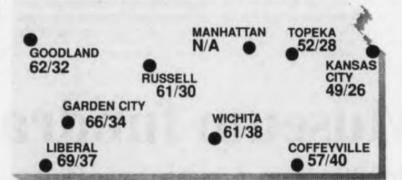

Runner-up

Michelle McCreary

ГФВ

.........

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Houston	80/56	cloudy
Amsterdam	43/36	cloudy	Mexico City	74/49	clear
Bangkok	93/81	clear	Moscow	34/32	cloudy
Calgary	61/32	clear	Sydney	75/66	clear

ONE HOUR PHOTO & PORTRAIT STUDIO

Quality Processing Fast 40% off

Processing (35 mm, 110, 126, C-41)

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way

Across from Westloop

776-9030

ONE HOUR PHOTO & PORTRAIT STUDIO

Quality Processing Fast Reprint Special 29¢ each

(35 mm, 110, 126) EXPIRES 8/31/92

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way Across from Westloop

776-9030

St. Patrick's Day

K-State Union Bookstore

20% off St. Patrick's novelty items

Savings at the

March 16-17

Delicious "TCBY" WAFFLE CONES

March 16-22 Offer good at:

722 N. Manhattan Ave. ph: 537-5111

@1992 TCBY Systems, Inc

Softball Umpires Needed

Clinics: Monday, March 16, 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

> Tuesday, March 17, 5 p.m. Rec Complex

Mandatory Attendance at both clinics! Starting Pay: $4.50/game

(more for experienced officials)

Call Rec Services Office for details - 532-6980

ASK FOR THE CARD THAT'S YOUR LICENSE

Join the Sub Club! For all of March, we'll DOUBLE Stamp your card for every SUPER Sub you buy! When your card is full, we'll give you a free footlong of your choice! Free for the asking at either SUBWAY in Manhattan.

620 N. Manhattan In Aggieville 537-8700

Manhattan Town Center Picnic Place 537-3311

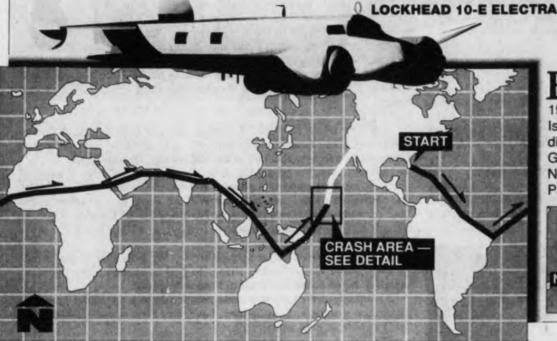

NATIONAL NEWS

Discovery may crack Earhart case

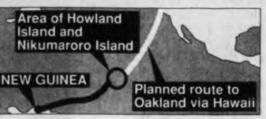

Atchison native Amelia Earhart was one of the best-known aviators of all time. In her attempt to become the first pilot to circumnavigate the globe by air, she disappeared somewhere in the South Pacific. Her fate remained a mystery for the past 55 years until researcher Richard Gillespie found pieces of what may have been her plane and a size 9 shoe on a small island near her refueling point.

AMELIA EARHART

E arhart lifted off from an airstrip in the New Guinea jungle at 10 a.m. July 2, 1937. She planned to land on Howland Island, 2,500 miles away, but she disappeared after running out of fuel. Gillespie said he believes she landed on Nikumaroro, a small island in the South Pacific.

GREGORY A. BRANSON Collegian Source: Associated Press, Life magazine

Fuselage, shoe belonged to missing aviator, group claims

ASSOCIATED PRESS

HOUSTON — An aircraft recovery group claims it has solved the mystery surrounding the disappearance of Amelia Earhart, who vanished in the Pacific 55 years ago, by finding part of her plane's fuselage.

A team found the fuselage remnants in a search of the jungle on the remote South Pacific atoll of Nikumaroro, the Houston Post reported Saturday.

The fuselage segment and a size-9 shoe — Earhart's size — were discovered during an October expedition, said Richard Gillespie, executive director of TIGHAR, the International Group for Historic Aircraft Recovery.

Gillespie said they were sent to a National Transportation Safety Board expert for analysis, who verified them as Earhart's, the newspaper said.

Nobody was at the agency's Washington office Saturday who could confirm the report, a security guard said.

Gillespie, who didn't further describe the remnant of the plane, said he'll present the findings Monday at a news conference in Washington.

"We will present proof that the Earhart mystery has been solved," he said. "It's been a long, difficult, expensive project."

Earhart and her navigator, Fred

Noonan, disappeared in their twoengine Lockheed 10-E Electra July 2, 1937, during a bid to become the first aviators to circle the Earth.

They disappeared between New Guinea and Howland Island in the Central Pacific. They planned to use Howland as a way station en route to Honolulu and Oakland, Calif., thus completing the mission.

Her disappearance triggered a massive search and has led to speculation ever since. Among the theories was that she was spying on the Japanese for the United States and was captured and died in captivity.

TIGHAR theorized that through a navigational error, the pair missed their target of Howland Island and crash-landed on or near Nikumaroro, 350 miles away.

Tom Willi and Tom Gannon, retired military navigators, developed the theory after studying potential routes and plotting transmissions sent on Earhart's frequency.

In an earlier search, the TIGHAR team discovered an aluminum box that was used as a navigator's map case.

Although an FBI expert verified the box was manufactured in the 1930s, it couldn't be tied directly to the Earhart voyage.

Gannon said the team was 90-percent sure the fuselage was part of Earhart's plane when they first found

The woman's shoe — a Cat's Paw brand popular during the 1930s sealed any doubts, he said.

NATIONAL NEWS

Nelson's fifth Farm Aid expected to raise $1 million

ASSOCIATED PRESS

IRVING, Texas — Willie Nelson's populist charity work strikes the same chord with fans and music pals that his singing does. His fifth Farm Aid concert is certain to raise more than $1 million for rural aid groups.

"It's something that everyone who eats should brush up on," Nelson said of America's hard-pressed family

"The people who grow their food are losing their homes, losing their

Nearly 50 artists and groups joined in the 12-hour benefit Saturday. About half the show was broadcast on the Nashville Network.

"Willie has started a thing that has helped a lot of people," said singer Eddie Rabbitt, who performed for the first time at a Farm Aid show.

"He didn't have to be very persuasive at all," Paul Simon said of Nelson's invitation to perform. "I admire his work, and I admire what he's doing here."

The concert at Texas Stadium, home of the Dallas Cowboys, was blessed with sunny, 80-degree weather. Between 30,000 and 40,000 people attended, organizers said. About 50,000 had been expected.

BOARD OF REGENTS

EARHART'S TWIN-ENGINE

Schools redefine programs, missions

K-State needs to improve quality, efficiency, Provost Coffman says

Collegian

The six Kansas Board of Regents institutions are developing and implementing a comprehensive review process to study their academic programs.

At the Strategic Planning Committee meeting March 6, it was discussed that this process will be used to provide information to each school for the development of a Statement of Role and Aspiration.

The statement is due to the regents more efficient.'

this December.

The program review would outline the process, procedures and content so that a program review report could be developed, and a Statement of Role and Aspiration would follow.

"The regents are sending a strong message," Provost James Coffman said to the committee.

"Over and over, quality is emphasized. The regents want to improve it. To improve quality, we need to be more efficient." In the past, the regents have considered qualified admissions as the answer to improving the quality of the institutions. Qualified admissions are not being discussed for now.

"The board of regents has been pushing for qualified admissions for at least four years now, but for this term, they are not being considered," University President Jon Wefald said.

"With qualified admissions, more students will be going to private institutions," Wefald said.

Wefald said he foresees enrollment stabilizing during the next few years, but by fiscal year 1996, the number of students entering college may go up about 19 percent.

"Maintaining a stable enrollment of 20,000 students at K-State is the best policy," Wefald said. "With the increase in students at K-State since 1986, we have been shortchanged $5 million."

Other Big Eight institutions have stable enrollment figures in the area of 20,000 students.

"If the numbers go down, students fees would decrease," Wefald said. "And if the enrollment adjustment is received, we would be right on target."

The money from the enrollment

See PLAN Page 10

SINGLES NEW INTRODUCTION SERVICE

SERVICE
No bars, no pick-ups, no funny business. Just plain common sense.
Meet someone with your interests-it could last both your lifetimes!

FRIENDSHIP EXCHANGE

Come in and see us for the Best Prices in Town

on New and Used LPs, CDs

and cassettes.

We carry all styles from country to rap. We buy, sell and trade CDS, LPs and cassettes.

Vital Vinyl

In Aggieville 1118 Moro 539-3160 Mon.-Sat. 11-8 Sun. 12-5

50 MONO

Have you had mononucleosis within the last month? If so your plasma could make a valuable contribution to research and earn you $50 at the same time.

For additional details call Kurt Mortenson

Manhattan Donor Center 776-9177

1130 Gardenway - across from Westloop

Accounting Club

Field trip to Deloitte & Touche manufacturing client on April 14th.

Student/Faculty Mixer at Aggieville Pizza Hut on March 30th at 6:00 p.m.

Sign up for either, or both events on Shannon Fisher's door in Calvin Student Lounge by March 20th

CAMPAIGN FINANCING

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

High-dollar campaigns not absolutely necessary

Over the past few weeks, presidential candidates have been dropping out or asking others to drop out of what has become a three-legged race for the White House.

Candidates are not leaving because they want to quit, but because they don't have checking accounts like U.S. representatives, and they can't afford to fight a battle they will likely lose.

Each of the candidates, besides Bush, has been strapped with an ever-tightening money belt. Every stop a candidate makes, every endorsement must result in some contribution to the campaign effort. If it doesn't happen, it's happy trails.

Bush, however, doesn't have to worry about money or paying for advertising. He's on the tube every day no matter what he does, and it doesn't cost him a dime.

What has happened this election year, because of a faltering economy and plummeting faith in politics, is a 78percent decrease in campaign contributions across the board.

The contributions through Jan. 31 for the last three elections illustrate the trend perfectly. In 1984, 10 candidates received $40,016,555 from Americans. In 1988, 18 candidates cashed in on $149,410,894 in contributions. This year, 13 total candidates have received $32,791,919. Fewer candidates are now campaigning, and so that number will decrease dramatically.

Whether the candidates receive $150 million or $1, someone will be elected president of the United States. It doesn't take the thousands of contributions the candidates claim they need to be elected.

The money each candidate receives is spent on campaigning, buttons, fliers and advertising, namely TV advertising. Thirty-second commercials that try to convince America not to vote for the other guy. Instead of providing real answers, voters receive idioms and imagery.

The Federal Election Commission handles all of the bookkeeping for campaign contributions. They also manage the federal matching funds the candidates receive according to their ability to raise money. All this money only fuels the advertising industry and doesn't achieve its original purpose of conveying the candidate's message.

If the FEC limited each candidates contributions for the entire campaign to $15 million, Americans would be assured of getting the candidate's message and not encouraging corruption from political action committees.

Each candidate's contributions exceeding $15 million would go to a fund to support national debates for all candidates. The extra money would help support debates sponsored by groups like the League of Women Voters in each state.

Voters would be guaranteed the opportunity to know the candidates and how they stand on issues, not just how good they look in front of an American flag.

OLLEGIAN

NEWS STAFF (532-6556)

Managing Editor Darla Goodman

Darla Goodman
News Editor
Erin Perry
Design & Graphics Editor
Greg Branson
Photography Editor
Shane Keyser
Opinion Page Editor
Mike Venso

Assistant Opinion Page Editor Jodell Lamer

Jodell Lamer
Campus Editor
Cindy Briggs
Assistant Campus Editor
Denise Upholf
Sports Editor
Patrick Obley
Assistant Sports Editor
David Svoboda
Government/City Editor

Government/City Editor Christine Vendel Features Editor

David Frese

A & E/Silo Editor Heather Anderson Copy Chief
Samantha Farr
Copy Editors
Amy Cox Jodell Lamer Eve Wilson

aff Reporters
Derek Bohlken
Shawn Bruce
Victoria Cherrie Amy Cox Ulrike Dauer Lisa Edmunds Mark Engler Stephanie Fuqua Jason Hamilton Tara Hun Julie Long Niranjan Rao Lajean Rau Roger Steinbrock Derek Thoman Andrew Woodward

Eric Becker Steffany Carrel Jared Gregoire Carla Jones Tom Lister Roblin Meeks Brad Seabourn Ed Skoog Sports Reporters Brian Anderson Frank Kleemann Steve Rock Steve Hock Kristeen Young Sports Columnist Margo Keller Photographers Christopher Assaf Margaret Clarkin Todd Feeback Shane Keyser Shane Keyser Brian Kratzer David Mayes J. Matt Rhea

ADVERTISING STAFF (532-6560)

Advertising Manager David Hamilton Assistant Advertising Manager Angle Humphrey Special Sections Manager

Jayme Wall Creative Director Ron Metz

Assistant Creative Director
Holly Lambert
Campus Representative
Clarissa Delhotal
Senior Account Executive
Annette Spreer
Account Executives
Jennifer Brunk
Collette Caroll
Clint Coover

COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL BOARD

Heather Anderson David Frese Jodell Lamer Cindy Briggs Patrick Obley Shawn Bruce

Lajean Rau Erwin Seba Christine Vendel Mike Venso

The Editorial Board consists of members of the Gollegian staff who meet three times each week to discuss topics of concern. These members also write the editorials that appear in the Collegian daily.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103,

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom

Regize trail 110.
Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Snapshots: Across the Atlantic with Ed Skoog and a Staph Infection

Note: Whomever this is intended for, I apologize. Ed handed this to me from his hospital bed and made me promise to fax it to this number. Accept it, don't accept it - whatever. It means nothing to me. It seems like Ed has lost it over here. Oxford water, perhaps, or the result of a hideous plot by these limey bastards.

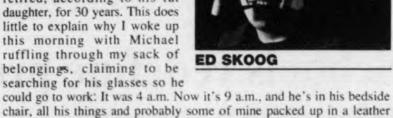

On the ward, all the nurses are cute, despite their strange accents, their apparent inability to use the letter R. I want desperately to put the moves on them, until I remember they've seen me naked under this hospital smock and have sponged my feverish body down with cold water like I was a corpse.

The nurses here are unionized, and the government owns the whole health-care system including, I believe, the very souls of the other patients here. They own Jack, that's certain. He's in the bed next to me. He's a native Oxfordian cab driver, nearing 80 years old. He's got three bags on a rack next to his bed with tubes of several colors leading under his bedclothes.

Sincerely, Dave K., Ed's host.

They surely own Michael across the aisle - lock, stock and barrel. He may be older than Jack. This retired cook has been retired, according to his fat daughter, for 30 years. This does little to explain why I woke up this morning with Michael ruffling through my sack of belongings, claiming to be searching for his glasses so he

She's gone by the time Michael can say, "Eh?" Estelle Getty, Bea Arthur — I do not care to discuss the impression Golden Girls must give of our mothers to the bloke watching BBC-2 in the next flat. He's watching, though. I can hear him laughing over the sack, muttering to himself that his bus was late. A nurse with a cute butt walks past, asks, "Where you going now, Michael?

My family came to America no earlier than 1850, the bulk of them shipping over from Sweden in the 1880s. I have no ancestors to speak of who fought in the Revolutionary War against these people walking around me. Still, I can join in the victory against the crown worshipers by eating at the Burger King in the Oxford City Centre.

There is defeat whispered whenever a beautiful British maiden asks whether I'd like fries with that. I order fries three times, just to hear it again.

"Rob Lowe sat here," I want to tell my British host at dinner. We're in Christ Church College Hall, the ancient dining hall where Rob Lowe got in a fight with a twit in the bad movie "Oxford Blues."

If I said this, I'd be saying it in the presence of near a hundred portraits of other important people. Behind me is one of John Locke, and across the room I can make out William Penn. Lots of other names I've read about in history classes. No portraits of Charles Bronson, though. Kris Kristofferson went here (really), as a Rhodes scholar in the

I'm not supposed to be here, I know. My host had to pull some serious Oxford Union Society strings to find us seats. I don't think any dough changed hands, but Dave did seem desperate.

It suddenly strikes me that these people, these prep-school graduates and future members of Parliament, have very little sense of where they are. I dribble soup in amazement.

his is a few days before the surgery. I'm walking slower than my 3-month-old nephew, unaware of the grapefruit-sized infection growing

I get off the bus a few stops too early and have to walk five extra

"Only enough for something to eat, sir." I dispense two quid in coins without saying "You're welcome," without looking anyone in the eye. At lunch I feel horrible, and make sure to take my host on the bus ride back home so I get off at the correct stop.

I he nurse asks if it hurts when she re-packs my wound. I tell her no, and hate her for hours. I bet there's a little bit of this sadistic nurse in every British shopkeeper who waits on me. A bus driver asked me for a 5-pound note and then added, "It's the little one."

I should have punched them both. Bronson would have.

EDITORIAL CARTOON

BLACKOUT TOMMY STRIKES BACK

Last week I found myself chasing my smart-ass brother across campus. The faster he ran, the harder he giggled. And the harder he giggled, the more I wanted to square up and kick him in the goolies.

You see, my brother had some photos that could prove disastrous to my future political career, and I wanted them. Unfortunately, I didn't know what was in the photos - I'd been in a drunken blackout the night he took them. However, he went out of his way to assure me that Blackout Tommy (my blackout alter ego), had done some really bad

"Wait 'til the relatives see," he said and giggled. Then he waived the envelope in the air and darted between students on the sidewalk.

Although I should have, I didn't run after my brother and kick him in the goolies. He disappeared like the lunatic that he is and took those photos with him. I could only wait until later to discover what I had done on that dreadful night.

I had recently celebrated going a year without a blackout, but I still held images of the things I had done in the back of my mind. These images scared me, and I knew I never wanted to relive those sordid drunken experiences again, especially screaming at the goldfish.

And now my crazy brother had those pictures. He had held them in the air like a toy, but they were anything but that. To me, they were a ghostly reminder of the past, a past I thought I had long buried.

That night, my brother called me up and told me the photos weren't so bad after all. He even brought some copies over to me.

It doesn't look like I was having a bad time. In fact, it looked like I was having a good time. In the pictures I was laughing, and as I looked over them, I couldn't help but want to grow my hair out again. I mean, I met a lot of interesting characters when I was a power drunk. And although I didn't sleep with that many women, they sure added up when it came to weight.

Now, before I influence somebody to go out and become the pathetic drunk that I was, I want you to know that it wasn't all fun and games.

Take puking, for example. I've puked in my guitar case, inside nearly all my friends' cars and on the shirts I've been wearing. I've woken up in puke, and at times I haven't remembered that I puked until people pointed it out to me.

There's nothing worse than feeling your face peel inside out as a hot jet of fresh puke burns through your mouth and nose, and there's nothing more pathetic than your zombied reflection in the toilet bowl before you cover it with puke.

And strangers. People in elevators whom I didn't recognize have given me strange looks because I yelled at them the night before. I've woken up to have people tell me how I almost got beat up because I mouthed off to others during a blackout. Even worse, I've had to deal with the endless number of people who knew me by name when I didn't

"Hey, Tom!" they would say. "That was a great party, huh?" And I wouldn't know.

Probably the worst part was avoiding my problems. Instead of choosing a major, I'd go down to drink Long Island Iced Teas at Fast Eddy's until I couldn't talk. Then I'd go for a spin in the dryers at the laundry to cheer myself up.

Instead of letting someone know they pissed me off, I'd get drunk as hell and take it out on myself. Each morning when I see my reflection in the mirror, I'm reminded of this because there's nothing I can do to erase the age on my face.

And there's nothing I can do to erase an entire year of no blackouts!

I'd like to thank my crazy brother for betting me a 12-pack that I couldn't do it, and I'd like to thank my old roommate for putting up with me. I'd like to thank my party friends for dropping out of school to show me what direction I was heading in.

But most of all, I want to thank me for finally being honest with

And I'd like to apologize to those goldfish.

BIG BROTHERS/BIG SISTERS

Organization finds race rarely matters

Personal traits, not color, key to successful pairings

TRISHA PERRIGO

Age and race are just a few of the many questions on an application to become a Big Brother or Big Sister. The latter is often a difficult order to "Right now, there is one lady who wants a black little girl," said Jennifer Mejasich, Big Brother/Big Sisters caseworker.

She has had one match with another little black girl, but she moved away. She's waited for six months to a year for a specific-aged black girl."

Carol Grace, mother of two girls who are currently Little Sisters, said race does not matter to her.

"I couldn't be happier with the girls' matches. I don't think it makes any difference at all,"she said.

Joann Makizuru, junior in psychology, agreed.

'I had no preference, and honestly, it doesn't matter for me. I filled out the application, and Big Brothers/Big Sisters matched me up with who they feel fits best," she said.

Mejasich said the matching process is volatile.

"Usually, there is no norm here. It varies a lot," she said.

"I don't think it makes a difference in the end. It's hard to judge. Every match is individual. It's not a big issue here."

Jennifer Mejasich

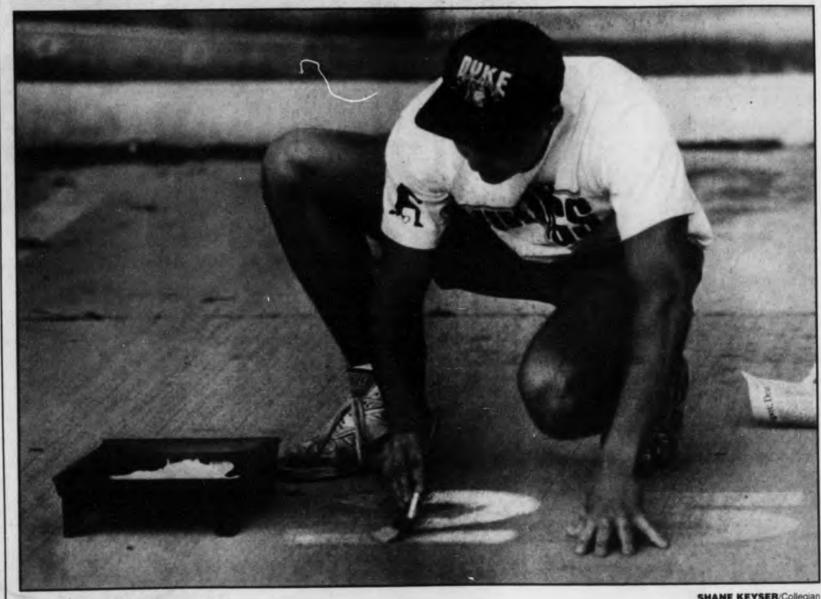

what race they want their child's Big Brother or Big Sister to be, and more often, they will say it really doesn't matter. They look at the quality of the Occasionally, there will be a Big Brother or Big Sister from a small town who does not have much experience with cultural diversity, and Mejasich said they feel uncomfortable with the situation.

"I don't think it makes a difference in the end. It's hard to judge. Every match is individual. It's not a big issue here," she said. "We have all kinds of requests from both the parents and the Big Brothers and Big Mejasich said the organization does need more men and minorities.

"It makes a more well-rounded "The parents have the option of organization," Mejasich said.

SHANE KEYSER/Collegian

Parking lot painter

James Dauer, sophomore in accounting, adds another coat of paint to the numbers and lines in the Pi Kappa Alpha parking lot Sunday night. Dauer said he elected to do the painting for his fraternity project while the weather was still warm. See page 2 for weather.

List

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., 273 checks, nine months

CONGRESSIONAL

CHECK BOUNCERS

These are the members of the House of Representatives

This list includes the number of checks bounced and the who have bounced the most checks at the House bank.

number of months the overdrafts exceeded their next paychecks during the 39 months under investigation.

■ Former Rep. Tommy Robinson, D-Ark., 996 checks, 16

Stephen J.Solarz, D-N.Y., 743 checks, 30 months.

Charles A. Hayes, D-III., 716 checks, 15 months.

Ronald D. Coleman, D-Texas, 673 checks, 23 months.

■ Carl C. (Chris) Perkins, D-Ky, 514 checks, 14 months.

■ Robert Davis, R-Mich., 878 checks. According to information made available to the AP, the overdrafts exceeded his next Former Rep. Doug Walgren, D-Pa., 858 checks, 16 months.

■ Edward F. Feighan, D-Ohio, 397 checks, eight months. ■ Former House Democratic Whip Tony Coelho, D-Calif., 316

Former Rep. Doug Bosco, D-Calif., 124 checks, 13 months.

Former Rep. Jim Bates, D-Calif., 89 checks, nine months.

■ Bob Mrazek, D-N.Y., 972 checks, 23 months.

Charles Hatcher, D-Ga., 819 checks, 35 months.

■ Bill Alexander, D-Ark, 499 checks, 20 months. ■ Ed Towns, D-N.Y., 408 checks, 18 months.

■ William Clay, D-Mo., 329 checks, 10 months. ■ John Conyers, D-Mich., 273 checks, nine months.

■ Harold E. Ford, D-Tenn., 388 checks, 31 months.

■ Mary Rose Oakar, D-Ohio, 217 checks, 21 months.

■ Charles Wilson, D-Texas, 81 checks, eight months.

■ Jim Scheuer, D-N.Y., 169 checks, eight months. ■ Joseph Early, D-Mass., 140 checks, 15 months.

paycheck for 13 of the 39 months.

checks, 12 months.

Colorwatch

checks, eight months

Rep. Joseph Early, D-Mass., 140 checks, 15 months

Former Rep. Doug Bosco, D--Rep. Mary Rose Oakar, D-Ohio, Calif., 124 checks, 13 months

- Former Rep. Jim Bates, D-Ca- anyone." 217 checks, 21 months Rep. Jim Scheuer, D-N.Y., 169 lif., 89 checks, nine months -Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas,

The same congressional sources who supplied names of some of those on the list said former Speaker Jim 139 bad checks with a face amount of $37,000. It was not known how many months he exceeded his next pay-

81 checks, eight months

Robinson switched from the Democratic to the Republican party in 1989, then in 1990 ran for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Arkansas, but was defeated in the primary. He denied writing any bad time," he said in a telephone inter- for Walgren.

been notified of anything about that."

Thomas Barry, Mrazek's administrative assistant, said, "Based on preliminary analysis, there is no way the number 972 is true. There is no way that can possibly be true. I don't care what produced that number."

Ron Daley, editor of the Troublesome Creek Times in Perkins's hometown of Hindman, Ky., issued a state-to the congressman Saturday night. "Not one check bounced," the statement said. "Everyone written a check received their money. Every congressional checking statement Rep. Perkins received had a positive bal-

Hayes, at a news conference, called the check scandal a non-issue. "If it had cost the government money or the taxpayer money, it would be an issue," Hayes said. "I covered any overdrafts, and I owe no money to

"I was stunned and obviously quite embarrassed to be on any list," Feighan told the (Cleveland) Plain Dealer.

"I knew I had written checks with the knowledge of overdraft protection, but I did not know the exact Wright, who was not on the list, wrote number of checks over that allow-Oakar told the Plain Dealer: "I'd face up to it if I thought it was true. It's difficult to believe it's accurate. I'm not denying it, but I am taking steps to get an independent audit.'

According to account information prepared by the ethics committee, Robinson's face amount of bad checks totaled $251,609, and Mrazek's totaled $351,608. Other figures were "I would dispute that to the end of $273,360 for Hatcher and $226,160

The ethics committee has cau-"I don't have any idea why my tioned that face amounts are misleadname would even be on there. I'd like ing, because someone theoretically to see how they audited it. I've never can write a bad check for $100,000 and overdraw his account by only $1,000 if he has $99,000 in his ac-

> Until the investigation began, it was common practice for members to treat overdrafts as advances on their next month's salary.

The committee, therefore, set the standard of repeatedly exceeding the ment on Perkins's behalf after talking next month's salary in determining the worst offenders.

> Because of the Democrats' 268-166 majority, it has been assumed the Democratic Party would behurt worse than Republicans when all names are released

> The ethics committee compiled account histories on the members using codes, so that even panel members didn't know the identities of the rubber check writers during the in-

Lawmakers blame bank for bad checks

WASHINGTON-Rep. Matthew McHugh, who headed the investigation of overdrafts at the House bank, learned in a personal way about the facility's sloppy records.

McHugh, D-N.Y., only agreed to lead the inquiry after the bank told him he had no bad checks. Turned out the bank was wrong: He had one.

As many lawmakers learn things they never knew about the place where ert Davis, R-Mich., wrote 878. they deposited their paychecks, they increasingly blame the sloppily run bank for their burgeoning rubber learned. check scandal.

Ethics committee members who investigated the bad checks say it should come as no surprise that members may even work their way off the panel's worst abuser list because the bank's bookkeeping was so bad.

The committee will designate 19 current and five former House members as abusers after giving them a few days to review their records. Names of 21 Democrats and one Republican on a House ethics committee list of overdraft abusers was obtained by the Associated Press on Saturday from congressional sources. The top bad check writer, former

Rep. Tommy Robinson of Arkansas, a Democrat turned Republican, wrote 996 bad checks. Rep. Bob Mrazek, D-N.Y., had 972 checks and Rep. Rob-

The names of two Republicans on the list could not immediately be

The criteria for making the list: those whose overdrafts exceeded their next paycheck 20 percent of the time during a 39-month period. For those in Congress the entire 39 months, this translated to eight months.

The operations of the now-defunct bank hadn't changed much in the past

See BANK Page 10

Kansas Democratic representatives Dan Glickman and Jim Slattery also admitted to bouncing checks, but they where not in the top 24. BEEFE EEEE REGORY A. BRANSON/Collegian Source: Associated Press

THE ONLY EASIER WAY TO GET A JOB IS TO WORK FOR YOUR DAD. $5.00 Off Complete Resume Packag $5.00 off the purchase of a Complete Resume Package. Packages vary from location to location. Offer not good in combination with other discounts.

Make a great impression on your future boss (whoever it is) with a complete resume package from Kinko's. Just give us the information and we'll give you a full set of professionally designed, laser typeset resumes, complete with matching envelopes and cover letter sheets-plus you can choose from a wide variety of papers, styles, typefaces and formats.

the copy center Open 24 Hours

1329 Anderson St. • 537-7340

@1999, Kirsko's Graphics Corp.

I Ain't Yo' Uncle A New Jack Revisionist Uncle Tom's Cabin San Francisco Mime Troupe Wednesday, March 18, 8 p.m.

There's no shortage of talk in playwright Robert Alexander's rewrite of America's most famous unread novel. Tom acquires a powerful voice and Topsy the acutely modern awareness of a rapper. Contains adult situations and language.

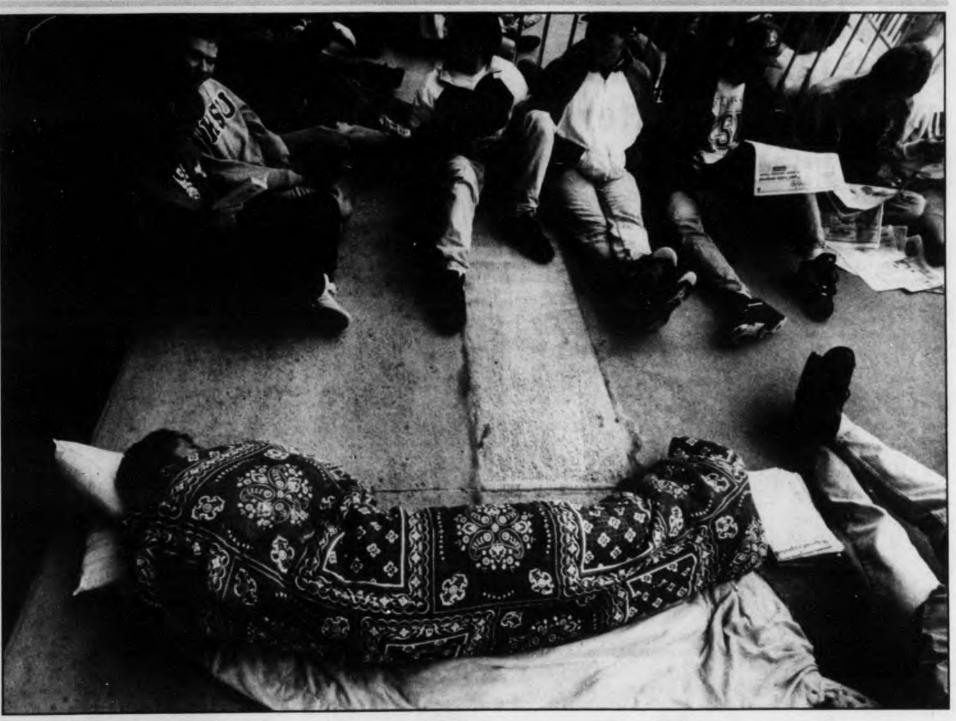

"A knockout! Incendiary yet judicious, ominous yet hilarious....An example of the Mime Troupe's brand of political satire at its very best." (Los Angeles Times)

Student/Child: $7.50 Senior Citizen: $13 Public/Faculty: $15

McCain Auditorium Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR

(Fort Riley). Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Fine Arts fee.

Garrett Rediker, freshman in elementary education, curls up in his sleeping bag outside the doors of the coliseum. Rediker had been at the door since 7:15 a.m. Filled Bramlage Coliseum (below) during the K-State-Oklahoma State basketball game

Freshman guard Brian Henson autographs for young fans after the game.

(Above) A fans eye view of action during the game. Willie the Wildcat (right) teases front row fans with an opportunity to shoot hoops at halftime.

Game Day at Bramlage ...Not Just A Game

t's game time. The player introductions. American anthem, alma mater and tip off signal yet another Cats basketball game. While the fans are drawn to the excitement about to begin at Bramlage Coliseum, the action began hours before the game. Saturday morning, beagainst Oklahoma State University, an array of coliseum employees, TV crews and the teams prepare for the matchup.

With a payroll of more than 400 students, Charlie Thomas, Bramlage Manager, said "super student support" makes the difference. Nine student supervisors oversee the ushering, security and ticket-taking activities. Five students are "lead" individuals, including two lead office personnel, who facilitate the supervisors and are in a position to assume their responsibilities,

Thomas said. Portions of the planning for that day's event and future events begin way in advance, said Jim Muller, Bramlage assistant manager.

When people come to the coliseum, we want them to see the best Bramlage they will ever see. It takes a great deal of coordination," Muller said.

Along with sprucing up the coliseum, the parking department, Riley County Ambulance, trash hauling, American Red Cross and other organizations have to be contacted on the details of the game, Muller said.

While the fans are greeted by a nearly immaculate coliseum, members of Bramlage's cleaning crew have spent hours on house cleaning.

Whether a concession worker sweeps up a pan full of leftover popcorn or an automated floor sweeper polishes the concourse, Bramlage must be ready.

The automatic sweeper, guided by one worker, can take from 45 minutes to two hours to fully circle the entire quarter-mile concourse.

One member of the cleaning crew will arrive at 8 a.m., and two to four people arrive at 10 a.m. and stay until the game. Six to eight employees stay after the game and are assisted by a student organization with sweeping and aftergame pickup, said Tonya Peters, junior fore the 1 p.m. game in interior design and Bramlage cleaning employee.

> While the cleaners are armed with detergent and bottles of window cleaner, the concession stand workers prepare to tempt fans with smells and sounds of popping popcom, hotdogs (including the new Bramlage Dog) and the ever-popular candy bars and pop.

The concourse is interspersed with four main and three auxiliary concession stands, one Pizza Hut, one auxiliary souvenir stand and a K-State Union Bookstore stand.

Concessions Manager Gaby Hanek, senior in pre-medicine, said the biggest problem in the planning the concessions is counting inventory and matching the food and money collected.

Along with offering a wider selection of concession items, four concession workers started vending some of the food in the seating area this year.

The concession stand handles a large volume of food and pop for each game. Hanek said at an average game, 320-350 boxes of popcom are sold.

The 50 workers needed to run the stands arrive at least two hours early. Each manager is responsible for opening up the stand and overseeing duties for each worker.

While the managers carry the clipboard with the time cards and uniforms to the stand, two other employees pull a slate with bagged ice to each concession

One stand along the concourse has taken a closer group philosophy than just selling concessions.

"When we first got here, we decided you couldn't just work in a staff," said Mark Wyss, junior in finance and stand manager. "You had to be a family to get everything done.

"We decided we would all be a family, and it worked well. We have had a picnic together, and we go and do other things together. That way, we work much better."

t the "family stand" an average of 75 candy bars, 1,000 small 1 and 500-700 large pops are sold at a men's game.

After loading up on caffeine and carbohydrates, the fans stroll to one of many purple doorways that lead to the descending stairs.

Near the doorway, fans are greeted and assisted by an usher, highly visual in their pink short-sleeved knit shirts.

Unlike rowdier football crowds, ushers rarely deal with having to collect smuggled alcohol bottles or chickens. (Five live animals were smuggled into the K-State football game against the University of Kansas.)

"The only problem I have had is when students stand up in front of the older crowd," said Jeff Meyer, senior in nutrition and exercise science and one of four

"It is hard to get them to sit down, because it is a tradition. This has been my best job I have ever had,"

Usher Kim Cuddeback, senior in landscape architecture, said she deals with three to four complaints a game.

At every timeout or halftime, the usher will walk down the stairs and stand near the floor so they can be more accessible, watch for problems and assist the

"Sometimes, people at the bottom will count how many times you go up and down the bleachers," Cuddeback

The ushers, who are briefed before

Bart Mellen, junior in graphic design, wipes the backboard clean before the game. He is the Bramlage custodial supervisor.

each game, look for problems or other distractions within the crowd.

Laura Sargent, usher supervisor, and Meyer talk to the ushers in a section near the top of the coliseum 15 minutes before the doors open.

On the concourse, the ticket-takers also meet to discuss any pertinent information or concerns.

Before one game this season, TV crews are working at 7 a.m. on the wiring for their cameras and technical equipment along the court and press section. The announcers arrive three hours before game time to prepare for the gy. broadcast.

Tor some, the game is only a screen away, but the crowd that goes to Bramlage can take in the full ef-

While the workers enter the Southeast entrance and are checked off of a pass list or enter the back South entrance, diehard fans seeking the front rows camp out on the southeast side of Bramlage.

The doors open an hour and half before the game, and the anxious fans camping out can quickly jog down the stairs between aisles in sections 20 and

Since the doors were opened a few minutes early, the first four rows of the general admission student section were filled by 11:30 a.m. on this particular

Saturday. ithin seven minutes, the early fans have claimed their spots as high as the 10th row.

In front of the student section, three to four security members eye the crowd before and during the game.

"It's so close to the game, and we get paid for it also," said Craig Bunck, senior in mechanical engineering technolo-

"We keep track of the crowd and try to see if people throw things and where it comes from.

Most early fans said they thought front row seats were worth the wait.

Scott and Naomi Howard, Manhattan residents, bring their two children and a nephew to the games early to get close seats in the student section.

"We don't camp out like those guys who started on Wednesday," Naomi Howard said. "Now, since it is general admission, we just get here early. It's a trade off to get here early."

They said having three young children, ranging in age from 3 to 6 years, allows them more advantages than just having a better view.

"At the end of the Missouri game, all three of them were asleep. Noise doesn't bother them, and they know if the crowd is screaming, then it is their time to scream," Naomi Howard said. "They like to see Willie, and they get into the cat tail. They love it."

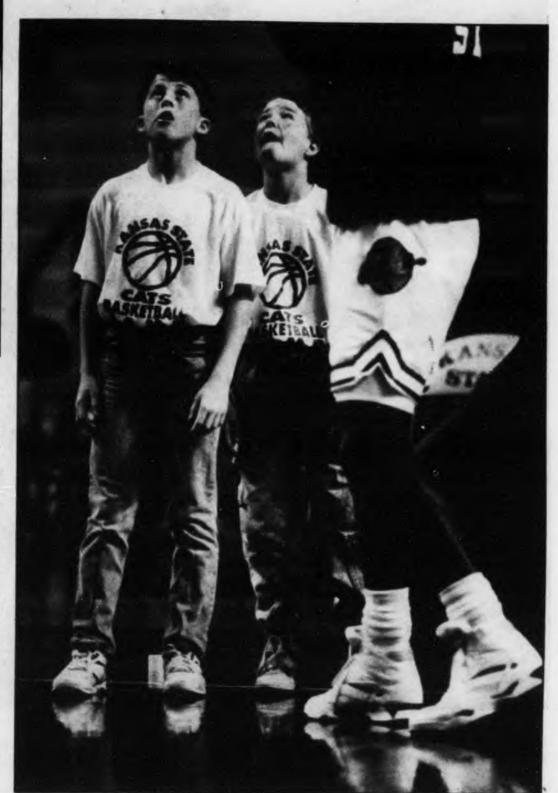

ne characteristic of the typical basketball crowd is that despite the general admission campers, most fans do not arrive until minutes before the start of the game.

"We have a consistently late crowd, which is also a curse of having good parking at the coliseum," Thomas said.

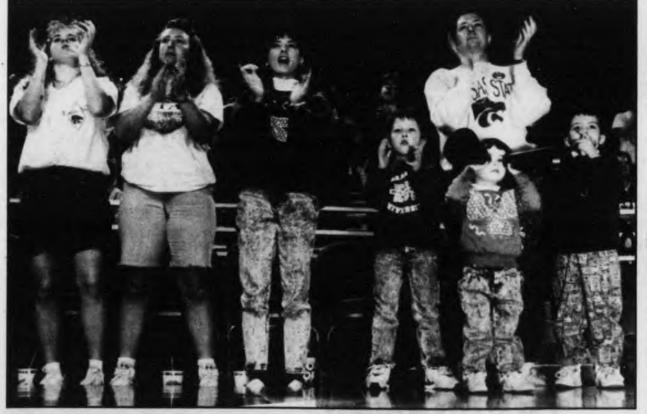

R.J. Bokelman, a Bramlage official who helps with organizing concessions.

"People don't seem to venture. People don't seem to want to go around the concourse," Bokelman said.

Whether the fans realize the work that goes on around the court or not, the beginning of the game is hardly the start of the day at Bramlage.

Ballboys Jake Carlson, 12, and Shane Sieben, 11, watch as K-State team members warm up before the game.

The Howard family (left) attends every Wildcat basketball game but does not usually arrive early to get better seats. Security supervisor Michael Prothe (above) asks a younger spectator to find his seat during the game.

Jim Dietz, junior in business, and Chris Thompson, senior in mechanical engineering, pull bags of ice through the concourse to the concession stands. The stands can go through 60 bags of ice in a day.

Story By Margo Keller

Photos By Brian Kratzer and Mike Welchhans

Tickets for Wednesday's first round National Invitational Tournament game against Western Kentucky will go on sale today at 9 a.m. Season ticket holders will be able to purchase their assigned seats and other seats until 5 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the Bramlage Coliseum ticket office or by phone, 1-800-221-CATS.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

MONDAY, MARCH 16, 1992

Pokes stick it to the Cats for the third time

CHRISTOPHER ASSAF/Staff

Oklahoma State forward Cornell Hatcher knocks a rebound away from Wylie Howard during the first round of the 1992 Big Eight Tournament in Kemper Arena Friday. The Cats were knocked out of the tournament early, losing to the Cowboys for the third time this season. Cowboys making yet another run on K-

But 15-13 Cats will host Western Kentucky in NIT

STEVEN ROCK

KANSAS CITY, Mo. Unfortunately for the Cats, the third time was anything but the charm.

The Cowboys from OSU moseyed into Kansas City Friday afternoon and pounded the final nail into K-State's coffin, locking away any chance at an NCAA tournament bid for the Cats.

The Pokes, in fact, hammered in the final two nails.

Oklahoma State, now 26-7 following the loss to Kansas in the Big Eight tournament championship, defeated K-State for the second time in as many weeks, this time at Kemper Arena in the opening round of the Big Eight tournament, 81-57. And in doing so, the Cowboys concluded their 3-game season sweep of the 15-13 Wildcats.

'They're just a better basketball team than we are," said Cat coach Dana Altman. "Oklahoma State set the tone for the game in the early going. It just looked like we were always a step

And what a huge lunge that initial Cowboy strut turned out to be.

Just 4:07 into the game, Oklahoma State scored 12 unanswered points, turning a 7-4 lead into a 19-4 bulge. Picking apart K-State's zone defense, OSU used a combined attack of perimeter shooting and strength in the paint to open the lead.

The Cats, who were impatient early and forcing tough shots, didn't score again until senior John Rettiger hit two free throws nearly five minutes later.

By then, however, the damage had been done.

"Anytime you beat a ball club twice." Oklahoma State coach Eddie Sutton said, "it's important to go out and get ahead early."

And although the Wildcats matched the Pokes stride for stride from that point on in the first half, they could never make up the difference.

The second half started with the Oklahoma State never looked back from

"They did the things necessary to win," said senior center Wylie Howard, who, along with Brian Henson led the Cats with 14 points. "We didn't."

Perhaps that key ingredient to the success of the Wildcat basketball team is the ability to shoot for a respectable percentage. But that Cats percentage, whose consistency is comparable to a freshly-made bowl of Jello, hit yet another rut.

K-State hit just 39 percent of its shots and made only eight buckets in the first half. The Wildcats also connected on just five of 16 shots from beyond the three-point arc.

The consistently inconsistent play of the Cats, who had just last week shot 45 percent, continues to baffle Altman.

"This team has definitely been one that has challenged the coaching staff's patience, the fans' patience, and the players' patience," Altman said.

Altman's frustration was apparent at the 7:38 mark of the opening half when Marcus Zeigler, after breaking the OSU press, was ruled to have stepped out of bounds, turning the ball over to the Pokes. Altman stomped his foot and hollered at an official, drawing a technical foul.

"We've been up and down," Altman

And Friday's down was partially due to the Cowboys' ability to hold two of K-State's top three scorers to a combined 9 points.

Sophomore forward Askia Jones made just 2 of his 9 shots and didn't have a three-pointer in a game for only the second time this season. Junior guard Gaylon Nickerson also hit just 2 of 9 shots and finished with just 5

"Anytime those two shoot a combined four of 18, we're going to be in trouble," Altman said.

Paced by Byron Houston's 26 points, the Cowboys shot an even 50 percent for the game, including a 57-percent clip in the second half.

"I was able to move a little more this time," Houston said. Indeed, Houston See CATS Page 10

CATS BASKETBALL

4 named all-American at NCAA Nationals

Teaberry finishes 4th in high jump; Randolph 8th in 55-meter dash

FRANK KLEEMANN

The K-State track and field team finished their indoor season, returning from the NCAA Championships in Indianapolis with four all-Americans.

Senior high jumper Connie Teaberry had the highest finish of K-State's six athletes, coming in fourth. Christy Ward place eighth in the shot put and 55-meter dash sprinter Thomas Randolph also finished eighth. The fourth K-State all-American was 3,000-meter runner Todd Trask, who finished High jumpers Gwen Wentland finished ninth and R.D. Cogswell jumped to a 14th-place finish. Both just missed gaining all-American honors.

Cats' assistant coach Cliff Royelto said the six thinclads had solid performances.

"I think they have done a pretty good job," he said. "If you could set a new personal record at the national championships or come near to it - and they did that."

As the most experienced athlete of the K-State squad, Teaberry jumped 6-foot-1 1/2-inch to receive all-American recognition for the fifth time.

"I am very pleased with the height," Teaberry said. "I was a little disappointed that I couldn't make the 6'2 1/2," but there is no reason to be upset. It was only the second time I jumped 6'1 1/2," so it was good."

Teaberry said her approach wasn't as aggressive as it was at the Big Eight Championships Feb. 14 when she cleared 6'2 1/2" to capture the title.

Royelto said the fourth place is even more worthwhile if one considered that two former NCAA champions couldn't place among the top eight.

"Connie jumped near to a PR (personal record)," he said. "To be able to do that at a big meet ... it's Randolph got his second all-American honor, running 6.28 seconds in the final of the 55-meter dash. Track assistant coach Trevor Graham said an injury kept Randolph from a faster time, recording 6.24 in the previous semifinals.

"Thomas got out of the blocks fairly well, but the injury put him back and he just ran it out," Graham said. "I think he would have taken second or third without the injury. However, he still made it to the finals and was mentally

By setting a personal record, Ward captured all-American honors in her first showing at the nationals. Ward threw 50'4 1/4.'

'I was happy with that," she said. "I felt pretty good about my series with a couple throws over 49 feet. But I think I could have placed second real easy (52'4 1/2"). I was well within reach of that.'

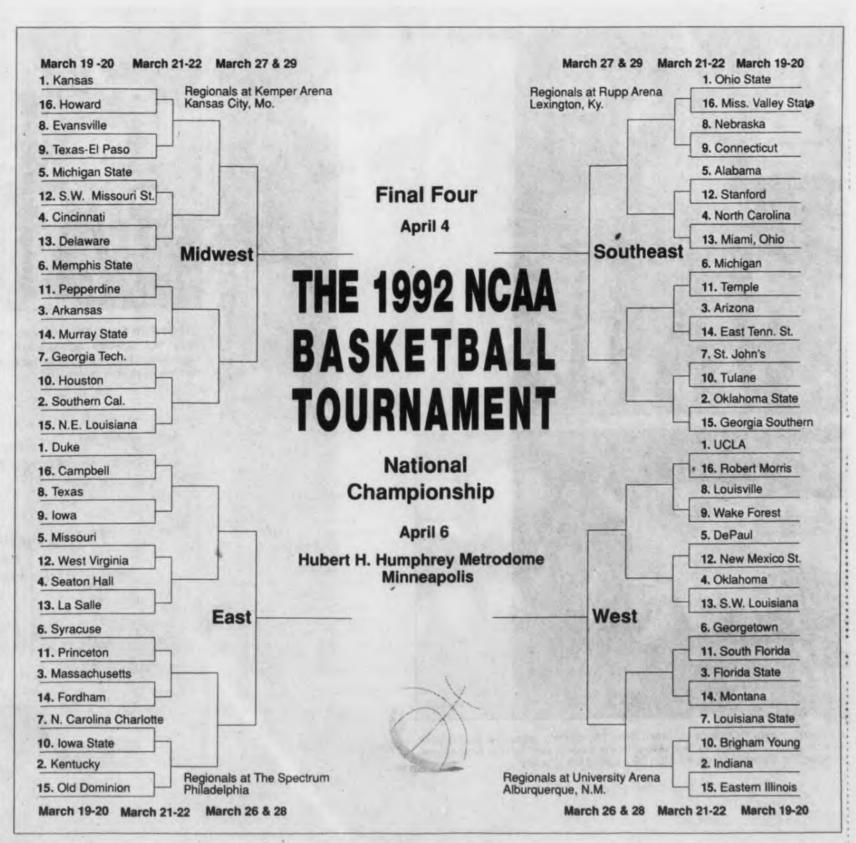

Middle-distance runner Trask reached a spot in the finals with a time of 8:09.39 minutes in the semifinal. In the final, he ran just 8:29.7, but still secured all-American honors by being the fifth American to cross the finish line.

Wentland said she just didn't jump well at the nationals, clearing

"Indoors is over," she said. "I'm back for outdoors, that's what I'm concerned about.' "Gwen just didn't make it, but she's just a sophomore," Rovelto said. "I think her approach was a little bit off getting to the higher

With a 7'0 1/2" Cogswell placed 14th in the men's high jump competition Friday night.

NEXT TO campus two, three, four, five and six-bedrooms showing evenings March 16, 17, 18, 19, 6p.m. - 9p.m., 1806 Platt.

14X70 MOBILE Home with custom kitchen only $182.50 payments. Will finance. 15 mobile home selection #198 Redbud. Countryside Brokerage 539–2325.

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

13 For Sale - Mobile Homes

Study abroad will be easier for Americans bill to increase funding of programs

STACY WATERS

Collegian Thanks to Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., studying abroad will be more

The National Security Education Act of 1991 increased federal funding for undergraduate study-abroad pro-

The bill is designed to help increase America's lack of exchange students in countries outside of Western Europe, said Brian Ellis, Boren's assistant press secretary.

Walter Kolonosky, associate professor of modern languages and director of K-State's study-abroad program, said it is the largest federal higher-education initiative since the National Defense Education Act of Ellis said only 42,000 American college students currently study in foreign countries each year. Other nations send 356,000 students to study in the United States every year, he said.

The bill was introduced, Ellis said, because the government was having a hard time finding people who were familiar with international languages and cultures.

College students designated as International Exchange Scholars will receive scholarships to study abroad for one or two semesters.

Students going to countries in Africa, South America and Asia will be given priority over those who wish to study in countries emphasized in other study-abroad programs, Ellis said.

"Those of us who toil in international education are delighted with this $150-million peace dividend," Kolonosky said.

Kolonosky said guidelines have not yet been set for the new program. Some K-State students said they Boren introduces think the money this bill provides will benefit them.

For students to learn the language they are studying, they must go where that language is spoken, said Brandon Brown, sophomore in modern languages.

Shannon Curran, sophomore in arts and sciences undecided, said, "I think it sounds pretty good. It'll definitely help me.

Currently, students who wish to study abroad must pay for their trips through private funds.

The bill will also provide fellowships to graduate students and grants to universities to create or enhance foreign-language and area-studies programs.

Ellis said the program will create a permanent international education trust fund of $150 million.

He said $35 million of the $150 million will be used to start the program. The remaining funds go into a program where it can earn interest.

The program will be funded through the interest it earns, which should be about $12 million, Ellis

"This program means a trust fund of $150 million," Kolonosky said. "Moreover, the income from this fund will not translate into military terms."

The funding for the National Security Education Act comes from appropriations from the Department of Defense, said Rebecca Cooper, legislative assistant.

Amy Blankinship, sophomore in English, said she thinks the bill is a good idea because it takes money from the defense budget and puts it into education.

"Our entire nation suffers as a result of our ignorance of international languages and cultures," Borén said, and it is my hope that this legislation will provide part of the means to create the international outlook we must have if we are to keep this country at peace and prosperous."

Double Barreled

By Daryl Blasi

For confidential

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests Old Town Mall

By Jerry Bittle

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

CLASSIFIEDS

WHO WILL be Miss Manhattan— K-State 1992? The 36th annual pageant is Sat-urday, March 21, 7:30p.m., MHS audi-torum. Advance tickets available in the Union.

FREE INFORMATION FOR SCHOLARSHIP MONEY

Results Guaranteed.

1-800-238-0690

1985 OLDS Calais Supreme, V6, air condi tioning, power steering, power brakes, power windows, AM/FM cassette, good condition, well maintained, $3000 nego-tiable. 776-9862 ask for Karla or leave

1988 CAMARO Iroc T-top automatic loaded, red, excellent condition, 57,000 miles, 889–4342.

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

FOR SALE: 1989 one-half ton Chevy Silver ado pick-up with matdring w/w two trailer. Call evenings (913) 749-5161.

SUMMER SITTER. Caring, dependable, respon-sible, fun-loving sitter needed full-time for our home. June, July, August. Five year old, three year old, infant. 537-4667.

#1 CAMPUS fund raiser. Clubs, teams, fra-

$40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS13KEB.

ATTENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army National Guard would like to help you! In addition to monthly drill pay, we offer the following incentive programs: $2,000 bo-nus, $6,120 G.I. Bill, and the $10,000 loan repayment program. By serving two days a month, and two weeks a year you could qualify for up to $28,000. To find out if you qualify, call 537-4108.

MP COUNSELOHS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing. gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $1,000 or more plus R & B. Marc Seeger. 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. (708) 446–2444.

COMPUTER OPERATOR/ Data entry student to work evening hours (5-9 p.m.) Monday thru Friday. Prefer computer science or information system freshmen or sophomore, but will consider other computer experienced applicants. Apply to Barbara Kravitcz, Continuing Education, College Court Bidg., Room 126, 532-5698.

CRUISE LINE entry level on Board- lan side positions available, year round or summer. Call (813) 229-5478.

keeper, experience relating to landscaping or lawn care required. Contact Geary Community Hospital. Attention: Cathy Witt, P.O. Box 490, Junction City, KS 66441. EOE.

IMMEDIATE OPENING for a full-time grounds

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and recreational areas. Horticultural background helpful. Send resume to Collegian Box 2.

LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national lorest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000per month working on cruise ships

CRUISE JOBS

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private

Call (800) 932-0528 Ext. 72

ternities, sororities. Raise $200-500 in five days. Guaranteed. No investment.

Employment

Automobiles for Sale

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Exact change or checks only after 4:30 p.m. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if ar error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE tor a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $6.00 per inch; Three consecutive days:

Ten consecutive days: $5.40 per inch. (Deadline is 4 p.m. two days before publication.) Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion

$5.80 per inch; Five consecutive days: $5.60 per inch

Announcements

national origin, age, sex or ancestry.

CASH FOR College! Don't miss your opportunity for the scholarships/ financial aid you are qualified for! Call or write for information on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, Lawrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DID YOU forget? Your 1991Royal Purple (1990-91 academic year) can still be picked up or purchased at Student Publications Inc., Kedzie 103. Please bring your receipt or ID. Watch the Collegian for distribution dates of the 1992 Royal Purple (1991-92 academic year).

TAI CHI Classes start March 25, 8:30p.m. $40 for eight weeks. Nautilus Fitness Club, 776-1854.

Tattoo

Fineline Tattoo Quality work, reasonably priced,

hospital sterilization

Topeka 233-8288 Junction City 238-8238

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

·Totally confidential service

Call for appointment

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

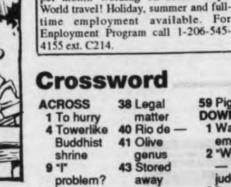

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

help call

523 S. 17th 1-800-848-LOVE 537-9180 5683

By Jeff MacNelly

38 Legal matter 40 Rio de 41 Olive genus 43 Stored problem? away 12 Shoshone neath 13 Word before 47 Spanish colony or code potato 15 Diving wild duck 17 Simone's summer 18 Hemisphere org. 19 Classroom

21 Small nightclub or bar 24 Engrave with acid tree 26 Sign of a hit play 28 Jump in 31 Enjoy the 33 Blue 35 Jewish month 36 Malayan

Yesterday's answer

EW ENGLAND Brother/ Sister Campa-Massachusetts. Mah-Kee-Nac for Boys/ Danbee for Girls. Counselor positions for Program Specialists. All Team Sports, especially Baseball, Basketball, Field Hockey, Softball, Soccer and Volleyball; 25 tennis openings; also Archery, Ri-flery, Weights/ Fitness and Biking; other openings include Performing Arts, Fine Arts, Newspaper, Photography, Cooking, Sewing, Rollerskating, Pocketry, Ropes, and Camp Craft; All Waterfront Activities (Swirmming, Skiling, Sailing, Windsurf-ing, Canoer Kayaking). Inquire: Mah-Kee-Nac (Boys) 190 Linden avenue, glen Ridge, NJ 07028. Call 1-800-753-9118. Danbee (Girls) 17 Westminster Drive, Montville, NJ 07045. Call 1-800-729-8606.

NEW ENGLAND Brother/ Sister Camps-

SPENQ THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are experienced to apply, especially those Ceaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

STOPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed to stuff our Dieting Circulars from your Dorm/ Homel Excellent Wages—$3 per envelope! No experience required! Set own hours...Full or part-time! Mailers needed immediately! To start send a long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157 Forked River, NJ 08731.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT opportunities in beautiful Estes Park, Colorado. Best Western Lake Estes Resort has several housekeeping positions available for the summer season. Call (303) 586-3386 for application or information, or write P.O. Box 1466, Estes Park, CO 80517

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

CLOSE TO campus, very nice two, three, and four-bedroom apartments, com-plexes and houses. Available for sum-mer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 two-bedroom for three seach, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

GOLDKEY APARTMENTS, 1417, 1419 Leave enworth. Deluxe two-bedrooms, leasing for fall. 776-0177, 539-2567.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285, 539-2482 after 4p.m.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

CLOSE TO campus, very nice two, three es and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785–2777. Please leave a message.

Leasing Now through August * Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts * College Heights

Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS 3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Reasonable rates. 776-3624.

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

June & August Leases Available Now

4 bedrms, 2 1/2 bath & study All appliances furnished, including washer, dryer

& microwave. Pre-wired for your computer, phone & cable TV.

Large recreation area with hot tubs & sand volleyball ·Bus service to campus Monthly rent as low as $195

For info call 776-8763

Property Resources Management

Crossword

ACROSS 1 To hurry 4 Towerlike Buddhist shrine

45 Intimidat-

hero 49 Fastgrowing maples 54 Altar phrase

Hollywood

on bagels

Queen of Hearts

55 Dunne of 56 Swab 57 It's served need 58 What the baked Solution time: 27 min. 25 Hardwood newspa-

gus stalks 5 Stretching 29 "...so - 8 a day in June?" muscles 6 One, in 30 Walked Paris heavily 7 One 32 Spanish name on painter a check

21 Fido's

under-partner slope

1 Warm

embrace

2 "Who am judge?"

electric?

3 It might

4 Aspara-

8 Air raid

be warnings 37 Plant of 9 Cosmetic the mint 10 Portal family 39 Fence 11 Hebrew measure 42 Greek 16 Polka - market place 44 Peculiar 45 Wind around and around 46 Religious 50 Dry: comb. form

51 Printer's measures 52 Get too

53 Secret

FOUND: TWO cats. One male grey with dark stripe and dark paws. One male greyish black. Both house broken. Do not belong together. Call 537-3386.

LEFT AT Photo Services, two rulers. Call 532-6304.

Only found ads can be placed free of

17 Moetings\Events

16 Lost and Found

MISS MANHATTAN— K-State Scholarship Pageant- Saturday, March 21, 7:30p.m., MHS auditorum, 2100 Poyntz. Advance tickets available in the Union.

18 Motorcycles Bicycles Sale 1991 BLACK 18-speed MTB men's $125 or best offer 537-8103. Leave message.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

REX A.K.A. Sy Ry- You are the best brother anyone can have I wish on this day that everything goes right for you. Just wait until Oklahoma- Party time. Happy 21st Birthday. From Rhea.

23 Resume Typing Service

KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537-7795.

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537–7294.

DATA SHEETS to dissertations and everything between. Laser printing. 12 years experience, Mrs. Burden, 539-1204.

REE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.-8p.m.

UTILIZE MY BS in English Speech for papers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology, $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommate Wanted

FREE MARCH rent to first female to move into nice two-bedroom. 539-5366 or 726-3425.

MALE NEEDED, walk to KSU, furnished, pri-vate bedroom, share the rest. 539-1554. MALE ROOMMATE. Three-bedroom house, one block from campus, washer/ dryer, $250/ month. All bills paid. 539-1638.

WANTED: FEMALE roommate who is a seri-ous, clean, non-smoking student. Ask for Celeste 776-6470.

28 Sublease

SUMMER SUBLEASE, June 1- July 31, two bedroom apartment close to campus and downtown, cheap rent, air condition, par-tially furnished, quiet. Great for summer school. Call 776–9862, Kristi or Karla or

30 Travel/Car Pool

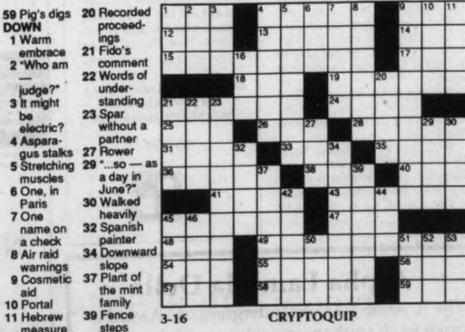

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, towns-ville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback Best offer, 539–4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

By Eugene Sheffer

ENZH-QBIV PMFU KVBU

IBWGZGBUQ PCE HZBWU

WQQGF: VZNQ QGMIBUZCW? Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE RAGS-TO-RICHES SHOE DESIGNER CAN BE CALLED WELL-HEELED.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: E equals B

Turkey

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

nursing school. "Some have been found alive; there is still hope," said Kurt Keller, a rescue specialist with Swiss Disaster Relief, which sent specially trained dogs to help the search.

But with temperatures below freezing, hope of finding many more people alive faded.

Some families kept vigil outside a makeshift morgue, sagging against the building with sobs when they learned a loved one had died.

In the city's cemetery, a stream of victims brought in by their families threatened to overwhelm gravediggers working frantically with shovels and backhoes.

"We cannot consider the grief of those around us," said one mourner, Cafer Tosun. "It is enough only to mourn your own."

In Erzurum, rescuers worked to free a man whose legs were pinned when part of a hospital collapsed minutes after his wife gave birth to their second daughter. Sait Celik's wife and child were not injured.

The latest quake measured 6 on the Richter scale and occurred at 6:17 p.m., according to the Kandilli Observatory in Istanbul, Anatolia said.

Aslan Yildirim, the governor of Tunceli province, said the hardest-hit town Sunday was Pulumur, a town of 6,000 people about 60 miles from Erzincan. He said there were no known casualties, and residents had abandoned damaged buildings after Friday's quake.

He said in a telephone interview that damage to buildings was heavy and landslides had closed the main roads into town.

Rescue efforts were proceeding slowly after Friday's minute-long earthquake, which measured 6.8 on the Richter scale.

Officials said only about 300 bodies had been recovered by Sunday. They said they feared many bodies remained buried in this city of 150,000 people, which was rebuilt after a 1939 earthquake killed 32,000.

Several newspapers on Sunday blamed faulty construction for the high death toll. State Minister Orhan Kilercioglu said there would be an

Another state minister, Erman Sahin, told Anatolia badly constructed buildings were part of the problem, but he also said the construction of structures too tall for the quake-prone region was a factor.

"For that reason, we will definitely not allow high-rise buildings when we prepare a development plan for the city," Sahin said.

The newspaper Turcuman said the numerous structures of four and five stories in Erzincan's center were built illegally in violation of a three-story limit for the city.

Nearly all of the roughly 200 buildings that collapsed in Erzincan were multistory structures. One-story structures built immediately after the 1939 earthquake sustained only minor dam-

Three U.S. C-130 Hercules transport planes flew in American soldiers and rescue equipment Sunday. Italy, Greece, Sweden and other countries also sent planeloads of aid.

Bank

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5 century. Recordkeeping was hand-written in a computer age. Overdrafts were tacitly encouraged. Members often were never told if they wrote a check on insufficient funds, and accounts never showed a negative bal-

Rep. Nancy Johnson, R-Conn., described a member who made a deposit while the regular teller who handled the account was on vacation.

Only at this bank should the customer have asked when the teller was coming back.

While the deposit went unrecorded for 10 days, until the regular teller returned, the member wrote checks that now appear as overdrafts.

We must provide full disclosure and challenge America's people to look rationally at this information and listen fairly to the explanation of it," said Johnson, another member of the ethics committee.

Virtually all checks were paid, often using the deposits of other mem-

Of all 355 current and former mem-

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

adjustment, which Wefald said he hopes the Kansas Legislature will approve this year, would be used to staff classes and sections that previ-

ment adjustments that we never received and never will receive," Wefald

"There are two years of enroll-

"The Legislature changed its own

Plan

ously weren't.

bers who wrote at least one bad check, only five had a check returned. Others received telephone calls asking them to make a deposit, but after the money was sent in, the records were thrown in the trash.

The bank held checks for a variety of reasons, including insufficient funds or damage to the check. Those checks were marked with a red dot, but most lawmakers said they had no idea what that meant.

"If my 2-year-old spilled cocoa on check, it conceivably could have been held and ... look like a bounced check," Rep. Fred Grandy, R-Iowa, also a member of the ethics panel, said Sunday.

"Come on, this is not a bank," said Rep. James Hansen of Utah, ranking Republican on the ethics committee.

'You could come into the bank if you were $20,000 overdrawn, and if you wanted to cash a $5,000 check, and the teller knew it, he would still cash it for you."

Grandy called it a "cash club." "The guiding principle of this bank was service," he said. "In other words, what the member asked for, the member almost always got."

rules in 1987, and there has been an

For the 1993 fiscal year, Wefald said he hopes the Legislature approves the $1.6-million enrollment adjustment recommended by Gov. Joan but would not make up for the money that K-State did not receive in the Robert Krause, vice president for institutional advancement, said quality comes from each of the colleges past," Wefald said.

"Getting this money would help, enrollment surge since 1988."

cials expect the number of classes and students to nearly double.

and programs of the University. "The deans must take a look at college," Krause said. "More flexibility allows you to improve quality. Without this, it is hard to establish priorities."

In the meantime, K-State will have to enhance programs with existing resources.

WEATHER

Kansans take interest in tornado spotting class

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WICHITA — The audience was quiet as they watched the tornado chew up south Wichita on the screen in front of them.

"Right about here," National Weather Service meteorologist Steve Schurr said as the tornado churned across Interstate Highway 35, "is where it hit Boeing.'

The audience was learning how to spot funnel clouds in a special training session offered by the National Weather Service.

In a typical year, National Weather Service officials say, about 1,500 people in south central Kansas sign up for the sessions. This year, offi-

Most of the debris from the tomadoes that slammed south central Kansas last April 26 has been cleaned up, and victims are rebuilding their lives how to improve the quality of each 532-6560

Cats

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

attacked the Wildcat zone and connected on 10 of 18 shots.

'Some of their shots weren't falling," he said. "Our shots were." Especially Houston's.

"Byron Houston just kicked us like he had twice before," Altman

Just how bad was Friday's loss? Senior guard Marcus Zeigler, who came into the game as the conference's leader among point guards with a 4-to-1 assist to turnover ratio, dished out only a pair of assists and coughed the ball up three times. K-State suffered its first threegame losing streak of the season. And Oklahoma State continued its dominance of the Cats in first round play of the Big Eight Tournament. The Pokes have beaten the Wildcats all three times they have met in the opening round.

One facet of the ballgame that continued to go the Wildcat's way was the shooting of Wylie Howard. The K-State center nailed five of his eight shots to continue his hot shooting. In Howard's last 10 games, he has hit 51 of his 80 shots for a 64 percent clip.

And freshman Brian Henson continued a streak of his own, making four of his eight 3-pointers. Henson drilled at least one trey for the eighth consecutive game. In seven of those eight, he has hit more than one, including three in a row in which he drilled at least

"I was getting pretty open on most of my shots," he said.

The shooting of Henson and Howard, however, wasn't enough. K-State can now just sit back and wait. With all hopes of an NCAA tournament birth resting peacefully six feet under, the Wildcats thoughts are on the NIT. The Cats will host Western Kentucky 7 p.m. Wednesday at Bramlage Coliseum in the first round. Western Kentucky went 21-10 on the regular season, good for fourth place in the Sun Belt Conference. WKU lost to Louisiana Tech, the conference's regular season champion, in the semifinals of the Sun Belt conference tournament. The 7 p.m. tip is subject to change.

SPORTS SHORTS Baseball hosts Hawgs

The K-State Baseball team returns home from a 5-3 Spring Break road trip to Florida to host Arkansas 7 p.m. today at Frank Myers Field.

The Cats opened their season at Fayetteville, dropping 2 of 3 games to the Razorbacks last month.

The trip to Manhattan will be the first for Arkansas since the series began in 1910.

In Tuesday's Collegian

The Lady Cats fell in the first round of the Big Eight tournament, losing 79-27 to Colorado.

The Baseball team went 5-3 on a Spring Break road trip to Florida. The women's golf team, Cats' tennis and other sports played over the break as well. Also, the NIT selection committee will announce when the Cats' game will be. Those stories and other Spring Break stories will run Tuesday.

WHEN ONLY THE BEST DENTISTRY WILL DO...

- ACCOMMODATING
- AFFORDABLE
- ACCESSIBLE
- ATTENTIVE

Now Serving the State of Kansas Traditional-Prudential Dental Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient. Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A. 514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA DOWNTOWN, MANHATTAN

537-9414

temporarily permanently physically limited students on campus, building to building

Inquire by calling 532-644

-Look For The APARTMENTS Model Signs-

Near Campus Now Leasing

For June & Aug. MODEL SHOWINGS · 1113 Bertrand #5 2 Bdrm

•1010 Sunset 1 & 5 Bdrm U Mon. & Thurs. 11-12 $285-$875

- 925 Denison #9 1 Bdrm U
- Mon. 1-3 WED. 2-4 $350-$385
- 1017-25 McCollum 1-2&5 Bdrm Mon. & Thurs. 2-2:30 $210-$775
- 1124-26 Fremont 1-2 Bdrm Mon. 2:30-3:30 Tues. 3:30-4:30 $225-$400
- 731 N 6º 1 Bdrm
- Mon. & Thurs. 3-3:30 $305 1722 Laramie #6 1 Bdrm $350- $365 Mon. 3-5 Thurs. 4-6
- 1217 Laramie 1 & 2 Bdrms $210-$310 Mon 3:30-4:30 Tues 2:30-3:30
- 1854 Claflin #8 1 Bdrm Mon. 6-8 Thurs. 2-4 $335-360 1026 Osage #21 2 Bdrm $460
- Tues. 1:30-2:30 Fri. 4-5 · 1950 Hunting #2 1 Bdrm Tues. 3-5 Thurs. 5-7 $395-410

Development McCullough

• 1825 College Hts. #2 2 Bdrm $630- $730 Tues. 6-8 Wed. 3:30-5:30 • 409 Summit B Studio Wed. 2-2:30 Thurs. 4:30-5

923 Vattier #5 2 Bdrm

• 1022 Sunset 1 Bdrm

• 1212 Thurston #10 $400-410

Tues. 4-6 Wed. 10-11:30 a.m.

Tues. & Wed. 4-6 $305-$365

Tues. & Fri. 4-5

• 1503 Fairchild 1 Bdrm $285 Wed. 2:30- 3 Thurs. 4-4:30

Tues. & Thurs. 3:30-5:30 $550-$560

- · Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan 1 & 4 Bd Newly Remodeled + Club House Wed. & Thurs. 3-5
- 405 N. 10th 2 Bdrm $360-$395 Wed. 3-3:30 Thurs. 3:30-4
- . 300 N. 11th 1 & 3 Bdrm $275-$485 Wed. 3:30-4 Thurs. 3-3:30 · 1005 Bluemont #1 1-2 &5 Bdrms
- $365-$800 Wed. & Thurs. 4-5 924 Fremont 1 Bdrm $275 Wed. 4-4:30 Thurs. 2:30-3

Wed. 6-8 Thurs. 12-2

800 Laramie 2 Bdrm $345 Wed. 4:30-5 Thurs. 2-2:30 411 N. 17th #1 1 Bdrm $350- $365

Congratulations to the Members of Blue Key National Honor Fraternity 1992-1993

Ian Bautista Becky Bryan Holly Campbell Roger Denning Brian Dunn Sandra Goering Jon Hixson Chris Hupe Blake Kaus

Brad Marshall Heather Riley Douglas Robinson Dawn Spivey Tandy Trost Fred Wingert Scott Wissman Ann Woodbury

and homes - this time with base-

People are returning to the Golden Spur mobile home park in Andover, where 13 people were killed. The turnout for spotter classes is an echo of the last spring's killer storms, and a welcome one. "I'm thrilled to see it," said Dick Elder, head meteorologist at the Wichita office of the National Weather

"I'm a firm believer that if people know what to look for and know what to do, that's what saves lives."

Knowing what to do saved countless lives last spring, Schurr told the Boeing crowd on Friday.

The tornado touched down near Clearwater, then traveled north and east through Haysville and south Wichita before bearing down on Andover and suburbs east of Wichita.

COLLEGIAN Display Advertising

In a Hurry For Lunch? Come in and have our luncheon buffet, it includes soup, salad bar and Hot foods for only $4.95 Monday thru Friday.

* Holiday Dnn°

530 Richards Dr.

11 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

539-5311

Most minor repairs can be completed in 3-4 days after drop off. Let Alan Clark take care of your vehicle today! Alan Clark BODY SHOP INC.

776-5333

2160 Pillsbury Dr. • 1/2 mile south of the viaduct on Hwy. 17

KIDS EAT FREE ALL DAY TUESDAY

Includes fresh baked rolls and over 80 delicious salads, soups, fruits and puddings, plus FREE dessert and FREE drink refills.

325 E. Poyntz

For information: call the president of AAA.

Alpha Lambda Delta

The Jo Anne J. Trow Undergraduate Award is

Lambda Delta members. Applicants must be currently registered as full time students and 3.5 through fall term, 1991.

have maintained a G.P.A. of at least open to all sophomores who are Alpha

Applications are available now at Calvin 210 and due Tues., Mar. 17.

KANSAS STATE IIFGTA

South Africa's Future

A whites-only referendum today will decide the future of apartheid in South Africa.

SEE PAGE 5

TUESDAY, MARCH 17, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

Fee waiver requested

Chase Manhattan Bank cracks down on mall land developer, asks for payment

The company that rents the land on which Manhattan Town Center Mall is located has asked the city of Manhattan to waive an annual land-rent fee of $185,000. The request for the fee waiver will be made tonight at the City Commission meeting by Forest City Southwest, a partner with the City of Manhattan in the Manhattan Town Center

Chase Manhattan Bank has a $23.2million mortgage on the mall and has cracked down on Forest City Southwest, asking the company to pay the loan in full. In renegotiations between the bank and Forest City Southwest, a more reasonable plan was devised. To allow Forest City Southwest to begin making payments to Chase Manhattan, the new proposal would waive the company's fee of $185,000 paid for rent of the land, owned by the years, would allow the city to receive 18 percent of the mall's profit, a 3percent increase from the original financing plan.

"Ninety percent of developers, when faced with this challenge, would run away, but we are not about cutting losses and walking away," said David Dolgen, president of Forest City Southwest. "This is a favorable solution that doesn't hurt anyone," he

Mike Conduff, Manhattan city manager, said problems with the financial package of the Town Center could hurt Manhattan.

"My sense is the city would have a lot to lose," he said. "We pledged the land as collateral for the loan, therefore, it is probably necessary to waive the fee.'

Conduff said any interruptions in financing can be harmful. "Over 1,000 jobs were created by the Town Center and a default in the city. The plan, to be in effect for 10 loan or other financial problems could cause a loss in jobs," he said.

He said reasons such as employment are factors to consider when deciding on a fee waiver.

Conduff explained the city has invested a great deal in the Town Center area. He said in the first stages of the Town Center project, about $9 billion was spent on relocating businesses and getting the land in condition to build.

"Although in some respects it is a sacrifice, in light of what the city has to lose, the waive of the $185,000 fee is probably necessary," Conduff said.

In the event of a hypothetical disagreement within the city commis-sion, Conduff said,"the ball would squarely be back in the developer's court, and a serious business decision would have to be made."

He said the community would suffer dramatically, and if the commission were to reject the fee waiver, there would be less sales tax revenue and the mall would stand on less solid

Dolgen said the Town Center See MALL Page 8

Pro-life supporters against bill

Finney says society face stiff penalties under the bill. must protect life. will veto legislation organized by Kansans for Life. A crowd of more than 1,000 citizens, lawmakers and activists gathered to voice their opposition to an abortion bill currently before the Sen-rally.

KELLY KLAWONN

floor Monday without a recommendation from the Senate Committee on Federal and State Affairs. The committee vote was six to four.

The bill would prevent the state trimester abortions and require counseling for patients under 16. Demonstrators at abortion clinics will also

Gov. Joan Finney addressed the crowd, reaffirming her pro-life stance. "I will keep my word to the Kansas people, I am pro-life," Finney said.

"House Bill 2778 is a pro-abortion bill. I will veto this bill if it comes to TOPEKA - Speckled with sun, my desk," Finney said. "As a civisongs and signs, pro-life supporters lized society we must protect life, and covered the Statehouse lawn at a rally as a civilized state we must protect the Pleas to the moral and religious consciousness were predominant throughout the two-and-a-half-hour

"Only one can mend the post-abor-The bill was sent to the Senate tivewoman's heart and that is the one, the king, the savior, Jesus Christ," said Nancy Jo Streeder, of the organization Women Exploited by Abor-

Paul Dugan, former Kansas Lieufrom interfering in first- and second- tenant Governor, said the state needs a return to family values, prayer and meditation

"We need to stop and reverse the trend and put abortion back where it was," Dugan said.

People addressing the rally criticized the media and politicians for not representing the majority opinions.

"For the last 20 years we have been telling our children not to be journalists and politicians," said Rep. Darlene Cornfield, R-Valley Center.

"Now we need a few more because onty is no longer being neard, Comfield said.

Dugan echoed those statements by saying youth need to be encouraged not to depend on "the modern press to solve our problems."

With debate on the bill beginning in the upcoming weeks, speakers called for immediate action.

"Look at the statistics and see how many millions of babies are killed and how many women are exploited by the money makers. There is only one thing to do - to stop it and stop it now," said Sen. Norma Daniels, D-Valley Center.

Bank's reckless

WASHINGTON — Two Kansas

congressmen disclosed on Monday that they had written bad checks on their accounts in the now-defunct

House bank, with one Democratic

Democrat, and Pat Roberts, a Dodge

City Republican, made the disclosures as they sought to limit damage to their political careers from the

A House ethics committee investicheck-writing scandal.

management

LEGISLATURE

Simply Sam

Cornedian Sam Kinison performs his imitation of presidential candidate Bill Clinton during the first of two shows at Snookie's Cornedy Invasion Monday night. Kinison was exaggerating Clinton's sex life. Jeffrey Dahmer, Paul Tsongas, and George Bush were also topics in Kinison's act, which lasted about 45 minutes. The line for the second show stretched around the corner of 12th Avenue and Moro Street spilling into the alley.

CAMPAIGN '92

Tsongas vows to stay in presidential race

CHICAGO - Democrat Paul Tsongas, lagging in pre-primary polls in Michigan and Illinois, vowed Monday to stay in the Democratic presidential race and offered himself as the only alternative to front-runner Bill Clinton.

The candidates, scrapping for lastminute votes on the eve of Tuesday's primaries in the two states, kept up the testy tone that has overtaken the campaign in recent days.

Clinton said Jerry Brown should be ashamed of himself for attacking Clinton's dealing with his wife's law

Brown renewed his attacks over what he called the scandal-a-week stories about the Arkansas governor. Brown said Clinton was employ-paint the governor's wife, Hillary Rodham Clinton, as the victim of attacks that were in fact aimed at Clinton.

Source: Bureau of Labor Statistics, Kansas City Star

Tsongas said he would fare better than Clinton in a general election battle with President Bush and sought to fashion himself as the only alternative to Clinton.

"People are coming up and saying, You've got to stay in the race,' Tsongas said. "Something's going on. I think it's the perception of, 'You are the only alternative.' The former Massachusetts senator said he would press his campaign to the next primaries in Connecticut and New York even if he does as poorly in the Rust Belt primaries on Tuesday.

Clinton led polls in both Illinois and Michigan. Brown was threatening to upend Tsongas for second place gation has revealed that more than 300 current and former House members wrote thousands of bad checks on personal accounts in the chamber's bank. Glickman, at a Wichita news conference, said he had not been able to blamed for overdrafts determine the exact number of his overdrafts but estimated them in the range of approximately 100 in 1989-

Two Kansans admit to bad checks

Roberts said he had written four bad checks in 1990-91, and the overdrafts totaled $235.27.

Both lawmakers complained that member estimating he had 100 oversloppy management of the bank was part of the reason for their overdrafts. Reps. Dan Glickman, a Wichita For example, they said the bank delayed crediting some deposits to their

The House bank had a policy of often covering a member's overdrafts, treating the bad checks as an advance on the lawmaker's next monthly pay-

Glickman and Roberts emphasized they never intentionally overdrew their accounts. Both said their monthly bank statements never showed a negative balance from an overdraft, and they were never notified their accounts were short of money.

"I did not break any law or any rule of the House. I was not taking advantage of the system by using these advances for investment purposes or anything else to gain financial advantage. But I was careless," Glickman said in a statement.

"As ridiculous as it sounds, I did not know I was doing this because I did not keep close track of my checking account balance. I accept complete responsibility for my actions," Glickman said.

Last year, when scandal first surfaced, Glickman and Roberts said they hadn't bounced any checks. Roberts even obtained a letter last year from the House sergeant of arms, who administered the bank, stating that Roberts had no bad check-writing problems with his account.

The ethics committee spent five months investigating the bank and identified 296 current and 59 former members who had written bad checks during a 39-month period ending last October.

Glickman said he would not be able to determine the number of his overdrafts until the ethics committee gave him its information, and he could reconcile that with his bank state-

Glickman said he discovered his overdrafts after reading the ethics committee report on the bank's operation, which revealed the bank placed a "small red date stamp" on checks when there wasn't enough money in a member's account to immediately cover them.

Roberts said he found his overdrafts after obtaining information from See CHECKS Page 3

Wefald nominated for Wisconsin presidency

JULIE LONG

K-State President Jon Wefald has been nominated as a candidate for the presidency of the University of Wisconsin system. However, he is one of many.

There are 145 names on the list of candidates. Warren Armstrong, Wichita State University president, and Gene Budig, University of Kansas chancellor, are also on the list. Wefald said he did not know anything about the nomination, and said people are often nominated for this type of job. He said he loves Manhattan and K-State and has no intention of leaving.

Edward Penson, executive director of the University of Wisconsin presidential search, said although Wefald was nominated, he was unable to say by whom. He said he hopes to have a new president by July 1. The system is one of the largest university systems in the country, with a total student population of approximately 160,000, said Jonathan Henkes, spokesperson for the University of Wisconsin system.

It is a publicly funded system, Henkes said. Therefore, the amount of funding it receives depends upon the state of the economy. Recently the state has trimmed the system budget by several million dollars.

"Over the years, the percentage of state funds has continued to decrease,"

Henkes said. "Funding is the biggest challenge right now."

Henkes said that because the president is the No. 1 advocate of the system in the legislature, they are looking for a president who has direction, vision, can work well with the administration, and has good political

"This system is looking for someone with proven experience and credentials as a leader and a visionary as well," Henkes said.

PROFILE

Manhattan mayor says he likes his jobs, enjoys University cooperation

ANDY WOODWARD

Dr. Eugene Klingler said he liked Manhattan so much, he became Klingler, who has been a doctor in Manhattan for 24 years, doubles as the city's mayor. "Very, very seldom is there conflict,' Klingler said. "I won't let it. My practice comes first. I have got two very understanding partners. This (being mayor) is not supposed to be a full-time job; we have a professional city manager. I try and represent the interests of the Klingler said the two jobs parallel each other perfectly.

Klingler

"In one case it's the personal health of my patients. In another case, it's the health of the city and its people. I treat patients who are citizens of the city. Sometimes, I hear their concerns and worries in my office," he said.

Klingler is ambiguous on questions regarding future terms as mayor, saying there is "no official announcement either way to run again."

Living in Manhattan for more than 30 years, Klingler said he has seen many things about K-State change and grow.

"I haven't noticed a whole lot of change in the student body except for responsibility. Students are more re-sponsible now," he said. "Back in the Vietnam days, there was a social conscience but no responsibility. Today, they've got a social conscience accompanied with responsibility."

Klingler recently attended a meetand a smaller meeting for the mayors of university cities, called the University City Caucus. The meeting served as a compari-

ing of the National League of Cities son gauge for Klingler, who said he has nothing but good words for the students and people of K-State.

"We've got a student body that's second to none. We don't see the problems we see at other universities," he said. "I'm just appalled at other problems on other campuses. Some of the demonstrations, problems with drunkenness and drugs not that they do not exist here, but not to the extent.

"Another problem that exists in many other universities that simply doesn't exist here is a lack of cooperation between the cities and the schools.

"Like here, the use of McCain Auditorium is coordinated well with the city. In other cities, the school and the city both say 'Well, we're going to do our own thing.' It makes you feel real good about K-State and Manhattan when you go to these meetings."

Klingler's comments about K-State are tempered by the fact that his children either are or will be alumni

"I'm proud of K-State and its student body. I will have had three children go there. I feel they received excellent educations, and if they due. didn't, it's their fault, not K-State's.

Klingler said college should be a positive experience, and this experience is enhanced if the link between a city and its university is a positive

'One of the sides of college is you develop a sense of maturity and develop into good citizens," he said. We have a good working relationship with K-State. Manhattan is a better place for K-State."

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

SUNDAY, MARCH 15
At 12:34 a.m., Alan Brent, Fort Riley, was arrested at Third Street and Tuttle Creek Boulevard for DUI and released on $500 bond.

arrested at Third Street and Tuttle Creek Boulevard for DUI and released on $500 bond.

At 11:13 a.m., a man reported his wife was passing the 1100 block of Fremont Street and observed a white male in a doorway of an apartment complex west of the Delta Sigma Phi house acting in a "level and lascivious manner." The subject had brown, ear-length hair, a mustache, jeans and no shirt.

At 11:33 a.m., the manager of apartments at 1500 McCain Lane reported a female tenant had been flashed by a white male, 5'10", 165 lbs., long curly hair, mustache, "very tanned body," in his 20s, no shirt, jean shorts, a gray shirt in his hands.

At 1:37 p.m., it was reported that a white male with long hair and a mustache, wearing jeans, was exposing himself at 724 Poyntz Ave. The officer was unable to locate the flasher upon arrival.

At 4:12 p.m., Angie Gover, 523 Moro St., No. 1, reported $450 damage to her windshield. A criminal damage to property report was filed.

At 5:08 p.m., Jill Hinshaw, 3308 Musil, reported a hit-and-run accident between an unknown vehicle and her car at 2304 Stagg Hill Road wn vehicle and her car at 2304 Stagg Hill Road parking lot.

At 7 p.m., several girls in a maroon Camaro with baseball bats were observed yelling at other girls in Leonardville. An officer located a Camaro with female occupants, but no bats were found in deadline has been extended to March 22.

MONDAY, MARCH 16

A17:52a.m., Dave Ayers, 1291 Pillsbury Drive, reported a hit-and-run accident between his fence and a trash truck. The officer will attempt to make and a trash truck. The officer will attempt to make contact with the truck driver.

At $132 a.m., Amherst Self Storage, 2700 Amherst Ave, reported damage to a locker rented to Preston Harris of Georgetown, Ky. Damage to the locker was valued at $500.

At 10:11 a.m., a minor-damage, hit-and-run accident between an unknown vehicle and one belonging to Rob Goode, 1504 Campus Road was reported.

reported.
At 12:55 p.m., Amy Higdon, 626 Vattier St., reported a squirrel in her drain pipe. The drain was opened so the squirrel could escape.
At 1:20 p.m., Phillip Pardon, 1425 University Drive, reported his Schwinn Mountain bike had been stolen. Loss was valued at $400.

At 2:40 p.m., Fred T. Hill, 917 Moro St., was given a notice to appear for the theft of one pair of men's gym shorts from JCPenney, Town Center Mall, valued at $23.

At 4:30 p.m., Zaid Q. Al-Mawasawi, 1407 Legore Lane, was arrested in Seaton Hall on a Shawnee County warrant for felony theft and was confined in lieu of $2,500 bond. Subject was re-leased to Shawnee County authorities.

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 207.

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

■ Rhodes and Marshall Scholarship question-and-answer session will be

11 a.m.-noon in Union 208. ■ Truman Scholarship question-and-answer session will be 1-2 p.m. in Union 205.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Barbara Miller Callahan for 8:30 a.m. in Bluemont 368.

■ Kansas Young Democrats will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union 202. ■ The Ag Econ Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Waters 244.

■ Non-Traditional Student Association will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203. ■ KSU Young Democrats will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union 202.

■ Mortar Board will meet to elect officers at 6 p.m. in Union 213. ■ SPURS Sophomore Honorary will meet at 9:30 p.m. in Union 212.

■ Golden Key will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Union Big Eight Room. ■ KSU Amateur Radio Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 202.

■ Society for Creative Anachronism will meet at 7 p.m. in Aheam Field House for dance, music, bardic practice and a general meeting. ■ Human Development and Family Studies Club will meet at 6 p.m. at the Pizza Hut in Aggieville.

■ Alpha Chi Sigma will meet at 6 p.m. in Willard 115.

KSU Friends of Big Brothers and Big Sisters will meet at 7 p.m. in

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18

Let's Rap," black student support group, will meet at 3:30 p.m. in Union 208

■ Just Guys will meet at 7:05 p.m. in Union 212. The topic will be "What Do Women Really Want?"

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Yi Wang for 2 p.m. in Chemistry/Biochemistry Building 437.

■ University Counseling Services will present an informal discussion of 'Procrastination: Problem or Plus?" from noon to 1 p.m. in Union 203. Bring

■ Career Planning and Placement will conduct a workshop on job-search strategies from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. in Union 212. ■ Rainforest Coalition will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 206 for a slide presentation of the South American neo-tropical rain forest by Chris Smith, professor of biology.

THURSDAY, MARCH 19

■ Teachers of Tomorrow will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 217. ■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.

■ Truman Scholarship question-and-answer session will be 1-2 p.m. in Union 205.

WEATHER

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Summer internship applications for Sen. Bob Dole's office are available in Kedzie 219B. More K-State applicants are requested, and the

■ McCain Student Development Council applications are available in the

■ Truman Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office,

■ Marshall Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office,

■ Rhodes Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office,

Faculty Senate final ballots will be mailed this week. They should be

■ Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 207. The HOT Conference will be discussed, and windbreaker fees are

Student Governing Association office in the K-State Union and are due March

Eisenhower Hall, and are due by 4:50 p.m., March 23, in Eisenhower 113.

Eisenhower Hall, and are due by 8:30 a.m., March 23, in Eisenhower 113.

Eisenhower Hall, and are due by 8:30 a.m., March 24, in Eisenhower 113.

TODAY'S FORECAST

Cloudy and cooler. High from 55 to 60, turning cooler this afternoon. Low tonight in the low 30s.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

TUESDAY, MARCH 17

returned by March 30.

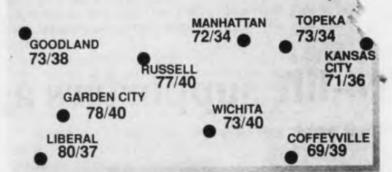

High near 45 with a 60-percent chance of rain. Low near 30.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Chance of rain or snow Thursday with a high in the upper 40s. Dry Friday, warming into the 50s. Snow expected in eastern Kansas on Saturday. High near 45. Lows from 25 to

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Manila	93/68	clear
Albany	29/09	cloudy	Oslo	43/27	clear
Athens	61/45	cloudy	Rio	97/86	clear
Lima	84/70	clear	Yuma	78/56	cloudy

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

SUNDAY, MARCH 15

MONDAY, MARCH 16

warrant through the Shawnee County Sheriff's office and taken to the Riley County Jail.

At 2 p.m., textbooks were reported stolen from rockmorton Hall. Loss was $264.

At 10:35 a.m., the theft of a backpack was reported at Mariatt Hall. Loss was $88.

A lost ID was reported off campus A student parking permit was reported stolen

776-5577 776-5577 "NO COUPON SPECIALS" Everyday ime Time Two-Fers Special 2 - 10 in. Pizzas 3 - 10 in. Pizzas 2 - Toppings 1 - Topping 4 - Cokes $10.50 $8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

Take Care Of Those Who Take Care Of You.

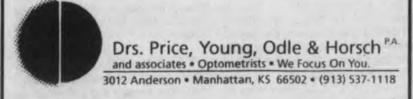

Your eyes are essential. With them, you work, play and live life to its fullest. It's important that your eyes stay as healthy as possible. You'll be using them for a long time.

At Price, Young, Odle, Horsch & associates we express our care for your eyes through the attention we give them. With an excellent staff of professional optometrists, it's unlikely you'll get service as dedicated anywhere else in the state.

And with our 3 month contact lenses for sale at the lowest price in Manhattan, there's no better time to check out your eyes. Come see us at Price, Young, Odle & Horsch. We just might have what you're looking for.

Sigma Sigma Susan Huddleston * Question/Answer Session

* Sorority Sign In

* Sorority Chant Contest

1122 Moro Private Club Memberships Available 18 to Enter 21 to Drink 776-7726 Sig-Ep Fite Nite April 2-5 at Ahearn Field House For Tickets Call 539-2387

All Proceeds Benefit the American Heart Association

Attention, Women of K-State

Interested in Modeling?

Neo Enterprises and Nathan Ham Photography will be at Rusty's LAST CHANCE to interview models for a local arts calendar. Models will be selected from the interview only. Please bring photo or snapshot.

Paid modeling positions.

Wednesday, March 18 4-7 p.m. at Rusty's Last Chance

Additional sponsors: Brothers, Travelers Express, Lowman's Men's Store, Blue Moon Waterbed, and Futon.

Steve Adams, senior in mathematics, has produced 100 Lawn Babes and has already sold 45 since he sparked the idea in October. Adams sells the yard art for $22 apiece and markets it himself from his home. Adams has created several versions of the plywood yard art.

Student rejuvenates lawn ornament

Adams markets mass-produced

Lawn Babes idea

TAD MUSSELWHITE

Steve Adams thinks he has developed a work of art — yard art, that is and trademarked his idea. - that will make the neighbors green

"I have created every man's dream of the idea. lawn ornament," said Adams, senior in mathematics.

His creation is Lawn Babes, college guys want more than any- to a signmaker, who silkscreens the wooden cutouts which feature back views of shapely women bending over, wearing only panties and nylons complete with garters.

Lawn Babes are the first massing to Adams, who has copyrighted

Adams was biking home from campus one day when he first thought the lawn art and thought, 'What do hot babes?" Adams has designed a number of

of which is the "Kansas State and he arranges for delivery. Wildwoman," adorned in purple panties and high heels.

Plans have been made to develop other Babes for more than just the "I saw the fat-old-lady version of front lawn, Adams said.

Adams said he takes the lumber thing else, aside from beer?' And design on the boards. Then the Big that is women," Adams said. "So I Lakes Developmental Center Inc. thought, 'Why not make one with cuts and sands the Babes, Adams

Adams markets the Lawn Babes produced lawn ornaments, accord- different models of his idea, the first himself. Buyers call to order Babes,

> They are $22 each, and Adams said he has sold 45 of the first 100

> Babes made. "I hope to make a living off of this," he said. "You've heard of the See BABES Page 8

Republican who is running for Congress, called on Glickman to release more financial documents and said

ing the overdrafts "smacks of someone whose story has been inconsistent and less than truthful with the

NATIONAL NEWS

Earhart mystery solved, experts say

Artifacts prove pair landed, died on Pacific island

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - Bits of metal, a medicine bottle cap and parts of a woman's shoe prove Amelia Earhart landed on a remote Pacific island and later died there, probably from thirst, an investigator said Monday.

"We have recovered artifacts that conclusively prove this case," said Richard Gillespie, executive director of The International Group for Historic Aircraft Recovery. "The facts are there. The case is solved."

Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, disappeared in the South Pacific on July 2, 1937, while on a flight from New Guinea to Howland Island.

The two were on the final portion of an attempt to fly around the world near the equator.

Neither the fliers nor their Lockheed Electra were found in an air and sea search mounted by the U.S.

Later, reports surfaced that Earhart. a native of Atchison, had been captured by the Japanese and died a prisoner. This has never been proven, however, and the fate of Earhart has been the subject of numerous books.

At a news conference Monday, Gillespie said he has solved the 55year-old mystery.

He said his research shows that after Earhart and Noonan failed to find Howland Island, they came upon a small atoll. They then called Gardner Island and next called Nikumaroro, and landed there on a dry tidal flat during low tide.

Radio distress signals were heard from the vicinity of the island for three days but then stopped, Gillespie

He also said a massive storm north of Nikumaroro generated waves which washed the Electra from the tidal flat and dropped the airplane over the edge of a coral reef into 2,000 feet of water.

This is why, he said, that when Navy planes flew over the island a few days later there was no sign of the Nikumaroro, then uninhabited, had no fresh water supply. Gillespie said he believes Earhart and Noonan depended on rainwater to survive, but the local rainfall was only about an 1 1/2 inches a year. The pair probably died from thirst, he said.

Gillespie said his organization visited Nikumaroro last October and discovered several artifacts they had not found in a 1989 visit to the island.

He said expert analysis of a piece of aircraft aluminum, a length of copper wire, parts of a woman's size 9 shoe and a medicine bottle cap uncovered nothing that would disprove his contention that Earhart and Noonan died on Nikumaroro.

'We're very confident that the Amelia Earhart case is solved," Gillespie said.

He said the artifacts form circumstantial evidence in such an overwhelming way as to make them conclusive.

Among the claims:

A 23-by-19-inch piece of aircraft aluminum was found washed up on the island.

Gillespie claimed it came from a undersection that had been repaired at the Lockheed plant in California after Earhart crash-landed in Hawaii months earlier.

The piece was examined for TIGHAR by Joe Epperson, a National Transportation Safety Board metallurgist, who said the metal was consistent with what is known about the repairs made to the aircraft.

Epperson also examined a piece of copper antenna wire attached to the metal and said it matched antenna wire from the same era.

Parts of a shoe sole found on the island were identified as from a woman's size 9 blucher-style Oxford by officials of the Cat's Paw division of the Biltrite Corp. It was from the left shoe and included a replacement heel, Gillespie said.

Enlargements of photos of Earhart taken during the attempt to fly around the world show her wearing this type of shoe, he said, and even confirm she had had the left heel replaced.

A metal medicine bottle cap was identified by Warner-Lambert Co. See EARHART Page 5

Checks

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the ethics committee and then reviewing his bank statements. He said he couldn't determine the cause of the overdrafts because the bank's records were incomplete.

Rep. Jim Slattery, a Topeka Democrat, said he wrote at least one bad check and has scheduled a news conference in Kansas on Tuesday to disclose details and possibly more over-

Here are the bad checks disclosed by Roberts:

■$500 to the KSU Foundation. It was presented to the bank Jan. 12, 1990, and cleared it Jan. 18. His account was overdrawn by $50.02.

■$90 to the Republican Women's Club. It was presented to the bank on March 26, 1991, and cleared March 30. His account was overdrawn by

■ $200 check written to Roberts for cash. It was presented to the bank on March 28, 1991, and cleared March 30. His account was overdrawn by $152.99

■$5,000 to his wife's commercial bank account. It was presented to the bank on Aug. 6, 1991, and cleared Aug. 7. His account was overdrawn by $14.27.

Roberts said he hoped voters would understand his overdrafts and recognize he did not willfully abuse the House bank's check-writing system. "If you ask the public for their trust, you've got to trust the people back home to make that distinguishing factor," Roberts said in an inter-

Glickman said he hopes people will forgive his lapse in judgment. He the congressman's delay in disclosand Roberts also pledged to push for reforms of internal House operations.

But the check-writing scandal clearly has provided political ammu-public." nition for challengers to use against

BODY SHOP INC.

State Sen. Eric Yost, a Wichita

Most minor repairs can be completed in 3-4 days after drop off. Let Alan Clark take care of your vehicle today! Alan Clark

776-5333

2160 Pillsbury Dr. • 1/2 mile south of the viaduct on Hwy. 177

For anyone who thinks a drinking problem is running out of beer.

How do you know when a friend or relative has an alcohol problem? How do you help? Tune into our 12-part radio series, "Thinking About Drinking," and hear how people gain victory over alcohol problems. How drinking affects your health, relationships, family, school and career. Listen. You might learn some things you'll never hear at a keg party.

Tune In:

Tuesday/Thursday 10:30 AM Weekly KSDB 91.9 FM Kansas State University

Distributed by Western Public Radio. Funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation

Rep. Robert Mrazek, D-N.Y., accused of having 972 overdrafts in 39 months from the House Bank.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIALS

Representatives should bounce on out of office

Boing!

Financial misconduct has rocked the dome of the Capitol once again. This time, it's their own budgets that are out of

A total of 355 current and former lawmakers have bumped into a little political disaster by writing a multitude of bad checks. The numbers are astounding. Former Rep. Tommy Robinson, D-Ark., wrote 996 rubber checks and exceeded his next paycheck for 16 months. The biggest monetary culprit, still unnamed, wrote bad checks for more than $500,000.

The House Ethics Committee, which has admirably investigated the allegations, decided to use a formula that computes the number of months the overdrafts exceeded the next paychecks during the 39 months of the investigation.

Their reasoning is that someone can bounce a check for $100,000, but only overdraw their account by $1,000 if they have $99,000 in the bank. This makes sense, but so does saving political face. Using numbers like 16 months, and 996 checks seem a lot less incriminating than $500,000.

It's true that some representatives did not bounce any checks, or some bounced a few like many of us do from time to time, but this large-scale blundering is ludicrous.

Our representatives are elected by the people to oversee the welfare of the people. They are charged with finding solutions to the problems this nation faces, and doing it lawfully and ethically.

If politicians cannot keep their own checkbooks in order, how can we expect them to keep America's checkbook in order? We can't, because they have been in the practice of overdrafting for decades.

The 24 "abusers" and many more representatives should be voted out of office and this country should elect a new breed of representative. One that has faced the trials of the economy from the viewpoint of the middle class, the poor, the elderly and the young. Not another crop of blue suits that vote themselves a pay raise when they need extra cash and bounce checks like the Harlem Globetrotters bounce basketballs.

Double boing!

Bush's percentage of votes is not too strong

Bush has little, if any, support from his party members despite winning all of the GOP state primaries.

Exhibit A: Former president Ronald Reagan, under whom Bush served for eight years, refused to be seen with Bush in California and said the president does not stand for anything.

Exhibit B: Former president Richard Nixon made front page headlines nationwide with his criticism that Bush could not keep the United States alive in the post cold-war era.

Exhibit C: A TV commentator who has been called a fascist, racist and sexist, is garnering anywhere from 17 to 30 percent of the Republican vote in state primaries.

The impetus behind the lack of support is the fact that he's a man without a plan.

Bush has not laid out any fraction of a plan for America if he gets to keep his job for another four years.

Voters need specifics, not imagery and doublespeak. For instance, how is he going to get us out of the recession? And how is he going to deal with environmental and energy issues that will be the problems of the future? Not by ignoring they exist, that's for sure. Between ducking some issues, standing for nothing and changing his opinion with the direction of the wind, Bush might be better suited for another job.

He may be better off following his former chief of staff John Sununu to the world of lights, camera and action.

George could surely gets his own show on CNN, Flip Flop with George Herbert Walker Bush perhaps. He could agree with one guest at the beginning of the show and then put his support behind the opposition before the show is finished.

When an incumbent president receives such mixed reviews from the people who should support him most, it makes one wonder if he deserves another shot at the White House, or if he should start sending out resumes and looking for jobs like the rest of us.

COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL BOARD

Heather Anderson Cindy Briggs Shawn Bruce

David Frese Patrick Obley

Christine Vendel Mike Venso

The Editorial Board consists of members of the Collegian staff who meet three times each week to discuss topics of concern. These members also write the editorials that appear in the Collegian daily.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is sublished by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is ublished weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage aid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, fanhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

tions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroo

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

KANSANS DESERVE A POWER PRIMARY

"Why should Kansans participate in our upcoming primary?"

I was asking myself this question as I was hefting dusty boxes out of my family's pregnant metal shed this last Super Tuesday. We were gearing up

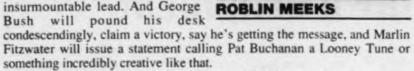

Eight states were holding primaries or caucuses that day, and crucial delegates were being assigned. I was dusting piles of forgotten glassware.

My chance to vote, like all Kansans, is coming April 7. So what? By that time, the excitement in both wings of the Capitol is all but perfunctory. Kansas, with her six delegates, is anything but a political powerhouse. Most candidates don't make a Georgia-length stop here, if they even land at all.

The Sunflower State has almost always been the stodgy Republican state, and Democrats accordingly don't fill many Holiday Inn ballrooms along the Arkansas River. In fact, I don't think I personally know more than five (out of the closet, anyway) Democrats over the age of 40 in this entire state. We're not going to be the primary that eventually singles out Clinton over Tsongas, or finally forces Moonbeam Brown out of the running. Any notoriety we might hope to get will be overshadowed by the state of New York voting on the same day.

Besides, after today's results from Illinois and Michigan, Clinton probably take an insurmountable lead. And George Bush will pound his desk

So why should anybody in Kansas go out of their way to vote? One reason for making a poll appearance, I guess, is for the same reason double-jointed people show off - because they can.

That doesn't seem to fly with most people historically, however. Look at There's always the constitutional and moral imperative bit, but I wouldn't exactly want to call voting our civil duty per se. It's more of a right, like farming. Forcing people to vote seems to defeat the purpose anyhoo. Won't get anyone to cast ballots around here.

It's time the Kansas primary gained some significance equal to or greater than New Hampshire in the larger scheme of things.

We need a purpose. I'm not advocating multiplying our delegates by 50 or anything like that. I definitely don't want to encourage bushels of bad commercials and rhetoric in our relatively unsaturated state. But I do think we should be able to set some important demands for the candidates. Here are some possible suggestions:

■ Candidates earning a majority of Kansas delegates must wear overalls and caps with some other name than their own in at least three states' primaries other than Kansas, these states to be decided by a primary majority; or they can choose to pronounce Arkansas like the river in Kansas, as opposed to the more common Little Rock pronunciation, for the Republican hopefuls, if winning in Kansas by a margin of more than 37 percent, must spend that same percentage of their presidency in northwestern Kansas near the city of Gove. They need help with their new courthouse ■ Candidates must promise not only to have the U.S. Postal Service issue an Elvis stamp, but assure the country that all stamps must bear a likeness of Elvis except for the 1-cent stamp, which either must portray a popular Elvis impersonator or Mojo Nixon, the final decision to be made by majority vote in a Kansas referendum monitored by an official U.N.

Republican frontrunners should show competence in identifying a wide variety of crops in various stages of growth (It's assumed that Democrats already have this down).

■ In order for candidates to continue in the race for the nomination beyond April 7, each must successfully back a John Deere and accompanying large implement (drill or disc) into a specified shed in

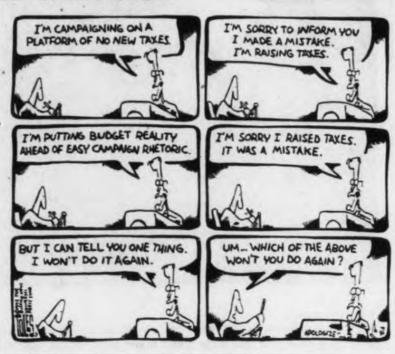

■ Candidates receiving the second-highest number of Kansas delegates can remain in contention by earning a grand or reserve champion ribbon in the livestock or baking categories at the Kansas State Fair. (In case of a tie, the candidate with the best-tasting biscuits wins).

■ Both Republicans and Democrats must satisfactorily complete a hunter's safety course.

Of course, this is by no means an exhaustive list, but it would definitely limit the number of candidates. It's time we had a better qualified person in office, somebody who's not afraid to be seen at garage sales.

Even in Kansas. If, by some freak of nature, our state doesn't get the power it deserves, please bother to cast your ballot on April 7, Kansans. Believe it or not, your

EDITORIAL CARTOON

LETTERS

▶ SOLDIERS CAN'T BELIEVE IN PEACE. LOVE AND HAPPINESS

Editor,

The letter from Spc. John Barrett, a Fort Riley soldier, which was published in the March 3 Collegian apologizes for the murder of K-State student Catherine Heintze by Jason Turner, also a Fort Riley soldier. I sympathize with most of what Barrett said but find one of his points naive.

Barrett wrote, "Be assured that many of us (Fort Riley soldiers) believe in peace, love and happiness, and any act of violence is the furthest thing from our minds." The military is established to threaten violence and, "if necessary," to perpetrate it. If violence is the furthest thing from a soldier's mind, he or she does not belong in the military.

There are soldiers who entered the military without appreciating that they were part of an organization based on a willingness to use violence. Some of them came to recognize that violence, or the threat of violence, is the basis for the military after they had enlisted. The most ethical and courageous of these soldiers then requested discharge as conscientious objectors.

It is unfortunate that young people can grow up in our society without fully realizing that military force is based on the threat of violence, and the threat is sometimes carried out. Is our educational system at fault?

Charles C. Perkins Emeritus professor of psychology

SEX IS NOT A PROPERTY RIGHT FOR MEN OR WOMEN

Editor,

Surely the March 4 letter of Andrew Burden and his 75 cosigners is an attempt at satire? Surely no one, let alone 76, K-State students could have such complete disregard for the rights, feelings or humanity of women to consider sex a "property right" of the man? Even to the extent of arguing that having sex with an unmarried woman is bad because it violates the property rights of her (theoretical) future husband?

Surely Mr. Burden and his 75 cosigners don't expect to find wives who think of themselves as property? Or might they look at all this as a means of assuring their permanent virginities? No, surely, this must have been intended as

George R. Clark II Professor of Geology

▶ BLOODMOBILE MUST GIVE EDUCATION NOT PRIZES

Editor,

I am writing in regard to the K-State Bloodmobile Feb. 18-21. It has come to my attention that the bloodmobile, due to lack of donors, decided to encourage blood donors by offering prizes. I find this terribly humiliating and degrading. Blood is life, and life is not a material good, and therefore, cannot be exchanged for one. Yes, it would be nice if it were the case, for then I could buy a 50-inch Sony and offer it to God for the return of my brothers. Unfortunately, this does not work, and as humans we should not attempt to do what God did not

I would recommend a different approach - education. If people had a deeper understanding of the beauty of life, perhaps they will be willing to donate more and spill

Guy Alon Junior in civil engineering

Little Things Really Do Mean a

you really want me to work?" It sounds sort of strange, especially coming from a person who doesn't seem to enjoy working

But I do. If I didn't like to work with and be around people, I wouldn't waste my time holding several paid and one volunteer job. I would just sit at home and annoy Stephen.

I won't even say I work because I need the money because I wouldn't if I could just figure out which "magical" dot configuration on the ACT packet all the over-privileged students I saw (while I worked) going through registration and fee payment used to get free government

I like to work. It makes me feel productive, useful. It gives me a sense of pride in myself that I was hired because someone believed I had the ability to do the job.

Having said all of that, I wish to say this.

Don't tell me "It doesn't matter" when referring to something I'm working on. In the days before spring break, several people said that to me. It really ticked me off. If my work doesn't matter, then why the hell am I doing it? Why should I waste my time on something that "doesn't matter?" I shouldn't.

Surely you have all experienced what I'm talking about. Maybe it was while you worked in a group on some sort of project. Maybe it was while you worked on a University Facilities crew. Maybe it was while you prepared something for an organization you belonged to. Maybe it was while you planned your department's strategy. But sooner or later someone had to say, "Oh, don't worry about that, no one will notice it's just a little thing. It doesn't matter.'

I was once the first woman to work at a processing plant. From the initial information I had, I held the men I worked with in high regard. They certainly had to be intelligent to be in charge of millions of dollars' worth of products a day. And they certainly had to be hardworking to keep everything in tip-top shape, perfect working condition. I was sure everything mattered. Well guess what I learned? It wasn't really about how smart you were or how hard you worked or how close attention you paid to the little things. It was about who could sham the most and not get caught. Believe me, I got pretty good at it, working with the pros. Sure, every once in a while we'd work hard, and I'd be so happy to get home and rest. But I felt good about having accomplished something, and having done it well.

Maybe I'm off the beaten track in this respect. I still feel guilty about the times when I went on some truly insignificant and unnecessary errand with a co-worker that took all day. But it helped me in my relationships with them to participate in the "sham scam." The people who didn't fit in were generally the ones who saw importance in completing a project in a timely fashion without wasting resources (one of which is time).

Don't think that my experience on this job is an isolated one. At every job I have ever had there was at least one person who didn't work up to his fullest capacity or let "little" things slide. After some time, other workers caught on and followed suit.

But it's the little thing we may think doesn't matter that gets us. Little things like fuel affordability, efficiency, functionality and style for the carmakers. Little things like smiling faces, expediency, sincerity and courtesy for those in service industries. Little things like consideration and respect for others for when it comes to dealing with someone in a business or personal setting. Little things like professional integrity in every aspect of business.

We as individual people and as a country need to work on the little things that we let slide so often. They are a major part of the reason the 'greatest" nation is falling by the wayside in areas too numerous to list.

Pay attention to the details; your work is important. Take care of the little things, because they really do matter.

EVE WILSON

WORLD NEWS

Referendum to determine apartheid issue in South Africa

ASSOCIATED PRESS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa President F.W. de Klerk, staking the country's future on a historic referendum Tuesday, urged whites to abandon decades of apartheid or risk plunging the country into chaos.

On Monday, the eve of the whitesonly referendum on sharing power with the black majority, the country's leaders made final efforts to sway voters.

If reform is rejected, "there is no doubt where that must lead us - to a dead end of division and destruction," said de Klerk in a newspaper message

The referendum is favored to carry. If it fails, de Klerk has promised to resign and call a whites-only election.

Political analysts warned the government's lead slipped in recent days as campaign frenzy reached a peak and violence in black townships

Army and police in long columns of armored vehicles poured into black townships around Johannesburg to try and halt factional violence after at least 15 people died Monday and overnight. Township violence has claimed some 280 lives in the three weeks since the referendum was announced.

Some black groups say the violence has been orchestrated to persuade whites to reject reform and side with the pro-apartheid Conservative Party. However, they have not provided any evidence.

The pro-government Citizen newspaper said Monday the outcome was unpredictable, while other newspapers forecast a close win for the government. Votes will be counted Wednesday.

Full-page ads were splashed across newspapers Monday, lawmakers handed out leaflets to commuters, and both sides held last-minute rallies.

Andries Treurnicht, leader of the Conservatives, warned the white minority it could lose everything to a black Marxist government if the referendum passed.

Supporters of reform say the Conservatives, allied with the neo-Nazi Afrikaner Resistance Movement, would bring the country to ruin.

"Those who remember what the swastika meant in Europe ... know it means the same thing in South Africa now," said Zach de Beer, leader of the anti-apartheid Democratic Party.

Only whites may vote Tuesday The 3.27 million eligible voters will be asked to vote yes or no for the continuation of talks on a new constitution to give blacks the vote.

Tens of thousands of expatriate white South Africans have cast ballots at South African embassies, most of them in Britain, the United States and Australia. Most expatriates are believed to favor reform, but results of the balloting have not yet been announced.

Nelson Mandela, president of the African National Congress, said the black opposition group would fight if reforms were halted.

"Any suggestion that we should return to those days (of old-style apartheid) will be resisted with all the power at our command," Mandela said Monday.

De Klerk called the referendum after the governing National Party was thrashed in two elections for vacant Parliamentary seats. The referendum was seen as an attempt to win a mandate for reform.

De Klerk's campaign has suffered because he does not have a specific plan for the country's future. His reforms over the past two years left many whites stunned and fearful.

The right wing has been able to play on white fears of an unknown future, worsened by mounting violence and a floundering economy. It claims de Klerk's reforms are responsible for the black violence many whites fear will spread to their neighborhoods.

Law and Order Minister Hernus Kriel warned the violence could affect the referendum's outcome. "It will undermine confidence," he said. De Klerk says the country's only hope is a negotiated deal with the 30million-member black majority. Proapartheid forces say de Klerk is leading the country into chaos.

Big business has backed de Klerk, saying any attempt to reimpose apartheid would mean international sanctions that would shatter the economy. De Klerk has also stressed that reform allowed South Africa to compete in international sporting events after years of boycotts. South African cricket players touring Australia have figured in government campaigns.

Victims of earthquake demand help

Complaints that Turkish government has hindered relief efforts increase

ASSOCIATED PRESS

ERZINCAN, Turkey - Hundreds of frightened men left without jobs and homes by a devastating earthquake besieged the provincial governor's office Monday, demanding help for their families.

We have no food, and our children are hungry," cried Yilmaz Karayazi, who said he lost his home and the tea house that provided his living. "I am left without hope."

There are growing complaints that government bungling has hindered and 180,000 are homeless. The quake, the most deadly to hit the area since 1983, measured 6.8 on the Richter scale and was followed by strong

There were reports of looting and the theft of aid shipments. Soldiers ings were wrecked. But he also conpatrolled some main streets, and storeowners guarded their shops.

Complaints about the chaotic relief effort also came from doctors who were furious a 200-bed field hospital promised by the Turkish Red relief efforts since the quake hit east- and wouldn't be ready before Tues- $15. ern Turkey on Friday. Officials esti- day. More than 100 surgeons sent by mate at least 800 people were killed the government have been unable to covered, and a still-unknown num-

Mustafa Kul, the city's deputy in parliament, tried to calm the fears of the crowd outside the governor's of-

Kul said steps had been taken to improve organization and ensure that aid is fairly distributed in this city of 150,000 people, where an estimated 2,000 houses and apartment buildceded that about 1,000 of the 8,675 tents sent to Erzincan had been sto-

The Istanbul newspaper Milliyet reported that relief supplies were being sold on the black market, with Crescent didn't arrive until Monday tents going for $330 and blankets

Kul said 376 bodies had been re-perform operations without the field ber of others had been dug out by early Monday and clung to faint their own relatives. The government and relief workers estimate 800 people died.

The death toll will rise. But I'm sure it won't be more than a thousand," said Kul, who added there were no figures for the missing. Many deaths were blamed on poor construction and structures built above a limit of three stories set after a 1939 earthquake killed 32,000 people in the city, about 225 miles west of Ankara.

Swiss rescue teams, which brought in specially trained dogs, said they called off their search for survivors late Monday after finding four people alive in the debris. They said they found 36 bodies.

But other rescue teams were heartened by the rescue of two people hopes. They began digging into toppled apartment buildings.

'If we thought there was no more hope we would not work so hard," said Kostas Holevas, a member of the 50-person Greek team.

"We had a very good indication that a 6-year-old boy was still alive late last night. We dug quickly, but this morning very early we found him dead," Holevas said. "I think it is the cold of the night that kills them."

Temperatures have been below freezing at night, and most of the city sleeps outdoors for fear of another

Doctors said they feared thousands of people living in tents were in danger of diseases from contaminated water.

Earhart

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 officials as a type of cap used for stomach medicine in 1937 by the William R. Warner Co.

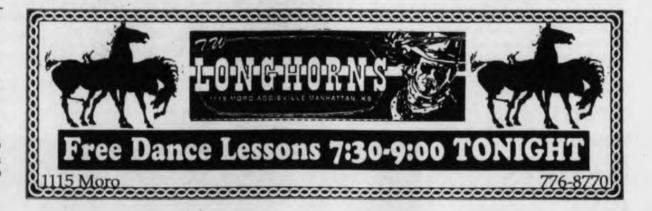

Gillespie said Earhart was known to suffer from stomach problems.

Peter Wolf, a Warner-Lambert spokesman, said a company official who examined the lid briefly said it was of a type used until the 1950s.

The William R. Warner Co. later became part of Warner-Lambert. Wolf said printing on the top of the lid was easily legible.

"It really didn't look like it had been weathered for 50 years," Wolf

Gillespie said his non-profit organization has spent $750,000 on two expeditions to Nikumaroro in search of Earhart's plane and now plan to Make sure your road trip proceeds without a hitch.

Sometimes road trips can be a little more adventurous than you expect them to be. Which is why you should always pack your AT&T Calling Card.

It's all you need to make a call from almost anywhere to anywhere. It's the least expensive way to call state-to-state on AT&T when you can't dial direct. And now, you could also get 10% back on all the long distance calls you make with your card.*

The AT&T Calling Card. It's the best route to wherever you're going.

Call more, save more with an AT&T Calling Card. Call 1 800 654-0471, Ext. 5915.

6. Kentucky

12. Cincinnati

13. Alabama

Other Big Eight teams with votes: No. 36 Nebraska, No. 45 Iowa St.

19. Seton Hall

20. Florida St.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

TUESDAY, MARCH 17, 1992

CATS BASKETBALL

Players looking forward to second season

It may not be the 'Big Dance,' but the NIT will be another chance to end the season with a home win

KRIS YOUNG Collegian

Although K-State players won't be lacing up their hightops to compete in the NCAA Final Four in the Twin Cities, they will don their jerseys to compete in the National Invitational Tournament with their sights set on the Big Apple.

"It's a chance for us to end the season on a good note, and it will be an honor to go to New York if we make the finals," said senior Cats center Wylie Howard.

For Howard, playing Western Kentucky Wednesday in the NIT's first round is also a second chance to play his final game as a senior in Bramlage Coliseum and leave with a victory. The Wildcats lost their last regular-season home game to Oklahoma State March 7.

Howard isn't looking only to end the year with a home win for him and his teammates to remember.

"I want to end on a good note for our fans," Howard said. If the Cats can win the 7 p.m. game, they will have a chance to play two more at home if they continue to win. "It will be great to see the fans one more time," Howard said.

Having the fans behind them has been a overlooking them.

been to nationally ranked teams.

"We've been a pretty good team at home, and having the crowd behind us is good for us," s a i d freshman guard Brian improvement from last year."

Henson.

Western Kentucky is a team they haven't heard much about, but they aren't definite advantage for the Cats. They are "They're not a push-over team. If they 12.4 at home and each of those losses have made it, they can't be," said senior point guard Marcus Zeigler. "There's not going to be any team that will be easy to "Everybody looks forward to the 'Big play Dance,' but being in the NIT this year is an against."

> Of the - Marcus Zeigler, Cats point guard 32 teams competing. there are s o m e teams the players don't know much about. But there are also some big names among field: Purdue, Notre Dame and Florida, with former Cat coach Lon Kruger.

"It's going to be pretty tough. It's just 32 teams only a game or two short of missing the NCAA," junior forward Vincent Jackson said.

While they are excited to be playing now, some of the players didn't pay much attention to the NIT while growing up.

"Most of the time I was watching the 'Big Dance' (the NCAA tourney)," Jackson said. "I heard about it, but I didn't pay much attention to it."

Howard, like Jackson, paid more attention to the NCAA tourney.

"I wasn't too familiar with it until I got to college. It does get pretty good coverage and I respect it a great deal," Howard said.

"Everybody looks forward to the 'Big Dance,' but being in the NIT this year is an improvement from last year," Zeigler said.

TENNIS

Netters fare so-so over break

FRANK KLEEMANN

The K-State tennis team has finished an odd week.

The netters came out of spring break with a fifth-place finish at the Rice Tournament in Houston, two losses in Fayetteville, Ark., and yet another injury. But the team placed two individuals in the national rankings.

March 7 in Fayetteville, Michele Riniker was injured during a 6-0 loss to Mississippi State. But after a week's rest, Riniker was able to play at the Rice Tournament March 13-15.

Going into that tourney, K-State coach Steve Bietau said he had three objectives for the team.

"First thing was to deal with the injuries and to keep the team competitive," he said. "No. 2 was to have as many players playing well as possible at the same time."

The team's third concern was the doubles situation. Bietau said if the team is tied 3-3 after singles play in a given match, it should have a good chance to win. "Up to this week, we haven't played really at that level. And, based on those three things, the trip to Houston went pretty well."

In the first-round match, K-State lost to Tulane 5-4. But a key factor was the back injury Martine Shrubsole suffered during her match.

K-State beat South Alabama and Colorado, each by a 5-4 count, to nab fifth place.

"Overall, I'm really happy with the team," Bietau said. "We're making progress in getting control over things. The effort continues to be good."

The best news of the break was Karin Lusnic and Riniker placing in the national rankings. Lusnic placed 58th, while Riniker was 61st.

Opposing pitchers Matt Wagner of Arkansas (left) and Dan Driskill of K-State (right) went head to head Monday night at Frank Myers Field. The Wildcats thumped the Hogs 11-7 and raised their record to 16-8.

CATS BASEBALL

Clutch-hitting Cats down Razorbacks

DAVID SVOBODA

When you leave 15 runners on base during the course of a game, chances are you're not going to Arkansas found that out Monday night, as K-State pitchers scattered 14 hits but kept the bleeding at a minimum in an 11-7 win at Frank Myers Field.

The Wildcats, now 16-8 on the year, got clutch hitting performances from Brian Culp and Toby Ciochon in earning the win, their second this year against Arkansas - marking the first time a K-State team has won two games from the Razorbacks in a season.

Culp was 2-for-4 with two doubles and three RBI, and Ciochon was 3-for-5 with three singles and three ribbies of his own.

'It was a nice win," K-State Coach Mike Clark said of the 10-hit effort put together by his club as it ran its record against Division I competition to 9-7. "If you take away the ninth inning, where it got a little shaky, it was a great ballgame for us."

Indeed, that ninth was a bit harrowing. K-State was cruising with an 11-4 lead going into the final frame, but Arkansas sent nine men to the plate and scored three runs on four hits to put the game in doubt.

The Razorbacks, in fact, had the tying run at the plate when the game came to a rather shaky, but winning, end. Jeff Stewart, the fourth Wildcat pitcher of the night, got his first save, and starter Dan Driskill moved to 4-1.

That K-State had the comfortable advantage late was due, in large part, to Culp and Ciochon.

Both contributed key blows in the biggest Cat inning of the night, the four-run third.

With K-State down 2-0 entering the frame, third baseman Kevin McMullin led off with a walk, and Lawrence against Kansas.

moved to second on Jamey Stellino's single.

After Scott McFall's picture perfect, one-strike sacrifice bunt moved McMullin and Stellino over an additional 90 feet, Arkansas Coach Norm DeBriyn elected to give K-State's Craig Wilson an intentional pass to pitch to Culp with the bases loaded. The strategy promptly backfired, as Culp jumped on a Matt Wagner offering and ripped it into the gap in right center. When the dust cleared, McMullin and Stellino had scored, and Wilson was able to dart home when Arkansas attempted to make a play on Culp, who had rounded second too far.

Culp was able to scamper back, and he had two RBIs in his pocket and the Cats had a 3-2 lead.

After Jeff Ryan grounded out, Ciochon knocked a single into left, scoring Culp.

Wagner, 0-2, took the loss for Arkansas, now 13-6.

K-State added a single run in the fifth, with Ciochon picking up the RBI; three in the sixth, with McFall's triple and a double by Culp bringing runners around; two in the seventh, with Terry Hipp and Stellino earning RBIs; and one in the eighth, with Ciochon's final RBI of the evening.

Toby had a nice night hitting the ball," Clark said. "We've been platooning him at first with Andy (Williams), and getting a lot out of that position."

Clark said that the K-State offensive attack - which produced runs in five of the game's eight at bats for the home team - was not

'We've been doing that all year," he said. "It's like there's a belief that you can shut us down in a couple of innings, but that's all.

The hitters have done a great job." The Wildcats are idle until opening their initial Big Eight series of the year Friday night in

LADY CATS BASKETBALL Season ends with 79-27 loss

PATRICK OBLEY

SALINA - How bad was K-State's 79-27 loss to Colorado March 7?

As if having the worst season in Lady Cat history at 5-24, wasn't enough, the Lady Buffaloes helped K-State set a few more records in futility during the first round of the Big Eight women's tournament.

A minute into the game, Colorado was already leading 7-2. When K-State scored again seven minutes later on two Pam Stoltz free throws, the score was 15-4. When K-State hit its first basket of the half at 9:11, that shaved the Lady Cat deficit to 28-6.

One more basket and an 11-0 Colorado run later, the first half ended with K-State trailing 46-8.

The 8 points marked the fewest points K-State had ever scored in a half. It was Colorado's best defensive performance of the year, beating the 48-10 lead it had held over New Mexico State.

The two first-half field goals were also a record low.

Then, Colorado opened the second half next to Chip the Buffalo shaking his head.

Senior point guard Mary Jo Miller had fouled out with 6:32 left in her final game after being held scoreless.

And as the score spiraled upward, 54-11, 61-17, 71-22, maybe it was a sign of the times when Kelly Moylan's errant bounce pass landed in a trash can at the end of the

"It was a nightmare," said Lady Cat coach Susan Yow following the game. "We could never focus on what we had to do. That had to be the worst game we've played all year long."

The game was over at halftime, Yow

"We all thought it was futile to think we could come back and win, so we just wanted to come out look good in the second half,"

The win was the first on Colorado's road to the Big Eight tourney championship and a berth to the NCAA tournament. The loss put an ailing creature out of its misery.

"It was difficult for the gals, the coaches, all of us," Yow said. "It was downright with a 10-0 run. Willie the Wildcat stood embarrassing. It will take us a long time to get over this."

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Putting the 'NC' in NCAA

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Tar Heel state is once again putting the NC in the NCAA.

It can only last one round, but North Carolina has supplied five of the 64 teams in the NCAA tournament for the second time in four years.

Top-ranked Duke, North Carolina and Wake Forest, all from the Atlantic Coast Conference, will be on familiar territory as the tournament gears up. North Carolina's Charlotte, ranked as high as 17th this year, also has been a frequent participant.

But Campbell is making its first appearance in the school's 106-year history. And it drew Duke as its firstround opponent.

"If we upset them, it will be the biggest upset in the history of college basketball," said Billy Lee, coach of the Camels (19-11). "Maybe all good Baptists should start tonight, praying."

In 1988, Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State, N.C. Charlotte and North Carolina A&T went to the NCAAs.

Campbell earned its invitation with a 67-53 victory over Charleston Southern in the Big South Conference tournament championship after placing third in the regular season. The Camels will face a the Tar Heels. "We're two different Duke team that knocked down North Carolina 94-74 in the ACC finals and is pointing for two straight NCAA championships. "Hopefully, we're getting better and better," said Duke's Grant Hill as the Blue Devils (28-2) prepared for Thursday's start of the East Regional in Greensboro. Duke appeared shaky after losing guard Bobby Hurley for several games with a broken bone in his foot and going several more with Hill sidelines due to a sprained ankle. "We've made positives out of negatives when we had the injuries, such as improving our half-court offense when Bobby was out," Hill said. "That should be good for us going into the NCAA tournament."

The Tar Heels (21-9) are hoping to take a page from Duke's 1991 book. Last year it was the Blue Devils who went into the NCAA tournament reeling from a big loss in the ACC finals, then won the national crown.

"This can either destroy us or we can learn from it, like Duke did last year," said Hubert Davis, the leading scorer for teams and it's different situations, but Duke used their loss to us last year as inspiration and went all the way.'

Thursday North Carolina will play Miami of Ohio in the opening round of a Southeast Regional that Coach Dean Smith found troubling.

"I do think the committee does a good job of trying to balance the field, but this would appear to be the most difficult part of the bracket," Smith said.

Wake Forest (17-11) is looking for a chance to show the midseason form that had the Demon Deacons in the Top 25 when they take on Louisville Friday in the West Regional in Tempe, Ariz.

"Our place in the NCAA field should give us a chance to start anew with some fresh play," said Coach Dave Odom.

UNC-Charlotte coach Jeff Mullins said he didn't know much about Iowa State, the 49ers' opening opponent in the East Regionals in Worcester, Mass. But he has great respect for the Big Eight Conference.

"Obviously, we know they're tournament tested," said Mullins. "They've been in wars."

Racism now more subtle, sophisticated

Discrimination may exist on campus, but KSU is not racist, McClaskey says

Overt racism, such as denying access to public places, is a thing of the past. Racism, however, is still around.

It has become a closet racism, said William Coleman, junior in engineer-

It's just more subtle and sophistiing technology. The beatings and obvious violence are things of the past, but the manner in which people talk to and behave with people of other races are forms of racism, Coleman said. "Professors talk to you in a manner as if you don't understand, almost a childish manner," Coleman said. "Is that because I'm a black man?"

Leslie Smith, senior in management, said she agreed it is more subtle.

"It's not very blatant," she said. "The average person who hasn't been exposed to it might not be able to pick Shanta Bailey, junior in life sciences, said the University has problems with diversity.

"Any effort made toward multicultural programming doesn't reach the people who need it," Bailey said. "They are still racist."

Even with a university being an institution of higher learning, Coleman said, there is racism. He said racist thinking tends to go like this: If blacks are educated, then they will take jobs away from whites. So why educate taste freedom, you will always be minorities aren't hired because they

Student Body President Jackie McClaskey said although there might be some racism on campus, she would not describe K-State as a racist uni-

"There's enough that exists to be a problem. But when there's any, there's problem," she said.

Veryl Switzer, assistant vice president for institutional advancement, said he hasn't observed any overt racism since he has been at K-State. He said he agreed the racism is more

To talk about equal rights is one thing, Coleman said, but to do something is another. He said President Bush talks about equal rights but then cuts programs like affirmative action and financial aid for minorities.

Minorities can't get an education "You can only hold people down if because they can't get the financial they are uneducated," he said. "If you aid they need, Coleman said. Then

Switzer said not enough is being done to bring about equality of all

"There's some foot-dragging at the highest level," he said. The president and Congress need to do more to ensure equal rights, he There is a need for stronger leadership at the top levels of government, Switzer said. Strong leadership exists in the industrial sector, and that is where people are looking for role Switzer said he used to be faced with blatant racism, such as being denied access to public areas, housing and job opportunities. "We've come a long way, and we've accomplished much, but we have some work to do," Switzer said.

Coleman said now is the time for people to stand up for themselves and start forcing changes. Blacks need to with, he said.

"Through fighting with our minds, we'll overcome a lot of different things," Coleman said.

He said blacks need to begin to get off the streets, get a higher education, rise above the poverty level and support black-owned businesses.

Education and acceptance is what is needed to bring down the walls of racism and discrimination, Coleman

With education and understanding, blacks can sit down and express what they need instead of trying to acquire their needs through violence, as has sometimes been done in the past, he said.

Switzer said a Rosa Parks-type mentality on the part of everyone is what is needed to overcome racism. Parks began the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott by refusing to give up her seat at the front of the bus for a white

People need to say, "We're not going to take it anymore," Switzer

He also said blacks need to pull

"We need to focus on self-pride." Coleman said blacks aren't being separatists when they get together in places like the K-State Union. It is one of the few times when they can be with people who experience the same problems, he said.

Just by looking at each other, they can see they have something in common, he said.

The recent emergence of Malcolm X paraphernalia, spawned by Spike Lee's movie about the activist, could help to pull blacks together and create a feeling of self-pride.

"A lot of people are now coming to understand what Malcolm X stood for," Coleman said. See RACISM Page 8

Senate considers military bill

Law targets discrimination in civilian world

MARIANN BAKER

A bill designed to prevent individual discrimination based on military status was passed by the Kansas House of Representatives March 10.

mittee for consideration. The legislation primarily applies to housing, public entertainment, private accommodations such as ho-

The bill is now in a Senate com-tels, and employment. Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, introduced the bill. She said if the Senate approves it, military of enforcement against alleged discriminating parties. The law would go into effect July 1.

Hochhauser said discrimination problems are flourishing.

"People have told me about instances all over," she said.

To mitigate instances of discrimination in Kansas, Hochhauser said, the bill was modeled after one in North Carolina, which has a set of similar statutes.

The North Carolina law has at least four separate violations including private discrimination, public discrimination, refusing entrance and employee discrimination. Individuals who violate these provisions in North Carolina are charged with a individuals will have the private right misdemeanor. If convicted, they may be fined up to $500 or imprisoned for as long as six months, or both.

Hochhauser said the bill in Kansas was urged by Maj. Gen. William Hartzog, commanding general at Fort Riley. Hartzog is currently at a training exercise in California.

Col. David Runnells, Fort Riley garrison commander, testified to the House on behalf of Hartzog.

"Several local civilian attorneys have reported that in some instances, military personnel have been treated with greater severity in criminal cases than local civilians have been treated for similar offenses. We have had difficulty on occasion booking reservations at local motels for military guests such as court martial witnesses," Runnells said in his tes-

Beyond dispute, at least one of the factors in the determination of which military installations to retain and which to close will be the level of support demonstrated by the local community and state for the installation and for the military in general," Runnells also said in his testi-

Elizabeth Cathey, legal assistance attorney for the staff judge advocate, said the biggest concern expressed by Fort Riley officials is the housing issue. She said current housing problems are caused by an increase in soldiers because of troop reductions in Europe

■ See MILITARY Page 8

K-State students to march in Washington

A pro-choice march and rally in Washington, D.C., is attracting K-State students and Manhattan resi-

Cyndy Trent, Manhattan National Organization for Women member, said NOW is sponsoring the April 5

"The purpose of the march is to show the nation that the supporters of safe, legal and accessible abortion and birth control are the overwhelming majority, and our goal is to have the largest and most important feminist march in history," according to NOW literature.

Trent said 40-50 groups, including the American Association of University Women and Catholics for a Free Choice, will co-sponsor the event.

Manhattan NOW chapter members who will attend the march and rally said they have different reasons

One K-State student said the upcoming event is a demonstration to save the rights to privacy and abor-

Lea Mayberry, graduate student in adult and continuing education, said she became involved with the prochoice movement before Roev. Wade. She said she was initially concerned with the case because of abortion but later discovered the case's importance to the right of privacy.

Mayberry said people often forget ■ See ABORTION Page 8

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Alumni establish four trusts

Couple has given University nearly $3 million in 6 years

JANELLE ESAU

K-State, Donald Rathbone and taxes have influenced alumni Le Roy and Aileen Paslay of Manalapan, Fla., to create four trusts with the KSU Foundation.

The Paslays have given the University nearly $3 million in trusts for the College of Engineering.

A trust set up with the Foundation is most often a gift made to K-State in the form of stocks or property. The Foundation invests the money and pays an established income to the contributor based on the value of the trust.

At the death of the contributor, the assets are distributed to the designated organization - in this case, the College of Engineering.

Le Roy Paslay earned bachelor's and master's degrees in electrical engineering at K-State, and Aileen is a graduate of the College of Human

'We look at our gifts as an opportunity to repay a debt to the University through the Essential Edge Cam-

The Paslays' gifts were also tain their income. College of Engineering, said Mark Moore, Foundation vice president for dation controller. The trusts pay incapital campaigns and planned giv-

a non-profit organization, gifts are tax

Setting up a trust benefits not only K-State, but the Paslays as well, Moore said. The gifts enable the Paslays to

BURGUNDY'S

$1 Draws

$2 Coronas

TUESDAY SPECIAL

530 Richards Drive

539-5311

paign," Le Roy Paslay said. "At the get the assets out of their taxable same time, we hope our donations estate. They can receive a charitable will enhance the education of future tax deduction and avoid the 55-percent tax on their estate and still main-prompted by a 15-year relationship The first and second trusts, totalwith Donald Rathbone, dean of the ing about $1 million, were established in 1986, said Jim Buchheister, Founcome to the Paslays' children.

The third trust was established in Other incentives to set up trusts are December 1990 and the fourth in tax breaks. Because the Foundation is December 1991. These two total more than $1 million and pay lifetime income to the Paslays themselves, Buchheister said.

Eventually, the four trusts will go to the College of Engineering.

WHEN ONLY THE BEST DENTISTRY WILL DO...

- ACCOMMODATING
- AFFORDABLE
- ACCESSIBLE ATTENTIVE

Now Serving the State of Kansas Traditional-Prudential Dental Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient. Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A. 514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA DOWNTOWN, MANHATTAN

537-9414

"Hard times will not stand" NON-GOVERNMENT FINANCIAL AID

(Undergrad thru Post Doctorate) without specific regard to:

SAT • ACT • Student Assets • FEC • FFS Income Limits • GPA • Savings • Degree

Repayment • School • State Domicile Age • Other Grants • Registration Status

-- For Information--

Send Name, present address, Home Town, State, and 3 College choices ONLY to:

DEVANE COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP SERVICE P.O. Box 414967, Kansas City, MO 64141

I Ain't Yo' Uncle A New Jack Revisionist Uncle Tom's Cabin San Francisco Mime Troupe Wednesday, March 18, 8 p.m. There's no shortage of talk in playwright Robert Alexander's rewrite of America's most famous unread novel. Tom acquires a powerful voice and Topsy the acutely modern awareness of a rapper. Contains adult situations and language. "A knockout! Incendiary yet judicious, ominous yet hilarious....An example of the Mime Troupe's brand of political satire at its very best." (Los Angeles Times)

Student/Child: $7.50 Senior Citizen: $13 Public/Faculty: $15

McCain Auditorium

Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort Riley).

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Fine Arts fee.

A New Gold Standard

Kansas State University

Coin Ring by Jostens - the culmination of 90 years of goldsmithing. Minted by masters in 14 Karat gold, it is accented with a rich twisted gold bezel. Our ring is the epitome of value, weight and fineness. Owning one is pure pleasure

Date: Tues. & Wed. March 18 & 19 Time: 12 p.m.-5 p.m. Place: Varney's Bookstore "All Lustrium Rings... $129.95"

APARTMENTS Near Campus *Now Leasing For June Thru August MODEL SHOWINGS

1 & 4 Bdrm •1010 Sunset Mon. & Thurs. 11-12 $215-$750 925 Denison #9 1 Bdrm Mon. 1-3 WED. 2-4 $350-$385 1017-25 McCollum 1-2 & 4 Bdrm Mon. & Thurs. 2-2:30 $210-$775 1124-26 Fremont 1 & 2 Bdrm

731 N 6° 1 Bdrm Mon. & Thurs. 3-3:30 $305 1722 Laramie #6 1 Bdrm Mon. 3-5 Thurs. 4-6 $350-365 1217 Laramie 1 & 2 Bdrms Mon 3:30-4:30 Tues 2:30-3:30

$255-$300

Mon. 6-8 Thurs. 2-4 $335-360 1026 Osage #21 2 Bdrm Tues. 1:30-2:30 Fri. 4-5 $460 1950 Hunting #2 1 Bdrm Tues. 3-5 Thurs. 5-7 $395-410

> Look For The Model Signs

• 1113 Bertrand #5 2 Bdrm Tues. & Thurs. 3:30-5:30 $550-$560 • 923 Vattier #5 2 Bdrm

Tues. & Fri. 4-5 $400-405 1212 Thurston #10 2 Bdrm Tues. 4-6 Wed. 10-11:30 a.m. $400-410

Tues. & Wed. 4-6 $305-$365 • 1825 College Hts. #2 2 Bdrm Tues. 6-8 Wed. 3:30-5:30 $630-730

 409 Summit B Studio Wed. 2-2:30 Thurs. 4:30-5 $200 • 1503 Fairchild 1 Bdrm Wed. 2:30- 3 Thurs. 4-4:30 $285

· Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan 1 & 4 Bdrm Newly Remodeled Wed. & Thurs. 3-5 $395-800 · 405 N. 10th 2 Bdrm

. 300 N. 11th 1 & 3 Bdrm Wed. 3:30-4 Thurs. 3-3:30 $275-485 1005 Bluemont #1 1-2 &4 Bdrms Wed. & Thurs. 4-5 $365-800

Wed. 3-3:30 Thurs. 3:30-4 $360-395

924 Fremont 1 Bdrm Wed. 4-4:30 Thurs. 2:30-3 $275 800 Laramie 2 Bdrm Wed. 4:30-5 Thurs. 2-2:30 $345

• 1022 Sunset 1 Bdrm Mon. 2:30-3:30 Tues. 3:30-4:30

1854 Claflin #8 1 Bdrm

McCullough Development

+411 N. 17th #1 1 Bdrm Wed, 6-8 Thurs, 12-2 $350-365

Mall

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 project is a three-party deal, including the lender, the developer and the city. He said without the cooperation of the city, the package would not

"We haven't contemplated a 'no' answer from the city, because it would be irrational and imprudent," Dolgen said. "We consider the city a rational partner."

The city does have concerns about the Town Center and a series of questions to ask them, Mayor Eugene Klingler said.

"There is no doubt that the mall has been successful. It has had less tenants go under than West Ridge Mall and Salina," he said, "With the tax climate in the state of Kansas, the mall is viable for disabilities.

"When the mall was first developed the city was willing to put tax money into utilities, water and parking lots but the rest of the mall's expenses are generally not the city's responsibility. Klingler said he thinks the mall will fare well between 2002 and 2010. He said profits will probably be seen, and until then, the city of Manhattan could reach some compromises.

"Adjustments do need to be made. It's a good project, and I would not say it is failing. It is pulling in a considerable amount of revenue," Klingler said.

Concerns about the mall hindering other businesses in town have also been jarred by the recent developments. However, Klingler said he thinks Main Street would have been dead if the mall had been built in the western part of town.

"It's really a two-edged sword," he said.

Dolgen said the goal is to make Manhattan Town Center a regional center. This, he explained, would allow the reinvesting of money into recruiting tenants into the mall.

"We believe vital tenants are important to the mall and are willing to commit to investing in them. It is a fact of life that national retailers are not even considering Manhattan for business deals," Dolgen said.

Gays to protest New York's St. Patrick's Day parade

Judge refuses to order sponsors to allow group's entry

ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK - A federal judge refused Monday to order St. Patrick's Day parade organizers to accept a homosexual group in the event, but the gays said they'll be on Fifth Avenue anyway - to demonstrate.

"We're not going to go away," said Paul O'Dwyer, spokesman for the Irish Lesbian and Gay Organization. "We're going to keep fighting."

Members planned a symbolic march past the reviewing stands one hour before the 231st annual parade begins Tuesday.

"I think the entire lesbian and gay community is going to be coming out with us," O'Dwyer said.

The event, the world's largest parade to honor Ireland's patron saint, is sponsored by the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The Hibernians, a Catholic fraternal group, had threatened to call it off rather than let the homosexual organization march as a sepa-

The Hibernians said letting gays York parade gets no direct governmarch under their own banner would be an affront to the Catholic Church's stance against homosexuality.

The gay organization maintains the parade is a public forum, and their free speech rights are being violated. Police expect 2 million people to watch Tuesday's parade, but organizers said they were afraid rumors of disruptions by the gay group or more radical ones might keep some spectators away.

"ILGO had their day in court," said Kevin Marrinan, an attorney for the Hibernians. "We would hope that they'd abide by the judges' decisions and not try to ruin the parade."

Homosexuals allowed to march Sunday in Boston's parade under court order were given police escorts but were showered with cans and insults.

U.S. District Judge Pierre Leval apparently closed the New York homosexual group's last legal chance for getting into Tuesday's parade.

Leval said the group could not be bumped ahead of others on the parade waiting list, regardless of any alleged discrimination.

Unlike the Boston parade, the New ment support, aside from services such as traffic control and police protec-

Last Friday, a judge for the city Human Rights Commission found the Hibernians had discriminated by placing the group on a waiting list with the intention of never letting it march. But she said the First Amendment gave the Hibernians the right to exclude the group.

An appeal of that decision was not expected for weeks.

Clare O'Brien, an attorney for the Irish Lesbian and Gay Organization, said it would not appeal Leval's ruling. But the group still intends to go to trial to decide the question for future years, she added.

Mayor David Dinkins and about 20 other politicians have said they would boycott the march if the group were excluded. Dinkins will not march in the homosexuals' protest either, mayoral spokesman Leland Jones

Other officeholders said they will march in the parade as usual.

MALL PROS AND CONS

City commissioners will have to weigh several factors before deciding whether to waive the $185,000 payment on the land on which the Manhattan Town Center is built.

· PROS

- Town Center creates more than 1,000 jobs.
- Figures show growth in
- Increase in property tax value.
- Town Center generates about a half million dollars in sales tax each

CONS

- City will lose $185,000 in potential revenue over the next 10 years.
- If city doesn't waive fee, Chase Manhattan Bank of New York will take over operations.
- If Chase Manhattan Bank takes over, then the mall's parent company, Forest City, will go bankrupt.

Military

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

Cathey said the effects of the bill will depend on revisions made by the Senate

"If they take out the part about private housing, it would make a major difference in what the commander general is hoping for," Cathey said. Cathey also said discrimination affects officers as well as enlisted soldiers.

Staff Sgt. John Thompson, Fort Riley, said he had difficulty finding a place to live off base. He also said military spouses often have difficulty obtaining employment in this area. "Many employers don't want to hire military spouses because of their transience," Thompson said. Although most citizens are in favor of the discrimination bill, Hochhauser said, some people have questioned its feasibility. "There were some concerns, but none were mentioned in session," Hochhauser said.

Babes

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 petrock. If someone can make money with a rock, surely I can make money,

"The guy who did the slimy little octopus thing that you throw on the wall and it walks down made $20 million in eight years."

Adams said he has one of the models, which has received mixed reviews, in his yard.

His next-door neighbor said he loved it, Adams said. But the woman across the street has a different view.

"I don't think it's too whippy," said the neighbor, who did not want to give her name. "I understand the fraternities love it, and I guess I can stand

Adams said he plans to approach different merchants about carrying his product in stores.

He is sending Lawn Babes samples to Spencer's Gifts to see if they will accept them for sale, he said.

Abortion

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 that a large part of the defense in Roe

v. Wade was the right to privacy in medical situations.

If the case is reversed, she said, she believes a loss of privacy in other medical situations will follow. "People should be responsible enough and in enough control of their bodies to decide what to do with their bodies, whether it has to do with abortion or medication," she said.

Trent is organizing the Manhattan trip to Washington, she said, because she hopes it will make a difference to legislators and the general public.

"I hope that our Congress and our president will notice us, and we will have an impact on the elections in November," she said. Mayberry said she has three goals for the march. "I want people to see that feminism is not dead, that issues concerning women are not dead, and that women's issues are not just for women - they're for everyone," she said.

Primary

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 in Michigan

"We're in this campaign until the convention," Tsongas saidas he campaigned in Moline, Ill. "At the convention, there will be one question. Who can beat George Bush? Who is electable? ... That is the question. I am the answer.

In two Chicago debates over the weekend, Tsongas passed up opportunities to attack Clinton's character, although he continues to make subtle digs at the Arkansas governor by questioning his electability.

"We have decided to get back to our message," Tsongas said. "In Super Tuesday, we got off of our message. That was a mistake."

He said the candidate that remains above the fray becomes the alterna-

Even before Illinois and Michigan polls close on Tuesday, Tsongas is heading to Connecticut to start his push for that state's March 24 primary. New York is the next big test after that on April 7.

Clinton, beset earlier in the campaign by allegations of extramarital affairs and draft dodging, came under attack this weekend over conflict-ofinterest questions regarding his wife's legal work.

Brown unleashed a vicious attack on Clinton during a Sunday night debate, accusing him of funneling money to his wife's law firm, which represents clients before state agencies run by Clinton appointees.

Clinton, still visibly angry at Brown's attacks, denied the claims Monday and said he would not allow his campaign to be sidetracked by the

"Anyone who would do that is not cut to be president and ought to pack up his tent and go home," Clinton

Hillary Rodham Clinton said she always made sure her work as a partner at the prestigious Rose law firm did not create any appearance of con-

"I've done the best I can to lead my life," she said as she campaigned with her husband, "I suppose I could have stayed home and baked cookies and Tsongas predicted a better showing against Clinton in Connecticut and New York because he said his support will build as the race goes on.

trouble in New York because of his firefight with Gov. Mario Cuomo. Clinton, in a private conversation that was taped without his knowledge, agreed that Cuomo acted a bit

Tsongas said Clinton might have like a Mafioso. On the Republican side, GOP challenger Pat Buchanan campaigned in Michigan and gave no hint of abandoning the race if he fares poorly in Tuesday's elections.

"It is not my intention to injure Mr. Bush for the general election, if he and Mr. Quayle are the nominees,' Buchanan said.

Bush, campaigning in Wisconsin and Illinois, said he would keep his winning streak intact although he refused to predict the margin of victory.

"Never try to say how high the high bar should be on these primaries. I've been very pleased," he said. "They seem to be getting better and better.'

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

ence to ruin all the good experiences the student had," he said.

Evan Simpson, junior in journalism and mass communications, said he thinks there must be respect for achieved," Simpson said.

happening in our lifetime.

"It'll never change," she said.

individuals to cultivate it, he said. Too often people see others as black

"We must overcome those attitudes to make it better for every-

"I don't have time to allow racism "Slowly, slowly, it will be to deter me if and when I'm confronted with it. I try to deal with it and

Racism

Switzer said it's hard to break down the barriers of racism and discrimination because people react more to the negative experiences. "You only need one bad experiminorities before equal rights will be

Bailey said she agreed.

Switzer said he challenged the students in the majority to nurture and bring about cultural diversity. He said the administration has done a tremendous job creating an atmosphere for diversity. Now it is the job of the or white, he said.

body," he said.

He said, however, he doesn't see it move on," Switzer said. Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea? Call the Collegian day or night

532-6556

Business to business. Person to person. MARCH SPECIAL FOR STUDENTS AND STAFF

The Okidata' OL400. PC Magazine' Editors' Choice.

- Industry's best warranty: 5 years on printhead. I year parts/labor on printer.
- · PC Magazine Editors' Choice -June 12, 1990.

publication quality output.

1306 WESTLOOP

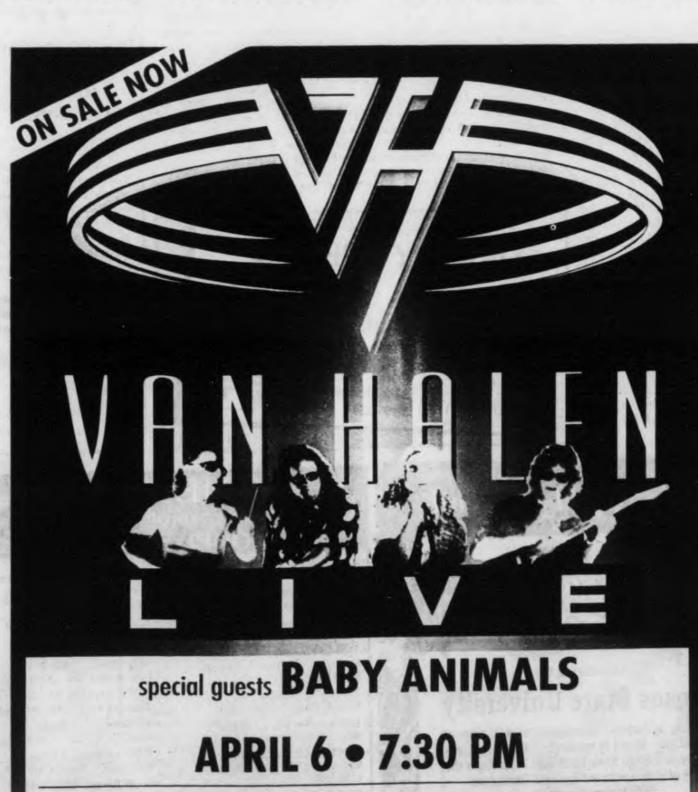

- High-capacity 200-sheet paper
- 4 ppm. 300 dpi: crisp blacks.
 - · Slim. low-profile design fits any desktop.

• More standard typefaces fonts than LaserJer IIP.

tray included. · HP Series II compatible.

776-0086 OKDATA ON

BRAMLAGE COLISEUM

At Kansas State University

ALL SEATS RESERVED

Tickets available in Manhattan at Bramlage Coliseum Box Office, Manhattan Town Center Information Booth, K-State Union Bookstore, McCain Auditorium, L.T.R. at Ft. Riley, at Uptown Records & Tapes in Junction City, at Uptown Entertainment in Topeka and House of Sight & Sound or Bicentennial Center in Salina. Or charge by phone:

CLASSIFIEDS

Announcements

CASH FOR Collegel Don't miss your opportunity for the scholarships/ financial aid you are qualified for Call or write for information on our scholarship search service and a free copy of "Ten Ways to Strech Your Scholarship Chances". Cash for College, P.O. Box 952, Lawrence, KS 66044. (800) 475–3388 ext. 3360.

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

ERIN GO Braghi Celebrate St. Patrick's Day with the K-State Union Bookstore. You'll receive an additional 10% off all St. Pa-trick's sale items when you wear visible

MODEL SCOUTS: California's most prestig-ious medelling agency seeks scouts to find the next supermodel. Great money for students who have an "eye" for beau-ty. (800) 831–9992.

TAI CHI Classes start March 25, 8:30p.m. $40 for eight weeks, Nautilus Fitness Club, 776–1654.

WHO WILL be Miss Manhattan- K-State 1992? The 36th annual pageant is Sat-urday, March 21, 7:30p.m., MHS audi-Advance tickets available in the

Automobiles for Sale

1985 CHEVROLET Celebrity four-door, air condition, excellent condition, new components, $2,700, 537-3971.

WITH CONTEMPORARY

WOOD STANDS

(black or natural finish)

Glass Impressions • Aggleville 1128 Laramie • Mon-Fri 10-6 Sat 10-4

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

FOR SALE- 1983 Dodge Charger $1100. 539-6939 leave message.

Computers

10 MHZ XT- plus coprocessor, 32 MB HD, one floppy, DOS 3.3 plus GWBASIC plus programs plus manuals and 24 pin printer, 110 cps draft, 14 letterquality modes, spare ribbons $450. 539-2644.

DVERTISING/ sition being filled now for Fail 92/ Spring 93. This is a two-semester internship for six credit hours and a scholarship awarded in Spring 93. Call Pam Fulmer at the International Trade Institute 532–6799 for international $40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easy! Fun, relaxing at home, beach, vacations. Guaranteed paycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS13KEB.

ART INTERNSHIP position being filled now for Fall 92/ Spring 93. This is a two-semester internable for six credit hours and a scholarship awarded in spring 93. Call Pam Fulmer at the International Trade Institute 532–6799 for interview.

ATTENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army National Guard would like to help youl In addition to monthly drill pay, we offer the following incentive programs: $2,000 bonus, $8,120 G.I. Bill, and the $10,000 loan repayment program. By serving two days a month, and two weeks a year you could qualify for up to $28,000. To find out if you qualify, call 537-4108.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing. gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $1,000 or more plus R & B. Marc Seeger. 1765 Maple, Northfield, IL 60093. (708) 446–2444.

CHILD CARE Worker needed on Thursdays 9- 12 and 1- 3, $5/ hour, 15 hours total. Call New Directions 532-6561.

COMPUTER OPERATOR/ Data entry student to work evening hours (5-9 p.m.) Monday thru Friday. Prefer computer science or information system freshmen or sophomore, but will consider other computer experienced applicants. Apply to Barbara Kravitcz, Continuing Education, College Court Bldg., Room 126, 532-5698.

CRUISE LINE entry level on Board- land-side positions available, year round or summer. Call (813) 229-5478.

DATA ENTRY clerks needed beginning May 13. This is year- round KSU student hourly position. Call Parn Fulmer at the International Trade Institute 532-6799 for EARN CASHI Local businesses need students now for stuffing envelopes at home.

All materials provided. Excellent earnings. Send SASE to Homemailing Program— B, P.O. Box 3182, Olathe, KS

IMMEDIATE OPENING for a full-time grounds keeper, experience relating to landscap-ing or lawn care required. Contact Geary Community Hospital. Attention: Cathy Witt, P.O. Box 490, Junction City, KS

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and recreational areas. Horticultural background helpful. Send resume to Colle-

LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national lorest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

MARY POPPINS wanted in Connecticut this summer to help Mom with three children. Must love active boys, adorable toddlers. Send letter with picture detailing experience with children and qualifications to: Patricia Hedlund, 91 Dorchester Road, Darien, CT 06820. Salary $150/ week plus airfare, June- August. Please respond as soon as possible if inter-

NSAP NEEDS poster rep, four hours per week $5/ hour plus commission and no selling, call Rhonda (800) 238-0690.

PART-TIME POSITION: Individual to pack and ship books and publications 1– 5, M– F. The person should be energetic and organized to handle the required responsibilities. Send resume to Kelly James Adams, Operations Manager, LERN, 1550 Hayes Dr., or pick-up an application at the office. Calvin and Hobbes

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates: June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

SPRING BREAK over and still no summer work? Students averaged over $400 pe week last summer. Call 539-8370 for in STOPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed to stuff our Dieting Circulars from your Dorm/ Homel Excellent Wages—$3 per envelope! No experience required! Set own hours...Full or part-time! Mailers needed immediately! To start send a long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157 Forked River, NJ 08731.

STUDENT ASSISTANT- For editorial work to write, edit and format computer user guides, fill software orders and do other communications tasks with Macintosh and DOS computers. Want responsible communications tasks with Macintosa and DOS computers. Want responsible person, preferably with related work experience, available immediately to work the rest of this semester, summer 1992, fall 1992 semester and possibly after. Apply at 211 Umberger Hall.

STUDENTS TO mow yard for apartment houses. Now and throughout summer. Send name, address and experience to Collegian Box one. Prefer student with own lawn equipment and transportation.

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT opportunities in beautiful Estes Park, Colorado. Best Western Lake Estes Resort has several housekeeping positions available for the summer season. Call (303) 586-3386 for application or information, or write to: P.O. Box 1466, Estes Park, CO 80517

SUMMER SITTER. Caring, dependable, re-sponzible, fun-loving sitter needed full-time for our home. June, July, August. Five year old, three year old, infant. 537–4667.

SUMMER WORK Available at KSU Veget able Reseach Farm. DeSoto (Kansas City area). $4.50/ hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr. Horticulture (532-6170) or Mrs. Elder (same) for application and more infor-

SUMMER WORK: $5300 average profit. College credit available. I'm looking for hard working, motivated students. Call (800) 354-3906.

TELEMARKETER WANTED. Must be KSU student. Begins this summer and con-tinues through spring 93 semester. Call Pam Fulmer at the International Trade Insti-tute 532-6799 for interview.

TELEPHONE INTERVIEWERS, 100 open ings, no experience, no selling. Apply 9a.m. to noon. R.L. Polk 3003 Anderson Ave. Suite 913 (Village Plaza) EOE/ M/F.

TRAVEL FROM Texas to Montana on a wheat harvesting crew. Monthly wages, bonus and room and board. Call (913)

VISTA DRIVE-IN is now taking applications for full and part-time help. Apply in per-

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS 3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Reasonable rates. 776-3624.

By Bill Watterson

By Jerry Bittle

CAUTION

By Jeff MacNei'v

CLOSE TO campus, very nice two, three, and four-bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-1666.

FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155. each. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

GOLDKEY APARTMENTS, 1417, 1419 Leavenworth. Deluxe two-bedrooms, leasing for fall. 776-0177, 539-2567.

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM LARGE apartment, good for two, 1017 Laramie, $380 for appoint-ment call 537-0428.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT for next school year in Northpark Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal and laundry, good for two or three, $475, for appointment call 537-0428.

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

CLOSE TO campus, very nice two, three, and four-bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred, Call 785-2777, Please leave a message.

NEXT TO campus two, three, four, five and six-bedrooms showing evenings March 16, 17, 18, 19, 6p.m. – 9p.m., 1806 Platt.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE, two blocks from campus available May 1. Call 776-3429 TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus, central air, one and one-half baths, laundry nice location, available June or August 537-8800.

UNFURNISHED ONE- two- three- four-bed-room apartment. Call 539-1975, leave

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unturn.

AUGUST LEASE - next to campus apartment complex near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30p.m. 539-2702.

ONE-BEDROOM TWO blocks from campus. Available June and August. 776-7814 or 539-3803.

Leasing Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts * College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

June & August Leases Available Now 4 bedrms, 2 1/2 bath & study

 All appliances furnished, including washer, dryer & microwave.

 Pre-wired for your computer, phone & cable TV. ·Large recreation area with hot tubs & sand volleyball Bus service to campus

Monthly rent as low as $195 For info call 776-8763

Property Resources Management

10 For Rent-Houses

AVAILABLE JUNE, three-bedroom 2043 College View $570. Two-bedroom 1030 Thurston $360. Lease and deposit. 539–3672.

11 For Sale—Houses

#29 Colonial Gardens 14x60 super buy was $6,500, now $5,900, $149.50 payments, sharp home, 16 home selection Coun-tryside Brokerage 539–2325.

13 For Sale—Mobile Homes

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck, lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845–3427

16 Lost and Found

Only found ads can be placed free of charge.

FOUND: GLASSES, round, wire rim, turned in to 134 Webber Hall, stop by to claim.

LOST, BLACK Lab mix puppy red and white collars last seen, KSU campus, phone 35 It's grand,

36 Ironwood

meter

38 Merciful-

41 Feather scarf tree

43 Hotel

42 Sandarac

employ-

48 Placard

homa

Indian

heroine

green tree 53 Verve

1 Sci room

2 Personal

49 Okla-

50 Place

51 Hardy

52 Ever-

DOWN

tree

37 Cubic in bridge

Crossword

ACROSS 1 Light or post lead-5 'Le Cog (opera)

8 Police drama of the '70s 12 Author/critic James 13 Farm femme 14 Wax

15 Roared loudly 17 Pet of Nora and Nick 18 Rallad 19 Internamonopoly Legal actions 24 Bartok or Lugosi 25 "The - tional

October" 26 Wood thrush, for one 30 TV actor Robert for Red

31 Hostile and uncivil 32 Female antelope

33 Meadow

sounds

EA STOWED NG CID BOXELDERS

Yesterday's answer 3-17

17 Meetings Events

MISS MANHATTAN— K-State Scholarship Pageant— Saturday, March 21, 7:30p.m., MHS auditorum, 2100 Poyntz. Advance tickets available in the Union.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a

BRIAN- YOU'RE sooo sweet. Happy Birth-

CHAUNCEY: HAPPY Anniversary. It's been a great five years. I hope the future holds the dreams we share. I love you. Lance LAMBDA CHI/ Fiji Dudes: Buck/ Mama's MBDA CHI/ Fiji Dudes; Buck/ Mama's Boy- Hope you didn't lose your manhood. Ed- Put that camera away! Cody and Mike- Milk, does a body good. Clark- Roadhummin' in the family truckster, 1-900-GARY. Kevin- Learn to caravan dude! Dan- We really don't talk about that! Willy- Glad you made it. Chad- Lofts are not for leaping! Jake-Skiing with the chicks. Terry- Dude, use sunscreen next time! We'll always remember: blasts from the past, caravan through Denver, bierocks, charades, pillow fights and chocolate chip margaritas! Nest year, Vinnie goes to Padre- K-State goes skiing! See you Thursdaydon't forget your moon boots! Love, the PiPhis in the Quest.

LHW- CONGRATULATIONS! March is half over and nothing bad has happened. Good luck for the rest. JWH.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

HORSES BOARDING room for six horses $30 a month per horse. Contact Jeff a 539-1606 after 4p.m.

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle 537-7795.

CALL THE Resume Service for your resume, cover letter, or form typing needs. Offering laser or letter quality printing and permanent computer storage of your resume. 343 Colorado St. 537–7294.

DATA SHEETS to dissertations and everything between, Laser printing, 12 years experience, Mrs. Burden, 539-1204. EVERYTHING TYPED— theses, resumes, papers, Laser printer, scalable fonts. Specialties: medical terminology, foreign language. $1.25 double. Joyce, 537-7027 after 5.

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality. Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539–3229, 8a.m.-8p.m. UTILIZE MY BS in English Speech for papers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 527, 239 537-2203

24 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom unit one and one-half baths, fully equipped kitchen, in a brick complex, share one-third utilities and food, $185. 776-9259 or 537-7087.

FREE MARCH rent to first female to move into nice two-bedroom. 539-5366 or 726-3425.

MALE NEEDED, walk to KSU, furnished, pri-vate bedroom, share the rest. 539-1554.

MALE ROOMMATE. Three-bedroom house one block from campus, washer/ d $250/ month. All bills paid. 539-1638.

WO NON-SMOKING females needed to share furnished townhouse, one block from campus, $135/ month plus one-fourth utilities, June 1, 537-2186, leave

WANTED: FEMALE roommate who is a se ous, clean, non-smoking student. Ask for Celeste 776-6470.

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 20 years experience. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Monday through Friday.

RILEY COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT 2030 TECUMSEH 776-4779

FREE PREGNANCY TESTS

FREE PREGNANCY COUNSELING DISCUSSION OF ALL OPTIONS Early Detection of Pregnancy is Important CONFIDENTIAL

(Ad Placed by Friends of Women)

question? 22 Graph or mate

hope 24 Uncle

Miltie

ruffian

work

loudly

31 Splinter

35 Firm in

"The Hurrah" (1958 movie)

lake

40 Scolds

41 Syllable

or gun season

medium

tive vote 47 Beam or burn lead-

44 French

45 Artist's

46 Affirma-

founded in 37 Scale

26 Hired

27 Out of

28 Laugh

29 Attica

lead-in 23 Skier's

3 Blanc or

Brooks

4 Popgun bullet flowers in morning obligated components

8 Beetle

9 Mae or

11 River

16 Org.

duck

1948 ate

Solution time: 24 mins.

OAS ERASER BUSTRO ETCH

ASH SAO START READ SAD ADAR KEDAH RES ORO

21 Elegance

of style

20 Confeder- 38

Johnson

7 Blood

5 Like

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

For confidential help call

irthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests 523 S. 17th

Old Town Mall 1-800-848-LOVE

5683

FREE HAIRCUTS, PERMS, COLORS

Makeover models

wanted female and male

For Information Call Hair Experts Design

> Team 776-4455

Pregnancy Testing Center 539-3338

Totally confidential service.

Call for appointment

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

27 Sporting/Rec. Equipment

GUN AND Knife Show. National Guard Armory at Manhattan Airport. Sat., Mar. 21, 9-5p.m., Sun., Mar. 22, 9-4p.m. Buy-Sell-Trade. Information (913) 922-6979.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE JUNE- August. One-bedroom, for one or two people. Close to campus. Call or leave message at 776-0741.

lease mid May- Aug. Two- three people. Two blocks from campus, Rent $562 or best offer. Call 537-1498.

SUMMER SUBLEASE and available for fall, nice one-bedroom apartment, close to campus, laundry facilities, off street parking. $280. Kern. 776–2003.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, June 1- July 31, two-bedroom apartment close to campus and downtown, cheap rent, air condition, par-tially furnished, quiet. Great for summer school. Call 776-9862, Kristi or Karla or

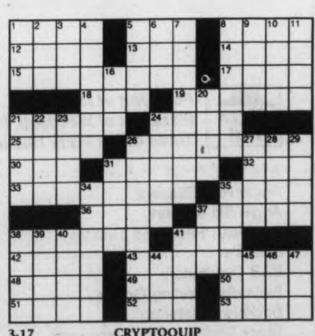

30 Travel/Car Pool

HEADING TO Europe this summer? Jet there anytime for $169 from the East Coast, $229 from the Midwest (when available) I (Reported in Let's Gol and NY Times.) Airhitch & (212) 864-2000.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, townsville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3698.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback. Best offer, 539-4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m. By Eugene Sheffer

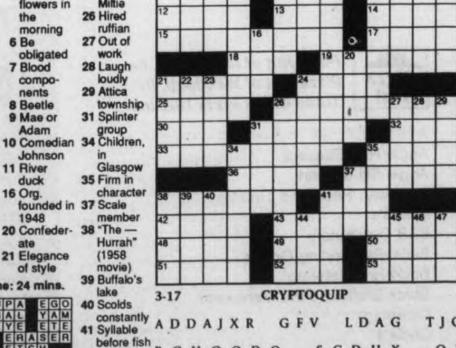

GFV LDAG TJO RCHOODO SCDHX

IDVHJX JX ADDL TD'W

FXWJGJFX. Yesterday's Cryptoquip: JUST WHAT EACH BRIL-LIANT JOB CANDIDATE NEEDS: HIRE EDUCATION?

Today's Cryptoquip clue: T equals H

Kansas State University

ELEFUND

World Tour '92

21,047 Kansas State University alumni and friends pledged a record

737.355

Russ McMahon, Telefund director, welcomes volunteers to the KSU Foundation Hollis Telefund Center. During February, more than 1,300 students and faculty participated in Telefund. Student callers with the most pledges were Gennie Scanlan of Education, Jim McCluskey of Education and Teresa Pennington of Arts & Sciences. Faculty with the most pledges were Tom Parish of Education and Ruth Hoeflin of Human Ecology. Student Grand Prize One was dinner for four, limo service, tuxedo rental for two, hair styling for two, manicure for two and theatre tickets for four. Grand Prize Two was a shopping spree, lunch and dinner for four and theatre tickets. Grand Prize Three was a shopping spree, racetrack admission and dinner for four. The two faculty prizes were lodging, dinner and theatre tickets for two.

COLLEGE TELEFUND TOTALS

Agriculture $93,144 Architecture & Design Arts & Sciences

35,055 175,221

Business Administration $80,146 92,352 Education 136,201 Engineering

Human Ecology $68,511 Veterinary Medicine 50,590 College of Technology 6,135

COLLEGE PRIZE WINNERS

First, second and third place students who had the highest number of pledges in a single night received prizes. These were Darla Mainquist, Elizabeth Greene and Galen Wentz of Agriculture; Jim Jesik, Kim Brabec and Sara Struckman of Architecture & Design; Gennie

Scanlan, Teresa Pennington and David Filippi of Arts & Sciences; Stacey A. Bishop, David Duntz and Debra Flagler of Business Administration; Gennie Scanlan, Mary Klein and Gina Glace of Education; Jennifer J. Walker, Scott W. McKinley and Kathy Alexander of Engineering; Tamara Inks, Jon Lomshekand David Wernli of Human Ecology; Teresa Dye, Kate Perkins and Jessica Laurin of Veterinary Medicine; and Janet Kabler, Beth Thompson and Shawn Cadwell of College of Technology.

Special Thanks to the following

TELEFUND SPONSORS

Pizza Hut of Manhattan, Inc. Pizza Hut of Westloop, Inc. Tuttle Creek Pizza Hut, Inc.

AT&T Aggie Hair Shapers Aggie Ski & Sport American Heartland Theatre Avanti's B&B Distributors Ballard's Sporting Goods Bockers II Catering Borck Brothers Fine Menswear Cinemagic Clyde's Fashion Shop and Beauty Salon Hair Experts Design Team Handiworks Hardee's Restaurant, Aggieville

McDonald's Restaurant 3rd Street

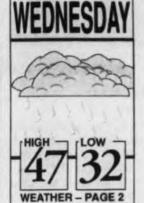

Holiday Inn Johns Ice Cream & Video Junction City Distributing Co., Inc. Junior's Barber Shop KMKF/K-ROCK 101.5 KSU Alumni Association KSU Athletic Department Kansas City Blades Hockey Club Lynn Dickey's Sports Cafe MCI Telecommunications Corp. Malo's Seafood Galley Manhattan Country Club Mar Kan Inc. McCain Auditorium

Manhattan Town Center

On the Wildside Pepsi Cola Bottling Co., Manhattan Pfeifley Jewelers Robin's Limo Service Royal Nonesuch & Kansas Firmus Collegium Musicum TCI of Kansas Inc. University Ramada Inn Valentino's Ristorante Westin Crown Center Westloop 6 Cinemas Westloop Floral Wildcat Spirit The Woodlands

KANSAS STATE OLLEGIAN

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 115

Bush, Clinton win primary

Bush protest vote fades, Buchanan support declines

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO - Gov. Bill Clinton won twin victories in the Illinois and Michigan primaries Tuesday night, cementing his dominance of the Democratic presidential race. President Bush piled dual landslides atop the faltering challenge of Patrick Buchanan.

Clinton's triumphs were a major stride toward the Democratic nomination to challenge Bush for the White House Nov. 3.

"It's almost a done deal," said Democratic chairman John Marino of New York, the next big state on the primary calendar.

Bush said his renomination was "virtually assured" following runaways in Michigan and in Illinois.

The protest vote clearly was dwindling, and Buchanan seemed to be fading with it. He centered his challenge in Michigan but had to settle for 26 percent of the vote.

Aides said Buchanan would scale back his campaign and avoid efforts that could harm Bush's chances for reelection - but the candidate himself was conceding nothing.

"We're going to keep on rolling," Buchanan told supporters. "They say Mr. Bush is a prodigal son, and he's

BUSINESS

Waiver

debated

JENNIFER BEALS

Town Center issue.

Collegian

altered.

for mall fee

The first reading on the zoning issue of noise ordinances and beer garden safety was approved during a five-and-a-half-hour Manhattan City Commission meeting Tuesday night.

Most of the meeting, however, was devoted to the Manhattan sue, the meeting's agenda was Because of the lengthy is-Concerned citizens and disgruntled business men and women participated in the discussion of the $185,000 fee waiver requested by Forest City

Southwest developers to maintain the Manhattan Town Cen-

See MALL Page 3

TUESDAY'S WINNERS BILL CLINTON, D 166 GEORGE BUSH, R 137 BILL CLINTON PAUL TSONGAS JERRY BROWN 1. GEORGE BUSH 65 2. PAT BUCHANAN 0 1. BILL CLINTON 66 2. JERRY BROWN 42 3. PAUL TSONGAS 23

on his way home. I say it's too soon

But his sister and campaign manager, Angela Bay Buchanan, told reporters, "It is clear that the nominee of the party is going to be George Bush."

She said her brother "is going to endorse George Bush, and he is going to support him and want him to do

Clinton won easily in both industrial states, defeating Paul Tsongas and Jerry Brown and putting aside any lingering concern that his support is centered only in the South.

Clinton held wide leads in the partial returns from both states.

A local restaurant was robbed at

Tom Grecko, manager of Giorgio's

"A hostess and I had just closed up

Grecko said the man with the bat

One said, 'Look down. Look door.

forced into a closet shortly after it

Italian Restaurant, 100 Bluemont

Ave., said the robbery occurred shortly for the evening," Grecko said. "I was near the front and turned around and saw two people wearing black masks."

struck him on the arm and the other suspect held the gun to Grecko's head.

away,' and they forced us down onto them where the key to the safe was, then they opened the safe and took the

Once the safe was emptied, he

The robbers forced them to tell after the waitresses went home.

gunpoint, and two employees were cooler, but it was locked."

DEREK THOMAN

closed Saturday night.

the floor," he said.

money, he said.

Tsongas ran second in Illinois and slipped to third in Michigan behind Brown.

Both losers offered Clinton their congratulations, a polite touch in an increasingly bitter campaign. Both had vowed in advance that no matter the result, they will continue their battles to overtake Clinton.

At a Chicago victory rally, Clinton sounded an anti-Washington theme, telling supporters that the people who voted for him, voted for change.

"They have voted to go beyond the politics of both parties in Washington," he said.

"Bush, Bush, Bush," is how said, the two were told to get up, and

They made us go back to the Instead, Grecko said he and the hostess were forced into a closet and were told that if they came out, they would be shot. He said it sounded like

A short time later, he said, they

Grecko said there was evidence they blocked the door with a chair.

heard the people leave, so he rammed the door with his shoulder to allow them to escape and call the police.

that the suspects entered the restaurant through a back door. There was damage to the wooden frame of the open with a screwdriver or something," Grecko said. "They may have been in earlier in the evening and put a wedge in the door, then used a screwdriver to pop it open after we closed."

"The door looks like it was pried they were forced into the kitchen.

Giorgio's robbed; gun,

baseball bat used in theft

Clinton deputy campaign manager George Stephanopoulos answered when asked about Clinton's focus in the coming primaries in Connecticut, Kansas, Wisconsin and New York.

Tsongas, in Hartford, Conn., for a head start on the campaign for next Tuesday's primary, said that if losing builds character, he has enough now and "We have to start winning for a change."

Brown was in Madison, Wis., where he told supporters he is determined to represent the unrepresented and "to work real change, however long it takes me, and that's my commitment.'

Bush's victories ran the president's primary streak to 16 and 0.

A Buchanan aide said the challenger would announce on Wednesday that he is scaling back his daily campaign but hopes to focus on Bush discontent in California.

Michigan returns from 58 percent of the precincts gave Clinton 45 percent, Brown 29, Tsongas 19.

In Illinois, with 40 percent reporting, Clinton had 49 percent, Tsongas percent and Brown 15.

In the Michigan GOP primary, where Buchanan had made his stand, Bush had 67 percent of the vote, Buchanan 26 percent. In Illinois, Bush had 76 percent and Buchanan 22 per-

Votes for undecided or for minor or dropout candidates accounted for the balance of the primary ballots.

Pottawatomie County Detective

"A witness saw a large, light blue

Brad Burgess said that although there are no suspects in custody, a witness car with two males slumped down in the front seat in the parking stall of the Dillons lot facing Giorgio's," Bur-

The suspects were both males,

Burgess said. He described the first as being 6-feet-1-inch tall, weighing 215 pounds and the second as 6-feet-2-inches tall, weighing 240 pounds. Both

A substantial amount of cash and Burgess said anyone who may have seen any suspicious activity in the area Saturday night should call

Crimestoppers at 539-7777 or the Potawatomie County Sheriff's office were muscular in build, he said.

checks was taken, he said.

at 457-3481.

may have a clue in the case.

Fred Bramlage, 81, dies after long battle with cancer

AMY COX

At the name of Fred Bramlage, many students may think only of Bramlage Coliseum.

But Fred Bramlage's pioneer $2.7million donation was only one of many instances of his lifetime generosity to K-State and the state of Kansas.

The 1935 K-State graduate and Junction City native died Tuesday morning at Geary Community Hospital where he was readmitted for his lengthy bout with cancer. He was 81.

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Junction City, Fort Riley and our state and nation have lost a great friend and benefactor with the death of Fred Bramlage," University President Jon Wefald said Tuesday.

"K-State has always been identified with Fred Bramlage and always will be. For K-State, he is a giant," Wefald said.

But the giant was a modest one.

KSU Foundation Director Art Loub said Bramlage was a humble man and one of a select few Kansans who had an enormous effect on the

"It's important to understand his contributions transcended beyond the coliseum," Loub said. "He was an influential individual whose contributions of time, money and energy would fill an entire newspaper.

He listened to the students. The heads of the Student Governing Association went to him and asked for support in funding the coliseum, and he made it happen.'

His reputation as a supporter of K-State preceded him.

"He was just a great supporter of Kansas State University," Wildcat

Fred Bramlage's Accomplishments

■ Responsible for getting I-70 to run through Kansas during the Eisenhower administration.

 Credited with helping bring the 1st Infantry Division to Fort Riley from Germany after World War II.

■ Led what became a successful effort in the 1960's to double Fort Riley's maneuver area by acquiring 50,000 acres.

Received the Kansas State Medallion Award for Distinguished Alumni in 1987.

Awarded the Gen. Creighton W. Adams medal in 1988 for his active support of the Army.

■ Named Kansan of the Year in

■ Named to the Kansas State Sports Hall of Fame in September 1991.

■ Received the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, the Army's highest award for public service, in 1991 for his former work as civilian aide to the Secretary of the Army.

KIM VOTH/Collegian

basketball coach Dana Altman said. "He had a really special feeling for athletics. It had been manifesting a long time before I came here."

Fred Bramlage was an unusual man who "just wanted to help people in all ways," Loub said, and felt it was his obligation to help his alma mater and

See BRAMLAGE Page 12

House furnace explodes, burns St. George couple

DEREK THOMAN

A St. George couple is in critical condition after the furnace in their home exploded while being lit Tues-

Ralph and Faye Harrell were burned extensively as Ralph was attempting to light the furnace in the basement of the couple's home.

"Faye was able to make it to the phone and call for help after the explosion,"Pottawatomie County Sheriff Steve Harkness said.

"They had second- and third-degree burns on their bodies and were transported to the Saint Mary Hospital in Manhattan."

The Harrell home, located just east of St. George, received extensive smoke damage, most of which was confined to the basement area.

'Ralph was conscious when we arrived on the scene and was able to tell us exactly what had happened," Harkness said.

The Harrells were transported from Saint Mary to the burn unit of the University of Kansas Medical Center, where both were in critical condition as of Tuesday night.

MANHATTAN

Journalist speaks about South African poverty

BRIAN KRATZER/Collegian

Ruth Coggin, a South African and editor of Dimension International magazine, sings a song in the basement of the First United Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon. Coggin, who is a member of the Methodist Church of Southern Africa, spoke about missionary work in South Africa and apartheid.

South African journalist Ruth

Coggin didn't realize she would sacrifice her vote against apartheid while drumming up support for the poor and needy in her home country. "I've spent my whole life not voting for what the government wants," Coggin said. "Now I couldn't vote for what I want." South African whites voted Tuesday in a referendum based on President F.W. de Klerk's racial reforms. The most sweeping of these is to develop a new constitution giving political rights to the nation's 30million black majority.

De Klerk has promised to resign if the referendum fails.

Coggin, editor of Dimension and Dimension International, two publications for the Methodist Church of Southern Africa, spoke Tuesday at the First United Methodist Church in Manhattan.

She said she has been from Connecticut to Kansas showing people how they can help South Africa.

Coggin could have voted March 10 and 11 in Chicago, New York City or Washington, D.C., but she was in Minneapolis, Minn.

She said she is optimistic about the outcome, which was unknown at the time of her speech. She said someone in Topeka was keeping her in touch with the results through the Associ-

"If the vote had gone negative, there would've been a court case about the voting situation in the States," said Coggin, who said she would protest if apartheid were the popular While in the United States, Coggin has been showing slides, teaching songs and promoting awareness of the poverty situation in South Africa. South Africa is very beautiful," Coggin said as slides of urban factories and busy streets filled the screen. 'It's easy to forget about the people. Wherever you go, they are friendly.

"In the rural areas, the homes are made of mud with thatched grass covering the roofs," she said. Coggin said an estimated 7 million of 35 million people are homeless, and many of them live around the cities.

Coggin is a member of the Methodist Church of South Africa.

"Our church is a microcosm of South African society," she said. "We have well-off members with nice See AFRICA Page 10

■ Marshall Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office,

Faculty Senate final ballots will be mailed this week. They should be Eisenhower Hall, and are due by 8:30 a.m., March 23, in Eisenhower 113. Rhodes Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office, Eisenhower Hall, and are due by 8:30 a.m., March 24, in Eisenhower 113.

■ Parking Services is now located in Burt 128 as of March 12.

Apostolic Campus Ministry will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 209.

Let's Rap," black student support group, will meet at 3:30 p.m. in ■ Just Guys will meet at 7:05 p.m. in Union 212. The topic will be "What

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral

■ University Counseling Services will present an informal discussion of

■ Career Planning and Placement will conduct a workshop on job-search

■ Career Planning and Placement will have mock interview sign-ups for

■ Career Planning and Placement will have mock interview sign-ups for Rainforest Coalition will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 206 for a slide

Society of Automotive Engineers will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 163.

■ Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the ■ Christian Educators will meet at noon in Union Stateroom 3 to discuss presentation of the South American neo-tropical rain forest by Chris Smith, dissertation of Yi Wang for 2 p.m. in Chemistry/Biochemistry Building 437.

"Procrastination: Problem or Plus?" from noon to 1 p.m. in Union 203.

juniors and seniors in art beginning at 8 a.m. in the Art Building.

journalism and mass communications beginning at 8 a.m. in Kedzie.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18

strategies from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. in Union 212.

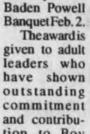

RECOGNITION

LEADERS COMMITTED TO BOY SCOUTS

SARA JAAX

A K-State staff member and a K-State professor received the Boy Scouts of America Award of Merit last month for their more than 30 years of combined service to the youth organization. Clara Thiessen, secretary for modern languages, and Garth Thompson, professor of mechanical engineering, were awarded the Boy Scouts Pawnee District award at the Boy Scout tion to Boy Scouts and

DOUGLAS GRUSH

Collegian

youth in the community, said Ray Hightower, assistant dean of the College of Engineering and assistant vicechairman of the Pawnee district. "It's a very prestigious award," he said. "It's the highest award a district can give to an adult scouter."

Thiessen

Thompson

Thiessen, unit commissioner for the Pawnee district, began Scout service work when the first of her three sons joined a troop several years ago. She has been working at a district administrative level since 1982.

As a unit commissioner, Thiessen

A K-State professor has received

Steve Curran, assistant professor

Curran said there is a pilot mill in the Kansas Engineering Societies New Product Award for developing a new of grain science and industry, has Shellenberger Hall for training. The unit is a conventional, five-story mill, and it can produce about 20,000

"The shortflow unit is only 15 feet pounds of flour in 24 hours.

invented the Kice Shortflow Unit.

method of milling wheat into flour.

▶ PROFESSOR'S MILL INVENTION HONORED

said, she acts as a liaison between the council office in Salina and two units in Manhattan. She also assists in outdoor training sessions and camps for youth and adult leaders, she said. Thiessen was the first woman in Kansas invited to become a member of the Order of the Arrow, a scouting organization. She has also received other scouting awards, including the Scouter's Key, Silver Arrow Training Award and Distinguished Commissioner Award.

In the Manhattan community, Thiessen has served as secretary for the First Christian Church board, taught Sunday school and has been an officer in the Beta Sigma Phi service sorority.

Thompson, adviser to a generalexplorer post, directs his scouting efforts toward youth involvement.

'My main interest is to help young men in their personal advancement and personal growth through the Scouts program," he said.

As an explorer post adviser, he said, he provides youth with career information and assists Scouts with obtaining the coveted honor of Eagle Scout.

Thompson first served as a Cub Scout leader when his four sons were children. He organized the Manhattan explorer post as well as Wood Badge, a training camp for adult Scout leaders.

Thompson has been active in the Manhattan First Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He has served as bishop, as counselor to the Topeka stake presidency and as a member of the Salina stake high council.

He is currently working as the young men's president for the Manhattan first ward.

production is nearly the same, and its a gradual reduction process with a lot of passages of grinding and sifting.

cess by rearranging some of the equipment," he said.

roller mill and a sifter.

Curran said conventional mills use

"I found a way to shorten the pro-

Curran said the shortflow unit uses

"But instead of going at it gradually, I found a way of going at it intensely and found out that it still some of the same equipment, like a cost is about $200,000," he said.

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

MONDAY, MARCH 16 At 4:08 p.m., an illegally registered 1987 Chevrolet, license No. EFO 045, with an expired tag was reported on Denison Avenue by the Veteri-nary Medicine Complex.

nary Medicine Complex.
At 4:33 p.m., a red Chevrolet Cavalier, license
No. DGT 993, was wheellocked in lot B-3 for illegal registration and a broken passenger window. The permit number was 12.139. The tow time was reported as sometime late Wednesday afternoon.
At 6:30 p.m., an accident was reported at Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex, lot 2. The damage was reported to be less than $500.

TUESDAY, MARCH 17 At 12:29 a.m., theft of a Schwinn bicycle from Jardine Terrace was reported. The value was re-

At 8:54 a.m., a green Pontiac Bonneville, li-cense No. BIB 970, was towed from Lot A-6. At 9 a.m., an ambulance responded to call from the power plant for a subject having seizures. The subject was transported to Memorial Hospi

At 9:17 a.m., a report was filed for a lost student parking permit, No. 14703. At 11 a.m., a burglary report was filed on a purse in Lot F-210. Loss was $45.

At 1:18 p.m., an ambulance responded to enhower Hall for a subject feeling ill. The subject refused to be transported.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

MONDAY, MARCH 16

At 10:42 p.m., numerous Riley County high-way signs were reported stolen from the Riley County Highway Department. The amount of loss is unknown.

At 11:09 p.m., Timothy L. Easley, HHB, 2/3
ADA, Fort Riley, and Terry L. Resseguie, 2005
Hunting St., were issued notice to appear for possession of an open container of alcoholic liquor on

At 11:10 p.m., a McDonald's employee re-ported a possible intoxicated driver in a silver 1984 Toyota bearing Kansas license EFNS15. At 11:45 p.m., Larry T. Blazer, B Co. 1/16th

Inf., Fort Riley, was given notice to appear for minor in possession of alcoholic liquor in Snookies, 1122 Moro St. At 11:57 p.m., a white male was reported nude and behaving lewdly outside a house at 1212

TUESDAY, MARCH 17 At 12:13 a.m., two males were reported dam-aging a vehicle in the 600 block of Ninth Street.

deadline has been extended to March 22.

Damaged was a 1986 Chevy Cavalier bearing Kansas license No. DBR782, and a light blue Chevy Citation, license No. EFM151. Owners were not able to be contacted. Floyd H. Thomas, Lot 15 Fairmont Trailer Court, was arrested for crim damage to property.

At 9:55 a.m., the theft of an Imperial deep freezer was reported at Skotch-Way Service, 308 Riley, Ogden. Freezer was serial No. 42344. Loss

At 12:31 p.m., Sadie Hannebohn, R.R. No. 1, Box 62, Preston, was arrested for failure to appear and failure to pay in reference to warrant No. 92-873. Hannebohn was released on $60 bond.

At 1:40 p.m., a major-damage, non-injury accident occurred at Laramie and 16th streets involving Brent W. Willems, 912 Laramie St., and Michael Eaton, 131 Goodnow Hall.

At 3:11 p.m., $11.23 worth of unleaded gaso e was reported stolen from Mini Mart, 2706

At 3:51 p.m., $10 worth of gasoline was re-ported stolen from Shop Quik, 472 E. Poyntz Ave.

THURSDAY, MARCH 19

Christian Leadership Ministries.

UFM Fireplace Room.

returned by March 30.

Do Women Really Want?"

Union 208

- Manhattan National Organization for Women will meet at 7 p.m. in the UFM Fireplace Room. Cia Verschelden will speak about "Women and the Peace Movement.'
 - Teachers of Tomorrow will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 217. ■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory
- on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport.
- Truman Scholarship question-and-answer session will be 1-2 p.m. in Union 205.
- Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 202. ■ Horseman's Association will meet at 6 p.m. in Weber 146. Officers will meet before then at 5:30 p.m.
- Hispanic Awareness Month Planning Committee will meet at 12:30

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

Occasional rain and possibly a thunderstorm. High 45 to 50, Northeast wind 15 to 25 mph. Wednesday night, a 70-percent chance for rain or snow. Low in the lower 30s.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Summer internship applications for Sen. Bob Dole's office are

■ McCain Student Development Council applications are available in the

■ Truman Scholarship applications are available in the Dean's Office, available in Kedzie 219B. More K-State applicants are requested, and the Student Governing Association office in the K-State Union and due March 18.

Eisenhower Hall, and are due by 4:50 p.m., March 23, in Eisenhower 113.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

A 30-percent chance of snow in the morning, otherwise mostly cloudy. Cool with a high around 40.

EXTENDED FORECAST

Dry Friday. A chance for rain or snow in east Saturday. Dry on Sunday. Highs in mid-40s east and 50s west through the period. Lows in mid-20s to mid-30s.

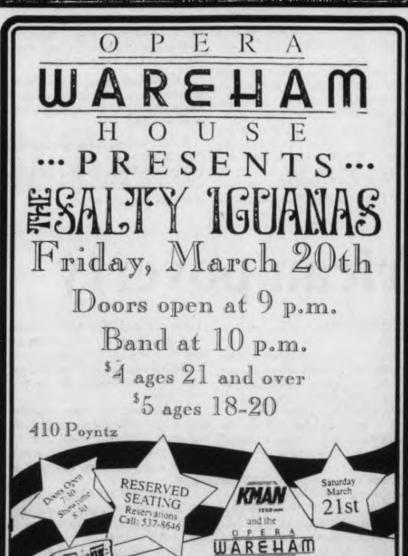

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

TOPEKA * MANHATTAN 53/43 51/48 GOODLAND 40/33 KANSAS 51/46 GARDEN CITY WICHITA 41/37 67/53LIBERAL COFFEYVILLE 65/48 N/A

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	Nassau	80/55	clear
Auckland	69/60	rain	Seattle	51/46	cloudy
Brussels	54/28	cloudy	Tokyo	45/36	rain
Frankfurt	45/34	cloudy	Warsaw	34/21	cloudy tall, 15 feet wide and 22 feet long. Its produces good product," he said. This Week's Specials Tacos 3 for $1.25 550 auch Chili Burrito 1.88 2.55 Good through Mar. 21, 1992 TACO HUT "Where good friends get together" 2809 Claffin 539-2091

An Evening of Comedy

Chris Speyer

CAMPUS CANCER SUPPORT GROUP

A support group for individuals affected by cancer will meet

THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1992 7 p.m.

Room 1- Lafene Health Center

For more information contact Health Education & Promotion Lafene Health Center

Delicious "TCBY"

Offer good at:

722 N. Manhattan Ave. ph: 537-5111

Attention, Women of K-State

Interested in Modeling?

Neo Enterprises and Nathan Ham Photography will be at Rusty's LAST CHANCE to interview models for a local arts calendar. Models will be selected from the interview only. Please bring photo or snapshot.

Paid modeling positions.

Wednesday, March 18 4-7 p.m. at Rusty's Last Chance

Additional sponsors: Brothers, Travelers Express, Lowman's Men's Store, Blue Moon Waterbed, and Futon.

Rainy day reader

Hoa Nguyen, freshman in electrical engineering, reads a book on the steps of West Stadium Tuesday afternoon between cloudbursts.

Mall

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

David Dolgen, president of Forest City Southwest and representative of the JCP Realty and Forest City development partnership, was urgent in his plea for the fee waiver. He continuously insisted the commission render an immediate decision.

The city, apparently in favor of Forest City Southwest's proposal, discussed the proposal in full, and the commission said it would not be rushed to make a decision and needs more time to consider the public's point of view.

Dolgen, although vague in the re-quirements made by his lender, said his group had been given a deadline, and in the event of this proposal falling through, a crisis situation could Dolgen offered the commission a list of options to help alleviate the outstanding debt his company has acquired.

One option Dolgen suggested is for Chase Manhattan Bank to give a favorable interest rate, with which Chase would lose an estimated $1,000,009.

Another option involves the abatement of rent. In this case, Manhattan would pay the rent, and the developer would be released from the payments.

The city, in turn, would be obligated for the first year's rent. Then, Manhattan would immediately have two additional years of rent placed in escrow for the chance that the developer could not pay.

Manhattan would be legally obligated for the next three years, the amount of time in which a new city commission will be elected.

Another option Dolgen proposed is the recruiting of new and crucial tenants to the mall, which would increase the contingent interest of cash flow from 15 percent to 18 percent.

A Manhattan businessman expressed a concern for the lack of cash flow available now, and others expressed similar concerns.

"I think there are things the city commission isn't addressing," said Bob Buel, real estate investor and developer. "We're not helping the city by putting tenants in the mall."

The commission decided to postpone any hasty decisions concerning the fee waiver. It was decided to draw paperwork to show that lender progress is being made in the deal.

Whether or not this document will be for the public had not been decided at press time. The document will be further discussed in a meeting March 31, and the zoning ordinance for the safety of beer gardens will be post-

Festival celebrates India's traditions, culture, history

NIRANJAN RAO

The India Students Association is organizing India Fest '92 at the Manhattan Middle School Saturday.

The annual event will begin at 5:30 p.m. and feature an evening of Indian cultural festivity.

Exhibits and artifacts on display will include costumes, decorative bedspreads and cushion covers, musical instruments, brassware, and traditional toys and utensils.

An authentic Indian dinner with more than 15 menu items will follow.

"The evening festivities culminate and conclude with the presentation in the school auditorium of an entertainment program of select songs and dances from India," said Sunil Babbar, ISA adviser.

While India '91 attracted more than 700 people, attendance at India Fest '92 is expected to be about 550.

"Last year, we sold the tickets well in advance," said Elangannan Arunan, post-doctoral student in chemistry and ISA member.

"Hundreds of interested people could not be accommodated. For months after the functions, people were talking about it."

While an international function offers an opportunity for cultural exchange within any community, Babbar said, it also serves as a vehicle for Indians to take pride in their cultural

"It brings back warm and cher-and tradition," said Gopal Subramanian, post-doctoral fellow in biology and ISA cultural adviser. "India is too diverse to be represented in 18 languages, and a multitude of other languages are spoken in India's 25 people of the other states.

'The evening's program is meant that is relaxing and fun," Subramanian said. "If, in the meantime, the program provides a window into Indian cultural life, so much better."

Two of the popular dances to be assistant professor of management and ished memories of family, customs from the state of Gujarat performed as a form of worship to the Goddess Amba, and Bhangda, a dance that celebrates the onset of harvest season in the state of Punjab.

Other items in the program are The Indian constitution recognizes dances from different regions of India, instrumental music and songs.

Leena Chakrabarti, graduate stustates. Each state has its own culture dent in English, said what is porand tradition that is not well-known to trayed may give a wrong impression,

"We have our children dancing to to provide people with entertainment film music," she said. "And I do not want to remember India as being just film culture.

"Also, we have had programs that portray the corruption in our country. There is corruption in India, but is it presented are Garbha, a folk dance that aspect of our culture that we want to propagate? I do not find any enter- dent, said ICC encourages various tainment in it."

Shrinath Kotdawala, graduate student in civil engineering, said the best part is that all the cultural programs are performed by the members of the India Students Association, even though they are not professionals.

Pradnya Potnis, graduate student in foods and nutrition and ISA public relations officer, said the cost is about $1,100 for the auditorium and about $1,500 for the dinner, which will be covered by funding from the K-State International Coordinating Council and sale of tickets.

ISA is one of the 19 international organizations supported by the ICC.

Kuppasamy Ravindran, graduate student in mathematics and ICC presigroups to display their national cul-

"We support the groups financially and otherwise to hold functions such as the India Fest '92. We feel that it is an educational opportunity for the campus to know about a lot of cultures" Ravindran said.

Charles Stroh, professor of art, has lived in India on and off for about two

One of the nice aspects of a festival of this sort is that a lot of different things can be brought together in the same place at the same time," Stroh said. "A person who attends this has an opportunity to see a variety of different regional dress."

Special Egg Beaters, two slices Roman

Flakes, 40% Bran Flakes

Meal toast, coffee or 2% milk, choice of juice. $1.99

Egg Beater Sandwich
Served on Roman Meal toast.

994

Cereal with 2% Milk Choice of Cheerios, Total, Kellogg's Corn

> SUBSTITUTE EGG BEATERS FOR ANY EGGS ON THE MENU.

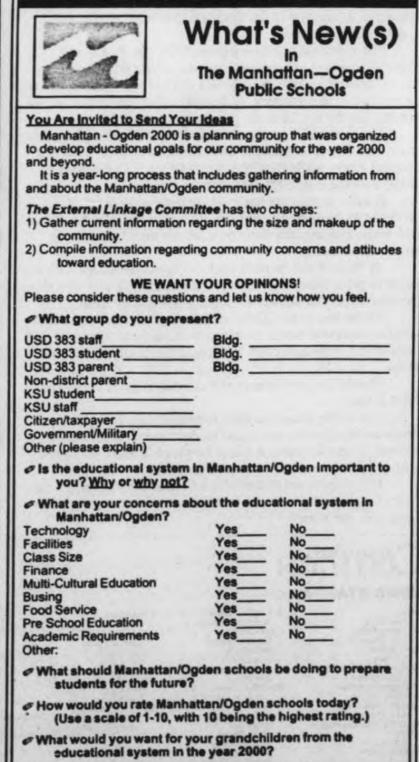

- Learn the quickest & easiest ways you can win both scholarships and financial aid awards.
- · Learn how to improve your chances for a Pell
- · Learn how much money you are eligible to receive so you can choose the schools that best suit your true financial need.

For more information and a FREE copy of 10 Ways To Stretch Your Scholarship Chances!

fill out and mail the attached coupon TODAY!

	Sena for	TREE.	Information
100000	-
		State	Zip
	e () Coupon To: C	OLLEGE F	INANCIAL SERVICES
MFC	1001		P.O. Box 40 Center, Ks. 66783

YOUR RESPONSES WILL BE USED TO DEVELOP THE

w You can call in your response to the office at:

Eugene Field Elementary School

OR mail your response to:

Thanksi

Woodrow Wilson Elementary School

Eugene Field School 1700 Leavenworth Woodrow Wilson School 312. N. Juliette

EDUCATIONAL GOALS FOR MANHATTAN - OGDEN 2000

537-2170

Advertisement

CARLA JONES

SMOKING BY THE NUMBERS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1992

EDITORIALS FBI should treat citizens as they treat its agents

An agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was killed in Kansas City last week.

Barely hours after Special Agent Stanley Ronquest Jr.'s body was found, the FBI announced all agents investigating any crimes except those "pending" were pulled off their cases and assigned to investigate the agent's slaying.

Officially, the FBI is saying the murder occurred during a "run-of-the-mill" robbery. Officially, the FBI has assigned a total of 127 agents to this one case.

It's possible the agent's murder had something to do with his investigation into connections between the Teamsters and organized crime, but, for the record, the FBI is saying it didn't. The assailants did not take Ronquest's wallet or badge from his pocket, though his gun was missing, so it's possible the assailants had no idea he was an FBI agent.

It is important that the law take into account those murders of law enforcement officers when the murderers know the people they have killed are law enforcement officers.

In Ronquest's case, an eyewitness said the incident appeared to her to be a robbery, and Ronquest never identified himself as an agent of the FBI.

It's possible that Ronquest's murder was related to what he was investigating. But if the FBI truly believes it was a "regular" robbery, then one has to ask why 127 agents were pulled seemingly out of nowhere to investigate this incident.

Not to take away from the tragedy of Ronquest's murder — it is a horrible thing his friends and family will have to deal with for years to come — it is, however, a tragedy that this sort of attention is not focused upon every murder or homicide that occurs within our great nation. People are killed every day, and the incidents are reported to police officers who sometimes treat them like stolen bicycles.

We hope Ronquest's murderers are found, but we wish every murder would be investigated with the same urgency.

Anti-smoking bills will need help to win battle

As a general rule, taxes are a pretty bad deal, and government-imposed regulations aren't so hot either. However, a proposal in the Statehouse that both taxes and regulates is a great idea.

The proposal is actually three bills. The first would prohibit smoking in hospitals, another would do the same in the Statehouse and the third would impose a 10-cent excise tax on each pack of cigarettes. Although supporters of the bill are bracing for the big fight, they remain optimistic.

The first bill is pretty unbelievable in the first place. It's more than ironic that people can smoke away their lives in a hospital lobby while they're waiting to see if Uncle Billy is going to-make it through lung-cancer surgery.

Kansas legislators have also maintained a level of privilege by mandating public buildings in the state be smokefree while making sure their own offices aren't part of the enforcement zone.

A 10-cent tax on each pack of cigarettes would not only begin to price cancer sticks out of the market, it will also show the state is getting serious on cutting health-care costs.

According to the Associated Press, Secretary of Health and Environment Azzie Young said smoking accounts for $65 million in health-care costs and lost productivity in Kansas

Should the government tell us what is good for us and what is bad?

Yes, if the threat has fatal consequences. It regulates drugs and medicines that could be detrimental if misused or abused. It should exercise the same precautionary measures with cigarettes and other tobacco products.

The proponents of the bills will need a lot of energy to face off against the tobacco lobbies and much more support from you, the voter.

Paying the Price for Education knows what I am talking about.

I was enrolled in Art History I last semester and had heard you only needed to attend class four times during the semester: the first day of class to find out where to buy the syllabus and when the tests would be, and on the three days of the tests.

Apparently, I was not the only person to have heard that rumor. I went to class faithfully for the first two or three months. Attendance was really low. When the first test rolled around, all umpteen-hundred people enrolled in the class filed into Umberger 105 and filled the hall to

Where were all these people during the lectures? Why were they walking out before the slide portion of the test was over? Were they fed up with the test and just walking out, or were they already done? pparently, they were done. And some of them scored higher on the test than I did without even studying class notes or buying the book. Their secret — they memorized old tests found in the The professor informed us at the beginning of the semester we could pick up copies of the old tests in the library. There would also be a slide review on the fifth floor of the library set up a few days before the test for our viewing pleasure.

I talked to some of these people who came to class only four times during the semester. They received better grades than me, much better grades

But I'm all for whatever works to pass these general classes required for most majors at this University. As long as the passing techniques don't fall under the heading of "cheating" in the KSU catalog.

The test was handed out to us, one version for everyone, and we were told to keep our eyes on our own papers. Three or four proctors wandered around the room to make sure we were not cheating.

Yah, right. Like that's going to stop all 500 people from cheating. At the end of the test, the guy sitting next to me told me he owed me a beer the next time he saw me in Last Chance for all the answers he copied off my test. Too bad I don't drink.

I'm paying for an education I'am not getting.

When I do attend Art History II this semester, I really appreciate the Anyone who took the Art History II test a couple of weeks ago

When I do attend Art History II this semester, I really appreciate the 50 minutes of free time. I write letters, sleep, try to do the crossword puzzle in the Collegian, and make grocery or "to do" lists.

called the professor yesterday to get her view of this situation. She said she thought the class had been out of control for years. She also said she had gone to the administration and asked that the size of the classes be cut down so more could be done with the course material.

She asked me why I hadn't spoken with her in person about my concerns about the classes. I thought a column in a newspaper with a circulation of 14,000 might move more people to try to improve this situation rather than just speaking with one professor. She kept stressing on the phone there were issues and elements of this situation I was not aware of and would not be able to understand.

She also said limited funding restricted the amount of help she has with the class. She currently has one helper who runs the slide projectors.

ut with tuition increases almost every year, I have to wonder where the extra money is going. I am paying more for fewer choices in class options.

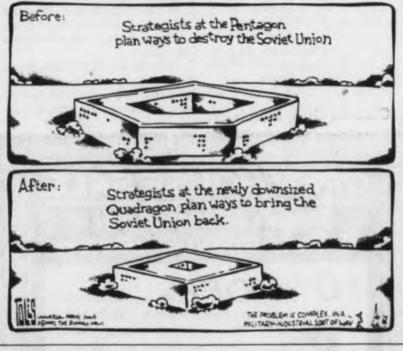

I must admit, though, I do like some of the finer qualities of Art History and other classes like this one.

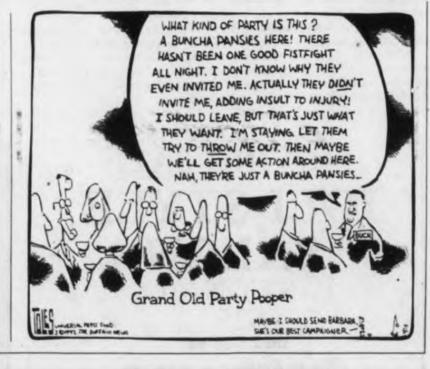

I work full time and carry a full load of classes. Art History frees up my day for more pressing matters such as sleep, meals and time to do homework. I can work on other subjects and still pass this class.

When I started typing this column, I felt I was kind of disgusted about this class. I think I've changed my mind. Why should I knock something that makes my hectic life easier?

There can't be that much wrong with classes like these. The University is full of them.

EDITORIAL CARTOONS

LETTER

COLLEGIAN USE OF FOUL LANGUAGE INAPPROPRIATE

Editor,

This letter concerns your absolute, total inability to use words in the English language that are not offensive. In using those four-letter words, the so-called "journalists" show that they command a rather limited vocabulary.

Don't get me wrong, this does not apply to everyone. There have been many interesting and thoughtmotivating articles such as the ones discussing the issues of abortion and TV viewing. However, the absolute lack of literary talent displayed in other articles such as the ones on pick-up lines and facial hair show me that those writers need to go back to grade school and learn basic English.

I make my choices every day concerning what language I read or listen to. I choose not to put pornography and other "so-called" literary works that I do not want in my home. My wife and I only watch "adult" programs long after our child goes to bed. But when my choice is made for me by the Collegian, it is both inappropriate and uncalled for. What I do not appreciate is when take a copy of the Collegian home for my wife to read and my secondgrader picks it up without my looking and asks me "Daddy, what does f*$% mean?" I didn't know that the Collegian is supposed to be a paper that has to be censored for young readers!

I am all for free speech, the tenets in our Constitution and the fact that the Kansas Legislature is considering (has passed) legislation that school papers should not be censored due to controversial articles. However, the legislators are making an explicit point that obscenity can still be censored. You all forgot about this part when you printed that particular article.

If the purpose of the Collegian is to be a newspaper, then the journalists need to develop 'professional" ethics. Without any sense of professionalism in their work, the journalists are doing a disservice to both themselves and their readers. The basic question is whether or not the use of offensive language enhances the article or does it just make the author look uneducated and stupid? In my opinion, it just makes them look

There are many other thoughtprovoking articles that can be written that are of vital concern to those who read the Collegian. I challenge you to write those articles in a professional manner that you would be proud of. But, I'm sorry to say that I don't think you are up for the challenge.

Doug Litavec Graduate student in Industrial Engineering

OLLEGIAN

NEWS STAFF (532-6556)

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is ublished by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Haff 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is ublished weekdays during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postagaid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

POSTMASTER'S NOTICE

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom.

Tell Me l've Been Dreamin

Maybe I'm just a dreamer. As a child, I maintained an elaborate network of alter egos in my mind. There were superheroes and villains, spies and counterspies, lovers, revolutionaries and gods at my disposal.

I was a dedicated case officer for this, my own modern mythology. Its characters were like family to me. I loved them. Some I internalized. I carried aspects of some into the adulthood I now possess.

But most of them vanished with my youth. Some disappeared without a trace. More often, though, I retired them with some formal (if imagined) action.

I never killed them off in the fictitious battles and intrigues at which I employed them; death was too permanent, and I don't suppose I could fathom letting go of them forever. Maybe I thought they would come back. Maybe they do, in my sleeping dreams.

I didn't kill them, but I retired them, nevertheless. One slipped back in time, put out of reach by a temporal anomaly. Another went over a cliff in daring circumstances, his body of course never found.

I suppose I must have had a sense of the limited and irreplaceable fuel that youth supplies these kinds of dreams. Only in comic books and movies can such characters live on indefinitely. The resources of adulthood and reality are taken up with other matters.

Finally, even the few characters I had invested with the seemingly cosmic importances of adulthood began to fade. Where did they go? Sometimes I wasn't sure. Sometimes I forget they've gone altogether. But I fear that even the aspects of my mythology that I've internalized are ultimately doomed. There is no room in this world for the utopia my invisible life represented for me.

Maybe we're all just dreamers.

Who basn't had an imaginary friend? Who hasn't dreamed of a lover as yet unfound? And who can't dream of, and believe in, a better world?

I can still see it in the eyes of children: the capacity for impossibility, the innocence, the fuel that used to run the dreams I've outgrown. It is the children, I sometimes think, who should run the world.

It is the adults, however, who do.

And obviously must. The death of innocence, when it comes, is almost instantaneous. The funeral is short and forgettable. Did it ever exist at

I lament the loss of innocence. I lament the loss of the dreams I held (and the loss of the dreams all hold) in innocence. It may sound childish to some, but there are moments when only our fantasies keep us alive. This I believe. This I know.

Where would we be without our dreams? What purpose do they serve? For me, dreams are a part of my sanity. They are a part of what keeps me together. In a world without spiritual or moral center, only my dreams keep me from being consumed by the cruel pragmatism that is reality.

Maybe I'm just a dreamer. Maybe we all are. But where would we be without our dreamers? Where would we be without our dreamers' dreams?

Secession topic of multi-county forum

Angry Kansans consider feasibility of 51st state

ASSOCIATED PRESS

GARDEN CITY — Southwest Kansas leaders, angered by what they say is unequal taxation, huddled to talk secession Tues-

Born of resentment over a school financing plan that proposes a statewide-property-tax levy, the movement has recruited city, county and school-district officials from 24 Kansas counties. They say rural Kansas has been supporting urban Kansas too long.

'Secession is the reaction of the governed to a government that is unresponsive," said Chris Concannon, a lawyer from Hugoton whose father, also a lawyer, first suggested secession several weeks ago.

'We don't have enough votes in this area to force anyone's hand," Concannon told a meeting of about 140 officials from southwest Kansas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and eastern Colorado.

"Perhaps we do have enough tax base to force somebody's hand."

Kansas Attorney General Bob Stephan, noting there is no procedure for secession in the Kansas Constitution, has called such talk an exercise in futility.

But Concannon rejected suggestions the secession talk was only a protest.

"I think secession is a very real possibility," he said. "It is going to be as real as the lack of responsiveness in the Legislature is.'

Commissioners in Morton County, in the state's southwestem corner, called Tuesday's meeting. They said they wanted other counties to appoint representatives to a secession coalition to meet April 17.

Three Oklahoma panhandle counties and one in eastern Colorado also sent representatives to

The Oklahomans said they were just there to observe.

Harvey Hale, a commissioner of Texas County, Okla., said Oklahoma's westernmost counties sometimes feel isolated from the rest of their state.

A Texas legislator led an unsuccessful 26-county Panhandle secession effort in his state last

Concannon said oil and natural gas rich in southwest Kansas have been sending far more money to the state capital than state government has been returning to support the local schools and units of government

"We cannot afford, as a geographic area, to allow this erosion to continue to take place," he said. Concannon and Morton County Attorney Eric Witcher helped prepare information packets showing southwest Kansas' ranking in perstudent spending for public

The charts, graphs and lists also showed the percentage of the money collected from the counties in severance, sales and income taxes that is returned to them by

In Stevens County, for example, the information showed about $16 million a year in severance taxes being collected and about $1 million being returned to the county.

"This alone spurred on feelings of secession. That much money could run a state," Witcher said.

"Morton County has looked at its budget each year and what it would take to run the county. We send far more than that to Topeka every year."

The attorneys hit hard on the disparity between per-capita tax burdens in urban counties and those in southwest Kansas.

Infection causes student's death

Brax's immune system weakened by medication for Wegener's disease

STEPHANIE FUQUA

Jeff Brax, a K-State freshman last fall, died March 13 from complications caused by treatment for Wegener's granulomatosis, a rare autoimmune disease

Brax left K-State during the fall semester after contracting the disease and went home to McPherson. He fought the disease for months, trying experimental drugs and spending most of the time in intensive care.

After months of hospitalization, he died at St. Francis Regional Medical Center in Wichita. He was 18.

Ironically, the Wegener's diease was not the cause of Brax's death. He entered the hospital Feb. 3 after contracting a fungus infection in his lungs. and died from the infection.

"The medication for the Wegener's reduced his immune system," said Jill Brax, Jeff's mother.

"He developed what was one of the worst kinds of fungus infections in his lungs. Only one kind of antibiotic works for that kind of infection. and in some people it doesn't work at all. Jeff just wore out."

Brax's family and close friends said his death wasn't a great shock.

"Ithink Jeff knew," said Bob Brax, Jeff's father. "They kept trying different medicines, but we were told that the fungus was really hard to cure."

Mike Berger, Brax's roommate at K-State and friend for six years, said he agreed.

They made funeral arrangements ahead of time. He had gone into a medically induced coma and was sleeping pretty much 24 hours a day, so it wasn't a really big surprise."

For those at McPherson High School, however, Brax's death came

"He was diagnosed as having the disease around Halloween, and so it did seem kind of sudden," said Mike Henson, McPherson High School basketball coach. "He spent all but about 20 days in intensive care."

Brax was a basketball team manager his junior and senior years in high school.

Doctors say they still don't know how Brax contracted the disease, which infected his lungs, sinuses and small intestines, causing bleeding. Throughout his hospital stays, Brax had to have repeated blood transfu-

Brax's mother said she hopes Jeff's case will help doctors understand the disease better.

"They don't know much about it. It affects people at random," Jill Brax said. "I hope that through Jeff they will learn a little more about it and be able to help other people."

PHILANTHROPY

Rotary airlift benefits Chernobyl victims

Free Demonstration: Friday, March 20

6:00-7:30 p.m. — KSU Natatorium

Become acquainted with the skills and techniques

Class meetings, Saturdays, March 21-April 25,

Kansans are pulling together to send medical aid to needy people in the Commonwealth of Independent

Heart to Heart Airlift is a plan to send 100 tons of medicine, medical supplies and infant food to the Commonwealth.

The airlift was the idea of four members of the Olathe Rotary Club. While on a trip to the Soviet Union to check the medical conditions following the nuclear meltdown at Chemobyl in April 1986, the members found unbearable conditions.

Classes Start March 21

Dive Manual

9 a.m. - 1 p.m.

of safe underwater diving Preparation for certification

James Kerr, an Olathe pharmacist. was one of the four Rotarians to visit the Soviet Union.

Kerr said the conditions around Chernobyl were so bad people were afraid to grow food for fear of soil contamination being transferred to the

He said about 70 percent of the prescriptions written by doctors in the area are not filled due to lack of sup-

Kerr said one man told him he spent three weeks in an airport waiting for supplies to come in, hoping there would be some aspirin or Tylenol

Scuba

To register call: 539-8763 or stop by

UFM, 1221 Thurston

See HEART Page 8

In a Hurry For Lunch?

Come in and have our luncheon buffet, it includes soup, salad bar and Hot foods for only $4.95 Monday thru Friday.

* Holiday Inn

530 Richards Dr.

11 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

539-5311

Order Your Personalized Graduation Announcements Today!

"We Give You Our Best" JOSTENS

1992 Fite Nite Miss Knockout Contes Wednesday March 18th, 9 p.m.

Alpha Chi Omega Marlo Vaughan Alpha Delta Pi Jeannie Calvert Alpha Xi Delta Laurie Conyac Chi Omega Theresa Gustin Delta Delta Alissa Hopewell Gamma Phi Beta Malia Mense Kappa Alpha Theta Heather Lee Kappa Delta Michelle Rogers Kappa Kappa Gamma Kelli Cook Pi Beta Phi Melissa Berkley Sigma Sigma Susan Huddleston

- * Question/Answer Session
- * Sorority Sign In

OR YOUR GOOD HEALTH

* Sorority Chant Contest

1122 Moro Private Club Memberships Available 18 to Enter 21 to Drink 776-7726

Sig-Ep Fite Nite April 2-5 at Ahearn Field House For Tickets Call 539-2387

All Proceeds Benefit the American Heart Association

What services are available at Lafene?

*Outpatient Medical Clinic

*Laboratory Services

*Pharmacy Services

*Radiology Services *Sports Medicine Clinic

*Allergy/Immunization Clinic

*Nutritional/Dietary Services

*Physical Therapy Services

*Urgent Care After Hours

*University Counseling Service

*Health Education and Promotion

It can't do laundry or find you a date, but it can help you find more time for both. The new Apple* Macintosh* Classic* II computer makes it easier for you to juggle classes, activities, projects, and term papersand still find time for what makes college life real life. It's a complete and affordable Macintosh Classic system that's ready to help you get your work finished fast. It's a snap to set up and use. It has a powerful 68030 microprocessor, which means you can run even the most sophisticated applications with ease. And its internal Apple SuperDrive" disk drive reads from and writes to Macintosh and MS-DOS formatted disks-allowing you to exchange information easily with almost any other kind of computer.

In addition to its built-in capabilities, the Macintosh Classic II can be equipped with up to 10 megabytes of RAM, so you'll be able to run several applications at once and work with large amounts of data.

If you already own a Macintosh Classic, and want the speed and flexibility of a Macintosh Classic II, ask us about an upgrade-it can be installed in just minutes and it's affordable.

To put more time on your side, consider putting a Macintosh Classic II on your desk. See us for a demonstration today, and while you're in, be sure to ask us for details about the Apple Computer Loan.

It'll be time well spent.

introducing the Macintosh Classic II

MACSOURCE

The Best Support for the Apple® Macintosh.® Anywhere. 11th & Moro Manhattan

We appreciate your support. Your dollars continue to help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

Now at Lower Prices than Ever Before!

*Women's Clinic *Evaluation and Referral For Appointment Call 532-6544 Lafene Health Center Kansas State University

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18, 1992

CATS BASKETBALL

Cats begin quest for NIT crown tonight against WKU isn't the NCAA, but it isn't the CCA, either. For the second time in the school's history, K-State will appear in the National Invitational Tournament. For the second time in the school's history, the Cats will play a Kentucky team in

When the Cats play Western Kentucky at 7 tonight, it will be the team's first appearance in the tourney since an 81-78 first-round loss to Kentucky in 1976.

The Cats have participated in 22 post-season tournaments prior to this year's NIT involvement. Twenty of those appearances were in the NCAA. Besides the other NIT appearance, the Cats participated in the little-known, ill-fated 1974 CCA Tournament, losing to Bradley 68-64.

K-State head coach Dana Altman said while a new season is beginning with the first-round contest against the 21-10 Hilltoppers, the priorities will be a little different from the regular season.

"It all starts (tonight)," Altman said. "We've just got to keep playing basketball as long as we can and hope that it can last a couple of weeks.'

The teams do have one opponent in common Lamar. The Cats, who were without senior point guard Marcus Zeigler, suffered a 116-75 beating at Lamar, while the Hilltoppers 103-88 at home. Western Kentucky. making its 11th appearance at the NIT, is led dropped Lamar

Marcus Zeigler, 5-11 by senior forward Jack Jennings, who is averaging more than 18 points and six rebounds a game. Four Hilltopper starters have double-figure scoring averages. Altman said K-State will play primarily a man defense against the Hilltoppers, who hit 200 3-pointers

RECORDS

K-State

K-State 15-13

Ski Jones, 6-5

Western Kentucky 21-10

Vincent Jackson, 6-4

Gaylon Nickerson, 6-3

Wylie Howard, 6-8

K-State vs.

Western Kentucky

game. Though the team can benefit with a showing in York, and average

80.1 points per

Altman said playing in the

NIT is an opportunity to underclassmen postseason playing

"We have experience.

WHEN Bramlage Coliseum 7 p.m. tonight

G

PROBABLE LINEUPS

Western Kentucky Jack Jennings, 6-5 Harold Thompkins, 6-5 Bryan Brown, 6-7 Darnell Mee, 6-3 Mark Bell, 5-8 younger guys who need playing time - Brian (Henson), Vincent (Jackson), Gaylon Nickerson - all our sophomores and juniors can benefit from playing in this tournament," Altman said. "The seniors want to do their best finish as well as they can, too."

Being the lone representative of the Big Eight conference at the NIT will be important to the team as well, Altman said.

"We're not at the NCAA (tournament), but (the NIT) is a postseason tournament," Altman said. "There are very good basketball teams, very good basketball programs, participating in this tournament.

"Sure, when representing the conference, you hope to do well," Altman said. "I'm sure it is important to the conference how well we do."

NOTES - Only 3,700 tickets have been sold to tonight's game. Tickets will still be available up until game time. Student seats are $5, while all others are $12. ... K-State hasn't played any of the other 31 teams in the NIT field this season, but has played 17 teams in the draw at least once in the school's history. The Cats are 1-0 against Western Kentucky. ... K-State played 15 of its 28 games this season against teams in the 64-team NCAA tourney field, posting a 3-12 mark. ... The Cats are 27-26 in its previous 22 post-season tournaments, including a 15-7 mark in first round games. ... Fourteen of K-State's 28 games this season were against teams that are or have been ranked in the top 25 at some point

Linksters fare well over break

ERIC BROWN

The women's golf team opened its version of March Madness as it played two tournaments in Florida over Spring Break. The team placed sixth in an 18-team field at the 17th-annual Spalding Peggy Kirkbell Invitational in Orlando March 10 and ended the trip with a fifth-place showing and a victory over Nebraska at the 14-team Northern Illinois Snowbird Tournament in Tampa on March

At the Kirkbell tourney, the Lady Linksters set a new school record for a round with a team stroke total of 315. The women were in fourth place heading into the final round, but shot their highest score of the trip Tuesday, a 349, to fall into sixth place with a stroke total of 989. In Tampa, the Wildcat women shot scores of 327 and 326 for a total of 653 to tie Penn State for fifth place, eight strokes behind Illinois.

"The scores show that we're a deeper team and we're a lot more solid," K-State coach Mark Elliott said. "They now expect more and compete every time out.'

The team compiled a head-tohead record of 21 wins, eight losses and one tie on the trip. They were lead by senior Adena Hagedorn at both sites. She placed in a tie for 16th and a tie for ninth at the tourneys. Junior Valerie Hahn placed 26th and 21st, and senior Theresa Coyle finished 22nd and 44th. Freshmen Robin Lewis, who placed 23rd and 31st, and Jacque Wright, placing 75th and 41st, gave the team quality scores out of the fourth and fifth slots at the two meets.

"When our top three don't play well, we aren't hurt as badly as we would have been in the past," Elliott said.

Marcus Zeigler watches the last minutes of the Cats' loss at the Big Eight Tournament. K-State is getting a second chance, playing in the NIT.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Some good teams always forgotten

ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. - At 23-7, Tennessee-Chattanooga has the best record of any major college basketball team not invited to a postseason tournament.

It's not a distinction coach Mack McCarthy relishes.

"We're disappointed, and I really don't understand it at all," McCarthy said Monday after his Moccasins found themselves all suited up with no place to play.

Despite posting their best record in seven years, the Mocs were not in the 64-team NCAA tournament field announced Sunday night nor among the 32 teams chosen for the National Invitation Tournament

"Obviously, I'm prejudiced, but I think we can beat a lot of people in both those fields," McCarthy said. "And consistently, not just on a given night. I mean, I think we are of teams that are still playing."

UTC went 12-2 in the Southern Conference to share the regularseason title with East Tennessee

State, then won two more games in the league tournament before losing 74-62 to ETSU in the finale.

The Southern Conference has never placed two teams in the NCAA tournament, so McCarthy was not surprised that ETSU, with an automatic berth, was the league's sole representative again this year.

But only four teams in this year's NIT field won as many games as the Mocs, who played in four straight NITs from 1984 to

"I thought we had a pretty good relationship with them," said McCarthy. "It looks like they went fairly well straight down the computer rankings.

NIT Executive Director Jack Powers confirmed Monday that the NIT looked hard at the Ratings Percentage Index, a computer a better basketball team than a lot system also used to help select and seed NCAA tournament teams.

> In both that system and Jeff Sagarin's college basketball rating index in USA Today, UTC was ranked 117th. Powers said the Southern Conference's ranking as the 26th-best league also hurt the

"They were up on the board all night. It was just something at the end. They just didn't make it," said Powers, noting that UTC also beat just one team selected for the NCAA or the NIT. McCarthy called the computer systems flawed by arbitrary starting points that include past season records but omit such factors as recruiting. They also give unfair weight to late-season games, he said. "If they're (NIT) putting that much stock in those computer rankings, then we need to do something about that," said

The selection system, he said, places too much pressure on schools from smaller, less prestigious conferences to win their league tournament and the automatic NCAA berth.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

1992 NIT field boasts big names

Even with a 20-9 record, Rhode Island guard Carlos Cofield didn't think the Rams would get a bid to the NCAA tournament. So he wasn't upset with a first-round NIT game against Vanderbilt.

"I'm a little more realistic than most of the guys so I didn't think we had a great shot to get in," Cofield said. "I feel bad for the seniors, but really I'm just happy with the season we had. A bid would've just been a great extra."

Rhode Island, which hasn't played in the NIT since a 107-92 loss to Florida State in 1987, was 18-4, then lost five of its last seven games.

"If this were October 15 and someone told me I'd be going to the NIT I'd take that," Rhode Island coach Al Skinner said.

Vanderbilt (15-14) will be one of matchups. first-round Wednesday's schedule has Alabama-Birmingham (20-8) at Tennessee (18-14), Western Michigan (21-8) at Notre Dame (14-14), Virginia (15-13) at Villanova (14-14), Western Kentucky (21-10) at Kansas State, Pittsburgh (17-15) at Penn State (21-7), and Minnesota (16-15) at

Washington State (21-10). The rest of Thursday's schedule has Wisconsin-Green Bay at Manhattan (23-8), Butler (21-9) at Purdue (16-14), Richmond (22-7) at Florida (16-12), Rhode Island (20-9) at Vanderbilt (15-14), Southern Illinois (22-7) at Boston College (16-13), Long Beach State (18-11) at Texas Christian (22-10), Louisiana Tech (23-7) at New Mexico (18-12), Ball State (24-8) at

Thursday's game against Utah (20-10) and Arizona State (18-13) at UC Santa Barbara (20-8). James Madison (21-10) is at Rutgers (15-14) on Friday night. Long Beach State will be playing in the NIT for the third time in five years.

"I thought 18 wins would be enough to get us in," Long Beach State coach Seth Greenberg said Sunday, a day after 49ers lost to New Mexico State 80-72 in the Big West conference tournament semifinals. "It's a step toward where we want to go," Greenberg said. "I'm really excited. We're going to Texas, baby. I think post-season is a good reward for the kind of season we've had. Going to the NIT will bring some stability to the program. You could see marked improvement this year."

If I was in an adventuresome mood

and had a few more dollars, I could choose multiple wagers like the quinela box,

quinela key, trifecta

box or superfecta key.

win, place or show bets. All you have to do is be lucky on one dog to get first to win,

place with a second finish or make a show

I opted for the

SPORTS DIGEST

BASEBALL: Mets' Saberhagen beats Royals

HAINES CITY, Fla. (AP) - These new New York

teammates of Bret Saberhagen are pretty nice guys.

Just to make sure Saberhagen was not a loser in his first appearance against his former Kansas City team, the Mets wiped out Saberhagen's three-run deficit with a 14-run sixth inning and went on to beat the Royals 21-7 Tuesday.

The circumstances were odd, too. Saberhagen was pitching on his regular fifth day, but Royals manager Hal McRae had decided well in advance to give most of his regulars the day off.

So when Saberhagen threw a low outside fastball for his first pitch, it was to a guy named Kevin Kofloski wearing No.

The rest of the lineup included such non-roster players as Curtis Wilkerson, Luis Medina and Rico Rossy. "When I heard nobody was playing, I was upset about it," Saberhagen said. "I was hoping to face George (Brett). George took me under his wing when I first came up. Whatever I wanted, he lent to me - money, his Bronco. I talked with George and I went over to the clubhouse before the game and talked with all the guys I played with."

COLUMN

The gambling, the money, the fun, the dogs (want one?)

But the options didn't stop there.

trifecta, superfecta and twin-tri.

My money went to the dogs.

Seriously, I could become hooked on dog racing - not a compulsive gambling habit, but as a form of entertainment.

It had been some time since I last found myself near the track and tried my luck at predicting the fastest dogs. It took awhile to become acclimated to the atmosphere

The relatively new Wichita Greyhound Park is one of 60 American greyhound tracks.

We took the escalator past the sports bar. up to the clubhouse level where we had a favorable vantage point.

The Clubhouse wasn't as smoky as the lower level. The lower level had big monitors on poles near the counters where the mutual clerk stood ready to take bets. At the Clubhouse, patrons ordered food and drinks at their tables and watched the races from individual television monitors positioned on ledges in front of the tables. It was easier to watch the screen than strain my neck to see the starting gates to to have a good view of the finish line from

Our location didn't help my luck any.

My cousin, decked out in his cowboy hat, epitomized the Southern gambler. The family is addicted to greyhound racing. His son is raising greyhounds to race.

My sister and I have high hopes that when, and if, we make money at the track, we can invest in our cousins' dog operation. Come rain or shine every day, except Monday, the dogs create the odds, and the wins and losses. I scanned the official program, only a $1 initial investment, to ascertain the names and abundance of statistics on every dog running one of the 13 races. The wagering tips section of the program the left of the building. We were fortunate jogged my memory on how to bet the fancy with third.

Besides, it's easier to place a $2 place wager on one dog than try to choose three, within sequence or boxing the "winner" in a trickier trifecta or trifecta box.

The trifecta has its advantages. Simply, could easily be possible with more challenging bets.

I would scurry up to the counter and try to place my bet nonchalantly. The cashiers, all business, wished me luck.

The bell signaling the beginning of the race sounded. We waited for the announcer to say "Heeeeeeeeeeeere's Ozzie," that flying faux rabbit.

While we waited for Ozzie to whizz by, the owners had another weight consideration.

Based on the racing rules, all greyhounds had to stay within less than one and one-half pounds of their established weights to qualify to race. Greyhounds could even be scratched if there was a twopound discrepancy between the time of the dog's weigh-in and right before they left the holding area.

I usually didn't look at the actual weights when considering which dog to gamble on. I liked to bet on the dogs with the zany names that implied speed and top terms like quinela (pronounced kwin-ell-a), the payoffs are higher. More doggie dough breeding. Clever names like "Flashing Guns," "Quick Warrior," "Flying Ruler," and "Thunder Prince."

I couldn't cash my intuition into monetary awards, but it was fun anyway.

Those who didn't win on the track could still take an investment home. Near the entrance was the greyhound adoption center. You could be guaranteed a retired racing greyhound - free of charge, no wagering involved, just plenty of paperwork.

I guess it is reassuring to know that even if you lose all your money on the dogs you can still bring home a dog! Betting seems to be pure luck. Dogs are hard to bribe and cannot engage in point shaving or other riggings.

Betting on the racers, if not producing excitement with a small knot in your stomach, can produce some money. There's also a retired greyhound for the taking you just have to win a few races to buy the dog food.

if you happen to get the right race results,

Interns see Legislature from inside

K-State representation growing; program offers 3 hours of credit

STEPHANIE LOEPPKE

Senators in Topeka are seeing purple this semester.

Approximately 26 K-State students are walking the grounds of the Statehouse as spring semester interns for the Kansas Legislature.

"It's good experience to be involved with state government and to be educated in their interest areas," said Jackie McClaskey, student body president. "It's important for everyone to understand governmental is-

Only recently have the numbers increased. In the 1991 spring semester, the University of Kansas overshadowed K-State representatives by 73 students.

"It was really discouraging," said Tricia Thornton, student senator for the College of Arts and Sciences and senior in political science and psychology.

Thornton interned last fall for Bud

Burke, Kansas Senate president.

She said she brought the concern back to the University that more K-State students needed to be interns. This led the committee to inform students that they had the option of working in Topeka.

'It makes K-State that much more visible. I was K-State, because that's all they'd see," Thornton said.

Students are there to be interns, not to lobby, she said.

She said students are able to request a senator they would like to work with. Currently, Thornton interns for Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhatphilosophy and lobby team leader for McClaskey, said he has gained experience in the true legislative process.

One of his internship responsibilities is responding to incoming letters directed to Democratic Rep. Rick Bowden, education committee chair-

Oswalt said he gets the whole deal in one. He said what he observes while working ties in with K-State in One aspect of interning SGA wants to untangle is earning graded credit. Presently, the student receives three hours credit/no credit. But there are other options for the student to receive a graded credit, such as researching a paper.

In addition, KU interns meet for a lecture class during the week while a professor from their institute discusses current issues in their particular field. Interns receive a six-hour graded Thornton said K-State could possibly offer the same type of situation by organizing a seminar on campus.

"K-State should at least get threehours graded credit if KU gets six," Thornton said.

FORT RILEY Soldier dies during training

CHRISTINE VENDEL

A Fort Riley soldier died Tuesday while participating in a training exercise designed to prepare units for the National Training Center.

The soldier, a member of the 1st Brigade, suffered a heart attack at noon while changing the track on an M1A1 tank. The service member was taken to the Irwin Army Community Hospital where he died at 12:59 p.m.

The name of the soldier has not been released pending notification of next of kin.

LAFENE HEALTH CENTER

Fee increase not expected until '97

Lafene Health Center will not be looking for a fee increase for several years to come.

Lafene spends $3 million a year, with $2.8 million of that coming directly from student fees.

Four years ago, a student task force proposed a student fee increase to help Lafene establish a reserve fund.

Since 1990, the portion of student fees allocated to Lafene increased from $65 to $80 in 1992, said Lannie Zweimiller, Lafene director.

"We do not anticipate an increase. I do not see us going to the students for funding through fiscal year 1997," Zweimiller said.

Mike Lynch, assistant vice president for personal development, said Lafene runs enrollment numbers and enrollment patterns each year, and without any unforeseen circumstances, student funding will not have to be increased for the next five years.

"We're on good footing. An increase for the students is not in the cards," Lynch said.

The task force recommended 26 percent of last year's operating budget to be in reserve. To date, Lafene has $1.6 million in reserve, which is 52.3 percent of the budget, Zweimiller

"The percentage of reserve will decrease, because the expenditures for Lafene are increasing," he said.
"The gap between the expenditures and the revenue is coming together. That is why we are looking for ways to keep the cost down."

Lynch said the reserve also helps keep Lafene through the summer months, a time when there is no revenue coming in. He said there are two and a half months between the fiscal year and when the money comes in. Lafene still has operational costs, however, and must pay salaries. "The idea for the 26-percent reserve is that we should end every year with that much," Lynch said. "It helps the health center through those months when there is no revenue coming in.' Lafene earns $980,000 from their services sold to departments on campus. For example, Lafene does physical examinations, works with veterinary medicine and sells first aid kits to departments. "We know in order to keep operating in the black we're going to have to increase revenues without going to the students. The only way we have to do that is to sell services to the departments," Zweimiller said.

Explosion destroys embassy, damages buildings blocks away

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina -One moment, people were having coffee at sidewalk cafes, shopping in trendy boutiques and strolling along fashionable Arroyo Street on a sunny summer afternoon.

The next, an explosion demolished the Israeli Embassy, severely damaging buildings blocks away.

"I never saw death so close," said Dr. Ricardo Rosado, who runs a medical clinic a block from the embassy on the same side of the street. He and his patients and staff were all thrown up

"I was reborn today," said Rosado. Nelly Socas, who was at a coffee shop two streets away said, "It was like an earthquake."

In an instant, entire blocks of the downtown neighborhood were littered with shards from plate-glass windows.

Pedestrians couldn't walk two steps without crunching on debris. In front of the embassy was the Concrete was strewn about in various sized chunks. The debris included tree trunks, metal pipes and window

The building alongside seemed to tilt. Two buildings across the street were so badly damaged they may have to be demolished, police said.

The street looks as if it had been shelled," Nili Chaminsky, the daughter of Israeli ambassador Yitzhak Shefi, told reporters.

As dozens of ambulances and rescue crews converged on the scene, survivors staggered dazed among the Gas, electricity and water were all cut off.

Graduates!

Order Your

CLUB SOHO

1st Annual

BIKINI CONTEST

1st prize $250 cash

2nd prize $100 cash

3rd prize $50 cash

Register Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m.

1 & 4 Bdrm 1010 Sunset Mon. & Thurs. 11-12 $215-$750 925 Denison #9 1 Bdrm Mon. 1-3 Wed. 2-4 $350-$385 1017-25 McCollum 1-2 & 4 Bdrm Mon. & Thurs. 2-2:30 $210-$775

1124 RENTED & 2 Bdrm Mon RENTED 3:30-4:30 $255-$300

731 N 6º 1 Bdrm Mon. & Thurs. 3-3:30 $305 1722 Laramie #6 1 Bdrm Mon. 3-5 Thurs. 4-6 $350-365 Mon RENTED 3drms

$210-350 1854 Claflin #8 1 Bdrm Mon. 6-8 Thurs. 2-4 $335-360 •1026 Osage #21 2 Bdrm Tues. 1:30-2:30 Fri. 4-5 $460

• 1950 Hunting #2 1 Bdrm

Tues. 3-5 Thurs. 5-7 $395-410 Look For The Model Signs-

Development

 1113 Bertrand #5 2 Bdrm Tues. & Thurs. 3:30-5:30 $550-$560 923 Vattier #5 2 Bdrm Tues. & Fri. 4-5 $400-405

• 1212 Thurston #10 2 Bdrm Tues. 4-6 Wed. 10-11:30 a.m. $400-410

• 1022 Sunset 1 Bdrm

Tues. & Wed. 4-6 $305-$365 • 1825 College Hts. #2 2 Bdrm

Tues. 6-8 Wed. 3:30-5:30 $630-730 Wed RENTED 100 30-5

• 1503 Fairchild 1 Bdrm

Wed. 2:30- 3 Thurs. 4-4:30 $285 · Royal Towers 1700 N. Manhattan 1 & 4 Bdrm Newly Remodeled Wed. & Thurs. 3-5 $395-800

• 405 N. 10th 2 Bdrm Wed. 3-3:30 Thurs. 3:30-4 $360-395 • 300 N. 11th 1 & 3 Bdrm Wed. 3:30-4 Thurs. 3-3:30 $275-485

• 1005 Bluemont #1 1-2 Bdrms Wed. & Thurs. 4-5 $365-800

924 Fremont 1 Bdrm Wed. 4-4:30 Thurs. 2:30-3 $275 800 Laramie 2 Bdrm Wed. 4:30-5 Thurs. 2-2:30 $345 411 N. 17th #1 1 Bdrm

2700 Amhersi Wed. 6-8 Thurs. 12-2 $350-365

I Ain't Yo' Uncle A New Jack Revisionist Uncle Tom's Cabin San Francisco Mime Troupe

Wednesday, March 18, 8 p.m.

There's no shortage of talk in playwright Robert Alexander's rewrite of America's most famous unread novel. Tom acquires a powerful voice and Topsy the acutely modern awareness of a rapper. Contains adult situations and language.

"A knockout! Incendiary yet judicious, ominous yet hilarious....An example of the Mime Troupe's brand of political satire at its very best." (Los Angeles Times)

Student/Child: $7.50 Senior Citizen: $13 Public/Faculty: $15

McCain Auditorium Come to the McCain box office or call 532-6428 from noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, Bramlage Coliseum, and ITR (Fort Riley).

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional funding provided by the Fine Arts fee.

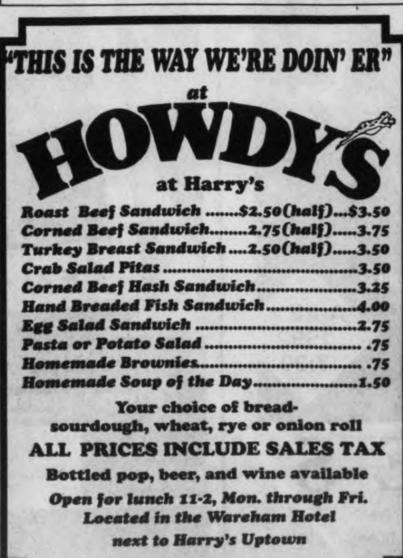

Tonight!

All Domestic Bottles

Thursday

$1.75 Pitchers

Live: The Society

418 Poyntz

Task force to study homosexuality at K-State

Questionnaire for students, staff, faculty will determine existing attitudes, experiences

MARIANN BAKER

Some K-State officials have requested the formation of a gay and lesbian task force

Robert Krause, vice president for institutional advancement, said the purpose of the task force is to study the needs of the campus climate in relation to the homosexual community.

"The goal is to take a look at the full scope of issues involved," Krause said.

Krause said the task force will create a realm of support for potential issues, rather than pick out issues as they are challenged.

Provost James Coffman said he believes the task force will be the first step in educat-

The task force will enable us to better educate the University community about issues related to this area," Coffman said. Frank Saal, head of the psychology department, and Susan Scott, associate dean of student life, were asked by Krause and Coffman to create a task force in October

Saal said the group has met weekly since that time and anticipates the completion of the study by the end of summer.

Saal said the task force focuses on the concerns of staff and faculty homosexuals as well as students.

The task force is broken down into three subcommittees - an assessment subcommittee, a support subcommittee and a policy subcommittee.

The assessment subcommittee soon will conduct two random questionnaires. One is intended for all students, staff and faculty at K-State, while the other is specifically designed for homosexuals at the University.

The questionnaire will determine what experiences and attitudes currently exist at

The support and policy subcommittees will use the information obtained in the questionnaires to further address the issues. "Until now, we've been wallowing in ignorance about how the campus feels about these issues," Saal said.

A task force goal is to determine what procedures and functions will work best concerning topics in homosexuality.

Saal said the all-campus survey will be a scientific random sample, but difficulty exists in trying to obtain a random sample among the homosexual community. "Homosexuality is not a subject that is talked about a lot, and some individuals choose not to identified," Saal said.

Saal said the questionnaires will be anonymous.

Heart

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5 or anything he could use to help break

his daughter's fever. Kerr said the group realized the need for immediate aid in the area and wanted to help.

were looking for an international project," Kerr said.

After returning to the United States, the group members made plans for a return trip to the Commonwealth with all the supplies they could acquire.

Kerr said the first thing the group did was contact Rep. Jan Meyers, R-Kan., for support and help. Meyers provided a cargo plane for the group to use for transportation at no cost.

Meyers is also the honorary chairwoman for the project. The second step was trying to find a Rotary group in the Commonwealth ing funds from Rotary International. Kerr said this was a hard step, because there are only two Rotary clubs in the Commonwealth. The Moscow Rotary Club was closto work with in order to receive match-est to the Chernobyl area, so the group said. decided to work with it.

"We needed to do our part, and we of supplies have been collected and thousands of dollars has been raised,

> He said the Shawnee Mission Medical Center and the Gerber Co. have made large donations, but he said he was unable to reveal the con> tent or magnitude of the donations. Kerr said any monetary donations are being used to purchase supplies. Kerr said many of the Rotary clubs throughout the state have contributed to the airlift. He said all the Kansas Dillons stores are drop-off places for

Harry Marsh, professor of journalism and mass communications and Manhattan Rotary Club president, said the Manhattan club has donated $250 to the airlift.

"I think they tackled a big job and are really going about it well," Marsh

Kerr said the Rotarians were ad-Since the start of the project, a lot vised not to just send the supplies, but to hand-deliver them.

Through contacts at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, the group will help with the distribution of supplies. Kerr said this will prevent the supplies from sitting on docks or going to people who aren't needy.

Often, so many of their programs are not successful because nobody does the follow-up work, Kerr said.

Kerr said he feels this is an important time for the United States to become involved, because there is a potential for so many economic benFACULTY SENATE

Coffman proposes measures to relieve enrollment problems

DENNIS O'KEEFE

Faculty Senate members reacted with concern to an initial proposal announcing adjustments to enrollment

A draft letter sent to Faculty Senate by Provost James Coffman expressed intentions to eliminate or reduce uncertainties before and after classes commence.

There were three possible measures stated that can be instituted to relieve faculty and students' enrollment problems.

The measures stipulate students will only be allowed to enroll in no more than 18 hours; first-time freshmen and transfer students will not be allowed to enroll after classes start in it. without written permission of the dean; and Pat Bosco, associate vice president of institutional advancement and dean of student life, will work to expand and intensify efforts to get all undergraduate students to pre-enroll.

Faculty Senator Doug Benson, modern languages, said only the last of the three measures really addresses the problems at hand.

"It's not the freshmen and transfer the people who are already here, the people who don't take the time to preenroll," Benson said.

Benson said it's not that the students are necessarily trying to beat the system, but they are trying to survive

"We are using the same enrollment system that worked fine two years ago, but with the decrease in funding and the increase in enrollment, the system has gotten worse," he said.

Students have been forced to overenroll in order to keep scholarships or to avoid the process of adding classes, Benson said.

"When we have 30 people lined up students mucking up our system. It's at our doors to get into a class, that takes away from our research time and time spent advising our own students," he said.

> Ken Brooks, landscape architecture, said he blamed the bureaucracy See SENATE Page 10

FOLLOW THE CATS

COLLEGIAN SPORTS

JB SOHO

The Nightelub Wednesday night is

ERNATIVE MUSIC NIGHT

The Smiths

Primal Scream

Featuring the music of Featuring PUKE WEASEL and LUMBER

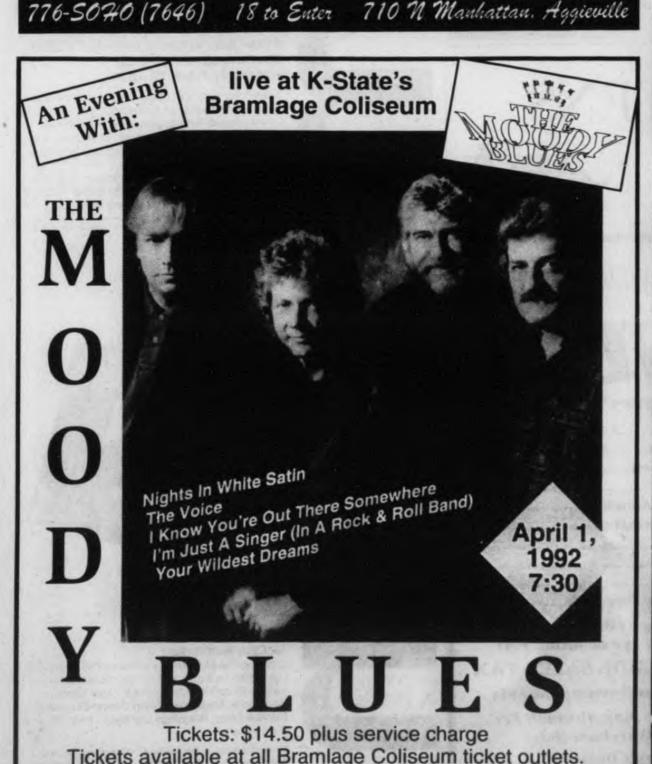

Morrissey New Order Fishbone

Red Hot Chill Peppers and Morel NO SLAM DANCING OR PIT MOSHING ALLOWED Open at 8 p.m.

Music .. THE BEST Relaxed Atmosphere

18 to Enter 710 N Manhattan. Aggieville

Cover $1.50 21 plus / $3 under 21

For more information call 913/532-7606

It Pays To Be A Hero! This coupon is worth $15.00 for new donors on your first and second donation within six days or if you have not returned within two months. For more information call the friendliest staff in town. Call 776-9177 today for more details! Manhattan Donor Center Open Mon.-Thurs. 9 a.m.-6 p.m. (Present this coupon and earn extra cash.) 1130 Garden Way Fri. 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m Sat 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Arrested Development a cultural blend of rap, hip hop, southern folk, ethnic and funk music.

ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT

Arrested Development cassette single* is available now for only 99¢. The street date for Arrested Development's debut release 3 Years 5 Months and 2 Days in the Life of... is March 24th.

A cassette single is a cassette featuring two songs. Regular price $3.49

1231 MORO • 776-7373 BE STREETSMART • SHOP STREETSIDE!

South Africans vote on future

President de Klerk promises to resign if referendum fails

ASSOCIATED PRESS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa South African whites, bitterly divided over sharing power with blacks, turned out in huge numbers Tuesday for a referendum on ending centuries of racial domination.

Most analysts forecast a victory for President F.W. de Klerk and his reforms. But exit polling was banned, and the final results are not expected until Wednesday night.

De Klerk, who has abolished major apartheid laws, needs a victory to push ahead with his last and most important reform: a new constitution that would extends full political rights to the 30-million black majority.

The president, smiling and looking confident, said he was optimistic.

"I'm full of enthusiasm," he said after voting in Pretoria. Election officials reported a surge of voters shortly before polls were due to close at 9 p.m., and voting was extended at some stations.

Several stations nearly ran out of struction worker Chris Bakker. ballots, and many reported at least 80percent turnout.

"Never in 40 years have I seen people vote like this," said Zach de Beer, leader of the Democratic Party, which supports the referendum.

If the referendum fails, de Klerk way for a whites-only general election. Pro-apartheid parties would be favored to win an election if de Klerk is defeated.

The large turnout was expected to favor de Klerk, since voter apathy in the past has been attributed mainly to liberal than Afrikaans-speaking for "yes" votes.

Analysts said many white voters were undecided and were likely to decide the outcome. Private polltakers reported many whites were refusing to say how they would vote, adding to the doubt.

Liberal whites, who have traditionally opposed the government, provided de Klerk with a key block of votes, though some were less than enthusiastic

Helen Joseph, a wheelchair-bound, 85-year-old anti-apartheid activist under virtual house arrest for years, carried a poster to her polling station that read, "I'm Voting For Negotiations - Not F.W."

Violence in black townships has surged since de Klerk called the referendum, claiming almost 300 lives in the past month.

But the townships were relatively calm Tuesday night and Wednesday, with four deaths reported.

Voting began shortly after dawn, and long lines formed at many urban polling stations.

"I voted 'Yes.' It's the only thing to do for the future of this country. My (black) workmates don't have the vote, and I must vote for them," said con-

Another voter, C.P. Katzen, said reforms should be blocked.

"We were brought up believing whites and blacks should live apart, said Katzen. "And that's probably the way we'll die."

Any attempt to reimpose aparthas promised to resign, clearing the heid would be resisted by the black majority, plunging the country into political chaos.

"Any suggestion that we should return to those days (of old-style apartheid) will be resisted with all the power at our command," African National Congress leader Nelson English-speakers who tend to be more Mandela said Monday in an appeal-

Like many black leaders, he opposed a whites-only vote but acknowledged that reforms would stop if whites failed to support de Klerk.

The government and pro-apartheid forces waged a frenzied three-week campaign for the support of the country's 3.3 million white voters. Both sides predicted civil war if they

De Klerk says the country's only hope is a negotiated deal with the black majority, which would signal the end of white domination stretching back to the arrival of Dutch settlers in the 17th century.

The pro-apartheid Conservative Party, allied with the neo-Nazi Afrikaner Resistance Movement, said de Klerk is leading the country into the kind of chaos that has wrecked black Africa.

De Klerk called the referendum after his ruling National Party was thrashed in two elections for vacant Parliamentary seats. The move was seen as an attempt to win a mandate for reform while the government retained enough white support.

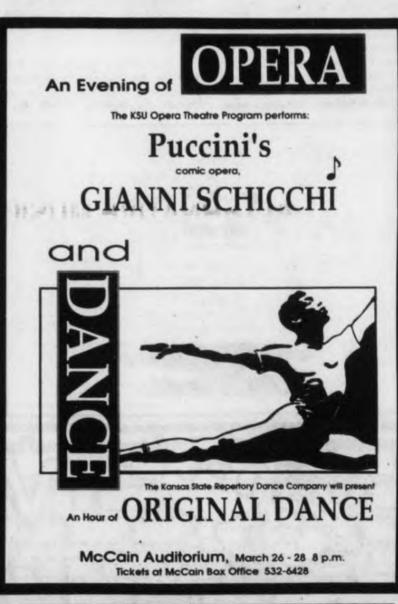

De Klerk's campaign has suffered because he does not have a specific plan to give white voters. The president's lightning reforms during the last two years left many whites stunned and fearful.

The right wing has been able to play on white fears of an unknown future exacerbated by mounting violence and a floundering economy.

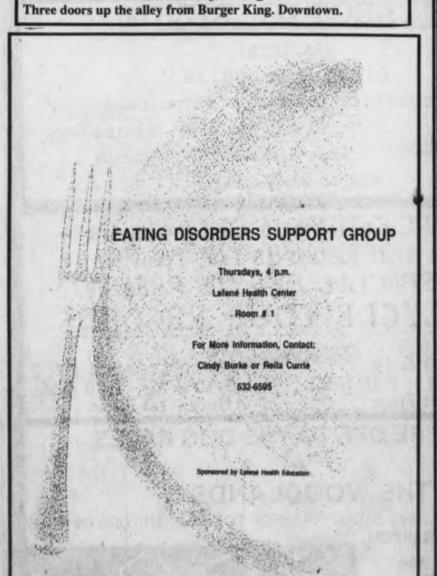

Have a Photo Tip or Story Idea? Call the Collegian day or night 532-6556

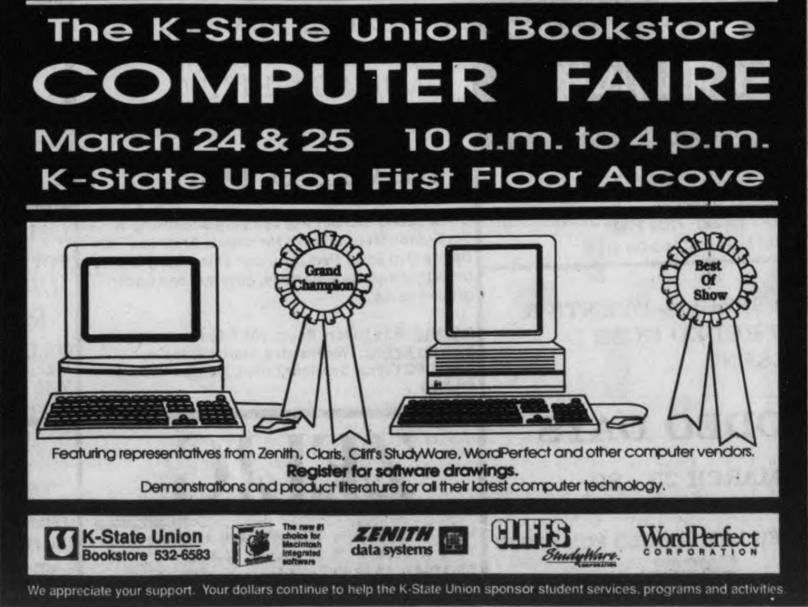

Senate

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8 of the enrollment process for all the current problems.

"The system we currently require students to use to enroll takes away from K-State's friendly atmosphere and attitude," Brooks said.

Prior to Tuesday's Faculty Senate meeting, Coffman circulated the proposal across campus to gather responses concerning the adjustments to the enrollment process.

The single most important aspect of the whole proposal is to get stu-dents to pre-enroll," Coffman said.

"When students pre-enroll, they allow instructors to start their classes in an organized way, because instructors know how many students to plan

Bosco, who will organize a campaign to promote the importance of pre-enrollment, has already begun to spread the word to students.

High-school principals and counselors have been asked to encourage their alumni at annual meetings to pre-enroll at K-State, Bosco said.

"Over the last three years, the percentage of students pre-enrolling has increased, but the lack of funding and the number of students still ignoring any of the pre-enrollment dates have kept the system from improving," he

Bosco said reducing the number of hours in which a student can enroll responds to the current problem, but does not overreact to it.

"For example, a graduating senior can receive permission to over-enroll worship in simple structures."

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

churches, and there are members who

the Methodist Church of South Africa are sister churches under the umbrella

World Methodist Council, Coggin

munications and interpretation for the Kansas East Conference of the United Methodist Church, brought Coggin to Manhattan from Topeka. Wilson went to South Africa with a missions group

Charlene Wilson, director of com-

The United Methodist Church and Africa

said.

in order to graduate," Bosco said.

"Kansas State has a long-term history of letting students over-enroll, meaning students enroll in far more hours than they plan to finish the semester with. We have bent over backwards to accommodate this process, but we can't let it happen anymore."

Bosco said he doesn't believe the process of informing the students of adjustments to the enrollment policy will be difficult.

The word is out. Students know that funding is tight and have begun to pre-enroll," Bosco said.

In other business, Faculty Senate tabled a resolution addressing the criminal theft of tests that resulted in academic dishonesty.

The resolution encourages faculty to take precautions to prevent future thefts and asks administration for additional support to combat the prob-

Jim Legg, professor of physics, made the motion to table the resolu-

"This resolution encourages everyone to do something except the students themselves," Legg said.

Benson said he believes the statement should be added to the plagiarism warning that is required on sylla-

"I was surprised at the effect the plagiarism warning had on students," Benson said. "Not a lot of students were aware that plagiarism is illegal."

The resolution was sent back to the Faculty Affairs Committee for reconsideration.

'We had the complete view of the

"We saw our mission dollars go to

Because of Tuesday's voting,

Coggin discussed the issue during her presentation, which elicited empathetic responses from the audi-

"I would love to go there one day and help," said Pan Quilice, Manhattan resident. "I feel very hurt for the country. Apartheid has many evils."

first world to the third world in 20 minutes along the interstate," Wilson said. "It was very emotional.

Sept. 11-Oct. 3, 1991.

work over there."

LASSIFIEDS

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $5.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $8.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Exact change or checks only effer 4:30 p.m. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon

FRIDAY for Monday's paper.
Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates One day: $6.00 per inch; Three consec $5.80 per inch; Five consecutive days: $5.60 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $5.40 per inch. (Deadline is 4 p.m. two days before publication.)

Announcements

COME FLY with us, K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DID YOU forget? Your 1991Royal Purple (1990-91 academic year) can still be picked up or purchased at Student Pub-lications Inc., Kedzie 103. Please bring your receipt or ID. Watch the Collegian for distribution dates of the 1992 Royal Purple (1991-92 academic year).

MODEL SCOUTS: California's most prestig-ious modelling agency seeks scouts to find the next supermodel. Great money for students who have an "eye" for beau-ty. (800) 831–9992.

FREE HAIRCUTS, PERMS, COLORS

Makeover models

wanted female and male

For Information Call

Hair Experts Design Team

776-4455

TAI CHI Classes start March 25, 8:30p.m. $40 for eight weeks. Nautilus Fitness Club, 776–1654.

WHO WILL be Miss Manhattan— K-State 1992? The 36th annual pageant is Sat-urday, March 21, 7:30p.m., MHS audi-torum. Advance tickets available in the

Automobiles for Sale

1985 CHEVROLET Celebrity four-door, air condition, excellent condition, many new components, $2,700, 537-3971.

1986 HONDA Accord LX-i. Includes radar, two extra tires and more. Call Gelmine, 532-2923.

1987 NISSAN Sentra. Auto, air, stereo, great condition $3200, 537-8990.

1988 MAZDA MX6, power steering, air con-dition, tilt, cruise, AM/FM cassette, se-curty system. Phone 539-8803 or 263-

CHEAPI FBI/ U.S. seized 1989 Mercedes $200, 1986 VW $50, 1987 Mercedes $100, 1965 Mustang $50. Choose from thousands starting $25. Free 24 hour recording reveals details (801) 379-2929 Copyright number KS13KJC

FOR SALE- 1983 Dodge Charger $1100. 539-6939 leave message.

Computers

FOR SALE: IBM PCjr. 128K, five and one-fourth floppy, color monitor, keyboard, basic manual, DOS 2.1 and other soft-ware. $175 1-456-7613.

Employment

$40,000/ YEARI Read books and TV scripts. Fill out simple "like/ don't like" form. Easyl Fun, relaxing at home, beach, va-cations. Guaranteed psycheck. Free 24 hour recording (801) 379-2925 Copyright number KS13KEB.

ADVERTISING/ JOURNALISM Internship po-sition being filled now for Fall 92/ Spring 93. This is a two-semester internship for six credit hours and a scholarship award-ed in Spring 93. Call Pam Fulmer at the International Trade Institute 532-6799 for internetion.

ATTENTION WILDCATS: The Kansas Army National Guard would like to help you! In addition to monthly drill pay, we offer the following incentive programs: $2,000 bo-nus, $6,120 G.I. Bill, and the $10,000 loan repayment program. By serving two days a month, and two weeks a year you could qualify for up to $28,000. To find out if you qualify, call 537-4106.

CAMP COUNSELORS wanted for private Michigan boys/ girls summer camps. Teach: swimming, canoeing, sailing, waterskiing, gymnastics, riflery, archery, tennis, golf, sports, computers, camping, crafts, dramatics, or riding. Also kitchen, office, maintenance. Salary $1,000 or more plus R & B. Marc Seeger, 1765 Maple, Northfield, L 60093, (708) 446–2444.

ART INTERNSHIP position being filled now for Fall 92/ Spring 93. This is a two-semester internship for six credit hours and a scholarship awarded in spring 93. Call Pam Fulmer at the International Trade Institute 532–6799 for interview.

CLERICAL STUDENT position to assist with ERICAL/ STUDENT position to assist with summer orientation program registration activities. Requires typing/ computer data entry skills, good organizational and math skills, attention to detail, familiarity with KSU, and a positive/ enthusiastic attitude. $4.25/ hour. Half time through May 15, then full-time through July 19. Apply at Continuing Education/ Conference Registration Office, Room 141 College Court Building (1615 Anderson Ave.) 532–5569. By March 31.

COMPUTER OPERATOR/ Data entry student to work evening hours (5-9 p.m.) Monday thru Friday. Prefer computer science or information system freshmen or sopho-more, but will consider other computer experienced applicants. Apply to Bar-bara Kravitcz, Continuing Education, College Court Bldg., Room 126, 532-

CRUISE LINE entry level on Board- land-side positions available, year round or summer. Call (813) 229-5478.

DATA ENTRY clerks needed beginning May 13. This is year- round KSU student hourly position. Call Pam Fulmer at the international Trade Institute 532-6799 for EARN CASHI Local businesses need students now for stuffing envelopes at home. All materials provided. Excellent earnings. Send SASE to Homemailing Program—B, P.O. Box 3182, Olathe, KS 66062. Immediate response.

FULL-TIME RESEARCH Assistant for cerea LL-TIME RESEARCH Assistant for cereal science lab. B.S. in Chemistry, Biochemistry or related field required. Apply at the American Institute of Baking. 1213 Bakers Way Manhattan, KS. EOE.

HARVEST HELP Wanted: May through October. Commerical Drivers License and good driving record required. All late model equipment. Excellent wages, High Plains Harvesting (913)386-4234.

MEDIATE OPENING for a full-time grounds keeper, experience relating to landscap-ing or lawn care required. Contact Geary Community Hospital. Attention: Cathy Witt, P.O. Box 490, Junction City, KS 66441. EOE.

LAWN CARE person wanted. Duties include general maintenance of grounds and re-creational areas. Horticultural back-ground helpful. Send resume to Colle-

LOOKING FOR friendly outgoing individuals to guide tourists on horseback rides through national forest land of Colorado. Reply to Sombrero Ranches, Inc. 3100 Airport Rd. Box A, Boulder, CO 80301.

LAW ENFORCEMENT Jobs. $17,542-$86,682/ year. Police, Sheriff, State Pa-trol, Correctional Officers. Call (1) 805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

ARY POPPINS wanted in Connecticut this summer to help Mom with three children. Must love active boys, adorable todders. Send letter with picture detailing experience with children and qualifications to: Patricia Hediund, 91 Dorchester Road, Darien, CT 06820. Salary $150/week plus airfare. June- August. Please respond as soon as possible if Interested.

PART-TIME POSITION: Individual to pack and ship books and publications 1-5, M-F. The person should be energetic and organized to handle the required responsibilities. Send resume to Kelly James Adams, Operations Manager, LERN, 1550 Hayes Dr, or pick-up an application at the office.

SEEKING ENERGETIC and personable in-dividuals for part-time/ full-time sales po-sitions. Interviewing March 19-20. Call for appointment 537-0510.

SPEND THE Summer in the Catskill Mountains of NY. Receive a meaningful summer experience working in a residential camp for persons with developmental disabilities. Positions are available for Counselors, Program Leaders, Cabin Leaders, and Nurses. All students are Leaders, and Nurses. All students are encouraged to apply- especially those who are majoring or considering allied health fields. Season dates; June 2 to August 21st. Good salary, room & board, and some travel allowance. Will be on campus March 20 for interviews. Sign up in the Placement Center. Call Camp Jened (914) 434-2220.

SPRING BREAK over and still no summe work? Students averaged over $400 per week last summer. Call 539-8370 for in-

STOPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed OPIII NEED Fast Cash? Studnets needed to stuff our Dieting Circulars from your Dorm/ Home! Excellent Wages—$3 per envelope! No experience required! Set own hours...Full or part-time! Mailers needed immediately! To start send a long S.A.S.Envelope: Galaxee Distributors P.O. Box 1157 Forked River, NJ

STUDENT ASSISTANT— For editorial work to write, edit and format computer user guides, fill software orders and do other communications tasks with Macintosh and DOS computers. Want responsible person, preferably with related work experience, available immediately to work the rest of this semester, summer 1992, fall 1992 semester and possibly after. Apply at 211 Umberger Hall.

STUDENTS TO mow yard for apartment houses. Now and throughout summer. Send name, address and experience to Collegian Box one. Prefer student with own lawn equipment and transportation.

A SPRING SPECIAL

10% OFF

WEDDING INVITATIONS OR ANNOUNCEMENTS ORDERED BY A 1992 REGISTERED BRIDE Offer expires 4/15/92

We can help you choose wedding invitations, china, crystal, flatware, and gifts for your wedding party.

> 5th & Poyntz Downtown 776-9067

KSU Bakery Science Club Bake Sale Today!!! 3 to 5 p.m. Shellenberger 105

WILD ABOUT WALKING

Manhattan*Junction City* Ft. Riley

Quaker Oats Kansas Farm Bureau Steel & Pipe Supply Co., Inc. Kansas Army National Guard

WalkAmerica

Walk starts at Manhattan City Park 9 a.m., Saturday, March 28 Information Call 587-5167 or 776-4061 adv. paid for by private contributions

FRIDAY & SATURDAY (3/20 - 3/21) 7:00 P.M. & 9:30 P.M. SUNDAY (3/22) 7:00 P.M. WK-State Union UPC Feature Films FORUM HALL ADMISION $1.75

UPC SPECIAL EVENTS & KSU RODEO CLUB PRESENT....

RODEO DAYS

MARCH 23 - 29

A WEEK LONG RODEO FUN FEST!! K-State Union

SHARE THE ADVENTURE. JOIN ORC FOR CAMPING & HIKING

DEVIL'S DEN

$28.00

Come spend two days of camping and hiking in the Boston Mountains of Northwest Arkansas. At Devil's Den State Park, you can enjoy many scenic trails that include waterfalls, caverns, and underground caves.

Info Mtg: 3/19 Union, Room 209 7:00 P.m. Sign Up Begins: Wednesday, March 20 (8a.m. - 4 p.m., UPC Office, 3rd floor Union, Monday through Friday.)

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY (3/18 - 3/19) 7:00 & 9:30 P.M. FORUM HALL FR1DAY (3/20) Admission $1.75 2:00 P.M. LITTLE THEATRE

PRESENTS:

Billy McLaughlin (acoustic guitar & vocalist)

K-State Union

and Mark Mathies Thursday March 19

(singer/songwriter)

7:00 P.M.

Let UPC Sell Your Old Cd's, Cassettes and Records for You!!!!! UPC SPECIAL EVENTS PRESENTS. RECYCLE YOUR RECORDS

COLLECTION March 18 & 19 9:30 A.M. - 1:30 P.M. Union 1st Floor

March 31, April 1 & 2 9:30 A.M. - 1:30 P.M. Union 1st Floor

WE'RE OFF TO THE DOG RACES AT

THE WOODLANDS MARCH 28, 1992 $10.00 SIGN-UP TODAY IN THE UPC OFFICE, 3RD FLOOR UNION

K-State Union

Pregnancy

Testing Center

539-3338

Totally confidential service

ocated across from campus in

Anderson Village

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Chiropractic Family

Health Center

·Free pregnancy testing

·Same day results

•Call for appointment

(continued from page 10)

SUMMER EMPLOYMENT opportunities in beautiful Estes Park, Colorado. Best Western Lake Estes Resort has several housekeeping positions available for the summer season. Call (303) 586–3386 for application or information, or write to: P.O. Box 1466, Estes Park, CO 80517

ALASKA SUMMER EMPLOYMENT-Fisheries. Eam $5,000+/month. Free transportation! Room & Board! Over 8,000 openings. No experience necessary. Male or male. For employment program call Student Employment Services at 1-206-545-4155 ext. 1634

GUARANTEED ALASKA JOBS ex. $1000+/wk, room, board & airfare. New, 92: 80 pg. guide reveals most current prospe in: Fishing, Oil, Alaska Teacher Placement, in: Fishing, Oil, Alaska Teacher Flacement, Degreed jobs, Construction, & much more. Weekly info available. State liscensed agency. Alaskemp Guarantee: Secure Alaska job, or 100% refund. Send $9.95 + $3 S&H to: Alaskemp, Box 1236 - T, Corvallis, OR 97339

CRUISE JOBS

Cruise Lines Now Hiring. Earn $2,000+ per month working on cruise ships. World travel! Holiday, summer and fulltime employment available. For Enployment Program call 1-206-545-4155 ext. C214.

SUMMER WORK Available at KSU Vegetable Research Farm. DeSoto (Kansas City area). $4.50/ hour. Must have own transportation. Contact Dr. Charles Marr. Horticulture (532-6170) or Mrs. Elder (same) for application and more infor-

Double Barreled

STUPE

Off the Mark

GOING TO CRACK DOWN THIS SEMESTER. ALL AS TO

SUMMER JOBSII Camp Birchwood, a Minnesota camp for girls, seeks college students to work as instructors in aquatics, canoeing, tennis, archery, riflery, English and Western riding and dance. Employment June 8 to August 13. For an application and interview call (800) 451–5270.

TELEMARKETER WANTED. Must be KSU student. Begins this summer and con-tinues through spring 93 semester. Call Pam Fulmer at the International Trade In-stitute 532-6799 for interview.

TELEPHONE INTERVIEWERS, 100 open-ings, no experience, no selling. Apply 9a.m. to noon. R.L. Polk 3003 Anderson Ave. Suite 913 (Village Plaza) EOE/ M/F.

TOPEKA WOOD Valley Pool and you in 1992. Hiring guards, swim instructors and guards/ instructors. Good pay call Steve Carlson @537-1903.

TRAVEL FROM Texas to Montana on a wheat harvesting crew. Monthly wages, bonus and room and board. Call (913) 567-4649.

VISTA DRIVE-IN is now taking applications for full and part-time help. Apply in per-

WANTED: HARVEST help starting May with possible employment through November. Non-smoking truck and combine operators. Family operation with two combines. Call 468–3678 after 8p.m.

For Rent-Apts. Furnished

Our first song was sucky.

Our second song was crap.

The third was pathetic.

All our fans are saps.

We like the way they waste their dough.

RULE!

A NEW KIDS' REMAKE

I'LL START BY GETTING AHEAD IN MY CLASSES.

We've got the lame stuff , baby .

In which was

CLOSE TO campus, very nice two, three, and four-bedroom apartments, complexes and houses. Available for sum mer and fall with good prices. 537-2919,

By Daryl Blasi

A

LIP SYNC

Ew)

BOY

LARGE THREE or four-bedroom apartment two bath, duplex. Walk to campus. Cen-tral air condition, washer and dryer, low FOR MAY and August, next to KSU, deluxe two-bedroom for three students, $155 each, 539-2482 after 4p.m. utilities. Available August 1. Call MOORE APARTMENTS. Summer and fall leases— two-bedroom 1010 Thurston $480, two-bedroom 1215 Bertrand $480, two-bedroom 923 Fremont $390, two-bedroom 928 N. Sixth $375, one-bedroom 526 N. 14th $315. Nice furnished apartments, water and trash paid, no pets. Also have summer subleases. For information call 776-4558, 776-1111 after 8p.m. call 537-4567.

NICE, CLEAN one-bedroom with balcony, one block from Aggieville and campus. June/ July sublease or start one year lease in June. Sandi 537-8680 leave

ONE-BEDROOM TWO blocks from campus. Available June and August. 776-7814 or 539-3803.

AVAILABLE JUNE, three-bedroom 2043 College View $570. Two-bedroom 1030 Thurston $360. Lease and deposit. 539–3672.

FOUR-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half baths, two and one-half blocks from campus, off street parking, gas heat and water. Call 537-0831.

#29 Colonial Gardens 14x60 super buy was $6,500, now $5,900, $149.50 payments, sharp home. 16 home selection Coun-

1986 14X70, two-bedroom large kitchen, fin place, 539–3083 Colonial Gardens #309.

Only found ads can be placed free of

1991 16X80 Schult, three-bedroom, two

FOUND: GLASSES, round, wire rim, turned in to 134 Webber Hall, stop by to claim.

OST, BLACK Lab mix puppy red and white collars last seen, KSU campus, phone 537-5092.

MISS MANHATTAN- K-State Scholarship

TJ'S RENT- A- Spa, 762-6942. We bring the Spa to you. Daily rates iclude set up

COMING

ATTRACTIONS

MALE STRIPPERS

Thursday, March 19

Reservations Appreciated

FEMALE STRIPPERS

Wed. 7-10 p.m.

Fri. & Sat.

6:30-9:30 p.m.

BLUE RIVER PUB

North on Tuttle Creek Blvd.

537-9877

MATH LESSON

FOR THE DAY:

($1.25 pitchers)

DOWN

1 London

district

2 God of

lave

3 Long-staple cotton pillars

4 Stone

5 Past

6 Malay

gibbon 7 Irritates

8 Twenty years 9 Native country

11 Seaport

16 Married

Austen

20 Jane

10 Store sign

Lebanon

Only at

CHANGER

First Bank Center 776-1515

units pride

46 Chess

and center government

54 The dill

55 Numero

56 Charles

Lamb

parties

58 Anagram

Down

59 Examine thoroughly of 16

57 Quilting

51 Self-secure

hopscotch

43 Most

Crossword

1 Weakens 41 Tailor's

ACROSS

gradually 5 "The

8 "A - in Greatest"

the Dark'

(movie)

13 Pikelike

fish

14 Imitate

15 Student's

17 Anagram

18 Papal veil

19 Unruffled

treat?

Ferrer

from fans

25 Cheers

21 Dutch

24 Actor

nemesis

for Rome

12 Leave out 50 The

·LUNAR TUNES

Saturday Night

Pageant- Saturday, March 21, 7:30p.m., MHS auditorum, 2100 Poyntz. Advance tickets available in the Union.

bath, air condition, washer/ dryer, deck lot 434 Colonial Gardens, call Carol col-lect (913) 845-3427

13 For Sale Mobile Homes

tryside Brokerage 539-2325.

16 Lost and Found

17 Meetings\Events

20 Parties-n-More

8 -10 p.m.

10 For Rent—Houses

JUNE AND August. Nice one-bedroom apart-ment. Water, trash, gas two-third paid, laundromat. Nice for couple, $285. 539-

NICE TWO and three-bedrooms. Duplex, gas, air. Available June 537-7334. ONE-BEDROOM LARGE apartment, good for two, 1017 Laramie, $380 for appoint-ment call 537-0428.

school year in Northpark Apartments at 1200 Fremont. Central air, dishwasher, garbage disposal and laundry, good for two or three, $475, for appointment call 537–0428. TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT for next

For Rent-Apts. Unfurnished

CLOSE TO campus, very nice two, three, and four-bedroom apartments, complex-es and houses. Available for summer and fall with good prices. 537-2919, 537-

GARDEN VIEW one-bedroom apartment available. March 1 and April 1. Profes-sional or graduate student preferred. Call 785-2777. Please leave a message.

NEXT TO campus two, three, four, five and six-bedrooms showing evenings March 16, 17, 18, 19, 6p.m. – 9p.m., 1806 Platt.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available June, 314 N. 11th, close to Aggieville. Heat, water, trash paid $300 plus $300 deposit 539-7553.

THREE-BEDROOM HOUSE, two blocks from campus available May 1. Call 776–3249

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus, central air, one and one-half baths, laundry nice lo-cation, available June or August 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE bath. Two and one-half blocks from campus, off street park-ing, gas, heat and water. Call 537–6831.

UNFURNISHED ONE- two- three- four-bed-room apartment. Call 539-1975, leave

For Rent-Apts. Furn. or Unfurn.

AUGUST LEASE - next to campus apart-ment complex near Haymaker. Leave message or call after 5:30p.m. 539-2702.

Leasing Now through August

* Fremont Apts. * Sandstone Apts * College Heights Large 2 Bedroom Units 537-9064 Weekdays 9-4:30 pm

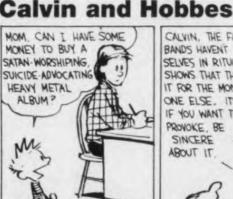

SPACIOUS APARTMENTS 3 blocks east of campus. Two bedrooms, furnished, ample parking. Quiet conditions. Reasonable rates. 776-3624.

By David Swearingen

By Bill Watterson

CHILDHOOD IS SO

CALVIN, THE FACT THAT THESE BANDS HAVEN'T KILLED THEM SELVES IN RITUAL SELF-SACRIFICE SHOWS THAT THEY'RE JUST IN IT FOR THE MONEY LIKE EVERY-ONE ELSE. IT'S ALL POR EFFECT IF YOU WANT TO SHOCK AND PROVOKE, BE SINCERE AROUT IT

DISILLUSIONING.

By Jeff MacNelly

By Jim Dikkers

Geech

WHAT'S GOING ON ...?

Jim's Journal

out a wall and

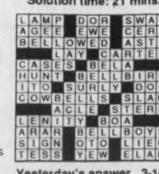

By Jerry Bittle

28 Book or hook follower

21 Personals

ALICE, FORGET bowling! I found indoor ten-nis courts! Meet me at Cottonwood to-

LAMDA CHI Regulators: New day, New Be-ginnings! Spring Break '92 Padre Style was "Just Crazy!" It's so hard to say goodbye to yesterday. You guys are "Quality." What the hell, ho, ho. We love you, terrible, terrible! Forever grateful, Your "Brown Eyed Girls"

PHI Road Hummer's. Jeanie was in misery because someone didn't call. misery because someone didn't call. Renee was in bed with who we don't know. Kellie counldn't lift her arm cause the rock on her finger! Missy, Missy, Missy, Lisa wore out her welcome! Chrissy/ Pat uh, uh, uh, keepin' up with Ed. Stacey— you talk too much. Karen the ultimate Pi Phi— not. Caleman to sexy underwear and breaking our door! Denise, I couldn't do without much longer! Lamda Chi Alpha Fiji's—The Pro Skiers.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

HORSES BOARDING room for six horses $30 a month per horse. Contact Jeff at 539-1606 after 4p.m.

SAMOYED PUPS: one male, one female, AKC Registered. All shots, 12 weeks old. $50, leave messgae for Bo at 539-7340.

23 Resume\Typing Service

A KEYSTROKE away- Free editing, $1.25 double, data, resumes, papers. Papers computer analyzed. Same day. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL THINGS typed. Papers, letters, resumes. $1.25 per double-spaced. Free editing. Style and grammar checking available. Same day. Call Janelle

DATA SHEETS to dissertations and every-thing between. Laser printing. 12 years experience, Mrs. Burden, 539–1204.

EVERYTHING TYPED- theses, resumes, papers. Laser printer, scalable fonts. Specialties: medical terminology, foreign language. $1.25 double. Joyce, 537-7027 after 5.

FREE EDITING, $1.25 double, letter quality Resumes, papers, graphics and equa-tions my speciality. Please call Sandy at 539-3229, 8a.m.-8p.m.

UTILIZE MY BS in English/ Speech for papers and editing; my ten years personnel management for resumes. Business, medical, education, military terminology. $1.25 double; letter-quality. Call Janice 537-2203

24 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom unit one and one-half baths, fully equipped kitchen, in a brick complex, share one-third utilities and food, $185. 776-9259 or 537-7087.

FREE MARCH rent to first female to move into nice two-bedroom, 539-5366 or 726-3425.

MALE NEEDED, walk to KSU, furnished, pri-wate bedroom, share the rest. 539-1554.

MALE ROOMMATE. Three-bedroom house, one block from campus, washer/ dryer, $250/ month. All bills paid. 539-1638. NON-SMOKING MALE roommate. Furnished two-bedroom, close to campus. $163/ month plus one-third utilities. Darren or Greg 537-8729. ROOMMATE WANTED for farmhouse six miles from town on blacktop road. Place for horse. $120/ month plus utilities

TWO NON-SMOKING females needed to share furnished townhouse, one block from campus, $135/ month plus one-fourth utilities, June 1, 537-2186, leave message. WANTED: FEMALE to share two-bedroom starting in August. For more information call 778–5650.

25 Services

NISSAN- DATSUN Repair Service. 20 years experience. Auto Craft, 2612 Dipper Lane, Manhattan, Ks 537-5049. 8a.m.-5p.m. Monday through Friday.

PREGNANT? NEED HELP?

novel

23 Social

25 Stewart

vacation customs or Taylor

constellasucceed-

26 Southern

tion

29 Piece of high around

31 Mountain

32 Put to the

- media

pass

proof

38 Turkish

42 Birthday party

topic healing sound

47 Lounging

slipper

49 Install in office

job

48 Yale grads

and Only'

43 Sign of 45 Dull

inn 40 Satisfies

22 On

irthright FREE Pregnancy Tests

523 S. 17th Old Town Mall

For confidential

help call

537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE 5683

doesn't cost it pays!

Don't Suffer Call Today! 537-8305

Good Health

Dr. Mark Hatesohl 3252 Kimball Avenue

26 Stereo Equipment

ALPINE 7256 Deck $160, Kenwood KAC-8200 140 watt amp$150- Stillwater Design Kicker $175- Call Brian at 537-1280.

27 Sporting/Rec. Equipment

GUN AND Knife Show. National Guard Armory at Manhattan Airport. Sat., Mar. 21, 9-5p.m., Sun., Mar. 22, 9-4p.m. Buy-Sell-Trade. Information (913) 922-6979.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE JUNE- August. One-bedroom, for one or two people. Close to ca Call or leave message at 776-0741.

END OF May- July 31 x-tra large one-bed-room furnished, air condition, one-half block from KSU, good for one or two peo-ple. Call 776-0572.

FURNISHED APARTMENT available for sub-lease mid May- Aug. Two- three people. Two blocks from campus. Rent $562 or best offer. Call 537-1498. MALE TO sublease. Immediately. $175/ month plus one-third utilities. Call Eric at 537-9060. SUMMER SUBLEASE and available for fall, nice one-bedroom apartment, close to campus, laundry facilities, off street parking, $280. Kern. 776-2003.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, for female June 1-July 31, furnished two-bedroom apartment, one and one-half blocks from campus. $126 plus utilities. Call 776-2076.

SUMMER SUBLEASE, June 1- July 31, twobedroom apartment close to campus and downtown, cheap rent, air condition, par-tially furnished, quiet. Great for summer school. Call 776–9862, Kristi or Karla or

SUMMER SUBLEASE. Furnished, for two or three people, washer/ dryer. Close to campus. 776-9664.

SUMMER SUBLEASE. Mid-May- July 31 Nice two-bedroom apartment, close to campus, low rentl Call 537-8729, Travis or leave message.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT in excellent location between campus and Aggieville. Available mid-May to July 3, very nice, 776-1847.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

ICE-T WITH Body Count tickets for sale. La-wrence. Literty Hall. April 15, 532-4856. 409 Marlatt Hall, Nathan. They won't last.

30 Travel/Car Pool

HEADING TO Europe this summer? Jet there anytime for $169 from the East Coast, $229 from the Midwest (when available) (Reported in Let's Gol and NY Times.) Airhitch & (212) 864-2000.

STUDY ABROAD in Australia. Information on semester, year, graduate, summer and internship programs in Perth, townsville, Sydney and Melbourne. Programs start at $3520. Call 1-800-878-3696.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

BROWN SEAT covers for VW Squareback. Best offer, 539-4915, 5:30- 10p.m.

FOR SALE: Man's Western Flyer three-speed red bike. Best offer. 539-4915, 5:30-10p.m.

By Eugene Sheffer

CRYPTOQUIP 3-18

ZJMRV YPOCQIZ ZBWOQW

YPDY UYQ YJD Yesterday's Cryptoquip: PEEPING TOM KEPT HIS

27 Assured of FPD

J S Q W C F Q R V P R D 44 First-rate

> IPSPRD UJJ

GLASSES CLEAN SO HE'D REMAIN IN PEEK CONDI-53 Do a lawn

Today's Cryptoquip clue: Y equals H

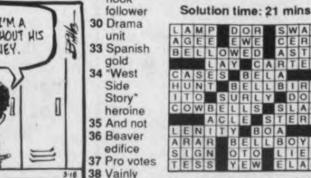

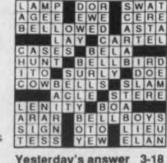

AND WAKE UP A KID!

Yesterday's answer 3-18

Make the ce

Ultraviolet rays harm eyes, cause skin cancer

Sunblock use, quality glasses help prevent damage

DEREK THOMAN

As Earth's protective ozone layer becomes thinner, the danger to humans from ultraviolet radiation exposure increases.

The depletion of the ozone layer is directly responsible for a higher risk of skin cancer and eye cataracts, said Ruben Piacentini, a professor of physics at the University of Rosario in Argentina who is visiting K-State.

This effect is most likely to occur in early spring and the summer months when the sun is closest to the Northern Hemisphere, he said.

According to a 1988 report by Bausch and Lomb Inc., infrared rays contribute to eye discomfort when long period of time.

Eyes are constantly exposed to UV rays, not just in the summer, the report said.

"The infrared rays are what makes aperson blink," local optometrist Paul Bullock said.

Bullock said the problem of cataracts is many times worse today than in the past. Sunglasses can reduce or even prevent UV-ray damage to the eyes. The most protective sunglasses have gray, green or brown lenses, the Bausch and Lomb report said. "The lenses that come from a doctor's office are better than the ones bought at a store," Bullock said.

He said store-bought lenses are most often a fashion accessory and provide little protection from glare and harmful rays.

UV rays may be more intense in the winter and warrant the need for year-round eye protection. In some instances, the glare reflected from port found this tumor to be the most snow may be more harmful than the summer rays, the report said.

AVOIDING

Another effect of increased UVray exposure is skin cancer.

According to a 1990 report by the American Academy of Dermatology, extreme tenderness, pain, swelling and blistering, accompanied by fever, chills, nausea and delirium can occur within 12 hours of overexposure to the sun. When exposed to the sun, some cells will be killed on contact, and others will be injured.

"The more someone is in the sun, the greater the chance of that person getting skin cancer," said Dr. Robert Cathey, a local dermatologist.

Cathey said people with bald heads are most susceptible to skin cancer. Other areas of the skin that could become cancerous are the nose, ears and the backs of hands, he said.

Brenda Noble, a licensed practical exposed to glare, especially over a nurse in Cathey's office, said a sunscreen with a sun-protection factor of 15 or greater is the best protection.

Sunscreens should be reapplied frequently when exposed to the sun for a long period of time. Those individuals with particular skin types should choose a sunscreen complementary to their skin type to prevent exposure to UV radiation.

In 1987, the AAD released a report indicating the signs of skin cancer most likely to appear on the skin: scaly red spots, changes in color, shape or size of a mole, any new skin growth, and moles that bleed.

The report said a periodic selfexamination of the skin is the best defense in detecting skin cancer.

In the report, the AAD found three main types of skin cancer: basal cell, squamous cell and melanoma. These cancer types most commonly occur in light-skinned people, the report said.

Basal cells most often appear as a small bump or nodule. The AAD recommon type of skin cancer.

Squamous cells first appear as nodules or scaly red patches that can develop into a large mass.

Melanoma is the most deadly form of skin cancer, according to the report. This tumor can spread and, if treated properly, is curable in its early stages. Melanoma can suddenly appear, or it could start in a mole or a dark spot on the skin.

Melanin is a brownish-black pigment found in the inner layers of the

The UV rays penetrate the skin's inner layer where more melanin is produced. Melanin moves toward the outer layers of the skin and gives the skin a tanned look.

The melanoma cells continue to produce melanin, which causes the tumor to spread.

Skin cancer does not appear instantly. The process may take many months or years for the cancer to develop and spread.

Because the Northern Hemisphere is closest to the sun during the summer months, the sun's rays are at their shortest and more intense, Piacentini

Thus, the sun's UV rays are strongest two hours before and two hours after the sun is at its highest point in

In the morning and evening, the rays have a longer path to travel, because the angle at which they reach Earth is lower, Piacentini said.

This means 11 a.m.-3 p.m. is the time to avoid overexposure to the sun, because the potential for a sunburn is greatest. Piacentini said he has found a way to determine the different times of day when the risk of a sunburn is greatest. He calls his theory "the shadow method." When a person is standing, the risk for burning is small or almost zero if the shadow projected is longer than the person's actual height, he said. If the person's shadow is the same length as the person's height, the risk is intermediate. But if the person's shadow is shorter than the height of the person, there is a high risk of sunburn and, consequently, a high risk of being exposed to intense UV rays, Piacentini

"If the sun is high in the sky, the risk increases significantly," Piacentini said.

"The risk for burning starts to be important when the position of the sun overhead projects a shadow with a length equal to or less than the height of the person standing. A small shadow equals a high risk," Piacentini

Piacentini said he first became concerned with the ozone depletion problem when scientists thought they discovered a hole in the ozone over Antarctica in 1987

"There really isn't a hole in the ozone over Antarctica," Piacentini said. "There is a reduction of up to 60 percent."

He said this is because a polar vortex forms over Antarctica and reacts strongly with chlorine atoms present in the upper atmosphere.

These chlorine atoms are by-products of freon gases released into the atmosphere by human activity.

WHEN ONLY THE

BEST DENTISTRY

ACCOMMODATING

Now Serving the State of Kansas

Traditional-Prudential Dental

Insurance Plan. Pre-estimates are provided, paperwork for claims prepared and filed for the patient.

Assignment of insurance payment accepted. Visa, MasterCard and Discover cards are honored.

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES P.A.

514 HUMBOLDT PLAZA

DOWNTOWN, MANHATTAN

537-9414

AFFORDABLE

ACCESSIBLE

ATTENTIVE

WILL DO...

- take those classes you missed this year because they were full
- discover some fascinating courses that are offered only in the Courses are offered at a variety of convenient times, both day and evening, in eight week, five week or short term formats. If you'll be working this summer, there are numerous class choices to fit your work schedule.

Find out how Summer Session 1992 can make the difference for you. Contact the Washburn University Admissions Office for more information.

WASHBURN UNIVERSITY 1700 College Topeka, KS 66621 (913) 231-1010

SUMMER SESSION 1992 PROVIDES YOU THE OPPORTUNITY TO:

SUMME

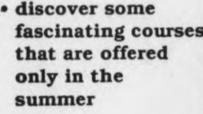

SESSION'92

WASHBURN

UNIVERSITY

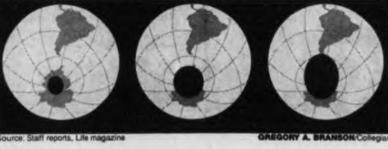

Ext. 1625

THE BURN Visiting Professor Ruben Piacentini says you can determine your exposure to dangerous ultraviolet rays. MEDIUM RISK When your shadow is about the same as your height, UV rays are intermediate. HIGH RISK LOW RISK When your shadow is The larger your shadow is, the small, you are being exposed to the lower your greatest amount of UV exposure to UV rays. OZONE HOLE steadily grown in the past 10 years. The hole is not actually a hole, but a 60-percent depletion in the layer.

The ozone hole (represented by the black ovals) over Antarctica has

Bramlage

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 home state.

Bramlage was on hand Oct. 18, 1986, to break ground for the coli-

"What we begin here today will add to the glory and reputation of KSU," Bramlage said at the ceremony. 'My hope is that this coliseum will inspire people to come together around teams in the spirit of cooperation."

Bramlage's contributions to the state were acknowledged by Kansas Republican Sen. Bob Dole Tuesday in a press release.

"It's a terrible loss for Kansas," Dole said. "No doubt about it, Fred was Mr. Manhattan. "His legacy is huge, his heart of gold irreplaceable. Whether it was education, veterans, economic opportunity or simply lending a hand to a neighbor, Fred Bramlage made a real difference for generations of Kan-

"He was one of those truly rare individuals who possessed the ability to shape the development of his community. It is our good fortune to have had the opportunity to be associated

SINGLES NEW INTRODUCTION SERVICE

Meet someone with your interests-it could last FRIENDSHIP EXCHANGE

Last rites for Mr. Bramlage will be in a funeral mass at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Xavier Catholic Church in Junction City with arrangements by the Johnson Funeral Chapel. Mr. Bramlage will be buried with full military honors.

Visitors may call at the funeral chapel beginning at 8 a.m. Wednes-

776-8058 1800 Claffin in FirstBank Center

HORIZON APARTMENTS

June and August occupancy Large 2-bedroom units

539-8401

1106 Bluemont - $480 1212 Bluemont - $500

KANSAS STATE JOLLEGIAN

THURSDAY

THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1992

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, MANHATTAN, KANSAS 66506

VOLUME 98, NUMBER 116

PHOTOS BY BRIAN KRATZER/Staff

A group of five students gathered in Goodnow 333 late Tuesday night to play a game of Grass. They played for two-and-a-half hours.

Tamara Weiss, freshman undecided, holds her share of potentially damaging cards vertically due to the design of the cards.

GRASS

Back-stabbing skills required in drug-dealing card game

BRIAN KRATZER

Collegian

Many Goodnow Hall residents have turned to late-night Grass dealing, which has created a complex world of paranoia, cheating and ly-

Trying to doublecross and bust the other residents to get oneself ahead is

"Lying, cheating and stealing are not only legal, but are encouraged," said Sean Mannell, sophomore in mechanical engineering.

Legalized Grass dealing in Goodnow has led to a large number of addicts. Addicts who like to sit around with friends and take part in a good, healthy card game. A card game called

"I bought this at Master Gamer in 1988," said Dale Withroder, junior in nuclear engineering.

"They are hard to find," Withroder

Royal Dowdy, owner of the Master Gamer in Aggieville, sold the deck to Withroder. 'He (Dowdy) said if he got enough orders, he'd try to order a case," said Ted Reed, junior in computer sci-

Withroder said he had never seen anyone with the game before.

Grass, which consists of many cards, is based on dealing drugs.

Each card is titled according to a term associated with drug dealing and drug use - doublecross, market, busted, stonehigh and euphoria, just to name a few. In addition, multiple amounts of cash cards are used.

Trying to get away with cheating in any form in order to get ahead and destroy your opponent is the object of

Once a person gets a feel for the face values and strategies, the creative cheating and difficult scoring See GRASS Page 7

Kansas Senate aborts abortion bill without discussion

KELLY KLAWONN

TOPEKA - The Kansas Senate killed a highly controversial abortion bill yesterday.

Sen. Frank Gaines, D-Augusta, motioned to strike the enabling clause. Twenty-three senators stood in favor of the motion, and the bill was killed without a debate or a vote.

"I am embarrassed for the body I represent for taking the easy way out," Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan. "We were denied the opportunity based on a procedural maneuver, and we came across as gutless."

Oleen criticized the Senate for evading the issue and not taking a

"The Senate aborted the abortion issue, and I am very sorry we didn't get the opportunity to address the issue," Oleen said.

"We have a governor who doesn't think abortion is acceptable in any case, including rape and incest, and I am sorry for her, but I still have my job to do, and I did not get that opportunity today," Oleen said.

The bill still could be resurrected if a motion were brought forward calling for a move to reconsider. The motion must be brought forward by a Senator who stood in favor of the previous motion.

pointed by the move but said they remain optimistic.

"This was a good bill for Kansas, it showed that we were willing to comrational side," Justine Crawforth, president of Voices for Choice, said.

"We need to stress that it (the bill) was a success, we passed the House and thought we would pass the Senate," Crawforth said. "We showed that we have support."

"I am embarrassed for the body I represent for taking the easy way out. We were denied the opportunity based on a procedural maneuver, and we came across as gutless."

Sen. Lana Oleen

The bill has been criticized by prolife advocates as being pro-abortion. The bill would uphold legalized abortions, as well as create stiff penalties for demonstrators of abortion facili-

"I am ecstatic that the bill was killed because it was worse than Roe v. Wade," said Matt Vajnar, a member of Students for Life. "The bill had no restrictions. It allowed abortions Pro-choice advocates were disap- on demand - a free-for-all, abortions for any reason," Vajnar said.

The move eliminated the bill from being debated and voted upon, therefore preventing senators from going promise. It showed that we are the on record either in support or against

■ See ABORTION Page 5

Private died of heart attack during training

CHRISTINE VENDEL

Fort Riley on Wednesday released the name of the Fort Riley soldier who died Tuesday while participating in a training exercise designed to prepare units for the National Training Cen-

Pvt. Daniel B. David, 19, of Bravo Company, 2nd Battalion, 34th Armor, 1st Brigade, apparently suffered a heart attack at noon Tuesday while changing the track on an M1A1 tank.

Karen Conley, Fort Riley media relations officer, said David was assisting someone else with the tank.

"When you change a track, it takes more than one person. You have to lift the track, and I think you have to

"There were a lot of people around. They knew something was wrong with Pvt. David right away."

Conley said the AirVac was on the scene within 10 minutes to take David to Irwin Army Community Hospital.

"Whenever they're doing exercises, they have a pre-set system for emergencies, so the person in distress can get to the closest hospital fast," Conley said.

Attempts to revive David through CPR were unsuccessful, and he was pronounced dead at 12:58 p.m. The hospital will perform an autopsy to determine the exact cause of death.

Whites vote to end apartheid

De Klerk wins with 67 percent in early returns

ASSOCIATED PRESS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa President F.W. de Klerk was headed for a sweeping victory Wednesday in a whites-only referendum on sharing power with blacks and ending centuries of racial domiof the 15 election districts, de Klerk was winning with 67 percent of the vote. The result included big upsets in two traditionally pro-apartheid districts that voted for de Klerk.

State-run South African Broadcasting Corp. said de Klerk appeared to have won the crucial referendum, on which he had staked his political fu-

All Johannesburg newspapers had predicted a government win, saying de Klerk had been boosted by a strong voter turnout. Business Day, the country's leading business newspaper, said it had learned pro-apartheid leaders were privately admitting defeat.

Denis Worrall, a leader of the Democratic Party, which backed de Klerk, predicted Wednesday the government would get more than 60 per-

De Klerk, who has abolished major apartheid laws, needed a victory to push ahead with his last and most important reform: a new constitution extending full political rights to the 30-million black majority. If the referendum were to fail, de Klerk promised to resign, clearing the way for a whites-only general elec-With results in from the first four tion that pro-apartheid parties would be favored to win. The president, smiling and looking confident after Tuesday's balloting, said he was optimistic and "full of enthusiasm." 'Never in 40 years have I seen people vote like this," said Zach de Beer, leader of the Democratic Party, which supports the referendum. Several stations nearly ran out of ballots, and many reported at least 80-percent turnout. The heavy turnout was expected to favor de Klerk, since voter apathy in the past has been attributed mainly to English-speakers who tend to be more liberal than Afrikaans-speaking

Liberal whites, who have traditionally opposed the government, provided de Klerk with a key block of votes, though some were less than

Helen Joseph, a wheelchair-bound, 85-year-old anti-apartheid activist under virtual house arrest for years, carried a poster to her polling station that read, "I'm Voting For Negotiations - Not F.W.

Violence in black townships has surged since de Klerk called the referendum, claiming almost 300 lives in the past month. But the townships were relatively calm Tuesday night and Wednesday, with four deaths re-

Voting began shortly after dawn, and long lines formed at many urban polling stations.

"I voted 'yes.' It's the only thing to do for the future of this country My (black) workmates don't have the vote, and I must vote for them," said construction worker Chris Bakker.

Another voter, C.P. Katzen, said reforms should be blocked.

We were brought up believing whites and blacks should live apart," she said. "And that's probably the way we'll die."

Student health insurance may undergo changes

Current coverage to be considered for renewal

KRISTIN SCHMIDT

changes in coverage next year. One of those may be a new insurance company. The insurance coverage, cur- pay 80 percent of those bills. rently provided to students by Blue Cross/Blue Shield, is in consideration for renewal. Blue Cross/Blue Shield, are inter- Schwartz said. ested in bidding for the University's man of the Student Health Advisory dent life.

posed specifications, which will be submitted for bids.

Most aspects of student coverage will not be affected by the specifications, but the group did propose some changes, Schwartz said.

The present policy says the insurance company will pay 50 per-Subscribers to K-State's student cent of student medical expenses health insurance plan may see some outside Lafene Health Center, with students paying the balance.

The proposed specifications offer bidding agencies the option to

Students would pay for the first $100 or $200 in medical expenses,* then pay only 20 percent of any Four companies, in addition to charges over the deductible,

This is the payment plan the business, said E.J. Schwartz, senior University of Kansas uses, said in biology and life science and chair- Dianne Urban, assistant dean of stu-

Another addition to the proposed Committee members met Tues- insurance plan is a $25 deductible day afternoon to accept the pro-subscribers must pay each time they do not seek treatment first at Lafene before receiving services from an outside physician.

According to the plan, exceptions, including illnesses not occurring within Lafene's operating hours and accidental injury, exist.

Bidding insurance companies will also have the option to insure individuals for up to $100,000, $250,000, $500,000 or $1 million, Urban said.

Schwartz said a lower maximum coverage would lower premiums.

He said these proposed changes might make it necessary to change the student health insurance carrier.

"Blue Cross will probably only bid us if we use the million-dollar lifetime maximum," Schwartz said. He said although there would be benefits, leaving Blue Cross/Blue Shield might cause problems for "A lot of people's parents use Blue Cross," Schwartz said.

FOLLOW UP

Scandal has not led to increased controls

CHRISTINE VENDEL

The fiasco that followed the purchasing of $23,000 worth of Student Governing Association office furniture last semester resulted in calls for tightening of procedures to ensure such circumvention could never hap-

However, no procedures have been enacted as of yet.

The furniture incident began when Todd Heitschmidt, former student body president. and SGA adviser Sally Routson ordered and accepted delivery of furniture during summer 1991 without consulting Student Senate for allocation of the $23,000 to pay for it.

Heitschmidt

Both Heitschmidt and Routson claimed they had misinterpreted the legislation regarding how money could be spent from the Holton Hall account, which was the source account of funds.

After Senate learned the proper channels to pay for the furniture had not been followed, many senators expressed outrage and asked for an investigation. The investigation, however, found no one guilty of malicious intent, and a $23,000 furniture allocation was later approved.

Some SGA members say procedural changes are not necessary now, since the Holton Hall account is now defunct and reoccurrence of improperly accessing funds is not likely.

Jim Persinger, current Student Body President Jackie McClaskey's chief of staff, said the source of funds, the Holton Hall account, was unique.

"You can't make a policy to handle money that's not there," he said.

However, Darin Batchman, Heitschmidt's chief of staff, said an account similar to the Holton Hall account could be created when the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex expansion is completed in 20

"If there is any money left over from the expansion, it would be like how the money got in the Holton Hall account, which was just left over from the refurbishing of that hall," he said.

Craig Uhrich, former finance committee chairman, said he wished the investigation last semester could have been more thorough.

"After the story appeared in the Collegian that we found Todd had not acted maliciously and the committee would look further into Sally's role, I got a call from (SGA Adviser) Bernard Franklin . He told me we did not have the authority to look into Sally's role," Uhrich said.

"Then (former Senate Operations Chairman) Derek Nelson wrote a letter saying the Senate Operations Committee was not going to do an investigation. At that point, everything just stopped."

Uhrich also said he and his committee last semester had thought about establishing a summer student government to avoid anything similar to a furniture fiasco in the future.

"The main need I see is the summer government thing," Uhrich said. "I feel part of the confusion last semester was because the only people who were around campus in the summer were Sally and Todd.

'There was no Senate to say, 'No, we don't need that much furniture.' Persinger said McClaskey's staff is looking into establishing a summer student government of some sort.

"The possibility of a summer student government is not workable yet. We're discussing it, but we have nothing on paper," he said.

"It's not very frequently though that we have to deal with something over the summer. But I can say what happened last semester was a breakdown of policy. The ordering was

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT COLLEGIAN

Restaurant

et Lounge

Restaurant

Buy One Entree and get a second of equal or less value for 1/2 Price

≟ HUNAM

POLICE REPORTS

CAMPUS POLICE

TUESDAY, MARCH 17 At 4 p.m., a non-injury, hit-and-run accident occurred in Lot B-3. The vehicle was reported struck in the right front fender.

At 7:30 p.m., a citation was issued expired Georgia license plate in Lot B-2.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18 At 1 a.m., a blue Chevrolet pickup, license plate "Rugby 2," was reported disabled until noon Wednesd av dnesday. At 8:55 a.m., a wheellock was placed on a vehicle in Lot A-28. The vehicle was a silver Honda with license plate EBP279. At 9:40 a.m., a wheellock was placed on a vehicle in Lot A-28. The vehicle, Wisconsin license plate GYW519, was wheellocked for the possessing an altered parking permit.

At 8:43 a.m., an information report was filed referring to a lawn in the Lot B-13 area damaged referring to a lawn in the Lot B-13 area damaged by a vehicle. Damage was $50.

At 1:22 p.m., a green Volkswagen, license plate GFG465, was towed from Lot A-4 to Man-hattan Wrecker for illegally parking in a handicap stall and excessive violations.

At 1:58 p.m., a disabled Honda Accord was reported in Lot D-5 until 7 p.m.

At 2:20 p.m., a white Ford, license plate CVU983, was towed from east of Firenhouser Hall

CVU983, was towed from east of Eisenhower Hall in stall No. 469 to Manhattan Wrecker.

At 3:05 p.m., phone harassment was reported.
At 7:14 p.m., a brown Chrysler Laser was reported disabled at the northwest corner of the Bramlage parking lot until March 25.

RILEY COUNTY POLICE

TUESDAY, MARCH 17

Al 2:04 p.m., an accidental alarm was sounded at First Savings Bank, 3007 Anderson Ave. At 3:11 p.m., the theft of unleaded gas from Mini Mart, 2706 Anderson Ave., was reported. Loss was $11.23.

At 5:01 p.m., John E. Prevort, 303 E. 11th St., Junction City, was arrested for aggravated as-sault, rape and aggravated burglary. He was held in lieu of $50,000 bond.

At 6:27 p.m., Michelle G. Dawson, 1308 Flinthills Road, was arrested on a warrant for speeding. She was confined in lieu of $64.50 bond.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 18 At 7:26 a.m., a burglary was reported by Dr. Sage, 514 Humboldt St. Taken was a helium tank. A window sustained damage valued at $655 to

At 7:53 a.m., a damage report was filed con cerning a postal Jeep. A window was smashed with a beer bottle. Loss was valued at $100. At 8 a.m., a major-damage vehicle accident was reported between vehicles driven by Candy

Stephen, 2210 Redwood, Emporia, and Stepha Murphy, Route I, Alma.

At 8:15 a.m., damage to a mailbox and stand were reported. Loss was valued at $300. At 8:25 a.m., a major-damage accident be-tween vehicles driven by Charles Davis, A Co. USAG, Fort Riley, and Jacquwolin Hermann. HIJC, 1st Infantry, Fort Riley, was reported.

At 9:13 a.m., Kaup Furniture reported dam age to grass driven over by a semi truck. The parties settled payment between themselves.

At 12:59 p.m., an injury accident was reported between vehicles driven by Patrick Sullivan, 1412 Legor Lane and Scott Hull, 621 Bluemont Ave.

CORRECTION

In the story about the Irish folks singers performing at the mall in the March 6 Collegian, a quote from Nancy Stover was taken out of context. She said she learned to play the piano by ear in prison. The story did not report that she worked as a pianist in the chapel of the U.S. Army rehabilitation facility at Fort Riley. She was not a prisoner.

In the same story, a direct quote was attributed to Stover; however, Felix Powers was the person quoted. Two other quotes were attributed to Uteva Powers. They were also quotes from Felix Powers.

The Collegian regrets the errors.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

■ Summer internship applications for the office of Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., are available in Kedzie 219B. More K-State applicants are requested, and the deadline has been extended to March 22.

■ McCain Student Development Council applications are available in the Student Governing Association office in the K-State Union and due March 18; Truman Scholarship applications are available in the dean's office in Eisenhower Hall. Applications are due by 4:50 p.m. March 23 in Eisenhower

■ Marshall Scholarship applications are available in the dean's office in Eisenhower Hall. Applications are due by 8:30 a.m. March 23 in Eisenhower

Rhodes Scholarship applications are available in the dean's office in Eisenhower Hall. Applications are due by 8:30 a.m. March 24 in Eisenhower

■ Faculty Senate final ballots will be mailed this week. They should be returned by March 30.

■ Arts and Sciences Ambassador applications are available in Eisenhower 113 and due by April 1.

THURSDAY, MARCH 19

Manhattan National Organization for Women will meet at 7 p.m. in the UFM Fireplace Room. Cia Verschelden will speak about "Women and the Peace Movement.

■ Teachers of Tomorrow will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 217.

■ K-State Aikido Club will meet at 7 p.m. at the National Guard Armory on Airport Road next to Manhattan Municipal Airport. ■ Truman Scholarship question-and-answer session will be from 1 to 2 p.m. in Union 205. ■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 202. ■ Horseman's Association will meet at 6 p.m. in Weber 146. Officers will meet at 5:30 p.m. ■ Hispanic Awareness Month Planning Committee will meet at 12:30 p.m. in Union 205. ■ BAPP Club will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Union 207 to sign up for field trip to Koch Industries. ■ Career Planning and Placement Center will conduct orientation for all majors interested in summer employment from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in Union 208. ■ Rotaract Club will meet at 6 p.m. at Raoul's Escondido, 215 Seth Childs.

■ German Club will meet at 7 p.m. to watch "The White." See posteroutside modern languages office for location.

■ Pre-Vet Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Trotter 201 for vet school tours. ■ ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union Little Theatre.

■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 203.

WEATHER

TODAY'S FORECAST

Lingering flurries this morning with clearing skies in the afternoon. High near 45. Winds out of the north from 10 to 20 mph. Low tonight near 30.

TOMORROW'S FORECAST

Warmer under partly cloudy skies. High in the upper 50s.

EXTENDED FORECAST

A chance for rain or snow Saturday into early Sunday, High Saturday and Sunday in the 40s, warming into the 50s Monday. Lows in the upper 20s to mid-30s.

YESTERDAY'S HIGHS AND LOWS

WORLD TEMPERATURES

CITY	TEMPS	SKY	New Orleans	71/68	clear
Auckland	68/59	cloudy	Phoenix	75/52	cloudy
Beijing	52/39 clear	Rio	92/73	clear
Geneva	56/37	clear	Toronto	43/16	clear

SPRING with

YOUR WOLFE SYSTEM CENTER Tropical Tan

Present the 1992 Calendar Girls Kelly Walsh Bridget Mahoney Jeanie Calvert Christi Phillips Teresa Gustin Kristina Kirstatter Chris Gieber Debbie Hereford 18 to Enter 21 to Drink 1776-772 1122 Moro Private Club Men

The United States Air Force Band and Singing Sergeants

539-0888

539-8888

519 N. 12th 776-8060

McCain Auditorium Wednesday, April 8 8 p.m.

Free Admission ·By ticket only

 No reserved seats ·Limited seating

Sponsored by: The Military Affairs Committee, Manhattan Chamber of Commerce Mail requests for tickets to:

Chamber of Commerce P. O. Box 988 Manhattan, KS 66502

Request for tickets will be honored on a first-come-first-served basis. Ticket holders must be seated by 7:50 p.m.

Air Force Band Tickets c/o Chamber of Commerce P.O. Box 988 Manhattan, KS 66502 Please send me Please send me ___ free tickets (limit four tickets per request) for the Air Force Band and Singing Sergeants concert at McCain Auditorium. Wednesday, April 8, at 8 p.m. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed NAME . ADDRESS CITY STATE PHONE.

Mail this coupon for your FREE tickets.

LIVE

THE SOCIETY

19 to enter

ALL PITCHERS

LIVE THE SOCIETY

FRIDAY/SATURDAY THE HOLLOWMEN

CONGRATULATIONS to the members of

Mortar Board National Honor Society

1992-1993

Valerie Boyd Bradley Brenneman Julie Buzby Judy Deaton Robert DeWeese Carolyn Farris Gari-Ann Girk Arriane Gump Kimberly Kirk Lana Knedlik

Audra Knop

Jill Lantz Susan Lind Shari Lyne Julie Marshall Julie Martin Haley Minton Marcus Mountford Jim Persinger Amy Petersen Melissa Pettigrew Diane Pratt

Kevin Sampson Marc Scarbrough David Sedlock Tammy Shearer Eric Sher Michelle Shuman Rachelle Siefkes Jon Steffens Nicole Walker Rebecca Washington Wanda Wienck

Dress Design

MIKE WELCHHANS/Staff

Michele Bielser, senior in theater, gets advice on a costume design for an upcoming play, Marat-Sade, from Doug Marmee a faculty member of Penn State, who is a guest designer for the play.

Voter registration deadline for primary is March 23

Officials expect moderate turnout at area polls

TOM LISTER

Those planning to vote April 7 in the Kansas presidential preference primary will need to register soon.

Deadline for registration is March

"It's really simple," said Irene Colbert, Riley County election offi-

Colbert said there are many locations in Manhattan where people can register to vote. A card with simple information needs to be filled out, she

After filling out the form, people will be registered indefinitely, unless they miss two general elections.

Individuals must also re-register if they've changed their name by marriage, divorce or legal proceedings, or changed their residence.

Anyone who is at least 18 years of age on the day of the election, a U.S. citizen and a resident of Kansas can register and vote.

Students can declare Riley County their residency and register here, or they can register in their home county and vote by an absentee ballot.

So far, 20,705 people are registered to vote in Riley County, Colbert said. This includes 727 faculty and students living within the campus pre-

Suzie Wisdom, campus voter registration clerk, said she has registered more than 150 students in recent weeks.

Margery Ambrosius, professor of political science, said people may turn out at the primaries to issue protest votes against President Bush. In addisession, which is designed to ascertain what evidence, if any, can be

Meseke said the judge ruled during the session that testimony about

Fierro's character or prior history not related directly to the case will not be

REGISTERING FOR THE PRIMARY

The deadline for registering to vote for the Kansas primary is Monday. If you don't register, you can't vote.

WHERE YOU CAN REGISTER

- Dillons Grocery Store in
- Westloop

Student Government Office

- Manhattan Public Library Most Manhattan banks
- County Clerk's Office
- Manhattan City Clerk's Office

"I would venture to say that only 20 percent of the student body could tell you who the top Democratic candidate is." Steve Patton

tion, she said the primary turnout tends to be lower than the general election.

"People don't turn out as well in the primary, unless there are local issues," Ambrosius said.

Among local issues on the ballot is the decision whether to pave a fourmile stretch of Scenic Drive, located didate is."

GREGORY A. BRANSON/Collegian on the west side of Manhattan, from Kimball Avenue to Highway K-18.

Joseph Hajda, professor of political science, said he expects a moderate turnout at the polls - 30-50 percent of eligible voters.

However, he said there is not much enthusiasm in the local political struc-

Steve Patton, senior in business and a business senator, said the Student Senate Legislative Affairs Committee has been trying to change student apathy.

Patton said the group has visited residence halls, organizations and greek houses to encourage students to

"I would venture to say that only 20 percent of the student body could tell you who the top Democratic can-

Murder trial date to be set April 1. on April 1

CHRISTINE VENDEL

The Fort Riley soldier charged with the slaying of Phillis Geiger, whose body was found on post Nov. 17, 1991, will have his court date set

Sgt. 1st Class Edward Fierro, Company E/1st Engineering Battalion, was charged with premeditated murder in early December.

Mark Meseke, Fort Riley media relations officer, said the commanding general recently agreed with the investigating officer's recommendation to send Fierro, 39, through a general court martial trial.

The court date for the trial has not been set, because one the attorneys in the case asked Col. Richard Russell, the judge, for a continuance.

Meseke said the delay was needed in order to obtain more evidence.

